Receives Fine Cows

Monday of this week C. C. Cooper received a shipment of 30 cows which he had recently purchased from J. O. Turner at Canyon City. Thirty head were shipped in a stork field at that place. The remainder came here from Mr. Cooper's own herd. Mr. Cooper has them for the present at the Brewer place northwest of town.

Beats Shamrock

In the first matched game of the present season, the high school basketball team won a decided victory over the Shamrock High boys by a score of 16 to 8 at the school grounds Saturday afternoon. The game, which was to have started at 5 o'clock, was delayed until 5:30 on account of the westbound train being late. There was a large crowd of enthusiastic local boosters in attendance and they demonstrated their enthusiasm in the good old American way, by continuous and uproarious applause.

The visiting team, at first appearance, struck awe to the hearts of local boosters by reason of the fact that they were much larger and apparently older than the home boys, but from the very moment the first ball was tossed it was evident to all beholders that our lads had the big fellows outclassed in every maneuver of the game and victory was only a matter of time from the start.

It would be difficult to pick a stellar performer from the local bunch for the simple reason that they all played a masterful game, considering their experience. Raymond Glass, Johnnie Back, and Bryant Henry did the goal pitching and the points attest their ability. Andrew Jordan and Dolph Burrows both showed their mettle and displayed the required "pep" in guarding. The entire team, each man in his place, played a splendid game and went through their opponents in a whirlwind fashion that won the admiration of all who witnessed the struggle.

The Shamrock team, several of whom were widely experienced in basketball, were by no means slow, and the fact that they scored eight points against the local team is a sufficient recommendation of their skill and knowledge of the game.

After the conclusion of the boys' game the Shamrock girls played a short exhibition match with the local girls, which resulted in a signal victory for the visitors. This was anticipated, however, as the locals have only recently organized and had had practically no training. The visiting girls showed a thorough knowledge of the game and exhibited considerable skill in their plays.

Arrangements are now going forward for a return match between the boys' teams, which will doubtless be staged at Shamrock at an early date.

Many of the spectators of the Saturday game, like the writer, had never witnessed a game of this character before and attended more with the idea of encouraging the boys in their athletic work than in enjoying the game itself, but nary a one but what left the field with the avowed intention of immediately developing into a basketball fan of the most ferocious type.

Basketball for us.

The local line-up was as follows: Bryant Henry, c; Dolph Burrows, rg; Andrew Jordan, lg; Raymond Glass, rpp; Johnnie Back, lgp. We were unable to get the names of the visitors.

Superintendent Durrett acted as umpire, Prof. Vanbuskirk of Shamrock as referee, Prof. Henrich of Shamrock and Wayland Floyd, time keepers, and J. L. Upham as score keeper.

He can take application for social security cards, duplicate cards, change of name cards, employer's number, or claims for retirement or survivors insurance.

CHAMPION OF LIBERTY

(Editor's Note—Today is the last day of National Newspaper Week, which has been observed throughout the United States. The following is a tribute to newspapers by Lyndon Johnson, United States Senator.)

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to conceive of a democratic nation without a free press.

Thomas Jefferson, in his first inaugural address, rightly listed freedom of the press as one of the principles which "form the bright constellation which has gone before us, and guided our steps through an age of revolution and reformation."

Our history—and the history of mankind—has demonstrated the eternal correctness of his view.

At all times and in all places, a free and untrammelled press has been the staunch champion of liberty. Newspapers that are free and people that are free have walked hand-in-hand. The one cannot exist without the other.

The concept of democratic governments rests upon the assumption that people are informed. If they have the facts, they will demonstrate the ability to make the right decisions and to follow the proper course. That is our enduring faith as Americans and free men.

We have learned through the centuries that the people will not be informed unless the press is informed. That is why ours is the nation which grants to the press the greatest degree of freedom in the world.

The totalitarian nations have converted the press into the mouth-piece of government. There can be no greater foe of freedom.

The nations that have weakened in their love for liberty have hedged the press with hundreds of restrictions and surrounded it with eager censors at every point. That is the course which points the way to dictatorship.

In the United States, we ask only that newspapers obey the moral laws of decency and display a due concern for the national security. They are free to print the truth, without fear of reprisal.

The daily and weekly newspapers of this country have responded magnificently to their opportunity. They have worked in the tradition of freedom and responsibility and have made American people the best informed in the world.

A free press means a free people.

A controlled press means a controlled people.

It is fitting that we pause to commemorate this great institution. May it flourish and prosper and remain ever vigilant to preserve our constitutional freedoms and our institutions of liberty.

Mrs. Clyde Willis and Mrs. Charlie Eudey were in Pampa on business Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Williams of Borger spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bidwell visited with Mr. and Mrs. Davis Summitt in Amarillo Sunday.

TALK By LESTER

A short editorial from the West Virginia Taxpayer, handed to me by Charles Cousins:

"The Enterprise Journal of McComb, Miss., points out in a most forceful manner the story of federal aid:

"We raise taxes to pay the federal government; then we raise more taxes to match the amount we have already sent to Washington in order to get back the amount we have already sent to Washington. This is what we call federal aid."

"So true! Also we only get part of the money we have sent back after matching because much of it has gone for administration before it returns.

"This 'something for nothing' never was, is not, nor never will be."

A study made by NAM (National Association of Manufacturers) shows: This year the tax collections of the federal government alone are as much as the total gross revenues for 1950 of all the governmental units in the country, federal, state, county, city, town, school district, etc.

Yet the secretary of the treasury fears that the government may run out of money—and out of its borrowing limit—before Congress convenes again.

Brother, you never had it so good, or so much of it, either.

Hear that some would-be operators of the local football team criticized Coach Hap Rogers for not playing the younger and less experienced boys all the time against Claude when we got ahead of them. Let us remember that Claude had a bunch of fairly good-sized boys, most of them experienced, although they were short in number. Let us also remember that Coach Rogers is the coach, despite the fact that some of us may think we know more about the game than he does. Let us let Coach Rogers and his assistant, Clint Williams, run the football team as he sees fit. The team needs our backing, our presence at the games, and our yelling—but not our coaching experience.

While on the subject of football, I might add that the attendance at the Claude-McLean game was not nearly as great as I had thought it would be. Some people won't follow a losing team. But the team is winning thus far. The trip to Lockney is a bit far, and certainly no one should be criticized for not making it. But there are three other games at home, and three others away (not quite so far away). We'll be looking for you at the remainder of the games. Other than the Lockney game, that is.

This is the last day of National Newspaper Week, and we haven't said much about it so far. But we would like to "toot our own horn" a little. After all, you don't have to read it.

This newspaper isn't the best one in the world. We don't expect it to be. But we do our best to get out a simple country paper, carrying the kind of news you like to read.

We don't go in for the character-degrading gossip kind of news, for we feel that, generally speaking, such gossip (although it may be true) is more personal than public. Then, too, quite often the repetition of such gossip is more harmful to the children of those being talked about than it is to the person directly concerned.

As you have noticed, if you read the paper, we seldom carry stories of local people being arrested, unless the case is such that not running news about it is more harmful than it is to run the news. Children certainly enter into the picture in these cases. If a man is arrested for driving while intoxicated, chances are he has done it before many times and just hasn't been caught. He won't care particularly whether it's in the paper or not in the paper. But his children will be hurt if it is.

In other words, we try to make our paper one which is for all of you—not about you, not against you. Bad news cannot be kept out all of the time, but some of the worst type can be.

We believe people read our little paper to get the news about their town. If they want the dirty gossip kind of news, we feel that our readers can get it downtown on the corner. It may not be straight when they hear it, but it wouldn't be after they hear it downtown or read it in the paper.

One of our friends once moved away from here for a few months to another town, about the same size as McLean. He told me later—after coming back here—that the paper in the town to which he moved was not nearly as personal and down-to-earth as the McLean News.

Frankly, we try to get out the kind of weekly paper which we think will be good for our entire community, and that includes the whole area about us. We have no intentions of setting the journalistic world on fire with our writings. We just want to live among people in a town where everybody is somebody.

No. 1704 THE STATE OF TEXAS COUNTY OF GRAY

TO THOSE INDEBTED TO, OR HOLDING CLAIMS AGAINST THE ESTATE OF B. L. WEBB, DECEASED:

The undersigned having been duly appointed administrator with will annexed of the estate of B. L. Webb, deceased, late of Gray County, Texas, by J. B. Maguire, Jr., Judge of the County Court of said County, on the 28th day of September, A. D., 1953, hereby notifies all persons indebted to said estate to come forward and make settlement, and those having claims against said estate to present them to him within the time prescribed by law at his residence, Star Route Number 2, Pampa, Gray County, Texas, where he receives his mail, this 29th day of September, A. D., 1953.

Felton K. Webb, Administrator with will annexed, of the Estate of B. L. Webb, deceased.

The Texan on a visit to Chicago, when asked what he thought of the stockyards, replied, "Why, we got brand-'n' corrals in Texas bigger'n this."

"What do you think of the imposing sky-scrapers of the Chicago skyline?" "Why, man, we got tombstones down thar bigger'n them." Not to be outdone, that night they put a brace of snapping turtles in the Texan's bed. When he turned back the covers and asked what they were, he was told they were Illinois bedbugs. He peered at them for a moment and agreed, "So they are, but young'uns, ain't they?"

Health Talk—HEAT TREATMENT

Probably long before primitive man learned to make fire, he had discovered some form of heat—such as the sunshine or a natural hot spring—eased muscles that had become stiff and sore from dwelling in a cold, moist cave.

Heat and some of the other agents (such as cold, massage, and electricity) included in the specialty known as physical medicine are as old as man himself, but in recent years a great deal more has been learned about them. Special equipment for giving physical therapy has been developed, some of it elaborate and requiring an operator who has had special training in its use, for example, a diathermy machine for applying heat to the inner organs of the body.

The doctor who specializes in physical medicine is known as a "physiatrist" (fiz-ee-at-rist). A person skilled in giving this kind of treatment is a physical therapist. The therapist does not work alone but under the direction of a doctor. Not only physiatrists but other doctors may do prescribe physical therapy.

Physical therapy may relieve pain, promote early motion of the affected part of the body, prevent deformity, and reduce the recovery period, whether the patient has a disease like arthritis or an injury such as a broken bone.

In arthritis, physical medicine was being used in combination with drugs with good results even before the days of ACTH and cortisone. Arthritis does not involve just one joint or one area of the body, it is a general disease. Treatment includes attention to a well balanced program of rest and exercise, diet, and other accepted methods of treatment.

Physical therapy for a broken bone can be started even before the bone is set; sometimes cold is used to keep down swelling and reduce pain. Perhaps the cast is split down one side and hinged so that the limb can be removed carefully and treated with heat and gentle massage. Later, when healing is sufficient, exercises may be given under the doctor's direction.

For the treatment of arthritis and broken bones, as well as for other conditions, many different types of physical treatment are available. Examples are the following: (1) Heat: hot water bottle, diathermy machine. (2) Cold: ice bag, cold water bath. (3) Light: sunbathing, infra-red lamp. (4) Electricity: diathermy machine. (5) Water: hot and cold contrast bath, whirlpool bath. (6) Mechanical devices: shoulder wheel, crutch or brace. (7) Massage: stroking, kneading; general local. (8) Exercise: exercises for relaxation, coordination, improved breathing or posture.

A council of the American Medical Association offers a service in the appraisal of highly technical physical therapy equipment, and if a manufacturer wishes, he may submit a new apparatus for review. A good rating is an assurance of safety and efficiency.

Frequently objects found around the house can be used to carry out physical therapy, for example, riding a bicycle may be suggested as a substitute for working the bicycle jigsaw found in an occupational therapy workshop.

OUR DEMOCRACY BY PRODUCTS

AMERICAN INVENTIVE GENIUS IS CONSTANTLY DISCOVERING NEW BY-PRODUCT USES FOR THE MATERIALS BOTH OF AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRY. SUPPLEMENTING THE PRIMARY USES OF THESE RESOURCES, THE EVER-INCREASING NUMBER OF BY-PRODUCTS CONTRIBUTES SUBSTANTIALLY TO THE NATION'S PRODUCTIVE STRENGTH.

AMERICAN FAMILY THRIFT ALSO HAS AN IMPORTANT BY-PRODUCT; ITS PRIMARY PURPOSE IS, OF COURSE, THE CREATION OF FINANCIAL SECURITY FOR THE FAMILY. THE BY-PRODUCT OF THIS THRIFT IS THAT THE FUNDS AMERICAN FAMILIES PUT ASIDE IN LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS, BECOME AVAILABLE FOR INVESTMENT IN INDUSTRY AND AGRICULTURE—AND TO MEET THE NEEDS OF HOME OWNERS.

A Famous American Ship

The CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, said to have carried more passengers in her 41 years than any other liner on the Great Lakes, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. Built in 1892 she was the best known of the "whaleback" type. This unusual design was intended to offer minimum resistance to wind and sea. Difficulties in unloading cargo and size limitations were serious handicaps, however, and the style was not long popular. Great Lakes shipping is an important part of our merchant marine. High construction costs are making it virtually impossible for private shipping to build new ships for passenger or freight services. Without new ships the American Merchant Marine can not long perform its service to our peacetime economy or serve as our "fourth arm" in war.

Potpourri Uses Last of Garden

With the last rose of summer, a few odds and ends remain in the vegetable garden that the thrifty homemaker likes to use after she has canned or frozen all the corn, beans, peas and tomatoes to carry the family through the Winter.

This recipe produces a compact, mixed vegetable base which can be diluted with water for a delicious vegetable soup or with milk for chowder, or put to use for meat pies or casserole combinations. If preferred, beef suet may be omitted from the recipe that follows. In that case, brown the onions in butter or margarine and add a bouillon cube at the time of preparing for the table. It gives a zesty flavor similar to the suet.

END-OF-THE-GARDEN SOUP (For freezing or canning)

- 1 quart carrots, diced 4 medium turnips, diced 1 1/2 quarts green beans, cut 2 parsnips, diced 1 quart wax beans, cut 2 medium bunches celery, sliced 1 teaspoon pepper 6 large tomatoes, cut in one-inch pieces 3 tablespoons salt 1 bunch parsley, minced fine 8 ears corn, cut from cob 5 large onions, chopped 8 medium potatoes, diced 2 leeks, sliced 1 pound beef suet, ground or chopped

Saute the onions and leeks in the heated suet before adding. Boil all together 30 minutes and can or freeze following canning time table for mixed vegetables.

Makes 18 solid pack pints, which, when diluted with water, tomato juice, meat stock or milk, yields 18 quarts.

In canning by the water-bath method, be sure to use soft water in the processing kettle to avoid the unpleasant scum which adheres to the jars when hard water is used during the boiling period. Soft water will also prevent a blackened inside aluminum kettle.

Use of soft water is one of the tricks of commercial canners that is not common knowledge to the homemaker.
