House Places Approval On Few Changes

Half Billions Dollars To Be Trimmed From Cost Of Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final congressional approval was given Thursday to President Roosevelt's economy bill to trim governmental expenses a half billion dollars, when the house accepted the senate amendments.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Assured by the White House that the senate's changes in the economy bill, passed Wednesday, were acceptable to the president, the house leaders sent the message Thursday toward speedy acceptance of the amendments. A dispute at the outset of the session prevented immediate agreement to the changes. One hour was set for debate with a vote to follow.

House leaders expected the measure to be on its way to the president by mid-afternoon.

WASHINGTON (AP)—After three days and two nights of furious debate, the senate Wednesday night gave overwhelming approval of the bill granting President Roosevelt power to reduce veterans' benefits and federal pay to the extent of half a billion dollars.

E. L. Cord's Victory Complete In His Fight For Control Of Aviation Corporation Affairs

His Right Hand Man Named President Of Corporation, Cord Becomes Chairman; Headquarters To Be Changed To Chicago

NEW YORK (AP)—Success has once more crowned the efforts of the dynamic young automobile manufacturer, E. L. Cord.

With election Wednesday of L. B. Manning, Cord's right-hand man, as president of the Aviation Corporation, Cord's victory in his fight against the powerful Wall Street banking interests, American Airways, Inc., is the operating subsidiary of the Aviation Corporation.

Eight of the 17 directors—including President Richard F. Hoyt—resigned. Cord will be chairman of the new board and will move the headquarters of the company to Chicago.

Cord's spectacular victory set Wall Street buzzing, coming as it did only a relatively short time after the epic struggle last year of the Gianni interest of California to regain control from Wall Street of the Transamerica Corporation.

Relief was given particularly to rooming houses. Action was taken since rooming houses are charged on a per room basis and many rooms now are vacant.

Stores, business houses, filling stations, restaurants, and hamburger stands were given sizeable reductions in water and sewer rates.

In making the recommendation to the commission, E. V. Spence, city manager, said: "This recommendation is the same that was made last year at this time, and is made for the purpose of encouraging the use of more water in the beautification of yards and the growing of gardens."

"Inasmuch as approximately $12,000 of the water, sewer, gas franchise and miscellaneous revenues (Continued On Page 7)

Special Committee Named Here To Study Condition Of Schools

Local Situation As Well As Proposed Laws Before Group Of Seven Holding First Meeting Thursday

Intensive study of problems confronting the public schools, with special attention to the local situation and to proposed laws introduced in the legislature, will be made by a special committee appointed Thursday by the president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. Its first meeting was set for 4 p. m. Thursday.

Dr. J. Richard Spann was made chairman, with the following members: M. H. Morrison, L. S. Patterson, L. S. McDowell, C. W. Cunningham, E. A. Kelley, Carl S. Blomsheld.

Representatives of Howard county in the legislature have asked that sentiment of the community on various measures pending before them be expressed to them. The local school system, in common with those of practically every district in the state, face serious problems that may result in drastic curtailment of the length of sessions as well as other misfortunes. The committee was asked to study all matters affecting the local system, as well as those affecting the state public school system as a whole. It is expected that a formal report will be made by the committee which may help materially in solving local problems and at the same time give legislators some idea of sentiment locally with reference to pending bills.

Teachers of the city, who are taking the annual scholastic census in the Big Spring independent district, are having some difficulty in getting some families to list their children.

Failure to make a census report when asked by an enumerator is a violation of a state law. The enumerators are not required to call a second time when a parent or guardian of children is found at home.

Some enumerators have reported persons have asked that they "come back tomorrow" and others have refused to answer knocks at their doors by enumerators.

The school children of the district may suffer materially from failure to make a complete count of all children of legal school age residing within the district. The state apportionment to public schools is based on the number of children enumerated and not the actual number enrolled. The district, therefore, loses the amount of the annual per capita apportionment for every child not enumerated.

Farm Relief Plan Outlined By President

Executive Prepares To Ask Power To Launch Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt Thursday decided to submit only his farm relief program in a message going to congress late Thursday.

To accommodate congressional leaders he agreed to withhold the emergency unemployment plan until Friday or later.

The farm measure, which received final touches in a conference between the president and the secretary of agriculture will be submitted with a plea for urgent action.

Wichita Falls Elated
At Wichita Falls, three banks reported deposits were ten times the withdrawals. Although exact figures were not available, the clearing house estimated the total would be more than $1,817,000. Retail trade jumped materially.

Sherman bankers reported a surprisingly large increase in deposits at their eight national and three state institutions. Gold deposits there were small but deposits of old $2,500. Bookkeepers expected to work late tonight to clear checks with accumulated during the holiday.

Rio Grande Valley
In the Rio Grande valley, business conditions were improved materially as those banks began functioning. For the first time since March 2, 102 bars of vegetables were started on their way to northern markets. Twenty-seven were loaded with cabbage, the market for that commodity having risen to $15 per ton after wavering between $12 and $15 "or two days."

Corsicana and Greenville reported elaborate celebrations accompanied resumption of banking transactions. At Corsicana, a street parade was held and a city-wide campaign conducted in an effort to have every citizen make some deposit, no matter how small. Bells and sirens sounded at Greenville at the opening hour.

Crowds at Tyler
Crowds in the lobbies of Tyler banks were large but deposits exceeded withdrawals in the first few hours. Denton's crowds were no larger than usual the day after legal holiday but the accumulation of checks was large.

Figures were not available from the governor of the federal reserve bank at Dallas nor from Suaw, but the number of reopenings yesterday was close to 100 per cent. Occasionally, however, a bank would be pending receipt of approval from the necessary authorities. Licenses were being issued as rapidly as possible both Dallas and Austin and by the week-end financial leaders anticipated full resumption of activities.

Railroad Commissioners Severely Criticized In Report Presented To House Committee Following Probe

Rep. Bob Long Says Political Debts Paid By Employment Of Inexperienced Men In East Texas Field

AUSTIN (UP)—A steering committee report, severely criticizing the railroad commission and blaming it for "conditions in the East Texas oil field, was before the house of representatives committee investigating oil law enforcement.

The report was read to the committee by chairman Bob Long, author of the report. Rep. O. F. Chastain, member of the investigating committee disagreed with Long's censuring report and asked for copies of evidence and testimony taken in the hearing to a report of his own.

The meeting considering the report adjourned without any steps toward adoption and set another meeting tonight to further discuss the report.

Lack of experienced personnel on commission forces in the East Texas field was set out as one of the findings of the committee. The report said a more-experienced man than Homer Pierson, field supervisor, should have been put in charge of East Texas. It showed he had had seven years experience with the commission before going to East Texas.

111 Employees
Of 111 employees in East Texas engaged in proration enforcement, 64 have had no previous experience, the report said, expressing belief a "large number of inexperienced" men had been hired by the railroad commission to "pay political debts." One section of the report was devoted entirely to political accusations.

The investigation revealed, the report said, that 19 pipelines, eight loading racks and four refineries have not been making reports and (Continued On Page 7)

Books Of City To Be Audited

Banks Enter No Depository Bids, Agreement Among Them Arranged

Nolan C. Phillips company, certified public accountants firm, was named by the city commission as the commission as the successful bidder to audit the city books for the past fiscal year.

The three Big Spring banks declined to submit bids for the city depository for 1933, but entered into an agreement whereby the three shared on a 40-30-30 per cent basis. West Texas National bank will have the active account and the forty per cent. Interest rate on daily balances was set at one per cent. This is the custom that is followed in handling county funds.

Prohibition Referendum Move Gains Strength In Texas House

Lower House Refused To Set Five-Man Highway Commission Bill For Special Consideration

AUSTIN (UP)—One branch of the Texas legislature Wednesday took steps to provide for speedy action on a bill to allow the electorate to express its will on ratification of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

The house set for special order at 10 a. m. Friday a bill by Representative Sarah Hughes of Dallas that would provide for election of delegates to a convention as provided in the Hughes bill so that the election could be held earlier.

Set Special Order
The vote to set the bill for special order was 87 to 35.

Some members of the dry faction argued there was plenty of time since the state would have seven years to act.

Chicago Grain Gains Five Cents, Corn Up Three Cents

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Cotton soared four to four and one-half dollars per bale on initial transactions as the cotton exchange opened Thursday.

At the end of the first half hour May futures had advanced to seven cents. December futures were quoted at 7.44, making a net gain of approximately five dollars per bale.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures started about two and one-half dollars above March 3 prices at resumption of operations by the cotton exchange Thursday.

Opening advances extended more than a dollar per bale in early trading. October sold at 7.50 cents, December at 7.66 cents per pound.

NEW YORK (AP)—While shares on the New York stock exchange were extending Wednesday's sensational gains by a dollar to more than three dollars, the Chicago grain pit was witnessing a wildly bullish opening.

Wheat jumped the limit of five cents per bushel. Corn, up three cents, gained all of the allowable.

Stock trading was so tumultuous tickers fell as much as eight minutes behind floor transactions. Early trading exceeded Wednesday's transfers, involving sizable blocks of one to five thousand shares. United States bonds again were sharply higher.

Last Sermon By Dr. Truett This Evening

Highly Successful Revival To End At First Baptist

Dr. George W. Truett Thursday evening will deliver his final message of the revival meeting at the First Baptist church. Throughout the meeting crowds have been the largest drawn to any religious services here in a number of years.

Wednesday evening Dr. Truett spoke in part, as follows: "The big tragedy of life is that around us are men who don't know what life is and what life is for. Now is the acceptable time. The supreme peril for Christians is that they wait too long to speak their message of Christ. Who of you is not in the service of Christ, and why not? No form of sin is so great as 'Excuse Making.'"

"Luke 14:16-21—'A certain man made a great supper and bade many; and sent his servant to say to them that were bidden, Come; for all things are now ready. And they all with one consent began to make excuses. The first said unto him, I have bought a piece of ground, and I must needs go and see it: I pray thee have me excused. And another said, I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them; I pray thee have me excused. And another said, I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come. So the servant came, and shewed his lord these things. Then the master of the house being angry said to his servant, Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in hither the poor, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind. And the servant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room. And the lord said unto the servant, Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled. For I say unto you, that none of these men which were bidden shall taste of my supper.'"

"What shall be said of these excuses? Do you not agree that these excuses were utterly flimsy? Are our excuses for turning away the invitation of our Divine Lord to come to His great table of forgiveness any wiser than these excuses? The supreme champion of business, every marriage and home to Christ, Christ is the friend of every legitimate business. The Bible exhorts work and toil to the (Continued On Page 7)

There will be more opposit, to President Roosevelt's $500,000,000 economy bill in the senate than there was in the House but its passage is assured early in the week. The senate is noted for its delays even in such critical times as these.

The new President's leadership is at stake in driving through the emergency legislation. He is flushed with victory. Excepting in wartime no other President has ever known anything like it.

A blow to his supremacy at this critical stage would be considered as great a catastrophe as a failure of the bill itself to pass. The President's prestige must be maintained at all cost. The only way this can be done is to force the senate to accept the entire economy bill including the slashing of veterans' benefits.

Monkey Wrenches

Even the Republicans are keeping out of the path of avalanche of public sentiment behind the President. They are playing a shrewd game. Their keynote was sounded by Republican Leader Bertrand Snell who refused to "throw monkey wrenches" into the machinery.

The Republicans backed up President Roosevelt just as they stood by President Wilson in the Great War. Clever and patriotic of the Republicans to build for the future on board lines.

Sealawags

Far more clever, in the word here, than were those Democrats who opposed the President's bill in the House. Already they have become known as the "Democratic sealawags." It is predicted their punishment will be sharp in the loss of patronage. The roll call put each opponent on the spot.

It will be recalled that the dispensing of the thousands upon thousands of government jobs has been held up pending the passing of the emergency legislation.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN A Great Reform

The Economy Bill is described in the text as a measure "to maintain the credit of the United States Government." It is that. But it is more than that. This bill not only makes possible important economies...

The principle is that of appropriating money only on the recommendation of the Executive. Section 1 of that part of the bill which deals with veterans says that subject to regulation issued by the President...

Lee Simmons has made a remarkable record as manager of the Texas prison system. He has rehabilitated a system that was down-at-heel and ready for the scrap heap...

Mr. Simmons' salary is $8,000 per year. The prison board planned to ask the legislature to raise this to $12,000, as a reward for extraordinary services to the state...

The senate committee got into a row about it. One faction wanted the salary of the manager to stay at $8,000, another would cut it to $7,000, still another to $6,000.

There is another side to the picture, though. Thousands of executives and managers in all fields of endeavor have "taken it on the chin." Probably they are doing more and better work now than before...

More than two hundred years ago, in 1707, the English House of Commons adopted this principle, and with occasional relapses, the principle has been maintained and strengthened ever since.

Under The Dome At Austin By GORDON K. SHEARER United Press Staff Correspondent AUSTIN (UP)—Every legislature has its investigation. Some times it's one thing and some times, it's another.

Indications are that there will be a majority and minority report. Witnesses pictured woeful conditions in the East Texas oil field, the attempt to prorogue which took up most of the investigation.

When bankers gathered in Austin recently for a hurried consultation with Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and State Banking Commissioner James A. Shaw, one of them forgot to bring along enough cash to get back home.

Editor John Smith of the Texas Tax Journal now announces Texas expense for a "government on wheels" is more than a million a year. Recently he issued figures, exclusive of the state highway department that showed traveling expense for departments in excess of $700,000.

Sen. W. K. Hopkins, who wrote the 25 per cent state governmental expense reduction plank in the Democratic platform at Lubbock, receives no end of chides and jabs.

Finally Hall came close to the negro in the hills south of the Stanton highway. He was tired and concluded he had chased the suspect far enough. He whipped out his gun and gave a last command to stop.

From his cell in the county jail Williams sadly commented: "That red-headed law sh' can pick 'em and lays 'em down."

NASHVILLE, (AP)—A March tornado lashed the Tennessee-Kentucky border from the Mississippi river to the Cumberland last night, leaving thirty-six dead, more than 200 injured, and property damage estimated above $1,000,000.

Designed To Eliminate Pyramiding Tax; Strong Penalties Fixed AUSTIN (UP)—A substitute sales tax bill, to assess a two per cent tax on gross receipts on final sales, was before the house of representatives committee on revenue and taxation Thursday.

Unintentional failure to make a tax return carries a penalty of 10 per cent of the tax, and 10 per cent interest. If 30 days after receipt of notice by the tax commissioner of failure to make a return the taxpayers has still failed to make a return, the state tax commissioner is authorized to make the return himself "from the best information available" and add 100 per cent of the amount of the tax as damages.

One hundred per cent of a deficiency shall be added as damages, the bill provides, if the deficiency is due to fraud or intent to evade the tax.

The bill also sets out that refusal to make a return or to permit examination or records by proper authorities of the state commissioner, shall be unlawful, subjecting an individual to $500 fine and a corporation to $1000 fine.

Decision Made In Boundary Case Of Lynn, Garza County

ABILENE—The Texas supreme court Wednesday closed another chapter in the long and involved litigation growing out of a disputed boundary line between Garza and Lynn counties, upholding a decision handed down nearly three years ago by Judge W. R. Chapman of 19th district court here.

The court's disposal, announced in Austin press dispatches, said the higher court reversed a court of civil appeals decision which had reversed the trial (Chapman's) court.

The controversy had been before the state courts since April, 1930, when Garza filed suit to establish its west boundary, claiming it is about a half-mile in what has been defined as Lynn county.

The litigation was admittedly involved and trial of the case necessitated running of lines as far eastward as the southeast corner of Young county. The civil appeals court, which reversed Judge Chapman's opinion, held the district court had erred in the fixing of a common corner of Lynn and Garza counties.

Indications are that there will be a majority and minority report. Witnesses pictured woeful conditions in the East Texas oil field, the attempt to prorogue which took up most of the investigation.

Officer Catches Negro After Chase Of Two Full Miles

Deputy Constable Ray Hall makes no pretensions towards being athletic, but he learned something about marathon running Tuesday.

Hall earned another thing. Never shoot at a negro when you are attempting to catch him. He chased one fully two miles.

While passing over the Gregg street viaduct Tuesday afternoon the officer eyed a negro who carried a queer looking bundle under his arm. When the deputy constable turned and came back to examine the dusky one, he saw him chucking the bundle and sprinting down the railroad tracks.

Hall took up the chase which led him back past the roundhouse, up through Mexican town, northwest of the T. & P. section houses, down to the lake, and south across the highway and into the foothills of scenic mountain.

After he had repeatedly called the fleeing negro to stop, Hall shot wild to make the suspect halt. The first shot only added impetus to the negro's stride. Another aided the dusky chap to cover the distance over a small flat in only seconds, and a third shot, kicking up dust at the negro's feet, enabled him to scale a hillside as if it were down grade.

Thirty-Six Known Killed In Tornado

NASHVILLE, (AP)—A March tornado lashed the Tennessee-Kentucky border from the Mississippi river to the Cumberland last night, leaving thirty-six dead, more than 200 injured, and property damage estimated above $1,000,000.

Throughout the night the list of dead and injured grew as reports came from rural communities. Nashville felt full force of the storm as driving winds dipped over a fringe of hills, cut across the eastern portion, damaging trees, buildings, and littering streets with debris.

At least eight were killed here. The storm headed eastward into middle Tennessee, on across the state.

Records For Recoveries Fall As New York Stock Exchange Opens

NEW YORK—One of the most brilliant recoveries in security prices in the history of the New York Stock exchange attested the restoration of financial confidence which has swept the country with reopening of thousands of sound banks.

Shares surged up $2 to $16 in scores of favorite issues, and as measured by price averages, the percentage gain over the final level of March 3, when the market closed for its first important shut-down in 19 years, was more than 18 per cent, a single day's upsurge for which records of many years show no parallel.

Bonds Also Advance The advance in bonds was just as striking. Many issues were swept up $10 to more than $5 per bond of $1,000 par value, and even several of the United States government issues, which normally move so narrowly that changes are reckoned in 32nds of a point, shot up as much as $20 to $30 per $1,000 bond.

The general level of shares regained all of the sharp losses of February, and getting back to the best level since January 31, and bonds, as measured by the average of 60 issues, recovered the severe losses of the five days before the national banking holiday was declared, when these issues were severely depressed by banking pressure to convert resources into cash.

Some Not Open The big commodity markets such as the Chicago grain pit and the New York and New Orleans cotton exchanges were not slated to open until tomorrow, but staples in other markets joined the swift ascent of securities. Silver futures in national metal exchange, jumped about a cent an ounce, the March delivery closed at 28 1/2 cents. While there was little trading in copper futures quotations were bettered $100 of a cent a pound. Raw hide futures gained about a cent a pound, and smaller advances were registered in such staples as raw silk, sugar, coffee, cocoa, and crude rubber.

Dollar Strengthens The American dollar dipped rather sharply in relation to other lendings, but soon strengthened. The pound sterling, after rising 2 3/8 cents to $3.47 3/8, fell back to $3.45 5/8.

While statistics for the past week of electric power production, steel ingot output, and freight car loadings, all showed rather sharp contraction as a result of the closing of credit channels during the banking holiday, Wall street was discussing with enthusiasm the prospect of a belated spring business pickup, with financial confidence restored.

Museum Carnival Postponed A Week

The date of carnival planned by the West Texas Memorial Museum Association has been moved up to next Saturday, March 25, in order to accommodate more schools and merchants who want to take part.

This will give time for more babies to be entered in the Baby Show and more rural schools to participate on the program. Midway has announced an interesting skit.

The local high school will elect a queen and her attendants Friday. The queen will be a high school girl who will preside over the carnival and take part in the attractive parade.

Interest in the carnival is growing more each day says Mrs. Bumpass and every indication is that it will be a big success socially and financially.

One I Love

By LAURA LOU BROWNMAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANET HILL and ROLF CARLYLE have been engaged almost a year. They have put off their marriage because Janet insists they must have $500 in a savings account first. Rolf enjoys spending money and the rigid economy necessary to save this amount is distasteful to him. Janet works as secretary to BRUCE HAMILTON, advertising manager of Every Home Magazine, and Rolf is employed at an advertising agency.

Janet, deeply in love, is not suspicious when Rolf begins to make excuses for not coming to see her. One night he breaks an engagement with her. MOLLIE LAMBERT, who lives across the hall, tells Janet she has seen Rolf entering a theater with another girl. Janet meets Rolf next day after work and tells him what Mollie has said. Rolf becomes angry, says their engagement is meaningless and that if Janet really wanted to marry him she would have done so long ago. They quarrel. Janet is miserable. She hopes Rolf will call but he does not. Making an effort to forget her unhappiness, she asks Mollie to go to a movie with her. While Mollie is dressing Janet picks up a newspaper and sees a picture that startles her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Where, Janet asked herself, had she seen the face before? Such a pretty girl with dark, curling hair, eyes that were wide set and fringed with deep lashes. She was as young as Janet, perhaps younger. Where in the world—?

All at once she remembered. This was the girl she had seen entering the Brewster Coffee Shop—the girl with the young man who looked like Rolf. Janet studied the picture closely. Yes, it was certainly the same girl. She had been smiling then, her head turned in half-profile exactly as the photographer had caught this picture. Oh, there was no doubt of it!

The picture was one of four, grouped in what in a newspaper office is known as a "layout." The caption above read, "Society Buds Forgive Parties for Jobs in Stores and Offices."

Beneath the picture of the girl with the dark hair were the words, "Miss Betty Kendall, above, daughter of Mrs. E. K. Curtis and a member of the Junior Guild, has embarked on a career in the field of advertising."

Advertising! Janet scanned the columns of type below the picture. "At least a dozen young women," the first paragraph began, "prominent in Lancaster's younger social set are forgoing parties and club meetings these days to work in offices and stores and even to show real estate to prospective clients. They declare that selling books and art goods, writing advertisements and telling people how to decorate their homes is far more interesting than a round of bridge playing and dancing."

That was not what Janet wanted to know. She skipped several paragraphs, then came to this:

"Miss Betty Kendall, who is one of the most popular members of the Junior Guild, has chosen the field of advertising and is now employed in the office of the Atlas Advertising Co., of whom her uncle, Dwight R. Kendall, is vice president. Miss Kendall attended Miss Mayberry's School from which she was graduated last spring."

Betty Kendall—employed by the Atlas Advertising Co. Dwight Kendall's niece!

Janet looked at the picture again. Her memory flashed back to that Saturday afternoon—10 days ago, was it?—when she had passed the Brewster Hotel on her way to lunch. She saw the girl in the dark fur coat and the young man beside her. The whole scene reappeared exactly as it had happened—the girl looking up, smiling, the man with the topcoat like Rolf's holding open the door of the Coffee Shop. The couple, of course, were on their way to a luncheon date. She even felt again the stab of amazement that had come over her when she had thought she recognized Rolf.

But it had been Rolf! Of course it had. Rolf and Betty Kendall, this society girl who was playing at working in the same office where he worked. Oh, why did girls from rich homes have to do such things? Why couldn't they leave the jobs for those who needed them? Why couldn't they leave the jobs alone and men who were engaged to other girls—!

"But Rolf told me he wasn't there. He said I was mistaken," Janet reminded herself. Had he? Had Rolf really put that denial into words or had he only said something that she took to mean the same thing? Janet wasn't sure. She couldn't remember about that.

She sat staring down at the picture of this other girl. The ache in Janet's heart was almost like physical pain. She had forgotten everything except that Rolf did not want to be engaged to her any more. She had forgotten that she and Mollie Lambert were going to the movies.

Mollie, before the mirror, added a final, hasty dab of powder to her nose and turned. "Just as soon as I get my hat on now—," she said, the sentence dying away unfinished. She picked up a brown hat with a green feather on it and pulled it down over her head.

"Mollie!"

The other whirled.

"Mollie, I want you to look at this!"

"Look at what?"

She crossed to Janet's side. It was the picture of Betty Kendall, smiling out of the newspaper page, that Janet held up.

"Did you ever see her?" Janet asked.

Mollie frowned. "Don't think so. What's her name?" Then she read aloud, "Betty Kendall." For an instant Mollie was silent, pursing her lips. All at once she said, "Oh—?" with a swift intake of breath as though she meant to suppress the exclamation.

"Where did you see her?" Janet perished.

"I'm not sure," the other girl said slowly. "I—well, to be honest, she looks something like that girl I saw Rolf Carlyle with the other night. But maybe I'm mistaken. I wouldn't want to swear to it—"

"That's who it is," Janet said quickly. "She's working in the same office where Rolf works. Her uncle is vice president of the company."

"Vice president? Then what's she working for?"

"Because," Janet smiled bitterly, "it's fashionable to work these days. All the 'society buds' are doing it. See—that's what the papers say. Oh, you're right about it, Mollie. That's the girl!"

Mollie Lambert was older than Janet. She plunged down beside the younger girl. "Listen," Mollie said earnestly, "maybe I shouldn't have said what I did the other night. I mean about Rolf. Gee, I didn't want to start any trouble! You—well, you haven't been looking quite like yourself. Janet, I've been worried. Afraid maybe you and Rolf had had a row or something. Is there anything wrong?"

"No. Nothing."

Mollie seemed relieved. "Well, I'm glad to hear that," she said. "You know it doesn't really mean anything if the boy friend wants to step out on a date now and then. People don't feel the way they used to about things like that. I mean even when you're engaged."

"But we're not," Janet put in quickly. "Rolf's free to do anything he wants to—"

"You're not engaged? You mean you've broken it off?"

The other girl nodded.

"Oh, but Janet, that's terrible! Oh, I hope it wasn't because of what I told you!"

"It wasn't your fault," Janet assured her. "With a touch of the bitter humor she had voiced a moment before she went on, 'Rolf and I are different. We don't like the same things. He wants a good time and I don't care about that. The whole thing was a mistake—'

Her words rose hysterically, then broke off. Janet's lips trembled and she turned away quickly. It was the first time she had told anyone that her engagement was at an end. She had been repeating Rolf's words, almost literally.

"But that's all nonsense!" Mollie said heatedly. "Why, I thought you and Rolf were crazy about each other!"

"Well, we're not. We're—not going to see each other any more!"

Mollie put a hand on the other girl's shoulder. "Don't worry, honey. It'll all come out all right. He'll be back, more in love with you than ever."

Janet shook her head. "I haven't seen him for a week," she said. "I thought maybe he'd telephone or drop in at the office or something but he hasn't. It's this other girl. He's probably with her now—"

"Well, then, give him a taste of the same medicine! What you ought to do is step out with some other fellows. Show him you don't care!"

"Maybe you're right," Janet agreed. "Maybe I should."

But she knew in her heart she couldn't do that. She didn't want to go out with other young men. How could she laugh and talk gayly when her heart was like lead?

Suddenly Janet aroused herself. She said with a smile that only half succeeded, "Say, weren't we going to the movies? We'll never get there unless we get started."

"That's right," Mollie agreed. "Come on!"

They chose the Princess down town with its ebony and silver foyer and its plush seats instead of the neighborhood movie house. The last time Janet had gone to the neighborhood theater she had been with Rolf and she didn't want to be reminded of that evening. However, the leading man in the Princess picture had played in the film she and Rolf had seen and it was useless to try to forget that other evening.

"You poor kid!" Mollie exclaimed later as they said good-night. "You mustn't take it so hard. You'll see Rolf again before long!"

"Would she? If she did see Rolf what should she say? Janet had puzzled over this problem often without coming to a decision. Suppose he telephoned or she met him on the street. What should she say?"

Three nights later she was to know the answer.

Portable Talking Machine Dug Up By Police Officers

City police have turned prospectors in their efforts to recover stolen goods.

Tuesday noon Chief J. T. Thornton and Officer L. A. Coffee dug several feet into soft earth to recover a portable phonograph stolen from a second-hand store Sunday.

Soon afterward the two traced down another portable and a pair of shoes also taken in the burglary of the store. A Mexican youth taken by the authorities was released Wednesday when he could not be connected with the looting.

—the "lawful money" backlog of the new Federal Reserve notes. As soon as the regulations are drafted they will be turned over to the Attorney General for enforcement.

Stag— One Cabinet officer was conspicuously absent from the White House Newspaper Correspondents' dinner. It was "Madame" Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins. No invitation was sent to her because it was a stag affair.

The dinner was a great success. Because it was the first public appearance of President Roosevelt the supply of seats became exhausted weeks ago.

There was no speeches. A vaudeville show was presented in connection with some skits and moving pictures by the correspondents themselves.

The President despite his strenuous day remained until the conclusion of the party after midnight. Regret was expressed at the absence of Paul Mallon, president of the association. Mr. Mallon was to have presided but was prevented by illness.

Ritchie— What about Governor Ritchie of Maryland? His name is repeatedly mentioned in connection with the Attorney-Generalship. Ritchie is believed to be too well satisfied with his role of permanent governor of Maryland to be interested in a cabinet office.

Governor Ritchie has been serving as chief executive of the domain so famous for its terrapin since 1926. His present term doesn't expire until 1935.

Perquisites— While Governor Ritchie's salary is a nominal one, $5,000 a year, it is a matter of record that the perquisites of office bring it up to many times that. Accepting the Attorney-Generalship at $15,000— and in normal times would not have approved of such a grant of power to the president.

Most of the opponents on final passage expressed doubt as to its constitutionality. Clark of Missouri, for instance, contended it involved an "abdication" of legislative power by congress to the executive branch.

Amendment after amendment was voted down tonight—some by roll call. Several called for flat cuts of 15 or 25 per cent in the veterans' benefits.

One or two amendments to exempt lower-paid civil employees of the government from the 15 per cent reduction also were defeated.

the state banks and to force them into the federal reserve.

Fewer than 1,000 state banks are now members of the system. Those which have remained outside of that organization maintain it holds no benefits for them.

"Either you join the Federal Reserve" was declared to be the edict to state banks "or you take a chance by continuing on foot on a high speedway."

Guarantee— Unless Senator McAdoo of California decides to press his bill to guarantee deposit of the Federal Reserve banks, he will not be considered as opposing the Administration. President Roosevelt is reported as being against guaranteeing bank deposits whether federal or otherwise.

Of course guaranteeing the deposits of federal reserve banks would be quite different from guaranteeing the deposits of all banks. Nevertheless it is believed the government might stand to lose millions even if it did only the former.

Moral— A moral guarantee is clear in government licensing of sound banks. Although not actually guaranteeing the deposits of a sound bank there will necessarily be the feeling that the government is behind them.

Hoarding— The Treasury is up to its neck in work but will soon begin the drafting of anti-hoarding regulations. No idea as to their nature can be ascertained at this time.

It is a complicated subject and without exact precedent. The anti-hoarding regulations will be confined to gold and gold certificates replace it with a five-member executive committee. The motion to set the bill for special consideration received a majority vote, but was far below the required two-thirds. The vote was 74 ayes to 50 noes.

Suspension Calendar The bill would put the present commissioners out of office and allow Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to appoint five members from separate districts who would serve until the next general election. It was possible the bill would come up on the suspension calendar next week.

A bill to suspend for 120 days the sale of real property and most of the foreclosure proceedings was passed by the house, 102 to 22. The suspension would start March 15. It was the second such bill passed by the house in recent days, the house previously having approved a bill that would suspend executions for one year.

The bill passed Wednesday provided also for exempting personal property from forced sale, but an amendment was adopted removing personal property from its provisions when members argued that exemptions of personal property would seriously cripple those persons who found it necessary to seek credit to carry on their normal business.

Give Too Far Representative F. A. Rogers of Calais suggested that the legislature had "gone too far in this moratorium business and was trying to give the people 'too much of a good thing.'" Rogers advocated a 30-day recess so the legislature "could go home and get their senses back."

The legislative recess idea was carried a little farther by Representative W. T. Savage of Dallas who offered a concurrent resolution proposing that the legislature adjourn next Saturday until May 7th to await developments in the national situation. The resolution was promptly killed 95 to 25.

The house engrossed a bill to give relief to West Texas land owners indebted to the state for a bonus and rentals received from oil development on state patented land, but a motion to suspend the rules to allow final passage failed to receive a four-fifths vote. The vote on suspending the rules was 90 to 27.

Several Amendments Several amendments were accepted to the bill. It would authorize the land commissioner to determine the amounts owing to the state under a supreme court decision which held the school fund entitled to one-half the bonus and rentals from oil development. The land owners would be given 20 years in which to pay the amounts.

An amendment was adopted to the bill Monday which extended the relief only to the patentees under the state and would bar oil companies who had leased from the land owners from taking advantage of the act. The bill was amended so as not to effect suits pending or suits filed against leases for money alleged due the state.

The house adopted a resolution inviting heads of several major oil companies to address the legislature at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow on conditions in the oil industry. Sponsors of the resolution expressed belief the oil company executives could throw considerable light on conditions that would prove valuable to the legislature in dealing with oil legislation.

SEASONAL (Continued from page 1) are used in addition to the taxes collected in the payment of the city's bonded requirement for this year, it is hoped that the water users will take advantage of the reduced water rates and use more so that the revenues will not be reduced.

"This statement may seem superficial, but it has come to my attention that many taxpayers do not know that it required all the taxes collected, plus approximately $13,000 from water, sewer and other miscellaneous revenues to pay the city's bonded requirement this year, and the entire city's operation including materials and supplies and the expenses of all departments are paid for out of the remainder of the water, sewer and other miscellaneous revenues."

He added that further reduction in valuations, taxes and water rates could be made without endangering the credit of the city if delinquent taxes were paid.

Reductions in rates begin with the April billing period, which becomes effective with the meter readings on or about March 20. After being in effect for five months, they will revert back to the old rates.

RAILROADS (Continued from page 1) have not been reported to the attorney general's department for legal action. Similar lack of action on part of the commission was found on 16 refineries and 18 loading racks operating without meters and 16 pipelines operating without permits.

The report said it found "no effort of consequence" by the commission to find out where oil shipped out by loading racks was originating.

Lack Of Cooperation Lack of cooperation between commission offices and departments was reported and the commission expressly blamed for the "failure" of prohibition enforcement and allowing five per cent of the East Texas operators to "demoralize the others."

Long's report estimated a loss of $11,600,000 to the state in penalties, forfeitures—among others the Auburn, Duesenberg and Lycoming Companies, the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, the Columbia Aile Company, the Central Manufacturing Company and others.

The final chapter in the fight was told in the announcement of Hoyt, a partner of Hayden, Stone & Co. After announcing his resignation as both president and a director, he added those associated with him "believed it would serve no useful purpose to continue as directors." The other directors who resigned included W. A. Harriman of Brown Brothers, Harriman & Co.; Robert Lehman of Lehman, Bros.; Matthew S. Sloan, former head of Consolidated Gas; Charles L. Lawrence, Lindley C. Morton, George R. Horn and Cohn.

Directors Who Continue Directors who continue in office with Cord include Frank A. Vandertop, L. B. Manning, L. L. Young and R. S. Pruitt, who were identified with Cord in the member contest; G. C. Conway, M. C. Meigs, Amos G. Carter and C. A. Darline.

Seven Major Committees Of House Now Led By Members From Texas

WASHINGTON — Texas fares well in committee assignments for the Seventy-third Congress. In addition to Senator Morris Sheppard being chairman of the Senate's Military Affairs Committee and Senator Tom Connally, chairman of Public Buildings and Grounds, the State retains the chairmanship of six major committees in the House of Representatives as a result of the Democratic caucus action.

Representative James P. Buchanan of the Austin district became chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which will pass on the several billions of dollars the government spends annually. By the retirement of Guinn Williams of the Decatur district from the House, the State loses the chairmanship of the Territories Committee. However, the other Texas members continue to hold the following chairmanships:

Representative Marvin Jones, Amarillo, Agriculture; Representative Sam Rayburn, Bonham, Interstate and Foreign Commerce; Representative Fritz G. Lanham, Fort Worth, Public Buildings and Grounds; Representative J. J. Mansfield, Columbus, Rivers and Harbors; Representative Hattin W. Summers, Dallas, Judiciary.

Representative Morgan C. Sanders, Canton, moves to sixth place on the Ways and Means Committee and Representative Clay Stone Briggs, Galveston, becomes ranking Democratic member of the Merchant Marine, Radio and Fisheries.

Representative Patman, Texarkana continues on Civil Service, District of Columbia, War Claims and World War Veterans' legislation. Representative Dies, Orange, Immigration and Coinage Weights and Measures.

Representative Johnson, Corsicana, Foreign Affairs, an exclusive committee. Representative Cross, Waco, Census, Elections No. 2, Expenditures in the Executive Department, Insular Affairs, Irrigation and Reclamation and roads.

Representative Kieberg, Corpus Christi, Agriculture. Representative Thomason, El Paso, Military Affairs. Representative Blanton, Abilene, Appropriations.

It is well told, and it pays a fine tribute to womanhood. It is the sort of story one puts down with a feeling of satisfaction, instead of the feeling that one could do as well one's self. A reader with knowledge of the writing game will understand from this story the enthusiasm of critics over Mrs. Sullivan's future.
