State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

Member 1 is the date suggested by Gov. Preston Smith for a special committee, now in charge of auto insurance rates, to report its recommendations to the governor.

Gov. Price Daniel, chairman of the committee, has asked that the group be able to make that deadline. He says "we are going to come out of the committee with a report."

Representatives of the insurance industry reported to legislative reporters and state officials that the group is unable to make that deadline. They said they are going to come out of the committee with a report.

Gov. Smith, in his address to the committee, stressed that the investigation was not a "hunt" nor was it an attempt to "punish" the insurance industry. He also said that the rates were "absolutely essential" and that they should not be lowered if they were absolutely necessary, the people should know why.

Legislative reporters were denied access to the committee's files with memoranda and bulletins from various insurance companies, giving background information, stating positions and pledging support and assistance to the committee.

At a meeting of the committee held last week, executive members of the industry were asked to find a way to present a "concise and clear" report to the Texas drivers and why their rates are going up.

The committee will take a lot of time to study the report. The State Board of Insurance has had a 30-day delay in its rate decision, usually made by August 1. Board has proposed a 11.4 percent increase over the minimum rate hike of 11.4 percent. This increase would apply to drivers of private passenger cars. Individual rates would vary in keeping with the accident experience record in each class.

Education
Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System has increased the rate for students from six to seven percent. This rate applies to all future loans granted under the Hinson-Hazelwood Act.

Report says that out of every ten families who live in poverty in Texas, nine get no assistance from Federal Food Programs. It further estimated that 36 percent of the families in Texas live in poverty compared to a national average of 15 percent.

Air Service
A new kind of air service may soon be available to Texas. For the first time in its history, the Texas Aeronautics Commission has received applications for certificates for "cargo only" air service. Applications filed by American Courier Corp. of Richmond, Virginia, and Hallmark Freight of San Antonio propose to service every major city in the state.

August 5 Ballot
Attorney General Martin says that Amendment No. 1 on the August 5 ballot, proposing to remove obsolete provisions from the Texas Constitution, should not be adopted because of the effect it will have on land titles. He agrees that some of the Constitution's provisions are obsolete, but believes that removal of one section would raise serious questions on the validity of some titles to land.

Drownings Takes Too Many Lives
Drowning in Texas has soared well over the 350 mark, and as the outdoor recreation season grinds on, there is no indication that the rate of drownings will fall, according to Robert G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Department files show there have been in about 369 drownings this year. A major portion of these drownings are connected with recreation oriented activities such as swimming and boating.

"In other words," says Mauermann, "what starts out as a pleasant outing near or on the water turns into tragedy."

"The case histories of the drownings we receive here are alarmingly repetitious," he says. "People keep making the same mistakes over and over again."

According to Mauermann, water safety rules are few, simple, and easy to follow. And the rules could have saved the lives of a major portion of those drowned, had they been observed.

VOTE ON NINE AMENDMENTS TUESDAY, 5TH

Voting in the proposed constitutional amendments will be August 5 from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. at the City Hall.

Number one of the nine proposed amendments concerns a clean-up amendment, which makes no substantive change, but cleans up obsolete, and unnecessary sections of the Constitution.

Amendment number two dealing with the water development board, is one of the most important ones to this area. The amendment would make it possible for the water board to develop sufficient water resources for present and future economic development of the state.

Number three on the ballot would authorize the legislature to set the salary of the lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house of representatives at not more than one-half the salary of the governor and to set the salary of other members of the legislature at not more than the salary of a district judge.

Number five, exempting non-profit water supply corporations from ad valorem taxation, would apply only to property that is reasonably necessary for and used in the acquisition, storage, transportation and sale of water.

Amendment number five would increase the maximum amount which may be expended in one year from state funds for public assistance payments to blind, aged, needy disabled, needy blind, and needy children to $80 million, and appropriate $15 million for each of the next two fiscal years beginning Sept. 1, 1969, in addition to the amounts appropriated for these purposes in the regular appropriation act for the fiscal year beginning Sept. 1, 1969.

Amendment number six would authorize the removal of constitutional interest-rate limitations on certain bonds subject to limitations imposed by the legislature.

Number seven proposes to add certain governmental employees, officers and agents, including members of organized volunteer fire departments and members of organized police reserve or auxiliary units, to the list of persons whose surviving spouses and children are eligible for assistance as provided by law.

Number eight would authorize the legislature to provide for additional loans to students in institutions of higher education under the Texas Opportunity Plan.

Number nine provides for annual sessions of the Texas Legislature. Present provisions prescribe that regular sessions be held biennially in odd-numbered years. The proposed amendment would add a new paragraph to provide for the holding of regular sessions in even-numbered years.

New Talks Explains Drunk Driver Law

A free illustrated talk explaining the new Texas law which makes chemical breath tests mandatory for drunk driving suspects is now available from the Texas Safety Association.

Entitled "So, What Do We Do Now?", the talk points out that for the past ten years, 68 per cent of persons killed in one-car accidents were drunk when they died, as were 43 percent of those killed in two-car accidents. It goes on to estimate that enforcement of the new law can lower those percentages considerably, saving as many as 500 lives a year.

Starting September 1, Texas drivers suspected of driving while intoxicated must take a test to determine the alcohol content of their blood. If they refuse the test, they can lose their driver's license.

"So, What Do We Do Now?" describes each step in the administering of the test to a suspect. The talk is designed to give Texans a better understanding of the "breath test" law and the procedures which will be followed in enforcing it. Illustrated with 33 color slides, the talk is available at no charge to adult groups throughout the state. Civic and service organizations wishing to see the presentation are urged to contact the Texas Safety Association, 1623 South Lamar Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78704. Telephone Area Code 512, 444-6501.

 Never swim alone. Half of all pool accidents and fatalities occur when the victim is not following the "buddy system." When it comes to swimming safely, think in terms of two's.
 Dividing a home pool by depth lines can be a life saver. Swimmers who go in over their heads may find themselves in more than just deep water. Panic and tragedy may ensue.

Summer Squash Selection Hints

Squash time is now. Whether green, yellow or white-skinned, long and slim or round and scalloped, you can eat every bit of a tended summer squash—skin, flesh and seeds. Plan on three or four half-cups servings from one pound.

Summer squash is best when: —the skin looks fresh, is free from blemishes, and is so tender that it punctures easily; the squash is firm and fairly heavy for its size.

Avoid summer squash when: —the rind is hard—the seeds may be large and rough and the flesh may be stringy.

—the stem is hard, dry, blackened or shriveled—signs that the squash is no longer fresh.

Summer squash is perishable and will keep in the refrigerator in a moisture-proof container for several days. Keep cooked squash in a covered container in the refrigerator. Plan to use it within two or three days after cooking.

SQUASH PATTIES

2 1/2 cups (1 pound) grated zucchini squash
 1 1/2 tablespoons grated onion
 1 tablespoon minced fresh parsley
 2 tablespoons grate Parmesan cheese
 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 1 teaspoon salt; 1/16 teaspoon black pepper
 1 egg, beaten; fine dry bread crumbs
 Combine squash, onion, parsley, cheese, soft bread crumbs, salt, black pepper and egg. Spoon a rounded tablespoon at a time into the fine bread crumb, spooning crumbs, spooning crumbs over the mixture. Place in a skillet with hot bacon or ham drippings and flatten with a spatula to form patties. Cook until brown, turning carefully to brown both sides. Serve hot with pork, ham or fowl. Yield: about 10 patties.

News From County HD Agent

By Jimmie Lou Waincott
 Unless he is a better than average watermelon thrummer the consumer can't really rely on thumping as an accurate test of ripeness. A dull thump is supposed to mean it is ripe, but it may also indicate over ripeness.
 Plugging and cutting are most accurate tests, Jimmie Lou Waincott, home demonstration agent, says. Good quality, ripe watermelons are firm, fresh and attractive in appearance with a generally symmetrical shape.
 The surface of the rind has a velvety, not slick, bloom. The color may range from a deep, solid green to a gray-green or stripes depending on the variety. The underside or ground spot changes from a pale white to a yellowish color as the melon ripens.
 An uncut watermelon will keep for a few days in a cool storage area. Watermelon flavor is more distinctive when the melon is chilled but not real cold, the agent adds. Cover cut pieces of melon with foil, waxed or plastic wrap and refrigerate.
 Miss Waincott reminds that watermelons are plentiful and the prices are reasonable.

but why?

Becky is a water baby—one part mermaid, three parts fish. We took her to the lake this summer, and she splashed and tumbled in the water joyously. I had to watch her every minute. I finally had to take her out by force—much to her consternation and objection. It took some doing to distract her.

Actually, it's relatively simple to comfort a small child whose wishes have been thwarted. A toy, a cookie, sometimes a loving hug will turn the trick.

But how about grown-up frustrations? When sick with disappointment, heartbroken or dejected by a bad turn of events, where can an adult turn for consolation and support?

God's Church is the mainstay to every situation. Radiating God's goodness, it offers reassurance and relief to the baffled and the hopeless. Men turning toward its promise find new confidence and faith and hope recovered.

LOOKIN' BACK

by Vera Featherston Back

Last Sunday we had a good program, with Betty Lee Christian Ince from Amarillo giving many interesting facts about early days in McLean as her family helped to live it.

A group of youngsters brought back recollections so long since forgotten by giving interesting times taken from back issues of the McLean News about early day cars and early day drivers. Taking part in this were: Billy and Beckie Orrick, Jennie Everett, Jan Coleman, Gay Simpson, Leslie Back and Jennie Haynes.

Perhaps the most important act of the historical society which has taken place in the nearly two years of its existence was promulgated Sunday when that body adopted their constitution. This constitution - heretofore neglected because members thought it unnecessary - now becomes the most valuable asset we have. When this is sent to Robert Culvert, State Comptroller, it is hoped he will send us a tax exemption number and recognize the organization as a non-profit institution in operating our museum at 117 North Main. Below, for the benefit of those not able to beat the heat Sunday are the purposes of the society:

1. To collect, catalog, preserve, and exhibit in its local museum historical materials relating to the Alameed-McLean area and the areas of the Panhandle of Texas.

2. To encourage and foster historical and genealogical research and writing.

3. To encourage and foster the study and preservation of the culture of the area, including the pioneer life.

4. To enlist the interest and support of the people and institutions of the area in its historical and cultural background.

5. To encourage its members in writing of family, club, civic, and/or church histories.

6. To meet each fourth Sunday of each month (with the exception of those Sundays voted on by the society as not convenient) for a program of social enjoyment and to hear historical stories about early-day history or early-day families.

7. To maintain as a non-profit organization a museum at 117 Main Street in the town of McLean, Texas for the purpose of displaying those articles loaned or donated to the society for educational purposes.

Food Market Tips

To save on the weekly grocery bill, here are some food marketing tips from Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist with Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Retail beef prices are steady with prices for the past few weeks. Several retailers are featuring beef cuts from the round and chuck, so check the ads for families preferences. In general, look for best beef values on round steaks and roasts, short ribs, ground beef and chuck roasts and steaks.

Pork prices are holding steady at the higher level of the past month. Best pork values generally include boneless hams, picnics, shoulder roasts and steak and pork liver.

Whole and cut-up fryer chickens continue to be featured in some markets although prices are higher than in early summer. Frozen turkey and turkey parts as well as eggs are good values, too.

Fresh fruit and vegetable items in best supply at the most economical prices include corn, tomatoes, potatoes, squash, green onions, radishes, dry onions, loupes, watermelons, honeydew melons, peaches, plums, nectarines, avocados, oranges, grapes, bananas and limes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOTE: This letter was received by Foster Whaley, Gray County Agent and he sent it on to us and we want to share it with our readers.

Dear Mr. Whaley: I realize that it has been quite sometime since you wrote your article concerning the contents of the AP release entitled "Meat Prices UP—Housewife Sizzles," therefore, it is just possible that you are no longer at this address? Ha!

Yes, Mr. Whaley, you certainly had "studied your lesson" before you wrote this article for the McLean News. (If I knew where the McLean News was, I'd write the editor and congratulate him for printing it.) I read a reprint of your article in the Texas FB paper and am very happy to tell you that I passed the paper along to several folks here in the department and many others here in Corpus Christi. All enjoyed reading your explanations and comparisons.

You did an excellent job. I hope there are many more such articles written for Agricultural Magazines and big daily papers as the urban folks need this information; and possibly many of our agriculture folks haven't realized how "drastic and real" your comparisons were.

Keep up the good work. Sincerely,
R. F. Hartman

The Bill McKees of Groom visited the Bert McKee's during the weekend.

Director Stresses Care With Fires

Sparsely rainfall and high temperatures have turned most of Texas' 67 State parks into tinder boxes, according to Mark Gosdin, director of park services for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Gosdin says fires have been reported in at least four of the parks, and park supervisors are keeping a close watch on campers and their open fires.

"We are urging extreme care by all campers, not only with campfires, but with anything which could cause a spark," says Gosdin.

Mark Barron of LaMarque, is visiting with his grandmother, Mrs. Audie Stewart.
