The total represents about 40 percent of the number of vehicles within the county, according to Tax Collector John Wolcott's estimates.

Applicants for 1948 tags must present a certificate of title in proper order and the current year's registration receipt before the licenses can be issued.

Buyers of used vehicles should nsist sellers give an assigned certificate of title and the current registration receipt at the time the vehicle is delivered, Wolcott said. Purchasers of new vehicles should 'obtain a manufacturer's certificate.

Unless changes of ownership are recorded through the Tax Collector's office, the files of the State Highway Department at Austin will continue to show the seller as the legal owner of the vehicle. It is to the advantage of both buyer and seller to keep the title clear. Wolcott appealed especially to owners of vehicles bearing out-of-

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, March 17, 1946 "Kind Lady" Curtain Slated To Rise Thursday At 8:15 Looking forward to the "Kind

Lady" presentation at the municipal auditorium Thursday evening, audiences can expect the most suspense - filled two hours of theater to be seen in Texas recently. From the prologue to the epilogue, the play is a plot of questions, ans-wers, and more exciting questions. The audience meets the "kind lady" in the prologue. She is wan, drawn, and uncertain even as to her own sanity. She greets a strange bank clerk who has entered her house. unexpectedly and proceeds to tell him a fantastic story. The young man, not sure whether to believe her or not, hears the complete story of an aristocratic Boston woman, forgotten by her friends, alienated from her family, and completely under the control of one menacing Henry Abbott and his gang of clever criminals.

The Lrue Glory - of well cut Diamonds

For long years diamonds, though highly prized, were not understood. They were polished like sapphires instead of being faceted to blaze with utmost radiance. Today, the diamond-cutter's art has been developed to the highest pitch. The stones we offer you have all been studied and cut with a mathematical precision to show their glorious fire. (The preparatory work on a gem is a crucial part of its history: once famous diamond was actually studied for nine months before being cut). The importance of proper faceting is one of the reasons why you should buy your stine from a fine jeweler. Gems of similar size and weight to those we show you may have far less fire, due to improper cutting. Never take a chance then, in buying diamonds. Even for your smallest gem purchase, buy from a house of reputation!

Stimulating Vote Interest

It begins to look like a bargain year for the poll tax holder. Already there are six avowed candidates for three places on the city commission; four for two places on the school board (and either list could be swelled by time this is published); and 25 names are in the ring for 16 county and precinct offices.

How active campaigns shape up remains to be seen. It would be a refreshing thing to straightforward issues all the way through. Voters would then have an opportunity to weigh the various objectives against each other and balance them off with an appraisal of the possibilities involved. Then the rest would be up to the voter to make the wisest possible choice.

Of course campaigns naturally engender some feeling, but by and large they are beneficial to the functioning of a democratic form of government. Some take them too much to heart, but those who look at the issues come out of them without any bitterness and bow to the will of the majority.

In the election of 1946, we hope that yoters of Big Spring and Howard county will ask two questions: "What will be best for our community? Who can do these things?" If they honestly seek the answers to these questions and then vote accordingly to their convictions, we have no qualms about any race, large or small.

It would be a fine thing for the average voter to take his responsibility more seriously. By that we mean that he should not be satisfied with an exchange of platitudes when approached by a candidate or friend of a candidate. He (or she) should make it his business to ask specific questions about specific things.

Too often we vote for a person solely out of some personal impression or personal request. It is to our shame that many people go to the polls not knowing who are actually on the list of candidates, much less the duties of the office involved or the relative capabilities of the persons asking office.

Human nature being what it is, we don't expect any revolution in overcoming this long established failing in the electorate. However, if we could but make a start it will be a tremendous achievement.

Meanwhile, it seems to us that it is a good thing to have a liberal number of persons offering for office. In the end there is nothing like a contest to stimulate the people to action at the polls. Any man, who makes the race, whether he wins or loses, may take justifiable pride in the fact that he contributed interest in his particular election. Those who take this step take a step toward good citizenship.

A Ten-Minute Holocaust?

By FRANK GRIMES Herald Special Writer

In a newspaper interview a few days ago, Maj. Gen. Curtis LeMay, "The Cigar," expressed beliefthat the country is fast slipping into a dangerous state of unpreparedness.

"We couldn't even fight our way out of a paper bag today," said the man who devised the Flying Fortress tactics against Germany and directed the Superfortress raids on Japanese industry.

He is deputy chief of air staff for research and development, and as such the country's aerial defenses will be kept abreast of the times-unless a penny-pinching congress starves research and development to death through a mistaken policy of ecohomy. The cost of this war, heightened as it was by delays and errors due to long years of virtual paralysis of our armed services, proved again that penny-pinching is not only dangerous shortsightedness, but false economy as well.

"The country has the scientific brains," says General LeMay. "We need money to put these brains to work."

Let scoffers deride his remark. "I expect to live to see the day when a rocket vehicle can be sent to the moon and back," if they will; but the fact is that this incredible feat isn't as crazy as it sounds. Science already knows it can control such Obviously, his statement was made to calm the waters, particularly where Russia is concerned. The immediate instance is that of Russia's purported moves in or on Iraan.

Opinions differ to the possibilities of the Soviet course of action. There are no few who firmly believe it places the world on the threshold of another war.

This may be, but one fact should be remembered: The world (the US and Russia included) are still pretty tired from the re-

Colorado To Vote On Special Bonds COLORADO CITY, March 16 .--Colorado Citians will be given a voting chance to express their approval or rejection of extensive improvements to the existing water and sewage systems. A bond election, set for Tuesday, April 2nd, and calling for the approval of $325,000 in bonds for city improvement was called by the city council which met in regular monthly session at the city

Among the water improvements, as planned by Feese-Nichols, con- ation. sulting engineers of Ft. Worth. will be new wells, new water mains, 36 new fire hydrants, a cholinator, Removal of iron from the town's water supply to prevent discoloring and rusting of plumbing will also be accomplished, should the issue receive a favor-
