Expensive Checking

With the aid of microscopes, microtomes, chemicals and special lights, a New York scientist who specializes in the detection of frauds in furs has discovered several counterfeit coats that have been passed as genuine by other fur experts. Constipation Relief That Also Pepsin-izes Stomach

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even fussy children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna with Syrup Pepsin at your druggist today!

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their removal of waste matter, and this may lead to move impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes-a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.
Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Churchill Key Man in British Cabinet Shakeup

Key men in Great Britain's new war cabinet are Winston Churchill, left; Sir John Simon, upper right, and Sir Kingsley Wood, lower right. In a dramatic cabinet shake-up, Churchill was named England's war czar, director of the nation's battle services. Simon, silent veteran of finance, will preside over the cabinet's economic policy committee as chancellor of the exchequer, and Wood heads the home policy committee, directing social and domestic problems, including food and agriculture. Chamberlain bowed to public clamor in making Churchill head of the vital service committee. He remains first lord of the admiralty as well.

Buss Family Counts Off for Census Enumerator

When a Chicago census taker asked Mr. and Mrs. Dan Buss of Blue Island, Chicago suburb, how many children there were in the family, he was confronted with a whole fleet of Busses. Pictured with Papa Buss, 43, and Mama Maud Buss, 40, are the 14 little Busses, from 1 to 21 years old. Grandma Buss, not present for the picture, also lives in the five-room Buss bungalow. Another son, Dan, 23, was not at home. The census taker was happy for he is allowed four cents for each name he lists. Had he called a month later he would have been four cents richer.

Maine Governor Wins 'Doughnut Duel'

Which state can claim honors for being the home of the inventor of doughnut holes? That question was decided in a doughnut-frying contest in Bangor, Maine, between Gov. Lewis Barrows of Maine, right, and Secretary of State Harry Jackson of New Hampshire. Barrows' claim that Hanson Gregory, a deceased Maine sea captain, invented the hole in the doughnut was upheld when he was declared winner of the contest. James Chute, hotel employee, dressed as the sea captain, stands in center.

War Brings Breadlines to North China

War and flood, three years of the former and a succession of the latter, have had their effect on the Japanese-dominated part of China. More than 2,000 Chinese, most of them women and children, died on Shanghai streets this past winter. Free bread is distributed every day to the hungry.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—One bright, sunny day in July, 1920, King Christian X of Denmark, mounted on a beautiful white horse, led his troops across a boundary line to reclaim the northern part of Schleswig, lost to the Germans in 1864. Denmark had been crippled in the World war, suffering much more than Norway and Sweden, but somehow she had managed to save her little kingdom. The king, addressing a cheering throng, hailed the organization of international law and order, under which small nations could live in peace.

The king, who is six feet, six inches tall, the tallest man in his kingdom, recruited a guard of the tallest and handsomest young men he could find, but none so tall as he. They were gorgeously uniformed and the ceremony of the changing of the guard might have been readied by Franz Lehár. But many times, the king reminded his people that all this was merely appropriate ceremonial, and that Denmark's safety lay in keeping in the vanguard of civilization, and not in armed forces.

Last summer, under great nervous tension, he seemed to feel that the powers of darkness were closing in, and suffered a serious illness. Today, with the fate of Denmark resolved in far-ranging and desperate issues, the old king, nearing 70, yields to the inevitable. The New world structure of law and order has fallen and Denmark is one of many casualties.

At the age of 23, Christian married Alexandrine, princess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin. When he was crowned in May, 1912, the Danish populace was prepared to dislike him, descendant of an alien dynasty as he was, and there were some overt demonstrations against him. But he won his people with his furtherance of a liberal, constitutional government. Although he was trained as an army officer, and had a liking for military pomp, he frequently denounced militarism and opposed efforts to get his tiny country goose-stepping and arming. While he was proud of having the tallest and most resplendent guard in Europe, he slipped away from his bodyguards at every opportunity and enjoyed tremendously bicycling around Copenhagen, unattended. Into the ruck with Denmark's gains of two decades goes what probably has been the world's most successful state-sponsored industrial and agricultural co-operation.

EMIL HURJA, big, Babe Ruthian political statistician and precisionist, who greatly aided the early New Deal by charting the public drift, is now an ally of the Garner forces. Familiarity with assaying in the gold fields inspired his system of getting the mill-run of public sentiment. He once told this reporter about his interesting career. Taking a start from the wilds of the Michigan peninsula, when he was 18, notes from his diary might be something like this:

Rode the rods on the way to Seattle. Found more comfort in the cattle car.

Landed in Yakima, did this and that, and finally got to Seattle. Since I had learned to set type at the age of nine, I convinced the Post-Intelligence, I was a newspaper man. Managed to get by, but realized an education might help, so started grabbing one off the side at the University of Washington. Found Dr. Henry Suzallo, the president, was the greatest man I ever met.

Dr. Suzallo said Henry Ford wanted him to send somebody on his peace ship and it might as well be me. Went on the peace ship; came home and rammed around the Texas oil fields and then got to Alaska. Fell in with Ben Smith, who had a real gold mine. Came back home and got into Wall Street and politics.

Began assaying political mother lodes; got so I could tell whether I would get a string of color, and found I was assistant to Mr. James Farley, chairman of the national Democratic committee. Like Mr. Garner.

EIGHTEEN years ago, Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine commonwealth, said to a group of American business men, "I would rather live under a government run like hell by Filipinos than under a government run like heaven by Americans." Now, with the shadow of Nippon reaching out into the Pacific, he isn't so sure. Word from Washington is that while he still thinks 1946 may be all right for casting off, but he is dickering for a re-examination of the Philippine problem.

FARM TOPICS

CATTLE GRADED ON TWO TESTS

Beef Type Is Rated by Body Measurements.

Two simple body measurements of beef cattle—plus a record of feed consumed by the animal in reaching a certain weight—give the stockman a good picture of the qualities transmitted by the most important member of the herd—the sire. The two measurements are height at withers, and weight or heart girth.

The measurements give the index to carcass quality and the feed record tells how efficiently the animal puts on weight. Together they make a record-of-performance test by which beef herd sires may be "proved." The herd owner knows whether or not the offspring of a "proved" sire are likely to make efficient gains and yield carcasses of good quality.

The greatest drawback for such tests has been the lack of a simple method for determining carcass grades of test animals before slaughter. Only trained cattle graders could do the job.

The two-measurements method, which makes it possible for the farmer to do his own grading on the farm, was devised by Bradford Knapp Jr., animal husbandman of the United States department of agriculture, after studying weights, measurements, and grades of 167 slaughter steers, including Herefords, Shorthorns, Aberdeen-Angus, and steers of dairy breeding. The grade or score as determined by the two measurements for the most part tallied with the grade given the same animals by two competent graders.

New Poultry-Keeper Needs Proper Start

There are three economically sound ways to get started in modern poultry keeping.

The first and probably the most efficient method of getting started is to buy day-old chicks from a recommended source during the early spring months. This involves the least capital expenditure for stock, permits the beginner to obtain valuable experience while raising the chicks, and gives him time to acquire the information that will be needed to handle layers in the fall. The disadvantage of this method is that, aside from sale of surplus cockerels as broilers, there will be little income until the pullets mature to the egg laying stage, which they will reach at about 24 weeks of age.

The second method is to purchase ready-to-lay pullets during the later summer or early fall months. This usually means an increased capital investment, but does provide for almost immediate income.

The third method is to purchase adult breeding stock in limited numbers at any desired time, and then from this stock produce chicks in season. The advantage of this method is that one may buy few but very high quality breeders and from a relatively small investment soon build up required numbers, gaining much in experience during the process.

Bang's Disease Cure Is Still to Be Found

Recently a national farmer's magazine contained an article quoting a chemist who had just returned from Switzerland, and who told about a powder used in that country to "cure" cattle infected with Bang's disease.

Dr. C. P. Fitch, of the University of Minnesota, says that "miraculous new medicines" to cure and prevent Bang's disease have been bobbing up frequently for many years. But it is very unfortunate, Fitch said, that so much attention should be paid to a remedy that is not known and has not been proved effective by reliable experiments.

"I am not familiar with the particular compound referred to in that article. I am, however, familiar with the veterinary literature from Switzerland. I know that there has been no mention made of any discovery of a cure for Bang's disease. To the best of our knowledge at the present time there isn't any cure for this disease.

"The nature of Bang's disease is such that it is quite easy to be mistaken in regard to so-called cures. In my judgment it is a mistake to encourage people to believe that there are cures for this disease until they have been definitely proved by competent investigators."

Blister Ailing Horses

Blisters are the best remedies for curbs, windfalls, spavins, and similar disorders of horses. A common blistering ointment for horses may be made of half an ounce of Spanish flies, an ounce of oil of turpentine, and four ounces of hog lard. Another good one may be made by thoroughly mixing two ounces of Spanish flies, with half an ounce of oil of origanum, one ounce of oil of turpentine, two ounces of hog lard, and four ounces of common tar.

THIS FUNNY WORLD
It Came to Him
"Johnny, name the two types of sugar that I mentioned in the previous lesson," said the teacher. "I-I've forgotten," stammered Johnny.
"Then I think you had better bend over that chair," grimly said the teacher.
"Oh, I remember now—cane and beat!"

PER HOLE
"What was your score?" asked the one golfer of the second who was returning to the clubhouse. "Seventy-two."
"Excellent for a beginner!" "Not so bad," said the novice, hiding his pride, "but I hope to do better at the second hole."

Not His Way
When the congregation knelt to pray, the little fellow on his first visit to church asked: "What are all the people doing, Mummy?" "Shush! They are praying, dear," she answered.
"With all their clothes on?" asked the incredulous youngster.

O-Cedar it, lady!

Once upon a time the family joked about Mom or Sis chasing the dust around. Now, when they dust, they pick up the furry dusty stuff, it STAYS in the cloth. You add a dash of genuine O-Cedar Polish to dustcloth or mop, let it season a bit, and now your dust-cloth picks up and keeps the dust. Ask for:

Jumping at conclusions is a poor way to exercise.

It is regrettable that candidates must depend so much upon showmanship nowadays to get votes. Many a man who is qualified to hold office knows nothing about showmanship, but he cannot gather votes like the man who knows the value of ballyhoo.

Once in a great while someone wants something published and offers it to the editor to "help fill space." Such items are never needed in any newspaper office. It is no trouble to fill space; the problem is what to leave out each week in order to have space for the more important items.

According to the state liquor control board, there is probably a lower ebb in respect for law now than there has ever been. The peace officer is now confronted with the duty of creating among the people he serves a respect for the laws it is his duty to enforce. This is a situation to challenge the best thought of law abiding citizens.

The post office wastebaskets were filled this week with a mighty pretty circular all dolled up with colored inks. It is a strange thing that an advertiser thinks he has 100% coverage just because he addresses a circular to every boxholder, or leaves one at every door. If he could see the wastebaskets emptied, he would find that he gets a mighty small per cent of the coverage. No one ever sees the wastebaskets filled with the home paper. Advertising in the home paper goes into the homes, does not offend anyone, and comes nearer being 100% than any other form of advertising.

A citizen of a nearby town was comparing our city park with theirs, and remarked that ours is "livable" while theirs did not look so. The garden club perhaps, deserves most of the credit for McLean's park being "livable," as all plantings have been made according to an architect's plan bought by the club several years ago. Planting according to a set plan is the only way to have a pleasing landscape, whether public park or private grounds. There is only one exception to this rule and that is an old fashioned annual garden where seeds are thrown promiscuously and nature allowed to work out the color scheme.

The News has some subscribers who ask that their paper be delivered in a separate wrapper in order to discourage their neighbors from reading the paper first. However, we find that such neighbors usually tear the wrapper off and read the paper anyway.

While it is complimentary to the paper to insist on reading it whether it is subscribed for or not, the nominal cost of less than four cents per copy should mean that it is possible for everyone to read his own copy and not inconvenience his neighbor. A few years ago, one subscriber paid for two copies weekly, rather than offend the neighbor who borrowed the paper before he could get time to read it.

SAN JACINTO PROGRAM

A patriotic program in honor of San Jacinto Day was put on by the pupils of Miss Winton's room, 1A-2, on Friday, April 19, in the gym of the ward school.

The program was in the form of a radio broadcast. Cliff Callahan was the radio announcer. The outstanding and interesting facts about Texas were given.

Lynna Dell Mantooth told how Texas got her name; Edward Lee Dwyer named some things we should remember about General Sam Houston; a group of Texas cowboys composed of Johnny Batson, Kenneth Pee Everett, Cliff Callahan, R. D. Williams and Dale Johnston, sang some cowboy songs; the story of the state flag and the pledge to it was given by Jane Graham; the seven children who described the flags Texas has been under were: Lavone Nicholson, Norma Joyce Mercer, Jimmy Wayne Simmons, Charlie Marie Cash, Billy James Rainwater, Betty June Norvell and Earl Howard Smith. Darlene Shadid told the story of the Texas bluebonnets and exhibited some of the flowers which were sent from Central Texas; the mocking bird, the state bird, was imitated by R. D. Williams; the pecan tree is the state tree, and this part was given by Nancy Wilson. After Kenneth Bee (Pete) Everett gave the authors of our state song, "Texas, Our Texas," the class sang it. At the close of the program, Miss Lane led the entire assembly in the singing of two Texas songs. A large number of visitors were present for the program.

ASSEMBLY FRIDAY

The program for the assembly this week will be given by the 6A-1 class at 11 o'clock Friday morning. A one-act play, "Spreading the News," by Lady Gregory, will be given under the direction of Miss Heath. This play is the outcome of class study in reading. It is an Irish comedy. The public is cordially invited to attend.
