

Five Per Cent Salary Tax May Be Levied For Arms

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—Congressional fiscal experts, casting about for new revenue sources to help pay for the $7,000,000,000 British aid program, were reported considering today the possibility of imposing a 5 per cent tax on the weekly pay of most of the nation's workers.

If such a 5 per cent "earned income" tax, should be levied, that amount would be deducted for the government each week from the pay envelopes of a large proportion of job-holders. Thus a worker now receiving $40 weekly would get, instead, $38 and a tax receipt for $2. Small wage earners—possibly those receiving $25 weekly or less—would be exempted.

Although it was emphasized that this proposal was merely in the discussion stage and might never mature, responsible individuals who have been studying the plan said they had received estimates that a 5 per cent levy of this nature would raise $3,500,000,000 yearly.

Acknowledging that the proposal might arouse a storm of protest from wage earners, advocates said it would have to be accompanied by commensurate increases in taxes upon incomes from investments, rentals and other sources so that there could be no discrimination.

It would entail, they pointed out also, a reversal of previous administration policy of easing taxes on wage earners as much as possible and for that reason was expected to elicit little support at the treasury or White House.

O'Daniel Seeks Anti-Strike Law

AUSTIN, March 13 (AP)—Efforts to pass immediately a bill prohibiting strikes and lockouts were made in the house of representatives today shortly after the bill was personally submitted by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

The house refused to adjourn or recess although several speakers urged delay to permit public hearings.

AUSTIN, March 13 (AP)—Asserting that any labor violence during the current national defense emergency was entirely out of place, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel asked the legislature today for quick enactment of a law prohibiting strikes or lockouts in defense industries without 60 days advance notice.

The governor, who had been in Corpus Christi yesterday for dedication of the large new naval air base there, went before the legislature personally to deliver the message.

The recommended bill also would prohibit the use of more than two pickets at any one plant and make unlawful "the use of force and violence, or threats thereof, to prevent any person from engaging in any lawful vocation."

"I am wholly opposed," O'Daniel declared, "to those academic all-birds who seek to show by scientific percentages that only a small percentage of our national defense factories are idle on account of strikes. I am reminded of the old saying that:

"For the want of a nail the shoe was lost,
For the want of a shoe the rider was lost,
For the want of a horse the rider was lost,
For the want of a rider the battle was lost."

The address won a standing ovation when the governor concluded: House and senate members and the gallery audience had listened intently.

O'Daniel said that "we owe a duty to these noble mothers of Texas and other states whose sons are steadily advancing toward the front."

"I do not intend," he stated, "that they shall be short a gun or a drop of oil, that gun, or anything they need, be it only one-thousandth or less of our whole national defense production. If this is an all-out defense program, let us quit quibbling about percentages, let us make it 100 per cent, with no industries shut down which are directly or indirectly contributing to our national defense program."

Texas Gets Small New Naval Base

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The house appropriations committee disclosed today that Sabine Pass, Texas, had been selected as the site of a naval base, from which small defense vessels such as motor torpedo boats, patrol boats and submarine chasers would operate.

Hearings on the naval appropriations bill, introduced today in the house, disclosed also that four additional sites for such bases yet to be picked in the Louisiana-Texas Gulf Coast area.

McCasland Marks Up High Score

TAMPA, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Harry W. Reeves, one of the ace marksmen of the Detroit police force, yesterday captured the 32 calibre crown in the National mid-winter pistol championship at the Tampa police pistol range, when he had an aggregate of 287, a total 13 points higher than the 1940 winner.

Other high scorers included L. F. McCasland, Big Spring, Tex., 284.

COWS RESPOND TO MUSIC AS SUNG BY LAWRENCE TIBBETT

SEATTLE, March 13 (AP)—Lawrence Tibbett met an amateur music lover today who agreed with him that classical music has charm for cows.

Or possibly it should be chronicled, in reverse, that the amateur music lover found a famous baritone who agreed with his theory on music and the dairy business.

Arthur John Herbert, professional chauffeur for Tibbett on the latter's appearance here for a concert, told the singer of the ecstatic reception of symphonic music by cows being milked at a large farm near here.

"Why, Mr. Tibbett," said Herbert, "when they'd listen to a Bach air they'd simply give and give and give! Heaven only knows what they'd produce if they could hear you sing the Largo al Factotum from the Barber of Seville!"

Tibbett warmed up with a hearty guffaw. "I know just what you mean," he responded. "About eight years ago I was on a ranch near San Jose, Calif. One evening on the ranch I burst into song. Cows were grazing all around on a hillside.

"As I sang, they stopped eating and turned toward me. One, a heifer with large, luminous eyes, stepped out of the herd and moved toward me. It kept coming toward me and I kept right on singing. It was a clear case of love at first sight.

"No kidding, cows respond to music."

Roosevelt And Defense Heads Discuss Labor

New Federal Board May Arise To Handle Problem

By The Associated Press
President Roosevelt conferred today with Secretary Perkins, and William S. Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, director of the office of production management, on defense labor problems.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, told reporters the White House conference was called for a "further study on the question of labor in relation to national defense," but he said he could not amplify that statement.

The president recently suggested that the administration might set up a labor board to adjust all labor problems of major significance arising in connection with the defense program.

No details of what they had suggested were announced but Miss Perkins told reporters that the idea of mediation board was taking "definite" shape.

Hillman said several propositions were under consideration, including boards with 11, 7 or 5 members. He added that no names of prospective members had been brought into the conference with the president, which he described as "just a discussion of principles."

Another major development today, in New York, was rejection by the nation's soft coal operators of CIO union demands for a blanket $1-a-day wage increase. The operators proposed that the present contract, which covers 450,000 miners, be extended another two years.

The present contract, expiring March 31, provides $6 a day for miners in the north and $5.90 in the south.

Firemen Battle $3,000,000 Fire In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, March 13 (AP)—An estimated $3,000,000 worth of foodstuffs and choice whisky burned in the biggest fire in recent years here which today left a block-long section of the Bienville-Warehouse Corporation, Inc., a mass of charred debris and fallen brick walls.

It required intensive efforts of 350 firemen and 35 fire companies three hours to bring the spectacular blaze under control and save buildings on surrounding blocks from destruction. Many of them were damaged by heat and flames which at times leaped wide streets to the dense warehouse section of the old French quarter.

The fire burned all night, and was still smoldering at mid-morning, while firemen roped off the section and continued to play streams upon burning sacks of sugar and fallen debris.

Among foodstuffs destroyed were a revised estimated 200,000 sacks of sugar of 100 pounds each valued at about $4.75 per sack, together with a half million dollars worth of whisky and large stores of coffee, rice, canned goods and cylinders of gas used in air conditioning.

Eight firemen were slightly injured in fighting the blaze.

City General Fund Balance Shows Drop

Payments for land pending sale of the $25,000 airport bond issue hampered the city's general fund cash balance down to $1,413 at the end of February, the regular monthly report of H. W. Whitney, city comptroller, showed Thursday.

At the end of the month a total of $22,117 of the general fund had been tied up in the land purchase in order to have required space ready for the CAA-WPA expansion program at the port. Sale of the bonds will mean reimbursement of the fund in the amount of purchases for the port.

General fund revenue from all sources reached $15,469 for February, of which $45 was in current taxes, $1,688 in delinquents and $1,042 in paving accounts. The latter item cut the outstanding paving balance to $25,355.

Water billed to consumers amounted to $5,668, a decline of $13 from January and $568 under the amount for February of last year.

Expenditures, exclusive of the airport land purchases, included $1,021 transferred to the interest and sinking fund, and $19,177 for operating purposes, and capital outlay, being $3,989 less than the budget allotment for the month.

For the first 11 months of the fiscal year expenditures aggregated $244,978, under the budget by $9,860. Thus, it was almost a certainty that the budget would be undernrun by a substantial amount when the fiscal year ends March 31.

For the month the airport showed the only sizeable over-run, it being $1,220 above allotments for the period. For the year the fund was under. The NYA center expense of $335 was over since no budget appropriation for this purpose had been made.

One-Armed Man Saves Self After Leg Broken While Alone In Woods

BLACK DIAMOND, Wash., March 13 (AP)—A dramatic story of how a one-armed man lay in the woods with a broken leg, fearing death in a fire he had started to draw attention, was related here today.

The man was John Crivello, 30. He fell while patrolling a water line. A pistol in his pocket discharged, breaking his leg.

With his lone arm, he made a

Air Offensive By English Is War's Largest

New Types Bombers Probably American, Take Part In Raids

LONDON, March 13 (AP)—Swarming over the continent from Boulogne to Berlin and from the low countries to Norway, the RAF has launched its greatest offensive of the war. The British declared they had been freed of worry over plane replacements by passage of the United States aid to Britain bill.

British planes sped across the English Channel this afternoon to follow up "very successful" raids yesterday and last night on Berlin, industrial plants at Bremen, naval shipbuilding yards at Hamburg, airdromes in Norway and the Netherlands, and at Ostend, Belgium.

With new and more powerful bombers thrown into the assault, a well-placed source declared today that as a result of passage of the British aid bill, "we now are able to launch a really offensive war."

Britain, he added, is in a position to open up with everything she has because she does not have to worry now about where she is to get more war equipment or how she is going to pay for it.

"We were not able to risk exhausting our reserves before because we had quite frankly reached the point where we just didn't have the money for replacing on a cash-and-carry basis," the informant added. "It kept us penuriously defensive."

His assertion was borne out further by the fact that, within 48 hours after President Roosevelt signed the bill, the British also counter-punched German night attackers with hordes of new night fighters, heavier barrages and secret weapons described only as "other devices."

Tremendous fires and explosions were declared by the air ministry to have been started at Berlin, Hamburg, and Bremen and a German destroyer was reported torpedoed in the Skagerrak, arm of the North sea between Norway and Denmark.

Matching the massive offensive operations, informed sources said Britain now was prepared also to fill the skies over England with night fighters to fend off the Luftwaffe's destructive dusk-to-dawn assaults.

The effectiveness of the reinforced defense set-up was demonstrated by a one-night record last night when at least nine German bombers were shot down as they attacked the Merseydelta, important shipping area concentrated at Liverpool.

Further proof was offered in the declaration that the ratio of one raider reduced out of 30 heretofore had been reduced now to a one-to-20 ratio.

At Bremen, it said direct hits were scored on "a target of great importance" in the industrial area of the city and that at Hamburg "many fires and explosions" were started in shipyards and the industrial section.

"In addition to the older type of aircraft of the bombers command, several new and more powerful types were again in action and carried very heavy bombs."

U.S. May Assume British Contracts

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—A high administration official disclosed today that the army and Reconstruction Finance Corporation were negotiating to take over between $200,000,000 and $350,000,000 worth of British war contracts and factories in this country.

Chiropractic Bill Studied In House

AUSTIN, March 13 (AP)—A house sub-committee today studied merits of a bill proposing regulation of chiropractors in Texas.

Referred to the sub-group after a public hearing last night, the measure provided for creation of a board of examiners to license chiropractors.

F. L. Charlton, Austin chiropractor, said similar regulations have been adopted by 42 states, and that set standards were needed in Texas to eliminate unqualified practitioners.

Sterling County Boys Enter Calves In Big Spring's Livestock Show

Big Spring began to turn on the steam Thursday for its fourth annual club boy livestock show—one that promises to be smaller in numbers but better in quality.

Entry lists were still at a low figure with only Sterling county definitely committing itself. H. P. Malloy, county agent at Sterling City, advised he would have two calves and eight lambs shown by his boys. Martin county is sending over a batch of drylot calves and for the first time Fisher county 4-H club boys are entering the show. Neither of the latter counties have listed entries, but their participation is a settled fact.

Howard county, of course, will have many entries. Dawson may have a few, and Glasscock county is almost sure to have several animals in both the lamb and calf classes. Borden county may have some animals.

The show this season, for the first time, is being restricted to drylot animals in the calf classes. Officials of the sponsoring Howard County Fair association felt that this would give more emphasis to practical feeding. The show date has been put back to a date that the dryloters will carry good finish.

To insure a good market for top calves and lambs, 24 local merchants and individuals have underwritten calf purchases at a minimum of 12 cents and eight have gone on the line for top lambs. A committee composed of M. M. Edwards, M. E. Allen, George White and A. L. Cooper has canvassed the town and got support in this direction.

Another development in the current show, set for March 25-26, is the heavy and light calves will be divided equally for competitive purposes instead of fixing an arbitrary weight division.

The show will be held in the Howard county warehouse, scene of the last year's successful affair. Prize awards will total approximately $100.

R. M. Milhollin of San Angelo, district supervisor of the soil conservation program, has been named judge of stock, according to an announcement by livestock show officials.

1,500 Schoolmen To Convene Here

With hotel reservations and pre-convention surveys indicating a near-record attendance, the city prepared today to entertain between 1,500 and 2,000 school administrators, teachers and trustees here Friday and Saturday for the annual gathering of the West Texas Teachers association.

W. C. Blankenship, city school superintendent, anticipated at least 1,500 would come from the 26 counties in the district (comprised of the 30th senatorial district plus Glasscock and Mitchell counties). In addition, Scurry county was prepared to send its administrators and teachers and delegations were expected from Midland and points west.

Crude Stocks Show Decline

WASHINGTON, March 13 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines today reported a 4,823,000 barrel decrease during January in total stocks of all oils.

Supplies amounted to 556,131,000 barrels, or 137 days requirement, on January 31 compared with 568,954,000 barrels or 137 days on December 31, 1940.

January stocks were 26,665,000 barrels more than for the same month last year. Total demand for all oils dropped from 127,267,000 barrels in December to 126,752,000 barrels in January, of which 1,218,000 barrels were for export.

The bureau reported the January total new supply of all oils at 121,929,000 barrels compared with a new supply of 124,397,000 barrels during December. Domestic production rose from 115,768,000 barrels in December to 115,844,000 barrels in January.

January stocks of crude petroleum refined in the United States totaled 263,251,000 barrels compared with 264,079,000 in December and 229,794,000 last January.

The bureau reported January motor fuel stocks at 88,600,000 barrels compared with 85,647,000 in December and 89,339,000 in January, 1940. Domestic production totaled 52,542,000 barrels, demand 45,344,000 and exports 2,645,000.

PRIVATE LIFE OF PRODUCER AIRED BY LADIES WHO KNOW

NEW YORK, March 13 (AP)—Three attractive young ladies from Hollywood told the federal court yesterday about Joseph M. Schenck's costly entertainment and costlier girls.

The government accuses the film financier of deducting the cost of such entertainment and gifts from his tax returns for 1933, 1934 and 1937 as "business expenses."

In all, for these items, other similar ones and alleged gambling winnings, Schenck is charged with having evaded tax obligations by approximately $412,000 during the three years on a total income of $2,000,000.

Heading the parade of witnesses was mink-coated Grace Fogel, a twice-married professional dancer, who testified Schenck had put her up in hotels in Hollywood, New York and London, had given her a car and had allowed her to use his Hollywood mansion and his big yacht.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Mathias Corrae then called Audrey Sutherland, divorcée wife of a Hollywood director, and Janice Dawson Flannery, who told of a Schenck-financed party at a desert resort, the cost of which showed up on his tax report as business expenses.

"It was just a social occasion," said Miss Sutherland, in mink.

The third witness, however, in silver foxes, said the party resulted in a two-year verbal contract at $50 weekly for her with the Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation, of which Schenck is board chairman.

House Subcommittee Takes Up Seven Billion Aid Appropriation

Floor Debate May Begin On Next Monday

WASHINGTON, March 13. (AP)—With speed the keynote, congress started work today on the biggest peacetime appropriation bill in the nation's history—President Roosevelt's request for $7,000,000,000 to produce "the tools of defense" for Britain, Greece and China.

The measure started its legislative journey before an 11-man house appropriations subcommittee which has passed on the bulk of this country's multi-billion dollar defense plans since the collapse of France last spring.

Although the magnitude of the aid program was enormous, its announcement created few ripples on Capitol Hill. One informed legislator said that the size of President Roosevelt's request had a definite purpose—"to demonstrate that Uncle Sam means business."

This congressman, who participated in the conferences at which the request was drafted, reported that originally the plans were to ask only about the present amount in cash and the other half in authorizations. Subsequently, however, it was decided to seek the full $7,000,000,000 in cash, he said, because of the psychological effect that might have on the axis powers.

Secretary Hull was the first on the list of high administration officials called to appear before the house appropriations subcommittee for brief, secret testimony. Rep. Woodrum (D-Va.), the acting chairman, said the state department head would be followed by secretaries Morgenthau, Stimson, Knox; Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff; Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations and William S. Knudsen, defense production chief.

Woodrum said he planned to close the hearings Saturday, if possible, so as to bring the bill to the house floor for debate early next week.

Jailed Addicts To Miss Opium 'Spiked' Coffee
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Narcotic addicts usually suffer considerable torture when they are jailed and drugs are denied them. But in Salt Lake City's jail numerous known addicts remained serene, apparently far from unhappy behind bars.

When Police Chief Reed Vetterli, a former G-man, began an investigation, he discovered jailers were obliging prisoners by dropping out to obtain them an occasional cup of coffee.

The coffee was obtained from a Chinese restaurant — and it was heavily spiked with opium. Detectives raided the restaurant and found a large quantity of the drug.

Greeks Repulse Big Fascist Drive

ATHENS, March 13. (AP)—Dispatches from the Albanian front today said that the large scale offensive presumably ordered by Premier Mussolini himself from field headquarters had failed before powerful Greek resistance.

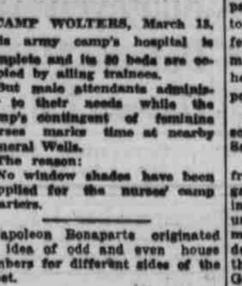

An earlier report said that Mussolini had given his generals until Saturday to "do something." The Italians, dispatches from the front said, have been unable to gain a single inch of ground and in the last six days their losses unofficially have been placed at more than 10,000, including 3,000 dead. These figures do not cover the 3,000 prisoners listed by the Greeks.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Many of those grinding, tearing, painful backaches people blame on colds or rheumatism often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 8 quarts a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of rest and energy, getting up nights, swelling, problems under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Among the thousands of decent law-abiding beer retail establishments in America there may be a few disreputable "joints."

While it is the brewer's responsibility to brew good beer and the retailer's responsibility to sell beer under wholesome conditions, nevertheless the brewing industry is concerned about these undesirable places and wants them cleaned up.

We want them cleaned up because they endanger your right to enjoy good beer... and our right to make it. We want them cleaned up because they endanger the $1,165 jobs and $22,076,182 payroll created by beer in Texas since re-legalization. Beer contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in taxes in this state.

These benefits are worth preserving. You can help us, if you will, by (1) purchasing only the reputable, legal places that sell beer and by (2) reporting any law violations to the duly constituted law enforcement authorities.

Town Enjoys Prosperity Under Communal Project

WARE, Mass.—This town of 8,000 persons faced ruin three years ago when its principal industry, a mill company, moved south. Undismayed, the townspeople adopted the slogan—"The town that can't be licked"—and banded together in a communal enterprise under the name of Ware Industries, Inc.
Four new industries located in the town last year and two already there doubled their space. Payrolls have tripled since organization of the project. The 962 stockholders recently received 5 per cent dividends totaling $3,507. Officials reported a $27,000 surplus after taxes and other local 1941 costs had been anticipated.

Committee In House Favors New Measures

AUSTIN, March 13 (AP)—Two bills reaching the house of representatives' working calendar today forecast controversy reminiscent of oldtime legislative battles over the hoary prohibition issue.
Intended to make dry counties drier, the proposals, one limiting a doctor's liquor prescriptions to 100 for 90 days and the other abolishing prescription liquor sales entirely, were recommended for passage by a committee yesterday after a public hearing.
The house already has placed in its $30,000,000 omnibus tax bill a provision levying a 50-cent tax per prescription and estimated to yield $3,450,000 annually.
Argument overwhelmingly favored the bills but one witness asserted it would increase bootlegging and another declared the prescription limitation might handicap physicians fighting an epidemic. Still another expressed doubt the legislature would abolish prescription sales.
Also expected to arouse debate on house floor consideration was a committee-approved bill which would put a crimp in an old Texas custom—running for one public office while holding another.
The proposal would prevent a person elected or appointed to office for more than four years seeking another post before expiration of his term. It was endorsed by Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sad-

Editorial— Publication Of Legal Notices Would Safeguard General Public

Ever walk down a courthouse hall and behold the beauties of a bulletin board?

It doesn't make any difference how marvelous the building is or how well it is otherwise kept, those bulletin boards stick out with all their ragged pages like a sore thumb.

Does anyone ever read these notices? Not unless they find out from another source that they have a very definite interest in some particular group of pages nailed on the wall, or unless a person has reached that despairing state in life where he has absolutely nothing better to do with his time than to ogle at the board.

What good are these boards? The answer is plain. They do absolutely no good at all. If no one reads the notices off them, there's no good there they accomplished.

Now pending before the legislature are two measures which would compel the publication of all legal notices in newspapers. Of course, newspapers like to do all the business they can honestly, but revenue isn't the consideration here. It's the idea of getting a public or legal notice where it will be noticed, where people will have a chance to see it.

We have no idea how much additional revenue this would mean to papers, and we don't care. We do think that perhaps there would be a lot less legal chicanery and certainly a lot less legal verbosity if these notices had to be put where they cost a little bit and where a large number would have an opportunity to see them. We think it's a good idea to do away with those antiquated boards and use something else for whitening and tacking.

Alsop and Kintner— French Threats Present Ticklish Situation

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Two interpretations can be put on Admiral Darlan's threat to use the French fleet to convey food ships if the British refused to permit wheat to enter unoccupied France. Either it was a simple and rather natural pressure move, without motive. Or it was the sign that Germany's unceasing diplomatic struggle to bring the French fleet into the war against Britain would soon be crowned with success. In the first case, British concessions will be useful; in the second, useless.

Happily the best opinion here inclines to the view that the first interpretation is correct. For a good many months the President and the state department have worked to convince the British that "something could be done with Vichy." Before any important move can be made, Darlan's real intentions must first have been ascertained. But it seems extremely possible that the episode will close with the American embassy at Vichy serving as a post-office between the British and French authorities, and the arrangement of property safe-guarded food supplies for unoccupied France.

The situation is, of course, exceedingly ticklish. In his conversations with our ambassador at Vichy, Admiral Leahy, Marshal Petain has constantly reiterated his determination to stand by the original armistice terms with Germany, and not to go beyond them in Franco-German collaboration.

Admiral Darlan, however, devoted his first talk with Leahy to an embittered denunciation of the British and all their works. Like most French naval men, he never loved them. His feelings towards them were transformed into active dislike during the last days of the fall of France.

At that time he was outraged by the British decision that France was gone, and that it would serve no purpose to risk in France the air strength so desperately needed for the defense of the British Isles. He was also personally affected by an unfortunate accident. His son, in the French marine, was stationed next to the only British division that fought in the final battle of the Somme. On the first day, the French armies were ordered to hold their positions, and to die at their posts if necessary. There was no break through during the first day, but owing probably to a confusion of orders, the British division retreated. They not only retreated, they also blew up the bridges behind them, so that on the day following young Darlan and his fellow marines were trapped and taken prisoner in the German advance.

That Darlan hates the British, particularly after Mers El Kebir, Oran and Dakar, no one doubts. Luckily, unlike his predecessor, Pierre Laval, he also hates the Germans. Thus despite his anti-British tendencies, it is believed, or perhaps one should say simply hoped here, that he means to follow the Petain policy of preserving the armistice status quo. Thus also it is strongly hoped that if the British can be induced to relax the blockade to allow passage to a stated number of Red Cross wheat ships, for supervised distribution in unoccupied French territory, Darlan will not carry out his threat to convey French merchantmen through the blockade.

The question is vitally important. For if Darlan begins by conveying French merchantmen, he is almost certain to end by fighting the British fleet. And when the British naval resources are already strained to the utmost, it would be a tragic setback to have the French fleet come up on the German side.

The truth is that at the state department and in circles close to the White House, the British are thought to have been far from astute in their dealings with France since last spring. Once it became clear to the Vichy government that Britain was not certain to be defeated, the men of Vichy were at least partly liberated from German control, and there was room for diplomacy. Darlan himself had pledged his honor never to let the French fleet fall into German hands. At Montoire, when he blocked the unlovely plans of Laval, and later, when he dismissed Marshal Petain set his face against giving military aid to Germany. Yet the British have never made any but the smallest concessions to

Hollywood Sights and Sounds— Hitchcock Is Hurt: He's Been Typed

HOLLYWOOD—Roly-poly, extra-chinned Alfred Hitchcock has been hurt where it hurts. He has been miffed.

"There's no reason," he said, aggrieved, "why a director should be typed. Just because..."

Many critics took exception to Hitchcock's "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." Many were disappointed (as was this guileless bystander) that "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" wasn't a "Rebecca" of comedy, a "Foreign Correspondent" of laughs.

"Directors do get typed," said Hitchcock, "but there's no sense to it. Right now John Ford is tied to the soil and the sea. Ernst Lubitch is labeled the naughty sophisticate. When Lubitch does something a little different, like 'The Shop Around the Corner,' he's away from type and some people are disappointed. I do mystery and suspense, so I can't do a comedy. It's silly. I don't really care, of course—Mr. and Mrs. Smith is doing fine at the box-office."

Hitchcock undertook the comedy, he said, more or less as an interlude—or a prelude to his present work, "Before the Fact," or "Fright" as they're now calling it. It is decidedly not a comedy. The "cattle" in it—Hitchcock delights in labeling his actors "cattle"—include Joan Fontaine, Cary Grant, Nigel Bruce and Bruce's wife, Violet Gibson, Olive Brook's daughter, Faith, and another pretty young English actress named Carol Curtis Brown.

"I hope," said Hitchcock of his new film "you will help to spread the word that it is awful. That it stinks."

He was referring to the too glowing advance reports on "Mr. and Mrs. Smith." He would rather have "Fright" surprise by its virtues, if any, than be held up as perfect of its genre—vaunted perfection making such a perfect target.

Then, forgetting his miff and his hurt, Hitchcock turned again to the scene—in which Misses Shelton, Brown and Brook on the steps of an English country church have just discovered that Fontaine and Grant, who started to services with them, are missing. "Fright" is the story of a wife who suspects her husband wants to murder her.

After the fourth take, Hitchcock pronounced with general acidity: "I have all confidence I can assure you it is getting worse" and the company, breaking into laughter broke for lunch.

Hitchcock sets usually are like that, once the "cattle" business is made clear. Cary Grant, a first-timer with Hitchcock, was mystified for the first week, as he later confessed to Hitchcock. You'd be licked, too, if you were a top-ranking star and after you'd done a scene your director called to an assistant: "Run over to the westerns and get me a cowpuncher to handle these cattle. Joan Fontaine was initiated in "Rebecca."

Man About Manhattan— Photographers Have Trouble Naming Pix

NEW YORK—Tony Camerano sat facing a typewriter. His face was tortured by thought. Typewriters are a little out of Tony's class, but if you hand him a camera—that is another matter.

For Tony is one of the AP's crack news photographers, and, as all news photographers who belong to the Press Photographers Association of New York are doing now, he was sorting out the evidence of his work during 1940 for the 6th annual photo exhibit, to get under way during the closing days of March.

"What is the matter with you, Tony?" I ask him. He pointed to a stack of 11x14 news pictures—all beautifully printed on double-weight mat paper.

"Titles," said Tony, "it's titles. I'm having trouble."

He tossed me a picture of a blinding inferno on the Brooklyn waterfront—a lumberyard fire—which he had photographed last year. There were fatalities in that fire, if you will recall.

"What'll I call it?"

This reporter was no help to him whatever. Finally he named it "Smoke clouds of death." Not bad. That is what they were. And a title was essential. All photographs must bear a title.

Another, perhaps the best sports shot he took all year, was a fist fight between Umpire George Magerkuth, of the National League, and a Brooklyn fan. The story made headlines at the time, but then Brooklyn stories are always making headlines, and Brooklyn fans are always swinging. This unknown admirer of the Dodgers was incensed at one of Magerkuth's decisions. The Dodgers were playing Cincinnati. Finally the fan jumped Magerkuth, who, by the way, is very good with his fists. It is a fine informal shot of the manly art, and Tony titled it "Lamps for the Ump."

Another of his sports specials was a close-up of Tony Galento and Max Baer in a hairy embrace, with Galento puffing pain and anguish and savagery through his puffed lips. This was called "Blow Me Down."

In all, some 180 New York news photographers will be represented.

Each man enters from 10 to 30 pictures. Plaques and similar honors are awarded to the winning contestants. Though no money is involved, it is one of the most enthusiastically and keenly followed exhibits of its kind.

The script writer for the Kate Smith show is a girl—Jean Holloway. . . . There is a new restaurant in 2nd avenue that has three-cornered "milking stools" for chairs, and all the milk you can drink is free—if you order a plate luncheon. There is also an honor-system restaurant in 42nd street. You go in, eat what you want—all items are priced—then tell the cashier how much you owe her, pay it, and walk out. Nobody checks up on anybody.

Crosby Gaige, who used to be famous as a Broadway producer (his last hit was "Accent on Youth") is now best known for his miracles of food that he cooks up in the kitchen. He practices this art in the garage-kitchen of his country place, near Peekkill, N. Y., writes about it in the newspapers and magazines of the world.

City Suffers Second Bad Cotton Fire

Big Spring suffered its second cotton fire in a week Tuesday afternoon when 68 bales were damaged badly on the T. & P. loading dock here.

Loss was estimated to be at least $1,500 and possibly substantially more.

E. B. Bethell, fire marshal, said that he believed the 68 bales affected by the fire were at least a 50 per cent loss.

After firemen succeeded in bringing the blaze under control Tuesday afternoon, fire broke out again Tuesday night and necessitated another run by the department.

Wednesday morning Bethell said some of the bales were still smouldering.

The burned cotton was part of a 120-bale shipment by Otto Goedecke, buyer, to a warehouse in Raleigh, N. C. Bethell said the lint was covered by a blanket railroad policy. Whether it would count against the city's fire record was not known immediately. Last week damage of around $75,000 resulted when the central compress unit went up in flames.

Arrest Clears 17 Burglaries

Seventeen house burglaries, three of them in Howard county, have been cleared by the arrest of three youths at Lubbock, Sheriff A. J. Merrick said here Wednesday.

Virtually all articles missed from the Stewart Thomas, Bill Rhodes and S. H. Puckett homes north of here have been recovered, said the sheriff.

Merrick, charges of burglary have been lodged in each of the local cases against Louis Northeroff, Emory C. Jerry and James English, Jr., all of whom are being held in the Lynn county jail at Tahoka. They were, said the sheriff, residents of Kansas and Nebraska.

The youths, arrested by the state highway patrol at Lubbock Friday after an ill-advised attempt on a farm house near Tahoka put officers on the trail of the burglars.

Saturday officers met in Tahoka and conferred with the youths. Result to date, said Sheriff Merrick, was that 17 cases had been cleared. He estimated that the number would be brought to 30.

According to officers, the youths admitted operating in Howard, Martin, Tom Green, Lynn and Hale counties. The coupe in which they were riding at time of the arrest was jam-packed with radios, more than a dozen guns, clothing, etc.

Sheriff Merrick said the loot had been obtained from farm houses in the daytime when none was at home.

Defense Costs Too High— Rep. Summers Points With Alarm To US Debt

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Members of the house act in solemn silence as Representative Summers (D-Tex.), speaking during debate on the naval appropriations bill, asked his colleagues to ponder the future this country faced in an ever-increasing national debt.

The sober-minded Texan told the legislators that there was no apparent effort on the part of the government to economize, that the time had come to "stop to think, and, thinking, to right about face."

Gravely, after noting that the cost-per-unit of defense preparations now were "astounding" compared to that of the World War, the Dallas congressman observed:

"We cannot know where we are going, but we know we are moving out from where we are and into a situation that nobody knows where the end is to be. There is one thing we do know. We do know—it seems to me that anybody with any intelligence ought to know—that we are moving with tremendous rapidity toward actual contact with this war. x x x

"Nobody knows, nobody can know whether by the time we become an actual belligerent, if we should do so, this country will be the only country able to fight against those who may be making common cause against us. We ought to know that the rapidity with which by reason of these high costs of preparedness we are drawing upon the nation's credit is one of the most dangerous things that is happening in this country.

"All persons with any sense ought to know that. The credit of the nation in our situation, as I said one time before, is a great deal like the food and water which people put in their lifeboats when they put out from a ship.

"We have been running along here for ten years drawing on that reserve in peace times. There is nothing in the picture which does not indicate that those ten years are the best ten years we can hope to have in a long time within which to pay the current expenses of our government."

Acknowledging that democrats and republican administrations alike were responsible for the situation, and that it was a thing of concern to the American people and not a partisan matter, Summers warned that an end must come of "this notion that the treasury of the federal government is inexhaustible."

He criticized himself and his colleagues for the attitude that "if you can get anything out of the federal government and bring that money into a community, you are a sort of public benefactor." Such an idea, he added, was not limited to any section or any business, but was a general attitude which must be changed.

Railroad Conductor Pays Taxes To 2 Municipalities

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Railway Conductor W. P. Hayes lives in Salt Lake City, sleeps in Ogden, and pays taxes in both cities.

Hayes is rounding out 40 years of service for Union Pacific, and in all that time he's been shuttling back and forth between the towns.

Every morning he boards the Los Angeles Limited and rides to Salt Lake City. That takes an hour. Every evening he serves as conductor for the southbound Challenger from Salt Lake City to Ogden—another hour.

The distance between the cities is 38 miles. Double that and multiply by 40 years and it's evident Hayes has traveled a lot in his time, even though he hasn't gone very far.

County Audit Shows General Satisfaction Except In JP Court

General satisfaction with county affairs with the exception of pointed criticism of lax handling of affairs in justice of peace court, precinct No. 1, were expressed by E. G. Sedgwick, San Angelo, in his 1940 audit filed with the county clerk and commissioners court.

Sedgwick scored failure to show disposition of many cases, incomplete records on payments in some cases, releasing prisoners from jail under 10 days, and allowing cases to remain on the docket indefinitely without any sort of action.

His audit was based on his study of records for 1940.

Declaring that "we found many items in the records of the justice of peace court, precinct No. 1, which, in our opinion, were not handled properly," the auditor referred to 13 cases in which the docket showed pleas of guilty entered, fines assessed, but no further disposition noted.

In two cases had checks given for fines had not been collected. Sedgwick suggested that a defendant "who is found guilty and fined should either pay the fine and costs or be placed in jail to serve his term, except that if the case is appealed..."

He added that capias profiles should be issued on all getting away without paying or serving and that this be followed by issuance of alias capias profiles.

"Also we suggest that ALL transactions or actions in respect to a case be written on the docket in ink," he said. "This includes the issuing of capias profiles, data of payment of fine and costs and by whom collected, and date of commitment to and date of release from jail."

"It has come to our attention that some prisoners have been released from jail before serving 10 days," continued the auditor in his report. "We wish to call your attention to the fact that no county officer may release a prisoner until he has served at least 10 days (or... before he has fully satisfied his fine and costs."

"We note that a large number of cases in the justice of peace court have been dismissed without motion from the county attorney. This, in our opinion, is illegal," said Sedgwick. He also cited four cases in which payments were reportedly made but not reported properly.

The auditor questioned the wisdom of a six per cent loan to the Midway school district in the amount of $4,002.82 unless it were to be retired in less than 10 years. In the alternative, he thought it would be wiser to refund all bonds around three per cent.

He also pointed out that there were no invoices to support payments to an administrator in the amount of $20 for work in the gymnasium and for $178 in going after a bus. The Fairview school had a $51.51 unsupported item for lights and labor. No invoices for $224 could be found in Center Point accounts.

"It is our suggestion," concluded Sedgwick, "that the county school superintendent and/or the school trustees refuse to honor all future vouchers which are not properly supported."

He found the treasurer's accounts rechecking but suggested proof-reading be followed to eliminate errors; found the tax collector's accounts in good shape except for one infinitesimal item; the county clerk in fine shape with an excess in funds of $180, apparently showing up in 1939-40.

Records of the county auditor's office were "well kept and in our opinion they are adequate," said Sedgwick. He added however that "it appears that the county auditor is being called upon a great deal for detail work for the various officers. If this is allowed to increase, the auditor will have no time left for internal auditing which should be a large portion of his duties. It is our recommendation that other officers keep their own records..."

Audit Suggestions For General Procedure In Justice Court Made

A statement to clarify some criticisms of the justice of the peace office, contained in the annual audit of Howard county departments, was issued today by County Auditor Claude Wolf. The statement followed publication in Sunday's Herald of excerpts from the audit report of E. R. Sedgwick.

"While the audit reported some items of the justice of the peace were not handled properly," the statement said, "it should be pointed out that these items were a result of general methods employed in keeping the records, and not a result of any one official's handling of same."

"The auditor's criticism was of a constructive nature and accepted as such. As said, the criticism was of general methods, which methods are used generally in all counties of Texas in the justice of peace offices, and which have prevailed for a number of years."

"Under the justice of the peace setup, four departments—Justices, county attorney's, sheriff's and constable's—have a part in administering cases. Because of this involved system—one in use over the state—some records have not been kept in accordance with every technicality of the statutes. It is a condition that has developed through the years."

"While the audit was for the year 1940, during which time John C. Ratliff served as justice of the peace by appointment, the facts are that some of the old cases on the docket were accumulated from times prior. Mr. Ratliff's handling of the office was above criticism, and his records were well kept under the circumstances. There is no record of a shortage of accounts in his office, and in fact he had an excess fee due from the county when he retired from office. Mr. Ratliff worked diligently with this office in keeping cases recorded and amounts handled as well as they could be."

"The auditor's findings, as reported in The Herald Sunday, should not be interpreted as finding fault with Mr. Ratliff's handling of the office. It is a criticism common to the justice court operations in all Texas counties, and one intended to bring about a correction in the general usage of records."

Fish During Lenten Season Can Be Made Tasty And Different

Refinery Market Shows Strength

TULSA, Okla., March 13 (AP)—The mid-continent refinery market showed continued signs of strength during the week with some companies reporting sales as much as 15 per cent over a year ago.

Increased activity because of the defense program was given as the major reason for the better demand. Some market sources were predicting higher prices might not be far away.

Prices for natural gasoline have stiffened a quarter to a half cent in Oklahoma and Texas in the past month, and reports from the Texas gulf area told of a better movement of gasoline coastwise.

The crude oil market was strong with a somewhat better demand being felt in Kansas and Oklahoma.

In the field, the Oil and Gas Journal reported 470 completions for the week, compared with 466 the previous week, and 531 a year ago.

A new pool opener near Guthrie, Logan county, Oklahoma, made 2,160 barrels of 47 gravity oil on test after completion. Northern Archer county, Texas, got a new pool, and California's Inglewood field appeared due for more development following completion of a good well in the northwestern end of the field outside of present production. Extension of fields along the central Kansas uplift continued by new wells at Kraft, Neldenthal and Shiles. Illinois operators began developing some of the newly discovered small pools, such as Mount Carmel.

get into trouble with your family even though you include fish in your menus several days each week.

Here are some suggestions for varying your fish dishes during Lent:

FISH RING is smart enough to grace any luncheon or dinner table. Mix 1 1/2 cups savory white sauce with a pound can (2 cups) of your favorite fish—salmon, tuna, or white fish will do. Add 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 1-4 teaspoon each

FILET OF FISH, WAIKIKI (See picture) 2 tablespoons butter 4 finely chopped shallots 4 filets of sole (or any other white fish) 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley, salt and pepper 1 cup canned unsweetened pineapple juice 1 cup clam broth (canned) 1-2 teaspoon mixed herbs Pineapple Sauce 4 tablespoons butter 2 tablespoons flour 1 egg yolk Broth from fish

Spread a shallow baking pan with two tablespoons butter. Slice the shallots and place fish on top of them in the bottom of the pan. Sprinkle with parsley, salt and pepper and the herbs, tied in a piece of cheesecloth. Bring the pineapple juice and clam broth to boiling and pour over the fish. Place in a moderate oven (350 degrees) and simmer until fish is tender. Remove to a platter before sauce is prepared as follows: Melt butter, add flour and stir until smooth. Add broth from the fish (adding enough extra broth or water to make two cups) and cook at least five minutes, stirring constantly. Then add slightly beaten egg yolk and cook one minute more. Pour sauce over the fish, sprinkle with chopped parsley, and garnish with lemon slices, sprinkled with chopped parsley.

of celery salt and paprika, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 3 eggs. Pour into well buttered ring and bake an hour in a pan of hot water at about 325 degrees. Unmold and pile creamed peas, mushrooms or hard-cooked eggs in the center. Tuck in crisp parsley for garnish.

If it is luncheon you are worrying about, try FISH SURPRISE. Melt 1-2 cup sliced cheese in 2 cups cream of mushroom soup heated in double boiler. Stir well and add 1 cup soft crumbs, 3 beaten eggs, 1 cup cooked fish—shrimp or tuna suggested—1 tablespoon each chopped celery, parsley and pimientos, 1-4 teaspoon salt, a speck of paprika and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Bake an hour in buttered baking dishes or custard cups, in pan hot water at about 325 degrees. Serve in the baking dishes. This makes a fine dish to serve the bride and groom or an informal get-together. The recipe is enough for 4 or 5.

Spiced fruit or jellied relish salad should accompany this. Melba toast will appeal to the calorie counters. A fruit tart, frozen dessert or fresh fruit and cookies will give the proper sign-off.

It's the sauce that is fishy in VEGETABLE SUPREME, a cold dish that is grand with hot coffee, corn bread or hot rolls for luncheon. Fill a platter with chilled asparagus, sliced cucumbers, cooked peas, sliced radishes and minced celery. Put cream around the edges and sprinkle all with a tart French dressing. Return to the refrigerator for extra chill. The secret of this main dish is its lightness.

For the sauce: Mix a cup of mayonnaise with 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickles, 2 hard-cooked eggs, cubed, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-8 teaspoon salt and 1-3 cup minced sardines.

Cook FILETS AU VEGETABLES in one dish and save extra work for the housewife. Half-fill a buttered casserole with cooked peas and potatoes, cover with a well seasoned white sauce and top with fish filets. Sprinkle with flour, salt and paprika and spread generously with butter. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven, then scatter buttered crumbs over the top and bake 10 minutes. Cabbage salad is just right with this meal.
