New Cleaning Shop to Open Here Monday

Another new business, to be known as the Master Cleaners, will open for business next Monday, January 30, Emory Crockett, manager of the firm, stated this week.

"The new cleaning shop is located in the former W. C. Shull building immediately north of the post office. Shull has moved his paint and wallpaper business to his former corner location.

Cleaning and pressing equipment as well as store fixtures, were being installed this week. An addition to the rear end of the building has been constructed, and the cleaning equipment will be installed in this portion of the new building. This is being done, Crockett explained, to prevent fumes from reaching the front part of the building, as well as to help in removing fumes from clothes which have been cleaned.

In addition to the regular cleaning and pressing equipment, a glove form is being installed, and the shop will be equipped to do glove re-tinting, Crockett said. Also ordered, but not here yet, will be equipment whereby the firm can do hat blocking as well as cleaning.

"We invite you to come to see our new place of business. We feel that you will be highly pleased with the shop, both in the appearance of the interior of the building as well as the type of work we will do. We have employed John Strange of Pampa as head of the shop work, and know that, with his 30 years of experience, he will be able to please you in every way. Mr. Strange was employed by me while I was operating the largest dry cleaning establishment in Pampa," Crockett stated, "and he is thoroughly familiar with all phases of the work."

Clyde Brown Enters Race for Commissioner

Clyde Brown this week authorized The McLean News to announce his candidacy for the office of commissioner of Precinct No. 4.

Brown has made his home in Gray County for the past six years, although he has called McLean his home for about 25 years. He moved to Gray County, southeast of McLean, from Collingsworth County, where he was employed on the O. G. Stokely ranch for a number of years.

Since 1941, he has been connected with the dirt work business operated by Stokely.

Brown made the following statement in announcing: "A number of my friends have come to me during the past two weeks, and urged that I make this race. With the confidence they have shown in me in making these requests, I feel that I should not let them down and therefore am announcing for commissioner.

"We all realize that keeping our county roads in good condition is one of the primary aspects of the commissioner's work. It is my belief that my past nine years of experience with dirt work machinery, particularly large machinery, will enable me to fulfill this function of the office well.

"We also realize that our commissioner represents us in our county government, and I believe that the business, farming, and ranching experience I have had will enable me to represent you fairly and efficiently. I am thoroughly familiar with the various problems which arise daily in our area, and feel that I will be able to cope with them. If elected, all of my time will be devoted to the office.

"Between now and the date of the Democratic primary, I intend to see each and every voter in the precinct to ask your support personally, but I would like at this time to ask that you give me your earnest consideration in the coming election."

Political Pot in Precinct, County Warming Up as More Enter Races

The political pot, both locally and on a county and district wide scale, began to simmer a little this week as additional candidates either authorized their announcements for various offices or let it be known that they would be candidates.

So far, the race for commissioner of Precinct 4, now held by Ernest Beck, is the only one with announced opposition. Beck filed for re-election two weeks ago and this week Jesse Roberts and Clyde Brown announced for the office.

Others who have authorized The News to announce their candidacies, include H. B. Hill of Shamrock for district judge, C. S. Rice for justice of the peace of Precinct 5, and Luther (Luke) Henley for constable of Precinct 5. Henley announced only this week for the office now held by J. W. Sullivan. Sullivan stated several weeks ago that he planned to seek re-election, but has not yet formally announced.

In the district judge's race, Lewis Goodrich, also of Shamrock, has stated that he will again be a candidate for the office which Hill seeks.

G. H. Kyle of Pampa has announced that he will seek the sheriff's office again, and there is a rumor in Pampa that one of his deputies would oppose him, Charlie Thut, county clerk, and F. E. Leech, tax assessor-collector, also plan to seek re-election, as does Mrs. Dee Patterson, district clerk. John Studer, county attorney, was in McLean this week and stated that he would be a candidate for re-election to that office.

Grid Banquet Date Named

The annual football banquet will be held Thursday night, February 9, and members of the 1949 football squad will be the honored guests.

Highlighting the entertainment being planned will be an address by Jack Curtis, head coach at Texas Western, formerly known as the Texas School of Mines. Curtis is reported to be an unusually good speaker.

Details for the program are now being worked out, and will be announced at a later date.

'Sundowners' to Be Shown Here Soon After World's Premiere

You can go to Amarillo next Monday night spend a dollar each to see the world's premiere of the motion picture, "Sundowners" and burn up several gallons of gasoline on the trip—if you want to—but you can also wait until the following Sunday, Monday or Tuesday, February 5, 6, or 7, and see that same picture in McLean for only 40 cents per adult person.

Bill Howard, manager of the Avalon Theater in McLean, announced this week that the highly-publicized film will be shown here the week-end following its premiere in Amarillo. Only one other theater in the Panhandle, that at Dumas, will get booking on the "Sundowners" that soon.

The picture, a story of cattle rustling and rangeland intrigue in the Palo Duro, was filmed entirely in the Panhandle of Texas—at Stinnett, in the Palo Duro Canyon, and on ranches near Ama-

Jesse Roberts Announces for Commissioner

Jesse Roberts this week authorized The McLean News to announce his candidacy for the office of Gray County commissioner, Precinct No. 4.

Roberts, a resident of Gray County for the past 43 years, made the following statement in announcing his candidacy:

"As a long-time resident of Gray County, and particularly this portion of the county, I feel that I am very familiar with the problems which may arise, both on a county-wide basis as well as a precinct basis.

"I believe that a commissioner must be able to aid in the administration of the county's affairs as well as his own precinct's affairs, and it will be my intention, if elected, to do my best along these lines.

"I feel that I am qualified to take care of your road work, and promise, if chosen by the voters of the precinct, to keep those roads for which I will be responsible in the best condition I possibly can.

"Your vote and influence in the coming election will be greatly appreciated, and I will strive to see each and every voter prior to election time."

Three Seeking Local Office of Commissioner

The political pot, both locally and on a county and district wide scale, began to simmer a little this week as additional candidates either authorized their announcements for various offices or let it be known that they would be candidates.

So far, the race for commissioner of Precinct 4, now held by Ernest Beck, is the only one with announced opposition. Beck filed for re-election two weeks ago and this week Jesse Roberts and Clyde Brown announced for the office.

Luke Henley Enters Race For Constable

Luther (Luke) Henley this week authorized The News to announce his candidacy for the office of Constable, Precinct No. 5, serving the McLean and Alanreed area.

In making his announcement, Henley made the following statement: "I have lived in or near McLean most of the time since 1921, and feel that I know the problems of law enforcement which have arisen or may arise in the future.

"It is my belief that a law enforcement officer should be here at all times, and ready to answer any call day or night. Therefore, if I am elected, I will devote all of my time to the work, and promise to be on call at all times.

"Fairness to all, with partiality to none, will be my working motto, for I feel that only through this means can I serve the people well. I will strive to live up to this working motto every day I hold the office.

"During the coming months prior to the Democratic primaries in the summer, I plan to see each voter personally and solicit your help and influence. This is my first time to ask for public office, and for that reason I am not too well acquainted with the methods I should use in seeking your vote. But I do want each of you to know that I will sincerely appreciate any consideration you may give me."

Burglars Visit Grade School

A burglar, or burglars, broke into the Grade School building some time Monday night, but made away with a small haul of only about $7 in cash, Principal Haydn Bodenhamer said.

The burglars entered the building by breaking a glass out of the south door, and then knocking off a lock. They also broke locks off several doors inside the building, and finally entered the principal's office. There they ransacked his desk, and pulled books out of the bookcase, but nothing was missed except the small amount of cash which was taken.

Bodenhamer said that the Lela school also was burglarized the same night, and that the same tactics were used. The Lela building was entered through a window. Approximately $8 in cash but nothing else, was taken from the Lela school.

If you saw a blue streak go through town Sunday afternoon, it was Johnny and Joyce taking off on their honeymoon. You may have seen a few red streaks too, because the car was brightly painted with red stripes. If you saw a few feathers flying, they weren't from Joyce's hat, but from one of the chickens in the back seat among other nice gifts which consisted of old shoes, boards, wire, and everything a couple wouldn't think of taking on their honeymoon.

When I saw Lester puffing on a big black cigar, I knew there must be some special occasion as he rarely smokes cigars. Sure enough, Fred Bentley, our business neighbor, has become a father for the second time. It's a boy, Michael Keith, born Thursday, January 19, in a Clarendon hospital, weighing 8 1/2 pounds.

If you ask Miro Pagan what is being built at his house and he says a swimming pool, don't be surprised. They are adding on a couple rooms simply because they need the space.

Name Texas Youth 4-H Sectional Winner in Soil Conservation

Carroll Fowler

BEING chosen one of 14 sectional winners in the 1949 National 4-H Soil Conservation program was the honor bestowed upon Carroll Fowler, 20, of Lakeview. His splendid record showed that the need of a farm stock water reservoir first brought soil conservation to his attention. He soon realized the need of more terraces, soil tests, contouring and strip croppings. Some of these practices are already under way. Baby beef, swine and poultry, are among his chief projects, all of which depend for maximum feed production upon good soil. Carroll declared his goal is "to have all fields terraced, planted to the proper crop, establish good crop rotation, cultivate correctly, and have adequate supply of pasture and water." His award was an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, provided by Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

This activity is conducted under the direction of the Extension Service of the State Agricultural College and USDA cooperating.

Miss Norma Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brent Chapman of Kellerville, was recently installed as worthy advisor of the McLean Rainbow Assembly at the Masonic Hall.

Members of the advisory board installed were Mesdames Evelyn Stubblefield, Clara Hupp, Belya Castleberry, Tressie Mantooh, Joy Harlan, Daphne Morris, and Sue

Following the installation, the new worthy advisor was invited to enter the rainbow garden where she received the beautiful roses from the girls representing the color stations. She in turn presented them to Mrs. Sue Cubine, retiring mother advisor.

The new worthy advisor introduced her father, Brent Chapman, and presented him with a boutonniere.

Little Lynda Smith, mascot for the Rainbow Assembly, was brought to the east by the installing officers, where she was introduced and presented with a locket. Boyd Smith was introduced as "Rainbow Dad." Patricia Ferguson was presented the official past worthy advisor pin by Darlene Shadid.

A talk of appreciation was made by the new mother advisor, Mrs. Hazel Smith.

Mrs. Cubine commended the out-going worthy advisor, Patricia Ferguson, and the Rainbow girls for their splendid work during the past year. Bibles were presented to the past recorder, Donna Stubblefield, and the past treasurer, Dortha Chase. Service awards were presented to 19 girls.

MET A FELLOW not too long ago . . . called himself a D. P., displaced person, or something like that . . . has no money, can claim few friends . . . has no property . . . even has but little pride.

He used to be an important man in one of the European countries . . . it was a democratic country where people got to vote for what they wanted and the majority ruled, like here in our country.

This fellow, as we say, was an important man over there . . . owned a big business of some sort . . . had a lovely wife and three children . . . had a car and made enough to operate it as often as he liked . . . had a home, paid for . . . was plenty happy.

As a man about town, he did his share of civic work and church work . . . enjoyed that work too . . . liked the people of his community and they liked him . . . belonged to this and that and was active in most everything . . . helped to build up his community into a better place to live.

But this man had one fault . . . he never voted in any of the elections in that democracy where he lived . . . there was no poll tax involved, just a matter of registering . . . but he didn't even bother to register each year and therefore was not qualified to vote . . . and he never voted.

That was all right for a long, long time . . . until a fellow, another fellow, decided to take advantage of those people who didn't bother to vote . . . and that second fellow took over . . . soon was running things the way he wanted to run them.

A war came along . . . usually does when some fellow gets big ideas for ruling people who didn't protect their own interests by being interested in all elections . . . and that war ruined our friend who is now the D. P. Was it the fault of the D. P.? . . . or would it have happened if he and many, many others like him had used the voting privilege they had? . . . no one knows for certain, but it likely wouldn't.

It can't happen here? . . . why can't it? . . . it's gradually happening every day . . . and will grow worse and worse unless something is done.

You have through next Tuesday, January 31, to pay your poll tax to give you that voting privilege which should be dear to you.

COTTON QUIZ

HOW DOES COTTON IMPROVE AUTOMOBILE TRAVEL?

LES TALK BY LESTER

Last week I mentioned the library in this column, and since that time something else concerning the library has come to my attention.

That something else pertains to unpaid library fines—those fines assessed when books are kept overtime without renewing.

It isn't that the library board wants to charge anyone for use of the books. It's simply that some rules must be made in regard to the length of time a book can be held by one person. After all, others may want the book which you have, and it's a cinch they won't get it until you turn the book back in. For that reason, a system of fines has been worked out in years past, and books kept overtime cost the reader.

Or perhaps, I should say that books kept overtime are supposed to cost the reader. It seems that a number of people, including quite a few adults, won't pay the fines. The library board has no way to enforce the collection of fines, but instead it's supposed to be a sort of honor system. At the present time, quite a few dollars in unpaid fines are owed.

So don't be a welsheer—when you keep a book out of the library longer than you are supposed to, pay that fine of a few cents and more books can be bought for the library.

You have through Tuesday, January 31, to pay your poll tax.

Did you see the men on the bank and drug store corners putting in their time last Saturday for a good, good cause? Many of these men had other things to do, but they were willing to work out there an hour or so on Saturday, so that perhaps some small child may be able to walk instead of remain an invalid (or die), due to a case of infantile paralysis. If you were not one of those who helped, would you have been willing to help out if you had been asked? You know, if you want to do things like that, you don't have to wait to be asked—your services will always be appreciated, and more if you volunteer.

Here's some food for thought which I think worth passing along.

A man told me the other day that if he and all others who use tobacco would quit the use of tobacco and give that money to the government instead to pay on the national debt, that national debt would in a very few years be completely wiped out.

I do not mean to encourage the use of tobacco by anyone.

they do not care to smoke or chew, or dip, then they can let it alone.

But doing without tobacco by everyone in the U. S. and applying that money on the national debt wouldn't help much—would not be the correct solution.

If that were the case, why not cut out attending movies and give that to the government? Why not cease taking pleasure trips in your car and give that to the government? Why not quit buying all items of luxury and give all that to the government?

Now you can see the answer, can't you? If you and all others in the U. S. quit smoking, or quit going to the movies, or quit taking pleasure trips, or quit buying items of luxury, think of the thousands—yes, millions—of people who would become unemployed. In the tobacco industry alone, for example, think of the hundreds of growers who would have no market for their product; think of the hundreds of buyers of raw tobacco who would be out of jobs; think of the thousands employed by the big tobacco companies as processors, administrators, and salesmen who would be out of jobs; think of the thousands of wholesale tobacco men who would be out of jobs; and think of the thousands of retailers who would either be out of jobs or without one big source of revenue.

No, that isn't the correct answer to the national debt problem.

It is more likely that the correct answer lies in more buying, thus creating more earning for everyone. It's a vicious circle.

Depressions are caused, you know, by a lack of money. Where does it start? Perhaps with the retailer. People get loaded up on merchandise, the supply exceeds the demand. So merchandise is sold on credit. It's usually so easy to buy on credit that a person will overload his ability to pay. He defaults, and so does the retailer in a matter of time. Then the jobber is forced to default, and then the manufacturer, and bang! we are in the middle of a depression.

However, if this buying were to be voluntary (not by legislation) placed on a slightly more cash

Vic Vet says

PAY GI INSURANCE PREMIUMS ANNUALLY, SEMI-ANNUALLY, OR QUARTERLY INSTEAD OF MONTHLY . . . IT'S EASIER AND SAVES YOU MONEY

plan, then that cash would quickly circulate. The more you buy providing everyone else did likewise, the more you would make. The more you make and spend, the more the government gets in taxes. The more taxes which are taken in, the more money there is to pay off the national debt. But credit and easy payment buying wouldn't be exactly the right procedure, because somewhere down the line, someone has to come up with the cash. Naturally, our system is built on credit buying and selling, but it can be overdone. When it is, the depression hits us.

Anyway, the point is this: stopping your buying will not pay off the national debt and neither will it bring continued prosperity. When buying stops, prosperity stops.

Another thing which comes to my mind frequently is the question of whether a depression is a depression or not. True, many people go broke, many are jobless in a depression. But is it a depression, or merely a change of values? The price of everything you have to buy in a depression is way below what it is in good times. You don't make as much money, but you don't need as much.

Guess I better stop—this is getting a little deep for me. Enjoyed talking to you anyhow.

High School News

We are still making giant strides toward an education. It's true the holidays checked us a little, as Mr. Horton predicted they would. We realize it now but—too late. However, we have at last gotten our respective think tanks to working properly, our tuition paid, and are indeed glad to know that Christmas is a long way ahead.

Through a mistake of the school editor in last week's report, the names of Sam Erwin and Curtis Mitchell were left off the honor roll. Both gentlemen made extra good grades and we regret very much that their names were omitted.

M. C. Graham visited us Monday morning and gave us a short address, in which he pictured in his comical way the hardships and privations of a country school teacher. We feel sure the gentleman will climb over these to worldly prosperity. He was followed by Mr. Horton, who gave one of those short stirring addresses that makes one think. He showed the advantages the towns and cities have over the country schools. He also sympathized with Mr. Graham as he said he had been all along the line.

Our new Standard Encyclopedia came in the first of the week and we can now get information on almost any subject. We are expecting more books in soon and it's only a matter of time until we can truthfully boast of having a modern library. Let the good work go on.

A number of pupils as well as the teachers have lately complained of having the headache in the afternoon. We have decided it is due to inhaling so much crayon dust, and in order to overcome that dread disease we have ordered six boxes of dustless crayon.

The society boys called a meeting Tuesday afternoon and elected new officers for the coming month. They expect to give a public demonstration in the near future. Watch for the dates.

The following new pupils have been added to the high school list since Christmas: Emmett, Orin, and Fred Thompson, Herman Glass, Ray Faulkner, Elsie Hodges, Hattie Thompson, Ninvah Glass, and Etta Kunkel, and express themselves as being highly pleased with the school work.

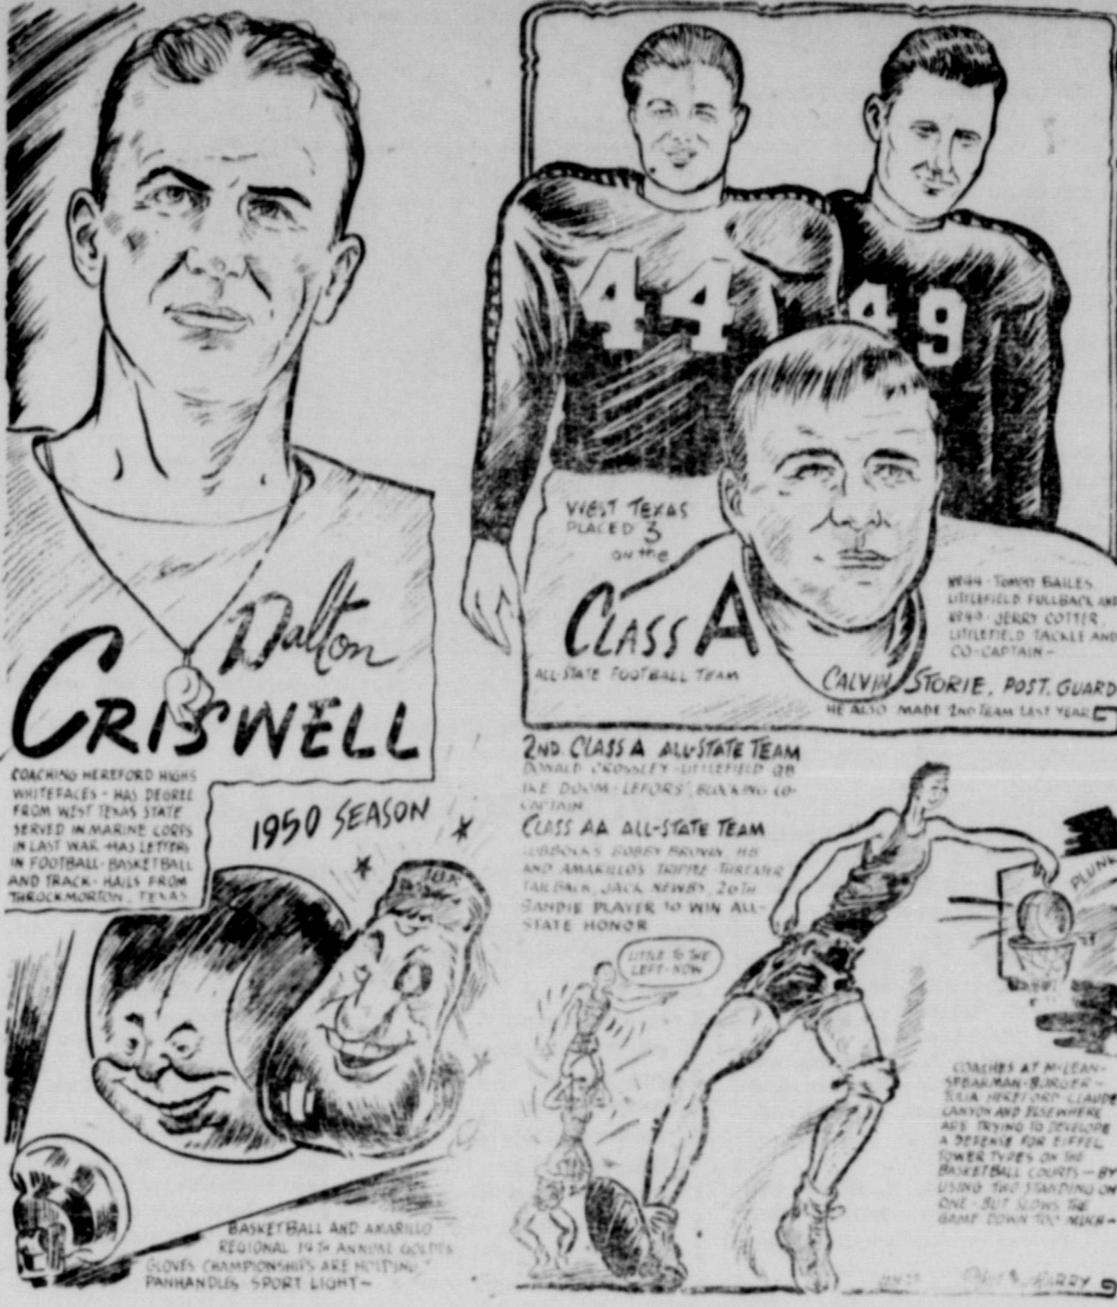

Oh, we're by no means on a standstill. Come up and see for yourself.

Buy at Home

The average Georgia farmer buys canned and dried fruits—likewise canned and dried goods. He gets up at the alarm of a Connecticut clock, fastens his Chicago suspenders to his Detroit overalls, washes his face with Cincinnati soap in a Philadelphia wash pan, sits down to a Grand Rapids table and eats Indiana hominy fried in St. Joseph lard, with bacon from Kansas City, and flour from Tennessee baked on a St. Louis stove. He puts a St. Louis bridle on a Missouri mule and plows a farm covered with an Ohio mortgage. When bedtime comes he reads a chapter from a Bible printed in Chicago, says a prayer written in Jerusalem, and crawls under a blanket made in New Jersey, only to be kept awake by a Georgia dog, which is about the only home-raised product on the place.—Ex.

Poor Editor

A preacher at the conclusion of one of his sermons, said: "Let all in the house who are paying their debts stand up." Instantly every man, woman and child with one exception rose to their feet. The preacher seated them and said: "Now every man not paying his debts stand up." The exception noted, a careworn hungry-looking individual, clothed in his last summer's suit, slowly assumed a perpendicular position. "How is it, my friend," asked the minister, "that you are the only man not to meet his obligations?" "I run a newspaper," he meekly answered, "and the brethren here who stood up are my subscribers, and—" "Let us pray," exclaimed the preacher.—Alabama Baptist.

LIBRARY NEWS

By Ledy Bryant, Librarian

In January of the year of 1949, I began compiling data for the early history of McLean. I contacted all the old-timers I knew personally, and wrote letters to others, lots of them. But I am sorry to report that the information now in hand is two letters, and one postal card. This I know, I need your full cooperation for this project to be completed soon, and I will ask you today, tomorrow, and the day after that, until I have a liberal amount of facts to make a file on the history of McLean. Last year grade school students asked for this material, and now the high school students ask me why I don't have it. Facts and figures, and all the humorous happenings will be accepted.

New books for today, "The Big Eye," "Winter Wheat," "Tomorrow We Reap," and "The Giant Joshua." Approved reference books like "The Annual Report of the Smithsonian Institution," are filled with subjects of educational importance for the reading public. Visit the library often, today if you are in town.

Dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Butrum Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guyton.

Wedding vows for Miss Glenda Joyce Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruel Smith, and John Morse Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Haynes, were solemnized at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church.

Rev. W. B. Hicks, minister of the First Methodist Church, performed the single-ring ceremony before an archway entwined with greenery and pink gladioli. Large baskets of pink gladioli and branched candelabra were placed at either side.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Bob Thomas sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Travis Stokes, who also played the traditional nuptial selections. Gwendolyn Riddle of Amarillo and Wyanette Caldwell of Borger, cousins of the bride, lighted the tapers. Misses Riddle and Caldwell wore identical dresses of toast brown and yellow taffeta and wore wrist corsages of pink and blue carnations.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a baby pink, slipper-satin dress suit with matching pink halo hat and shoulder-length veil.

The bride's maid of honor was Ernestine Dickinson of Dallas. She wore a sky-blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations. The bridesmaids, Dorothea Back of Abilene and LaWanda Shaddid of Denton, were dressed in gold and blue-gray and wore pink and blue carnation corsages.

Holloway, grandmother of the bride, wore a pink corsage, and Mrs. J. S. Morse, grandmother of the groom, wore a white corsage.

At the reception in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony, the serving table was laid with a pale blue linen cloth, with a miniature bride and groom emerging from a plastic church house as the centerpiece. Pink gladioli served as the background. The three-tiered white cake with pink floral designs was served by Mrs. Lester Dysart, and punch was served by Mrs. Sammy Haynes.

Moved

Yes, we sold our new building by the Post Office to Mr. Cruckett and have moved back in our small building on the same corner across the street north of Post Office where we started in May, 1947.

We are not quitting business. We are planning on serving you better by giving you a larger stock of paint—better and larger selection of wallpaper—more items for repairing, decorating, and building your home. You will find good prices on certain grades of lumber on this corner. Cemented, lime, deadening felt, half surface butt hinges, etc.

On another page in this issue I told you I wanted to apologize. And here is the reason. While in the new building my door was three feet from the Post Office door and I could see the many orders coming from the mail order houses. And here is one of hundreds I could show you that affects all business houses in McLean. Mrs. Z. ordered by mail, paid 25 per cent more and postage, than the same identical article would have cost her on the shelf three feet north of the Post Office. Naturally the question comes to our mind why pay more? Why not move to the mail order city? Wages might be better and living conditions better. Then I stopped wondering why and just said I'm to blame. I didn't advertise. I didn't tell Mrs. Z. she could buy the article cheaper in McLean. So I apologize for not telling Mrs. Z. what I had for sale and asking her to check and compare my prices with prices elsewhere on the same quality merchandise.

Therefore, in the future look for my ads in your McLean News, as you will find some bargains along with a little gossip.

Remember I have 750 patterns of wallpaper ready to deliver the day I get your order, price 14c to $7.50 S. R. Thanks for your goodwill and support.
