AN EDITORIAL

By Hazel Smith The New Year

As bad as we like to admit it, the holidays are over, and whether we like it or not, the time has come when we must again settle down to our work.

We have the memories of Christmas fresh in our minds and our hearts should be a bit kinder than usual.

The New Year is here and it is time to make resolutions, and sad is the man who doesn't make resolutions on New Year's Eve.

Let's make the best of it. Let's show everybody that we have what it takes. Let's make this person next door glad that he knows us.

Wouldn't it be great we could look upon the year of 1941 as being our ideal year? The way year is ahead of us and we can make it a success or a failure.

BOXING SEASON GENS

Sixteen boys reported the first boxing meeting of the year, Monday. Regular work-outs are not started as yet, but Coach Christian believes that he has fine material.

Why are the music students wanting plenty of cars for the treasure hunt? Could it be but one couple to the car?

Is it because of Bill Hill that the world history class holds such a thrill for Billie M. Bailey?

WE CAN'T UNDERSTAND WHY

Mary Lee Abbott makes eyes at Paul Bond. Maybe it's because of the lovely Christmas gift he gave her.

M. Goodman got such a lovely watch for Christmas. (Hey, M., can't you let the rest of us girls in on "How to Win Friends and Influence People"?)

Bennie M. Wade doesn't show anyone her other Christmas present. Why, Bennie, I think anyone would be delighted to see that, even if it is just a picture of one of your friends.

Bonnie Bell doesn't bring one of her Christmas gifts to school with her. After all, Bonnie Bell, we don't think Oran would mind much, if we used just one tiny-winy of something from your Evening in Paris set.

Madge Burrows hasn't come back from Arkansas. "Pop," maybe you had better send someone after her; after all, she worked in your office.

Maxine Little has to scream every time anyone walks up behind her. Why, Maxine, everybody doesn't look that bad. Or do they?

More people don't tell us what they got for Christmas. Such as the two Jcyces, Virginia and Mary Evelyn. John Kelly doesn't tell us what "Missie" got for Christmas. You just as well tell us, because if you don't—she will.

Emma Reneau doesn't wear her Christmas present to school. You know, Emma, we like to see gifts as well as hear about them.

What happened to all of Mary Alice's Christmas presents. Didn't anyone but yourself sample it? We hear Betty got some.

Beth Evonne is so quiet about what she did Christmas Eve. After all, Betty, we like to know when you have a good time.

PROPER MANNER OF DISPLAYING THE FLAG

13. Flags flown from fixed masts are placed at half-mast to indicate mourning. When the flag is displayed on a small staff, as when carried in a parade, mourning is indicated by attaching two streamers of black crepe to the spearhead...

14. When used to cover a casket, the flag should be placed so that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.

FASHION HIGHLIGHT

Seniors: Plaid really goes to town this week. Mickey Little is seen wearing a brown plaid skirt with yellow shirt waist and brown tailored coat.

Juniors: Virginia Blackerby hits new heights this week in the fashion news. She wears a charming green plaid skirt topped by a green tailored blouse, closed at the neckline with miniature shoes.

Sophomores: Bonnie Bell Bailey is strolling around (probably looking for Oran) in a tan dress with quarter length sleeves.

Freshmen: Geraldine Bryant is seen wearing a red plaid dress and brown slippers. She wears red anklets and wears the costume by having a bow stuck in her curls.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Halifax Named British Envoy to U. S. As Eden Gets Foreign Minister Post; U. S. Defense Set-Up Revised in Effort To Speed Up Industrial Production

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—A "Pioneer" squad is shown marching to work after a night raid on a Midlands town. The duty of these men is to clean up the debris and make roads passable. They also demolish parts of buildings left standing by the bombs but which might constitute a hazard. Often they work right through the raid while bombs drop.

BOSS: Becomes Servant

Selection of Viscount Halifax as British ambassador to the United States was a case of the boss becoming the servant and vice versa, for Anthony Eden was named as most likely candidate for succession to Halifax's post as foreign secretary.

Halifax left the cabinet, the last of the Chamberlain appeasement crew, a man whose scalp the British anti-Chamberlainites had howled for months without success.

Washington conceded the great ability of the new ambassador, and predicted success for him here, while admitting that American public opinion at the outset might recall his appeasement tactics before Munich.

Viscount Halifax tactics before Munich.

Eden was announced as Britain's new minister to the United States in Washington. Both ambassador and minister had been the custom in Britain's past, but hitherto Washington had only an ambassador.

Just what Eden has in up to in Egypt and the Near East has never been made clear, but it must have been successful, cause observers pointed to the fact that B. E. (before Eden) things been at a standstill in the east Mediterranean sector, and after they arrived on the scene, of Eden the British rose up, pelting fascists, and sailed them wack into Libya.

The British effort against the Dodecanese islands also crowned with a great deal of success, and Eden is believed to have a finger in that pie as well.

So now he is to be put back as foreign minister from present post as secretary for what this will be odd, for he will get into a job he held under Chamberlain, and which he vacated because he openly expressed himself out of sympathy with the premier's appeasement policy.

SECONDS: In the Ring

Italy was not, perhaps, kicked out of the war by England, but her seconds, at any rate, were present.

These misgivings have been more than justified in the defense industry lag. Now, it is held, Mr. Roosevelt has said to Mr. Knudsen, in effect, "I was wrong before. Now you are the boss!" And now Knudsen will go ahead with full authority.

As to Clause Six, and the part it played, some of the Washingtonians questioned the President's authority to give Knudsen supreme power. He pointed to the Second Reorganization act. Now, that act did not give the President this power specifically, but acting under its authority the President issued an executive order (which he WAS empowered to do).

Clause Six of this order read: "(6) In the event of a national emergency, or threat of a national emergency, (the President may create) such office for emergency management as the President shall determine."

It was too early for the effect of these reinforcements noted in the war reports.

Mechanized forces, backed by guns from the Mediterranean and naval and army planes from head, pushed on rapidly into Germany, in admitting officials to Italy, let it be known that partners must stand together in sending aid to II Duce's armies Germany was paying aid sent to her by the form of "hundreds of planes for cross-Channel bombing."

HIGHLIGHTS... in the week's news

A few years ago America overbuilt and real estate was begging. Today a housing shortage is one of the bottlenecks of the industry. Here are a few reports:

Seattle (plane center) reports "this time next year they'll be sleeping in tents."
Rock Island, Ill., (arsenal) has a acute shortage of housing.

The fall of Salom forced an entry into Italian territory, and the British, using the German tactics of the fight through Flanders, shot ahead down the coastal roads 175 miles within the border, completely surrounding and cutting off some 20,000 troops in Bardia, principal port.

Bardia was placed in a state of siege, and the British main forces after leaving sufficient men to prosecute the reduction of Bardia, later to be reinforced from the rear, pushed on toward Tobruk and Derna.

Marshal Graziani and his main forces were still able to keep ahead of the British, but the latter claimed enormous numbers of prisoners, killed and wounded Italians, totaling around 30,000, great booty, all accomplished with a British loss of only 1,000.

Just where the Germans would enter the picture in the Battle of Africa was not clear, with the British naval forces apparently in charge of the coastline and unmolested, and the better ports either in British hands or under siege.

CLAUSE SIX: And National Defense

When President Roosevelt wants to do something drastic and final and something that has not been done before, he has a system all his own.

He calls his legal advisers in, tells them what he wants to do, and then he has them find a law for it.

He has created a new job, called the Office for Emergency Production Management, and put into it William S. Knudsen, wizard automobile production man, with instructions that he is to be the "czar" for U. S. defense, and all lights extending before him will be green lights.

Knudsen took the job (which he almost had before the new order) grabbed his new authority, and told America to "roll up its sleeves and go to work" building planes and munitions.

"There must be no appeasement," he said, and he called the war in Europe "irreconcilable" in character, and asked the nation to "recognize the full gravity of the crisis" which resulted in additional power being given to his organization.

One writer said that, seven months ago, when Knudsen was given the defense chairmanship, he gave that funny half-smile of his and asked President Roosevelt "who's the boss?" The President said "I am." And Knudsen took the job, it was said with misgivings.

These misgivings have been more than justified in the defense industry lag. Now, it is held, Mr. Roosevelt has said to Mr. Knudsen, in effect, "I was wrong before. Now you are the boss!" And now Knudsen will go ahead with full authority.

As to Clause Six, and the part it played, some of the Washingtonians questioned the President's authority to give Knudsen supreme power. He pointed to the Second Reorganization act. WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Simultaneously, Chancellor Hitler and Mme. Elsa Schiaparelli renounce gold and extol the fruits of the spirit. Preparing to return to France

Schiaparelli Says Cost Fetters Our Art of Creation

Soon, the famous dress-maker finds that Americans are too much given to money-grubbing to appreciate the beautiful art of couture. "The Paris designer is free," she says, but here in America "in creating a costume you must think about cost." So she's going back to Paris where art is unfettered and nobody worries about money.

Molyneux fled, to make gowns in London, but Lucien Lelong, the new Judge Landis of the French fashion industry, remains in the service of art—not money of course. The latter implication might suggest that Paris as a continuing world style center is somehow geared into Chancellor Hitler's jug-handled economy, and that, of course is a rather gauche idea. In Herr Hitler's new order, it's art for art's sake.

Soon after the occupation of Paris, Mme. Schiaparelli arrived here to begin a national lecture tour. We seemed to be suffering from much misapprehension about France. It was business as usual in Paris, and anyone who fancied that New York might become the world style center had another thought coming. However, she reserved her apostrophe of art against money for the last.

Addressing the Junior League of Los Angeles recently, she said:

"All of us in Paris are impressed by the generosity of American men regarding their women. American men have a world-wide reputation for the money they spend on women. 'I say bravo to you! Go right ahead.'

I had an idea that the French felt that way a few years ago when I was privileged to see some of the inner workings of Lanvin's establishment in Paris, to talk to the vendeuses and witness the deference to a Texas oil magnate, when he came in to help his wife choose a gown.

Mme. Schiaparelli lived five years in New York. Her daughter, Marisa, was born in her Ninth street house in Greenwich Village. That was before the days of her fame and opulence, and she thought about money a great deal in those days.

Taking an unheated flat in Patchin place, a dingy little nubbin of a street off Jefferson Market court, she found a $20 bill on the floor. It was a good omen. Other money came and she returned to a garret in Paris, to write poetry. A sweater design brought her into her career. For one who scorns money she is a masterful and diligent business woman, her huge establishment turning out around 10,000 garments a year at prices up to $5,000. Of a distinguished Italian family of astronomers and scholars, she has been described by Edna Le Fevre as "a woman nobody can know, absorbed with books on metaphysics, aesthetics and philosophy."

ELMAN B. MYERS, inventor of the new "jet expulsion" motor which is expected vastly to increase the range, speed and fighting effectiveness of war planes, is a self-starter and finisher, too.

Without benefit of any academic seminars, he became a hayloft radio inventor. This, incidentally, was in the Bronx where there weren't any haylofts; but make it a cellar and the result is the same.

After 32 years he appears with his critically important invention. He got a job with a wireless station in Sacramento, and was soon throwing his voice farther than anybody else with Lee De Forrest and by 1932 had brought through a "cold light" radio tube. He started work on his jet expulsion or "rocket" motor four years ago. Engineers say it may increase the speed of fighting planes by 200 miles an hour.

IT WAS not until they began work in strengthening the roofs of the Capitol at Washington that most Americans were aware that an architect was regularly attached to a structure of which George Washington first laid the cornerstone in 1793. He is David Lynn of Hyattsville, Md. Lynn in 23 years of service had ample opportunity of learning all the ins and outs of the famous building. He served 10 years as chief engineer of the Capitol and in 1927 became architectural supervisor.

Chic Silhouette Figure Depends On Proper Foundation Garment

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

YOUR costume may be the very pink of perfection, your accessories nothing less than glamorous, but no matter how smartly appareled, unless you are correctly corseted in the proper foundation garment to make your figure conform, so far as is possible, to the slim svelte lines that current fashion demands, you will fail to qualify "up to the mark" in general appearance.

Ladies, look to your corsetry! Soon it will be time to take up the matter of new clothes for spring. Start the program right with a carefully selected foundation garment wardrobe and see what a difference it makes when you come to be fitted in the new frocks and suits.

The long-stemmed American beauty glorified by United States designers in their first season of independence from Paris influence calls for intelligent corseting to underline the new styles with high, well-contoured bustline, straighter and slightly longer waistline and sleek hip and thighs, American corsetry has made amazing progress in achieving control without sacrificing comfort in the foundation garment.

What special type of foundation you should wear depends upon your individual needs. Study your figure in a mirror to get a clear picture of faults to be corrected. Then go "in conference" with your favorite corsetiere. In analyzing your figure defects and virtues, remember that the side and back views are even more important than the front, because they show your posture and distribution of weight.

It is especially important this season that your bustline be properly contoured. The tendency in current costume design is to accent top interest in moulded and draped and swathed treatments. The new classic daytime wools with their suave simply tailored blouse tops make expert corsetry imperative. This is especially true of brassieres which must be meticulously selected. Remember that unless you wear some type of pantie girdle and brassiere under your slacks suits, swimsuits, tennis, golf or riding clothes, your

It is also important that you have two identical foundations for everyday wear to keep your figure moulded properly and comfortably. Two foundations worn alternately and kept fresh and in good repair may be expected to hold their original lines and do their job of figure control appreciably longer than two purchased successively.

One foundation for formal wear is a wardrobe necessity because the figure needs extra help to look its best under formal gowns, which are more fitted in line than daytime styles.

New foundations for evening offer several outstanding features. Brassieres are cut to give more accent to the bustline than for daylight hours, and have many clever tricks to suit the straps to the various décolleté lines. Corsets and all-in-ones are cut longer in the skirt to prevent thigh bulge and afford a suave, gently curving line from waist to knees without any hint of stiffness in effect.

Shown in the illustration are two examples of the sleekly moulded evening silhouettes favored this season. Note the dress to the left with perky wee bows tying in a one-side fastening. It requires perfected corsetry to achieve the youthful fashion-right lines here delineated. Jacket costumes as centered in the group are outstanding in the evening mode and exact expert foundation garment fitting. A good-looking daytime black wool dress with which to wear a single costume jewelry piece (in this instance a stunning bowknot pin at the waistline) has become a staple in every wardrobe. Shown here to the right is an over-the-bust draped effect which requires very special corsetry because of its top interest.

A Dainty Flowered Blanket Protector

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

IT WAS a bride of ten years who reminded me of blanket protectors. I say bride because her home still has the immaculate freshness of a bride's house. Her wool blankets have never been washed or cleaned, yet their soft light colorings show no sign of soil. She brought out some long pieces of cotton material: "I baste these over the tops of the blankets," she said "and change them every few weeks."

I thought of some dainty bed linens that I had seen all trimmed in flower sprigged cotton print. Why not make flowered blanket protectors to harmonize with blanket colorings? Here is one that would go with either rose or blue. It is easy to baste with stitches that fasten it temporarily to the blanket by slipping them along in the pink or blue binding as shown. One length of material as long as the width of the blanket will make a pair of these protectors. A half yard extra of the flowered material will face a matching pair of pillow cases.

You will also find some other ideas for trimming pillow cases in SEWING Book 2. This booklet has been one of the most popular in the series as it not only contains complete directions for many gift and bazaar novelties but shows how to make 42 different embroidery stitches and five ways to darn and repair fabrics. Creating Happiness

A world full of happiness is no beyond human power to create. The obstacles are not insuperable. The real obstacles lie in the heart of man, and the cure for these is a firm hope, informed and fortified by thought.—Bertrand Russell.

Loop Felt

Fetching little hats made of bright loop felt are effective with tweed or dark fur coats. Some of these jaunty sprightly headpieces are so fashioned they look like a single large flower caught firmly to a fitted cap made of ribbon velvet. They are tied at the back in a big bow, the flowerlike cluster of felt loops poses piquantly over the forehead. The hat of felt loops pictured is a pill-box type in moss green with beige. The long-sleeve muff is in green velvet with a ruche bordering at each end made of felt loops matching the hat.

New Trim for Shoes

Even your shoes have a dressed-up air this season, with trimmings of fur bows and beading. Tailored bows are used to trim pumps made of crocodile, and frilled bows and beading add a smart look to suede shoes for afternoon.

'Twin Hats' Copy Headgear of Men

Probably the most important style item this winter is the companionate hat, known also as "he and she," "Mr. and Mrs.," and "twin" hats. These hats are merely hats that look alike—one for men, one for women.

Actually the twin hats are a blessing, both to men who have put up with some pretty wacky looking women's hats in the past, and to the ladies who are always looking for something new. The distaff twin hat is, of course, out and out larceny. It is styled to duplicate the sportier men's styles. Manhattan has seen them in telescopes or pork-pies, derbies, felt caps and in the so-called double brim safari felts. As a style item they are excellent.

American designers of women's hats have a knack for feminizing these twin adaptations to the point where they are, if anything, more feminine than distinctly feminine hats.

Red, White, Blue Featured in South

Women vacationers spending their winter in the southlands are wearing dresses patriotically featuring red, white and blue.

For daytime wear two or all three of the brilliantly contrasting colors are combined, and are often further trimmed with gold braid insignia or belt buckles that are red, white and blue shields.

Evening clothes, whether dinner dresses or formal gowns, are full skirts. They are in skin, crepe, or silk, and net, with the reigning

New Year resolutions are usually useless—we have never known one to be kept for long.

No matter how pious a man is, if his religion does not teach him tolerance of the other fellow's opinion, he should change his religion.

While thinking about a man for the state highway commission, there could be no better qualified man than Sam Braswell of Clarendon. Mr. Braswell knows highways and has traveled over most of the highways of Texas. He would be entirely suitable from the standpoint of the Panhandle and should meet anyone's idea of a Christian gentleman.

Bill Huie of Alabama State has an article in this week's Collier's Magazine that should be read by everyone interested in education. Mr. Huie claims that of the 3,500 football players "graduated" by Alabama, not one is an outstanding success. "We have taken a fine game and converted it into a monster which takes from a boy his formative years and leaves him nothing but a letter to wear on his chest, a spavined knee and a false sense of values," says Mr. Huie.

Christmas in the South is never the same without fireworks. Yankees who are accustomed to having their fireworks on the Fourth of July cannot understand the lure at Christmas time, but it is different with the Southerner. And there were never the fatal accidents from fireworks that are now made by motorists, but as for that, our highways are now an admitted shambles, with seemingly nothing to keep from becoming more and more dangerous as time passes.

The oldest newspaper in Texas is no more. The 98-year-old Semi-Weekly Farm News passed out of existence this week. The passing of the Farm News is like the passing of an old friend. The laws of change makes for different arrangements in the newspaper fraternity, just as in other things, many will regret seeing the drop from the deeds of subscribers are being care of by the Dallas News, published by the company, but we venture that it will be a long time before the thoughts of the people of Texas families.

of road bond being called in inspired by the state will take of the bonds. others stopped just because will be easier what as the bonds, eventually money is spent. This fact makes it easy for tax spending boards to disregard the law requiring publication of financial transactions. If taxpayers would take an interest at all times in how the money is spent, we would have a much more economical government, local, state and national.

A visiting preacher, talking to a local congregation recently, said that he had "built" a couple of new sermons and would try one on the congregation, stating that he had preached it a few times and liked it himself. The sermon reflected some credit on the builder, being based to a large extent upon statistics, governmental and otherwise, but the thought occurred to at least one listener that when the same preacher was a boy, folks were prone to think that sermons were inspired, being impromptu and made for the occasion. Maybe building and repetition is better but those of us who were brought up under the old way still like to be fooled into thinking that the sermon is being preached for the first time direct to us.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Gray County—Greeting: YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED. That you summon by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Gray if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, R. E. Knapp, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Hon. District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Gray on the first Monday in January, 1941, being the 6th day of January, 1941, at the Court House thereof in Pampa, Texas, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court, on the 6th day of December, A. D. 1940, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 6729, wherein Mrs. R. E. Knapp is plaintiff and R. E. Knapp is defendant.

The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows: to-wit: Plaintiff alleges she has resided in Gray county for six months prior to the filing of this suit and in the State of Texas for twelve months prior to the filing of this suit; that defendant's residence is unknown; that plaintiff and she were married May 26, 1936, and separated October 15, 1938, and have not lived together since such time; that no community property was acquired and no children were born to said union; that plaintiff has two children, Evelyn, a girl 15 years of age, and James, a girl 14 years of age, by a former marriage, now in her custody; that plaintiff's name, prior to her marriage with defendant, was Minnie Auld.

Plaintiff alleges that defendant drank intoxicating liquor to excess; that he struck plaintiff several times with his fist, inflicting personal injury; that by reason of these facts, their further living together has been rendered insupportable.

Wherefore, premises, considered, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited by publication as required by law; that upon a final trial hereof she be granted a complete and absolute divorce dissolving the marital relationship now existing between plaintiff and defendant, and that the name of Minnie Auld be restored to her; for complete custody of her minor children; for costs of suit; and for relief, both special and general, at law and in equity, to which she may justly show herself entitled.

HEREBY FAIL NOT, and have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Pampa, Texas, this 6th day of December, A. D. 1940.

ODE TO HITLER

By A. T. Wilson
Hitler's brain is keen and nimble;
Mention his name, Englishmen tremble.
Of ruthlessness a perfect symbol,
With a heart the size of a wee tot's thimble.

He is sadly alone without a mate,
All full of spite and full of hate.
His effort to settle the whole world's fate
A tremendous suggestion, at any rate.

Every German is doing his bit,
Not calling for 200 and calmly sit.
Say what you will, but you'll have to admit
He's terrifically efficient when he throws a fit.

When all is said and all is done,
By all the stars, the moon and sun,
The U. S. has the brains and mon
To put old Hitler on the run.

of Beauty to You!

Resolutions are the order of the day and you've undoubtedly vowed 'to turn over a new leaf' in many a way... but have you remembered your Beauty Resolutions? Just in case you've forgotten that a more glamorous YOU will add much to your personal happiness and success during the coming year, here are our suggestions:

RESOLVE to follow a regular professional beauty program this year, for the skilled fingers of the expert can keep you attractively young with but a minimum of cost!

RESOLVE FOR YOUR HAIR that you will keep it in the very best of condition by thorough home brushings, frequent professional scalp treatments and oil shampoos to replace natural lubrication that is so easily depleted by Winter's winds and Summer's sun. Resolve, also to experiment with the latest in hairdos so that you'll feel for yourself the "lift" they give!

SOLVE FOR YOUR FACE that all give it the best of care, including invigorating facials and facial make-ups. And resolve, too, your beautician is the logical person from whom to purchase cosmetics.

SOLVE FOR YOUR HANDS that will keep them meticulously cared at all times, treating them and again to special oil manicure and hand-arm softening treatments.

Library News

By Mrs. Lady Bryant

Howard Spring's new novel is an American best-seller, "Fame Is the Spur." An overwhelming abundance of life flows through these pages, the work of a master story-teller. It gives us, with deep nostalgia, the England of one man's lifetime, which came to a close in 1940. There are some unforgettable scenes in this book, but it is the exciting sweep of the whole thing which is the distinguishing quality.

Hobart's "Oil for the Lamps of China," is a gallant novel of two Americans in the Orient, struggling for security and happiness.

People having these three copies of Saturday Evening Post, dates October 5, 12, and November 23, are asked to donate them. We wish to thank Miss Catherine Patterson for the donation of a set of "Cyclopedia of Civil Engineering."

Nurse—Whom are they operating on today?

Orderly—A fellow who had a golf ball knocked down his throat at the links.

'And who is the man waiting so nervously in the hall—a relative?'

'No; that's the golfer. He's waiting for his ball!'

He called his wife angel because she was always ready to fly, continually harping, and never had an "earthly" thing to wear.

Cleaning Waxed Floors
Hardwood floors which are waxed should be cleaned with a mop or soft brush which is free from oil, as oil has a tendency to soften wax. A cloth wrung from warm, soapy water should suffice to remove the surface dirt. There are certain cleaners which are recommended for removing spots or discolorations from floors before refinishing. Consult your paint dealer. A rag moistened with turpentine or mineral spirits will also remove wax.

Chemical Industry Accident
Japan's chemical industry had one of the worst accident years in its history in 1939, according to "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry." The handling of explosives by inexperienced manufacturers, establishment of new plants in crowded industrial districts and excessive strain on workers from overtime operations were contributory causes.

Design Older
The seal on the face of our currency has the inscription (in Latin) "Seal of the Treasury of North America" instead of United States because the design of the seal of the treasury department was devised in 1778 before there was a United States of America.

Wasted Gold
Gold has been found in the civic center, in Great Falls, Mont., but as far as the people of that town are concerned it will stay there, as no practical means have been found to recover it. The gold, worth about $750, is in the gravel and sand used in the erection of the building.

Stream of Gold
Gold has been found in a little stream back of the college gymnasium of Bethany college in Bethany, W. Va. But the catch in it, according to Prof. J. S. Allen, is that the gold is in such minute quantities that its recovery would be impracticable.

DIRTY NAMES NO REMEDY

The seeds of fascism and state socialism are being increasingly sown in this country. There is constant political pressure to make the individual more and more subservient to government. Don't try to blame "the other fellow" for this situation. Don't think you can remedy it by calling dirty names.

There are a few basic ideals embodied in our United States constitution that can save this country from ever being dominated by a fascist or totalitarian philosophy if the people value the personal rights and liberties guaranteed them by the constitution.

By the same token, the people will lose those rights and liberties in proportion as they allow them to be encroached upon or destroyed by promised political cure-alls which limit individual opportunity under the guise of the state or government being better able to care for the people than the people can care for themselves.

If you are a laboring man, a bank depositor, a life insurance policyholder, the owner of a bit of stock or a bond in one of this country's industrial enterprises, or the owner of a farm or a home, you play a vital part in the American system of free enterprise. You have the right to vote and keep your government your "servant," not your "master."

As you permit government to go into competition with private business by devious methods and designs, you promote the totalitarian idea, whether you realize it or not.

If you are a working man and government takes over the business in which you have been working, you will find you have lost your freedom of action, the right to strike, for instance. You don't strike against the government—that is revolution.

If you are a business man, and government goes into business in competition with you, you suddenly find you cannot compete with government, its power to tax you, while its own operations are tax exempt.

If you are a farmer, and accept certain "benefits" from the government, you wake up to the fact that you are no longer the independent son of the soil you have always prided yourself on being—you are told what you can do.

And there you have the picture. Free speech, free press, freedom of worship, are wrapped up in free enterprise. When any people succumb to the lure of political coddling and give up their right of private action, even in a small degree, they have taken the first step toward state socialism, fascism, totalitarianism or whatever you wish to call it. We have already started on that road—government doing what the individual has done for himself, with government cooperation and protection, for the preceding 150 years.

The same excuses for greater centralized government, greater benefits to the people, were the inducements offered to the masses in every European country where free speech, free press, freedom of worship and free enterprise are but a memory today.

Our people can see the handwriting on the wall. No man can blame anyone but himself if he allows the trend of government domination of the individual and free enterprise that wrecked the liberties of the European nations to gain headway here.—Industrial News Review.

ONE MAN'S VIEW

A large map of the Southwest adorns the wall of a man known to many friends of CAPS. Circling the map is a large red chalk line that takes in El Paso on the west and parts of Arkansas and Louisiana on the east. Written in invisible ink on the map, so that no one but the man who put it there can see it, are three words. They say, "Here I work."

It is this man's idea that with the issues of the world now settled as far as an individual can settle them, he can best serve his country and himself by confining not only his activities, but his every thought to that territory in which he must and can best operate. He believed in the League of Nations, intervention in Europe in the early thirties, the might of airplanes, earlier aid to England and conservative government. Outvoted or ignored on every one of these issues, he says he can now only draw in his mind and leave to others the responsibility for world affairs. He's all "wore out."—CAPS and lower case.

The News politicians—very meaning the news and seeking to undermine confidence they enjoy in the public today.

We challenge comparison of politicians, office what not, in the matter of patriotism, and we are not that challenge in a boastful way, either. We are well aware somewhere in America there may be found in a newspaper totally unworthy of the confidence of patriotic men and women, all right (such a newspaper could not long survive), but would one have to look far to find a politician unfit for the respect of his countrymen?

You know this is a fair offer of comparison, and you know that most newspapers, day in and day out, week in and week out, serve their readers in a signally fair and capable manner without respect to the beliefs and ideas held by their management.

No group of public business and professional men in America is today giving more unselfishly of their time and talent to the promotion of sound, patriotic progress of this republic than do the men and women who conduct the nation's newspapers—and this nation is one of the few spots in the world where news is yet free and unrestricted. There are those who seek to muzzle the newspapers so they may work their will to destroy American liberties—we know that, too.

Have faith in your newspapers—keep them strong and free—and liberty will not perish from the earth. Otherwise, otherwise. — Clarendon News.
