State Capital News

Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law a $5.8 billion 1970-71 state budget. This was after passing $4.4 million in miscellaneous spending items. Yet the expenditure set an all-time record.

Earlier, Smith approved a record $348.6 million tax which takes effect October 1, in addition to state revenue. The state will get an estimated $6 million a year due to extension of the sales tax to beer and liquor. Sales tax rate goes up from 3 to 3.25 per cent.

Smith also signed other acts of the special session, including legislation creating 28 new district courts. He will name all judges to serve until the next general election. This is the largest single amount of judicial patronage assigned by a Texas Governor at one time since Reconstruction.

Also passed by the Legislature was a bill providing plenty of money to fill the state's needs. Smith said his veto is justified for the sake of economy. "Many of the items vetoed," he noted, "were not part of the original House or Senate appropriations acts, and were not even requested by agencies."

Governor Smith vetoed the following items as now "justified or non-essential": Construction totaling $2.9 million for the Dallas Neuropsychiatric Institute; $262,717 for the Department of Public Safety subunit headquarters in McAllen; $20,000 for the Junction addition of Texas A&M; $160,000 for Texas Maritime Academy in Indian Land Development.

Also an appropriation of $225,000 for contracts of attorneys to assist the Attorney General in tort claims cases in 1971; $172,000 for park and acquisition in Hareman and Motley Counties; $207,000 for acquiring land and development of Port Lavaca Seaway State Park; $50,000 for drilling a water well at Lyndon B. Johnson State Park in Gillespie County; $25,000 for the Cavern State Park; $30,000 for completion of a water plant for the Red River authority; $60,000 for a fish hatchery facility at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches; $65,000 for environmental pollution control studies at Prairie View Agricultural and Mechanical College.

QUESTIONS FOR SENATE?-----

U. S. Sen. Ben Barnes, 31, who became a candidate for the U. S. Senate against Ralph W. Yarborough, 667, "Nobody can truthfully claim to know the answer to that, including Barnes himself, who says he has not yet made up his mind."

Gov. Smith opened the recent Southern Governors' Conference at Williamsburg, Va.

Asked by reporters if he thinks Yarborough could beat Yarborough, Smith said he believes that is possible—depending on the kind of races run by each, their financial resources and a lot of other factors.

Smith did not claim to know, but the fact he was willing to discuss the prospective race at all was an indicator of the widespread circulation of the Barnes-Yarborough contest rumor.

Smith also told newsmen he believed Yarborough is in the best political position he has enjoyed since he went to Washington more than a decade ago.

Smith will, he emphasized, take no hand in the Senate race no matter who the candidates are.

Dr. Hereford Wins Prize At Abilene

In the first Hereford Register of Merit competition ever staged in Abilene, 110 bulls and 74 females from Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, and New Mexico herds vied for awards. The outstanding Hereford quality present from the first through last class made the task of Judge Alfred Meeks, Taylor, Nebraska, a difficult one, but proved a tremendous amount of spectator appeal.

Champion bull of the big show, held in conjunction with the West Texas Fair, came from the show string of Doctor Hereford's, McLean. Owned by F. Jake Hess, the winner was Dr. Image, a two year old.

He will give his angels charge of you.—(Psalms 91:11).

We are always in His presence. And when we consciously acknowledge the presence of God within us, we find ourselves quiet and peaceful. He makes us feel safe and secure. In this way we can live in a world of order and harmony, where truth makes our world a pleasant place in which to live.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
There has been a great deal of criticism in the press about the Legislature increasing their interim expense account from $450 per member to $875. I was very much opposed to this $5,100 per year expense account increase and voted against it. I thought it was very ill advised and just another example of unnecessary increased spending.

Under the present system, I have a credit of over $7,500 in my expense account. I have saved this money by paying my secretary and all other office expenses, except for stamps and phone calls, out of my own pocket. This is the largest credit of any of the 150 members. This represents over half of the salary that I have earned in the 32 months I have served. So, when you are cussing the legislature for pooping off your money, please leave me off.

Yours very truly,
Rep. Malouf Abraham

Prairie Chicken Hunt Promises To Be Good

The October 11-12 prairie chicken hunt in the Texas Panhandle promises to be as good or better than last year's says Jack Parsons, wildlife supervisor for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The spring booming ground count was approximately five per cent greater this year.

The season will be open in Hollingsworth, Donley, Gray, Hemphill, Ochiltree, Roberts, Lipscomb, and Wheeler counties, with a bag limit of two per day and a possession limit of four birds, after the first day. Prairie chickens may be taken with shotgun or bow and arrow, and must be checked through Department check stations in the towns of Canadian, Wheeler, Higgins, Allison, and McLean.

Some areas of the Panhandle have been badly in need of rainfall for some time, other sections have had rain and have deep moisture. A good grass-hopper crop is feeding the birds presently, and the range appears to be in fair condition with ample food to support the birds throughout the season.

Bacteria aren't bad. According to Extension foods and nutrition specialists, they make sauerkraut, cheese, pickles, sausage, yogurt, salami and cultured butter and buttermilk possible.

McLean Tigers Sink Pirates 26-7

McLean now 1-1 for the season, trailed 7-6 at halftime but came roaring out the second half to post a 26-7 victory and hand the Pirates the second loss in as many outings.

McLean scored its first touchdown of the season in the first quarter when Steve Thacker caught a twenty yard pass from QB Tommy Duniven and ran 32 yards eluding several would be tacklers for the Tigers first TD.

A two point try for extra points by Dennis Duniver failed. The Tigers led 6-0 with 9 minutes and 13 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

David Brown scrambled 24 yards off right tackle for the Tigers second touchdown. Steve Thacker's extra point boot was wide and the Tigers led 12-7 with 7 minutes and 10 seconds remaining in the third period.

David Brown ran twenty yards around left end for the third Tiger TD. Steve Thacker added the extra point and the Tigers led 19-7 with 1 minute 22 seconds remaining in 3rd quarter.

Butch Lands took a 30 yard touchdown pass from QB Tommy Duniven and skipped into the end zone for the final score of the game. Steve added the point after. Score 26-7 and 2 minutes and 20 seconds remaining in the game.

Richard Harkcom, Pirate Fullback, plunged the middle of the line for three yards and Lefors only TD with 7 minutes and 18 seconds remaining in the second quarter. David Seright added the extra point and the Pirates led 7-6.

The Tigers and their fans will travel to Boys Ranch this Friday night where they will tackle the Roughriders.

Several outbreaks of Army worms in the McLean vicinity have created a need for chemical treatment.

An aerial sprayer from Panhandle sprayed alfalfa on the Jinks Shaw place northeast of McLean. Although I have not seen the results, I am told a very fine job was done. One quart of parathion containing four pounds of chemical per gallon was used. The spray was put out without any carrier, that is, the chemical was sprayed without being diluted with water.

Jinks feels that a four thousand dollar alfalfa crop was saved by quick action. Spraying should have been carried out a few days earlier. We urge everyone with volunteer and planted wheat to watch the crop daily. They can destroy a field in two or three days. Cost of spraying is about $2.50 per acre. Jinks invested about $200 in aerial spraying. We feel he saved a $4,000 alfalfa crop that would have been devoured by the worms.

RAINFALL
On Thursday, at this writing, we have reports from all across the country that every area of the country received an excellent rain. A few reported up to two inches. Most reports ranged from .90 of an inch to 1.3 inches. Most farmers are still trying to complete wheat plantings. They have been interrupted numerous times with good effective showers.

Light weight calves are still selling very high. The fat market has been in a severe slide for the past several weeks. Last week they really tore the market up. Most of the price breaks seem to be more local than the major terminals. I personally feel we will feel the effect of outside buyer interest by the time you are reading this. The market has already slipped much farther than most people anticipated.

NROTC to Give Examination Dec. 13

The 24th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps (NROTC) Program will be given on December 13, the Navy announced this week.

Open to high Seniors and other and other recent graduates, the program officers a four-year subsidized college education and a commission in either the Navy or Marine Corps.

Those selected will receive tuition, fees, uniforms, books and a $50.00 per month subsistence allowance at one of the 54 civilian colleges and universities where NROTC Units are established. The student has a wide selection of college majors, and only a few non-technical professional programs of study are prohibited.

During the summers between a academic years, the student gains practical experience in naval operations through at-sea training as a Naval Reserve Midshipman. Upon receipt of his baccalaureate degree, he is commissioned as an ensign in the Regular Navy or a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps.

Highschool seniors and graduates who will be entering college in September 1970 and who will have reached their 17th but not their 21st birthday on July 1, 1970 are eligible to take the Navy College Aptitude Test (NCAT) on 13 December.

Those who make a qualifying score on the NCAT will be given an interview and medical examination and will complete their applications in January and February of 1970. Approximately 1,700 applicants will eventually be selected to attend college under the program.

Bulletins of Information and application to take the NCAT may be obtained from high school counselors, any Navy recruiting station, or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Per-86411), Department of the Navy, Washington, D. C. 20370. Completed forms must be received by the Science Research Associates, administrator of the test, on or before November 14.

Prairie Dog Town For Palo State Park

Palo Duro State Park near here has a new tourist attraction in the form of a prairie dog town with life occupants, live-trapped from MacKenzie State Park in Lubbock.

The animals are in an enclosure of 2500 square feet, one from which they should have more than a little trouble escaping. The pen is constructed of heavy gauge, 1-inch mesh chain link fencing, bordered with treated rustic cedar posts, Regional Parks Director, Bob Hauser of San Angelo says the fence is deceptive in that four feet of it is above ground and four feet buried to contain the burrowing animals.

Construction of the pen is a long-side the famed Sad Monkey Railroad, the scenic train that winds its way through the rugged park canyons.

Absentee Voting Open For Hospital Election

A special election to consolidate Pampa's Highland General and McLean Hospital into a countywide hospital district has been called for Oct. 11 by Gray County Judge S. T. Lenning Jr.

Under the present program, both hospitals operate under the Gray County Commissioners Court which keeps separate books and appoints their governing boards, Lenning said.

The judge said the special district would give the hospitals the right to levy ad valorem taxes to meet their budget but would take the item out of the state ad valorem tax assessed by the county.

"We would transfer about $50,000 in outstanding bonds to the hospital district. The assessed hospital tax would be about 23 cents per $100 valuation," Lenning said.

Absentee balloting in the Oct. 11 special Hospital District election opened today in county clerk's office on the second floor of Gray County Courthouse.

Absentee balloting will continue through Tuesday, Oct. 7, according to Gray County Clerk Charlie Thut.

Only property owners, who are registered voters are eligible to vote.

Thut said voters must sign an affidavit with a description of their property or have a street address. He said it will expedite matters, too, if voters have their registration slips with them.

The county clerk's office is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Changes In Motor Vehicle Inspection Program

Several important changes are forthcoming in the 1969-70 Motor Vehicle Inspection program, Chester Fant, education officer for the Department of Public Safety, announced this week.

Motor vehicle inspection stickers may now be obtained at any time from the expiration date until the deadline date of April 15, Fant said.

This move, utilizing what the Department of Public Safety has an anniversary exploration, was made to prevent inspection that always presents around the April deadline each year, Fant said.

On the new stickers a large month number representing the expiring date will be superimposed on the left hand side, Fant said, with the driver to renew his sticker within another year.

The stickers will also now be affixed in the lower, left-hand corner of the windshield, Fant said.

Also two new items will be included in this year's inspection law, Fant said.

The safety inspection centers will be expected to check emission (smog) control on

'68 and later models, Fant said, and will be required to check the entire exhaust system on all model cars.

Price of the inspection stickers has been increased this year to $2.00, Fant said.

In Time of Emergency

Fallout Shelter Built Into Home Seen As Practical Way to Survive Attack

The public fallout shelter system which has been developed in the United States would protect tens of millions of Americans from fallout resulting from a nuclear attack. However, few public shelters exist in locations such as suburban and rural areas that lack large, heavy structures. In places with inadequate or non-existent public shelters, a home fallout shelter could be a life saver.

The basements of some homes are usable as family fallout shelters as they now stand without any major changes, especially if the house has two or more stories, and its basement is below ground level.

Most home basements, however, would need some improvements in order to adequately shield their occupants from the radiation given off by fallout particles. Usually, householders can make these improvements themselves, with moderate effort and at low cost. Millions of homes have been surveyed for the U.S. Office of Civil Defense by the U.S. Census Bureau, and these householders have been given information on the fallout protection their present basements would provide, and how to increase this protection by making specific improvements.

Shielding Material Is Required

In setting up any home fallout shelter, the basic aim is to place enough "shielding material" between the people in the shelter and the fallout particles outside the home.

Shielding material is any substance that would absorb and deflect the invisible rays given off by fallout particles outside the house, and thus reduce the amount of radiation reaching the occupants of the shelter. The thicker or denser the shielding material is, the more it would protect the shelter occupants.

Concrete, bricks, earth and sand are some of the materials that are dense or heavy enough to provide fallout protection. For comparative purposes, 4 inches of concrete would provide the same shielding density as:

- 5 to 6 inches of bricks
- 6 inches of sand or gravel
- 7 inches of earth
- 8 inches of hollow concrete blocks (6 inches if filled with sand)
- 10 inches of water
- 14 inches of books or magazines
- 18 inches of wood

Some of the materials listed above may be handled more easily if they are packed into bags, cartons, boxes or other containers already placed where the additional shielding is desired.

A home shelter can be either a permanent basement shelter, a preplanned basement shelter, or a permanent outside shelter. Plans for each type may be obtained without charge by writing to Civil Defense, Army Publications Center, 2800 Eastern Blvd., Baltimore, Md. 21220. In writing for either type of basement shelter, mention whether Plan A, B, C, D, or E is wanted.

Permanent Basement Shelters

The following 3 shelters are probably the best type to build in homes with a full basement or one corner below ground level. The required shielding material would cost about $100 to $200. Persons with basic carpentry or masonry skills could probably do the work themselves. Shelters of this type should always be built in the "best" corner of a home basement—the corner which is most below ground level.

CEILING MODIFICATION (Plan A) calls for increasing

the overhead shielding against "downward" radiation by screwing plywood sheets securely to the bottom of the ceiling joists, then filling the spaces between the joists with bricks or concrete blocks. An extra ceiling beam and a screw-jack column may be needed to support the extra weight.

If 12 inches or more of the basement wall is above ground level, this plan should not be used unless two interior partitions are added to form a shelter area and protect the shelter occupants against radiation coming from the side.

ALTERNATE CEILING MODIFICATION (Plan B) is similar to Plan A, except that new extra joists are fitted into part of the basement ceiling (over that section of the basement which will be used as a shelter). The new joists will help support the added weight of the overhead shielding material, and the extra ceiling beam and screw-jack column will not be needed.

CONCRETE BLOCK OR BRICK SHELTER (Plan C) is a plan to build, out of concrete blocks or bricks, a separate 5 x 11-foot shelter in the "best corner" of a basement. It requires construction of only two walls and a ceiling for the shelter, since the regular basement walls will serve as the other two walls of the shelter. Built low, this can serve as a "sit-down" shelter, or by making the walls higher, a shelter can accommodate people standing erect. The shelter ceiling, however, should not be higher than the outside ground level.

If a home has a basement but a permanent-type basement shelter is not desired, the next best thing would be to arrange to assemble a "preplanned" home shelter. This simply means gathering together, in advance, the shielding material needed to make a basement (or one part of it) more resistant to fallout radiation. This material could be stored in or around the home, ready for use whenever it is decided to set up a shelter.

PREPLANNED SNACK BAR SHELTER (Plan D) is a snack bar built of bricks or concrete blocks, set in mortar, in the basement corner that is most below ground level. Over the snack bar build a strong, hollow "false ceiling" that is hinged to the wall.

In a time of emergency, the false ceiling is lowered so that one end rests on the snack bar, and the hollow sections of it are filled with bricks or concrete blocks (which should be stored nearby) to provide overhead shielding.

PREPLANNED TILT-UP STORAGE UNIT (Plan E) involves construction of a simple storage unit out of lumber. The unit is like a free-standing bookshelf or storage bin, 6 feet high, 8 inches deep, and either 1½ or 3 feet wide. At the top, it is hinged to the basement wall.

In peacetime, the unit could be used to store books, canned goods or other things. In event of attack warning, the storage unit would be tilted so that the bottom would be resting on an unmortared wall of bricks or concrete blocks that have been stored nearby. Other bricks or blocks would then be placed in the compartments of the storage unit, to provide an overhead shield against fallout radiation.

The information in this story was furnished by the U.S. Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense, to help people prepare for a nuclear attack and learn what actions to take in case an attack should occur. Local authorities are responsible for supplying the public with more detailed survival instructions for this area. This information was drawn from the OGD publication "In Time of Emergency" (H-14), which is available without charge at local civil defense offices.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

There are several parents in McLean who are hurt because their kids were let down, and in a way no one person could be responsible. In trying to provide wholesome entertainment, the Sponsors of Teen Town found themselves among a group of entertainers who stand for, and are, everything that we object to in the youth of today. Our Legion Hall was turned into a California Psychedelic Disotique, complete with hippies and thirty minutes drum solo. The lights were blinding, the music poor and deafening. An apology doesn't seem enough, but the Sponsors are sorry that it happened, and will do their best to see that it doesn't ever happen again.

Alcoholic Litter Clutters Texas

More than 93 per cent of bottles and cans in highway litter are alcoholic drinks containers, according to Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education (TANE).

A sampling of litter in different parts of Texas showed that 93.05 per cent of the drink containers were beer cans, beer bottles, and whiskey bottles. The containers were picked up on sections of highway in West Texas near Midland, East Texas near Tyler, Central Texas near San Antonio, and South Texas near Harlingen. Numbers of containers picked up were: beer, 1,780; whiskey, 48; wine, 1; soft drinks, 124; fruit juice, 2; and milk, 1.

Albert F. Tucker, TANE Executive Director, said his organization became interested in learning what percentage of litter was alcoholic beverage containers after hearing of a bill introduced by Rep. John Hannah of Lufkin, that would put a one-cent tax on all disposable beverage containers. "We asked several officials, but none could give us a figure. Others had become interested after hearing of Rep. Hannah's bill, and asked us for the figure. One of TANE's functions is to furnish statistical information regarding alcohol, so we made the study," Tucker said.

Rep. Hannah was on hand at TANE's Dallas office today to check results of the litter pickup. He said he would resubmit his bill in the Special Session of the Legislature next week.

TANE is a non-profit, educational organization, active since 1935. Its purpose is to prevent problems that arise from the use of alcohol, narcotics, and other dangerous drugs. The organization is supported financially by Texas churches and individual contributions. Programs include publishing books for student and teachers, production of audio visual aids, a 100-man speakers bureau, legislative information service, public school programs, and research.

According to the Texas Highway Department, approximately $1,854,000 was spent during the last fiscal year for litter pickup, not including litter picked up by cities.

According to an article in the "American Brewer", the state of New York pays 30 cents to pick up one bottle, seven times the cost of producing it.

Ever see a raccoon dip its food in water before eating it? Reason is not to wash the food but to facilitate digestion. This because the raccoon has poorly developed saliva glands.

Like the Indians used mirrors for signaling, the pronghorn antelopes warn other members of the herd about danger by raising the white hairs on their rumps.

Everyone Concerned With Conservation

Good soil conservation practices today is the only way an adequate supply of nutritious food can be assured for tomorrow. Soil Conservation touches everyone, whether it be the farmer, merchant, teacher, lawyer, doctor, banker and the old and the young.

Man's struggle with erosion is as old as agriculture itself. Records of his effects of adjusting himself to the land are written on landscapes around the world. Ruined land and starving people show us he failed to care properly for nature's great natural resource, "The Topsoil". If we wish to avoid these mistakes we must study the records and know the reasons for man's failure.

The conservation and development task in years directly ahead is going to be formidable. For example, the population of the United States will require over twice as much production from its agriculture land by the year 2000. We now use about 350 billion gallons of water daily; by 1980 we will need 600 billion gallons of water per day. Each year more than a million acres of land are taken out of agriculture and used for highways, housing projects and other urban uses. By the end of the century the demand for recreation will double. We are still losing some 500,000 acres of land a year as the result of erosion and other damage, both rural and urban.

Soil erosion affects the happiness of the individual farmer and his family, and through them, the welfare of the community of which they are a part and the town where they buy and sell. From decreased business in the towns, the influence of soil losses widens and spreads until it is felt by manufacturers and mill workers in distant states.

A trip across almost any state will furnish one the opportunity to observe the relationship of the soil and the well being of people. In areas where conservation has been practiced one may see good crops, good fences, good buildings, painted and well cared for, a happy and prosperous people living on the land, and thriving towns or cities serving those who live there. In regions where soil conservation has not been practiced one finds poor crops, poor fences, dilapidated buildings, bad roads, poor schools, poor churches and a low level of human well being. How does erosion affect you? It affects everyone, directly or indirectly whether farmer, merchant, teacher, lawyer, doctor, banker, old or young.

It influences not only the United States, but touches sometimes quite tangibly, the interest of foreign countries with whom we do business. Soil is the basic source of wealth and no one, however remote from the farm, is entirely unaffected by soil erosion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Meacham attended a Murray family reunion in Panhandle Sunday.

I am an American. Do not fold, spindle, or mutilate.

Being an American is comfortable.

After all, we do have more than any other country in the world.

But sometimes we get too comfortable. We take our leisure and our prosperity and freedoms for granted. Sometimes we have to be reminded that it wasn't easy for us to get where we are. That the freedoms we enjoy weren't handed to us on a platter.

Of course, the great majority of Americans have great pride in their country.

And millions of them show their pride by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

Through regular Bond purchases where they work or bank, they've helped preserve our freedoms by investing in their country.

At the same time, they've been storing up quite a nest egg for themselves.

U.S. Savings Bonds now pay 4 1/2% when held to maturity.

And buying them gives you the privilege of buying the even higher interest 5% Freedom Shares in combination.

Also, the interest on Series E Savings Bonds isn't subject to state or local income taxes.

You can even defer federal taxes on E Bond interest until you redeem the bond.

If your bonds are lost, or stolen, or destroyed, we simply replace them without cost.

They're safe.

They're easy.

They're automatic.

And they're also a reminder.

A reminder that we all have to work hard to keep what we have.

Investing in your country will do just that.

Think about U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's a way to keep your country from getting folded, spindled, or mutilated.

You get a little over $1 for every $1 you invest.

BY JIMMIE LOU WAINSCOTT
Having trouble getting your youngest to eat breakfast? Why not serve a breakfast sandwich suggest Jimmie Lou Waincott, county home demonstration agent.

A toasted peanut butter and bacon sandwich, along with fruit slices and a glass of milk, will supply all the food value of a good breakfast and it adds a kind of variety that appeals to small fry.

Don't forget that peanut butter and peanuts are popular for lunches, snacks and even desserts.

This year's harvest of peanuts is in full swing and the crop is expected to be greater than a year ago. Pick up peanut favorites on the next shopping trip, suggests the Extension agent.

"Low calorie foods" are being ingested in 64 per cent of U.S. households, report Extension food and nutrition specialists. Low-calorie canned fruits are used by 32 percent of the families compared to 16 in 1960.

KEEPING YOUR BONES STRONG

America's space program has taught us many things—and now comes some nutrition information from our astronauts that is applicable in our daily lives. It concerns the strength of your bones, the calcium you need, and the exercise you should get. When an astronaut experiences weightlessness it can cause him to lose bone density. Apparently this means if you don't put normal stress on your bones, they'll soften. I say this because in human experiments in which subjects submit to total bed rest, the same thing happens—they lose calcium and other minerals from their skeletal structure.

Other Studies
Collateral bed rest studies at Texas Women's University involved four men for fourteen days. They received, with milk as their chief source of calcium, only about 300 mg of calcium per day and lost minerals from their skeletons similarly to the Gemini V astronauts. Another study at Texas Women's showed that exercise and proper diet will reduce bone density loss.

Physical Inactivity Bad
The moral of all this is that prolonged physical inactivity has adverse effects. Exercise that provides a pull on muscles associated with bone provides improved circulation of minerals through the bone system and this apparently results in greater deposit of minerals such as calcium and phosphorus in the bone to replace losses that occur regularly from normal metabolism. This means you should keep physically fit. But to do it, you also have to consume an adequate diet, with milk and milk products being your chief source of needed calcium.

New Implied Consent Law To Help Combat Drunk Drivers

Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today that the State's new implied consent law which became effective September 1, 1969, gives law enforcement a much needed weapon to combat drunk drivers.

"Depending on area, drinking drivers figure in 40 to 50 percent of the fatal rural traffic accidents in Texas," Speir said. "This is especially significant when you consider that traffic mishaps claimed 3,481 lives in the state last year."

Under terms of this law, a motorist is "deemed to have given consent" to a breath test if arrested for any alleged offense arising out of his actual operation or physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

If the suspect refuses the breath test, the officer certifies this fact in an affidavit, together with his probable cause for stopping the person, to the Department of Public Safety. This affidavit, when it reaches the DPS, forms the basis for a petition filed by the Department in the corporation or justice court of the county of residence of the person refusing the test to determine if the officer had probable cause for thinking the person was driving while intoxicated.

Should the judge find the officer had probable cause to arrest the person for driving while intoxicated, the Department of Public Safety, acting on the court's finding and the officer's sworn statement that the subject refused the test, suspends the subject's driver license for the period set by the judge. The suspension, which may run for as much as one year, is subject to appeal to a higher court.

The implied consent law allows the person detained the right to have a test of his blood alcohol taken by his own physician, qualified technician, chemist or registered professional nurse. If taken within two hours after his arrest.

The law also places the responsibility with the Texas Department of Public Safety to certify breath testing equipment and persons authorized to administer breath tests.

Consistent with its policy of assisting local authorities whenever possible, the DPS will offer at least three schools to train city and county officers in operation of the breathalyzer. These schools, which will be conducted at the Law Enforcement Academy in Austin, will be limited to enrollment to key personnel from localities which now possess, or plan to obtain, breath testing instruments.

Currently, the DPS is utilizing breath testing equipment in its voluntary program. The Breathalyzer instruments are located at least central points in some 90 counties and are operated by DPS officers who have completed an intensive training course. The station," Speir noted.

TAX SAM SEZ:

When you're rolling down the interstate highway you find yourself wishing that there was a completed interstate highway going to wherever you are headed. You may also wonder whether the road builders are really trying to finish the highway or not. (It's a reasonable guess that they are—since you don't get paid until you finish the job.) Highways and streets cost money. In the case of the interstate highways, Congress imposed a highway use tax on trucks and busses to help pay for the highways. After several years Internal Revenue found that the truck owners pay taxes needed revision. The taxes have not been revised, but the definitions have been. All Internal Revenue offices and most county clerks have the new schedule of rates and weights posted. If you are a big trucker, or own a big truck, you need a copy of the new Publication 349.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

50 YEARS AGO

Reep Landers left last Friday for Plainview, where he and Miss Cordie Dillingham were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed at noon, the Baptist pastor officiating. The couple left on the evening train for this city, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Joe Hindman and little son came in today from Ende Monday, and will make this their home.

Chas. Carpenter happened to a rather painful accident Wednesday, when the fourth finger on his left hand got caught in the gears of a hay press. No other part of his hand was injured, but the finger was pretty badly chewed up.

Mrs. W. L. Alexander of Dallas came in Monday to visit Mrs. Frank Wilson.

40 YEARS AGO

Liberty school opened September 2, with a record enrollment of 48 pupils to date and more to come.

The McLean High School band, together with the Shamrock and Wellington bands, will be in the parade at Shamrock at the district meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to be held over October 3rd.

The McLean Tigers will meet the fast Erick, Okla., eleven on the local gridiron Monday, the game being called promptly at 3 p.m.

30 YEARS AGO

On Friday night at the Liberty school house, members of the Eastside Home Demonstration Club and their families gathered for a chicken fry and ice cream supper. Some twenty chickens were fried and served with bread, cake and ice cream.

Mrs. John B. Vannoy and Mrs. Roger Powers attended the Eastern Star banquet at Miami last Thursday evening.

The McLean Tigers will go to White Deer Friday night for the second non-conference game of the season, after resting last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rippey and daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Close at Canadian Saturday.

Chas. E. Smith and Ruel Smith left this morning (Thursday) for big game hunting in Canada.

20 YEARS AGO

Only six bales of cotton had been ginned at the two gins in McLean by Wednesday morning.

"Your Satisfaction Guaranteed"

Mrs. Henderson, unhappy with her new drapes, refused to pay for them. When the drapery maker filed suit for his money, Mrs. Henderson told the court:

"He guaranteed that the drapes would be made to my entire satisfaction. Well, I am not satisfied."

"That's only because she is so finicky," retorted the drapery man. "To most customers, these drapes would be just fine."

Nevertheless, the court ruled against him. The judge said that, having promised to satisfy her personally, he was obliged to live up to his promise.

As a rule, when you make a purchase in which your personal satisfaction is guaranteed, you are indeed entitled to be satisfied. Nevertheless, since this gives a customer so much leeway, the courts usually won't interpret the contract that way unless such an intention is clear. Thus:

A contractor agreed to make some house repairs in a "satisfactory" manner. When the job was done, the home owner refused to pay, saying he personally was not satisfied.

The contractor promptly went to court, where he argued that the word "satisfactory" meant only that the work had to be good enough to satisfy the average customer.

And the court agreed, ordering the home owner to pay up. The judge said since the contract did not specifically call for a personal standard of satisfaction, it would be unfair to impose one arbitrarily upon the contractor.

Even if the contract does call for a personal standard of satisfaction, you still cannot reject the merchandise if you are not honestly dissatisfied. Consider this case:

A young man bought a piano on the understanding that if he was not satisfied, he could cancel the deal within 30 days. He did try to cancel it—but not because he didn't like the piano. It seems he had received his draft notice, and would soon have to leave town.

Under these circumstances, a court ruled that the young man had to keep the piano. The court said cancelling for this kind of a reason was a privilege he just did not have.

Accent on Health

With cold weather approaching, Texans may have some unwelcome guests—rats and mice—in their homes and business establishments this winter unless precautions are taken, advises the Texas State Department of Health.

In addition to causing economic loss, these guests also are a serious menace to the health of their benefactors. A costly, common enemy, the rat contaminates everything it touches and destroys upwards of a billion dollars worth of food and property each year in this country. Another loss is caused by rats gnawing insulation from electric wires with a resultant fire. It is estimated that five to 25 per cent of fires of unknown origin on farms are caused by rats.

In Texas, the major illness from rats is seen in endemic

(murine) typhus fever which is spread by fleas. Other rodent-borne diseases include rat-bite fever, leptospirosis, salmonellosis, trichinosis and rickettsialpox (a disease resembling chickenpox).

Rat bites are far more prevalent than is thought and provide another health hazard. Available records indicate that bites occur at the rate of approximately 10 per 100,000 persons. In Texas this would put the number each year at more than 1,000. Infants and defenseless adults (invalids or unconscious persons) are particularly subject to attack.

Many people never see their stealthy guests which prefer to stay hidden during the day and forage for food at night. The rat prefers to nest in a secure place near its food source—usually in burrows, between double walls, between floors and in piles of rubbish. The rat's presence is betrayed by its droppings, the visual damage of merchandise or foodstuffs, or burrows, runways or tracks. Where there is one rat, you can be assured there are others.

Presence of rats indicates there is food, water and harborage for them. Eliminate these and you can eliminate the rats. Rubbish, tall grass and other debris should be removed from your premises. And, garbage and other food materials should be stored in rat-proof containers.

Rats may be controlled by poisoning or trapping. Trapping may be used with good results, and the dead animal can be disposed of neatly. Sometimes

H. D. AGENT
BY JIMMIE LOU WAINSCOTT
Old discarded refrigerators tempt too many children to them as a hiding place. Just because an old refrigerator has a magnetic latch it is not a safe place for a child to hide. A demonstration agent, a child might not be able to open the door open. Even if the box is on the or back, older children can open the door, but not, is he was inside. Fright weight of the door could be too much. Miss Waincott suggests moving the door entirely, locking the door with lock and chains and fast blocks to the door to keep closing.
