Pull the Trigger on Constipation, and Pepsin-ize Acid Stomach Too

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, your stomach is probably loaded up with certain undigested food and your bowels don't move. So you need both Pepsin to help break up fast that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels. So be sure your laxative also contains Pepsin. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because its Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach comfort, while the Laxative Syrup moves your bowels. Tests prove the power of Pepsin to dissolve those lumps of undigested protein food which may linger in your stomach, to cause belching, gastric acidity and nausea. This is how Pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve it of such distress. At the same time this medicine wraps up lazy nerves and muscles in your bowels to relieve your constipation. So see how much better you feel by taking the laxative that also puts Pepsin to work on that stomach discomfort, too. Even fussy children love to taste this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative—Syrup with Syrup Pepsin at your drugist today!

Official Loses Job, Kills Four

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif., May 7 (AP)—Death hovered near today for three critically wounded survivors of a deposed school principal's bullet-spewing target pistol that cost the lives of four other education authorities.

Slain were George C. Bush, 62, for 35 years superintendent of schools here and in nearby San Marino; John E. Alman, 50, principal of the South Pasadena-San Marino high school for 25 years; William Spear, 43, business manager of the combined school district, and Victor L. Vanderlip, 45, manual arts and printing instructor at South Pasadena junior high school.

Hospital authorities described as critical the condition of high-strung, erratic Verlin Spencer, 38, who suddenly went berserk after being told his junior high school contract would not be renewed, mowed down the six school teachers and then turned his .22 calibre pistol upon himself.

Little hope also was held for the other survivors of his mad outburst of gunfire, Miss Ruth B. Sturgeon, 45, art instructor at the junior high school, and Miss Dorothea Talbert, 30, secretary to Superintendent Bush.

Police Chief Frank Higgins reported Spencer, an expert marksman, had had numerous recent altercations with school authorities following a nervous breakdown a year ago. He went to the board of education building yesterday, demanding a hearing on a notification his contract would not be renewed at the end of the school year.

Higgins said an argument developed and Spencer pulled the target pistol from his pocket and started firing. Bush, Alman and Spear fell dead, each shot once through the heart.

SEEK TO HALT POLLUTION IN RIVER SYSTEM

DALLAS, May 7 (AP)—Ninety new defendant oil companies have been named by the state in an amended petition to its original application to enjoin 55 other oil companies from dumping salt water and other waste matter into the Neches river system.

Judge John Rawlins set hearing on the amended petition for May 23.

Efforts meanwhile were being made to work out an agreement to halt the pollution without need of permanent injunction orders. The original suit and amended petition will remain on the docket pending the working out of agreements.

APPROVE RULING OF REFUSAL OF ARBITRATION

MEXICO CITY, May 7 (AP)—The Mexican people and press appeared to be united today behind the government's firm rejection of the United States' request that the oil expropriation conflict be submitted to arbitration.

Comment on the Mexican reply to the American note which was published Sunday indicated complete approval and accord for the position taken by President Cardenas' administration.

The important newspaper, El Universal, which has been frequently critical of the Cardenas government, said editorially: "The oil, due to our laws and international consensus of opinion, is ours. What is needed is not to submit to a tribunal the international oil differences, but to suggest to the companies that they accept, as some have started to do, the decision of the courts and of the Mexican government; that they abandon their policy of aggression against our country..."

Crude Production Shows Decline

TULSA, Okla., May 7 (AP)—Daily crude oil production in the United States declined 164,408 to 3,683,169 barrels for the week ended May 4. The Oil and Gas Journal said today.

While East Texas increased 98 to 396,646, all Texas decreased 147,949 to 1,367,787. Oklahoma production was down 2,075 to 412,975; California, 750 to 589,700; Kansas, 4,950 to 147,850; Illinois, 14,440 to 422,028; and eastern fields, 1,100 to 107,200.

Louisiana production increased 5,410 to 293,975; Michigan, 396 to 62,274, and the Rocky Mountain area, 1,870 to 11,090.

TO MOVE H'QUARTERS FROM MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, May 7 (AP)—American members of the United States-Mexico mixed claims commission which has been functioning here for several months will move their headquarters to El Paso, within a few weeks.

A member of the commission, charged with validating claims of American citizens for indemnification of damage suffered to property in Mexico during the frequent Mexican revolutionary periods, said the move did not indicate any friction with Mexico.

He asserted that the American branch of the commission was being established in El Paso to convenience Lawrence Lawson of that city, who has offices there.

Hicks' 73 Is Low In Odessa Tournament

ODESSA, May 7—Elton Dozier, Jr., of Midland and Theron Hicks of Big Spring blasted their way around the nine-hole country club bent grass green golf course Sunday afternoon to set the pace for early qualifiers in the club's first annual sugar tourney.

Both qualified with 73's which is three over the club's par of 70. The score is not likely to stand very many days, but still may hold the lead until qualifying day which is Friday.

The two will not have a chance for medalist honors as only golfers qualifying Friday will get a shot at the prize.

Thirteen others slugged the $3 entry fee on the clubhouse golf shop counter and turned in scores that saw the highest at 109. There were two others in the 70s, John Edmiston of Lamesa carded a 77 and Gene Gardner of Big Spring whipped around in 79. Both might land in the first flight unless 16 hotshots group around 76. It looks doubtful for a 76 to get in the championship play.

Favored golfer to win the tourney is Odessa's own Eddie Morgan, who learned his golf at Big Spring.

A surprise lull may capture the spotlight if Little Red Roden comes in from Glen Rose. Last year he played on the all-West Texas team in the Metz cup play at San Angelo.

Here's the qualifying list so far (golfers are from Odessa unless otherwise designated):

Elton Dozier, Jr., Midland, 73; Theron J. Hicks, Big Spring, 73; John Edmiston, Lamesa, 77; Gene Gardner, Big Spring, 79; Pat Eddy, Midland, 80; W. P. Thurman, Midland, 84; Luke Cooper, 86; M. R. Froctor, San Angelo, 87; Carl Crowell, 94; Melvin Guerry, 96; Brent Jackson, Big Spring, 99; T. A. Pickering, 103; Toby Gleaton, 105; James Schulz, 106; Ray Miller, 109.

Vanderbilt Is Backing Bimelech

By EDDIE BRIEZY
NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Young Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt is picking Bimelech to turn the tables on Gallahadon in the Prekness Saturday. U. of Iowa officials haven't taken the score down since Iowa whipped Minnesota last November 18. The scoreboard still reads Iowa 13, visitors 9. Correspondents with the Jinta wire from Cincinnati the boys are playing just like Zeke Bonura was still on the team. Pat O'Brien, who'll have the starring role in "The Life of Knute Rockne," will enroll his son at Notre Dame when the location crew arrives at South Bend for two weeks of background shots.

Fight Mob Back's Lou Ambers To Win Fri.

JENKINS NOT READY YET IS CLAIM

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Along Busted Beak Boulevard they're saying that Laughing Lou Ambers will be too smart and too fast for Lashing Lew Jenkins.

Lew, the Sweetwater Socker, challenges for Lou's world lightweight boxing championship in Madison Square Garden May 10.

The Texan has come a long way in the past months since he was fighting second and third raters down in his native state but most of the maul mob figure he isn't ready yet for Lou.

Ambers, they say, is the most underrated fighter in the game. Everyone can pick flaws in his methods but few can beat him. He's clever, he has plenty of ring savvy, dodges of the old moxie, and he can slip and slide blows with speed.

Lew has the courage to get up if he's bowled over. Cannonball had him on the floor when Tony was great. Armstrong had him down twice in their first fight but he got up and was waiting into Hank at the finish.

That's All For Al
Only a few weeks ago the Brooklyn boys were braying about young Al Davis, a terrific thumper. Well, all Lou did was to give him a nifty boxing lesson, beat him to the punch and cuff him around generally.

Davis was a body puncher. His best shot was a fast, powerful left to the body. He hit Lou with it a couple of times and the blows didn't do Ambers any good—but he took 'em. And so what if Lew does manage to tag him once or twice, the mob says, Lou will take 'em.

Lew, a tall, skinny boy, certainly isn't the picture of power but oh! how he can belt. He whips 'em over with perfect timing, fast as a rattler striking.

Jenkins A Puncher
Jenkins, the cowboy clouter, got his title chance chiefly as the result of decisive wins over Billy Marquard and Tippy Larkin. He and Marquard had a betting bet for several rounds with Lew apparently in danger of being knocked out. But he rallied from Billy's lethal blows long enough to bluff Marquard one that sent him to the showers.

And Larkin, Tippy was one of the best boxers and fastest men in the division. A pretty fair hitter.

Lew jabbed three or four times with his left and then let loose with a right early in the first round. Tippy never knew what hit him.

The Lew vs. Lou engagement should be a good scrap. Lew hits hard enough to win, if he is fast enough to get in several of his sleep producers in succession. But, the wise boys say, Ambers is too fast and too smart for him.

TIGERS ARE NEW THREAT IN THE E'TEXAS LOOP

By The Associated Press
Kilgore's Boomers have a fairly comfortable lead in the East Texas league race but the Marshall Tigers are waiting around ready to pounce on them at the least sign of weakening.

Last night the Bengals won their fifth in a row by beating Palestine 7-5, thus forging into second place while Longview was taking it on the chin from the Boomers, 7-6 in eleven innings.

Kilgore, captured its thirteenth victory in sixteen starts, Jim Matthews' single driving in the winning run.

Texasiana drubbed Jacksonville 2-0 with Merle Coleman giving up six scattered hits.

Tyler and Henderson were idle.

NO POSTAL JOBS OPEN IN THE SOUTH SEAS

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Swamped with letters from Americans who want to get away from it all, the postoffice department announced today that it needs no postmasters to handle its business in the South Seas.

It all started when Postmaster General Farley said a letter-mailing place had been established on far-away Canton Island, 4,200 miles southwest of San Francisco.

Apparently it made no difference that the job of postmaster had been filled.

A young man in Florida, disappointed in love and life, said it was just the spot he sought.

"Loneliness," he wrote, "is what I'm looking for."

A middle-aged man in South Carolina hurried to write that he would take the job for nothing.

A man in Missouri appealed to the post office department for the job on the ground that it was just the kind of work he wanted—"far, far from a troubled world."

Canton Island will be a regular stop on the California to New Zealand airline. Hence the post office.

Dutch Prather To Play First Base For The Pampa Oilers

Grover Seitz, manager of the Pampa baseball club, has procured the services of Dutch Prather, a first sacker and one of the minor leaguers' more noted sluggers for the past several years.

Prather has even served a stretch in the big show, going up with the New York Giants a few years back.

Dutch was under contract to Sacramento before his release to Pampa. Last year he played semi-pro ball in Canada.

Several years ago when Pampa sported a strong semi-pro team and campaigned successfully in the Denver tournament, Dutch earned himself a nationwide reputation by hitting 506 in the tournament.

He will replace R. Adams, a rookie, at the initial sack for the Oilers.

Mel Steiner, released here last week, is playing regular center field for the Clovis Pioneers. Against Midland Saturday night, Mel hit three times in five trips.

Lloyd "Pat" Patterson, ex-Baron, is filling in in Jodie Tate's outfield.

Tate is of the opinion Patterson has a better future as an outfielder than a pitcher.

Harold Bethell To Enter TCU, Tarlton To Get Bob Savage

In the Texas League they call a Texas leaguer, a hit that falls safely outside the infield and usually in the vicinity of second base, a plunker.

Harold "Lefty" Bethell and Bobby Savage, Big Spring's all-district footballers last fall, will attend Texas Christian university and John Tarlton college, respectively, next fall unless something unexpectedly happens between now and September.

Bethell paid a visit to the TCU campus ten days ago, came away convinced that he liked the atmosphere better than he did at the Texas Aggies pistol team recently outdid the feat of the College Station football team by winning its second consecutive Intercollegiate shoot title, outgunning 20 other schools for the title. St. Xavier was second, Wisconsin third.

The Douglas hotel bowling team is back in town after campaigning at the ABC tournament in Detroit.

Five Teams In Thick Of Fight For Major-City Softball Championship

Two teams seeking their first league victories, the Foran Oilers and Standard's Oilers, make their second starts of the Major-City circuit campaign this evening at the city park.

The Foran club, beaten last week by Carnett's, will tangle with the strong Phillips' Tirmen in the 8 o'clock bout.

At 9:30, Montgomery Ward is scheduled to test the Standard bunch.

The Foranites and the Standard team ruled as pre-season favorites to fight it out for the crown but indications are now that it will be a five team scrap for the blue ribbon.

The Phillips team showed plenty of promise in coming from behind to clinch Standard.

Carnett's looked to advantage in routing Foran.

The Anderson Devils, who stopped Ward in the Thursday battle, may yet make trouble for the other clubs.

PARTY MEETING IS DISSOLVED

MEXICO CITY, May 7 (AP)—The Independent party of National Action reported today that a meeting of its followers at Jocopec, state of Jalisco, was dissolved by orders of the chief of police of that town.

According to the party this is the fourth attack against National Action. The others, carried out also by municipal or police authorities, were made at Orizaba, Uruapan and Chihuahua.

The party is opposed to the presidential candidacy of General Manuel Avila Camacho, choice of the administration party of the Mexican revolution, and supports the candidacy of General Juan Andreu Almazan.

Indian Sets Sights On Race Title

INDIANAPOLIS, May 7 (AP)—One of the "vanishing Americans" has high hopes this year of being able to "vanish" with $200,000 worth of the Indianapolis motor speedway's wampum May 30.

Italians, Frenchmen and South Americans have driven in the 500-mile motor speedway race but this year, for the first time, there will be an Indian—Jole (Big Chief) Chitwood—a Cherokee from the plains of Kansas.

Should Chitwood win he would join Frank Lockhart and George

BIG CHIEF CHITWOOD Broke 30 Track Marks in '38

Soulers in that small group of drivers who have won a 500 in their first attempt.

Although this will be Chitwood's first appearance in Indianapolis, he is far from being a racing novice. He's been driving five years on Middle West dirt tracks.

For more than three years he was an Indian "outlaw." That is, he raced on tracks and in events not sanctioned by the American Automobile Association. A little more than a year ago, however, he "reformed" and now is eligible for the 500.

He'll drive for Bill White, Hollywood, Calif., car owner.

Jole is an all-round athlete. He attended Haskell Institute, the Indian school at Lawrence, Kas., played halfback on the football team and ran the 100-yard dash and the mile. He's 26, 5 feet 8 and weighs 195 pounds.

And he's tough as nails. Two years ago he wrecked his car in a race at Wheeling, W. Va., and came out of it with a broken collarbone and several fractured ribs.

He spent just three weeks in the hospital and then was back at the wheel of another racing car.

Last year he broke twenty track records on the dirt raceways.

Barons Lose In 11th. Harvey Again Net Leader

COURTS SOON TO BE READY FOR PLAY

Harold Harvey was again named to serve as president of the Big Spring Tennis association, which met in formal session at the city hall Monday evening.

Assisting Harvey for the coming season will be Louise Squyres, secretary-treasurer who succeeds Avery Falkner at that post; Martha Morrison, vice-president and tournament chairman, and Hank Hart, vice-president in charge of publicity.

Miss Morrison will draw up a schedule for league play and will supervise plans for a city tournament.

The association is planning to ward a massive membership drive.

Harvey has been given assurance that the east courts at the city park will be available for play after today. He said ladder play could begin immediately.

City workers were busy putting up the screens on the old courts this morning and will probably start on the new courts next week.

The courts will be operated by the reservation system again this year. The reservation blanks, which entitles the holder to an hour's singles play or two hour's doubles play, are available at H. F. Malone's office in the city hall.

Present for the meeting last night were Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Vineyard, Lydia Bird, J. D. Morgan, Harry Jordan, Byron Johnson, A. C. Reid, Fred Engle, H. F. Malone, Hollis Hall, Marvin House, Jr., H. H. Brown, Adrian Williams and Harvey, Miss Morrison, Miss Squyres and Hart.

Texas Electric Hangs On To First Place

The Texas Electric quintet lost two of three games to Toby's but retained first place in the Women's bowling league by the slim margin of a single game in Monday night's firing at Billy Simon's alleys.

Paced by Lois Eason, Toby's outfit took the first two games and could have gone into the league lead by grabbing off honors in the third but the Electricians rallied to win that one by 17 points.

Eason picked together a 170-400 for high scoring honors. Fabst's tied Toby's for second place by edging out Empire Southern in two of three games, scoring a grand total of 2,178 pins.

Lilyon Crosthwait had a 215-517 to top the evening's scorers.

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Mrs. Dwight F. Davis dropped her role of being "a very private person leading a very private life" and assumed command today of the volunteer service of the American Red Cross.

She made news a decade ago as Mrs. Charles H. Sabin when she marshaled 1,500,000 women to campaign for prohibition repeal.

The forces which she now directs are potentially even greater—they numbered more than 8,000,000 during the World War—and they serve a cause not stamped with controversy.

Mrs. Davis succeeds Miss Mabel Boardman, who has been connected with the Red Cross for 40 years and who created the volunteer organization. Miss Boardman will remain as Red Cross secretary.

For Mrs. Davis, her new post means a return to public work after an interim of four years. When she married Dwight Davis, the Coolidge secretary of war, in 1936, she said, "I am now a very private person leading a very private life."

WINS OVER GIANTS — Gene Thompson (above), Cincinnati pitching ace Monday set the New York Giants down with three hits to lead the Reds to a 9-1 victory.

Hank Leiber Sparks Cubs To Triumph

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

It takes more than one man to make a baseball team a timely explanation considering a total of 207 players were used in yesterday's eight major league games—but Henry K. Leiber of the Chicago Cubs is as near a one-man team as the big show has at the moment.

Today Leiber is leading the National League (1) in batting with a .418 mark; (2) in runs; (3) in runs batted in; (4) in hits; and (5) in doubles.

He has hit safely in the last 12 consecutive games of the Cubs and yesterday he collected a double and two singles to bat in three of his team's runs in a 5-4 eleven-inning victory over the Phillies.

He is unquestionably the spark plug that has carried the Cubs in to third place in the senior circuit and kept them there. Yet even Leiber isn't a one-man ball club.

The winning run yesterday was Billy Herman's homer in the fifth and it offset the efforts of the Phils in battling Dizzy Dean out of the box in the fifth. Larry French made a relief appearance for his fourth victory.

Shows Little
"Brother Paul" Dean also was in action yesterday, his 1940 debut coming in a relief job for the New York Giants against the Cincinnati Reds. He worked two innings and didn't show much in giving up two hits and no runs.

The game already had been captured by the National League champions on a seven-run spree in the sixth and the five-hit hurling of Gene Thompson, who chalked up his third victory by a 9-1 count.

The Boston Bees plastered the sixth straight defeat on the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-7 in 12 innings. Manager Frank Frisch made a desperate shakeup in his lineup but all the Pirates got out of it was a new record for using the most players in a game. Frisch put 24 of his 29 men into the contest and Boston used 16 the total of 45 beating the record number of St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers had manipulated the day before. Eleven pitchers saw service.

Brooklyn needed only 11 men yesterday to whip the Cards 6-2 for their eleventh victory in 12 games.

Back To Top
The Boston Red Sox bounced back on top of the American League in their see-saw rivalry with the Cleveland Indians, rallying for six runs in the fourth inning to top the Tribe 8-5.

The world champion Yankees were victims of another left-hander and an outburst of slugging by the Detroit Tigers, 6-4. Riding along on the careful pitching of Red Ruffing, the Yanks were suddenly bombarded for three runs on homers by Hank Greenberg and pinchhitter Billy Sullivan in the eighth.

The Chicago White Sox, still floundering in last place, were edged out 3-2 by the Philadelphia Athletics, with Sam Chapman hitting a homer and Nelson Potter doing some good pitching for the A's.

The St. Louis Browns gave the Washington Senators their fifth straight setback, 11-9, with a 16-hit offensive.

ENEMY RALLIES IN NINTH TO TIE SCORE

CLOVIS, N. M., May 7—The Clovis Pioneers won their third straight game at the expense of the Big Spring Barons here Monday evening, an 11-inning affair that ended, 13-12.

The Barons went wild in the eighth inning, grabbing the lead with an eight run outburst but the Pioneers came right back with four runs and finally tied the count in the ninth.

Eldon Muraw had a home run double and single to lead the 13-hit attack of the Big Springers. He drove in five runs.

The two teams play here again tonight.

Child Welfare Talk Is Made Before Club

A program sponsored by the club's child welfare committee, headed by E. Reagan, was presented at the Rotary club's luncheon session at the Settles hotel Tuesday. Principal speaker was Rev. Homer W. Halslip, new pastor of the First Christian church here.

In discussing methods of encouraging better conditions for the younger generation, Rev. Halslip pointed out that a first requirement for adults is to manifest a sincere personal interest in the boys and girls. "We must also show a real confidence in them," he said. "Not a pretended confidence, but an honest one." A major factor, too, the minister said, is to make a real effort to understand children and their own peculiar problems.

An appeal for Rotarians to assist in cleaning up the local West Texas chamber of commerce convention registration drive came from Pat Kenney, who is assisting in the campaign. Visitors at the luncheon included Carl Krepper of Muskogee, Okla.; L. A. McCoy of Odessa; Thad Hale of Coahoma, J. H. Greene and Norman Priest.

County Purchases Big Truck Shovel

Purchase of a major piece of machinery, a truck shovel designed to speed up road construction work, was contracted by the county commissioners court Tuesday. The commissioners accepted a bid of $4,338.50 submitted by the W. T. McClure Machinery company of Abilene, as the best of six bids made.

The deal included a trade-in, and the price represents the net difference. The shovel, a "Quick-Way," is mounted on a five-ton White truck. Delivery is expected within the next 15 days.

County officials said the shovel would be put to use immediately on the current lateral road project, which has been delayed for lack of facilities for loading.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Trade, idling during most of today's stock market, turned to the buying side in the final hour and pushed up a handful of issues 1 to 3 points.

While definite market clues from the war were lacking, a little stimulation was derived from earnings statements, optimistic business items and the feeling the market had

Editorial

Candidates are showing modesty. Not so much perhaps as the proverbial shrinking violet, but an exhibition of waiting to be asked that used not characterize many of them, if indeed any.

By Popular Demand

There have been cases when the suggestion of a scant half-dozen people would put a man in a race for a county office but perhaps a candidate for a state office would demand more.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Uncle Sam's getting testy about his military secrets these days, even to the extent of barring foreign military attaches stationed in Washington from the United States Army's sham war ground in Louisiana and Texas.

military secrets leaked out a few years ago when foreign attaches viewed the movie, "Hell Divers." Even though a naval censor had blacked out the landing deck of an aircraft carrier appearing in the picture, the attaches saw enough to guess Uncle Sam was miles ahead of other nations in taking off and landing planes from carriers.

It was only a matter of weeks until British aircraft carriers had hydraulic machinery and tripping cables on the decks of their aircraft carriers.

GOT EVEN WITH BRITISH And I hope I'm not going too far, when I disclose the fact that it was again a matter of weeks until Uncle Sam's own naval attaches aboard a British carrier on parade day, discovered a British refinement of our tripping device. Soon our navy had taken all its hydraulic apparatus off the landing decks of our carriers and fastened it to the side of the vessel, out of the way.

So it is not surprising to discover that Captain Robert M. Losey of the United States army was standing in a tunnel mouth observing military aviation in Norway when he was killed recently.

Captain Losey was sent to Dombas, Norway, to help take out American women and children. But he also had his eye peeled for military news worthy of the attention of Washington. American military attaches have a world wide reputation for seeing well.

And so it is that Uncle Sam figures that the military attaches of other nations may be able to see well, too. He doesn't want them to see our 50 calibre machine gun down in Louisiana. And a few other little devices.

And so he's getting testy. Of course, there's plenty of room for any American Tom, Dick, or Harry. But the accommodations are simply not Waldorf-enough for distinguished foreign visitors.

The official reason why gold embossed invitations are NOT going out to gold-braided, eagle-eyed observers of foreign governments is because there will be "insufficient accommodation."

Insufficient accommodation, my eye. The truth is that a military attaché whatever country he is serving and that means us, too— is oftentimes a glorified, if LEGAL, spy. It's part of his job to ferret out facts without appearing to do so.

For instance, our military attaches in Poland gathered much material and information about blitzkrieg last year.

For in Poland a modern war machine was in action against a more or less old style army. What did it do? Did it bog down anywhere? Did it leak blood or gasoline?

One thing they determined was that the German machine did not encounter any wet going. That's important. That's the one thing a modern blitzkrieg hasn't yet met wet going.

WE'LL TRY SWAMP WAR

So it is significant that our May maneuvers are being held in swamp country at its wettest, swamp country in the spring. Uncle Sam's army is going to find out without benefit of foreign visitors.

Of course, the visiting military and naval attaches never violate etiquette by going into forbidden zones. Wherever they go, they go by invitation. But they have been known to show up ahead of time, before secret gear could be stowed away. A mistake. Misread the invitation, etc.

These attaches often use their wits far away from military zones. For instance, one of the best of our

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Met a man the other night by the name of Hough. You pronounce it Huff, like tough. His first name was Cass. Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Cass Huff. It did to me kept rolling it around on my tongue, trying to remember. Sometimes a name runs around your mind till it runs you crazy. But you can't place it. And then, finally, you do place it.

It had something to do with Kenneth Roberts, who wrote "Arunde," and "Rabbin in Arms" and "Northwest Passage." In those books was an earthy, unpredictable character named Cap Huff. Cap was a character. He gave a color of reasonableness and warmth to those bleak, tangled trails that Rogers' rangers traveled so stealthily. We said, "Cass, you any kin to old Cap Huff?"

He looked surprised. He looked pleased. He said, "It's the same family, or a branch of it. Our branch went west, to Michigan. Been there ever since. In transit the name became respelled. But it's the same outfit. I think my great granddad broke away from the original family and went out to Michigan."

Just then an acquaintance of his passed us at the newsstand in the New Yorker lobby, where we were standing, and said, "Nice speech today, Cass."

We asked, "You on a speaking tour, Mr. Hough?" He said he was talking about guns. This conjured up visions of the Germans and Scandinavia and anti-aircraft guns. "What kind of guns?" we asked. "Air guns," he said. "Little b. h. guns. That's my business. We make 'em guns."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Andre Kostelanetz was in town the other day. I know that because I saw him and talked to him at his Hollywood apartment, where the phone kept ringing and the doorbell kept buzzing and a secretary came and went and a servant or two passed unobtrusively to and fro.

As to where the peripatetic composer and conductor is today, and where he will be tomorrow, your guess is probably better than mine. He may be in your home town for all I know.

Andre, or "Kosty," as his friends dub him, is a clock-watcher. For those who like sentimentally to think of musicians as gavel dreamers, this is disquieting but it goes to show what the modern whirl has done to some musicians. Kosty wears a wrist watch, gift of the madam (Jilly Pons), and it is a beauty, with the letters of his name in place of figures around the dial. The dots of phosphorus on the two hands, however, are Kosty's own idea. "to tell time at night."

The generally hectic pace about the Kostelanetz fourth-floor office-home had settled down into a mild bedlam, to quote Archie Mayns immortal phrase, and Kosty was relaxed. He is a shortish, chubby, bland fellow, alert, bespectacled, his generous bald-pate sun-pinked. He wears slacks and a rough linen sports shirt, and one leg straddles the chair arm at those odd moments when he is not answering the phone or buzzer.

Everything was practically ready for his departure by plane for Minneapolis, where he would conduct the symphony orchestra in a concert (Miss Pons would meet him there, coming up from New Orleans) before flying back to Hollywood. He had bought space on two returning planes, in order to be sure to arrive here in time for rehearsal before going on the air with his weekly program. Immediately after the broadcast he would fly to a Denver concert, and there was a Chicago engagement, and all in all he would cover about 12,000 miles within 10 days, which wears me out just thinking about it. Not so this Kosty—"I'm accustomed to it; it's all a matter of planning, and flying, and making connections," he said casually. "The most I've ever been late was three or four hours, and that only once."

He has traveled, the air lines tell him, about 400,000 air miles in the five years he has been trying to be everywhere at once. The miles include flying trips to visit Miss Pons, who likewise covers territory but generally by rail.

The musical couple have a farm-house at Silver Mine, Conn., to which they retire when schedules permit. They spent Christmas Eve there, and will be together again there by May 15, if plans work out. Lily has christened the place "Gentle Homiere," meaning something like "pleasant little retreat."

I had to laugh at Kosty's so far ungratified desire. "I want to see what America looks like. We toured New Hampshire during our last vacation, and it was beautiful. I want to see the rest of the country."

LITTLE SPITFIRE

By Jean Randall

Chapter 22 HOME SWEET HOME "At first I thought it was simply to get Adelaide this vacation; she does need a little rest from us, poor old girl!" said Mac. "But now you've got her off, something's worrying you. I sat down in the library hearing you pace about as long as I could bear it. Want to tell me about it, Brenda?"

Monday morning Brenda lingered nervously at the breakfast table, waiting for Isobel to summon Grenadine and give her the orders for the day. That was Adelaide's habit. Daily she indulged in a monologue which ran something like this: "Well, Grenadine, I suppose we're going to have to eat again today; dear, dear, I wish somebody would invent a new animal; seems as if all the old ones have been used so many times we're all tired of them. Let's see. Better start with dinner, that's the hardest. Steak—no, we had steak last night. A roast, then. But I said I wouldn't have roast before Sunday, meat is so terribly high. Chops? M'm; yes, I guess chops. Tell the butcher to cut them thicker than he did the last ones. And Grenadine, try not to cook them till they're like bits of wood, won't you?"

"Vegetables. Well, there are always potatoes, thank goodness. Creamed? No, better not creamed. Baked, then. What? Oh, dear, oh dear! Yes, we did have them baked last night with the steak. Grenadine, couldn't you just for once suggest something?"

Amusedly Brenda wondered how long this sort of thing would go on if an interruption did not invariably put an end to it. Sometimes it was the telephone, sometimes it was Miss Ormond who rose very early and began to crave the society of others soon after breakfast, sometimes it was Grenadine herself who in a flash of unusual inspiration suggested a tentative menu.

Remembering all this, she sat tensely waiting for Isobel to summon the cook. But Isobel rose and started upstairs in the most leisurely fashion imaginable.

"Isobel!" Brenda's voice was panicky. "Aren't you going to plan dinner?" Isobel gave her a quiet smile. "The meals for three days ahead are planned, and the day's order was in before you were downstairs. Grenadine has a typed menu with full directions—not that I intend to trust to her judgment in the matter, however—in the kitchen."

Brenda almost staggered with relief. This did sound like efficiency!

Pure Magic She shut herself into her room and tried to apply herself to the day's square, but subdued sounds from below kept her from concentrating on her task. When she was called down to lunch, she looked about her in astonishment. Dining room and living room had undergone slight but important changes.

"What have you done, Isobel?" she faltered. "Nothing that can't be undone in a short time if Adelaide objects." Isobel viewed the work of her hand (and of Grenadine's) proudly. The big wire plant stand filled with languishing geraniums and ivy which shut off most of the light in the two east windows of the dining room had been moved into a south window in the library across the hall. The listless lace curtains had been replaced by crisp dotted swiss. The dull surface of the big mahogany table shone with wax. The dining room looked airy and inviting especially as Isobel's clever hand had set a bowl of golden calendulas where they drew the morning sun.

In the living room, the same hand had been at work. Chairs had forsaken their stiff parade about the room and gathered themselves cozily about a table, or grouped in twos and threes. For the first time since Brenda had been in the house the numerous magazines lay in trim piles, the newspapers were folded and lay ready to hand. The mantelpiece had lost its confusion of unrelated ornaments and was serenely beautiful with a pair of bayberry candles in shining brass holders, the matching bowl between holding rusty chrysanthemums.

"It's magic," Brenda gasped, glancing about. "Pure magic!" The new housekeeper shook her head, and hurried away upstairs. Monday was always a hard day for both Mac and Eric. They came in a little apprehensively that evening. Adelaide had her limitations but after all she was a housekeeper with years of experience behind her.

Eric eyed the changes in the living room with patent mingling. Mac was more appreciative, complimenting Isobel warmly on the increased comfort, but he too glanced anxiously now and then toward the dining room. Presently Eric sat up with a jerk. His nose had caught an odor which made him remember that he'd had no luncheon that day.

At six-thirty exactly the grinning Grenadine announced dinner. And what a dinner it was!

Blow me down. I bet I had a dozen when I was a kid. I became so excited I couldn't talk, and when I tried to say, "See this dent in my forehead!" he almost clapped his hand over my mouth and hissed, "Shhhh, do you want to drive me out of business?" He said, "I spend half my time making speeches to women's clubs, convincing people there's no harm in air guns. It's against the law to sell them in New York. There are four or five other towns where they are barred. But they aren't dangerous. Not any more."

Well, there he was, descendant of old Cap Huff, the son of the son of the man who manufactured the first air rifle. And five minutes before that he was, to me, merely an unknown young man, one of the seven million floating about New York. That's the way it goes. That's New York. You pass a guy on the street, and you never know. We said, "How does anybody ever begin to manufacture air guns?"

"Our family," said Cass, "made iron windmills. A couple of fellows in the shop had been experimenting with a new fangled gun. One day they brought it in for the old man to see. He went outside with it, and shot it. His eyes nearly popped. He turned around and said, 'Boys, this is a daisy.' If that hadn't happened, who knows I might be selling linoleum today."

O. Henry once said that everybody you pass on the street has a story to tell, if you can only dig it out. There was a guy who knew people figures around the dial. The dots of phosphorus on the two hands, however, are Kosty's own idea. "to tell time at night."

TEXAN INJURED BY HOLDUP MAN

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 7 (AP)—Police sought a bludgeoning holdup man today whose blows paralyzed the vocal chords of his victim, Jack A. Kenny, 35, Dayton, Texas.

Kenny staggered into a hotel lobby and collapsed in a chair. Police got only labored gasps in answer to their questions, and finally handed Kenny paper and pencil.

"Held up. Robber of $35," Kenny scrawled.

Hospital authorities said that a blow in back of Kenny's head had affected not only his vocal chords, but also had partly paralyzed his body from the hips down.

Kenny is visiting his uncle, Postmaster John D. Kenny of suburban Fayetteville.

LITTLE SPITFIRE

By Jean Randall

"What is this heavenly stuff Isobel?" Brenda demanded. "I've never eaten anything like it before in my life!"

"Stew" was the demure reply. "Plain Irish stew well, perhaps not exactly plain since I flavored it a bit myself. You see, I want to keep the bills down while Adelaide is away."

Keep the bills down! The boarders stared at one another in amazement. If to serve, in addition to the delicious stew, delicate young beets, a big bowl of salad whose leaves glistened with a dressing, tantalizingly good, crisp fresh rolls, and fig pudding with hard sauce—if to serve all these to perfection was the way to keep the bills down, then heaven be praised for economy!

Isobel mounted on triumph as the week went on. Gone were the slightly rumpled tablecloths and in their stead were fringed oblongs of gay pink and white material. "Bought at the five and ten with what I've saved on the grocery bills," said the housekeeper nonchalantly.

"Mac, what do you know?" Eric demanded one evening. "My laundry has all been put away—where it belongs, mind you!—and not a button's missing, not a sock has a hole. Home was never like this!"

Mac's grateful glance went to Isobel who had flushed becomingly. Eric was loudest in his praises to the new regime but it was Mac who showed his appreciation in tangible ways. Mac brought Isobel a box of the chocolate peppermint of which she was fond. Mac appointed himself official correspondent to Adelaide, wording his letters tactfully so that she neither worried about her household's welfare, nor experienced a pang at her young successor's achievements.

"Well, that's one thing I've started along the right track anyway," the little schemer consoled herself. She had need of some consolation. It was undeniably Isobel's week. Both men accorded her the warm praise of those who had been uncomplaining without entirely realizing it, and now were supremely comfortable.

Brenda soon could take a quiet pride in efforts of her own. "though I can't serve 'em on the table twice a day as Isobel does," she thought, sighing audibly.

The greenhouse on the Abernathy farm was in process of construction. Ned Harrow telephoned her triumphantly that he had got Ab to listen to reason on the subject.

"How?" Brenda marveled, and indeed she did wonder how so difficult a feat had been accomplished.

"Just as you suggested," he said gratefully. "I had some blueprints made and I got a list of horrid prickly plants that some Chicago expert recommended. I wired him for advice. Then I took the whole lot to Ab and he went mad over 'em. I let her rave a while and then proposed that the twins take me into partnership, they to supply the land, I the cash for scientific experiment." He chuckled. "It was the experiment part that got 'em, though they think it was the scientific. Anyway I came away and let Elaine work on that dumb bunny of an Ab. It took her two days, but either he fell for a particularly hideous and warty cactus which—mark you this, Brenda!—cost six hundred dollars for one measly plant!—or the self-regulating heating system in the greenhouse won his heart. At any rate, I'm a partner in the firm of Abernathy and Harrow, and you can bet your sweet life I'm not going to be a silent one either!"

Brenda praised him enthusiastically and turned away from the telephone in a glow of self-approval.

It faded, however, when she considered how badly matters were going with Hugh Saltus. Almost daily he called her up and commanded, or entreated, as his mood might be, that she meet him behind the deserted house and tell him over and over again what she knew about Linda.

Brenda knew the story of their quarrel now. Hugh had insisted on telling her; pleaded that it would do him good to pour it out to a sympathetic soul.

The Effects Of Liquor Cannot Be Repealed

People frequently say "Let the liquor business alone and it will hang itself," or "Let the liquor situation become so bad the people of their own accord will destroy it." We have often heard these suggestions made by ministers.

There is only one thing wrong with such statements: the liquor traffic just isn't destroyed that way. Evils are never self-corrective or self-destructive. They get worse except as they are exposed and combated by groups opposed to them.

Institutions like individuals, do not commit self-destruction when they are prospering. The liquor business is tremendously prosperous. By our indifference and inactivity the liquor traffic has been permitted to forge stronger shackles and more of them until we find ourselves in the iron grip of its liquor traffic.

If we are to permit the liquor situation to become even worse recruits must be furnished. Are we willing to offer more of our youth as possible victims? Far too many have already been led into alcoholic addiction. How many more homes are to be wrecked before the situation becomes bad enough? How many more innocent lives are to be snuffed out on our highways by drinking drivers before we will rise up in revolt against this unholy traffic?

The only way in which the liquor traffic does help to hang itself is that its excesses and horrible results and fruits seen in its victims should serve to arouse and stir the indignation of all good people. In this sense the liquor traffic weaves the rope which we must use to hang the traffic. (Submitted by and published at the request of the local WCTU.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards have returned from Otton where they went to visit A. C. Brigrance.
