

WITHIN BOARD'S AUTHORITY

Feinsinger States WSB Steel Proposals Proper

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger of the Wage Stabilization Board told questioning Senators today that the board's recommendations in the crucial steel dispute were "clearly within the board's jurisdiction and authority."

He said that would be clear to "any person taking the trouble to find out." Feinsinger, under strong fire from many members of Congress for the steel proposals, appeared before the Senate Labor Committee. He said allegations the board "exceeded its authority and ignored its own regulations" were as far from the truth as anything could be.

He was called to give his opinion on an amendment prepared by Sen. Morse (R-Ore) to the Taft-Hartley Act making presidential seizure of plants and facilities legal in certain cases. The bill would give the President clear authority in specific instances to seize plants affected by labor disputes. American industry generally, and many legislators, have condemned the President's seizure of the nation's steel industry a week ago as a "usurpation" of power.

Jap Treaty, Pacific Agreements Signed

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—President Truman signed the Japanese peace treaty today and the State Department announced that peace with Japan will be made effective April 28.

The department said it announced the planned effective date of the treaty—which will end World War II in the Pacific—"in order to permit an orderly completion of the transition of Japan from the present occupation status to that of full sovereignty."

In a White House ceremony, the President also penned his name to three related Pacific security pacts. One with Japan gives the U. S. the right to keep military forces in and around Japan. The others are mutual defense agreements with the Philippines and with Australia and New Zealand.

Truman's signature to the ratification resolution, adopted by the Senate last month, is the next-to-last step for the U. S. before the peace treaty with Japan comes into full force and formally ends the state of war with the once bitter enemy.

The final step of depositing the instrument of ratification with the State Department. The President did not say when this step would be taken but officials expect it by the end of this month.

One reason for delay is to afford the Japanese people and government some advance notice of the time when their technical enemy status will end and their new period of independence will begin.

New Atomic Blast Noted Over Nevada

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 15 (AP)—The second blast of the spring atomic series flashed brilliantly at 9:30 a. m. today at Nevada proving grounds.

It was plainly visible in Las Vegas, some 75 miles distant, but it was neither felt nor heard here. There were no reports of damage.

The explosion was the 14th at the Atomic Energy Commission test site here and unofficially the United States' 26th. Observers reported it appeared larger than the blast April 1 which opened the current series.

The detonation site was believed to be Yucca Flat, the northernmost of the two dry lakes which the AEC uses for test shots. The April 1 experiment was conducted on Frenchman Flat.

The feature blast of the series comes next week. More than 7,000 Army, Marine and Air Force men are to participate in atomic maneuvers. Newsmen and civilian defense observers have been invited to witness one of the tests.

It was not until the explosion was over that the AEC officials said the blast was the largest in the series since the first one in 1951.

UN Tanks Kill, Wound 300 Chinese

By STAN CARTER SEUL, Korea (AP)—A powerful United Nations tank force killed or wounded 300 Chinese Reds Monday in a furious bombardment of Communist lines on the Central Korean front, the U.S. Eighth Army announced.

Many of the Allied tanks fired for an hour and 45 minutes from positions in front of U.N. lines. It was the biggest tank action in two months.

Eighth Army said the tanks, firing from no-man's land southwest of Kumson, destroyed or damaged 99 Red bunkers, a field gun, 16 buildings, 39 trenches and 15 gun emplacements. The Communists fought back with 300 artillery and mortar shells and machine-gun fire.

Allied infantrymen early Tuesday retook a hill east of the Pukhan River on the Central Front two hours after they were pushed off by 400 Chinese Reds.

As the Reds swarmed up the hill, Communist artillery opened up with a 500-shell barrage. The Allied troops battled in close combat, but pulled back from the hill just after midnight and called for their own artillery.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, the rambling Tennesseean, is the only Democratic candidate on the preferential list. But he may not get the 32 convention votes because Archibald Alexander, former under secretary of the Army, already has declared for Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Alexander heads an unopposed slate of eight Democratic delegates at-large and also is assured of formal nomination in today's "bring to oppose" Republican Sen. H. Alexander Smith, or Smith's primary opponent, for the Senate.

The Republican battle—first on the ballot meeting of the two major presidential contenders since Eisenhower won in New Hampshire March 11—far overshadowed interest in a Democratic presidential poll and selection of that party's 32-vote convention delegation.

B-36 Bomber Crashes; 15 Men Dead; 2 Badly Burned

SPOKANE, Wash., April 15 (AP)—A giant 10-engine B-36 bomber faltered and fell on takeoff at Fairchild Air Force Base today, killing 15 of the 17 men aboard.

The huge craft crashed through a fence at the end of the runway and burst into flames in a farmer's wheat field.

Somehow two men survived. They were seriously burned and suffered from shock. They were unable to speak to investigators. The B-36 hit with terrific force and pieces fell off as it bounced along the ground. It stopped in the edge of Ernest Alf's wheat field and burned fiercely.

The B-36 was virtually a shell in minutes. The $34 million bomber was taking off on a routine training flight from Fairchild, some 10 miles west of here.

Truman Sets Meet With Midwest Governors As Floods Hit New Marks

Rich Midwestern Area Reduced To 'Ghost' Status

Army Engineers Join In Fight To Prevent Flooding

OMAHA, Neb., April 15 (AP)—President Truman booked a flood meeting today with Midwest governors for tomorrow at Omaha, currently the center of a Missouri River flood rampage that has turned the beleaguered basin into a valley of misery.

Center Of Critical Flood Area. This map shows the major areas involved as the Missouri River's flood damage continued. The Mississippi, at a record high at St. Paul, threatened Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa communities to the south. (AP Wirephoto).

The President asked governors of seven states to meet with him to discuss measures for dealing with the emergency.

The announcement in Washington came as the wild river, at record chattering heights all along its Iowa-Nebraska reaches, surged to 22 feet and leaped against levees protecting Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia., with a force never anticipated.

About three-fourths of Council Bluffs, city of 45,000, was a ghost town, with about 30,000 persons out of their homes. Refugees and relief activities were jammed into the one-fourth of the city high enough to be out of danger.

On the Omaha side, another 5,000 persons were homeless. Add the battle to raise levees against a 21.5-foot crest expected Thursday continued. The job was to be completed tonight. Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army Engineers, after a first-hand check, said "we have a good chance to hold."

With the upper Mississippi River Valley in similar flood throes, the Red Cross in Washington reported at least 34 towns in the two valleys have been flooded, with heaviest damage so far in the Dakotas and in Iowa. More than a million acres are under water in the two river valleys.

The Red Cross estimated that an eight-state area where the waters are raging, a total of 15,939 families and some 76,000 persons have had to flee their homes. This figure covers the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kansas and Missouri. At Washington, the Red Cross See FLOODS, Pg. 8, Col. 1

Precinct 3 Votes On Wet Or Dry May 10

May 10 has been set by the Commissioners Court as the date for a wet-dry referendum in justice precinct No. 3 (Forsan).

The date was fixed Monday in response to a petition presented several weeks ago. The ballot will be on prohibiting the sale of all alcoholic beverages in the precinct. Currently, there are license holders in the precinct.

Considerable legal maneuvering has gone into the re-activation and adjustment of the justice precinct as a prelude to the vote. Originally established back in the boom days of the Howard-Glasscock oil field, justice precinct No. 3 then embraced that of the Forsan voting box and territory which extended into Big Spring. After a few years, need for the precinct subsided and the Commissioners Court entered an order abolishing it.

Legal opinion on the point is divided, but most of those who have studied the matter here are doubtful that the Court could abolish the precinct since the State Constitution holds that counties should have four justice precincts.

In asking for a precinct local option election, petitioners had in mind embracing the south half of the county, or roughly the Forsan, Elbow and Lomax areas. However, the latter two boxes are in voting box No. 8 in Big Spring, and justice precincts cannot be carved out of voting boxes. Voting box lines can be changed only at prescribed times in July and August.

Meanwhile, an order was entered re-defining the justice precinct boundaries as conforming to that of the Forsan. In July and August action may be taken to change voting box lines so as to make possible the bringing of the Elbow and Lomax area into justice precinct No. 3. The immediate effect of the order is that the vote on the liquor question on May 10 will be confined to the Forsan voting box.

Decision May Be Near Over Rental Housing In Area

Announcement on the granting of allocations for 300 rental units for Big Spring may be near.

E. T. Stearns, in charge of the Fort Worth district office of the Federal Housing Administration, said that a selection had not been made definitely at this time. However, some top prospects, based on applications, have been rated preferentially. The present status is that those who submitted these applications are being called in for interviews.

"We want to know about the builder's background, his experience, his financial ability and backing, and the general prospect that he will be able to perform," said Stearns.

Around 3,350 Units For Rent Registered In The Local Area

Approximately 3,350 rental units in the Big Spring Defense Area have been registered at the local Office of Rent Stabilization, R. H. Weaver, attorney-director, reported today.

These do not include tenant farmers, caretakers, domestic help, business property, etc., which are not included in registration requirements.

A few rental units have not been registered yet. Weaver said, and owners should take steps to register them immediately. Personnel at the rent office, located at 104 1/2 East Third Street, will advise landlords in filling out registration forms.

St. Paul Crest Is Not Expected For 48 Hours

Dikes Threatened In Stockyard Area; Damage Toll Soars

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Swirling downstream with record-breaking force, the mighty Mississippi continued today to take a mounting toll in the St. Paul lowlands.

Although the crest is not expected for another 48 hours, thousands already are homeless. Damage is estimated in the millions of dollars.

Fears of record damage to downriver cities increased hourly as the water level rose in St. Paul, only 350 miles from the river's source in the Minnesota north woods country.

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson said after an aerial survey yesterday the "Father of Waters" and its tributary Minnesota River were "dealing out a major disaster."

Continuing to inch upward, the Mississippi is expected to crest Thursday at 22.5 feet—8 1/2 feet above flood stage. Early today, gauges registered just under the 22-foot level. That was two feet above the highest ever recorded here since 1931.

Since Sunday, the river has swept 14 blocks deep into St. Paul's West Side, driving an estimated 5,000 persons from 1,500 dwellings.

Forced all traffic but buses and trucks from two main bridges when automobiles stalled in water up to the running boards on low-lying approaches to the spans.

Brought an embargo on shipments to the South St. Paul stockyards, where dikes were threatened by the raging waters.

Knocked out the twin cities metropolitan sewage treatment plant. Covered large sections of railroad freight and passenger switchyards with up to three feet of water.

Brought activity to a halt at a score of West Side industrial plants, and kept pumps busy in downtown structures, periled by force of flood waters backing up in sewer outlets.

A crew of 16 men and two officers labored through the night to save the $500,000 Naval Reserve station from inundation. The structure, on an island in the Mississippi opposite the St. Paul downtown district, had its "lower deck" awash. A batter of pumps was in action to keep the waters down.

PRECINCT CONVENTIONS Strategy Determined By How You Have Control Of Sessions

By ROY GRIMES AUSTIN, (AP)—If your group is in control of a precinct convention it is always sound political practice to hold and adjourn the convention as quickly as possible, even in a matter of minutes.

If it is permitted to drag, there always is the danger an opposition group may gain strength. If your group is not in control, then delay is your best bet.

If strength is fairly evenly divided, your best policy is a cautious course, not pushing too aggressively on minor issues but trying to turn undecided votes your way on the most important issue, which is the selection of delegates to the county convention.

Firemen Make Run

The Fire Department made a run to 6th and Goliad this morning.

Only a scorched ceiling at the Model Laundry was listed as damaged.

No Services. A Coast Guard helicopter hovers over two churches which had to cancel services Easter Sunday because flood waters of the Missouri River at South Sioux City, Neb. put them on their own private little island. Many persons have been evacuated from the city. (AP Wirephoto).

N. J. Phone Strike Over, But Workers Can Still Be Affected

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's strike-tangled communications wires were unravelling today with the settlement of a New Jersey telephone dispute bringing to three the number of walkouts ended. But three other wire strikes still were unsettled, and one of these against the Western Electric Company could nullify the effects of the three settlements by keeping phone workers from their jobs.

Mild Weather Over The State

By The Associated Press. Mild spring weather made Texans forget the drought Tuesday. Recent rains, especially in East Texas, helped the drought-wracked state forget, too. In most of the blackland cotton country, there was enough moisture for planting. Forgotten was the lack of subsoil moisture, the nearly empty cisterns, the lowered level of wells, and the shrunken city reservoirs across the state.

Dallas Firm Gets Okay To Build A Pipeline To Coast

FLORENCE, Ariz., April 15 (AP)—A Dallas company has been granted permission by the Secretary of the Interior to build a pipeline from West Texas and New Mexico oil fields to California, Sen. McFarland (D-Ariz.) said yesterday. McFarland said Secretary Chapman notified him yesterday he had granted permission to the West Coast Pipe Line Co. to build the $75-million pipeline.

The Eisenhower national campaign manager came to Houston last night for conferences with Jack Porter, state campaign manager for Eisenhower.

Lamar Board Plans Further Study On Naming President

BEAUMONT, April 15 (AP)—The Board of Regents of Lamar State College of Technology meet tomorrow "for further study" on the choice of a new president of the school. Dr. John E. Gray signed Jan. 1 as president of Lamar to become executive vice president of the First National Bank in Beaumont.

Taft Charges HST Endangers Freedom

PITTSBURGH, April 15 (AP)—Sen. Taft accused President Truman today of endangering the country's freedom and opening the way for "any President to make himself a dictator." The Ohio Republican, seeking his party's nomination for President, said he believed Truman's seizure of the steel mills "is a violation of the Constitution." Taft's remarks were in a speech here on his campaign tour. "Truman's steel action, he commented, 'is in line with his general disregard of the Constitution and laws of the United States.'" He added: "It follows the usurpation of the power to make war in Korea. It follows the usurpation of the power to send American soldiers to Korea. 'His action and the precedent thereby set endanger the freedom of this country and make it possible for any President to make himself a dictator if he chooses to do so.'"

Says Truman Misquoted On Tidelands Veto

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—The White House says a caller misquoted President Truman in telling newsmen the President planned to veto a pending bill giving the states title to submerged coastal lands.

I. A. Smoot, a former Salt Lake City postmaster, said on leaving the White House yesterday that Truman had informed him the measure would be rejected.

Press Secretary Joseph Short said five hours later that Smoot had "misquoted the President."

The Senate and House have passed measures giving the states title to the oil-rich coastal lands but the bills are before a conference committee to reconcile differences.

Truman vetoed a similar bill in 1946 and Congress failed to override the veto. At that time, the issue was before the Supreme Court, which later held the federal government has prior rights over the land. California, Texas and Louisiana are the states primarily concerned.

Smoot has pending an application to lease lands off Long Beach, Calif. He said Truman informed him he would direct Secretary of the Interior Chapman to grant the leases which Smoot and others have filed.

Short told reporters: "First, the President did not tell Mr. Smoot the pending tidelands bill will be vetoed. That legislation has not reached the President for signature and the President reserves comment thereon at this time."

"Secondly, the President did not tell Mr. Smoot that he would order the Secretary of the Interior to issue federal tidelands oil leases."

"Mr. Smoot urged the President to do both these things, but received no commitments on either request."

Smoot, reported en route to Salt Lake City, was not reached for comment.

Revolving Stage Can Really Spin

COPENHAGEN, April 15 (AP)—The mechanism of a modern revolving stage at Odense went crazy last night and sent sets for "Die Fledermaus" spinning before a startled audience. Scenes erasing from a ballroom to a prison spun by dizzily until an operator got the contraption stopped. The show went on eventually, but the stage was turned slowly by hand.

TO FIGHT GEORGE PARR

ALICE, April 15 (AP)—The Freedom Party, organized by a group of World War II veterans for the announced purpose of ending "one man political control in Duval County," today named a partial list of candidates for county offices.

Donato Serna of San Diego, head of the party, said other candidates will be chosen and a complete slate of candidates will be on the ballot in the July Democratic primary election.

Serna, manager of a small producing oil company and owner of a drug store, will be his party's candidate for County Judge.

The number one plank in the party's platform calls for "The termination of one man political control in Duval County."

This reference was to George Parr, at present Sheriff of Duval County.

"For nearly a half century this county has been under the political domination of a few, in which the civil rights and freedoms of the people have been jeopardized to the extent that at the present time there exists a very unhealthy climate," Serna said.

New Party Set Up In Duval County

"Those in power have used their control for their own personal advantages. We members of the Freedom Party are resolved even at personal sacrifices to oppose the present county administration, and offer to all the good and honest people of the county an opportunity to bring about the needed reforms."

Besides Serna, other Freedom Party candidates are: For sheriff, Carlos McDermott, San Diego filling station operator. For county attorney, Lawrence H. Warburton Jr., of Freer. Commissioner, precinct 2, Raymundo Garcia of Sejita. Commissioner, precinct 4, Enrique Lichtenberger of Seven Sisters. County treasurer, Gilberto Hinojosa of Benavides. Constable, precinct 1, Armando L. Garcia of San Diego. Constable, precinct 3, Dan Adams Jr., of Freer. County Democratic chairman, Matias D. Garcia of San Diego. Serna said all of the candidates except one are war veterans.

He said candidates also will be announced for county clerk, treasurer, tax assessor, superintendent of schools and district clerk.

San Antonio Firm Is Low Bidder For Bonds At Coahoma

COAHOMA — Columbian Securities Corp. of San Antonio bid in the $220,000 school building bond issue here Monday evening on an average interest charge of 2.60.

The offer, accepted by the board of trustees, is subject to the State Board of Education priority at that figure.

Columbian split the issue three ways. The initial $15,000 for the years 1953-55 would go at 2.25 per cent. The second block of $145,000 from the years 1956-58 would go at 2.50. The final block of $60,000 for the years 1959-72 would be booked at 2.75 per cent.

Architects are pressing plans on the new elementary school building and modest high school changes to be financed by the bonds, said Supt. H. L. Miller. He said that the board was hopeful that construction bids might be asked early in May and that construction could start by June. Application has gone to Washington, D.C. for steel for the project.

SHIVERS WON'T RUN FOR CONGRESS

Rayburn Denies He's Picked For Presidential Nomination

By The Associated Press

Senator Tom Connally's announcement that he would not run for re-election continued today to echo through state political circles.

Part of the Texas political circus—newspapers, office-holders, and local leaders—jumped for the Price Daniel bandwagon. Others searched for an opponent to the state attorney general's Senate bid.

In Bonham, Speaker Sam Rayburn denied knowledge of a White House conference in which he was reported chosen for the Democratic Presidential nomination. There has been no such conference, Rayburn told the Associated Press.

At the same time, in Dallas, Governor Allan Shivers told a dinner audience he would not be a candidate for any office "outside Texas."

Shivers' statement apparently quashed conjecture that he would run for the Connally post or be a Southern Democratic nominee for the Presidency.

The Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Daily News reported Rayburn was chosen as the administration candidate at a conference between the Speaker, President Truman and Vice President Alben Barkley.

Before Rayburn could be reached for comment, Senator Connally said he would support Rayburn for the Big Job. But the Speaker said, "I'm running for Congress from this district and nothing else." He said should his name be presented at the national convention, "I'll make a statement at that time."

Shivers told a Founder's Day dinner of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalists' fraternity, "I will not seek any office outside Texas."

He said a good Democrat should be judged upon his loyalty to democratic principles rather than to political bosses. He has often criticized the faction of Democrats who call themselves the Loyal Democrats of Texas. It was a member of this group, Fagan Dickson, who recently charged that the governor was a "secret" candidate for President of the Southern Democratic bloc.

Shivers, at the time, said the Dickson charge was "too silly to answer."

As many Texans jumped for the Daniel merry-go-round, Senator Connally told a packed Washington news conference he was not "looking for" or "responding to" any draft to run him. He said Texas friends told him he could be re-elected with an arduous campaign he did not want to make.

Both Governor Shivers and Atty. Gen. Daniel had words of praise for Connally and his 36 years of service in Congress. The Sherman Democrat and Temple Telegram, principally owned by Frank Mayborn of Temple and his father, Ward Mayborn of Sherman, also praised the Senator and announced their support of Daniel. So did Carl Estes of Longview and his newspapers.

In Washington, Rep. Wingate Lucas of Grapevine said he had telegrams from his home district, which includes Fort Worth, asking him to run for the Connally post. He had no comment on the suggestion.

There was a heavy silence from the office of former Rep. Ed Gossett who was reported getting heavy urging to run for the office. Gossett had been mentioned as a possible successor to Connally before he resigned his seat in the House to become general counsel for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Dallas.

Martin Dies stayed silent for a day after saying Sunday night he was considering the race. That has been the position of the former chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee for months.

Former Governor Coke Stevenson, defeated by 87 votes in 1948 in his Senate race with Lyndon B. Johnson, made no sound from his ranch near Junction. Friends discounted the possibility he might run.

It was apparent all possible candidates were taking a second look at the senatorial set-up.

But Governor Shivers, the man most politicians thought might change his mind, said: "I have been working on Democratic Party matters, trying to get the voice of Texas heard in national councils, and I hope those efforts will strengthen the party in Texas. To me this is more important than any personal campaign in which I might participate."

No Business Is Conducted At Truce Talk

MUNSAN (AP)—Korean truce supervision negotiators met for 25 seconds today—just long enough to run through their pat routine of the past week—no business.

Meanwhile, the time for resuming crucial talks on prisoner exchange still was up in the air. Peiping radio said last night the U.N. Command had advised the Reds it was not ready to "take up again the conferences on how to exchange prisoners of war."

The Reds proposed Sunday that the talks be resumed. These were recessed April 4 to permit both sides to work separately on possible solutions.

The Reds had insisted on forced repatriation of prisoners. The Allies demanded the right of choice for each prisoner.

There has been some indication the two parties in off-the-record meetings prior to April 4 worked out a secret formula for exchanging prisoners and that the Allies are reworking their list of prisoners to bring it in line with the formula.

The two truce supervision issues—Russia's role in post-armistice Korea and the question of rebuilding North Korean military airfields—are considered open to solution once agreement is reached on the critical prisoner exchange problem.

The Allies want a ban on military airfield reconstruction and oppose Red nomination of Russia as a neutral truce observer.

The last five meetings on truce supervision have taken up four minutes in all.

Monks were the timekeepers of the Middle Ages.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Hanging Pictures Too High Often Ruins Looks Of Room

By ELIZABETH HILLER

Topiary picture hanging is one of the commonest of all room faults. Five weeks as a judge in room decorating contests again emphasizes this point to this department — by agreement of panels of judges, more rooms were criticized because the picture hung too high than for any other reason. Look around the room you're sitting in now. Would it improve if all the pictures were pulled down 2 to 3 inches? Lower levels relate pictures to the furniture under them.

tie them into a decorative grouping. This unity of pictures and furniture in a grouping makes the room more restful, corrects that uneasy feeling a picture can cause when it seems to be flying upward to the ceiling. It's so easy to change the alone and lonely effect a picture has when it's hung too high to a look of belonging to the room, and the lower picture is easier to look into and enjoy. Your own experiment must decide when the picture's position is right, but your guide might be the rule — as nearly a rule as there can be — that the center of interest in the picture should be about 5 feet 3 1/2 inches from the floor.

Pamper The Peepers Say Beauty Experts On Care Of The Eyes

Fashion has special emphasis on the eyes. It doesn't seem possible that we ever got along without eyebrow pencil, mascara and that touch of eye shadow.

"We have learned how to use these beauty props so that eye makeup does not look theatrical. We enhance our eyes so that eyebrows and lashes are colored merely to intensify their own tones. We choose our eyeshadow either to complement or contrast with the natural color of the eyes. And we use it with discretion.

The brown-eyed girl chooses either brown or green eyeshadow, blue eyes take blue, blue-gray, violet or turquoise. Gray eyes are flattered by gray, blue-gray or turquoise eyeshadow, depending upon the exact shade of eyes. Few women wear eyeshadow for daytime appearances, but it is fun to use for special evening wear.

Navy Pilot Is Hero Of Crash Fatal To Five

BRUNSWICK, Me., April 15 (AP)—A Navy pilot today emerged as hero of a crash and fire that killed five men and injured the other five aboard a crippled patrol bomber attempting an instrument landing here.

Lt. (jg.) Thomas N. Pole, uninjured when his PV2 Ventura swooped into mist-shrouded trees at the edge of Brunswick Naval Air Station yesterday, suffered face and hand burns rescuing his co-pilot, Lt. Frederick G. Sachs, who was caught in the flaming wreckage.

One of the Ventura's engines failed on a flight to Quonset Point, R. I., and the pilot tried to return here, the plane's home base.

On Pole's first approach to a new runway he was off to one side and as he made a second pass "something else went wrong," Comdr. J. B. Ifft said, and the plane crashed into the trees.

"Probably the second engine was cutting out and the craft lost its emergency power," Ifft added.

The injured included Lt. (jg.) Edward G. Buck of Muskogee, Okla., the navigator.

No Texans were listed among the dead.

Coal Producers Set To Fight J. L. Lewis

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nation's soft coal producers, preparing for their expected 1952 wage battle with John L. Lewis, have quietly signed an industry pact which draws management's defense lines tighter. It was learned today.

The Bituminous Coal Operators Association, principal bargaining group for the industry, has signed up most of the Indiana and Illinois soft coal producers. These operators have long held aloof from joining the national bargaining group, choosing to take their own contract chances with the United Mine Workers' boss.

The coal industry, alerted by government seizure of the steel mills and what it considers exorbitant government wage recommendations for Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers, believes its new agreement will give it a great deal more resistance to Lewis' traditional divide-and-conquer strategy.

The new pact boosts the association's annual tonnage, on the basis of 1951 production, to about 240 million tons of soft coal roughly 56 per cent of the total soft coal produced by Lewis' miners.

The association is headed by Harry M. Moses, a former official of U.S. Steel Corp. It is regarded as the top bargaining figure on the industry side and one of the few men who can deal with Lewis on an even-Steven basis.

Lewis, just back from a Florida vacation, has been sitting on his 1951 contract ever since Feb. 1, the first day on which he could legally have given 60-day notice of serving his 1952 demands.

The contract is now on a continuous 60-day extension basis. This means it can be ended by either side, subject to 60 days' notice.

Tragedy Blamed On Outlaw Party By Venezuelans

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 15 (AP)—National security authorities said today last Wednesday's Holy Week tragedy in Santa Teresa Church where 47 persons died was plotted by members of the outlawed Democratic Action party.

In a communique, authorities said that the plot included the assassination of Defense Minister Marcos Perez Jimenez, a member of Venezuela's government junta. The communique said federal police arrested 14 members of the underground party on April 6 who confessed to the assassination plot. It added 300 homemade bombs were seized.

Earlier, federal police announced the arrest of 40 persons in connection with the church tragedy. The victims were trampled to death in a panic started when someone shouted "fire."

The Venezuelan Army took power in 1948 in a coup. The junta sent President Romulo Gallegos into exile and outlawed the Democratic Action party which he led.

Henderson Elected Colorado City Mayor

COLORADO CITY, — Leonard Henderson, 50-year-old service station owner, was elected as mayor of Colorado City in the council meeting Monday night.

Walter Grubbs was elected as mayor pro tem. Grubbs is 30 and manager of Radio Station KVMC. Previo y the two new councilmen, Alton Moore and Jeff Taylor were sworn in, as was Grubbs.

Henderson was re-elected. Mayor J. M. New had resigned his office as council head because of frequent absences from Colorado City.

The council had scheduled a public hearing on a budget of $283,518, but the public did not appear to discuss the budget. It was adopted unanimously.

The anti-peddler ordinance, requiring that salesmen secure permission of home owners to visit before calling upon them, ran into sudden death. Of six councilmen only Grubbs, who introduced it, and Bill Craddock voted for the ordinance.

Colorado City's stop sign system was discussed by Police Chief Sam Hulme, who noted that due to the number of signs in residential districts, motorists also were disobeying those downtown. The city has 400 stop signs.

The council approved courtesy tickets, to be furnished by the Chamber of Commerce, to out-of-town county overtime parkers. A. L. McSpadden and Dr. Harry A. Logsdon were awarded a year's grazing lease on the north water works property for $200. Taylor resigned as chairman of the board of city adjustment and city zoning board.

Councilmen went into a star chamber session in the evening's finale. City Manager Roy Dozier asked the final item of council action.

WON'T DISCUSS IT UN Council Rejects Tunisian Complaint

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—France is oppressing her North African protectorate, in which more than 100 persons have died this year in riots sparked by Nationalist demands for more self-rule.

It was one of the rare occasions in which the council had turned down a member's request to discuss a complaint.

A 14-nation African authors of the charges against France, anticipating the defeat, already had called their governments to ask if they wanted a special assembly. Affirmative replies were expected to pour in and there were strong indications the group could rally the 31 U.N. members necessary to call the session.

The move to put the Tunisian complaint on the council agenda mustered only five affirmative votes, both for the original Pakistan proposal for the discussion and for a Chilean compromise that would have listed the complaint but held off any debate until France showed whether she is carrying out promised reforms.

The motions needed seven votes for adoption. The yeas came from Pakistan, the only council member of the 11 complaining nations, China, Russia, Brazil and Chile. France and Britain cast the negative votes and the United States, Greece, Turkey and The Netherlands abstained.

The U.S. stand was criticized yesterday by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, U.S. representative in the U.N. Human Rights Commission and a U.S. delegate to the past six General Assemblies.

Emphasizing that she spoke only as a private citizen, the former first lady said she thought the U.S. position violated a traditional American policy of supporting full U.N. airing of all complaints.

U.S. delegates said previously they thought council discussion of the complaint might disturb negotiations which France says she will hold with the Tunisians.

Horse Trader Says Business Going To Dogs

GATESVILLE, April 15 (AP)—One of the last of the Texas horse traders says that the business is going to the dogs.

It was bad enough when old horses used to end up at the "glue factory," Walter Schaub opines, but it's downright humiliating for them to be consigned to modern day dog food plants.

During the past 12 years Schaub has owned 36,000 horses. Most of the 3,000 horses he buys and sells each year come from the 15 counties surrounding McLennan. Years ago he bought them in the country but now most of them come from auctions.

Schaub learned to tell the good ones from the bad ones when he was a kid on a farm near Gatesville. Successful horse trading, he says, is based on the old rule of "buy 'em cheap and sell 'em high."

Although he has owned 36,000 horses in a dozen years, Schaub has only had one he ever learned to love. That was Buck, which he bought for $11 as a 10-year-old back in 1935.

Buck died this year at the age of 27.

"He was the only horse I ever cared anything about out of all the horses I traded for," Schaub says. "I guess that it was because he was a good usin' horse—one that knew what I wanted him to do and did it."

Contract to Rebuild School At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY—The School Board of the Colorado City Independent School District, signed a contract with B. F. Horn Company of Abilene to rebuild the Hutchinson building, partially destroyed by fire in November, 1951.

The contract figure was $888,629, which will be obtained from bonds voted in April in the amount of $100,000 for the repair, combined with more than $100,000 received from insurance companies.

Present school board officers were re-elected, J. C. Bradley as president, Curtis Latimer as Vice President and Vic McCabe as member-secretary, other board members are Jinks Powell, Thurston Smith, Lon Strain, and Dr. J. D. Williams.

Upon the recommendation of Ed Williams, superintendent, teachers were elected to their posts for the ensuing year. The school system, at present, has six principals, H. M. Morton, M. C. Pyeatt, John E. Watson, C. B. Underwood, Weldon Moore, and Z. W. Carroll. Sixty-seven teachers are on the payroll.

Woman Says Youth Kidnapped Her After Break From Gatesville

LULING, April 15 (AP)—A 64-year-old Leander woman was kidnapped and held prisoner in an automobile for more than three hours early today by a 16-year-old escapee from the Gatesville school for boys. The boy was captured near Gonzales.

Mrs. Tom Wiley, a widow, told Harwell County Sheriff Roy Williams of Luling that the boy who had been sent to Gatesville for stealing her car last February, appeared at her home about 2:30 a.m. demanding food and money.

She said he took $18 to $20 and forced her to accompany him 65 miles to Luling in a car he had stolen at Goldthwaite, leaving a 6-year-old boy boarder in her home alone. She said the kidnapping was a result of the youth's fear she would report his escape to authorities.

A Mable Thought For Today—

The World's Saviour did not come to condemn the world, but to lead and inspire it to imitate a perfect life. "God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should have everlasting life." — John 3:16.

Sen. Connally's Usefulness Is Still Needed As Elder Statesman

The decision of Senator Tom Connally not to seek re-election signals the approaching end of a distinguished public career by colorful and stalwart Texan.

Remembering how he has served his state and nation so ably for almost two score years in the halls of Congress, there is scarcely any Texan but who will feel regret at this development. Still and all, those who feel that he has more than done his part in noble public service cannot begrudge this decision because of their regard for the physical well-being of Sen. Connally.

Many of his supporters had hoped that he might be spared the prospect of a contested campaign. But this was not the case. At his age, the rigors of having to stump actively so vast an area as Texas would have been taxing if not damaging to a man of Sen. Connally's age.

There are yet many months left in his career and we pray that they may be among the most fruitful and far reaching of all his service. As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he may be key figure in some decisions and developments which could have great historic significance.

Absence of Sen. Connally from the Senate floor will remove one of the shrewdest debaters in the history of that famous forum. Many a fellow citizen has retreated in confusion to lick his verbal wounds after langling with the silver-haired Texan on the floor. A past master at using the rules as an ally when needs be, the senator fought off many a piece of inequitable legislation through filibuster or in holding the floor as adjournment time neared.

In all the years he has maintained his sense of obligation to Texas, Above and beyond that, however, he has been conscious of his duties first as an American. And now, in the twilight of his career, Senator Connally has been cast in the role as leader in a new area when citizenship is coming to transcend national boundaries.

His decision to retire will, we hope and pray, add years to his life—a life that can be singularly useful in the role of elder statesman.

Pistol Was A Horse, And A Real Individualist Among The Equine

In Nottingham, Eng., a court has ordered milkman James Allen to keep up with his horse, Prince. It seems Jim had been letting Prince amble along unattended, while Jim himself dachled behind with his chores, and in one such ramble Prince had got into a fracas with a motor car and come off first, with the motor a poor second best.

One defense witness testified that Prince liked a little gallop at the stretch, but was otherwise a well-behaved gentleman. Anyway, the court ruled that an unattended horse and wagon constituted a menace to public safety.

Horses have personalities, as any horseman can tell you. Some are mean and ornery, some are humorous, some are skittish over trifles and stone-cold in emergencies. Some demon of research once made the claim that a horse is way down the scale in animal intelligence, but any lover of horseflesh knows this was a base canard.

In the old days every family had at least one horse that stood out from the rest in characteristics. We knew a family which had had a slight-built bay whose antics are a legend. First and last, every member of the family, plus many neighbors and unwary visitors, were thrown by old "Sixshooter," or "Pistol," as he was variously known. He would go along for days, carrying his load, without a false move. And then, like a clap of thunder out of a clear blue sky, old Sixshooter would swallow his head, arch his back, and deposit his human burden in the nearest prickly-pear patch. Seemed to get real pleasure out of it too. If a horse can laugh—and old Pistol could—this stunt would be followed by guffaws of sheer delight.

Sixshooter's specialty was wrecking buggies. He probably tore up more buggies than any horse that ever lived in the county, but he never hurt anyone doing it. Whether pitching or wrecking buggies, he seemed to know just how far he could go without inflicting injury on his riders or passengers, as the case might be. He just liked his fun, the old rascal, but when the mood wasn't on him he was the best behaved and hardest working horse on the place. He was a card, old Sixshooter was.

Notes On A Cruise

Despite Prosperity, Portugal Dollar Has Not Been Inflated

By HOUSTON HARTE

LISBON — Portugal looks so small on the map and we hear so little about it that one is startled to learn that it is the third colonial power in the world.

Portugal is the only nation in the world that actually has not had any inflation, despite its prosperity.

Today the purchasing power of the Portuguese escudo stands at 98 as against the 1938 purchasing power of 100. Our dollar is variously quoted in purchasing power from 54 to 48.

Portuguese colonies close the globe. But the Portuguese have managed them so sensibly that the animosities of the colonial people have not been aroused and the colonial people look upon themselves as being a part of Portugal, rather than Portugal being the ruler over them.

The two great colonies of Portugal are Angola and Mozambique (did you ever hear of them?) in West and East Africa. These two colonies yearly account for 25 per cent of the wealth of the Portuguese people.

In the 14th, 15th, and 16th centuries Portugal was a dominant power in Europe and as such was one of the world's first powers. Its maritime fleet was one of the world's largest and it established itself in every corner of the globe. Brazil was the source of much of Portugal's wealth in the last years of its supremacy. Though Brazil is a republic its ties with the "mother country" remain strong.

The keystone of Portugal's colonial policy was "no color line." Brazil is an example of this policy in the Western Hemisphere. This simple fact gave Portugal a psychological advantage that it continually has capitalized upon. In Africa today it is the difference between tranquility and turmoil.

Coupled with his psychological fact Portugal offered its colonies efficient, honest government. The natives have come to realize the Portuguese do not tolerate special privileges for the Portuguese when dealing with the local people and that they can expect fair and logical decisions in any dispute between two or more natives. Portugal has made money out of its colonial government. The present regime is working too well. Apparently Dr. Salazar feels the same way.

Without learning about Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar. Here is a man who has survived Hitler and Mussolini and yet wields as much actual power as either did. Unlike some dictators, his picture cannot be found in a store in Lisbon or in a home in Portugal. One cannot buy it on a postcard.

He draws a modest salary, lives in a small apartment in a very big house with only a few servants and no guards. There is no window from which he harangues the people. There is no youth organization to sing his praises. No stadium or square serves as a backdrop for the pageantry of dictatorship which hypnotizes a captive people.

Dr. Salazar came to power on his own terms. The army became disgusted with the constant change in governments. The average life of a Portuguese government had been less than six months. Dr. Salazar came to power when Marshal Carmona overthrew the government and dissolved parliament.

He asked Salazar to be finance minister. After three months of frustration, Salazar resigned and went back to the University of Coimbra and resumed his teaching of economics.

Conditions of the country and the government constantly grew worse. He was asked to return. He came only on his own terms—i.e., he should have absolute control of all fiscal affairs. The power of the purse is the final authority in any government. Dr. Salazar has shown that the man who controls the levying of taxes and the appropriating of money rules the country.

The pact between this unknown economic professor and a hard-bitten general stood the test of the isms and a world war. Almost everyone you talk to here believes that if there were a free press in Portugal and if there were free elections, Salazar would win somewhere between 75 and 90 per cent of the votes.

Conservative Portugal does not want to take a chance by changing its system of ones, but the natives have got good government without race prejudices.

You cannot talk to anyone about Portugal. Americans do not like, as a general proposition, the sort of government Dr. Salazar gives Portugal. They admire the results, but they fret over the undemocratic way it is done. Dr. Salazar, many persons believe, feels the same way. But he has seen what happened in a democracy when only 20 per cent of the people could read and write.

When Dr. Salazar came to power in Portugal the country was 80 per cent illiterate. Today it is 60 per cent illiterate. Dr. Salazar hopes to make it 50 per cent illiterate in another 25 years. This will be a 100 per cent change. By that time he thinks Portugal can consider a democracy, if democracy is still considered to be a sensible way of administering the affairs of a nation.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., April 15 (AP)—Convinced that "if enough people knew each other, war would be impossible," Uncle Larry Perkins is conducting a campaign against what he considers the world's worst sin—loneliness.

He is attacking it where it is apt to be strongest—on the battlefield and in rooms where sick people lie.

He does it chiefly by writing letters—thousands of them—and by inducing thousands of other persons to write to each other. He has 200 "relay" agents in the United Nations armed forces to help him distribute the mail.

Uncle Larry also stages vaudeville and variety shows at veterans' hospitals. He's an ex-volunteer and although he's 49 and his gray fringe looks a little sorry on top, he still can dance and roller skate, on his hands.

Another project is his "cookie relay." He claims he's persuaded high school domestic science classes in every state in the union to make cookies and send them to the UN forces in Korea and Japan.

Letters from shut-ins and the blind are given special attention. He introduces blind persons, via letters, to blind service men at Wadsworth Veterans Hospital near here.

Perkins also entertains GIs at his modest bachelor's home; it is bulging with such items as 400 pairs of riding and cowboy boots, beautiful leather cowboy costumes which he designed himself, civilian clothes, uniforms, bobsleds, skis, mineral and stamp collections—and everywhere bundles of letters.

Uncle Larry keeps the cowboy costumes because servicemen like to have their pictures taken in them.

His house also contains many gifts from grateful GIs, including shoulder patches, service ribbons and medals. He is especially proud of a gift from Sgt. W. F. Webb of Princeton, West Va. It is the field coat of the late Gen. George Patton, who placed it over Webb as the latter lay wounded on a stretcher in North Africa in 1943.

The genial gent, who has difficulty finding time to make a living as a gardener, also conducts a military personnel bureau in the armed forces. His "search lists" are posted at many military camps.

His big interest, of course, is his relay mail system. He's talked dozens of coeds at UCLA and young people from churches and other groups into writing letters, starting them simply, "Dear Cousin." The letters are sent to relay agents in Army, Navy and Air Force units who distribute them to men who need them.

Many newspapers send him letters they receive from lonely GIs. Although he's a bachelor and lives alone, Uncle Larry says he has found the cure for loneliness. It's simple, he says: just try to help other people from feeling that way.

Tom Connally Faced A Fight This Year For Re-Election Against Price Daniel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate is like a political delicatessen. It has a variety of men and opinions, garnished with dignity and overspiced with oratory. If there's a show of ham, that's not surprising.

Tom Connally has been one of its main attractions for years, a man of wit and charm, and with many moods that he can use as he pleases for the effect he wants: gay, angry, furious, comical.

He looks more like an actor than any man in the place, with his straggly white hair always curling over the back of his collar. And his clothes are as regular as a costume: dark blue suit, black bow tie, boiled shirt, glistening gold studs.

As chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee he is one of the most important men in the country. It's through his committee that most of this country's foreign program must pass for a pat or a pasting.

He's been in Congress 25 years and now he's 74, still active, still bright, and still wishing he could keep his job. But he was to come up for re-election in Texas this year and a younger man wants his seat.

Texas' attorney general, 41-year-old Price Daniel, has been campaigning for months. Yesterday the senator called a news conference. He tried to make what he said sound casual and matter-of-fact, like other conferences in the past.

But this one was different because he was different. He was in a new mood. He was sad, and he couldn't disguise it behind an occasional shaft of wit. He would not run for re-election, he said.

The job of senator, he said, had become enormous, enough to wear any man down. And although his friends assured him he could win if he ran, he said, he'd have to campaign hard and he didn't think it was worth it.

He may have been farsighted in deciding not to run again because reports from Texas say Daniel had a good chance of beating the old man if he tried for re-election.

Connally is one of three old senators who are like a bridge between the past and the present in the Senate. The other two, also Democrats like Connally, are McKellar of Tennessee and Hoey of North Carolina.

Like Connally, Hoey is 74. In length of service, when compared with Connally, he's only a boy. He's been in the Senate eight years. Since his term doesn't end until 1956, this year's elections don't endanger him.

He's strictly from the old school: a wing collar, a flower in his lapel, and always an English walking coat, with pants to match. He alternates between blue and gray.

McKellar is dean of the three in age and service. He's 88 and has been in Congress 41 years. McKellar has neither the wit nor charm of Connally. He has a famous temper and as the years trudge over his head he seems to talk less although he's chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee.

McKellar is in the same fix as Connally. He's up for re-election this year and a younger man is busily trying to unseat him. This is Congressman Albert Gore, 45, who has been canvassing the state for months.

McKellar's office said yesterday he is definitely seeking re-election. But this has not been a good year for oldtimers, as Connally understands.

After all, the top oldtimer of them all bowed out just a couple of weeks ago when President Truman said he was through after a lifetime in politics.

Japs Clear Name Of General Hung For Atrocities

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese government today cleared the name of Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, who was hanged by the Allies for atrocities in the Philippines.

Homma, wartime Japanese commander-in-chief at Manila, was included in the latest list of 374 former militarists and war criminals restored to full civil status by the government.

The action by independence-conscious Japan does not necessarily mean a challenge of the Allied court that condemned Homma. The government said it considers Homma innocent of crimes against the Filipino people because he "took orders from above as a serviceman."

Interesting Gentleman Believes Weather Trouble Due To A-Bomb

Speaking of the weather, and what Plainsman doesn't, one of the finest and most interesting gentlemen in Texas is Dr. O. H. Loyd of Vega.

At the ripe of old age of 37 years, Dr. Loyd moved to the Llano Estacado and bought some land between Hereford and where Vega is now located. This was back in 1905, and when he arrived Dr. Loyd was told by some cowmen that there were twelve months at a stretch when not a drop of rain fell, and then the next day some old cowboy would swear that it was so wet around there any May or September that the cattle would bog down almost anywhere out on the open prairie.

It just so happened that Dr. Loyd, from early childhood up, had shown a great interest in weather, and in the movements of the planets of the earth's solar system in the zodiac belt. When he came to the High Plains it was with the mature conviction that planet movements had something to do with the irregular Plains weather. Fortunately he was able to get a copy of the weather reports made by the U. S. Signal Service, a station of which was established at Fort Elliott in January 1889, during the Indian disturbances, up until the time this station was moved to the town of Panhandle in December of 1890. These reports were supplemented with later ones, and unable to buy a rain gauge, Dr. Loyd turned his scientific mind and hands to the job and made one that worked with precision and accuracy in 1908, three years after his arrival.

From thenceforth Texas didn't have a more observant weather observer, or one whose heart was more in his work. Quite naturally this man, has developed some theories, and since his records are quite complete, with his own observations and the reports of the Weather Bureau over the years, he is able to substantiate many of his theories with statistics.

Our modern weather troubles started, according to Dr. Loyd, with the explosion of the first test A-bomb in New Mexico in 1945. This terrific explosion, he contends, blew a hole, or created a void, in a normal atmospheric condition, and since the atmosphere is an envelope encasing the earth, this disruption was felt everywhere. This explosion, he explains with Weather Bureau statistics he has at hand, brought about a condition that decreased rainfall and, at the same time, increased the number of tornadoes that have plagued the country. On the basis of Weather Bureau figures, tornadoes in the Panhandle country have increased more than one thousand per cent since the explosion of the 1945 bomb, and severe hail storms have been increased, in the same period, as much as a possible 400 per cent.

Since 1889, Dr. Loyd has observed, wet-and-dry weather has traveled in cycles. This year (1952) he predicted last summer (1951), will be the first in a dry cycle of a probable 11 years, seven of which will be years of drought, with a fair degree of moisture coming during four of these 11 years.

It is apparently Dr. Loyd's theory that the human race is destined to destroy itself with the A-bomb (or its successor) not by blasting itself and its cities and communities into oblivion in a flash, but by bringing about a drastic alteration in atmospheric conditions that will create weather conditions under which human life cannot survive.

Senator Russell May Consider A Compromise Over Civil Rights

WASHINGTON. — Senator Dick Russell of Georgia who has been more effective than any other Southern senator in blocking the Truman civil rights program, now gives indications that he has changed his mind—at least in part.

Now that Russell is a Presidential candidate, friends say that he might be willing to compromise somewhat—though he would never accept a compulsory FEPC. Tip-off on this possibility—and it's only in the preliminary stages—came when Senator McFarland of Arizona, the conscientious Democratic leader, began sounding out minority groups about a compromise. If such a compromise can be worked out satisfactory both to Negro leaders and moderate Southerners, McFarland will bring it up in the Senate—with Russell's blessing.

"Hello boss," was the way Ben Fairless, head of the giant U. S. Steel Company, greeted Secretary of Commerce Sawyer when he walked into Sawyer's office after the government seized the steel industry. Sawyer was munching a grapefruit in Detroit when a call came through from the White House telling him to stand by because the President wanted to take over steel. He flew back to Washington.

At a meeting of Defense Department officials, Secretary Lovett emphasized the absolute importance of keeping the steel mills running. He said a shutdown would be a disaster to Korea and the defense effort. Senators Maybank of South Carolina and Robertson of Virginia have been pulling the strings to give the steel industry a price increase regardless of the effect on inflation. Robertson has had calls from the steel lobbyists, Maybank is chairman of the powerful Senate Banking and Currency Committee supposed to help hold the line against price increases.

Even labor has been exerting some quiet pressure to increase steel prices modestly. Toughest man to move regarding prices, however, is President Truman himself—along with OPS Administrator Ellis Arnall and Stabilizer Roger Putnam.

hind the scenes some of the top leaders are doing their best to block the confirmation of their fellow Democrat Judge Jim McGranery as Attorney General.

Pittsburgh's Mayor David Lawrence, top Democratic leader of Western Pennsylvania, let off a telephonic blast to Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney against McGranery. So did ex-Senator Francis Myers of Easter Pennsylvania in a call to Senate friends on the Judiciary Committee.

Neither one wanted to be subpoenaed and forced to take a stand publicly, though they were glad to drop a few hints about McGranery's record to the newspapers.

Interesting fact is that the once rock-ribbed Republican city of Philadelphia which hadn't had a Democratic mayor since shortly after the Civil War, last November elected one. It was the biggest clean-up of graft-ridden Philadelphia politics in years and a real triumph for clean government.

But the leaders of this new Democratic administration, Mayor Joe Clark and District Attorney Dick Dilworth, not only were not consulted by the White House regarding McGranery, but are vigorously opposed to him.

Yet McGranery is supposed to clean up the Justice Department!

Boss Crump of Memphis is seriously considering ditching 85-year-old Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee for re-election. Crump thinks it would be difficult for the Democrats to win if McKellar were nominated, is trying to get McKellar to admit his health is not equal to running again. The House of Representatives last week unanimously voted a contempt citation against Henry Grunewald, the wire-tapper and wire-puller. In contrast, the Senate District of Columbia Committee last year ducked a contempt citation. Reason: Senator McCarthy persuaded Republican members of the committee to reverse themselves and go to bat for Grunewald after he had been linked up with Senator Brewster of Maine in tapping Howard Hughes' telephone wires. Last winter, after President Truman had already invited Justice Justin Miller to be Attorney General, Truman told a friend: "I just feel too sorry for this guy (McGrath). I can't fire him."

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

The Board of Trustees at Waco University made certain on this day in 1883 that no student there could claim ignorance of the law as an excuse for wrong-doing.

They decreed that a student seeking admission to the school read a copy of its laws and sign a pledge to obey them. When the student enrolled, the president was required to send a copy of the laws to the parent or guardian. To a worried parent, the regulations laid down by the trustees must have proved reassuring. Waco University was certainly no place to sow wild oats.

Among the activities banned at the college were card playing or "any game of hazard," keeping firearms, the use of "ardent spirits," "nocturnal disorders or revelings" and membership in dancing or social clubs. A student could not oppose or criticize the rules of the faculty, and had to attend Sunday School and some church service on Sunday. Moreover, should he fail to conduct himself like a gentleman in a house of worship, he would be "affectionately admonished" by the president at the first offense and suspended the second time.

Girls had it even worse. No girl student could "receive the attention of young men," on the theory that "books and beaux" can never go together.

Waco University merged in 1888 with Baylor University of Independence to form Baylor University at Waco.

Pennsylvania Democrats don't want to stick their necks out publicly, but behind the scenes some of the top leaders are doing their best to block the confirmation of their fellow Democrat Judge Jim McGranery as Attorney General.

Muskrats Live On Food From Water

The animals known as muskrats are builders with a great deal of skill. They fall short of beavers in this field, but they do excellent work in making homes for themselves and their young.

The common muskrat has a body about 11 inches long. Its tail may add seven or eight inches to that length.

Muskrats are found in many parts of Canada and the United States, from the valley of the Yukon River down to the Gulf of Mexico. They like to live in and around ponds, small lakes and slow-moving rivers. They also live in thousands of marshes.

Thanks to their webbed hind feet, these animals are strong swimmers. They guide their course in the water, to some extent, by moving their rattike tails from side to side.

Water plants — roots, stems and leaves — make up much of the food of muskrats. They feed largely on water lilies and reeds. They also eat fruits and vegetables which can be reached within easy range of their homes. Fish and clams are captured whenever possible.

A muskrat is an air-breathing animal, but feeds mainly in the water. It must take care of the problem of land-and-water life. Often it makes a den in a high bank.

Running from the den to the water may be a long, curving tunnel. A muskrat home, in the province of Saskatchewan, contained a family of six members — two adults and four young — and was in a bank beside a pond. Leading away from the den, and curving downward, was a main tunnel 30 feet long. This tunnel reached the pond below the water level. Members of the family slept in a dry place, but they could get into the pond quickly and safely through the tunnel.

In addition, there were two 12-foot tunnels well above the water line. These were stored with food. The den, or living room, was rather small, measuring nine by 14 inches.

In marshy districts, muskrats often build lodges out of twigs, oat-tail stalks and pieces of sod. Mud is used to plaster the material together. The lodges provide fairly warm homes during the winter. Muskkrats are trapped in large numbers. Their fur is used in making fur coats, caps and gloves.

Pork Expected To Disappear This Summer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pork dishes such as ham, pork chops, roasts and sausages may disappear from restaurant menus this summer.

Farm leaders say disappointingly low prices of hogs could bring such a development.

These farm leaders also contend that recent action of the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) setting new ceilings for public eating places may have the effect of ridding pork of its luster.

The OPS order fixed menu prices prevailing the week of Feb. 2-6 as the highest restaurants may charge. At that time, and for several weeks since then, hog prices have been low from the standpoint of production costs. They have been about 30 per cent of parity because of a heavy marketing volume.

Parity, a standard for measuring farm prices, is declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products.

But hog prices—and pork too—usually advance during early summer and remain at higher levels until late fall. This price change reflects the fact that hog sales usually decline during the summer.

Should pork prices go up very much, many restaurants would be caught in a squeeze between fixed ceilings on their meal prices and higher costs.

Farm leaders say hog raisers would suffer because many restaurants would quit buying pork.

Withdrawal of restaurants from the market could have the effect of keeping hog prices from advancing to more favorable levels.

HOLDING ACTION IS SOVIET STRATEGY

Russia Not Ready To Fight; Lacks Faith In The Satellites

(Editor's note: William L. Ryan, AP foreign news analyst, has traveled from Belgrade to Helsinki in a two-month tour of Europe bringing news of information at the edges of the Iron Curtain. This is the first of two articles in which he appraises the current status of the cold war in Europe and brings out how the Soviet Union is pushing its campaign.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Foreign Editor

BERLIN (AP)—"After all," said the diplomat, pushing his chair away from his desk, "there is what the cold war is all about."

He picked up a ruler and pointed it at the map of Germany in the heart of Europe.

"If and when the Russians are ready for war, we will know it here first," he went on. "But it will not be in 1952. The Russians aren't ready. And Stalin can wait."

"We will know a year in advance. Right now we know that their communications and transport are in no shape to start a war. We know they lack faith in their satellite armies and populations. We know they would need large numbers of troops to hold what they have now. We know they lack the technical and economic resources on a scale permitting war. We know they are intent on maintaining the status quo in the West while they go about their business in the East."

Many Western diplomats agree with this assessment. Some think the war will come eventually, but most express the belief that what is going on today is a long-range holding action.

The consensus here, at the edge of the smoldering volcano, appears to be that the Soviet Union is intent now upon holding whatever it can in the West, protecting its Western flank, while consolidating and pushing forward in the Orient.

Thus, goes the reasoning, the entire program in Europe today appears to be aimed at paralyzing the Western Europeans' will to resist—to render Western Europe impotent and neutral. It seems as if Moscow were convinced that with Europe neutralized, the continent must inevitably come under the Kremlin's domination.

The Communists are bending every effort toward what they call

"national resistance" to the United States, to bog down Western European defense efforts. They appeal to the self-interest of Western European businessmen to turn their backs on the U. S. They tell the worker he is being "super-exploited" by the Americans.

In the drive to neutralize Western Europe, the prime target is Germany. There are competent observers in Western Europe who speculate that Stalin would even be prepared to dump the whole East German Communist party if he could achieve the goal of a German vacuum in the heart of Europe, dominated by the might of Soviet arms on the East and leading the West down the road to enforced neutrality. Economic domination by Moscow would be too distant a goal.

Stalin now says the time is ripe for talks on unification of Germany. He has let it be known he is willing for Germany to be united with its own army, sufficient to defend itself. This was a shock to the Communists, long playing on the fear of a rearmored Germany, but it was a strong dose of medicine for West Germany, which wants nothing more than unification without occupation.

Stalin might go even further in his desperate bid to keep a flourishing Western Germany out of the Atlantic defense community. He might even consent to a sort of revision of the German-Polish border.

The Poles are expendable. They occupy what formerly was German territory up to the Oder-Neisse line. It is not too far-fetched to imagine Stalin's throwing a sop to Germany in the form of a revision at the expense of Poland.

The Communist party is weak, relatively, in West Germany. Stalin has much to gain in by-passing it in an effort to create a German island in Central Europe, wrenched from the Western community and dominated by the Eastern armies.

Stalin unquestionably dreams of wresting from the Americans and British the domination of the great Ruhr Valley with its mighty military potential. The Ruhr, coupled with the potential of Silesia and dominated by the Red Army, could mean the complete economic and military domination of Europe.

In May the three Western Powers meet with Western Germany to sign a peace contract. This would finalize the split of Germany into two parts. It would prestage a Western Germany, able to flourish economically, fitted into the Western defense scheme.

That is the last thing Moscow wants. But Moscow remembers other times when the Germans were willing to make deals at the moments when they thought Germany would reap the most benefit, and the devil takes the hindmost. Possibly Moscow banks on the theorem that the Germans haven't changed.

National authorities in the livestock industry will discuss a broad range of vital subjects at the third annual National Hereford Congress to be held in Fort Worth, May 12th and 13th. Many Texas breeders are expected to attend.

Indians Fling A Challenge At N. M. Governor

GRANTS, N.M. (AP)—The Indian ambush of state policeman Nash Garcia today flung a challenge at Gov. Edwin L. Mechem.

It boils down to what he will do about the problem of law enforcement on Northwestern New Mexico Indian land.

About a month ago, the Navajo Tribal Council Law and Order Committee complained, to Mechem about lack of law enforcement on the Navajo reservation fringe.

This complaint was punctuated yesterday with the finding of Garcia's body, shot, beaten and burned, 19 miles within Acoma Pueblo land. Two Acoma Indian brothers have been charged with first degree murder in the slaying.

Willie Felipe, 31, the soft-spoken Indian who led officers to the 38-year-old Garcia's body, calmly told how he and his brother Gabriel Felipe, 28, ambushed and killed him. He entered no plea at his arraignment yesterday before U.S. Commissioner Owen Mowrey.

Gabriel Felipe, arrested on an Albuquerque street, pleaded innocent.

Both men are held without bond. Willie Felipe said he held a grudge against Garcia since the officer arrested his brother in February on a charge of drunk driving.

Wool Prices Falling Toward Cost Levels

SYDNEY, Australia, April 15 (AP)—Australian wool prices have been falling toward levels which will only cover the cost of production, wool authorities have estimated.

At recent Brisbane sales, wool sold for between 60 pence and 70 pence (53 and 65 cents) a pound. Authorities estimate the average cost of production in Queensland is about 50 pence (46 cents) a pound.

son will be slaughtered Monday afternoon and their carcasses will be displayed and discussed at the Congress on Tuesday. The steers represent a variety in types.

Judging of bulls will be discussed by Albert Mitchell, commercial and purebred Hereford breeder of Albert, N. M., and Dr. A. E. Darlow, Head of the Animal Husbandry Department at Oklahoma A&M College, Stillwater, Okla.

Dr. J. C. Miller, Head of the Animal Husbandry Department at Texas A. & M. College, will preside at the afternoon session. Judging of heifers will be discussed by W. J. Largent of Merkel, Texas, and H. A. Fitzhugh, manager of Straus Medina Hereford Ranch, San Antonio, Texas.

Practices designed to keep the herd healthy will be set forth by Dr. I. B. Nye, veterinarian, Fort Worth, and Dr. G. T. Easley, veterinarian, at Turner Hereford Ranch, Sulphur, Okla. Final event on the afternoon program will be an open forum with first-day speakers on the panel in addition to Jack Roach, Amarillo commercial Hereford breeder and president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

A buffet dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the Exhibits Building at the Exposition to be followed by an entertainment program.

Tuesday sessions will open at 9 a.m. with discussion of what the commercial cattleman wants in bulls by D. Burns, manager of Pitchfork Ranch, Guthrie, Texas.

Hereford shows will be discussed by Roy R. Largent, Hereford production and promotion in the south and southeast will be sketched by George Bible, manager of Mountain Cove Farms, Kensington, Ga., and Bill Smith, owner of Smithdale Farms, Limestone, Tenn.

"Farmers and Defense" will be the subject of an address by Allan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

A meat cutting demonstration will be given by Max Cullen of the National Livestock and Meat Board. Final event on the program will be a discussion of carcasses of steers shown Monday by E. J. Bealke of Swift and Company and Dr. Weber.

S. H. Johnson and son, Horace, moved a bunch of their Herefords to East Texas, near the Arkansas line, in the Texarkana area, to introduce these cattle to green grass. Horace says they are now on a deal for some more grass contracts and that as soon as these are closed more cattle will be moved there.

Nuns Withdrawn As Teachers In Missouri Schools

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A Catholic order has decided to withdraw nuns serving as teachers in several Missouri public schools.

Withdrawal notices were received by school board members of the St. Thomas and St. Martins districts near here.

It was not learned immediately whether nuns would be withdrawn from other public schools in the state also, but at least two other districts received similar notices.

Mother Evangelia, head of the St. Louis provincial office of the Sisters of Notre Dame, sent the notifications to the board members but gave no reason. She could not be reached for comment last night.

The nun-teacher issues have resulted in two lawsuits in which the plaintiffs contend paying Catholic nuns to teach in public schools violates federal and state Constitutions, which require separation of church and state. Both cases are awaiting decisions in Missouri courts.

Ask Bids On Structures At Posse Plant In AFB Area

Bids have been asked on eight structures at the Sheriff's Posse plant in the Air Base area. The Corps of Engineers has fixed April 29 as the time for opening bids on eight structures, 2,000 feet of small diameter pipe and a butane tank. Everything on the land, including a 6x6 privy, is scheduled to be sold. Bidders must enter a cashiers check in the amount of not less than 10 per cent of the total of their bid. For items less than $200, a $25 deposit will be required and $50 from the successful bidder. Buildings must be removed within 30 days of acceptance of the bid. Concrete footings and floor will not have to be removed, but holes will have to be leveled. Terms of the sale are cash. Further information and invitations to bid may be secured from the Chief of the Real Estate Division, Fort Worth District, Corps of Engineers, P.O. Box 1600, Fort Worth. Inspection of the property, which is adjacent to the long north-south runway extension, may be made Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. until bid opening time. These items are listed: A barn 47x191 with 14x197 shed, 567 feet of corrugated 3 water troughs; a barn 20x100 with 7x100 shed; a barn 20x100 with 7x100 shed; a barn 20x81; a clubhouse 20x48 with 8x4 porch; keepers house 30x28; privy 6x6; judges stand 11x1; water lines (1-in. and 3/4-in. iron); and butane tank. The federal government took over the Sheriff's Posse property last year after the Posse asked the City Commission to set aside a corridor to the property in making its lease to the Air Force for the Air Base. The Engineers, which made an offer which was declined by Posse officials, Matter of damage was then left to be decided in federal district court, but the hearing promised in December did not materialize. So far, the case has not been docketed, Posse officials said.

FOR REFUSING TO FLY More AF Officers Due Courts Martial

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. April 15 (AP)—At least four—and possibly more—of the officers who have defied Air Force authorities by refusing to fly are to be tried by court-martial. Formal charges of willful disobedience of a lawful order have been filed against four of the six reserve officers engaged in a "sit down strike" at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas. A decision on whether charges will be filed against six other officers involved in a similar case at Mather AFB, Calif., awaits completion of an investigation. Capt. Jerome Schechter, one of the six at Mather, said he had rather go to prison than to fly. Yesterday in California, the 35-year-old Schechter said "This fear of flying is something that I've felt for a long time and has culminated since I came to Mather." The Air Training Command, which has headquarters here, has disclosed that some 225 officers have asked to be suspended from flight duty because of alleged fear of flying. Many of the requests—the ATC said the exact number isn't available—have been turned down on grounds the fliers actually were trying to escape combat duty. Named in the charges filed at Randolph AFB were 1st Lt. Jack L. Courtney, 27, Appleton, Wis.; 1st Lt. Wayne E. Bell, 28, Urbana, Ill.; 1st Lt. Robert P. Haabrook, 28, Dallas, and 1st Lt. James G. Bristol, 35, Harland, Ia. Air Force authorities at Randolph said it became necessary to place a ban on voluntary suspensions from flight duty to prevent disruption of the entire crew training program. At Mather, all of the six officers who have refused to fly continue on ground duty while their cases are under investigation. "Each case will be looked into and if warranted the man will be taken off flying," said Col. Robert C. Paul. An officer at the base said all of the six officers had been advised of the maximum penalty for refusing to fly—five years in prison. He added that none was "threatened with actual prison sentences."

Visit Is Long One, But Judge Gives A Break

To the prisoner charged with drunkenness Acting City Judge Mack Rodgers was now man on the Corporation Court bench, so why not get a break. "Where are you from?" the judge asked. "Midland." "What are you doing here?" "Visiting friends." "Then I'll give you a low fine so you can get back to Midland when the police release you," said the court and a $6 fine was entered. It wasn't until court had adjourned that police had an opportunity to inform the judge that this person's visit has been a rather prolonged one, and that she has been fined for drunkenness several times in the last few weeks. Most of this morning's dozen charged with intoxication were out-towners, just passing through on their way to Arizona, Snyder, Oklahoma and elsewhere. One of them was ordered delivered into the custody of Juvenile Officer Long when he told the court he was just 16 years old. A fine of $7.50 was imposed in the case of a motorist operating a motor vehicle without a muffler, and a similar fine was imposed on another who admitted running a red light. A disturbance charge brought a $20 fine to a man who confessed his guilt.

Ricketing In Front Of N.Y. Courthouses Will Be Illegal Soon

ALBANY, N. Y. April 15 (AP)—Beginning July 1, it will be illegal in New York to picket a courthouse. Gov. Dewey yesterday signed the Duffy Bill, a measure that stems from Red demonstrations outside New York City's Foley Square Courthouse two years ago during the marathon Communist conspiracy trial before U. S. Judge Harold Medina. The measure makes it criminal contempt of court to do any of these things on a public street within 200 feet of a courthouse: "Calling aloud or shouting, or holding or displaying placards or signs containing written or printed matter concerning the conduct of any trial being conducted in such courthouse or the character of the court of jury... or demanding any specified action or determination upon the part of such court of jury in connection with said trial."

Grant Manuscript Presented To US

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP)—A nine-page manuscript written by Ulysses S. Grant on "reasons why San Domingo should be annexed to the United States" has been presented to the Library of Congress. A library spokesman said today the manuscript was presented by Maj. Gen. U. S. Grant III, grandson of the nation's 18th President. The manuscript, said the spokesman, probably was written about the time Grant sent his private secretary, O. E. Babcock, to Santo Domingo, now Ciudad Trujillo, to negotiate a treaty for the annexation of the Dominican Republic.

PRIMARY

(Continued From Page 1) in the November election. Carl Ring, Rutherford attorney is opposing Smith in the primary. The pre-primary campaign wound up last night in a blaze of charges. Driscoll, accused by Taft of having "double-crossed" the Ohioan by coming out for Eisenhower, said in a radio address he thinks Taft "has been such a good member of the United States Senate I believe perhaps that is where he should stay." Charles Edison, Democratic former governor supporting Taft urged voters to scratch Driscoll as a candidate for GOP delegate at large. He asserted the governor has "proved himself unworthy" by deserting his neutrality role in the presidential contest. State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes, an Eisenhower leader, decried attacks on Driscoll. Forbes predicted Eisenhower will have a "substantial" majority in the popularity poll if the vote goes over 700,000 and will get 36 of the 38 delegates. There are 2,360,000 registered voters. At Williamstown, Conn., Taft said he has the "faintest idea" how the balloting will come out. "When I got out of New Jersey, I really got out," he declared.

REDS UNPREDICTABLE Truce Writer Finds Korea 'Frustrating'

By ROBERT TUCKMAN MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Dozens of voices have harangued more than nine months in trying to reach an armistice in Korea. But the truce mostly by one man. He is Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie, legal officer of the Allied truce delegation. Levie, a good-natured, 44-year-old New Yorker, is charged with writing the actual words of the document that will be signed when—and if—an agreement is reached. "There never has been a situation such as this one before," Levie said. The wording of the cease-fire paragraphs stems from the 1950 Bolivia-Paraguay agreement. Some phrases on prisoner exchange—still being debated—come from the settlement reached on prisoners at the end of World War I. Once agreed with the Communists at Panmunjon is reached on a principle, it becomes Levie's job to put it in writing. A general principle may involve 10 to 15 paragraphs in the truce document. More often than not, they will require repeated revisions before final agreement on wording is reached. So far, the entire armistice document has been overhauled seven times. "We have to be very careful that there are no oddities in the armistice that could be misconstrued later," Levie says. "Not only must it be legally correct, but it must be correct in common sense, grammar and everything else." Levie, a 1930 graduate of Cornell University Law School who has 10 years service in the Army, has practically memorized the armistice draft. Ask him to give the provisions of Paragraph 53 and he will tell you quickly that it says, "seriously sick and seriously injured prisoners of war shall be repatriated with priority." Levie's colleagues on the U.N. Command delegation will readily agree he is one of the most brilliant officers participating in the negotiations. "As a staff officer, he has attended almost all of the parleys and more than once his alertness has paid off in whispered advice to U.N. delegates confronted with vague and often puzzling statements by Red negotiators. After more than nine months of almost daily face-to-face meetings with the Communists, Levie describes the job of negotiation with the Reds as "very frustrating." He says they are "predictably unpredictable and vice versa. After nine months, I've learned never to try to guess what they will do next."

County Finances About The Same During March

Although the "big paper" transaction indicated a heavy gain, Howard County's financial status remained virtually unchanged during the month of March, according to the auditor's report. The reports lists receipts totaling $945,066.63 for the Courthouse and jail building fund. This item appeared when short term securities in which the building funds had been invested reached maturity. The county immediately reinvested most of those funds in some interest free maturing, according to the auditor's report. Motor vehicle registration revenues gave a boost to the road and bridge fund. Receipts for the month totaled $47,379.78, to leave a balance of $58,615.17 at the end of the month. A transfer of $7,137.20 was made from the road and bridge fund to the officers salary fund. The officers salary fund had a balance of $34,913.85. There were few expenditures in March. Disbursements from the road and bridge fund amounted to $15,158.73, while payments from the officers salary fund totaled $8,612.92, the general fund $3,975.73, the jury fund $1,680.50, the permanent improvement fund $1,072.51 and the library fund $1,519.45.

FSA To Take Side Of State In Moore Airfield Dispute

DALLAS, April 15 (AP)—The state's side in the controversy over government recapture of Moore Field near Mission will be taken by the regional Federal Security Agency. J. H. Bond, regional director of FSA, made the announcement yesterday. The Defense Department has asked the State Hospital Board to show cause why Moore Field should not be reclaimed an Air Force base. Moore Field and Camp Fanning near Tyler both were leased to Texas for use as tuberculosis hospitals after World War II, with the federal government reserving the right to reclaim in case of national emergency. Bond said, "The Dallas FSA will recommend that Texas retain Moore Field as a tubercular hospital unless the Munitions Board finds it is absolutely necessary as a defense installation."

Collision Law May Be Declared Illegal

DALLAS, April 15 (AP)—A traffic expert believes Texas' negligent collision law might be declared illegal if it is ever taken before the state court of criminal appeals. Robert L. Donigan, general counsel for Northwestern University's traffic institute, said the court in an earlier case ruled against a careless driving statute on the grounds it was too vague.

aid a big Missouri River smash-through at Omaha-Council Bluffs—raising the total of homeless families to 20,000—would place the Missouri flood among the 10 biggest in 71 years of Red Cross relief operations. While misery grew in the valley and millions of tons of rich top soil sloshed downriver, men and machines at Omaha and Council Bluffs, Ia., (combined population 396,000) toiled to build up the flood walls and dikes. There was a somewhat disheartening report from the weatherman. He was predicting showers for Eastern Nebraska and Western Iowa Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. The job the twin cities faced is best described by two men who are leading the battle. Maj. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army Engineers: "The greatest flood the white man has ever seen on the Missouri River." Brig. Gen. Don G. Shingler, Missouri River Division engineer: "We're in a hell of a lot of trouble. The river is coming with a rip and a roar." All along the Missouri Valley where the river had struck to date, man has been a loser. Only in the matter of saving human life has he been winning. His lands and his homes have been mercilessly mauled. Army Engineers estimate 1 1/2 million acres are under the waters of the Missouri and its tributaries. The damage so far has soared to untold millions of dollars. At Omaha and Council Bluffs, a flood wall of 26.6 feet has been built—enough, it was thought, when it was done, to meet anything the Missouri might march up with. But now Army men, and all the civilian power that can be mastered, are adding to those walls, and piling more dirt on dikes, to meet a predicted crest of 31.6 feet Tuesday. That's 12 1/2 feet over flood stage, seven feet over the previous high of 24.5 feet in 1881, and five feet over the crest the flood walls and dikes were constructed to handle. The river stood at 26.7 feet early today. The situation led Gen. Shingler to comment grimly, "We've 2 1/2 strikes on us now." Yet no one was giving up. And Gen. Pick, who once was Missouri Division engineer and is co-author of the Pick-Sloan Missouri Valley Basin Development Plan designed to stop flooding and generally enrich the area, said he believed there was a chance of winning. In Council Bluffs an estimated 30,000 people had streamed from the low-lying lands in the north and western areas of the town along which the Missouri is marching into the hills of the eastern section. In Omaha an estimated 5,000 people have been moved from the city's lowland north and east sections. That makes 17 square miles of the metropolitan area that has been evacuated—12 miles in Council Bluffs and five in Omaha. The Bluffs exodus from homes is roughly three-quarters of the population of 45,000. As the river slugged on down its valley, most towns had surrendered. Pierre, S.D., had been punless before a record crest reached yesterday, and smaller towns downstream were deserted, leaving the water to work its will. So far, Sioux City, with 84,635 people, is the biggest town "set awash." While the Council Bluffs business section stands to be hit, the Omaha main area is up on a rise from the river and seemingly safe. So is most of the Omaha residential area. A new warning to get out in potential flood areas went from Col. Henry J. Hoefler, Omaha district engineer, to Nebraska City, Peru, Nemaha and Auburn in Nebraska; Hamburg and Thurman, Ia., and Rock Port, Mo. The colonel emphasized there is time for orderly evacuation, but the need to get out is strong. The Mississippi matched the Missouri in reaching record depths. At St. Paul, the Mississippi, an old-time offender, poured through low-lying areas, affecting 5,000 people and posing a big threat to millions of dollars worth of waterfront industries. Downriver, Winona, 25,000 population, would be one-third under water if a dike broke. Gov. C. Elmer Anderson asked President Truman to declare Minnesota a disaster area. Wisconsin, too, felt the thrust of the Mississippi with La Crosse and Prairie du Chien threatened as the river drew up a spearhead to throw at Iowa and Illinois downstream points. Northward, in upper Minnesota and North Dakota, the Red River of the North slashed into the Fargo-Moorhead area to make nearly 2,000 persons homeless. Fifty blocks of the two cities were under water. In the area, State Guardsmen, as in Iowa and Nebraska, hustled to duty and volunteers labored through the night to up a sandbag dike as the waters menaced the Fargo Veterans Hospital.

Folks May Get Tip On Barkley Plans

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman and other fans at the opening baseball game here today may get a "tip"—for what it's worth—on whether Vice President Barkley is a candidate for President or vice president.

"If the Vesp sets a stiff pace out to the flagpole and back then it's a good bet he's a candidate again," one Democratic party leader solemnly assured a reporter.

While Truman sits in the stands to pitch out the first ball, Barkley, who will be 75 Nov. 24, will lead a march of more than 400 feet to the flag pole for flag-raising ceremonies.

With Barkley, who says he feels better and does more work now than he did 40 years ago, will be 82-year-old Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, and other baseball dignitaries.

Ever since Truman announced March 29 he will not be a candidate again, friends of Barkley have been pressing him to join the open scramble for the presidential nomination.

Barkley has thanked them publicly but has made no announcement of his plans.

One Democratic party leader said Barkley wants to be absolutely certain that Truman and other administration leaders are not pushing some other Democrat, such as Gov. Adlai H. Stevenson of Illinois or W. Averell Harriman, presidential assistant on foreign aid programs.

This source said that as soon as Barkley personally feels certain on this he will toss his hat into the ring.

So far the most active candidates are Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Since announcing he was not a candidate, Truman has told his Barkley supporters and Washington politicians generally are doubtful about a report yesterday by the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Daily News that House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas would be the administration candidate, with Barkley nominating Rayburn at the convention.

This report said the decision was reached at a White House conference attended by Barkley.

Farmers Asked For Bracero Agreements

Letters are going out today to Howard County farmers asking them to go to the Farm Bureau office and sign an agreement for the employment of Mexican nationals in order that the agreement may be forwarded to the Department of Labor.

The letter, signed by Cecil Leatherwood, president of the Bureau, and H. V. Middleton, secretary-treasurer, points out that the mere signing of the agreement does not obligate the farmer to employ the braceros, but simply aids in making their services available if and when needed.

This county cannot be included in an agreement that may be worked out between the Labor Department and Mexican Government unless the agreements have been signed and are in official hands in time for approval. It is necessary for every Farm Bureau member to sign this agreement listing his address and the number of acres in cultivation.

It is the hope of the Howard County Bureau officials that this agreement will be signed early enough to permit it to be one of the first filed in order that early approval will be given. It is necessary for every member to sign the agreement, the letter explains. Last year there was criticism because Mexican nationals were not brought in through the Bureau. The reason they were not, it is explained, is that the farmers were slow in signing the agreement and consequently the Bureau's officers and directors did not know what they could do, and were unable to inform the Labor Department.

The Bureau officials say it is very important that farmers sign the agreement within the next 10 days.

Polio Victim Back From Treatment At Gonzales Foundation

Eight-months-old Leon Gonzales Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon P. Gonzales of Big Spring, has returned home following treatment at the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation.

Little Leon was stricken with polio last year and was admitted to the hospital in Gonzales on March 3. He was treated there for approximately a month. A series of periodic check-ups at the foundation facilities in Gonzales has been scheduled. If needed, he will have braces applied there. Hospital authorities have prescribed a course of treatment.

Baseball Jester To Show Here

Max Patkin, generally regarded as the best baseball clown in the country, will make a personal appearance in Big Spring the night of May 15. The Pennsylvania rubber-man panicked Cleveland Indians' fans for years, while serving as a coach for that team.

Bronc Ticket Drive Gaining Momentum

Smith, McEwen Lead Campaign

The advance ticket sale of the Big Spring Broncs was barreling along today.

At their meeting at the Settles Hotel last night, business men and fans saw no reason for waiting until the weekend to launch the sale. So, they set up their machinery to get the ducks to the patrons here and in surrounding areas. In a day or so, it will be easier to purchase a bloc of the ducks than it will be to buy a tip on a long shot at Churchill Downs on Derby Day—and the investment is so much smaller.

Jack Smith and R. R. McEwen, Sr. were named co-chairmen of the drive and, as such, will work with Manager-Owner Pat Stacey in mastering the promotion. Last night, they appointed their captains to work the various industries and businesses.

The plan now is not only to press the sale of the pasteborders through those captains and their co-workers but to place the tickets in front of the people, in such places as grocery stores, drug stores, etc. "Advance" purchase of the bloc tickets will give the fans several advantages. For one thing, it offers baseball at bargain basement prices. For another, it will save the holder time in gaining admission to the park—there'll be no waiting in line for those who have them.

The blocs of ten tickets sell for $7 each, which means a saving of 40 cents to the fan. The ducks are good for any game during the season, except opening day, and are transferable.

Opening day tickets, priced at $1 each, will be sold along with the blocs. Fans, of course, can purchase either or both at the same time.

Cosden Refinery, Smith announced, is offering a real bargain to its employees. Cosden purchased 50 opening day tickets and will give them to the first 50 who purchase ticket blocs. In other words, Cosden employees get an $8.40 bargain for $7.11 tickets by buying ten.

T. T. Henry will work the Foran area and Bob Achard Coahoma, it was announced.

All captains of the drive will be able to pick up tickets at the Bronc Baseball Office, Elmo Watson Building, at any time during the day, Stacey said.

Radio Station KTXC will stage a huge baseball show Wednesday night, during which it will appeal directly to the fans to purchase blocs and opening day tickets. Those making purchases will have their tickets brought to them immediately, probably by a player of the Big Spring team. Mike Ling will be at the microphone. The program, according to present plans, will get underway about 8 p.m. tomorrow and continue as long as there is a response.

Stacey said the club's objective was to "sell as many tickets as possible" before the season gets underway. He added he'd be tied pink if 1500 ticket blocs were picked up by the fans. That, he said, would give the team a fine start for the season.

250,000 EXPECTED

Big Leagues Get 'Shows On Road'

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK (AP)—A quarter of a million fans in eight cities were expected to jam the ball parks today and listen to the cry of "play ball" as the 1952 major league baseball season got under way.

Despite the loss and impending loss of such top-notch performers as Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Doerr, Gerry Coleman, Monte Irvin, Willie Mays and others, the new season gives promise of new thrills and excitement. All clubs will present new faces. Such new names as Billy Reed, Ed Mathews, Toby Atwell, Dave Williams, Bob Del Greco, Dick Hall, Scooter Koshorek, Jim Fridley, Ric Rodriguez, Jim Rivera, George Schmees, Leo Thomas, Clint Courtney and Ben Taylor were expected to appear in opening day lineups.

Making his managerial bow was Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cardinals. Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns and Lou Bourque of the Boston Red Sox were back as big league pilots. Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves and Phil Cavaretta of the Chicago Cubs were starting their first full season as managers.

All managers were optimistic, with Al Lopez of the Cleveland Indians brazenly predicting an American League flag. Manager Charlie Dressen of Brooklyn said his Dodgers ought to win in the National League.

The odds-makers agree with Dressen and Lopez and have in-

SPECIAL NIGHT SET APRIL 23

The first of the many special nights planned for Steer Park this season will be held Wednesday, April 23, at which time the resident Broncs will be playing host to San Angelo.

That night has been set aside as "Straw Hat Night." Straw Hat Day officially arrives Saturday, April 26. To trumpet the event, local merchants will give away ten fine straw hats, ranging in value up to $10, to holders of lucky tickets.

Patrons need only retain their admission stubs to become eligible for the prizes. A list of the donors will appear in this paper at a later date.

That, and many other stunts, are being planned by Gilbert Gibbs and Harold Steck.

Bloc tickets will be available at the ball park this week during games with Brooke Medical Center on Thursday and Abilene, on Saturday.

Each club is a 9-5 favorite to win the pennant. The Giants and Yankees are second choices, the former at 5-2 and the latter 2-1. Philadelphia and St. Louis are given an outside chance in the National, as are Chicago and Boston in the American.

President Truman, the nation's No. 1 fan, and only switch hurler, since William Howard Taft started the presidential pitching custom in 1910, will toss out the first ball in Washington, where the Senators engage the Red Sox.

A crowd of 32,000 expected to see a pitching duel between Mel Parnell (18-11), Boston's premier southpaw, and righthander Bob Porterfield (9-8) of the Nats.

The day's largest crowd of some 32,000, including Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, was expected to attend the Tigers-Browns opener in Detroit. The Veteran Dixie Trout (9-14) was Detroit's pitching nomination. He was opposed by Ned Garver (20-12).

The Cardinals, who inaugurated the night opener in 1950, again will raise the curtain with an after-dark affair in St. Louis before 20,000. Manager Bill Meyer of the Pittsburgh Pirates named Murry Dickson (20-16) as his starter. For the Cards, it was to be Gerry Staley (19-13).

The Giants expected 35,000 for their opener with the Philadelphia Phils. Sal Maglie (23-6) was set to start for the defending National League champions. He was opposed by Robin Roberts (21-15).

Cold weather was expected to hold the crowd down to 10,000 at Boston, where the Dodgers were guests of the Braves. The Braves will feature a rookie-infused lineup behind ace southpaw Warren Spahn (22-14). The Dodgers depended on their veteran array including lefty Preacher Roe (22-3).

Philadelphia expected 25,000 to watch the Athletics tangle with the World Champion Yankees and try to end righthander Vic Raschi's jinx over the A's. Raschi (21-19) holds a 29-2 lifetime mark against Philadelphia. The A's nominated Alex Keller (11-14) to oppose him.

The Chicago White Sox were hopeful of exceeding their record 1926 opening day crowd of 33,000 in their encounter with the Indians. Billy Pierce (15-14) was Chicago's pitching choice to oppose Cleveland's Early Wynn (20-13).

Cincinnati envisioned a 30,000 sellout in its traditional opener against the Cubs. Herm Wehmeier (7-10) was the Reds' pitching selection. He was opposed by southpaw Paul Minner (6-17).

Dave Downlass Collects Prize

By KEN ALYTA
GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—This man Dave Douglas squeezed through an opening supplied by golf's rule book to turn what looked certain to be Sam Snead's fifth Greensboro Open Tournament victory into a $2,000 Douglas payday.

Long and lanky Dave, playing out of Newark, Del., in the last threesome, came home with a 69 for a winning 7 under par 277 yesterday, but it was almost a half hour before it was official.

The final event of the winter tour ended on a chaotic note with Douglas finally declared the official winner and a big 7 was chalked up for Snead on the par 3 17th hole.

Snead, winner here four times, appeared to be on the way as he took the lead through 63 holes and shook off Art Wall Jr., the 54-hole leader. The rest of the boys seemed to be playing for second place when Snead came to the short 17th 2 under par.

Then Sammy put his toe shot in a lateral water hazard. He dropped out, taking a stroke there, and eventually holed out in five strokes. But Bobby Locke, the South African ace, and Ed (Porky) Oulver, Lemont, Ill., who played with him, told Sam he erred in dropping the ball closer to the hole. This is a new 1952 rules change defining such a situation of which Snead apparently was unaware.

Locke insisted that PGA tournament Supervisor Frank Caywood inspect the hole in question and when a ruling finally was made Caywood had nothing else to do but charge Snead with a two-stroke penalty for his lapse under the new rule. That gave Sam a 7 and his birdie 4 on the last hole meant only a three-way tie for third with Oliver and Jim Ferrier, San Francisco.

Locke grabbed runnerup money of $1,400 with his 76 finish for 278. Snead, Oulver, and Ferrier each received $846.

Catcher Bought

ST. LOUIS, April 15 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns yesterday bought catcher Darrell Johnson from San Antonio of the Texas League. Johnson, 23, had a batting average of .265 with the Missions last season.

Fair Grounds Racing Oval At Angelo Nearly Ready

The Fair Grounds track, to be used for the May running of the "Texas Futurity" is rapidly reaching the good stage and could be "excellent" following rain, states J. R. Dillard, Big Spring.

The Texas Horse Breeders Association president inspected the oval over the week-end.

The first group of horses, four belonging to A. B. Carter, San Angelo, has moved into the plant and additional arrivals are expected daily.

Currently, most of the horses are prepping for the San Angelo meet at the Texas Downs track, south of town. Some forty head are being conditioned there. Many of these will campaign at Eagle Pass, April 18-20 and at Del Rio, April

NEGROES WITH TEAM

Brooke Medics, Thursday Guests, Tops Last Year

The Brooke Medical Center baseball team, which moves into Big Spring Thursday night for a joust with Pat Stacey's Broncs, earned a flock of honors last year.

The Comets, who are managed by George F. Franz, won the Fourth Army tournament, the Northern Zone State Semi-Pro playoffs, the Inter-Service Conference title and were runners-up to Sinton in the State Semi-Pro playoffs.

In all, the Pill-Rollers—as they are sometimes called—copped 83 of 103 starts. They enjoyed a 21-game winning streak at one stage of the race and never lost more than three games in a row.

The team's top hurler was Jules Hudson, who posted a 24-5 won-lost mark. Hudson is still with the team, as is the Comets' leading hitter, Dick Kokes. Kokes clouted 306 and led the team in home runs with 12 and bases on balls with 84. Prior to going into the service, Dick played with the St. Louis Browns, along with the Comets' shortstop, Owen Friend, and Jim Upchurch, a pitcher.

Still another Brooke hurler, Bob Turley, was due a trial with the Broncs when the military draft caught him. He was the Texas League's top hurler while wearing liveries of the San Antonio Missions in 1951.

Two Negro lads will accompany the Brooke team here. They are Clyde McNeil, an infielder who was in the American Negro league for six years, and Barney Willis, one-time Kansas City Monarch star.

Owen Friend, another ex-Browner, will play shortstop for the Comets. Two years ago, he clouted eight home runs for the Browns.

Other players with the Comets, and the clubs with which they were affiliated in civilian life, include:

PITCHERS — Jerry Dean, Jameslow; Ed Fetzer, Asheville; Harry Gilbert, Waco; Ray Glazer, Montgomery; Jules Hudson, San Jose and Billings; Glenn Mickens, Fort Worth; Lee Star, Ada; Bob Turley, San Antonio; Jim Upchurch, St. Louis Browns and San Antonio.

CATCHERS — Al Nordgren, Waterloo and Superior; Ken Staples, Fort Worth and Montreal; Clovis Sugarek, Greenville.

INFELDERS — Owen Friend, St. Louis Browns; Bob Halkard, New Bern; Franco Hans, Houston; Ray Lindquist, Pittsburg, Kansas; Russ Mays, Roswell; Clyde McNeil, Cuba Winter League; Bob Pascal, St. Cloud; Gus Triandos, Amsterdam and Beaumont; Bob Walker, Tulsa.

OUTFIELDERS — Earl Ashcraft, none; Ray Cucchiari, Pueblo; Gene Hixson, Ballinger and Augusta; Rocco Ippolito, San Antonio; Dick Kokes, St. Louis Browns; and Barney Willis, Kansas City Monarchs.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Scouter Hughes reportedly is playing well enough to make the ripple with Wichita Falls, if he can stay well. Midland could use him again in the short field.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL RAPIDLY EXPANDING.
Little League baseball is growing like bamboo. The program has doubled in size every year for the past five years. There were 780 leagues the country over a year ago. There will be in excess of 1,500 leagues this year. That means more than 6,000 teams and 90,000 boys will be in uniform.

That number does not include the countless thousands who will be on "farm clubs," waiting for chances to play on regular teams.

When local promoters announced plans to organize, they were not prepared for the huge turnout of youngsters. One would have thought they were giving away Shetland ponies.

Judging from the seven- and eight-year-olds who tried to get in on the fun, they'll have to form a Little League to take care of everyone.

The news doesn't seem to have drifted this far East. Warren Woodson, the football man who recently moved from Hardin-Simmons to Arizona, has hired himself a "name" assistant at Tucson. He is Bob Herwig, who was named on most All-America football teams as a center back in 1937 while attending the University of California.

Incidentally, some of the HSU folks are quite put out with Woodson for failing to inform school officials that he had not renewed the football contract with the University of Houston. That series could have grown into a lucrative one in time, but Houston, after failing to hear from Woodson in due time, went ahead and booked another school.

Buzz Mills, one of the better graders at San Angelo High School last fall, is headed for Baylor University, according to Darnell Peacock, the Angelo scribe.

GEORGIA TECH WILL BE SALTY, INSISTS WOODRUFF.
Bob Woodruff, the one-time Baylor mentor, now at Florida, has predicted in print that Georgia Tech and LSU will flex the biggest muscles in Southeastern Conference next fall.

If Woodruff is serious, then SMU can expect a busy afternoon when it plays the Engineers in Dallas. Woodruff points out Tech loses only three lads they'll really miss—Darrell Crawford, Lum Snyder and Ray Beck—and is coming up with adequate replacements.

Woodruff failed to mention that the Rambling Wreck must also do without Lamar Wheel, one of the finest team leaders the club ever had. A great tackle, George Maloof, a fine fullback, will be had to replace in the Georgia Tech scheme of things, too.

Incidentally, Woodruff's season could all be wrapped up in Florida's opening game. The 'Gators take on Tennessee.

Where, Oh, Where Was The Babe Over The Week End?

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 15 (AP)—Babe Didrickson Zaharias was apparently on her way to Bakersfield, Calif., today for the next round of the Cross-Country Weathervane Women's Golf Tournament.

But in Corpus Christi, backers of a charity golf show were still wondering what happened.

The great Babe was entered in the one-day Corpus Christi tournament for women professionals, but failed to show up. The crowd of about 1,500—many of them lured by the magic name of the Babe alone—was frankly disappointed.

Mrs. Sam E. Wilson Jr., president of the Corpus Christi Crippled Children's Hospital and sponsor of the event, was more than disappointed.

"The gallery that bought tickets to the tournament is certainly entitled to an explanation for her absence," Mrs. Wilson said. She said there was only an oral contract.

"We hope to have the women professional golfers back next year," Mrs. Wilson continued, "but if Mrs. Zaharias' name is on the list, there's one thing for sure... We'll have a contract next time."

Mrs. Zaharias was reported a little sore over her showing in the Weathervane at Houston Saturday. She ended in a four-way tie for fifth place.

But other members of the touring golfers said she told them Saturday night in Houston she would see them next day in Corpus Christi. She didn't.

Golf Tournament Down For May 28

WICHITA FALLS, April 15 (AP)—The second annual Texas-Oklahoma Invitational Golf Tournament will be held here May 28 through June 1 with a field of more than 200 of the two states' top amateurs expected to compete.

Henry Coger of Wichita Falls, a North Texas State College student, won the title last year. He is expected to defend his championship.

No filly has ever won Delaware Park's mile and a furlong Leonard Richards Stakes.

Artesia Looks Stronger, Says Skipper Perry

ARTESIA, N. M. — (Sp1) — With a pair of exhibition wins under his belt and "encouraging" performances by several of his players, Manager Earl Perry of the Artesia Drillers is very optimistic concerning his team's chances in the Longhorn League this year.

Perry has stated that "I may not win the flag, but will help decide the top four."

The Driller manager said that he will need "the right help in three spots" to get to the top four, but that he expects to be up there. Artesia finished in the collar last year.

The Drillers have now played three games, winning two of them. They started off their exhibition schedule with an 11-5 win over Wealaco and then took on Brownsville of the class B Gulf Coast League for a pair of contests.

Brownsville took a 4-3 win in the first game on a ninth inning homer. Rookie John Graham worked the first six innings for the Drillers and yielded only four hits. He is the only rookie now on Artesia's team.

The Drillers bounced back to take an 8-3 win in the second game with Brownsville. Perry termed "the overall performance" as "very encouraging."

Pitcher Raul Viton was hospitalized with a fractured skull after being hit in the head with a pitched ball in the game.

Ray Riley and Melvin Miller teamed up to limit Brownsville to one run in seven innings.

But the outstanding man was outfielder Jim Ackers, a limited service man. Ackers blasted a pair of homers and punched out a single to drive in six of Artesia's eight runs.

Ackers was with Big Spring during spring training last year.

New Baptist Church Organized With First Service Wednesday

First formal service of the Baptist Temple Church, newest congregation in Big Spring, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Washington Place school. Organization of the new church was accomplished Sunday at the East Fourth Baptist Church, from whence the original membership is being supplied.

Soldier Son Better, As Mother Arrives

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP)—A soldier son who wasn't expected to live until his mother could arrive showed marked improvement as she kept watch by his bedside today. But 22-year-old Sgt. Irwin T. Sturges was still on the critical list at a veterans hospital here. He was injured Saturday when his car overturned. His mother, Mrs. Lois Sturges, arrived late Sunday after a rail-and-air race from her home at Enid, Okla.

the Temple Baptist Church. The division resulted from growth of the East Fourth Baptist Church to the point that it was handicapped in caring for additional membership. Rolls are being held open through Sunday, May 11 for charter members.

Real property between Eleventh Place and E. 12th and Nolan and Gold Streets, together with money in the building fund will go to the new congregation. Approximate value of the two is $100,000.

Dr. H. M. Jarratt, one of the trustees elected at the Sunday meeting, said that plans would be pressed for the erection of a new church plant.

Pending completion of the meeting facilities, the congregation will meet regularly in the Senior High School auditorium, which is across the street and one block east of Baptist Temple location. Other trustees named were Otto Couch and Ross Hill.

Selected on a pulp committee were Monroe Gafford, Mrs. C. L. Clegg, Dr. Jarratt, Rex Edwards, A. W. Page and Mrs. Juanita Edwards. Mrs. H. M. Jarratt was elected pianist and Hollis Shirley chorister. Otto Couch was elected superintendent of the Sunday School. D. M. Motes, who presided as moderator at the Sunday meeting, was named director of the training union.

Deacons moving their membership will comprise the board for the present. Included are Walter Grice, Dr. Jarratt, Jim Bennett, Couch, Hollis Shirley, F. D. Rogers, and Alf Page. James D. Gammon was named to serve as chairman of the ushers. The Rev. C. O. Hitt, chaplain at the Veterans Administration Hospital, will be in charge of the Wednesday evening services, and will preach at both the Sunday morning and evening services. The pulp committee is charged with supplying the pulpit pending the calling of a minister.

Texas-Indiana Airlift Of 31st Going Smoothly

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind. (AP)—Units of the 31st (Dixie) Division could have fought a battle in Southern Indiana today after being in San Angelo, Tex., only 24 hours earlier. About 2,000 troops of the division were flown to Camp Atterbury Monday in the start of the biggest airlift ever attempted in the Western Hemisphere. They brought howitzers, trucks and other equipment with them in a steady stream of C-124 Globemasters, C-119 Flying Boxcars and C-46 Curtiss Commanders. Rain, fog and occasional icing conditions failed to stop the 18th Air Force operation. The big planes quickly refueled and went back to Texas for another load. Brig. Gen. Lacey V. Murrow, commanding the 434th Troop Carrier Wing, said, "The operation is running smoothly at both ends" after the first day of the three-day airlift. A forecast of clearing, warming weather indicated easier flying conditions today. About 9,000 troops and nearly 1,700 tons of equipment will be hoisted from Texas to Indiana in the operation. Another 4,000 troops of the 31st are leaving Camp Bowie Tex., today by motor convoy. It will take them about a week to make the trip.

Taft Urges Slash In U.S. Aid Funds

WILLIMANTIC, Conn. (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft says 15 billion dollars should be slashed from the administration's budget for military and foreign aid appropriations. The Ohio Senator, who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, also says the administration is using the wrong methods to oppose Communist threats. In his second Connecticut appearance in six weeks, Taft last night told 1,000 Republicans that the United States should maintain a powerful Air Force which could "strike at Russia successfully with atom bombs if necessary." He asserted that the U.S. "cannot fight Russia on every far-flung point" where it "may choose to start an aggressive war."

Pact Nearly Complete

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Negotiators of the Japan-Nationalist China peace treaty today said the pact was all but completed.

No Sensations Expected At Shooting Case Of Wanger

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—The Walter Wanger shooting case, which Hollywood expected would produce some sizzling courtroom testimony, goes to court today—but there'll be no sensations. Prosecution and defense attorneys agreed yesterday to let Superior Judge Harry Borde decide the 37-year-old producer's fate on the basis of testimony before the grand jury. The county grand jury indicted Wanger, one of filmland's most respected moviemakers, last Dec. 18 on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. Five days earlier in a Beverly Hills parking lot, while his wife, actress Joan Bennett, looked on, Wanger shot her agent, Jennings Lang, 39. Lang was seriously wounded in the groin but is now up and around again. Wanger said he did it because Lang "broke up my home." Miss Bennett and Lang said their relationship was strictly business. Wanger, who if convicted could be sentenced to from one to 14 years in prison, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of temporary insanity. His attorney, ace criminal lawyer Jerry Giesler, said yesterday the insanity plea will be withdrawn. He added that he will plead with the court to reduce the charge to assault with a deadly weapon, a lesser offense for which the penalty would probably be a jail sentence. There have been numerous reports recently that the movie industry, seeking to avoid scandal, has exerted pressure on the principals to play down the trial. Giesler said Wanger decided to "throw himself on the mercy of the court" to avoid a lurid trial for the sake of the children involved. Wanger and Miss Bennett have two and the Langs have two.

Franco Has Talk With Portugal's Premier

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Generalissimo Franco and Portugal's Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar planned a surprise meeting, probably today, near the Portuguese frontier. The Spanish chief of state arrived at Ciudad Rodrigo for the meeting last night. What they were to talk about was not announced. At 40 miles above the earth the temperature reaches 170 degrees above zero, says the National Geographic Society.

Ag. Dept. May Get Increase In Budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House Appropriations Committee's prediction of a national food shortage by 1975 may spur a drive in Congress to increase the 1953 Agriculture Department budget. Leaders of the House farm-state delegation said today they may use the committee forecast as a lever to try to pry more money out of the house when the budget bill is considered.
