Miss. said she came to Colorado City around June 1 and worked as a clerk for about two weeks while Mrs. Rogers took a vacation. She said she left Colorado City at about 5 p.m. or 5:30 p.m. on the date of the fire.

Testimony of Edmond M. Nash, deceased, who testified in the previous trial, was read by stipulation. From this testimony it was developed that Nash was the person who called Rogers from a room near the hotel lobby shortly before the fire. According to the testimony, Nash had gone downstairs from his room to seek some towels and to talk to Rogers about his hotel bill.

John Rogers, son of the defendant, said the Crossmans claimed that his father owed them $4,000. He said Mrs. Crossman refused to leave after she was dismissed as an employee of the hotel.

At the time he left, Best said there were several gallon jugs, some five-gallon cans, some varnish and turpentine containers and a barrel of creosote in the basement of the hotel. He said such items were not uncommon there, in view of maintenance work required at the hotel.

Earlier, J. A. Sadler, former mayor of Colorado City who is now in the real estate and loan business there, said he estimated the fair market value of the Gonnell hotel at $130,000 to $140,000 at the time of the fire.

Luther David Pittman, an attorney from Raleigh, Miss., testified that he held the first and second liens on the Gonnell Hotel in the amounts of $36,485.84 and $2,000, respectively. He said he purchased the liens in behalf of seven friends of Rogers who had heard that the former holders of the liens were preparing to foreclose. He said the seven persons, all residing in Mississippi, wanted to help Rogers hold his property.

Exercise Long Horn Set For This Month

FORT HOOD, March 7 (AP)—Thousands of men in strange green uniforms will drop from the skies soon to battle a U. S. force which doesn't know just when or where to expect them.

The aggressor force will be the 2nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N. C. It will have its own air arm—the 108th Fighter Bomber Wing and the 363rd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, both already crowded in on this field at San Angelo. Besides the green uniforms, they will wear crested helmets and fancy collar tabs to distinguish themselves from their opponents.

They will comprise the 31st Infantry Division, Camp Jackson, N. C.; 17th Infantry Division, Camp Rucker, Ala.; First Armored Division, Fort Hood; 18th Air Force, Greenville, S. C.; and 9th Air Force, Fort Bragg, N. C.

The 14,000 men and officers of the aggressor division came by convoy from North Carolina last month. The paratroopers have been training almost a month and will make practice air drops March 15 and 18.

Most of the defending forces are due later.

"This will be a free maneuver under the most realistic conditions," an army spokesman said. "Tactical situations will actually occur; they will not be simulated."

Senators Warn More Than Oil Is At Stake In Dispute

By TEX EASLEY AP Washington Service WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Senators advocating state ownership of lands beneath the marginal seas hammered today at the idea that far more than oil is at stake. Opening this line of attack on the pending bill, which would give the Federal government temporary control of submerged lands, Sen. Long (D-La.) told the Senate yesterday there was no assurance the government wouldn't claim all structures erected on filled-in coastal land.

Billions of dollars worth of property such as piers, docks, warehouses and pleasure pavilions would be involved, he said.

Some future administration, he argued, might seek to extend the Federal "paramount rights" theory also to the beds of rivers and harbors.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) has insisted no such action is contemplated, and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said yesterday nine senators would join him in an amendment which would specifically surrender any federal claim to land beneath bays, harbors, rivers, lakes and other inland waters.

O'Mahoney is co-author with Sen. Anderson (D-NM) of the pending resolution, which would put oil operations in off-shore areas under the Secretary of Interior. The states would receive 37 1/2 per cent of revenues from developments for a distance of three miles from their respective shores.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.), agreeing with Long, said many cities have erected buildings on filled-in land. He declared federal success in the present controversy might cloud the titles.

He described how Miami Beach was built up largely from a sand bar by filling in land.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) noted large tracts in the Boston area also were on filled-in land. These might fall under federal jurisdiction, he said if the government's claim on the off-shore oil lands is sustained by Congress.

Step-Up In Drive On 'Wetbacks' Due

WASHINGTON, March 7 (AP)—Immigration service plans to step up the drive to keep "wetbacks" out of this country were disclosed in hearings yesterday.

Immigration officials testified before the House Appropriations Committee that additional funds were needed to keep alien Mexicans out of the United States.

If the money is made available, they said, the following steps will be taken:

1. Strengthen the Border Patrol by the addition early in April of 200 patrol inspectors and 25 supporting positions—for which $549,000 is required.

2. Provide facilities for and detain aliens incident to, processing for mass expulsion from the United States by way of airlift operations—for which $573,000 sought.

3. Remove by air approximately 43,600 aliens during May and June. Needed for this would be $878,000.

Mitchell Will Join To Get Rainmaker

COLORADO CITY—More than 400 dry Mitchell County farmers, ranchers and businessmen crowded into the courtroom of the Courthouse at Colorado City Thursday night, and with but three dissenting votes agreed to join other counties in the area in setting up the West Texas Weather Improvement District for the purpose of negotiating a precipitation contract with the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver.

The meeting elected Curtis Latimer and Lon Strain as delegates to the district meeting which will be held in the Mesa Room of the Green Hat Cafe at Lamesa Monday evening.

Clyde Hoyt area representative of Dr. Irving P. Krick's organization, was the speaker here. He also addressed a meeting in Big Spring Tuesday evening.

The speaker pointed out to his listeners that his organization definitely does not promise to "make" rain, but operated only with the idea of increasing precipitation through the use of weather information and silver iodide generators.

Mitchell County's quota has been set at $7,000 for the 12-month contract, and the assessment rate against individual farmers and ranchers who enroll their lands will be one cent an acre for grass lands and three cents for cultivated lands, a rate that is being followed pretty generally throughout the area.

Mitchell County land owners wishing to enroll their lands in the program may make payments at the office of the Chamber of Commerce, at the Mitchell County Farm Bureau office, or at the City National Bank. The payment money will be held in escrow by a Lamesa bank until the contract has been made and operations have been started.

With this action last night Mitchell County definitely aligned itself with Dawson, Howard, Terry, Lynn, Yoakum, Gaines, Borden, Midland and Martin in forming the district.

J. D. Hill Jr., president of the Mitchell County Farm Bureau presided at the meeting.

WSB Gets Oil Dispute; Plans To Strike Go On

By The Associated Press Plans went ahead Friday to shut down Texas Gulf Coast refineries after President Truman asked the Wage Stabilization Board to recommend terms of settlement of a strike-threatening oil dispute.

The President sent to the WSB Thursday the dispute which threatens to cut down the nation's refining capacity by 60 per cent and idle all motor vehicles except emergency cars.

WSB usually asks both sides of such a dispute to preserve the status quo until it can investigate and make its recommendations.

Texas union bosses speculated that O. A. Knight, Oil Workers International Union president in Denver, would poll the union's advisory committee to determine the OIU's attitude to the President's recommendation.

OIU and some 21 other CIO, AFL and independent unions have combined in a demand on the oil industry for a 25-cent hourly pay boost. The strike to back up the demand first was set to begin last Sunday at midnight but was postponed a week on government request.

Magnolia Refinery at Beaumont was to begin shut-down operations Friday. As long as 72 hours is needed to achieve orderly shutdown of larger refineries without damage to equipment.

Gulf Oil was to begin shutting down Friday night at Port Arthur. Manager Frank Wallace said the Texas Company refinery at Port Arthur would start its shutdown Friday night, too. Similar operations across the state were expected Friday unless the unions agreed to the President's request.

Elro Brown, OIU's District 4 director, said "My own personal reaction — and I'm not speaking for the union as a whole — is that we should comply if the WSB takes up the matter and asks us to postpone the strike."

Oil workers' wages now average about $2.10 per hour. Most companies have offered a boost of 10 cents per hour.

He's Fine Now, But Wonder How He Felt Swinging In Basket?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—How about swinging in a basket at the end of a 70-foot cable under an airplane while suffering from acute appendicitis?

A San Diego tug boat engineer, Cecil Davidson, 47, did yesterday. He swung in a basket while being raised from the tug Challenger, at sea 35 miles northwest of here, to a U. S. Coast Guard helicopter.

The "topter" had to stay high so its rotors would clear the tug's 50-foot high radio antenna.

"I guess he felt like he was on the end of an endless pendulum," said Lt. Ray Miller, the helicopter pilot.

Davidson was brought to a hospital here. Last night his appendix was out and he was reported in good shape.

Candidates Bump Into Each Other In Drive For NH Votes

By The Associated Press Presidential candidates found it hard to keep from bumping into each other in New Hampshire today as they stepped up their town-to-town drive for votes in the nation's first presidential primary just four days away.

Victory Tuesday will mean little except the prestige of being an early winner and some talking points between now and the national conventions in July. But three candidates and top backers of two others felt it was worth the old college try.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, jubilant after several traffic-stopping appearances, planned heavy schedules for the home stretch.

Harold E. Stassen, ex-governor of Minnesota, and also a GOP candidate, challenged Taft with five questions, dealing mainly with the senator's stand on the defense effort. Stassen said Taft owes it to New Hampshire voters to answer.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Democratic candidate, intensified his hand - shaking, back-patting campaign along the state's byways, stopping and talking to everyone he met, making a few speeches.

Kefauver is opposed only by delegates pledged to President Truman—who hasn't said yet whether he plans to run for re-election.

Taft and Stassen face tough but shadowy opposition from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has said he will accept the GOP nomination but will not fight for it.

A "grass roots" survey of local sentiment announced today by eight Associated Press member newspapers in New Hampshire showed Eisenhower still has a slight lead over Taft. But the margin was narrower than a similar survey a week ago.

The survey gave Truman a three-to-one edge over Kefauver.

Other political developments:

1. Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, an Eisenhower man, said he has "no good authority" Truman's decision as of now is not to run again.

2. Stassen said he plans to enter the April 15 New Jersey primary against Taft, Eisenhower, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, making it a four-way GOP battle. So far, Kefauver is the only Democrat entered.

3. In Washington, Rep. Bryson (D-SC) said Truman feels Kefauver tried to dig up something about him during his crime probe, is peeved at the Tennesseean.

4. The Oregon May 16 primary is one of the hottest yet. Eisenhower, MacArthur, and Stassen are already entered among the Republicans, and Gov. Earl Warren of California has said he will

Ten Race Horses Destroyed In Fire At Alameda Fair

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP)—Ten thoroughbred race horses were destroyed as fire swept through a barn at historic Alameda County Fair grounds last night.

Some 30 horses were in the 800-foot barn when the fire broke out. Seven burned to death in their stalls; one was burned so severely it had to be shot; another was killed by a cement truck, and the tenth broke a leg and was destroyed.

The 50 were among 700 horses prepping here for the race meet that starts at Golden Gate Fields at Albany, Calif., next Wednesday. The other horses were in other barns and were not endangered.

Paul, a Prisoner for Christ

FAITHFUL TO HIS FAITH, HE SUFFERED PERSECUTION

Scripture—Acts 20:17-27; 22:3-29; II Corinthians 11:24-27; Philippians 1:17-18.

BY NEWMAN CAMPBELL PERSECUTION is a word we of this modern world know all too well. The Jews have been persecuted almost to the point of extermination in some countries. Christians are also being persecuted in various parts of the world, and Christ is despised. His ministers are put into prison and tortured to make them confess to crimes of which they are innocent.

Persecutions of the Christians began with the death of Stephen, in which Paul participated, not actively, but as he himself says, he consented to it, and "kept the raiment of those that slew him."

Paul had spent two years in Ephesus, then going to Miletus. He was eager to be in Jerusalem for Pentecost. Possibly he had a strong premonition that he would not be able to come back to that part of the world, so from Miletus he sent to Ephesus for the elders to come to him.

When they had come, he reminded them of his ministry. He told them he had served the Lord "with all humility of mind, and with many tears and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews."

They bound Paul, but before they could beat him, he asked, "Is it lawful for you to scourge a man that is a Roman, and undomped?"

The centurion told the chief captain what Paul had said, and the chief captain came to Paul and asked, "Art thou a Roman?"

When Paul said he was, the captain said his own freedom was bought at a great price, but Paul said that he was born free.

The captain was really afraid then, that he might be punished because he had bound this man. "Paul was a great man, one who is remembered, revered and quoted today when many empires have crashed and great conquerors have gone from the earth and are hardly remembered."

From his prison he wrote to the Corinthians, reminding them of his many sufferings, even by his own people. Frequently he had been beaten, many times near death. His own people had beaten and stoned him. He had been in peril of waters, robbers, by the heathen, in the city, the wilderness and the sea.

It was a weariness and painfulness, in watchings often; in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness. Besides those things that are without, that which cometh upon me daily, the care of all the churches.

He reminded them, too, that in Damascus he had been in danger of death and was saved by the brethren who had let him down a wall in a basket so that he escaped.

Things had not been going well with the followers in Corinth. There were schisms in the church. Some had been antagonistic to Paul, even denying that he had a right to speak as an apostle. They accused him of selfishness, covetousness, and other things.

To the Philippians he wrote that all he had suffered for the Lord he counted as nought "that I may win Christ."

He cannot do better than to quote in closing this lesson, Paul's own words which should be inspiration to us all: "Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

The multitude listened to him, but at the end they "lifted up their voices and said: 'Sorrowing they wept and kissed him goodbye.'"

Paul's foreboding of what would happen to him in Jerusalem was all too justified. His own people were outraged at his preaching to Gentiles. They even accused him of taking Greeks into the temple, defiling it—which was untrue. So incensed were the people that they would have killed him had not the Roman soldiers interfered and taken him to the castle, or prison.

As he was ascending the stair to the castle, he asked if he might speak to the people, and, after permission was given and "there was a great silence," he spoke, saying he was a Jew by birth, and had been brought up strictly in the laws of Moses, and, in fact, was a Pharisee. He told of his persecutions of the Christians, and how he was planning further atrocities for them, when he had the vision of Jesus on the road to Damascus, and was converted.

He went into all the incidents of his conversion and how later, he had another vision—of which we had not been told before—in which God told him to preach to the Gentiles.

$5,150 Paid For Top Bull In PHBA Sale

The most money ever paid for a bull consigned to any of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association's sale was put on the line this week when J. J. Thurman of Amarillo, representing the Turkey Track Ranch in Hutchinson County, paid $5,150 for the grand champion of the show.

This bull, B Domino 9th, was consigned by Gerald Collier of Rails. The second place top bull was the reserve champion, Aster Royal 54th, consigned by Alfred Meeks and Sons of Dalhart, and purchased at $3,500 by Jack Copeland and Sons of Nars Vasa, N. M.

In the female division, the grand champion, Miss Domino F, 296th, consigned by Meeks, went to George Nance of Canyon on a flat $2,000 bid. The second highest female was Lady Larry 32nd, consigned by W. S. Bennett and Sons, Amarillo, and purchased for $1,100 by H. H. Fish and Son of Paducah.

Sixty-eight head of individual bulls sold for a total of $50,455 or an average of $974, while five pens of three bulls brought an average of $596.

The 23 females consigned brought a total of $17,595, or an average of $765 each. The average for the entire consignment was $810.

The top 10 bulls brought $24,010, and 16 of the bulls in the offering brought $1,000 or more.

Bobby Joe Kelly, another 10-year-old Martin County 4-H boy, showed another Hereford from J. C. Sale's Martin County herd to the grand championship of the Sand Hills Show at Odessa.

Bobby Joe's steer topped the group of 115, while the reserve champion was exhibited by Jerry Allen, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Allen of Mason. Kelly's calf had previously been declared the best in the milked division.

Edgar A. Phillips had the first place steer in the heavy-weight milked division, while Sue White and Woody Caffey, both of Big Spring placed steers in the light-weight class.

Sonny Choate placed his steer in the drylot division.

The new telephone directories are being delivered to patrons.

The book, largest yet, contains 184 pages, an increase of 20 over last year's issue. This is an indication that business has been better on the "yellow pages" than on the listings. There are 16 more pages of the classified division and four in the phone listings. Each of these divisions, however, includes a page of promotion.

Most important, however, is that the new directory contains the latest listings, including a host of changed numbers. For that reason, patrons are asked to destroy the old books upon receiving the new one.

DALLAS, March 7 (AP)—Dallas and Fort Worth may have a slight feud over Robert Hugh Barber, now in a Fort Worth jail awaiting trial for murder in the slaying of a Fort Worth detective's office yesterday set March 17 as the date for the trial of the ex-convict for a $15,000 safe robbery.

Fort Worth officials aren't expected to release their hold on Barber until the murder charge is disposed of.

Detective Henry Cleveland was shot to death while trying to arrest Barber for the robbery.

AT BALTIMORE SHOW

Over 275 Hurt As Bleachers Collapse

BALTIMORE (AP)—A huge section of ice show bleachers, "not even nailed down," collapsed like a giant game of jack-straw and injured more than 275 persons last night. Thirty-two of the injured were reported in "serious condition."

As 19 hospitals continued treating the bruised and battered victims, the city revealed it hadn't issued the Sonja Henie show a permit for the temporary stands in Baltimore's Fifth Regiment Armory.

Though none was required by law, the show had asked for one and had been refused, according to building inspector Paul Cohen.

The massive section shuddered and gave way about 8:25 p. m., five minutes before the show was scheduled to begin.

The heavy beams and planks went down with a roar, pinning

Old Doc's Patients Aren't Happy Today

By WILLIAM B. ANDERSON
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Old Doc Ervin, a country doctor who rarely bothered to send bills to his patients, can have visitors now.

Monday, he'll be leaving Baptist Hospital for home.

Home is Inverness, a small town in West-Central Mississippi, where Old Doc's full name is Dr. W. L. Ervin—has practiced medicine for 33 of his 75 years.

But Old Doc, whose patients—both black and white, rich and poor—chipped in to raise $2,000 for his medical expenses, won't be going home as happy as he could be.

Doc's diagnosis of his ailment was confirmed by the big city physicians. They operated and found he was suffering with cancer of the liver, and that it was too late to remove the organ.

So he'll be going back to Inverness—to wait.

"When told of this, Old Doc didn't lose his famous smile. He set his mind to feel a few pulses, take a few temperatures and write a few prescriptions for patients who'll call at his home—while he's waiting."

As far as is known, Old Doc's smile has left him only once. That was when the people of Inverness and thereabouts presented him with the fund. He broke down and cried.

Dallas Symphony Scores Triumph In First Concert Of Spring Tour

Climaxing the Big Spring Fine Arts series and inaugurating a spring tour for the orchestra, the Dallas Symphony scored a solid triumph here Thursday evening.

Walter Hendl, young and able conductor, and members of the famed symphony orchestra were vigorously applauded into two encores. Mr. Hendl was obliged to take several curtain calls.

The triumph here was well founded, for undoubtedly the performance was the best ever heard here. Strength and perfection of the violins and the woodwinds easily was beyond anything yet heard here.

The symphony was the third in successive years for Big Spring audiences. It was the Dallas Symphony which made musical history for this area in its appearance here in 1950—and then outdid itself in its second presentation. The San Antonio Symphony furnished the highlight of last year's series.

Walter Hendl demonstrated a fine talent for conducting. He was serious, firm but understanding. While not ostentatious, he did not lack animation. His motions were as those of a master musical cook

Mildred Cawthron Honored By Class At Farewell Party

Mildred Cawthron was honored at a farewell party by members of the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church's second year primary class in the home of the teacher, Mrs. B. E. Reagan, 1205 Young.

Games were played, gifts were presented to the honoree and refreshments were served to Leahman Bryant, Bobby Moore, Linda Grim, Sally Hammond, Jimmy Foresyth, Kay Thornton and Sharon Block.

blending ingredients skillfully and easily, occasionally deftly and rapidly plucking up a dash of this, and precise pinch of that to produce a delightful whole.

He exacted much from his musicians—and he received much. The first movement of Beethoven's "Eroica" exhibited an unusual skill in weaving of instrumental patterns. It was here that the violins were nothing short of superb, for on certain passages, there was not a miserous slice of difference of notes among any of the instruments in the section. The third movement presented a delightful play of the horns.

Nothing quite so smooth has ever been heard in the auditorium here as the flute passages in the "Gypsy Dance" from Carmen. Throughout the evening the flute passages, sometimes tempered with the reeds and touched with the horns, were clear as a mountain pool, and just as bracing.

Another favorite with the audience was the familiar prelude to "Lohengrin" with this sweeping majesty and pomp.

After playing an exhausting schedule, Mr. Hendl and the orchestra graciously acknowledged applause that would not stop with the varied and exotic miscellany dance with striking tonal combinations, and finally with a Strauss waltz. And that everlastingly endeared Mr. Hendl to his Big Spring audience.—JP

Prayers for the missionaries in China were offered by Mrs. George Harrington and Mrs. J. D. Jenkins. During the meeting, a life membership was pledged.

Attending were eight members.

Flower Seeds Come Free With Cartons Of Dr. Pepper

The Dr. Pepper dealer who handles 6-bottle carry-home cartons has one or more unusually colorful displays of Dr. Pepper. The color comes from something special that has been added to these displays this month. It is four different varieties of flower seeds that regularly retail for 15 cents. They are a product of the famous Vaughan Seed Company and the seeds include zinnias, asters, petunias, and marigolds.

These popular-seeds attached to the center bottle of the 6-bottle carton mean that the customer has nothing to do but pick up the carton of Dr. Pepper and by buying four, can have one of each of four different kinds of seeds at no additional cost.

In selecting this premium, timed for the month of March, Dr. Pepper Company was impressed by the fact that as much as $650,000,000 per year is spent by consumers in the United States for flower and garden seeds.

The entire quantity of seeds available from the local Dr. Pepper bottling company has been allotted to local dealers and no additional quantities can be secured. This, of course, means that some customers will be disappointed if they do not shop early.

AAUW Meeting

The American Association of University Women, which changed its regular meeting to Friday night because of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra concert, will meet at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. James Wilcox, 304 Washington Blvd., Ruth Burnam, president, has announced.

DESIGNING WOMAN For Unexpected Decorating Trick Use Rugs On Walls

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Turn out a smooth, handsomely furnished and beautifully color-schemed room, and all your friends come to admire it. But sometimes a little unexpected decorating trick is more fun, and points you out even more as a girl with ideas.

The trick can be as simple as this,—to use animal picture rugs on the nursery wall. The new nursery rugs are as pretty as pictures, and they're soft and fluffy and easy to keep nursery clean. A single animal on the wall might be a giraffe or a lamb or a duck, or a panda, puppy or pony to match a zoo parade rug on the floor that includes them all. Sew three cord loops to each picture rug for the wall, one at each side and one in the center just below the top edge, so the picture hangs easily on three nails and comes down easily for washing. The softness and affluence of the rug picture is as appropriate to the nursery as the nursery animal subjects, and the baby can handle it, even pull it down on himself, without harm.

Congressional Wives To Aid In Campaigns

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Several congressional wives, Mrs. Tom Connally among them, will be in the thick of the campaigning with their husbands this year.

Mrs. Connally, a congressional wife since the early 1900s, has seen a lot of campaigning. And she expects to help her husband, veteran Texas senator, all she can this summer in what is shaping up as a heated contest.

Mrs. Connally's first husband was the late Morris Sheppard of Texarkana, who served in the House from 1902 to 1913 and then in the Senate until his death in 1941. She and Connally, then a widow, were married in 1942.

"Campaigns were different back in those days," she recalls in telling about pre-World War One days.

"When politicians came to town to campaign it stirred up a lot more excitement than it does now. The streets were plastered with banners and practically everybody in town turned out to hear the speeches."

There is no less interest in politics now, she adds, but the radio and television have changed things.

Recalling campaigns of old when big crowds gathered for debates between candidates, she told a reporter:

"There were yells, cuffs and heckling. I remember once Morris was debating a man named Jake Walter in Athens. Everytime Morris started to make a point, a man up in the tree would yell 'Hurray for Jake Walter!'"

"Once, just as the man started to yell again a donkey in the next yard began to bray. Morris turned to the man in the tree and said: 'I'm glad you've gotten together at last.'"

That stopped the heckling, she said.

Six years ago Connally had no fight for re-election, so his wife didn't need to take a hand. She says she doesn't know exactly what she will do in this year's campaign but may address some women's organizations.

"She says her campaigning has consisted mainly of standing up to be introduced, then sitting right down again."

Mrs. Connally keeps a diary, or a series of them. She has 15 "little black books" which she hopes will someday be of interest to her nine grandchildren.

Social life in Washington isn't nearly as formal now as it was she first came here, she says, recalling that in her early days here congressional wives, customarily spent a day or two each week, between 3 p. m. and 6 p. m., in calling on people and leaving their cards if no one was at home.

"It was all pretty silly," she adds. Many of the Texas congressmen

Local Netters Lead Way In Tournament

Finals Slated 8:30 Saturday

The Big Spring Steers led the way as four teams qualified for the second round in the seventh annual Big Spring Girls' Volley Ball tournament here Thursday.

A big meet, which is being held in the new high school gymnasium, will continue through Saturday night.

Forsan, Andrews and Lamesa joined the Steerettes in the second round of play.

Big Spring buried Midland under a 44-6 score. Rose Rice arose from a sick bed to play a fine game. Mona Lee Walker scored 11 points while Rice had 11 and Ellouise Carroll 10.

Big Spring led at half time, 21-4. Forsan nudged Snyder, 34-14, after leading at half time, 20-6. Ruth Colley counted 13 points in the winners' effort. Nannie Camp looked to advantage for the Buffs, too.

Andrews was hard pressed to nose out the Big Spring reserves, 23-22. Big Spring led at half time in that one, 13-10, but Clara Alsbrook and Jayne Underwood led a last half attack that spelled victory for Andrews.

Lamesa turned back Odessa in a well-played game, 28-21. Estelle Prather, Mary Nell Orr and Gene Crutcher set the pace for Lamesa while Jean Lindsey and Peggy Cox were among those who turned in fine performances for the losers.

Play was to be resumed at 9 a.m. today and continue until evening. The tournament, which has 24 teams entered, will be concluded Saturday night.

The Saturday night action will include a 6:30 p.m. game, which will decide the consolation winner; one at 7:30, which will decide the third place winner; and the title game, down for 8:30 p.m.

Such teams as Antelope, Levelland, Grandfalls, Denver City, Fort Stockton, Garden City, Imperial, Pecos, Sweetwater, Plains, Iraan, Rotan, Monahans and Abilene were to see action for the first time today.

Big Spring returns to action at 3 p.m. today, meeting the winner of the Monahans-Abilene game. The Steerette B team plays the loser of the Antelope-Levelland contest in the consolation bracket at 3 p.m. in the old gym.

Forsan swings back into action at 5 p.m. today against the survivor of the Fort Stockton-Garden City go.

Trophies will be awarded immediately following the championship game Saturday night. The all-tournament team will also be announced, as will the tournament queen.

NAIB Tourney Begins Monday

KANSAS CITY, March 7 (AP)—Twenty-seven of the 32 teams that will compete in the week-long National Interscholastic Athletic Association (NAIB) basketball tournament beginning Monday were in the fold today.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Raul Sanchez, the nifty right-hander, won't be the only ex-Big Spring'er who gets a chance to stick with the Washington Senators this spring.

Orlando Echeverria, a catcher here in 1946, and Fernando (Trompoloco) Rodriguez, the fast-ball hurler, are with the Nats at Orlando, Fla.

Echeverria, a pepper-pot, hit .282 for Erie last year. He also carries the top fielding average among catchers into the Sen camp. He won't be 21 until May 21.

Rodriguez won 12 and lost 14 games for Havana last season. His earned-run-average was 2.79. Freddy is getting along in years, as baseball players go. He'll be 27 on July 30.

JOE WALCOTT DOING ALL-RIGHT AS WAGE EARNER

You can take those stories about Jersey Joe Walcott not making any money with a grain of salt.

The Heavyweight Boxing Champion earned at least $450,000 from December, 1947, through last July.

Know who the ten richest athletes are? One authority says that would be Gordon Richards, Eddie Arcaro, Ted Atkinson and Johnny Longden, all jockeys; Sammy Sneed and Ben Hogan, golfers; Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams, baseballers; Ray Robinson, boxer; and (surprise) Sammy Baugh, pro footballer.

Doak Walker wouldn't do badly in the money league, either.

PROMISING YOUNGSTER TURNS IN GRID TOGS

Buddy Cosby, one of the most promising young gridlers ever to play here, has quit the game.

The star line-backer says he doesn't care for the sport. It's disheartening to learn of him checking in his moleskins but, in football, you have to have a great love for the sport to endure it. Otherwise it's not worth the licks.

No one holds it against Cosby for checking out. He's a natural as football players go, but Coach Carl Coleman feels Buddy is capable of making up his own mind.

George Sauer, the Baylor University coach, predicts his Bears will share the Southwest Conference football cellar with Texas A & M next season.

Sauer reasons Texas Christian, Rice and Southern Methodist will be scrapping for the top spot. Arkansas and Texas will be close.

The Baylor mentor says he thinks his Bruins will develop to satisfaction at season's end, however.

I'm inclined to think Baylor will finish higher than last place and that Sauer sincerely thinks he is destined for better fortunes, too.

TCU will have most of its personnel back but I look for Texas to march to the title. SMU may be a year away.

TO PAT STASEY

Aton Sells Stock In Baseball Club

Al Aton has sold his half-interest in the Big Spring baseball club to Pat Stasey.

Aton said he closed the deal with regret but had an offer from a realty company in Wichita Falls he felt he could not pass up.

Stasey, associated with the local team since it was organized in the winter of 1946, is now sole owner of the Broncs.

Aton, a native of Binghampton, N. Y., became associated with the club in December, 1948, after Les Maulden pulled out. He plans to leave for Wichita Falls about Tuesday to begin his new duties.

Aton has served as the club's president and business manager in the three years he has been with the team. As such, he has made several trips to Cuba with Stasey in quest of material.

Stasey said he plans to retain complete ownership of the Broncs for the time being and will serve as business manager, as well as field manager.

Sal Yvars Having A Rugged Time

PROENIX, Ariz., March 7 (AP)—Second string Catcher Sal Yvars of the New York Giants is having a tough time.

Yvars has a blood clot in his right shoulder as a result of being struck by a foul ball. The previous day he was struck on the head by a swinging bat.

Card Red-Head Is Living Up To His Name

By JOE REICHLER

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Schoendienst in German means "good servant" and Albert Fred Schoendienst, the St. Louis Cardinals' happy-go-lucky redhead, is living up to his name.

All winter long, ever since Eddie Stanky was named Cardinal manager and followed it up by announcing he would be a strong candidate for Schoendienst's second base job, baseball fans have been wondering how Red would react.

Rumors, all unconfirmed, flew thick and fast that (a) Schoendienst was on the trading block; (b) Schoendienst would be switched to first, third, shortstop or outfield; (c) Schoendienst had rebelled against playing anywhere but second.

Untrue, of course, all of it. Here is what happened:

One of the first things Stanky did after taking over the reins of the Redbirds was to pay Schoendienst a personal visit in St. Louis.

Among other things Eddie told the All-Star second sacker he was going to compete with him for the second base job. If Eddie's playing meant the club would be stronger, Red would be shifted to another position. But Red would play regularly somewhere. That was certain, Stanky told him.

Schoendienst assured Stanky that the arrangement was satisfactory to him.

"I'll play anywhere you want me to," Schoendienst told his manager. "All I want to do is help the club win. If I do that I don't care where I play, just as long as I play."

The more they talked the more Stanky became impressed with Schoendienst's unselfish outlook and his keen philosophy on the subject of baseball.

"Red," Stanky suddenly asked, "Have you ever given any serious thought to what you would like to do after your playing days are over?"

"Why no," Schoendienst replied, "but I'd like to remain in the game in some capacity."

"How about managing?" Eddie persisted. "How would you like that?"

"I sure would," Red said. "I'd sure like an opportunity to manage."

"Okay," said Stanky, "from now on you're my co-captain with Enos Slaughter. I'd like to have somebody in the infield with authority in case I'm not in the lineup. I want you to take charge out there. Keep your eyes and ears open. Pick up the finer points. Try to get the manager's aspect of things. Assert yourself with the players and the umpires."

The two friendly second base rivals parted with a complete understanding of each other.

"He's quite a guy," said Schoendienst later. "I learned a lot just listening to him. I don't see how he can miss being a good manager. . . . I'm going to play my head off for him, no matter where he puts me, first base, second base, the outfield or anywhere else."

"Schoendienst is a real competitor," said Stanky. "He has a fine baseball instinct. Furthermore, he is a great player. He's a major leaguer no matter where he plays."

Roswell Purchases 'Pullman' Carrier

ROSSELL, N. M.—The road trips of the Roswell Rockets won't be any shorter this year but the Rockets will travel in classier style.

In addition to the beds, the bus is equipped with a water cooler and a radio.

PASADENA, Calif., March 7 (AP)—Manager Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox has tapped three pitchers for service in the Sox first exhibition game of the spring training season Saturday.

Jayhawks Draw Bye In Region

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks will delay their departure for Amarillo and the Region V Basketball Tournament until Tuesday.

The Hawks drew a first round bye in the seven-team meet, winner of which goes to the National JC Tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas.

As a result, the Hawks will meet the winner of the Clarendon JC-Eastern Oklahoma A&M game at 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Bobby Williams is still the Hawks' leading point-getter in games through this week. His point aggregate is 273.

Bobby is being pressed for the scoring lead, however, by Bobby Gaines, who has 267 points.

Casey Jones is close with 230, followed by Charles Warren with 225, Howard Jones with 196, Harold Rossion with 153, Bill Thompson with 99, Dick Gilmore with 34, Cecil Hoggard with ten, Richard Curry with two and Jack Lee with one.

PADY YOUNG FAVORED OVER ERNIE DURANDO

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Left-hooping Paddy Young of New York was rated a 7 to 5 favorite to whip Ernie (The Rock) Durando of Whippoorwill, N. J., at Madison Square Garden tonight and earn a middleweight title shot.

A good crowd of 10,000 and a gate of close to $40,000—big money in these television days—was anticipated by the promoting international Boxing Club for this fourth meeting of the two power-punchers.

The 10-rounder will start at 10 p.m. (EST), and will be broadcast and telecast across the nation. The telecast will be carefully watched by Middleweight Champion Ray Robinson who has signed to fight the winner in a title go at the Garden, May 16.

That depends, of course, on Sugar Ray winning both of his forthcoming championships bouts. He takes on Carl (Bobo) Gison in San Francisco next Thursday, and Rocky Graziano in the Chicago Stadium, April 16.

The 23-year-old Young, and the 25-year-old Durando are all even after three clashes. Paddy won the first one, on Sept. 13, 1950, by a wide margin. Durando, a terrific right hand cloister, captured the second by split decision, Nov. 2, 1951, and 28 days later they fought to a draw.

Durando has been stopped once in 48 fights while Paddy has been halted twice in 53. Durando's record is 33-12-3 and 25 knockouts. Young's record is 42-8-3 with 21 kayos.

Dibrell's Wins Two Decisions

Dibrell's picked up two victories in YMCA City Basketball League play here Wednesday night but had to play for only one of them.

Ackerly forfeited a game to the Sportsmen, after which Dibrell's Handmade Cook and Houston of Garden City a 38-31 defeat. Dibrell's led at half time, 23-15.

Forsan decisioned Humble Oil in the evening's other engagement, 27-21.

Clayton Henderson scored 12 points for Garden City against Dibrell. Gil Barnett was high for the winners with ten points.

Thelbert Camp led Forsan with ten points while Bobby Wheeler has six for Humble.

The games wound up YMCA League play for the year. American Legion had previously been crowned champion.

McADAMS PROVIDES EDGE

Blues Lick Whites, 13-12, In Last Spring Grid Game

The Blues beat the Whites by the margin of Tommy McAdams' extra point in a football game here Thursday afternoon that climaxed spring drills for the Big Spring High School Steers. Final tally was 13-12.

The fiercely-fought contest was that close all the way. The Whites threatened to cave in the Blues' defenses a couple of times after pulling to within one point of the opposition but never quite generated the power to push the ball across.

Generally, the youngsters looked good, as good or better than they have at any time since the great war. There were too many fumbles and not enough blocking but the Steers showed a spirit and a hustle that should stand them in good stead next fall, if they keep it.

Billy Martin put the Blues out front in the initial period by slashing through center for five yards after he had combined with J. C. Armistead, Bobby Hayworth, Brick Johnson and others to drive half the distance of the field.

Louis Stipp broke through to block the try for point and it was 6-0.

Donald Mack Richardson dashed 30 yards for a tally to tie up the count in the fourth round but never got his try for the extra point away.

Armistead, a tower of strength on defense as well as attack, eluded off tackle for a short jaunt and the Blues' second TD shortly thereafter. It looked like it was in the bag for the Blues.

However, Robert Angel flipped a short pass to Jimmy Hollis within minutes after that and, aided by a terrific block on the part of Junior Suter, tore out for the sidelines and beat the defenders to the flag. The play covered about 60 yards. The try for point turned into a pass play but fizzled when Doyle Maynard was tackled shy of the goal post.

Hollis had earlier turned in the best catch of the game with a one-handed stab in the midst of the opposition on a heave thrown by Frank Long. The play settled the Whites a first down.

Stipp and Jimmy Ellison turned in splendid games in the line, as did Raymond Gilstrap, who was rarely slowed down all afternoon. Norm Dudley played most of the game at center for the Blues despite the lingering effects of the flu and did very well. Bill Dorsey, Carlisle Robinson, Jimmy Phillips, Tommy Taylor, Dickie Milam, Jimmy Porter and Suter—all looked capable of going full speed in a regulation game.

Severity Of The Drouth Could Approach Disaster Of 1917-18

The Department of Agriculture has declared every one of the 254 counties of Texas disaster areas as a result of the drouth. Before Tuesday's action only 97 counties had been listed as disaster areas in piecemeal fashion, a few at a time, but the continuing drouth and worsening conditions caused USDA to go whole hog.

That period, but it is 5.59 inches more than was registered for a comparable 18-month period in 1916-1918. The total then was only 9.29 inches.

Idealistic Dream Encounters The World's Harsh Realities

Among the numerous straws at which desperate men grabbed as a means of insuring peace after World War II the most popular was the one world, one government idea. This idea reached its highest and most persistent form in United World Federalists, Inc., which insisted and still insists that an overriding world government must come because it is the only way to insure peace.

a nasty dig at him. You can imagine what would happen if he were sitting in this chair." The President looked out the window thoughtfully and went on: "If Ike were elected, there would be a short honeymoon. I had one too but you wouldn't think so now. Then everyone would start pouncing on him."

Harry Truman sounded off to an old Senate friend the other day about General Eisenhower's presidential ambitions.

Eisenhower's Political Creed—8

General Seems To Believe Russians Won't Embark On A Global War Now

By KEVIN McCANN President, The Defense College

In his public and private pronouncements, General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, an implacable foe of Communism, and never one to minimize its threat to American survival expresses doubt that Russia will embark on a global war at this time.

ground. If I found he was a Communist, I would not appoint him. On the other hand, I certainly do not believe our faculty members should be subject to special loyalty oaths.

satellite countries mutilated, deserted, straggled away, your lines of supply and communication would be destroyed by air attack; your own cities would be battered; the Black Sea might easily become an Allied lake.

He foresees that if the West will establish systems of collective strength, to bring about an equilibrium with Soviet power, the cold-war situation "would merely become a simple struggle between the two ideologies and not a struggle on one side backed up by frightening power that particularly upsets the nations close by. We would be content to trust the decency and justice of our cause and its appeal to people in the long run."

"Suppose you and a dozen of your friends constituted the Politburo within the Kremlin. You control all decision of war and peace for the Soviet masses. At home, you are entrenched in power; within the Russian borders there is no threat you need fear, no group that can despoil you of your dignities, your luxury apartments, your automobiles and planes, your retinue of servants. Within the last few years you have agized, beyond the Russian frontier, an industrial and agricultural empire whose complete absorption will strengthen you at home and abroad and increase even further the wealth you enjoy. You hold there, however, is not yet secure. Millions in Poland and Eastern Germany and Czechoslovakia and Hungary and the Balkans accept your bondage in sullen silence, awaiting the lunge desperately at you and your supporters.

"We, as Americans, face a deadly danger for a very simple reason. Communism, both ruthless in purpose and insidious as to method, is using the traditional imperialistic designs of Russia and the present physical strength of Asia and Eastern Europe to promote the Communist objective of world revolution and subsequent domination of all the earth by the Communist Party, centering in Moscow."

"On the home front, he has urged elimination of subversive elements "in the fair, just, decent American way."

"The penchant for calling anyone a Communist is a behind-the-iron-curtain trick," Gen. Eisenhower has declared, pointing out that Communists themselves apply the Fascist label to all who do not share their views. He holds:

"By no juggling of words or twisting of ideas can a citizen of this country justify an alliance with the forces of dictatorship and Communist enslavement."

"Let us not be stupid enough to fall into that grave error here. Let us eliminate subversive elements—but let us do it in the fair, just, decent American way and not just call Communist anyone who may be a little brighter than ourselves."

"Because disloyalty is an offense of the most profound import," he told the Boy Scouts at their Valley Forge Jamboree on July 4, 1950, "we must be especially careful to avoid hurling the charge of Communist against any who may merely disagree with us. Respect for our own free system requires that we speak and act against others with restraint until factual evidence establishes guilt."

"President of Columbia he pledged: 'The facts of Communism shall be taught here—its ideological developments, its political methods, its economic effects, its probable course in the future. The truth about Communism is, today, an indispensable requirement if the true values of our democratic system are to be properly assessed.'

"So situated, will you risk your position and your future against the Allied armies and navies and air fleets whose present stature is only a faint index to their overwhelming might should the nations that now muster them be resolved into a cold-blooded and avenging unity by your attack? I think I can answer the question for you. "No situated, you—of course—would hesitate at the irrevocable decision of war. You might hope that your armies could cross the Elbe and some of your divisions might probe forward to the Rhine. But the Channel and the Bay of Biscay and the Western Mediterranean would be beyond your grasp."

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

Could Be John Garner's Idea Of Starting Over Again Is Good

Following considerable opportunity this week to observe things in and around the Howard County Courthouse, especially matters related to the trial of court cases there, we have come to the conclusion that it's not much fun to serve on a jury here.

is required to pay for his own meals while he serves on the jury. Theoretically, this probably is "immaterial" as the lawyers say, because jury service is a man's duty as a citizen. But for practical purposes, men are not likely to welcome jury duty at $4 per day when they could be earning $10, $15 or even $20 per day working in their regular business or trade. If they are tied up on a jury for a week it means a real financial loss.

Patman Inquiry Will Shed Light On Snyder's Place In History

WASHINGTON.—The hearings scheduled to start on Monday before Rep. Wright Patman's Subcommittee on General Credit Control and Debt Management will not lead immediately to new legislation. They're primarily exploratory. Yet they have a special significance. They will help to determine the place of John W. Snyder among the great, near-great, or not-so-great American Secretaries of the Treasury.

ed radically. The amount of non-marketable U. S. securities has increased from 30 per cent to 45 per cent, largely because large investors, such as insurance companies and individuals, have not been attracted to long-term Treasuries at a 2 1/2 per cent rate.

For this, Snyder has a sympathetic committee chairman. Snyder has favored a low-interest policy to keep down the cost of carrying the federal debt. And Patman, a Democrat from Texas, has long been partial to low interest rates on government securities.

As a consequence, Snyder has used short-term obligations to pay off long-term issues. Thus, half of the marketable issues outstanding today are due or callable in one year or less as against 3 per cent when he took office, as the following table shows:

Nevertheless, in the questionnaires sent out by Patman to the Treasury, the Federal Reserve, the Council of Economic Advisers, and other government agencies, his low-interest bias has been imperceptible. The document is a landmark in monetary history. The replies have been well documented, carefully reasoned, and are unusually complete. Henry C. Murphy, the committee economist, who drafted the questions and "nursed" the replies, has provided reading matter for monetary experts, college professors and students for years to come.

Under 1 year 33% Today 50% 1 to 5 years 18% 20% Over 5 years 49% 30%

For the first time, Snyder has bared the events—from the Treasury viewpoint—which led up to the accord with the Federal Reserve Board a year ago. He goes into great detail, in 189 pages, to explain the pros and cons of Treasury policy. His answers to a similar questionnaire from a subcommittee on money and credit headed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas in 1949 were brief and took less than 20 pages. Douglas has been an outspoken critic of the Treasury's policy. He objected to the policy of pegging government bond prices.

It won't be easy for Snyder to float large long-term bond issues in the near future, say, for six months. Just as such bonds were not easily salable when large investors feared de-pegging, now, long-terms are not readily salable because large investors want the market to be thoroughly tested after the de-pegging.

Both the Douglas and Patman subcommittees are divisions of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report with no power over legislation. Thus Douglas, got nowhere in sponsoring a resolution to protect the Federal Reserve from Treasury domination. Legislation on money and credit originates in the Banking and Currency Committees, headed by Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (Dem. S. C.) and Rep. Brent Spence (Dem. Ky.).

Snyder may have time to re-arrange the composition of the debt if the Democrats win the election and he continues in office. But if the Republicans are victorious in November, he will turn over to his successor a big job of housekeeping. The new Secretary of the Treasury will have to refund what Snyder has unfunded.

One measure of the success of a Secretary of the Treasury is the cost of the debt. And Snyder, throughout his term of office, has tried to keep the cost down. That's why he resisted the efforts of the Federal Reserve Board to reduce pricing prices for government bonds. If prices of government bonds drop, interest rates rise.

There's another measure of a Secretary of the Treasury: Has he kept his financial house in order? When Snyder took office, at the end of June, 1946, the total debt was $268,000,000,000. Today it is down to $257,000,000,000. But the composition of the debt has changed

Shannon, Ireland (U)—Love of the Old Sod and trans-Atlantic cargo planes have given birth to a new Irish industry: commercial shamrock-raising. Shamrock farmers harvest their crops a few days before St. Patrick's Day, ship the sprays to the United States by plane, where transplanted Irishmen proudly wear the green on Ireland's own day.

Amateur's Salon BOSTON (U)—A bartender and a hospital clerk have opened a salon for amateur artists in Boston's South End. Bartender Weston G. Bean and clerk Joseph Caruso, amateurs themselves, reconverted a barber shop to set up the establishment on the fringe of the theatrical district. "Amateurs don't get a chance in the big museums," they explained. "We're going to give it to them."

Uncle Ray's Corner ancing it by placing the fingers of one hand at the center of the string. Then he speaks the names of various spirits, or lets someone else utter the names, one by one. If the bow starts to swing back and forth when a name is spoken, the sick man knows (or thinks he knows) the name of the spirit or demon who has caused the illness. I suppose that the poor fellow becomes nervous when one name or another is mentioned, and his nervous feeling makes the bow swing.

The island of Ceylon, near southern India, is a place with civilized people. Thanks partly to the fact that it is a British colony, it has cities with modern buildings. There are telephones, electric lights and so on in the cities.

Boys of the Vedda tribe start playing with bows and arrows at an early age. Their bows are playthings at first, but slowly they learn the art of shooting arrows.

Even the adults among the Veddas tend to have small heads, but their long black hair is thick and may give a visitor the idea that the heads are fairly large. The hair of a Vedda is wavy. His nose is flat and his skin is brown.

Certain parts of Ceylon, however, are far behind the times. One area, in the southeastern section, is the home of primitive people known as Veddas (also spelled Veddahs).

Veddahs are rather short, the average height being about five feet. We hardly can call them pygmies, but their size is well below the world average.

The name "Veddah" means "hunter." To this day they make their living mainly by hunting and fishing. In hunting they employ bows and arrows, and they use dogs to track down game.

Veddahs sometimes capture fish by putting a poisonous juice into ponds. This injures the fish, and several are likely to come to the surface where they can be picked up easily.

Bows are used by some sick Veddahs in an effort to find out why they are sick. A man may get into a seated position and hold a five-foot bow in front of him, bal-

Five Persons Fined In Corporation Court

Four persons charged with drunkenness were fined a total of $61 in corporation court this morning. One of them who had been before City Judge W. E. Greenlee before, was fined $30. One defendant charged with not having an operator's license was fined $25.

One of the happiest men in West Texas these days is E. B. Dickerson of Midland, the man who founded the present J. C. Sale herd of purebred Herefords from which came the Amarillo and Abilene grand champions fed out by Bobby Sale, 10-year-old 4-H son of the breeder.

And with the record that has been written by the Bobby Sale steers, it has been demonstrated that a drylot steer can be a champion. Much of the credit and congratulations must also go to Martin County Agent Ralph Jones.

There were 197 steers in the Amarillo show and it was from this number that Gov. Dan Thorton of Colorado had to pull this grand champion.

A 900-pound Hereford steer bred by Winston Brothers of Snyder, and exhibited by a 12-year-old 4-H clubber, was declared grand champion of the annual Louisiana State University Livestock Show at Baton Rouge.

Hill Prince, great son of Princequillo, has run his last race and will be retired to the stud on a Kentucky farm, according to owner, C. T. Chenery, New York utilitarian and Virginia plantation owner.

Unless the Grub Line rider is wrong, Hill Prince is the second horse in the history of racing to win crowns three years hand running. As memory serves, Hill Prince shares this distinction with the great Whirlwind.

Hill Prince was best juvenile of 1949; best year-old and "Hors" (year) in 1950; and was 193 handicap king. If he had been handicap king this year he would have been

Hawaiians Seeking Connally Apologies

HONOLULU, March 7 (AP)—American war veterans and a Gold Star

leave tonight for Washington to ask Sen. Tom Connally to say it isn't so. They want him to take back his remark that he is a better American than many Hawaiians where many "are not of American descent." He spoke in opposition to immediate consideration of Hawaii statehood.

A lot of Hawaiians got mad. They began raising money to send the delegation, which will fly by United Airlines via Los Angeles and Dallas.

Angry protests boiled out of veterans and civic organizations and from residents who have sought statehood since the turn of the century.

A radiogram of protest was sent by 839 mainland-born residents to Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) statehood supporter, who was asked to read it into the Congressional Record.

Other protests went to President Truman and Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas.

The delegation will include some members of Hawaii's much-decorated 442nd Regiment which rescued trapped elements of Texas' 36th Division in Italy during World War II.

Boring From Within Is Avowed Communist Policy In W. Reich

Editor's Note: The seeds of chaos are being planted in Germany. The harvest may be a long way off, but Moscow is counting on it. William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst who is not a host of Europe, surveys the German situation in this article, last of a series of four.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
FRANKFURT (AP)—Boring from within.

That's the openly proclaimed policy for Communists in Western Germany. The World Federation of Trade Unions, an all-purpose revolutionary arm of Moscow, has made it clear.

But there are secret plans, too, for tying the drive in this country to the world revolution Stalin seeks. The WFTU keeps quiet about those plans, but there is no doubt remaining that they call for creating chaos, if and when Moscow sees the chance.

As in other countries, the WFTU has its specific program for West Germany, meshed with the overall European and world plans.

The drive in Germany, as elsewhere in Europe, is aimed at the strategic industries. Some competent observers here express concern at the inroads it appears to be making.

Attempts at infiltration have been considerably stepped up in the industrial Ruhr Valley, where the Communists have built up a strong party organization. Semi-official sources place the Communist party strength in Western Germany at 375,000 members, of whom fully 150,000 are in the strategic Ruhr.

Communist strength within the West German trade unions had been falling off steadily, along with Communist overall voting strength in West Germany, until about mid-1951. Now, however, with the concerted Red campaign keyed in union ranks. This is confirmed by persons in a position to know.

The Communists have several trump cards which are being used with some success. One is the remilitarization issue. Another is the issue of German reunification. A third is the fear that Germany will become a battleground for a third world war—a strong fear in a country still reeling from the effects of the last conflict.

The West German Trade Union Federation has about six million members and exerts a powerful political influence. The great bulk of its membership is strongly anti-Communist. But there have been many labor protests against Western plans to rearm the Germans.

The WFTU world program is under the direction of Moscow's Communist International Information Bureau (Cominform). Its long-range plans, here and elsewhere, are geared with the forthcoming "unity of action" campaign, and with the campaign of "national resistance" both in European countries and the Middle East, to the United States. The plans also are tied in with a propaganda line built about the term "super-exploitation." This accuses the United States of exploiting the working class of Europe in a drive to prepare for war.

Executive Council members of the WFTU include such persons as Louis Sallant and Benoit Frachon of France; Giuseppe di Vittorio, the WFTU president who heads Italy's Communist-controlled General Confederation of Italian Labor; and V. V. Kuznetsov, head of the state-controlled unions of the USSR.

These men have outlined the WFTU's open aims in Germany—to support all strikes and agitation against remilitarization, to infiltrate non-Communist labor ranks, to agitate for the kind of peace Moscow wants, to campaign for "independence from imperialist exploitation."

All this was made public in Berlin last November, at a meeting which hailed Stalin and vilified the United States. The secret aims laid down at that meeting were something else. This program includes plans for sudden, swift action if and when the Soviet Union sees the need to paralyze Western countries by striking at the vital industries and stirring up political chaos.

That is the path charted for the Trojan Horse in West Germany.
