Pioneer Study Club Honors Senior Girls At Annual Tea

The Pioneer Study Club honored the senior girls, senior mothers and special guests at the annual senior tea, held recently in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist church.

Flowering peach, jonquils, narcissus, flowering almond, pear and plum blossoms were used in arrangements throughout the hall. Japanese parasols, fans, scrolls, figurines, lanterns and incense were also used to enhance the oriental atmosphere.

Mrs. Jim Back, wearing a turquoise Muu Muu dress and a red carnation headpiece, attended the guest register. The book, made by Mrs. Forrest Hupp, was of white satin with black Japanese characters.

Mrs. Elmo Whaley, club president, and Mrs. Hickman Brown, secretary, stood in the receiving line.

The tea table was covered with an authentic hand embroidered rice cloth, and was centered with a fan-shaped arrangement of fruit blossoms in shades of pink.

Mrs. June Woods, in a red and black Muu Muu dress, and Mrs. Jack R. Riley, wearing black satin embroidered pajamas, poured tea from a china service.

Refreshments, served from black lacquered Japanese trays, were chow-mein noodles, almond and meringue cookies, fish hors-d'oeuvres, fresh fruit kabobs and hot spiced tea.

Hostesses were Mrs. Forrest Hupp, Mrs. Alice Short Smith and Mrs. Harold Bunch.

Mrs. Jack Riley, wearing Czechoslovakian attire, related the wedding traditions of that country. Mrs. Bogan then described the scene of the Bhutanese wedding ceremony which was portrayed by Mrs. Creed Lamb, "royal bride"; Rev. Jack Riley, "groom"; Rev. Gerald Hill, "high priest." These people were all dressed in Japanese kimonos.

Weed-Nicholson Wedding Read In Lubbock

Standing before an arch of greenery centered by wedding bells and flanked by baskets of white carnations, Mrs. Shirley Arnold Weed and Hershel L. Nicholson recited twin ring wedding vows at 7 o'clock Saturday night, April 12. Rev. R. W. Harris performed the candlelight service.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arnold, 3412 31st St., Lubbock, was the scene of the wedding. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Nicholson of McLean.

Wearing a waltz-length gown of blue and white imported organdy over white taffeta, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The embroidered bodice featured a boat neckline and a wide cummerbund which terminated with a bow at the back.

Her veil of blue nylon tulle was secured by a band of blue rosebuds sprinkled with rhinestones. The bride carried white gardenias over a white Bible.

Miss Kay Morrison of Burkburnett attended as maid of honor in a pastel organdy dress. Her bouquet of blue and white carnations was accented by blue streamers. The bride's daughter, Paula Suzanne Weed, lighted the candles. She wore an ice blue organdy dress complemented by a head band of blue and white carnations.

Best man was Harold Henson of Vernon. John Maddox of Henrietta and Charles Garrett served as ushers.

A lace cloth over blue covered the serving table at the ensuing reception. The bride's flowers, blue candles and a three-tiered cake topped by a miniature bridal pair decorated the table.

Miss Gail Ward of Dallas and Mrs. Charles Garrett registered the guests. Other members of the house party were Mesdames J. T. Penn, R. K. Hill, Wichita Falls; Johnny Baker, Brownfield; Bill Paschal, Plainview; and J. T. Robinson, Levelland.

Mrs. Nicholson traveled in a blue silk dress with matching duster. She was graduated from Texas Tech with a major in home economics.

Student Gets Mention For Family History

Recently a personal touch of history was revived in this area through John Evans, a seventh grade student in McLean under Mrs. Vera Back.

Mrs. Back had asked her students to write autobiographies and John's had been of such exceptional content that it was printed in the column of Laura V. Hamner in the Sunday Amarillo News-Globe. After the piece was printed in Amarillo John received a letter from a Canadian resident who recalled some of the Evans' ancestors who had lived and fought during the period of the Civil War.

Following is the autobiography of John and the letter received: "My Ancestors and My Life"

"I don't know too much about my ancestors, but dad's people on the Evans side came from Wales and Ireland and settled in Kentucky. Twelve brothers, including my great-grandfather Evans, came to Mt. Pleasant and settled. I think all the Evanses in that part of the country must be my relatives, and there are a lot of them.

"Two great uncles on the Evans side that I know of fought in the Civil War. My great-grandfather on my dad's mother's side of the family, was one. Great-grandfather Tom Pollard fought in the Civil War and was also in several Indian battles with Col. Charles Goodnight.

"Once in a battle in Palo Duro Canyon they had some Indians trapped and were throwing fire at them. After a while it was quiet, so great-grandfather Tom Pollard looked over to see what the Indians were doing. An Indian shot him in the head with an arrow, but it didn't go into the skull, but it went into his skin. It took five men to hold him down while Col. Goodnight cut it out.

"In another Indian battle, an Indian shot him down and he was left to die, but Col. Goodnight came back and picked him up and saved his life. Great-grandfather Pollard later died from the old arrow wound.

"One of my great-grandmothers on my mother's side was a distant cousin of Sir Francis Drake. Her father was a captain in the Civil War and her husband, my great-grandfather Langford, was wounded in the Civil War. He fought under Stonewall Jackson. He was with Gen. Jackson when Jackson was killed. After the war he taught school to obtain a medical degree and spent the rest of his life as a medical doctor. Great-grandfather Langford was a preacher the rest of his life.

"Both my mother and daddy were born in the Indian Territory, or where Oklahoma is today. My grandfather Evans was a rancher and my daddy is a farmer, but I don't know yet what I am going to do."

The letter received: Dear John:

I do remember your illustrious ancestor, Capt. J. T. Pollard. Many times I have sat on his knee and listened while he told his Indian tales of the capture of Cynthia Ann Parker and many others equally thrilling. He was the captain of a division of Texas Rangers stationed at Mt. Walsh, near where the town of Granite now stands. My father, W. T. Hudgins, was in his company.

My two brothers, Howard and Terry, were with Capt. Pollard when he died and with my father were his pallbearers.

My husband and I belong to the "Trail Drivers" and the "Old Settlers," and I belong to "The Pioneer Club." My husband's parents were the first white couple married in the Panhandle. Their marriage certificate is in the museum in Canyon.

With hearty appreciation of you and your rich heritage, I am very truly yours, Mrs. Isaac M. Simpson

FOUNDATION OF OUR MEDICAL STRUCTURE

In the long pull, it is obvious, the quality of medical care in this country depends on the quality of its medical schools. There are 83 of these schools—and they constitute the foundation of our entire health and medical structure.

This fact points to the significance of Medical Education Week, which is to be observed during the April 20-26 period. As President Eisenhower has said: "In this great era of American medicine it is fitting that we set aside a special week each year to consider the work of our medical schools."

The primary job of these schools is to meet the demand for highly qualified physicians. At the same time, they carry on a wide range of other needed activities in the fields of teaching, research, service and leadership. And today they must deal with all manner of new challenges to the profession, some growing out of our constantly expanding fund of medical knowledge, and some resulting from the mounting complexity of our civilization.

In the years ahead, all the authorities agree, it will be necessary to substantially increase the number of physicians in practice in this country. That need can be met only in part by increasing the student bodies of the existing medical schools. This means that new schools can be established, and plans to that end are now in being.

Finally, it should be pointed out that it cost more than $200 million to operate our medical schools in a late academic year, and that only a small portion of the operating budget comes from student tuition. The rest is supplied by physicians, medical organizations, industry and foundations. And the schools' need for financial support, like their need for expanding facilities, will continue to grow.

TIME TO ACT

It's a truism to say that all citizens, industries and businesses should pay their fair and proper share of the tax load. Most people, no doubt, think that is what is happening.

Yet there is a great industry which is divided into two segments—one that pays federal income taxes and one that does not. That is the electric utility industry.

The story was recently told to the House Ways and Means Committee by C. B. McManus, chairman of the board of The Southern Company. In a late year, the tax-dodging, government-owned power operations generated more than 22% of all the electricity used in this country. As Mr. McManus put it: "A situation where over 20% of an industry is automatically escaping fed-

WHAT IS A BANK WORTH — TO YOU?

We don't mean the physical assets, but a bank's worth as a place to save your money safely . . . for the convenience of checks . . . for safekeeping of valuables . . . for loans when you need money, etc.?

It would be difficult to name a value for the many services a progressive bank can offer, for its prestige in your business and personal transactions, for the financial friendship built up thru the years.

For your day-to-day money needs, for the times in life when you face financial opportunities or emergencies, the services of your bank can be an asset beyond price.

AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK

eral income taxes is a grave discrimination against that portion of the industry and its customers that is providing an important part of the tax revenues of this country.

That isn't all. The federal power projects do not pay local taxes either, with the exceptions of TVA and Hoover Dam which contribute comparatively nominal amounts in lieu of taxes.

This is no small matter. Taxes paid by the business-managed utilities have been running at the rate of 23.5 cents out of every dollar of their revenues, of which 14.4 cents goes to the federal government and 9.1 cents to state and local government. To use another illustration, the electric companies' total sales are less than 1 3/4% of the total gross sales of all corporations—but they pay more than 4% of all the corporate income taxes collected in this country.

Mr. McManus told the House committee that legal experts say there is no constitutional obstacle to federal taxation of federal power operations. In simple justice to all the taxpayers, they should be taxed precisely as are the private companies. And now, with deficit spending on an unknown scale confronting the country, is the time to take this step.

From a PASTOR'S STUDY

By H. A. Longino for Ministerial Alliance of McLean

WHY ARE LEADERS "LEADERS"?

It would be interesting to thumb the pages of the Bible to determine who were leaders and why they held such noble positions. A more interesting phase would be to study the background, or history, of those who became leaders.

Christ indicated that there is a difference in the abilities of men. Too many persons who profess to be followers of the way of Christ, take pride in placing to themselves only "The One Talent" ability. In other walks of life they aspire to be recognized as having abilities and strong personalities. The indicated difference proved to be in one's willingness to apply himself to the task at hand. Man, left to himself, is exposed to failures without proper resources to combat the difficulties of life.

As we left the apostle Peter, in last week's discussion, he appeared to be a vassalating type of man. Shall we follow through with him to the completing of the Day of Pentecost and then check his life to his martyrdom. There are abilities deeply imbedded in most men but it often takes a shakeup to bring them to the foreground. Christ knew more about Peter than Peter knew about himself, as an admirer of Christ. Christ also knew the excuses the "Man With One Talent" was hiding behind.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Do you remember the magazine "Comfort—Key to the Home"?

And the Chicago Blade, with red headlines and accounts of such things as a hen hatching snake eggs—with a pen-and-ink drawing of the scene?

And Grit? (I guess every man who was a boy 50 years ago sold Grit on the street or from door to door. I did). Grit is still being published; recently celebrated its 75th anniversary and has almost a million circulation.

One beautiful morning this past fall, at 8:10, a disheveled man on a Fort Worth street corner asked, "Mister, could you let me have three cents?"
 What a way to start a day!

Can you remember when radio was sweeping the nation? Back about 1924, Graham McNamee was listened to by millions as he gave exciting, and excited, accounts of football games, world's series games, championship fights, triumphal receptions on Broadway and other colorful happenings.

A convict. (In the Ohio prison, I believe) became famous because of radio for his piano playing, especially for "Three O'clock in the Morning." So many listeners appealed that the governor granted him his freedom and he went on a national tour. (I heard him when he played at the Connelley Theatre in Eastland.)

In those days, listeners tried for distance and next morning would boast about their success. One morning in Cisco, a man said, "I got Detroit." Another said, "I got New York." A third remarked, "My wife raised the window and I got chilly (Chile)." That ended the session.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

By VERN SANFORD

Dull Season at Capitol

It's a comparatively dull season at the State Capitol now. About the only noticeable "sound and fury" is generated by workmen putting air conditioning in the legislative chambers and building new state structures nearby.

Last year at this time the Capitol was a turbulent arena. Lawmakers' pounding debates, electric disclosures and close votes kept galleries filled, committee rooms jam-packed.

Now the lawmakers are scattered. But state issues are being decided elsewhere. Next year's legislators are out "talking with the people to see how they feel."

They're at church suppers, P-TA carnivals, civic club luncheons, lodge nights and cemetery "workings." They're feeling out support, asking questions, making commitments in your town.

Answers they get and commitments they make will, in large measure, determine how the close votes go this time next year.

Small Turnover Possible

Prospect now is mostly for familiar faces at the legislative desks next January.

Barring a sudden rush of announcements, at least two-thirds of house members and nearly 90% of senators will be old hands.

Latest statewide survey by the Texas Legislative Service shows only three senators—Ottis Locks, Searcy Bracewell and Carlos Ashley—bowing out of politics. There will be a scramble by House members for those seats.

Of the other 12 senators up for re-election, only one, at last count, had an opponent. Remaining 16 in the upper house are having a "breather," since only half of the senate runs each two years.

House of Representatives generally has a large-scale assault on incumbents every election and about a 30% turnover.

Less upheaval seems likely this year. Only about 20 representatives are not seeking re-election, including those running for the senate. Of those running for the house again, or still undecided, only about 30 have announced opponents.

A question mark enters into race decisions this year. Whether or not legislators will have annual sessions and annual salaries will not be decided until the constitutional amendment is voted on next November—after the primaries. For some the prospect of $7,500 yearly is a lure. Others don't like the idea of having to be away from homes and businesses a good part of each year.

At Last

Spring has finally sprung in Texas employment, bringing the long-awaited seasonal pick-up in jobs.

Texas Employment Commission's latest report, for the first time since December 20, showed a significant decline in the number of unemployment compensation claims. Drop was from 2,435 to 89,326.

TEC said some 14,974 claimants had exhausted their benefits during January. Maximum allowed is $28 a week for 26 weeks.

Grow With Us

Some 3,000 major new factories will locate somewhere in the south within the next 10 years. Gov. Price Daniel urged the state's new Industrial Commission to get in and pitch for a Texas-sized share of the incoming wealth and job-making industries.

Chairman E. B. Germany of Dallas said the commission would accept the challenge. He said the commission would study industry-attracting techniques of other states and prepare a brochure on Texas' advantages.

Chief among these, said Germany, head of Lone Star Steel, is a "healthy attitude" among Texans toward industry.

Commission members serve without salary and without state funds to pay for projects. Several hundred dollars in donations have been received.

If voters next November approve an amendment removing the ban on state-financed advertising, the legislature can appropriate money for this purpose. "Make It Painless"

Tax talk towers over other topics in the build-up for the 1959 legislative session.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce has added a new idea to the stacks of proposals and counter-proposals being presented to the State Tax Study Commission. It suggests making available for general use some of the unused balances tied up in the state's more than 100 special funds.

AFL-CIO says stricter application of present property tax laws might solve the problem without enacting new levies. "Proper enforcement," said a labor spokesman, would tax, not only real estate, but bank deposits, boats, bank shares, stocks, etc. AFL-CIO had previously suggested a corporation income tax to meet the state treasury's expected need for more than $100,000,000 in additional revenue.

Business groups, generally, have opposed the corporation tax, saying it will hamper Texas' industrial development. Some have proposed a general sales tax.

Tax Study Commission already has issued two of a series of 8 to 10 research reports to lawmakers for tax decisions. A third report, on how tax money is used and what future needs will likely be, is due later this month.

Though taxes are a prime campaign issue, legislative candidates are treading delicately around the subject. One said in his announcement that he opposed a general sales tax and a state income tax and that "if additional taxes have to be levied, let's make it as painless as possible."

Good Roads Ahead

State Highway Commission has given approval to final phase of a 1959-60 state highway building program to cost $319,000,000.

It calls for immediate spending of $9,200,000 for right-of-way buying under the new 50-50 cost-sharing plan between state and local governments.

First phase of the advanced planning program was approved in February. Second phase covers 1,630 miles of roadway in 13 districts at a cost of $140,000,000. This does not include future work on farm to market roads and interstate highways.

Short Snorts

State Selective Service headquarters has asked local draft boards to send up 4,247 men for pre-induction physical exams during May. It will be the second successive month of high quotas—highest since Korean war—to replenish pool of potential military manpower.

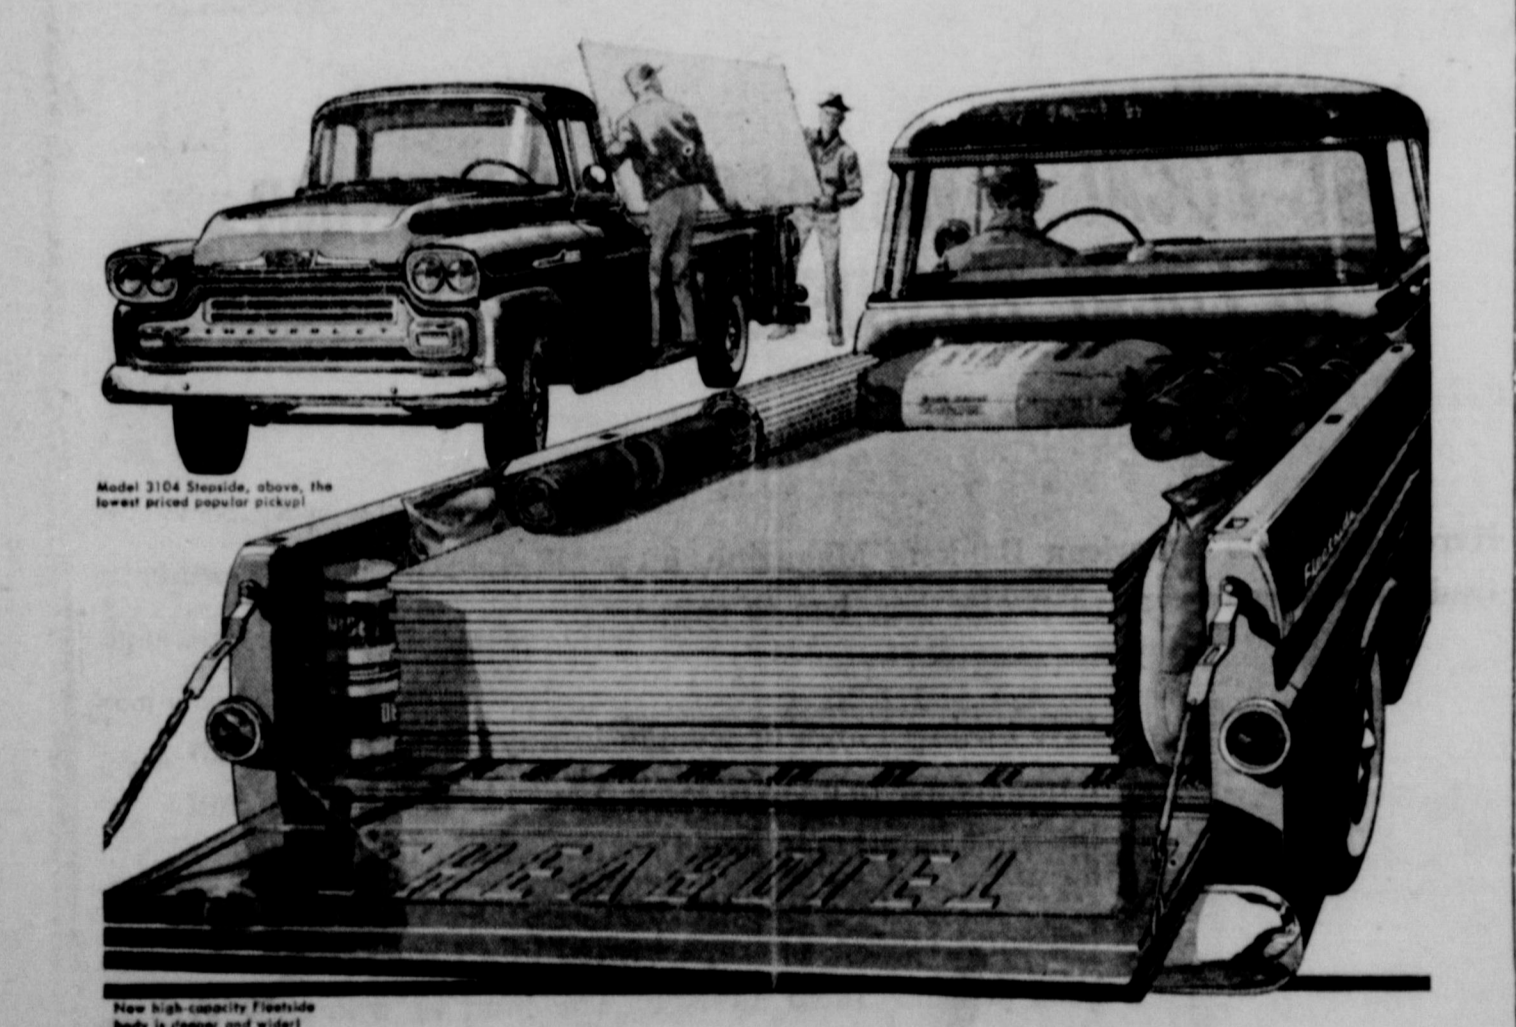

Price index of Texas farm products rose 2% from February to March, reports U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Crops rose 3%, livestock 1%.

TV SHOW TO BE SPONSORED BY DRUGGISTS

Brown's Rexall Drug Store, along with some 10,000 Rexall druggists across the country, will sponsor an hour-long presentation of "Hansel and Gretel" over the combined NBC TV and radio networks Sunday, April 27. The occasion for presenting this lilt-ing musical version of an old favorite fairly tale is the Rexall original 1c sale. The show stars Red Buttons and Barbara Cook, with special guest star Rise

Stevens; also starring Rudy Vallee, Hans Conried and Stubby Kaye. It will be carried locally over station KGNC-TV, channel 4.

Viewers and listeners, according to Mr. Brown, will learn what purchase power the penny still has. During sale days, Monday, April 28, through Saturday, May 3, customers can buy two identical Rexall items for the price of one plus 1c.

These sales began many years ago when the Rexall Drug Co. used them as a means of introducing merchandise to new customers. The original sale proved so popular that it has been repeated annually since 1913, achieving national prominence. It has become an American family event.
