IRAN:

And Britain

The British demand on Iran that she expel all Nazi agents from her borders, and the Iranian refusal to obey, turned eyes again to the Middle East and Near East, and showed that Britain, conquerors of Syria with the aid of the Free French, realized the need of strengthening the position of her forces in that part of the world.

Few doubted the ability of the British, with the possible aid of the Russians, to take over little Persia, and present to the Nazis coming down from the Ukraine, or wishing to, a firmer front. It also would extend the common frontier with Turkey, and allow Ankara to have an excuse for maintaining a stronger pro-British neutrality.

Iran's fears were realized when British troops under the command of Gen. Archibald Wavell crossed into southern Iran and at the same time Soviet Russian forces moved into northern Iran from the Caucasis. There was resistance encountered, according to the early reports from the fighting fronts. London sources indicated that the movement into Iran came to foil a Nazi coup. The move was seen as a direct action to the refusal of the Iran to give a satisfactory reply to the British and Russian request that Germans be expelled from the Iran was powerless militarily, though with an army technically measured at 120,000, to halt a British invasion in similar force to that which moved in on well-defended Syria, but she was in an important position geographically for Britain's Middle Eastern defense, believed one of the next tactical moves of the war, as the weather in northern Russia was about to tighten into winter temperatures and snows.

TRIPOLI:

The lengthening range of R.A.F. bombers was bringing the harbor of Tripoli, chief Mediterranean base for Nazi-Fascist operations in North Africa, more easily within reach.

Ports of the character of Tripoli being rare in northern Africa, the latest of these bombings, during which 25 tons of explosive were dropped, were said to show that the British are putting into effect a plan they believe utterly necessary—the preparation for the switching of a

American Fashion Designers Stress Chic Simplicity Lines

VOU'LL find this a very exciting | into a plain smooth sleeve, these are I season, the most exciting we've had for years. The new fall fashions are really "new" and the new look can be distilled into the one word, simplicity. Simplicity is indeed America's fashion for fall,

Our American designers, standing squarely on their own feet and independent of Paris, have produced an entirely new silhouette inspired by our lithe, slim-hipped American figures. Highspots in the new styling are smoothly wide shoulders and deep armholes tapering down into an elongated midriff, softly rounded hips and slim skirt. The easyfit of the blouse above the waistline trends to almost a topheavy effect inverted triangle. Accent is often on hips, especially in tunic effects done in various ways. Deep necklines either "V," oval or square, are often used to bring the eye down to the diminishing midriff and feminine hips.

In coats and suits this new simplicity is seen in smooth shoulders and longer midriffs. Exaggerated padding is passe. You have a wide choice of raglans, shoulder yokes cut in one with the sleeves, deep dolmans and akin types. Most of us, however, will find the smoothly padded set-in shoulder easiest to wear. Suits, more important than ever this fall, are marked by longer jackets with easyfitting or inset belts to bring out this year's smaller waist. Coat and suit sleeves are kept very simple and the straight generously large sleeve looks fresh.

Dresses express the smooth shoulthe Russians despite the belief of most observers that a military inder in a still wider variety. Dolman volvement of the city could only end sleeves cut in one, with the dress, cap sleeves, wide smooth shoulder in its total destruction, drew the yokes, shirred shoulders leading eyes of the world, heralded by the

some of the ingenious ways our designers have found to interpret the smooth-shoulder, deeper armhole

Displayed in the foreground of the illustrated group is a dress that expresses unmistakably the simplicity that is America's fashion for fall. Taupe wool lends itself admirably to this princess coat dress. Here you see a dolman sleeve shirred for batwing fullness, with smooth shoulder panel cut in one and emphasizing the top of the tapering figure. Dramatically "new"—this frock! Skirt fullness is used a great deal this year, but a slim look is invariably the rule. The silhouette is always kept fluid as shown in the that is somewhat suggestive of an dress to the right. The long-torse smooth-fitting top is notably new and smart. This dress is especially good style made of brown (a featured color for fall) crepe, the deep armhole seaming accented with bands of crochet done in co colors, gold, white and green. With black crepe the banding would be effective in bright cerise, blue and

It's going to be a season of tunics. Note the dress to the left with tunic Russian blouse. Note the subtle fullness introduced via an action pleat at the front of the skirt. The sleeves achieve the deep armhole and smooth-shoulder effect with fullness introduced at the wrist.

The row of thumb sketches below indicate new trends in coats, dresses and suits that will stand out in the new autumn fashion pic-Variously interpreted in plaids, jerseys, velvets, corduroys, woolknit fabrics, gabardines and an endless variety of rayon weaves. Frilly Accents

If one has to keep within an economy budget a sensible "buy" is a black crepe dinner dress that is styled along lines of simplicity. For week-end trips you will find a dress of this type easy to pack. Be sure to acquire a goodly collection of flattering accessories. Then with various changes, your simple black frock can be transformed in appear-more or less formal social occasion. The vogue for exquisitely feminizing snowy frilly accents will continue through the fall. As you see here, there is eye-appeal in every

Millinery Stresses

Feathers and Veils

Feathers galore are adorning the new fall hats. The restrictions that have been lifted this season on the use of wild bird plumage is reacting in a tremendous revival of the use of feathers. It will not only be a case of a "feather in your cap" but entire hats made of feathers is fashion's latest decree. The use of veils and veiling is assured for fall.

Back-view interest in hats leads to a new emphasis being placed on snoods, wimples, and curtain effects that conceal long bobs and hair-dos at the back. Very fanciful treatments are being given to these wimples and snoods, and also to bringing back the brims-down style, so as to fit snugly and securely.

Corduroy Is Topmost

Fabric for Fall Wear A big revival is on for corduroy. It is being styled to perfection in sports clothes, in campus outfits, in mother and daughter fashions. In fact, recent showings displayed the entire family, mother, father, little sister and junior smartly outfitted in corduroy. You'll love the new corduroy suits, the slack costumes and the onepiece dresses of corduroy that are the last word for office and school wear.

Velvet Trim

One of the smartest fashion trends for fall is the use of velvet as trimming on contrasting materials, Afternoon gowns of black faille are given new distinction in way of wide borderings of black velvet that finish off peplums and tunics and hemlines in general. This tendency to trim with velvet is well worth watching for the movement gives promise of developing into an important vogue.

Perhaps You Remember

THIS IS NOT the first time that you have called upon Dodge automotive plants and men to meet a National Emergency. You probably remember that you called them to the colors once before; that you found their service good; that their dependability was not a catch-word, but a watch-word, in France and on the training fields at home, for the highest mechanical excellence.

Now again you have called Dodge to the National Defense. And Dodge has swiftly answered. Already many thousands of its highly trained men have been transferred from the work of building motorcars to the more urgent and crucial tasks of building army trucks, tanks, guns and airplane assemblies. Again Dodge is throwing its great industrial weight into your program of Defense. And, as you require, Dodge will again remain a defense force, with every ounce of its energy, every inch of the way.

You May Also Recall

You may clearly remember that the first time you called on Dodge for aid in National Defense, its motorcars were reaching the very peak of their first young success. Then suddenly, remember, there were fewer of them because there were fewer men to make them, and less material to make them with. Perhaps you also remember that it was these fewer Dodge cars, and the qualities inherent in them, that helped to lay the lasting foundation for a worldwide reputation for Dependability.

Later - A Quarter Century

Again Dodge moves full speed ahead in the service of the Government,-with full knowledge of its duty and confidence in your own respect for the spirit that is Dodge. These cars will, of course, always remain at their finest. You may approach your own Dodge purchase with complete confidence in its enduring value, - its ability to serve you extremely well for even more years than you would normally choose to drive it. It is a firm fact these are the finest cars that Dodge has ever built ... There can be no curtailment of Dodge quality . . . No substitute for Dodge Dependability.

NEW YORK.—In Europe a few years ago, this courier got a strong impression that old Karl Baedeker was slyly giving the Germans the breaks, the comparative interest and importance of European show places. His son carried on and in the long run of the decades the Germans contrived to reveal Europe to millions of visiting Americans—particularly school teachers—through their eyes.

Hence one finds satisfaction in the news that the South American Baedeker is being worked up by a man of German birth who is also a thirty-second degree American. He is Earl Parker Hanson, engineer, explorer, geographer and writer, preparing guides to all Latin-American countries, under sponsorship of the Nelson Rockefeller committee.

It is revealed that the guides will spot up their material against a background of "cultural and historic discussions." That might be more effective than sending down hoofers and spoofers, as we have been. Two volumes, containing about 800,000 words, will have been prepared at the end of this year, under Mr. Hanson's direction.

Mr. Hanson was born in Berlin, of American parents, in 1899, came to this country in his early youth, attended the University of Wisconsin and did graduate work at the University of Chicago. He was the editor of technical publications, beginning his exploring career in Iceland, followed by wanderings in the Canadian sub-arctic, where he became a friend of Stefansson.

In 1931, he made studies of terrestrial magnetism for the Carnegie institution in the basins of the Amazon and Orinoco and thereafter described the expedition in his notable book, "Journey to Manaos."

Mr. Hanson didn't need a guide book to tell him where Adolf Hitler was heading. Several years ago he was on record with a sharp warning that we'd better do something about Iceland—that Hitler was staking it out as a stepping stone in this direction.

ELIMINATE HENS THAT DON'T LAY

Don't Keep Poor Layers When Easy to Cull.

By H. H. ALP

(Poultry Extension Specialist, University Of Illinois College of Agriculture.)
Can the birds in the home poultry flock pass the "physical" test?
If they can't, they shouldn't be "drafted" for another year of service in the "army" of egg layers, because chickens, like soldiers, are playing an important part in the present emergency. They have been "drafted" to furnish millions of healthful eggs under the nationwide food-for-defense program.

If flock owners haven't kept accurate records of their layers' abilities, it is especially important that the birds' physical characteristics be studied carefully before they are put in their quarters for the winter. Fortunately, it is comparatively easy to distinguish layers from non-layers by the culling method, after a little practice.

Bald-headed as they often are, good layers are usually tight-feathered over the rest of their bodies. The feathers generally are dry, frayed and "washed-out," and good layers are active, good feeders, and have good dispositions.

The head of a good layer is usually clean-cut, well-balanced, of medium length and depth, and the eyes are quite large and prominent. Be suspicious of the laying ability of the bird with a thick or coarse head or the bird with a crow-head.

And the back of a good layer should be wide over its entire length and free from hard fat. A narrow spring of ribs or a back that tapers decidedly or slopes sharply to the rear indicates small feeding

The body should be deep, but flock owners shouldn't be fooled into thinking that birds have body depth just because the feathers are long and loose. Depth of the body can be measured by placing the thumbs on the front end of the keel bone and the middle fingers on the rear of the keel bone. Depth of the front and rear can be measured by spanning the body from back to breast with the thumb and middle finger and sliding them along the keel and

If the bird is a good layer, her comb, wattles and earlobes will be large, plump, smooth and waxy. If the comb is limp, the bird may be laying, but when the comb is dried, especially at molting time, the bird is not laying.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Peaches for Fuel

Ingenious is the fuel business developed by a California man who makes a round of canning plants, collects discarded peach stones, dries them in the sun, then resells them for fireplace fuel. Scientists believe that some day important industrial products will be found in peach stones.

In colonial days, peaches were used for cider and brandy and were preserved by drying. Forsythe's famous fruit book of 1803 reports that peaches ripened from July to November and the great surplus was "applied as food to hogs."

When canning methods were perfected, the fruit grew in favor and now ranks next to the apple. From 30 to 50 million bushels are grown annually. In the Pacific states, 90 per cent of the 20-million-bushel crop is canned. Some commercial pectin is derived from the peach skins.

California, Georgia, Arkansas, North Carolina and Virginia produce peaches by the million bushels. Important areas are along the eastern and southern shores of the Great Lakes in Michigan and Ohio and around the Finger Lakes in New York. There in the spring, the heat absorbed by the lakes retards blooming and lessens the danger of frost. In the winter, the heat released from the water moderates the temperature and prevents wood and bud injury from freezing.

Nowhere, except in America, are peaches grown commercially. In England and on the continent, the fruit is a delicacy, grown under glass or trained on trellises. The results are excellent, but costly, and peaches there are a luxury only for the rich.

Rural Briefs

Water piped to the poultry range by a temporary system of old pipe or hose laid on the surface of the ground will save many hours in doing poultry chores.

Carelessness in handling eggs for market lost 5 per cent of the United States egg production in 1939. This loss represented 175,000,000 dozen eggs with a cash value of $30,000,000.

Another's Pattern

One of the most unfortunate phases of specialization in modern industry is the one of the initiative faculty. There are millions of people in this country who never really think, never act on their own responsibility. They do not have to. They are simply cogs in vast machines. They follow the pattern marked out for them. They never try to make one.

FAMOUS ALL-BRAN MUFFINS. EASY TO MAKE. DELICIOUS!

They really are the most delicious muffins that ever melted a pat of butter! Made with crisp, toasted shreds of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, they have a texture and flavor that have made them famous all over America.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN MUFFINS
2 tablespoons % cup milk
shortening 1 cup flour

shortening 1 cup flour ½ teaspoon salt 1 egg 2½ teaspoons 1 cup All-Bran baking powder Cream shortening and sugar; add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder: add to first mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full and bake in moderately hot oven (400°P.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 6 large muffins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small fins, 3 inches in diameter, or 12 small muffins, 2½ inches in diameter.

Try these delicious muffins for dinner tonight or for tomorrow morning's breakfast. They're not only good to eat; they're mighty good for you as well. For several of these muffins will add materially to your dally supply of what physicians call "bulk" in the diet, and thus help combat the common kind of constipation that is due to lack of this dietary essential. Eat ALL-BRAN every day (either as a cereal or in muffins), drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation due to lack of "bulk." ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

We Can All Be EXPERT BUYERS

• In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worth while service which saves us many dollars a year.

many dollars a year.

O It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy it, it gives us the most priceless feeling in the world; the feeling of being dequately prepared.

When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. Thus advertising shows another of its manifold facets—shows itself as an aid toward making all our business relationships more secure and pleasant.

"So far as I'm concerned," said Red, driving a fist like stone into his cupped hand, "I'd like to get this white-haired beauty, now. Set a trap for him and finish him right here. It's got to be sometime, why not Finlay shook his head. "Not yet, Red! You forget it's Isadore we're after. I want to talk to Waswanipi Indians first who must have met Bob and, later, seen his smashed canoe. We're leaving now for the head of the lake."

"I guess you're right, boss. We want that evidence first."

"What's your idea, Blaise?" asked

Brassard drew deeply on his pipe before he answered: "At fishin' camp at head of de lake is dat Montagnais treaty chief dey call Pierre Wabistan, de Injun on Matagami tell us about. Dose fallar here tonight say he have moch trouble at de spring trade wid Tete-Blanche. We have talk wid him."

"That's our man, Red!" cried Garry. "Did you ask these Indians about the men lost on the Waswanipi River, Blaise?"

"Ah-hah! Dey say Pierre Wabistan have story to tell about dat." "They knew nothing, themselves?"

'No, dey say talk wid Pierre." "You bet we will! All right, let's o! We'll leave a nice fire for Tete-Blanche to warm his hands on."

Through the night the rhythmical "churn-swish, churn-swish," three maple blades drove the Peterboro up the lake. At last, when the eastern hills were rimmed with fire the canoe headed inshore and the tired crew cooked a meal and slept. Far in the distance, like battleships at anchor, the islands off the mouth of the Waswanipi hung above the windless mirror, reflecting the green ridges of the shores.

CHAPTER VI

Camped on the islands the Montagnais who, in winter, hunted the hinterlands, lived through the short on their gill-nets and sturgeon spears.

Where did they say Pierre Wabistan is camped, Blaise?" asked Garry, on the following afternoon, as the Peterboro approached the maze of islands.

"On islan' wid big boulder." As the canoe passed the fishing camps where lines of ripples thrusting from points of shore marked the wood floats of gill-nets set for pike, dore and whitefish, it was hailed by men sprawled in the warm sun in front of caribou-skin tepees. An oldish Indian with the eyes and hooked beak of an eagle waited with three young men as the canoe slid in to the stony beach of an island marked by a huge boulder.

"Kekway!" greeted Blaise, shaking hands with the four Montagnais. "Where is Chief Wabistan?" be asked in Cree.

The old man replied in English: "You look in his face." His darting eyes covered Blaise, Garry and Red in turn, from hair to moccasins.

"We come to make picture of de lake for de Faders in Ottawa," said Blaise. "We wish to make talk wid

Wabistan nodded, measuring Finlay in a long stare as if probing for his thoughts. Then he said: "You are brave man to come here."

Why do you say that?" demanded Garry. "Manee white man die on Was-

Finlay caught Red's surprised look the Indian continued. "Eet fly ore quick dan duck-hawk and it g more deep dan otjewok, de fly." The old man's gaze hung the island. The faces of his sons re glazed with awe.

And it starts to fly with a loud added Finlay, gazing light before him.

The eyes of the Indian glittered with a look as feral as a wolverine's. His face worked with his wrath. 'Tete-Blanche and Wabistan are like wolf and carcajou! Some day de wolf will feel de carcajou's claw!

"Good!" thought Garry. "We need him. But what can it be Isadore doesn't want seen by white men?

That night the water around the islands seemed alive with giant glowworms as the torches of the Montagnais flared and faded while their canoes patrolled the bars where the sturgeon lay. To add to the food supply the Peterboro joined the birch-barks. Five of the great fish lay in the canoe when their last torch sputtered and died. Finlay was easing the boat toward camp while Red and Blaise smoked when, from the shadows, the wraith of a canoe moved across their bows and a torch held by a short, crouching figure, burst into flame. In the stern paddled a man with white hair. The canoe moved on and, as a sponge wipes a slate, the murk blotted out the white-haired paddler. "He's on our trail!" whispered

REVELATION: A MESSAGE TO PERSECUTED CHURCHES

LESSON TEXT—Revelation 1-3.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.—
Revelation 2:10.

The Revelation is so little known that we need part of our first lesson for an introduction to the book. The fact that this is a "revelation" which God gave to Jesus Christ, "to show unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass" (1:1), should make us all eager to study it. But it is significant that there is a into the hearts of the foolish ones promise of special blessing to those who do read (1:3), and a solemn warning against tampering with the book (22:18, 19). Quite evidently God places great importance on the reading and study of this book. Can

The book is not easy to interpret, and men have differed greatly as to its meaning. There are four general schools of interpretation: (1) The preterist, which puts it all in the past. Since many of its predictions have not yet taken place, this view seems untenable. (2) The idealist, which regards the book as being entirely symbolical of spiritual principles. There is truth to this view, but it does not cover the historical events mentioned in the Revelation which are yet to take place in the world. (3) The historiwhiskey to steal their fur. He has cist, which regards the book as come to the head of the lake to mainly an outline of church history. find you. He is Isadore's neshiwed, This too fails to account for prophecies yet unfulfilled. (4) The futurist (which seems to be the best view); namely, that chapters two and three, while relating to actual churches then in existence, also outline the entire history of the church, and that the remainder of the book sons will lead us to the grave of the relates to future events. This is the interpretation which is largely held the river last year. Then we will by conservative Bible teachers.

A brief outline of the Revelation is When we find them Wabistan will found (1:19) in the book itself:
