LOOKIN' BACK

by Vera Featherston Back

The museum becomes more interesting each day. One of the most popular cases, especially to men, holds among its many interesting items a 38-40 Winchester made in 1883 and once owned by Perry Lefors. Mr. Lefors used to entertain in his listeners by relating his experiences in catching wild horses. Mr. Lefors said he would follow the mustang herd to their watering place, conceal himself until he caught the lead stallion in line of fire. If he could shoot this leader, the rest of the herd was easy to conquer. We hope we have the gun that did that shooting.

A double barrel shot gun with a rifle underneath and a compass in the stock fascinates me. This firearm belongs to Glen Florey. Another gun which Mr. Florey brought down has a sentimental value to me. The stock was made by Wib Florey and the intricate inlaid work shows his artistic ability. This was the last work Wib did before he left for Korea where he made the supreme sacrifice.

It was Wib who brought me my first orchid, of course Wes Langham and Jimmie Newton helped pick up the tab but it was Wib who came to drive me to the high school Junior-Senior banquet and pinned the orchid on my evening dress, saying they had heard that I had never had so rare a flower and that the boys wanted me to wear one for them.

But back to the museum: Another item of interest that has likely been added since you were through is the government issue scales which were sent to California during the Gold Rush Days of 1849 used to weigh gold. Sue (Hill) Cook and her husband Edgar brought them to us, when they attended Home-Coming. In case you need a better introduction to Sue and Edgar, she is the former Daria (Sue) Hill, who calls Vernon and Peggy King Mom and Dad, Thanks, Sue and Edgar. This one item has drawn lots of comment, all favorable.

Another showcase, the white one given some weeks ago by Elizabeth Miller at the Greyhound, holds four quilts that every woman would enjoy seeing. There's a good story that goes with each one that you would enjoy hearing or reading on the cards. Two of them came through Cindi Carpenter from the Henry McClellands of Pampa. The other two were loaned by Miss Ruby Cook.

Rare china and crystal grace the top shelves: china hat pin holders, a water pitcher over 100 years old, a small cream pitcher that once belonged to Mrs. John B. Vamoy, and many other items of interest.

During the last week, people from 13 different states have visited the museum, and they liked what they saw. One interesting visitor was originally from the Island of Taiwan. He was Warrant Officer Norman L. Rhude who, with his family, were on the way to Fort Sill, Oklahoma where the man is to be stationed. This was Mr. Rhude's first visit in Texas and he was prolific in his praise for the Panhandle, at least.

Kansas had the most people to come our way with California a close second. From Texas, we had visitors from 28 different towns. Pampa lead the list with Amarillo one behind.

A visitor whom everyone enjoyed and who loved viewing the exhibits, as well as meeting friends of his two brothers Charlie and the late John Carpenter was the youngest of the Carpenter brood, Fred Carpenter from Buda. Texas Milton brought his uncle through Sunday afternoon.

With the loan from Flora B. Careas of two of her dolls, we have started a doll collection. Do you have one to add?

There are surprises everyday at the museum. Come in often and keep up with the changes!

We were so glad to have Mrs. Lowder and her third grade students, also Mrs. D'Spain and her Kindergarten boys and girls this week. We are looking forward to other classes. Just call 779-2731 and make arrangements.

Texas Prison Rodeo Set For October

The 1969 version of the annual Texas Prison Rodeo, which will be held at Huntsville every Sunday in October promises to be a "Stars and Stripes" event when top flight entertainers will team up with tough convict to present thrilling two-hour spectacle in the prison's one million dollar stadium.

For the opening of this year's series on Sunday, October 5, the star attraction will be Wanda Jackson.

On Sunday, October 12, Merle Haggard, will present a program of some of his top tunes.

For the third performance of the World's Wildest Rodeo on Sunday, October 19, the featured attraction will be Buck Owens.

Hank Snow will highlight the closing performance of the Prison Rodeo on Sunday, October 26.

As usual, during each performance, the toughest convict cowboys will be competing for prize money in an effort to tame outlaw rodeo stock in an array of unusual contests. Convict riders will perform in the Mad Scramble, bareback bronc riding, saddle bronc riding, Hard Money, bull riding, and the Wild Horse race.

Outside of the stadium, groups of inmate entertainers will perform on the Midway before the rodeo begins at 2:00 P.M.

At the opening of the rodeo, Mr. H. H. Coffield of Rockdale, Chairman of the Texas Board of Corrections, will announce the selection of the Miss Texas Prison Rodeo for 1969.

Net proceeds from ticket sales go to support a full rehabilitation program for the 12,000 inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections.

The one thing that makes a wild rodeo wilder is competition. This year, for the first time in several years, the Texas Rodeo will see some 40 convict riders competing against only one former champion.

According to Albert Moore, veteran prison rodeo director, O'Neal Browning, who was last year's top money winner, will be back to defend his titles and will try to add to his six "top hand" titles which were won over the past 19 years.

The Texas Prison Rodeo, held every Sunday in October in the Prison Stadium, has been rated as one of the best family entertainment features in the Southwest.

Guest stars, who will make personal appearances for the 1969 rodeo series, include Wanda Jackson on October 5, Merle Haggard on October 12, Buck Owens and his Buckaroos on October 19, and Hank Snow on October 26.

To round out a fast-moving two-hour show, there will also be entertainment by a number of the best inmate groups of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Net proceeds from ticket sales go to assist all inmates to obtain services offered through the prison's rehabilitation program. The rodeo begins each Sunday in October at 2:00 P.M.

Crop Residue Use

Milo harvest is not far off, with the heavy stubble that will be left on dryland and irrigated land alike this will make an excellent year to start Crop Residue Use.

Crop Residue Use consist of leaving the present years growth of stubble on the surface until the next seedbed is made. The advantage of leaving the residue on the surface is, it will hold the soil in place, from wind and water erosion, the soil will warm months faster, also in the winter a field without residue on the surface will let the valuable moisture in the soil stack up in fence rows and the corners of roads, where it is of no use to anyone.

So why not keep the valuable moisture in the fields where it is needed.

NUTRITION A LA CARTE

• In general, adult men are likely to have better eating habits than women. Mothers are prone to neglect their own meals while tending the family, or because they are figure conscious without understanding the basics of figure control. Mothers need an adequate, balanced diet just like the rest of us, perhaps more so.

• Of all our citizens, teen-age girls seem to have the poorest eating habits. Dietary studies show they are figure conscious and apt to skip or skimp on nourishing foods. Breakfast especially. Crash diets should be avoided. Teen-age bodies are in an important period of development, leading to motherhood. Help your teen-ager get a good diet.

• Regularly I suggest that people would feel better if they stopped skipping breakfast. To save arguments in the family, have your breakfast "skippers" try eating breakfast for two or three weeks and let them appraise for themselves whether they do or do not feel better in the morning and accomplish more at school or at work.

• Remember that breakfast means literally to "break the fast." Your body needs food when you get up in the morning, to make up for the fasting you have experienced through the night.

You also need food for the energy you'll expend during the morning. Waiting until lunchtime to eat a real meal can put unnecessary stress on your body.

• If you're trying to trim pounds, remember the value of exercise. Leisure hours spent in moderate activity or enjoyable sports, plus a sound diet, pay off in pounds lost. Your diet will be sensible if it is made up of meats, fish, poultry, and egg, vitamin-rich fruits and vegetables, bread and cereals, and milk and dairy foods, and no more calories than you need for energy.

• If you are not overweight, see to it that you don't change. Physicians are learning that it is much easier for people to control their weight before they get fat than to reduce afterwards. It is also possible that being overweight triggers a disturbed metabolism, making it doubly difficult to reduce again.

• While research continues in the broad area of heart disease and the possible relationship of diet to it, homemakers should not embark on fad diets or completely cut out any one food. Rather, a well-balanced diet including moderate amounts of fat, both saturated and unsaturated, should be followed, unless your doctor prescribes otherwise.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS
 BY VERN SANFORD

Artificial baits . . . designed to tempt fish and fishermen . . . come and go. What is the rage today may only be an also-ran tomorrow.

Right now the headline grabber for big bass is the plastic worm. A short while ago it was the Rapala and its many imitations.

Some lures, like the Heddon Chugger, stand the test of time. This is a great compliment for most baits go through a period when they produce best, then suddenly they lose their appeal to a newcomer.

One reason, no doubt, is that fish become conditioned to certain baits. When the lure is something new, bass are uninhibited. They strike like crazy! But the more they see of the bait, the less inclined they are to hit it. That is, unless the fisherman catches the bass in one of those rare moods when they'll hit most anything.

We once read of a unique test made in a fish hatchery. One lure of only one color was used. On the first day the bass struck the lure as if there would be no second chance for a meal. On the second day its appeal was almost as good.

Then results started diminishing. More and more casts were required to induce a strike.

After a month it was virtually impossible to take a bass on the bait. Yet only a small fraction of the total bass in the pond were ever hooked and released.

Another contributing factor is that fishermen are a fickle bunch. Few can stick with one lure exclusively.

Perhaps the answer is that one day, when nothing seemed to work, an angler tied on an odd-looking creation that he had been carrying around for ages in his tackle box. To his great surprise, it caught fish.

Quickly this information passes on to other anglers. They try the lure. Simply by exposure, the bait is presented to a lot of fish and it stands to reason that some of them will hit it. Its popularity grows as more and more people use the lure. Before we know it, we have a rage on our hands.

As this indicates, these fads often are started innocently enough. Believe it or not one of the hottest salt-water baits on the Texas coast right now is the plastic worm. Yes — the plastic worm — and in salt water!

No one knows for sure where the "plastic - worm - in - salt - water fad" started. T-Sgt. Phillip Scudder III of Orlando, Fla. claims he originated the idea. Until some rebuttal is sounded, we'll take his word for it.

Says Scudder, "In October, 1966, I was scudding the flats of East Bay near Panama City, Fla., when I noticed several dead marine worms floating in the water. These worms were as long and as large as a pencil and of very flimsy texture.

"Gathering the few that I could, I used them under a float and fished them as you would any bait. Having good luck with these and unable to locate more, I substituted a plastic worm.

"Nearest imitation to the marine worm I could find was a yellow plastic worm with small black dots. I tried this worm under a cork with little success. So I removed the cork and simply cast the worm out and retrieved it slowly along the bottom, using a tiny sinker for a weight.

"Right away I began to get strikes. But I caught very few fish since they were only grabbing the end of the long worm. Remedying this was simple: I merely pinched the worm off two inches below the hook. The birth of the salt-water plastic worm as we know it today occurred at that moment."

Thus a new rage was born. Today the plastic worm is noted as one of the very best baits for salt water, just as it is a top producer in fresh water.

Wonder what the rage will be next year, or the next?

We are but wise to trust our lives To God for him to mold. We do our best then trust the rest To what each day may hold.

"We are members of a world team. We are partners in a grand adventure. Our thinking must be world wide.—Wendell Wilkie.

How far reaching and astounding was the above statement when it was made by Mr. Wilkie. How commonly it is accepted in our day as the truth. The world has become so much smaller and so much a common denominator all in our lifetime.

"I do not believe there is a problem in this country or the world which could not be settled if approached through the teaching of the Sermon On The Mount.—Harry Truman.

Speaking of Mr. Truman we are so many times inclined to remember him for his rough exterior and his plain spoken language. The years have shown us that he had another side. Most folks do if we but stop and look for it. There was a time when we thought Mr. Truman was far out. We came to know that he was just the beginning of many far out things to come.

"You'll never find time for anything, if you want time you must take it.—Charles Buxton.

"Time is like money. The less of it to spare the further we make it go.—H. W. Shaw.

"With some people you spend an evening, with others you invest it."

"Time is but the stream I go fishing in.—Thoreau.

"If you want to kill time try working it to death.—Legion Magazine.

Chemicals Good Weed Fighters

Chances are very good there will be a plentiful supply of grass and weeds in many cotton fields due to the favorable soil moisture situation in most areas of the state. Fred Elliott, Extension cotton specialist, says chemicals have proved themselves as weed and grass fighters. Weed control, when done by correctly applied herbicides is easier, cheaper, faster and better than hand labor. They have added materially to reduced production costs.

Portrait of a MIXED BLESSING

Here is the River — to some an avenue on their trek westward — to others an obstacle to be crossed.

Today it brings shiploads of needed supplies to the towns along its banks, carries their products to warehouse and factory.

Tomorrow it can escape those banks, leaving death and destruction in its wake. For the River must be ruled by man!

Yesterday it brought pure water from mountain streams to thirsty lips. Then somebody made it his gutter.

Like all our mixed blessings the River can help or hurt. It is just one of those gifts of God whose value will always depend on our good sense and initiative, our respect for God's intent and our concern for the needs of others.

Call it a by-product if you please — but one of the results of faithful religious worship and service is that so many mixed blessings become real blessings!

Nutrition Meeting Set At A&M

The latest advances and problems in livestock and poultry nutrition and feed manufacturing will be discussed during the annual Texas Nutrition Conference at College Station Oct. 15-16.

Program Chairman J. R. Couch of the Texas A&M University Poultry Science Department said the program is aimed at nutritionists, feed makers, integrated poultry operators and feedlot operators.

Feed formulations and current management practices for cattle feedlots will get special emphasis, the chairman added. There also will be three presentations on use and practice of computers in feed formulations, feed control, and Food and Drug Administration regulations on such usage.

Activities start at 9 a. m. the first day at the Ramada Inn near the A&M campus. The program begins with an address by Dr. L. S. Pope, associate dean in the A&M College of Agriculture, who will talk on "A Challenge To The Texas Livestock Industry."

Next is a short message from Louis Stanley of Paris, president of the Texas Grain and Feed Association.

The conference will close with a banquet on the evening of Oct. 16.

Couch said more than 200 persons are expected to attend the meetings. Conference sponsors are A&M University, Texas Feed and Fertilizer Control Service and the Texas Grain and Feed Association of Fort Worth.

SELECTIVE SERVICE NEWS

Q-I am a graduate student who has not been deferred. If I am ordered to report for induction in the midst of my studies, can my induction be delayed until I get my degree?

A-No, but you may request your draft board for a postponement until the end of the quarter, trimester, or semester. Boards have authority to grant such postponements.

Q-If I go into VISTA or the Peace Corps, can my local board give me an occupational deferment?

A-Yes, but it is not required to do so.

Q-Does the Selective Service prosecute persons for violation of the Selective Service law?

A-No, this is done by the Department of Justice.

Q-I know that normal progress in school is necessary for a 11-S student deferment. When I transferred from junior college to the state university some credits I had earned were not accepted. Will this loss of credits affect my classification?

A-Your draft board will have to decide this. It can grant a 11-S deferment to you for the first year after you transfer, despite the loss of credits. Further deferment would depend upon the progress made at the new institution.

Destroy Cotton Stalks Early

The early destruction of cotton stalks as soon as possible after harvesting has been completed.

After the stalks have been shredded by a flail type shredder, they should immediately be plowed under to a depth of at least six inches. The practice will aid materially in controlling boll weevils and pink bollworms next year by depriving them of a major source of food. Area wide programs are most effective.

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources has found that "up to 55 per cent of DDT residues in fish taken from Lake Michigan can be removed before the fish are eaten." Gourmet fanciers of baked trout a mandarin eat at high risk to their well-being. Deep frying was shown to reduce DDT residues by 55 per cent, broiling by 36 per cent, and baking by only 11 per cent.

The Department suggests you discard the DDT-saturated cooking fat before you plopp the next rainbow in to the pan.
