Spaghetti-Vegetable Medley

PRACTICAL meal planners always are on the alert for tempting, inexpensive main dishes with an added touch of glamour at no increase in cost. Spaghetti-Vegetable Medley is a colorful new creation that's sure to be a "second-helpings" treat as well as a budget success.

Here's the new twist—combine cooked spaghetti with cheese sauce and top with tender, green Brussels sprouts and golden carrots. Try the vegetable arrangement pictured above or use your own imagination for design. But keep it simple for most attractive service.

The spaghetti and cheese combine to offer, inexpensively, fine quality proteins. The vegetables contribute generous amounts of vitamin along with minerals and other vitamins.

To keep this Medley in the "easy-to-fix" class, why not serve bakers' enriched hard rolls and parsley butter? A simple fruit, salad, milk, coffee and your family's favorite flavored pudding spell "success" for this delicious dinner.

4 ounces long spaghetti
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 cup enriched flour
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 1/2 cups milk
 1 cup cubed American cheese
 Cooked buttered Brussels sprouts
 Cooked buttered whole carrots

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about 15 minutes). Drain and rinse. While spaghetti is cooking, melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Fold in cheese and stir until melted. Fold in spaghetti. Arrange on hot platter with Brussels sprouts and carrots alternately around edge. Makes 4 servings.

WHAT'S COOKIN'

In Gray County H. D. Work

By Mary Anne Duke

Civilian Defense
Home Demonstration Club women in Gray County are moving ahead with the civilian defense program. Mrs. T. D. Anderwald, council civilian defense chairman, told the agent this week.

The questionnaire which is circulating in the rural sections of the county at the present time, according to Mrs. Anderwald, is for the purpose of determining where sick room equipment is located in rural homes, people's blood type, and who has had first aid and home nursing training.

Other things the questionnaire includes are: which homes have equipped first aid kits; which homes have a light other than electricity or candle; to which drugs or vaccines are family members allergic; list of relatives or friends who live in other cities or friends who could be taken care of in the event such relatives or friends lost their homes.

Atomic Attack Film
Merten Home Demonstration Club will hold a community civilian defense meeting the night of June 15 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Threatt. Mrs. P. J. Boyd, Merten club civilian defense chairman, will be in charge of the program and will show a film, "Survival Under Atomic Attack." The film has been scheduled for use in Gray County from June 13 through June 30. Arrangements for the use of the film will be made in the home demonstration agent's office.

This film teaches families what to do to protect themselves in case of an atomic attack.

First Aid Instructor

Mrs. Wm. Albert Smith, new-comer from the East to McLean, has joined the McLean Home Demonstration Club. Mrs. Smith, who has earned her First Aid Instructor's certificate, will assist Mrs. R. T. Dickinson with the civilian defense program in McLean.

According to Mrs. Anderwald, much of this preparedness program serves a real purpose in any emergency, such as a tornado, flood or fire, as well as being prepared in case an atomic attack should come.

Members of Mrs. Anderwald's civilian defense committee are Mrs. J. B. Jones, Bell; Mrs. P. J. Boyd, Merten; Mrs. J. R. Carney, Grandview; Mrs. Roy Tinsley, Worthwhile; Mrs. Doyle Ward, Hopkins; Mrs. R. E. Montgomery, Wayside; Mrs. R. T. Dickinson and Mrs. Wm. Albert Smith, McLean; and Mrs. Jessa Roberts, Back community.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Rippy Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lankford and family of Tulsa, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Kohls and son of Madison, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Holder and family of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Rippy, and Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Roach of Shamrock, Leonard Roach of Key West, Fla., Mrs. Paul Ladd, and Mrs. Nida Rippy Green.

IN LESS THAN six days after birth you learn to open your mouth and put your foot into it. Then it takes 60 years to unlearn the trick.

Loose talk, we've found, comes from opened mouth. Seldom have we ever heard of a man with normal vocal chords saying anything with his mouth shut.

Sometimes we feel that it is better to leave unsaid some things. Yes, better for us, better for our friends, better for our community. But not everyone agrees with us.

There are a few people in business in our little community who can undo, with their vile-talking mouths, in a matter of a few minutes what it may take others months or years to build up. These few souls are the ones who continually "run down" the town, its many improvements, its schools, its churches, its people.

Recently, a salesman commented to us that, in making his calls, he was told the town is "dead." Apparently he didn't agree with the person who told him, for he wore a grin as he repeated it. But the impression that one man left with that salesman will remain with him for a good long time, we'll wager.

We thoroughly disagree with the person who says McLean is "dead." We are more inclined to wish those persons who make such statements were in the condition in which they choose to describe the town. Yes, we know, as well as anyone else, that, generally speaking, business has been slow since the first of the year. Frankly, we expected it to be thus, due to the poor crops last fall, the increase in prices of most items, etc., etc.

But it is our honest opinion that business is just as good here as most any other place in the entire Panhandle area. Engage yourself in conversation with a business man in Amarillo, for example. Get him to tell you the truth, and you will find that, on the average, business in Amarillo is off.

Yes, business is off throughout the Panhandle, simply because it is mostly dependent on agriculture. Take the good crops away from farmers, or take away a decent price for agricultural products, and the entire Panhandle suffers. The prices are sufficient, most farmers will agree, but the trouble is they haven't been able to make anything to sell.

Your business men in McLean, therefore, are in the same boat as the business men in every other town in the Panhandle. A few manage to show some increase in business, but most of them feel the effects of the short agricultural crops of last fall.

Your town, McLean, is no "deader" than any other community. You may be, but the town isn't.

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:

1. Not directly, or by themselves. An untreated or unchecked cold may lead to such serious illnesses as pneumonia, pleurisy, tonsillitis and other infections of the upper respiratory tract. Even if it does not cause complications it must be remembered that the longer a cold hangs on, the more susceptible the body becomes to more serious illnesses.

Answer to Question No. 2:

2. No. Although statistics show an increase in the number of cases of tuberculosis reported in the U. S., the figures are misleading because case-finding methods have improved so that more cases are now discovered, especially in the early stages when cure is relatively easier and quicker. Whereas five years ago only 2,000,000 chest X-rays were taken (outside the armed forces), seven times that many were taken in 1949.

Answer to Question No. 3:

3. There is little harm in using average amounts of salt. In certain kidney and heart diseases your doctor will reduce your salt allowance. Salt in the system helps retain fluids. Contrary to popular belief, it does not make the bones brittle or arteries hard.

LES

By LESTER

To the person who sent in the clippings from a recent issue of this paper with a couple of words underscored: We don't mind the ribbing—as a matter of fact, we're glad to know you read the paper—but at least we have the nerve to have our name attached to what we write.

Anonymous letters are peculiar things to us. I have personally never written a letter without signing my name, unless I just "plumb forgot" to sign it. Therefore, it's hard for me to understand why people will do those things. The clippings referred to above did not make up a letter, however, but were just meant for a gentle ribbing for us. Which is all right, for I don't mind the ribbings.

But quite often we get an unsigned letter. We make it a policy not to print these unsigned letters, unless they are mighty, mighty unusual and timely, or perhaps entertaining. Actually, I feel that if a person takes the time to write a letter to a newspaper, radio station, or some similar firm, then that person should have the intestinal fortitude (guys to you) to sign the message.

We do have a policy which will permit us to leave out your name if you so desire. In other words, the writer can sign his or her name, and request that the name not be printed. In such case, we keep the name on file, and will tell anyone who the writer is if we are asked.

Personally, I believe any such writer should sign his name and be quite willing to have it printed with the letter. Or he should never write the letter in the first place, if he is ashamed of it.

Last week, we went into great details to tell how our paving needs repairs. By the time the paper was out, the repair work was already going on. I did find out about the repair work before the paper was out, but not before the column had already been printed. Mayor Ed Lander failed to mention to me that a paving outfit had already been hired, so I simply didn't know about it.

Anyway, some of the pavement patching was begun the middle of last week.

As far as I know, though, the city has not yet bought a street sweeper, so that part was all right.

McLean is quickly becoming known as the "city of new roofs."

If the paper shortage continues, and if the price of paper continues to go up, they are going to have to make our shoes out of leather again.

Had an electric light installed in our cellar recently. As long as we don't have a storm bad enough to cut off our electricity supply, the light is a fine thing to have. Now I can take down a supply of newspapers and magazines, and sit back and relax while awaiting a tornado which

I hope doesn't show up. Also have four bunks in the cellar, but they are so hard it's kinda difficult to do much relaxing on them.

Howard Horne is having a phone installed in his cellar. His particular job as manager of the power and light company makes it necessary for him to sit near a phone during a storm, or the approach of a storm, just in case the power goes off somewhere in town.

After the session of last Wednesday night, Howard says he is not only going to have electricity in his cellar, and a phone, but also every other convenience he can crowd in there. "I'm going to be ready to move in at a moment's notice." Truly, I believe Howard has a pretty good idea there.

After nearly every storm warning, hear complaints from some of our citizens concerning the warnings. These people say, "Why, I looked at the cloud and there was absolutely no reason for sounding a warning. Why did they blow the siren?"

Now here's my idea of the storm warning. The siren is sounded with two long blasts to let those within its hearing distance know that a cloud is near which could be a dangerous cloud. Those who hear the siren have two options: they can remain in the house or wherever they may be, or they can go out and look at the clouds. If they think the clouds are bad, then they can go to the cellar, or go back in the house, whichever they desire. If they think the clouds are not bad, they can still do either of these two things.

But keep this in mind: If you hear those two long blasts, you DO NOT HAVE TO GO to your cellar or that of anyone else. You can keep still in your chair, or roll over and go back to sleep in your bed.

Nobody outside of your family and your friends care whether you go to the cellar or not.

There are others of us who appreciate the sounding of the siren to let us know a bad cloud is approaching. I believe we are in the majority, too. So, please, please, stop your complaining. Statistics are with you in your reasoning. Chances are there isn't one chance in a thousand or even one in a million that McLean will be hit by a tornado this year, or next year, but there is still that fraction of a chance that it will. The one time the storm warning isn't given in all likelihood, be that your chance.

Statistics are mighty useful to prove a point, but we don't suppose statistics ever proved anything which didn't have an exception.

Various Diseases—VIRUS THE CAUSE

On the surface there doesn't seem to be much in common in such diseases as rabies, shingles, sleeping sickness, and smallpox. But in the laboratory they all boil down to virus as the cause of illness.

Actually, rabies, shingles, and sleeping sickness do have certain characteristics that tie them together in that they develop sickness by attacking the nerves. The germ of rabies is spread to man by infected saliva from an animal, the germ of shingles is spread by a close contact with someone who has either shingles or perhaps chickenpox, and the germ of sleeping sickness, the kind that may develop into an epidemic, is believed to be spread by contact with someone with the disease.

Smallpox stands out in any group of diseases as an example of the studies that might lead to a definite stop to the spread of a contagious disease. The horror and ugliness that have marked smallpox in years past have given way to the mild inconvenience of smallpox vaccination all because a country doctor in England, Edward Jenner, discovered that milkmaids who developed pox sores from infected cows never developed the more serious disease of smallpox.

Rabies could be just as well controlled, probably, by the simple act of vaccinating family pets. Though wild animals also become rabid when infested with the virus that causes this disease, it would not spread in civilized communities if the animals, especially dogs, had all been vaccinated as a protection.

A rabid animal does not always froth at the mouth, though that is one of the most characteristic signs of the disease. A rabid animal will die within 10 days of developing the disease, however, and for that reason the animal is kept cooped up when it is suspected of being rabid. After it dies, the germs of the disease may be identified in the animal's brain and rabies can be definitely diagnosed.

Untreated rabies in a human being leads to death. Therefore, when there is any possibility that a person has been bitten by a rabid animal, the doctor advises the series of anti-rabies shots. These are pretty powerful shots, as they have to be, and usually make the person receiving them pretty ill, but when it is a question of life or death, the shots are, of course, the preference.

There have been many superstitions in the past to treat the bites of mad dogs. If the dog were really mad, those stones and pumices would hardly suffice to prevent the spread of hydrophobia or rabies. The Pasteur treatment, the name for the anti-rabies shots, is the safeguard of modern medicine against the devastation of rabies in human beings.

Speaking of superstitions, there are probably few diseases that have more calamitous beliefs connected with them than the shingles. These itching, burning blisters that break out on the body follow a nerve tract and usually form a sort of circular band, maybe at the waist or the wrist. They hurt badly enough by themselves but every case of shingles will revive the old saying that when the circle or no circle. It is pretty much the same thing as a fever blister on the lip, and it may be even a closer relation of chickenpox. Children rarely get shingles, though evidence seems to point to the fact that adults who come in contact with children with chickenpox sometimes break out in shingles.

The older the person with shingles the more pain and itching there seems to be with the disease; the pain is sometimes quite extreme.

You can see the outbreaks of shingles and know you have it. Sleeping sickness is frequently not a disease you can see and may be so slight a case that you don't know you've had it until it leaves some mark during convalescence.

The first sign of the disease may be a sudden falling asleep or it may be a sudden delirium. On the other hand there may be nothing sudden about it at all, just a growing drowsiness, a progressive lack of attention and awareness, a kind of stupor. And the degree of illness during the actual time of the disease is no indication as to how serious an after-effect it may have.

Some people may become desperately ill with a clear-cut case of sleeping sickness and after the disease is over return quite to normal. Others may have such a slowly-developing case that it is not recognized at all until such signs as tremors or twitchings of the body, a paralysis of the face that creates a "dead-pan" expression or even a definite change in mentality develop.

This is a fairly new disease of mankind and much remains to be learned about sleeping sickness, or encephalitis as it is medically known. Mosquitoes might spread some kinds of this disease and other such insects are suspected when the disease breaks out in epidemics.

Another type of the disease results from complications with the minor childhood diseases, measles, chickenpox, and many of

With the lesson learned from smallpox, perhaps some day these other diseases will also be mainly of historical interest because science has devised ways of protecting against them.

Got to Be Clean To Be Healthy, Doctor States

Environmental sanitation is the public health term for clean, safe housekeeping whether it applies to a private home and its surroundings or to towns and cities. Among other things, it insures safe drinking water, proper garbage and sewage disposal, the safe storage of wholesome food including milk, rat and insect control, and general cleanliness of the premises. However, for environmental sanitation to be effective, it is essential that not only public health officials but the citizens living in their respective homes be operating establishments serving the public cooperate wholeheartedly," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"Consider, for example, the seasonal house fly hazard. It has been determined that 120 eggs are laid by a single female at one time and that a generation is produced every ten days at summer temperature. Thus, the possibility of reproduction during the warm months of a single fly runs into many millions. While the housefly does not bite, it is dangerous because it breeds and feeds upon both filth and food.

"Again, rats are the source of several diseases of man, including plague, typhus fever, infectious jaundice, and trichinosis, to mention some of the more important ones. Homes can be made comparatively ratproof by removing rubbish and garbage accumulations, and by closing avenues of access. Approved poisons and traps should be employed when a real problem presents itself.

"Removal of containers of stagnant water such as tin cans and barrels will do much to eliminate the mosquito for householders. The householder needs to devote more seasonal attention to mosquito eradication than he is today if this is to be properly controlled.

"In general good and thorough housekeeping, inside and out, is the personal and civic duty of every home dweller. It not only adds to the pleasure of living and removes disease hazards, but increases the appearance of one's surroundings."

More Poetry Than Truth (And not much poetry) Written for the benefit of my mother:

Odell Mantooth, star catcher for the Post Office softball team in the McLean Lions Club summer softball league, batted out a total of 19 homers as the P. O. team won out 19-0 over a strong group from Oshkosh.

Mantooth racked up the only hits of the game, and made the entire trip around the diamond each time he went to the plate. But that wasn't all. As the star catcher in the league, Mantooth traveled over the entire field chasing fly balls hit by the Oshkosh batters. On one occasion, he raced all the way to left field to pull one out of the air.

It was a display of superb softball playing, the likes of which will never be seen on this or any other field again. As a matter of fact, many fans are demanding the field be named Mantooth's race track for the years in the future. Come to see me some time.

POWER-PACKED -and then some!

There's a lot of reasons you can expect a new GMC to keep hauling a lot longer than any other truck you can buy.

First is the fact of horsepower. Whether it's a gasoline-powered 1/2- to 2-tonner with horsepower unbeaten in its class, or one of the new heavy-duty Diesels—you can't beat a GMC for "go"!

But the extra value you find in these great trucks doesn't end at the power plant.

There's the smooth GMC Synchro-Mesh Transmission linked to a sharp-shooting drive line, pouring every ounce of power back to the rugged rear axle. And the solid way horsepower becomes wheel-action—you know there's extra depth of truck performance engineered right down through a GMC's broad-shouldered frame!

And standing guard over these long-time trucks are husky brakes with more area than most—the surest, easiest steering ever devised to direct a pay load home—all controlled from a spacious "Six-Footer" Cab that's Weathersealed for a lifetime.

GMC's come in the widest range of engine-body-chassis combinations to fit any trucking need. The prices? No better buy anywhere! Come see for yourself.

Misses Mabel Upham and Lillian Williams of Lefors were here the latter part of last week the guests of Miss Ida Brown. Miss Brown accompanied them home and will visit there for several days.

HAVE A BETTER KITCHEN

Country living needn't deprive you of the city conveniences such as automatic garbage disposing. The farm kitchen, or that of any country or suburban home where city services are not available, can make use of this modern convenience that eliminates the garbage problem.

Electric food waste disposers, which grind wastes into tiny particles and flush them into the sewage system, have long been used with septic tanks. The extra load placed on the system may require somewhat more frequent cleaning, but the unit's usefulness outweighs this disadvantage.

If you are building in the country, or are planning to install a food waste disposer to an existing septic tank, here are a few pointers that sewage engineers agree should be followed.

To assure trouble-free operation, it is recommended that a tank with 500 gallon capacity be used. Food waste disposers will operate satisfactorily with smaller tanks if the family is small, keeping down the volume, but it is safer to use the larger tank.

Another recommendation is that any grease traps be eliminated or by-passed. The amount of fats found in average home food wastes are solidified and broken up by the action of the disposer. This permits the fats to pass through pipes and drains to the septic tank which can easily take care of the load.

Be sure the man who installs your septic tank knows his business, and let him know that you plan to use a food waste disposer.

40 Years Ago—IT HAPPENED HERE

Taken from the Files of the McLean News, June, 1911

Is it an offense against the laws of the State of Texas to sell whiskey and beer in Gray County? Just now that all important question is occupying the attention of the people of McLean.

It appears that there was a local option election held in this county several years ago at which the majority of the votes were cast for the proposition, but through some error in recording the returns there is a doubt as to its validity.

This fact was brought to light at the recent session of the county court, at which a man was tried, upon an indictment returned by the grand jury for selling whiskey in local option territory. Attorneys for the defense discovered the irregularity and brought it to the attention of the judge, who threw the case out of court.

While the matter has not been carried further in the courts for a test yet, the citizens believe that the safest and surest way to determine the matter is to hold another election. With this intention in view, a petition has been circulated, reading as follows:

To the Honorable Commissioners' Court of Gray County:

We, the undersigned citizens and qualified voters of Gray County, Texas, hereby petition your honorable body to order an election to be held by the qualified voters of Gray County, Texas, to determine whether or not the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited in said Gray County.

There are in the neighborhood of 60 names attached to the petition and it was mailed to the county clerk the first of the week to be filed for action by the next meeting.

It is felt that there is little doubt as to the result of this election, as by far the larger majority of our people prefer prohibition. In fact, there is

McLEAN TEXAS

Rep. Walter Rogers Reports--

The 82nd Congress: Much has been said in the newspapers lately to the effect that the President may call this another "do nothing" Congress; also that this Congress has been slow and inactive in passing major legislation. These are general terms and do not give a clear picture of what is going on.

Only yesterday the majority whip Congressman Percy Priest of Tennessee, made the announcement on the floor of the House that he was keeping up with the Rules Committee and that there was no legislation to be reported. This is the same man who had not been attending to the Rules Committee since the House floor it must come through the Rules Committee. As fast as the Rules Committee is moving the legislation to the floor the House is attending to business and is presently waiting for measures that have cleared other committees to be voted out by the Rules Committee.

All of the committees are working exhaustively on legislative matters in an effort to work out the problems that could cause extended and costly debate on the floor of the House. This is especially true of the Appropriations Committee and the appropriations sub-committees. These committees have been holding extended hearings on all appropriation matters in an effort to cut out every expenditure possible. When these bills come to the floor, they are below the budget estimates and show that a great amount of extra work has been done by the committees. If this kind of work is what is being called

"do nothing," I say we need more of it.

The statement that this Congress has been slow in passing major legislation is certainly true if the major legislation referred to is the FEPC, the civil rights, the socialized medicine, and other socialistic legislation. This Congress is not only going to be "slow" in passing this so-called major legislation, it is just not going to pass it.

Furthermore this Congress is not going to pass legislation that would give more and extended controls to bureaucrats. It is going to require a lot of time and a lot of work to stop that kind of legislation, and I say that the time and work spent in stopping that kind of legislation is certainly well spent on behalf of the American citizen and the American taxpayer.

One of the big troubles with this country now is that there are so many federal laws that the average citizen cannot so much as read them much less understand them. When you add the federal laws to the many and complex state and local laws the average business man must be a law expert to keep from being a law violator. More work is needed toward simplifying the laws and regulations. Too much time has been devoted by so-called intellectuals toward creating complexities that the average man in ordinary business pursuits cannot understand nor comply with. Honest compliance with simple straightforward and easily understood basic laws is much more important to the preservation of this country than the promulgation and enforcement of long, involved and complex statutes containing ambiguous and technical words and phrases behind which can be hidden ulterior purposes. The truth still rings out in the phrase, "the best governed are the least governed."

There is more information about some of the progress this Congress is making against bureaucracy. You will remember in an earlier news letter my statements regarding HR-1, the bill providing for $19,000 life insurance for veterans while on active duty. This bill was approved by the Committee on Veteran Affairs of which I am a member. I told you at the time that it would reduce the administrative costs and save the taxpayer many dollars. The truth of that statement is now proven. Notices terminating employment have gone out to more than 800 employees who were employed to process applications and other matters connected with the government life insurance program. This will save the taxpayers approximately two and a half million dollars and will reduce the federal payroll by the 800 employees referred to. Had this bill finally passed both houses as it passed the House of Representatives, the savings to the taxpayers would have been approximately four million dollars and the reduction in employees would have been nearer 1,200. This is the kind of "do nothing" work that this Congress is doing, and will continue to do.

More on the beef price rollbacks: A group of cattle people called on the President the other day seeking to compromise the beef price rollback program. These people did not represent the thoughts of most of the cattle people that have discussed the problem with me, and it is my firm opinion that compromise in this matter is like appeasement—it just won't work. The action of the OPS in rolling back these prices is either right or wrong. In my opinion it is wrong and can only be righted by retracting the order. Under the present order the only people who stand to profit are the BIG packers, and the people will find this out later on down the line. I was on a radio program the other day with Senator Sparkman of Alabama, Congressman Toby Morris of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, a former Congresswoman who is now serving in a liaison capacity with the OPS. She made the unqualified statement that the cattle feeders and consumers would be benefited by the rollback. I showed her in simple arithmetic that that statement could not possibly be true. She thereupon undertook to justify her position by going off into the realm of speculation. I hope that some of you folks hear that program. It doesn't take a government official or a college graduate to understand that no man can afford to feed cattle at a cost of 85 cents a day when he can only recover 63 cents for the meat that is put on the animal. I could understand that when I was in the second grade. Mrs. Woodhouse also made the statement that the OPS had received numerous letters from cattle feeders to the effect that they were satisfied with the order. After the program was over I asked Mrs. Woodhouse if she would furnish me with copies of the letters she had received from cattle feeders. Her answer was that the OPS had received no such letters from Texas cattle feeders. There is entirely too much theory in these controls and not enough good practical common sense. The result is that this Congress is going to be very reluctant to extend many of these controls after June 30. You can watch for a good fight on this measure.

Visitors: Folks who have visited with me here recently include Mr. and Mrs. P. E. LIBRARY NEWS

By Lady Bryant, Librarian

After summertime vacations, this is "the readin'est town in the world." How do I account for it? Since June 1, 12 juvenile and three adult names have been added to the record as new members. Out-of-town readers are delighted with the privilege of two books per library card, for a period of two weeks, as the entire family read the books before they are returned.

A suggestion on how to get time to read a book. Talk less. Take along a library book when going to the dentist, lawyer—why read their old magazines?

Books of interest this month: "The Balance Wheel," "River of the Sun," "For Love's Sake Only," "Pink for a Lady."

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Tom Guy Capps, GREETING:

You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this citation, the same being Monday, the 16th day of July, 1951, before the Honorable 31st District Court of Gray County, at the Courthouse in Pampa, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 1st day of June, 1951.

The file number of said is No. 10,048.

The names of the parties in said suit are: Ruby Capps, plaintiff, and Tom Guy Capps, defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows:

Plaintiff sues the defendant for divorce and custody of children, Karen Starr Capps and Tom Charles Capps, alleging that:

On or about the 7th day of July, 1941, plaintiff was duly and legally married to defendant in the town of Venita, Oklahoma, and continued to live with defendant as wife until about the 30th day of April, 1951.

Plaintiff is, and has been for more than twelve months immediately prior to the exhibiting of this petition, an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in said County for a period of six months, next of Gray, where this suit is filed, preceding the filing thereof.

At all times, while married to the defendant, plaintiff has conducted herself with propriety, doing her duty as a wife, has at all times treated defendant with kindness and forbearance, and has been guilty of no act, bringing about or causing the hereinafter described acts, omissions and conditions on defendant's part.

Soon after the marriage of plaintiff and defendant, the defendant, disregarding the solemnity of his marriage vow, and his obligation to treat the plaintiff with kindness and attention, commenced a course of unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct towards plaintiff, which continued, with very slight intermissions, until plaintiff finally separated from defendant on or about the 30th day of April, 1951. On divers occasions, while plaintiff lived with defendant as aforesaid, defendant was guilty of excesses, cruel treatment and outrages toward plaintiff, of such nature as to render their living together insupportable, all of which caused the plaintiff to become physically ill.

There have been two children born of this marriage, to-wit: Karen Starr Capps, nine years of age, a female, and Tom Charles Capps, two years of age, a male. Wherefore, plaintiff prays that defendant be cited to answer this petition; that on final hearing plaintiff have judgment of divorce dissolving marriage between plaintiff and defendant; and that plaintiff have judgment of custody of the two above-named children; and that plaintiff have such other and further relief as the Court shall deem proper to grant.

If this citation is not served within ninety (90) days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

ISSUED this 1st day of June, 1951.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL OF SAID COURT, at office in Pampa, Texas, this 1st day of June, 1951.

DEE PATTERSON, Clerk, 31st District Court, Gray County, Texas (SEAL) 23-4c

GROWING PAINS

Free cotton classification and market news service for McLean farmers will be available this fall. Forms are just about complete and will be mailed in shortly. It was necessary to have the names and addresses of each cotton farmer in the McLean area in order to obtain this service. Both gins have cooperated with me in securing these names. Anyone planting cotton for the first time should turn their names in to one of the gins or to me when I'm in McLean on Tuesday. What actually happens is one of the local ginners will take samples of your cotton and send it in to the government graders. These graders will tell you the length of your staple and the grade. Therefore you will be able to check and tell what your cotton is worth. Also the price will be posted daily at the two gins. All this service is available free, providing we have your name listed, so don't overlook this service. Let's hope it quits this raining long enough for us to get this cotton up and started so we will have plenty of cotton to grade this fall. Quite a few plains farmers have planted cotton, some have stands, and others are planting over. There won't be nearly as much cotton planted on the high plains as was indicated back in the winter. As Floyd McLaughlin, Laketon, said the other day, "There sure was a lot of cotton planted around Laketon this winter while sitting around the store, but you don't see much being planted now." I've heard a few of the plains farmers talking about SOWING cotton. When you hear a fellow talking like this, you know for sure he doesn't know anything about how to grow cotton. The old hard work has never been taken out of growing cotton. The goose neck is still a necessary tool, and they have found it hard to find a substitute for the cotton sack. My, but my back still aches from the cotton I picked in the '30's. I'd rather grub stumps, and I've done both. Three Gray County 4-H boys walked away with top honors at Lubbock as livestock judges. They were tops in an entire West Texas-Panhandle wide contest. They beat Wheeler County's team by 100 points. The Wheeler team took second place in the state contest last year. Members of the Gray County team were Brent Carruth (top man of the contest), Vernon Baggerman, and Heuben Baggerman. Gray County also beat Wheeler County again in grass judging by 89 points. This also put them in top spot for Extension District 1, which comprises some 18 Panhandle counties. Members of this team were John Loyd Carruth, Glen Harris, and Jimmy Keel. On Tuesday, June 26, I will not be in McLean for my regular day due to the fact that we will be at College Station for the annual 4-H Club round-up and agent's conference. The boys on the above teams will compete for state honors at that time. Cleo Turpin was in the office last Tuesday and wanted to know if there was any chemical control for shinnery oak. I didn't know the answer for sure, so we wrote R. E. Fisher at the Spur Experiment Station, and he tells me there is none yet developed. They do have some that look favorable.

New Notes in Cooking

Quick and easy, hearty and substantial too, are dumplings made quick-as-a-wink with packaged biscuit mix and dropped into canned chicken soup, brought to the boiling point. Cover tightly and steam about 15 minutes. For the maximum in chicken flavor, sprinkle Accent (pure monosodium glutamate) inside the bird before stuffing, and use a little in the bread stuffing itself. It brings out those wonderful chicken flavors. Spanish as a scrape is chicken, cut in pieces and browned first, then slow-baked with rice, canned tomatoes, green peppers and minced garlic. Leftover cooked chicken, not enough to make another meal, stretches to six good servings when made into a baked chicken loaf. Any once-cooked meat regains its full, natural flavor when pure monosodium glutamate is used in its second preparation. Try a curried "baste" for a roast stuffed chicken. Combine 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 to 2 teaspoons curry powder. Brush over chicken and use to baste once or twice during the roasting.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER The great puppet show drama on in Washington's sticky weather. Stooze-like, one brass bound witness after another appears before the Senate committee investigating MacArthur dismissal. Despite millions of words of testimony, no reason for dismissal has been established. On military grounds, none will. The real reason for sacking will not come to light until Senate inquiries into MacArthur beliefs regarding Japanese peace treaty. Achesson did not want MacArthur to participate in peace treaty. The peace treaty is due to be arranged soon; hence the rush to get rid of the General. Russians, who theoretically have a voice in the Japanese occupation, and coming peace treaty, had been protesting bitterly about the way MacArthur shut them out. Achesson took notice of their protests. Besides Russians, MacArthur made bitter enemies of big monopolies, both in America and abroad who disliked his Japanese trust busting. Achesson took notice of their protests, too. Before MacArthur, entire Japanese economy was controlled by five big family owned trusts. The Big Five of Japan controlled all business, just as the Big Five does today in Hawaii. MacArthur created the climate in Japan for a free enterprise system of small business to flourish, bringing to an end the monopoly understandings that the old Japanese Big Five had with British and American monopolies. Apparently Achesson does not want a peace treaty to be reached which will permit freedom of enterprise to continue in Japan. Britain has already announced they want terms in the peace treaty which will definitely limit the extent that the Japanese engage in ocean transportation. Britain always seeks to monopolize the business of ocean transportation, a most profitable business. For example, American payers have paid out more than a half billion dollars, largely in foreign shipping firms, for transportation of billions of dollars worth of Marshall goods given to Europe. But the shipping monopoly just one of the monopolies MacArthur antagonized. No Japanese peace treaty recognizes and encourages development of the small businessman is wanted. Thus the whole dreary, non-investigation of the MacArthur ouster could be wound up in half day. A few simple senatorial questions on the proposed peace treaty for Japan could supply the reasons for the dismissal. MacArthur knows more about the Japanese situation than one in high government office. Should such a probe result Congress strongly insisting administrative end of government drafting MacArthur to direct Japanese peace treaty, facts would be revealed. It is possible some of the relations could be felt about. These revelations could not only upset the plans for a dictatorship by Socialism at Na Downing Street, but could undo accomplishments of President Attila on his recent trip to Washington. GOOD HEALTH

1. WHAT IS THE ALAMEDA PLAN? 2. AT WHAT AGE SHOULD CROSS EYES BE TREATED? 3. DO EUROPEANS HAVE HAY FEVER? Answer to Question No. 1: 1. The doctors of Alameda County, California, have set up a plan whereby any resident of the county can receive emergency medical care at any hour, regardless of his ability to pay. One of the most important features of the plan is a committee to settle any disagreement between patient and doctor. Answer to Question No. 2: 2. As early as possible, even in the first weeks of life. If a cross-eyed child is treated before the age of four, the vision lost because of the defect usually can be restored and the eye straightened. With lack of use, vision in the crossed eye is reduced and both eyes are harmed. Answer to Question No. 3: 3. Hay fever and seasonal asthma are far more frequent in the United States than in Europe because ragweed, their principal cause, has never existed in Europe.
