Needed: $25,000 for Remodeling Hospital

At a sum approximating $25,000 or $30,000 will be needed to remodel and adequately equip the Community Hospital was in following a meeting of hospital association members and others interested, held Monday night at the McLean High school.

This figure was arrived at by Fred Shadid, chief of staff of the Elk City, Okla., cooperative hospital, who spoke to the group and urged them to continue with the project.

Shadid, accompanied by W. H. Blocker, vice president of the Oklahoma National Bank of Elk City, was here to explain the need for the remodeling of the hospital here can be a reality.

The visiting doctor emphasized that the $50 membership fee in the hospital would not be sufficient to remodel and equip the building, due to the extremely high costs of construction work of hospital equipment.

It was pointed out that a minimum of $25,000 or $30,000 would be needed, and that it would have to be raised through donations, loans, from those people in the area who are financially able to contribute.

When the building is remodeled and equipped, a doctor can be lined up to run the institution, Dr. Shadid said. He pointed out that the Elk City institution would be able to obtain a doctor suitable for the hospital, and practically guaranteed that one can be brought here.

The two to be chosen will serve terms of three years.

Candidates for the school board must be filed ten days before the date of the election, that deadline to fall this year on March 23, the business manager said. Names may be filed with him at his office in the City Hall.

Tiger Boxers Win Four Bouts, Lose Eight to Canadian Team

McLean's boxing team captured only four of 13 bouts last Thursday night when the Canadian Wildcats paid a visit here, but the visitors still realized that there was more than one man in the ring at a time.

The Tigers took four bouts to Canadian's eight, while one fight resulted in a draw.

Johny Vineyard, fighting King of Canadian, registered a TKO over his opponent in the last and most exciting bout of the evening. King went down for the count twice, only to be saved by the bell at the end of the first round. He did not come out for the second round, and Vineyard was given the fight on a TKO.

In an exhibition bout, Vick Shelton of McLean scored a clean knockout in the first round over Marvin Henderson, also of McLean.

- 75-pounds: George Rallsback decided Hawks of Canadian.

Fire Marshal Urges Citizens to Observe Clean-Up Week

Citizens of McLean were urged to think about and plan to actively participate in Spring Clean-Up Week by Marvin Hall, state insurance commissioner, and A. Spark, city fire marshal.

Fire losses for 1947 were the highest in the history of the state, he said. Nearly 550 persons died from fires and almost 21 million dollars was destroyed in property.

"McLean suffered a property fire loss of $5,744.18 and no persons lost their lives as a result of fires here last year," Fire Marshal Sparks stated.

LES TALK
By LESTER

Recently I have read a lot of publicity given to the N. D. A.—that stands for the National Dunking Association. This group of erstwhile citizens has, for a long time, been endeavoring to get the gentle art of dunking recognized by such authorities on manners, etc., as Emily Post, and Emily has finally given in and recognized dunking.

Emily says (and anything she says is recognized as authority) that dunking is perfectly all right, providing it is done with finesse. Dunking, however, is still to be limited to doughnuts, so I guess we will have to eliminate dunking fresh bread (which I think is delicious) in milk.

The N. D. A. has issued rules and regulations on dunking, and here is that association's points on "How to Dunk":

1. Tuck a large napkin under your chin to guard against the splashes a beginner is bound to make. Later, when you're a master of the dunker's technique, you won't require the napkin.
2. Break the donut in half. Dunking a complete donut is rude, and also hampers your finesse.
3. Grasp the donut gently between thumb and forefinger. The other three fingers should point skyward as daintily as possible. Enjoy a moment of glorious anicipation by hovering the donut above the cup for an instant.

4. Dip the donut in the beverage, and with wrist and elbow relaxed, move the donut in circular and rhythmic motions.

5. Research has proved that two and a half seconds is the ideal length of time for immersion. Just long enough to get the full flavor of the liquid, not so long that the donut is impaired.

6. Raise the donut out of the cup, but let the excess liquid fall back into the cup.

7. Now for that moment of sheer delight—with a graceful upward sweep bring the donut to your mouth. Tenderly, but firmly devour the donut. Many dunkers enjoy this moment of ecstasy by closing their eyes, and shutting out every sense but the sense of taste.

8. Repeat steps one to seven until all donuts in sight are but a pleasant memory.

Now that I have outlined the proper procedure for dunking donuts, I think we should organize a local chapter of the N. D. A. Of course, we would probably have to get the national association's approval, but I think that it could be done.

I am also thinking that it would be well if we met each morning at 9:30 on the nose. I guess we will have to get together with Earl Graham, and see if he won't give us a cut rate on donuts and coffee—for our membership is bound to be large. If Earl is non-cooperative, then maybe Roger Powers would condescend to put in a supply of donuts and we could lap up his coffee, too. Anyway, some plan can be worked out, for with the large membership we should certainly furnish as much business stimulation as the coffee and donuts would stimulate us.

As for members, there are many prospects. Here's just a few that I can think of right off-hand: Lester Dysart, George Graham, C. W. Bogan, Bill Howard, Emory Crockett, Bob Sheddick, Johnnie Back, Marvin Hindman, Georgia Lee (women are welcome to the association, you see) Ruel Smith, Monty Montgomery, Lufe Smallwood, Roy Kiser, John Cooper.

Wayne McIlroy, Ernest Erwin, Dee Coleman (he could be a sort of honorary member so if he didn't get to town each morning by 9:30, he could take his at any time), Clee Meharg, Charlie Carpenter (he could also be an honorary member), Roger Powers and Earl Graham (regardless of where we meet), Vera Powers, Martha Campbell, Logan Cummings (he'd just have to arrange his school work in order to be present), Kid McCoy (maybe Mrs. McCoy would let him come into town occasionally to meet with us, Earl Stubblefield, Guy Hibler, Milt Williams, and goodness knows how many more we could add to this list.

Of course, we will simply have to rule out Joe Hembree, for who ever heard of dunking a donut in a coke?

Yesir, it looks like a local chapter of the N. D. A. would be a wonderful success in McLean. It could even be incorporated as a part of the recreation program, for what could be more recreating than dunking the ecstasy described as having?

I realize that if you have read this far, you haven't learned much. But if you did read this far, did you for one moment think of the frightening thought of a possible war in the near future? If you had your mind off that or any troubles for that long a time, then it was worth reading. Don't you agree?

S. R. Jones, in McLean 41 Years, Recalls City's Appearance in '07

(Editor's Note: Last Saturday marked the 41st anniversary of S. R. Jones' residence in McLean. On that date he began to think of McLean as it was 41 years ago, and jotted down the following information. It is being published to acquaint newcomers with the old McLean, and to refresh the memories of the old-timers.)

On March 13, 1907, 41 years ago, I arrived in McLean, then a small town of about 400 people. Located near the center of a section of land, this section was enclosed with wire fence on four sides, and not a single road out, except gate openings at different places which would allow entry into the pastures through which winding trail roads would lead you to the different farm or ranch homes.

The old windmill and cistern which were located where the red and green light now hangs was the most prominent thing in McLean, for a number of people had to carry their water from that to supply their home needs, although it was several blocks distance.

The concrete block building where Powers Drug is located, as I remember, was the only what we may call fire-proof building on the street. All the others were of a very sorry cheap frame construction.

My first impression was: wonderful country, sunshine and lots of it that winter, and it was hot. I came here from southern Illinois, after having spent seven years in a department store, in a low altitude, with lots of rain, mud, sash, and sickness. I was so attracted by this warm bright weather that I made a two-day horseback ride with a brother-in-law on a ranch, and, to my surprise and sorrow, I found that my face, lips, and ears were cooked by the hot sun and wind.

During this 41 years I have watched with interest the changes trails to paved roads, horses and wagons to cars, coal and oil fires and lights to gas and electric power and lights, small frame box houses to modern homes, one small frame school to our present schools, small frame church buildings to ours of present.

There wasn't much entertainment in the old days, but the main event in the way of entertainment was bronc bustin' every Saturday afternoon. And it was real bronc bustin' too.

The people who lived here then were of the finest type, and though many have gone, many moved in and grew up here. After these years I can still look out at our people and say: McLean people are of the type that makes me proud to say they are my neighbors and friends; my home town and community, none better.

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Lady Bryant last week-end were Mrs. Sam Ellis and Jane Ann of Raton, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Darsey and Jeanine, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kennedy and Jimmie, of Dumas, Mr. and Mrs. Truitt Stewart and Paula Rae, and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Connell and Malcomb of McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Callahan visited in Shamrock Friday.

Sons Charles and Bobby, Johnny Sagner, Sammy Wood, and Mrs. H. H. Hutchins of Pampa went to Regdon, Okla., Sunday to visit an uncle.

EASTER was originally a pagan festival. "There is no indication of the observance of the Easter festival in the New Testament." (Britannica). From this immoral and licentious heathen worship has the celebration of Easter been borrowed, by men. Is it wrong? See Gal. 4:9-11.

We are once more sunshine happy. A Christian has nothing bad in his heart.

You can never win the Christian race with sin in your life.

I don't know what Adam's sins were but they seem to have cluttered up his offspring considerably.

So long as you have faith in God and yourself, and the many good people all around you, you need not worry about old Satan taking things over.

God sends the snow white like wool.

Reading the Bible is fine, and living it is better.

Believing in Christ is essential to Salvation, so is a life of good deeds.

The Bible is a storehouse of knowledge, it reads with a free open mind. If you are sinful in your heart, having your name on a church roll will do you no good.

If our young folk are on the road to perdition, they are only following the road markers set up by the oldsters.

Words like the following keep this column going: I read your snapshots and find in them a cheerful note. Keep right on the firing line and make the way easier to travel.

You must be true in what you do and take a stand for God and right.

A life of sin will never win a home in glory, a mansion bright.

Alfred McMurtry of Clarendon was a business visitor in McLean Monday.

SAFETY HINTS

There are Emily Post rules of etiquette for the highway, just as there are for the drawing-room, according to W. J. Elliott, chief of the Texas Highway Patrol.

"And traffic rules not only make for gracious living, they make for living—period!" he said. "No driver is a good driver unless he knows and obeys the traffic laws, to insure his own safety as well as the safety of other drivers and pedestrians."

Chief Elliott pointed out that nearly half of all accidents in business and residential areas involve two vehicles at an intersection, and half of these are the result of two vehicles entering at right angles intent on going straight through.

He said that statistics of the National Safety Council show 15 per cent of all drivers in fatal city accidents failed to yield the right-of-way, the most frequent violation.

The Texas Highway Patrol is cooperating in a nationwide "Know and Obey Traffic Laws" program, and Captain Polk Ivy of the Amarillo district listed the following facts to remember about right-of-way at intersections:

1. A car already in the intersection has the right-of-way over cars approaching. You must give way to any car already there as you come up to the intersection.

2. If two cars arrive at an intersection at about the same time, the one on the right has the right-of-way, and the other driver must give way to him.

3. Slow down before you reach the intersection in order to be ready for a car on the cross street. Don't wait to slow down after you reach the corner—it may be too late.

4. Despite the rule, don't insist on your right-of-way at the risk of an accident. Humility is a small price to pay for safety.

5. If there are stop signs at the intersection, or if one vehicle is turning left, special rules are applicable.

CAMPAIGN YEAR WARNING

THERE ARE two aspects of the coming political campaign—yes, it's almost that time again—about which the public should be informed. One is the campaign newspaper placed free in every rural box and tossed onto every urban front porch in Texas. Second is the nailing of candidates' pictures on poles of utility companies.

Newsprint is extremely scarce. Editors, who day after day have to capsule the news and turn down advertising, don't want to see newsprint wasted. Neither do their readers and advertisers. Candidates buying paper, in the black markets or otherwise, to blanket the state with their blatant self-appraisals, reduce even further the short supply of paper that should be used for the printing of unbiased news.

Smart candidates are realizing that self-produced outpourings such as those we see in campaign sheets create only a reaction of disgust. On the other hand, they are learning that messages placed in a legitimate paper carry weight because of the responsibility of the publisher who works to protect his readers from misinformation and libelous statements. Responsibility is important to thinking readers.

Have you ever seen a utility repairman's spike slip, as he climbed a pole, leaving him hanging by his safety belt? The candidate who drives the nail which a workman's spike may hit, is guilty of more than just mutilating property and creating a public eyesore. He is setting a trap that may cost a life.

In addition, he is insulting the intelligence of all voters who pass. He implies that they base their vote upon a fleeting glance at a face on a pole rather than upon an honest evaluation of his qualifications.

Rev., Mrs. Brown of Wellington Have 50th Anniversary

Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Brown were honored with an open house at their home in Wellington Sunday afternoon, March 7, celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

In the receiving line, Rev. and Mrs. Brown and their oldest and youngest daughters, Mrs. Bessie Stephens and Mrs. Bobbie Rives, greeted the guests. Mrs. Billy Brock, another daughter presided at the guest book, and Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. Tom Williams displayed the gifts.

Sharing duties in serving the refreshments were two daughters' Mrs. Myrtle Inscore and Mrs. Ozella DeMasiers; and two granddaughters, Mrs. Betty Billeiter and Mrs. Marsena Immel.

Bouquets of lilies, yellow roses, and jonquils decorated the rooms, and the bridal cake centered the dining table. Suspended from the chandelier were golden bells with white satin bows and streamers. Two of the streamers fell to the table and one was attached to the gift, a diamond solitaire, for Mrs. Brown, and the other to the gift, a Masonic ring with chip diamond, for Mr. Brown, from their children.

Four candles surrounded the cake, which was wreathed with acacias, and tea napkins were used with "Russie and Ed, 1898-1948," in gold print.

Mrs. Brown was attired in a black dress and wore a yellow rose corsage, and Rev. Brown wore a yellow boutonniere. Members of the house party wore corsages of yellow carnations.

Rev. and Mrs. Brown were married March 3, 1898, in Montague. Mrs. Brown had been born and reared in Montague, and Rev. Brown was born in Missouri and moved to Montague with his father in the fall of 1888.

After attending Hardin-Estimons, farming in Eastland County was the occupation of Rev. Brown until he entered the ministry in 1919. His first pastorate was at Mobeetie, and he later held pastorates in Seale, Hunt, Ingraham, Luders, Metzron, Richland Springs, Denworth, Loco, Dodson, and at present is with the Baptist Church in Little.

Rev. and Mrs. Brown had eight children, five daughters and three sons, one of whom died three years ago. They have 19 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Members of the house party were Mrs. Bessie Stephens, Woodland, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Brock, Chillicothe; Mrs. Myrtle Inscore, Sacramento, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. DeMasiers, and Mrs. Bobbie Rives, Kerrville; the couple's daughters and their husbands. Also Mrs. Brantley Brown of McLean, a daughter-in-law;

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Billeiter, Kerrville; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Immel, McLean; Jerry and Gene Brock, Chillicothe, grandchildren; and great-grandchildren, Rex, Linden, and Sharon Immel, and Davie Billeiter.

Guests from McLean, Wheeler, Pampa, Loco, Amarillo, Childress, Lute, and Wellington called during the afternoon.

Wanda Beezley, C. C. Fenoglio Jr. Are Wed in Pampa

In a twilight service on Thursday, February 26 Wanda Campbell Beezley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Campbell of Pampa, became the bride of Charles C. Fenoglio Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Fenoglio of Pampa. The ceremony was held in the First Presbyterian Church and Dr. Douglas Nelson officiated.

The double-ring ceremony was read before the candlelit altar, which was banked with gladioli and palms. A medley of nuptial music was played throughout the service by Mrs. H. A. Yoder, organist. Miss Marjorie Caylor, soloist, sang "Because," by Teschemacher-D'Hardelet, and "O, Promise Me," by De Koven.

Miss Naneen Campbell attended her sister as bridesmaid. Tom Haggard, uncle of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Don Rochelle and R. R. Rochelle.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a cocoa brown gabardine suit with sable-mist accessories. Her hat was an original design of mixed fresh flowers with ruff and band of white maline. Her colonial type bouquet was matching except for the detachable gardenia corsage forming the center, and it was carried with a white Bible more than one hundred years old which belongs to the groom's family. White satin streamers and stephanotis completed the bouquet.

Miss Campbell wore a dusty rose suit with sable-mist accessories and an original flower hat with blue maline trim, and carried a matching colonial bouquet with blue streamers.

The bride's mother wore a gray suit with white accent and a garnet rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy suit with white accent and her corsage was of garnet roses.

An informal reception for members of the families and close friends of the bridal couple followed at the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was laid with Venetian lace over a yellow cloth and the three-tiered wedding cake centered on a reflector encircled by an arrangement of white maline and stephanotis intermingled. Miss Freddie Ann Fenoglio of Robstown presided at the bride's book which served as the guest register. Mrs. Marcella Dickerson presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Haggard served the cake after the bride and groom had cut the traditional first piece.

Mrs. Fenoglio attended schools in McLean and Pampa. She was a charter member of the social club, Las Cresas, in Pampa and at the time of her marriage was employed in the office of her father. Mr. Fenoglio attended schools in White Deer, Pampa, and Robstown and recently returned from four years service in the United States Marine Corps. After a short wedding trip the young couple is now at home at 205 1/2 N. Frost in Pampa.

Palm— SUNDAY

By Courtesy
First Presbyterian Church

The 21st of March Christian churches throughout the world will observe Palm Sunday. The church commemorates on this day the Triumphal entry into Jerusalem of Jesus of Nazareth.

A Triumphal entry was not a strange event. Caesar had entered Rome many times in triumph. It was the manner in which He entered which makes this entry different. Caesar always entered Rome impressively, riding upon a fine horse, he and his legions dressed in their military finery. This custom is practiced even today in the United States. Our American army has had its triumphal march down Broadway, twice in 25 years. These are the entries of the military.

Jesus, in contrast, entered Jerusalem unarmed, dressed in His usual clothes, riding upon the lowliest of animals, an ass. His entrance was greeted as enthusiastically as Caesar, for He was hailed as the Messiah, the long-expected deliverer. Palm leaves were spread in His path, people sang His praises, "Hosanna, to the Son of David, Hosanna in the Highest."

Ere the week was out, a crown of thorns and a cross were His. Many of the same voices that cheered Him were later raised in the cry, "Crucify Him." Jesus had not been understood. He had not come to set up a temporal kingdom, He had come to establish a timeless kingdom, He had not come to live in palaces, He had come to live in the hearts of men. He had not come to live in pomp and power with men, but He had come to die for men.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne DeVore and daughter Pat spent the weekend in Gage, Okla. Pat remained in Gage for a longer visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Grace DeVore.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mason of Wheeler and Mrs. Dean Johnston of Borger were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Humphreys.

A lady phoned the president of a large department store at 2 a. m. After a long ringing, a sleepy, gruff voice answered.

"This is Miss Gruntled," said the lady in sugary tones. "I just had to call you personally to tell you that the hat I bought at your store last week is simply stunning."

"I'm delighted to hear it," yawned the president. "But why, madam, why call me in the middle of the night about a hat you bought last week?"

"Because," she replied sweetly, "your truck just delivered it."

Three Sources To Get Trees

When planting fruit, nut, shade or ornamental, or timber producing trees, good stock is important, says Dr. Michel Afanasiev, Oklahoma A. and M. College forester.

Generally there are three sources from which nursery stock may be secured. (1) From a commercial nursery—contact the nurseryman first, advises Dr. Afanasiev, he may have just the kind of trees you want. It is always advisable to purchase trees that were grown in the vicinity of the permanent site; they are more adapted to the climate. There is a good supply of planting stock within the state, explains Dr. Afanasiev.

(2) From the Division of Forestry, Capitol Building, Oklahoma City. Trees may be secured from this source for planting wind-breaks, shelterbelts, post lots, erosion control plantings, wood lots, timbered areas and overflow land. These trees cannot be used for ornamental purposes and cannot be resold with the roots, but products may be grown from it and sold.

(3) Wildings. Some species may be found growing wild along creeks, in the field, and in timbered areas. When the proper species of tree can be found, they are acceptable, normally they do not have as well developed root systems as nursery-grown trees. Small trees from one to five feet in height should be used instead of larger trees and particular care must be used in digging and resetting wild plants, Dr. Afanasiev points out.

Weather or Not, Spring Officially Starts Saturday

Spring, that portion of the astronomical year which begins with the vernal equinox and ends with the summer solstice, will officially get underway Saturday, March 20.

It should be pointed out that the spring season starts at that time, and not necessarily the spring weather.

Anyway, spring does begin Saturday, and Easter Sunday will be March 28, earlier this year than usual. Whether spring clothes will be suitable for Easter Sunday wearing remains to be seen.
