Impetigo Highly Contagious, Says Health Officer

When a state health authority says there is no such thing as a natural resistance to impetigo, parents of small children know exactly what he means. Those parents know, perhaps from bitter experience that same individual can suffer repeated attacks from what State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox calls an "offensive, annoying skin infection."

Although children are unusually susceptible, impetigo can be found in any age group, Dr. Cox said. It is most prevalent during the cummer months, but has been known to occur at any month.

Impetigo, according to Dr. Cox's explanation, is a purulent skin infection. It isn't too serious, except in new born babies. An invasion of a hospital nursery ward calls for extreme attention to keep uninfected babies from getting it, for it spreads like fire in dry grass.

Impetigo is caused by a pus forming bacteria called staphylococcus—the same sort of germ found in boils and sores where pus is present. Usually it forms an unsightly crust over wide creas of the body. The pus underneath the crust is highly infectious if allowed to get on any other skin surface.

The infection is easily transmitted when a non-infected person uses the towel of someone infected, since the towel moisture permits the germ to survive.

Children living in the most hygenic homes frequently get impetigo, although it is perhaps more common among children living in homes where personal sanitation isn't considered too im-

Dr. Cox says soldiers are often infected, because they have small chance for keeping consistently clean. It may involve a whole arm, or a side of the face and

The only way to minimize the ill effects of impetigo is to keep the infection localized, that is keep it from spreading. This can be done only by preventing the pus or serum from exuding onto "clean" skin surfaces.

The family physician is the infected child's best friend. He'll advise the mother how best to combat the ailment, and how to | keep it from spreading to other members of the family.

THE BOARD of the McLean Independent School District has called an election to determine whether this district shall issue $150,000 in bonds, receipts from which will be used to construct a new building for the classes of our grade school children.

The News believes that the bond issue will carry, and we also believe the majority should be large in favor of the question. However, this will depend on whether the people who truly favor a new school building go to the polls and vote-

Incidentally, only qualified voters who own taxable property within the limits of the district are eligible to vote in this election, since the bonds must be paid off

And speaking of taxation, we regret that we are unable to tell the voters how much, if any, taxes will be hiked to take care of paying off the bonds. In some cases, the increase is expected to amount to as much as 20 per cent. In some cases there will be no change, and in some cases there is a possibility of a slight decrease. The reason is this: the board of equalization has not yet met to set the valuations on property within the district; at the present time, some of the valuations are too low, some about right, and some too high; when these are all equalized, then we will know about what the extra cost of the grade school building. One of the questions most frequently asked is how to keep cucumber pickles from shriveling. Here are some of the facts about shriveled cucumbers. The variety of cucumbers, the conditions under which they grow, and the size they are when pulled from the vine all have to do with shriveling. Some cucumbers are hollow, especially if they are permitted to grow too large before they are taken from the vine. A onefourth to one-half inch stem should be left on the cucumbers during brining or when other methods are used where the cucumbers are left whole. Vinegar solutions can be too strong-4 to 6 per cent acid is the correct of food-borne diseases can be "things of the past," State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox asserted in "People need only remember three things to bring about the end of the food poisoning disease classification," Dr. Cox declared. "Buy food from safe sources, prepare it in a sanitary fashion, and serve and store it correctly. He said state laws cover the sale of contaminated food to the housewife, but "only the homemaker can see that food is properly stored and cleanly prepared for serving to the family." There is a difference between food infection and food intoxi-

Annual Reunion Of Neill Family Held in Amarillo

Members of the H. H. Neill family met in Elwood Park at Amarillo Sunday, Aug. 6, for a re-

The Neill family moved to a place south of McLean, which is now Evan Sitter's ranch headquarters, in 1905. Their children went to the Watkins school, a little one-room school house which has since been moved away. Mr. Neill died from pneumonia in 1908. Mrs. Neill continued to live in and around McLean until her death from cancer in 1947.

Last August, part of the family met, but some were unable to be present. They decided then to make it an annual affair and on the first Sunday in August this year, there were 91 in attendance.

The children were N. H. Neill of capacity. Whitt, Mrs. Linnie Shannon of Plainview, Mrs. Louie James of McLean, Jepp Neill of Sunray, Bird Neill of Lefors, Mrs. Susie Lantron of Borger, and Mrs. Leona Dorsey of Muleshoe.

John Biggers and Mrs. Boyd Reeves of McLean were the oldest grandson and granddaughter present. Oldest great-grandson was Joe Boyd Reeves of Lubbock, and Jo Carol Vaylander of Shamrock was the oldest great-great-granddaughter.

Others attending were Jack Neill of Everman; Mrs. Vernon Johnston of Dallas; Mrs. John Biggers and and John Sublett of McLean; Mr. Bird and family of Borger; Mr. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Chilton and of Muleshoe; Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Tuesday in the church parlor. family, W. Station KPAN at Hereford, has bought an interest in Station KEVA at Shamrock, Albert Cooper, owner of the Shamrock station, has announced.

Blymiller will move to Shamrock and assume management of the station on August 16, Cooper said. For the past month, Coope has been serving as manager of the station, following the resignation of Manager John Kennedy, who moved to Lubbock.

The new partner-manager has been a friend of Cooper's for several years and sale of an interest in the station to Blymiller has been pending for several months, Cooper said.

The new KEVA manager is now serving as manager of the Hereford station. He put in the station there two and one-half years ago, and was employed at Clovis, N. M., before moving to Hereford.
