Steelworkers Showing No Sign Of Defeat

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Philip Murray says there is not a "sign or semblance of defeat in the minds and hearts" of his CIO steelworkers, who are now in the sixth week of a national steel strike.

Nearly 18,000 union members gathered on an athletic field at nearby Duquesne, Pa., yesterday to hear Murray speak. The union chief counseled them: "Don't be dismayed. The companies' resistance is an attempt to undermine your union. Don't let them divide you and victory will be yours."

More than a million persons have been idled by the strike or the resulting steel shortages since 650,000 basic steelworkers walked off the job June 2.

Bridges Requests Party Harmony To Avert Defeat

Ike Forces Are Cautious, But Still See Win

More Threats Of Strife Break Out

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH CHICAGO, July 8 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed today for Republican harmony and for "kicking the Democrats so far Nov. 4 that I'll take them about 20 years to get back."

Eisenhower, a top contender for the GOP presidential nomination, came up with the unity appeal and the slug-the-Democrats remarks at a breakfast with the 26-vote Missouri delegation to the party's national convention.

He met with the group after yesterday's dramatic preliminary victory of his forces over those of Sen. Robert A. Taft at the opening session of the convention.

The Eisenhower camp, however, was tempering elation with caution in continuing to predict an early ballot nomination of the general.

At today's meeting with the Missouri delegation, which backed him 22 to 4 over Taft in yesterday's dispute over seating delegates, Eisenhower told the group the Republicans must close ranks after the convention and concentrate on defeating the Democrats in November.

"There is only one thing to do when you are in an inter-family fight and that is to close ranks," he declared.

He then added the remark about "kicking the Democrats" back. "The general also declared that 'as long as we are in this thing, let's stick it out together and throw the stove lid at anything that gets in our way.'"

Eisenhower himself left the victory claims to his campaign manager, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who declared the general will be nominated on about the third ballot. The voting may start tomorrow night.

Eisenhower called the preliminary triumph he scored "heartening news" to himself and millions of Americans.

That triumph came when the convention, by a vote of 638 to 548, went along with Eisenhower on the issue of seating contested delegates. Then it adopted by acclamation a new rule which bars 68 contested delegates — Most of them pro-Taft — until the disputes over seating them have been settled.

Eisenhower watched the convention session on television at his Blackstone Hotel headquarters. When it was over, he called a news conference and read a statement which said in part: "Today's action... is proof that this convention belongs to the delegates and to the people who elected them."

"Now that this test has been met, the people will look to the convention with trust and to our party with growing confidence that, unitedly, it will lead the country to a rebirth of political honesty, courage and vision."

BULLETIN CHICAGO, July 8 (AP)—The Credentials Committee today voted unanimously to seat the pro-Taft Florida delegation at the Republican National Convention.

This decision was anticipated since the Republican National Committee also had been unanimous in behalf of the regular-faction delegation. The contesting Florida delegation also was for Sen. Robert A. Taft.

CHICAGO, (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Styles Bridges told the GOP convention today it must patch up party quarrels or "almost certainly go down to defeat in November."

The veteran New Hampshire legislator appeared on the convention's second-day morning program along with other party leaders—Sen. James Kem of Missouri, Rep. Marguerite Church of Illinois and Chicago Councilman Archibald Carey Jr.

In a prepared address, Bridges delivered a scathing attack on the Democratic party. He called for a united front of Republicans, now unsettled by the close race between Gen. Eisenhower and Ohio Sen. Robert A. Taft for presidential nomination.

"The Republican party is beset," Bridges said, "by stormy, bitter wrangling forces... This party cannot succeed if this bitterness remains after the convention."

He added: "Let us heed this warning — unless the Republican party stands in a solid phalanx behind the choice of this convention for the presidency of the United States, we will almost certainly go down to defeat in November."

A Republican defeat in the presidential election then, Bridges said, would spell "the end of the two-party system as we know it." But he said he does not expect the GOP to lose in the fall.

Recalling the "iron-clad pledge" adopted by the Republicans' 1880 convention to support the nominee — James A. Garfield, who was elected that year — Bridges said, "Let us learn from history."

He called on Taft, Eisenhower, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Harold Stassen, California Gov. Earl Warren and "all the other leaders of our party to stand with me before the bar of American public opinion."

"Do not tamper with the fate of the party and the fate of our nation," he said. Bridges characterized the Democrats as a party itself divided on issues like civil rights. He said the administration must take responsibility for "inflation, public debt, high taxes and deficit financing."

The big convention hall where 12,000 of the Republican faithful last night cheered a slashing attack by Gen. Douglas MacArthur on what he called the Truman administration's "tragic blunders" — as chairman of the group last night. Taft gave every outward appearance of his confidence of winning a victory.

The bulk of the delegation is pledged to former Gov. Harold E. Stassen II-but has expressed strong leanings toward Eisenhower. Sen. Edward J. Thye, its co-chairman, is pledged to back Stassen, but he says he personally prefers Eisenhower, and that the close delegate test yesterday "indicates that Bob Taft is through, but Gen. Eisenhower is not in yet."

Taft eased off the hot pace he has followed since he set up camp here, scheduling only the meeting with the Minnesotans and the pro-Taft Utah delegation this morning, after the regular morning strategy meeting with his staff.

He called off his usual morning news conference.

COUNTY STILL DRY

General Rains Fall In Adjoining Area

Howard County apparently remains the driest in the area in spite of the general rains that fell over the area last night and this morning.

The gauge at the Weather Bureau station registered a total of 0.24 inch over the 24-hour period, while 0.21 was recorded at the Experiment Station Farm just north of town. A slight shower fell at Coahoma about 5:30 a.m. today, but it was cloudy there and prospects for more moisture were better than they have been for a long time. Forsan reported only 0.08, but also noted clouds that encouraged hopes.

Garden City reported 0.30 with a like amount at the Shell Station southwest of there. Bob Ballinger, who lives seven miles north of Garden City reported a shower at his place, and 0.20 was registered at St. Lawrence. A shower fell on the Charles Cox ranch west of Garden City, but Steve Currie, who lives 10 miles east said there was no rain at all there. Jim Ratliff, whose place is eight miles northwest of Garden City reported 0.40 and said it looked like the rain to the north of him was much heavier. Sam Ratliff, who lives 15 miles northwest of Garden City reported 0.30. It was still quite cloudy over Glasscock County at mid-morning and indications were that more rain will be received.

Grady Cross reported 2.50 inches at his ranch in the Lomax area. Rexie Cauble said he received 0.25 in the Elbow Community and Walter Anderson of the Luther Community reported 1/8 in his area. From one to two inches was reported from Andrews, with about the same amount over the Seminole area.

It started raining in Colorado City late yesterday afternoon and by mid-morning that area had received almost 0.60 inch. Stanton had from 1.50 to two inches, with heavier rains in the north part of Martin County. Tarzan reported two inches with good prospects for more. At about 10 a.m. today the Kyodo News Agency reported one person was killed and at least 63 injured, including 56 policemen. At one point the police fired into the mob of demonstrators, who hurled stones, wielded bamboo spears and tossed fire bombs.

The riots started after a three-hour demonstration at Osu Baseball Stadium, where 7,000 turned out to welcome two Japanese who recently returned from a visit to Red China.

Polio Scourge Is Unchecked Over The State

By The Associated Press
The polio scourge, near the epidemic stage in Texas for weeks, continued unchecked Tuesday.
Two young Texas mothers died of polio Monday, bringing to four the number of polio deaths reported in the state the past two days.
Mrs. Emma Lee Elliott, 18, Corpus Christi, died two weeks after giving birth to a son. The child was born with polio and spent the first 10 days of his life in the isolation ward before being sent to his home.
At Austin, Mrs. Claire Greenwood, of Wimberly and Houston, died in an iron lung. She was admitted to the hospital, June 25, a day after her 7-year-old son was admitted as a polio patient.
Sunday, both Dallas and Houston had polio deaths.
James Chamberlain, 43-year-old teacher at Lee College in Baytown, became the 17th person to die of polio in Harris County this year.
And Nat R. Hunds, 39, Dallas insurance executive who was admitted to Parkland Hospital at Dallas last Tuesday, also died Sunday.
Meanwhile, the number of patients in big city hospitals continued to climb. Houston hospitals reported 14 new polio cases Monday, sending the number listed by the city health department in 1952 to 422.
The new cases boded the Houston city total for the year to 185 cases and six deaths, Harris County cases to 128 cases and six deaths, and non-resident cases to 128 cases and six deaths.
The experiment at Houston to inoculate 25,000 children with gamma globulin completed its sixth day. Some 13,000 youngsters had received the shots in an attempt to see whether the blood fraction will prevent polio paroxysms.
The city of Marshall advertised its cleanup campaign with a parade through the downtown district Monday, while at Fort Worth, a city-wide drive to kill flies continued.

Rare Operation Is Successful

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Hospital disclosed today what it termed the "successful completion" of a rare operation in which a section of the body's largest blood vessel was taken from a dead man and transplanted into a living person.
The vessel, the aorta, supplies blood to the body below the heart. It is about 1 1/2 inches in diameter with walls as eighth of an inch thick.
The patient, 46-year-old John Chatman of Philadelphia, was admitted to the hospital suffering from a weakening of the wall of the aorta. At one place his aorta had swollen to the size of a man's fist and was tissue thin. The hospital said a break would have caused immediate death.
On June 25, during an operation of more than seven hours duration, surgeons removed the weakened section of Chatman's aorta and replaced it with a three-inch section taken from the body of a 18-year-old youth who had been killed in an accident 10 days before.
Chatman, now well on the way to recovery, will shortly be released from the hospital.

Man Charged In Sunday Shooting

MADISONVILLE, July 8 (AP)—Herman Whitley, about 30, was charged here yesterday with assault to murder after a Sunday shooting spree in which Ed Griffin, about 20, was seriously wounded.
He was placed in the Madison County jail when unable to post $3,000 bond.
Griffin, a filling station employe, was shot in the mouth and stomach when a volley of seven shots was fired from a .22 caliber rifle.
Sheriff Glenn Kyle arrested Whitley, a World War II veteran, as he climbed the bank of a small stream near the service station.
Whitley made no statement of officers and Griffin's condition was too serious for him to be questioned, Kyle said.

Man Faced With Hit-Run Charge

COLORADO CITY, July 8.—T. E. Ray, 30-year-old housepainter of Lorraine, was charged with hit and run driving after allegedly striking Jimmy M. Geddie, 48, of 928 College Street.
Geddie is receiving treatment for a broken leg in the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City.
The accident occurred Monday afternoon, near Geddie's home. Geddie said that he was taking milk from a truck parked on the south side of College Street. Geddie, who has a nervous condition and cannot move rapidly, saw the car coming but could not move out of the way.
Police Chief Sam Hulme says the car was westbound and continued for a 100 yards or more after striking Geddie, before striking a trash barrel off the side of the road, and losing a passenger who fell from the car. The passenger was George Mize, Colorado City 18-year-old Negro who suffered a compound fracture of the left forearm. Ray then stopped to pick up Mize and carried him to the hospital, where Ray was found by Chief Hulme.
County Attorney Ken Jennings reported that Ray was charged with "failure to stop and render aid."

Death Penalty Will Be Asked In Trial

FOR COP KILLER

DALLAS, July 8 (AP)—Convicted cop killer Robert Hugh Barber Jr., 27, faced death in the electric chair today as jury selection in his robbery trial here continued.
Barber, already under a 30-year sentence for the slaying of Fort Worth Detective Henry Cleveland, is charged in the $15,000 armed robbery of a Dallas cafe.
Cleveland was killed when officers entered the Barber home in Fort Worth to investigate the Dallas robbery.
Four jurors were selected yesterday in the court of criminal District Judge Henry King who recessed court at 4:05 p. m. Court was recessed so court officials and attorneys could attend the funeral of T. F. (Ted) Monroe, famed Dallas criminal lawyer who died Sunday of a heart attack.
Attorneys had questioned 22 prospective jurors when Judge King recessed court. States attorneys Jimmie MacNicol and Fred Bruner insist that Barber die in the electric chair for the robbery.
The mild-appearing Barber, his hair slightly tousled, was in court in a pin-striped suit and neat four-in-hand tie, his hand tightly clasped by his blonde pretty wife, Doris Faye, 21. His mother and father from Angleton were also in the court room.
Among the Fort Worth officers present as witnesses in the case were Detective A. C. Howerton, Chief of Detectives; C. S. Hightower; H. A. McClanahan; Tom Hodges, radio patrolman; Detective Oliver Ball; Patrolman Harvey Hall and former Special Officer V. C. Sellars.
Sellars was assigned to guard Barber when he was hospitalized following the shooting in which Cleveland was killed. Barber escaped half-naked from the hospital but was caught at a police roadblock, a few miles south of Fort Worth near Mansfield.
Cleveland was shot to death in February. Barber was injured in the shooting as was Dallas Detective H. C. Holloway and Fort Worth Detective Howerton.

Man Faced With Hit-Run Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Thousands of government workers throughout the country are being fired as a result of sharp cuts the 82nd Congress made in appropriations for federal agencies.
Although virtually all departments feel the pinch, hardest hit are the six economic stabilization agencies which officials estimate will release more than 9,000—or over 50 per cent—of their 17,000 employes within 30 days.
These agencies are the Economic Stabilization Agency, Office of Price Stabilization, Wage Stabilization Board, Office of Rent Stabilization, Salary Stabilization Board, and Railroad and Airline Wage Board.
State Department officials, for example, figure they would have to eliminate about 400 jobs here and another 20 in another agency made by not filling jobs vacated through normal turnover of personnel, and plan no immediate firings.
The State Department was granted 75 million dollars for fiscal 1953, a cut of $2,250,000 from last year and $4,250,000 below the sum requested.
There were no immediate reports from other government but the total will run into additional thousands.

New Atomic Sub Looks Like Shark

WASHINGTON (AP)—The radically new atomic-powered submarine Nautilus being built by the Navy will be a pug-nosed vessel that looks like a hammer-head shark.
This was revealed yesterday when the Navy unveiled a 4 1/2-foot model of the submarine. President Truman recently said would be able to travel thousands of miles at top speed on a few pounds of uranium fuel.
Although the Navy said the model gives away no secrets—officials said it is diagrammatic, and not intended to disclose size, dimensions, or placement of equipment—this much seemed indicated:
The atomic energy-producing reactor, or furnace, and allied equipment is placed in the center and takes up about a third of the overall length of the vessel. Crew members will be able to walk around and over its heavy shielding.

Mossadegh Refuses His Reappointment

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Informed sources said today that Mohammed Mossadegh has refused to accept a royal decree reappointing him Premier of this near-bankrupt country because the Senate failed to give him a clear vote of confidence.
There was no official confirmation of the report, which came from persons close to Mossadegh.
The Senate yesterday postponed a vote of reappointment until after Mossadegh formed a government and presented his program. But it advised Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi to continue the aged Nationalist leader in office.
Previously the Majlis, or lower house of Parliament, voted overwhelmingly to reappoint Mossadegh, who had resigned in accordance with tradition when a new Parliament opened last week.

Gas Is Reserved For Corporations

WASHINGTON, July 8 (AP)—The Power Commission has allocated or reserved 54,094,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily to 23 corporations or municipalities from the unallocated capacity of Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. pipeline.
Texas Eastern asked the commission to authorize it to dispose of about 107 million cubic feet daily when an expansion program now under way is completed.
However the commission estimated yesterday the company would have only 91,882,000 cubic feet to dispose of and directed that 7,788,000 cubic feet be held for emergencies.

State Races Taking On A Red-Hot Hue

By The Associated Press
 Texas' governor's campaign—hot one day and lukewarm the next—look on a red-hot hue Tuesday after all three candidates added fuel to the political fires.

Gov. Allan Shivers and the two candidates bent on unseating him—Mrs. Allen Traylor and Ralph Yarborough—were busy in the July heat with the first Democratic Primary just 18 days away.

Hundreds of thousands of Texans kept eyes and ears attuned to radio and TV reports of the Republican National Convention in Chicago, but the state candidates had their full share of public attention.

There was no let-up in the heated race for U. S. Senate between Atty. Gen. Price Daniel, Rep. Lindsey Beckworth, and Atty. E. W. Napier of Wichita Falls.

Shivers and Yarborough were in the midst of state tours. Mrs. Traylor made one of her rare speeches at Freeport. Daniel and Beckworth had their hand-shaking, speech-making marathon going at full speed, made several appearances during the day. Beckworth made 16 speeches.

Shivers spoke in Paris Monday night after appearances earlier in the day at Texarkana and Tyler. The governor plugged for re-election with a promise to farmers that the state will some day have the best rural roads in the nation.

At Tyler, he told a group of newspapermen and friends he would ask the next state legislature to revise the Drivers Responsibility law so that it could promote safety without being burdensome.

The governor took time in Tyler to blast the Truman administration. He said Texas Democratic Party delegates to the national convention were getting more recognition from the party than ever before.

"We have a bigger say on the nomination than we have had in the last several years," he said. "We do not say 'Business As Usual' or 'Carry on Harry.' I don't want that man running my business."

Shivers was referring to his oft-voiced opposition to President Truman and to his insistence that the Texas delegation be unconstructed. Although his personally avowed preference for the Democratic Presidential nomination is Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, Shivers plugged for an unconstructed Democratic delegation with the aim of getting "more trading power."

In another state-wide radio address, Candidate Yarborough took more pot-shots at Shivers and his administration.

"He mealy-mouths around about 'somebody's talking about me,'" shouted the Austin attorney, and continued:

"Yes, Mr. Governor, we're talkabout you. We're asking you why don't you tell the people why you were out in the Gulf of Mexico on the yacht Balinese owned by the Maceo gambling syndicate."

Yarborough says Shivers permitted gambling to continue at Galveston. The Maceos reportedly operated large-scale gambling in the island resort city.

Yarborough, in his radio speech and earlier at LaGrange, also called for a presidential preference primary in Texas and strengthening of the state's soil and water conservation program.

In a speech at Freeport, Mrs. Traylor asked for end to "an era of waste, corruption and graft, never before equaled in this state." Yarborough also has charged the state government with being as loaded with graft as the national government.

Mrs. Traylor, San Antonio housewife, said Texans must not continue as victims of "heartless, domineering men who use public office as a means of gratifying personal, selfish ambition."

The San Antonio woman also proposed $100 monthly old-age pensions and a minimum increase of 35 per cent in salaries of Texas teachers.

Shivers said at Tyler that the old age pension program is controlled largely by the federal government, but revealed that a pension increase of about $5 per person is due in October.

The governor also repeated previous statements that he would not be available as a candidate for President or vice president. Again he said: "I want to stay in Texas and raise my kids as Texans."

There has been conjecture recently that Shivers will retire from politics after another term as governor if he is re-elected.

In a speech at Lubbock's South Plains rally, Daniel hit at federal bureaucracy again and lambasted the Brannan farm plan. He said high taxes, big spending and government regimentation are threatening all gains made by farmers and ranchers.

The Brannan plan, Daniel added, "would have sent the farmers to jail if they had not planned their crops according to Washington's directions." He spoke also in Canyon, Tulsa and Plainview.

Beckworth—Continuing his fast pace in the Senate race—told listeners in 18 East Texas towns that the "big money" was against him. And he answered recent criticism by Daniel's headquarters with the assertion that "they're behind, so they're getting nasty." Beckworth continued his tours in his white sound wagons with ranch music.

Both Beckworth and Daniel have stepped up the pace of the Senate campaign after each predicted his

Jury Is Sought For Murder Trial

HASKELL, July 8 (AP)—The murder trial of Thomas C. Livesay, 36, Amarillo smelting plant worker, continued here today with the selection of a jury.

The trial was recessed in 39th District Court yesterday afternoon after seven jurors had been picked, when Defense Attorney H. J. Blanchard suffered a heart stroke.

Livesay is charged with murder in the death of 85-year-old Joshua Biocher, self-styled "Old Devil of Bailey County" and founder of the town of Progress, near Muleshoe.

The bearded recluse was beaten to death and robbed of 13 cents last Aug. 15.

His attackers apparently missed $10,000 buried under the floor of Biocher's one-room shack.

A co-worker of Livesay's, Lester Douglas Stevens, 51, already has been sentenced to death in the slaying. The sentence has been appealed.

McKeldin Plans Speech For Ike

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland happily tackled a key task today at the Republican convention—writing the speech in which he will offer Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's name for presidential nomination.

Even as McKeldin went to work, there were rumblings from a minority in the Maryland delegation against the strong hand he has displayed in its actions.

"Man, this is well," McKeldin said yesterday when Eisenhower cast him in the important role. He immediately called in aides to help him put together a speech.

Complaints against McKeldin's leadership of the Maryland delegation came from Sen. John Marshall Butler and other members favorable to Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio.

They spoke of a "squeeze." They said McKeldin applied it when the Maryland delegation voted 19 to 5 in the convention yesterday for a rules change favored by Eisenhower.

McKeldin, when he agreed to place Eisenhower's name in nomination, automatically released Maryland's delegation from a pledge to support him as favorite son on the first ballot. The 19-to-5 split backing Eisenhower on the rules change vote was an index of how Maryland would go in nomination balloting.

own victory in the coming primary.

Napier, Wichita Falls attorney and former judge, scheduled appearances at Bastrop, Smithville, LaGrange, Columbus, Sealy and Houston in Southeast Texas.

Meanwhile, Gladewater's John Ben Shepperd, candidate for attorney general, announced a flying schedule of appearances this week. Tuesday he was to be in Dallas, Waco, and MacGregor. The rest of the schedule will take him to San Antonio on Wednesday, Corpus Christi on Thursday, Wichita Falls and Odessa, Friday.

Next week, Shepperd will visit 16 towns in the Lower Rio Grande Valley on Monday, be in Lubbock on July 15 and in El Paso, July 16.

Beckworth, with another heavy day today, was to end it at Lufkin in an 8:30 p.m. appearance after visiting Mt. Vernon, Mt. Pleasant, Omaha, Naples, Nacogdoches, Douglassville, Maud, Texarkana, Atlanta, Linden, Jefferson, Marshall, Carthage, Tenaha, and Center.

Said the Congressman wanting to be a Senator: "I'm sure learning a lot of geography."

Police Patrolling Streets In Wake Of Post-Election Riots

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Soldiers and police patrolled the streets and blocked all roads leading to Mexico's capital city today in the wake of political riots which left at least three killed, 200 injured and another 300 under arrest.

Similar outbreaks were reported in other Mexican cities. All apparently were quelled quickly, however, and there were no indications of any deaths or injuries outside Mexico City.

Further outbreaks were feared today. Government sources said last night's riots were only the curtain-raiser to a larger uprising by supporters of anti-government candidates running far behind in the counting of votes from Sunday's presidential elections.

Spontaneous fighting continued in the tense capital city until early today after three major clashes between police and soldiers and supporters of the chief opposition candidate.

The disorders ended the political peace which had reigned since the polling began and which had led many Mexicans to congratulate themselves on their country's first modern election without violence.

Although there were only three known dead, official sources estimated the toll might reach 15. Thirty-two of the injured were listed as in serious condition.

Scores of U. S. tourists were reported affected by tear gas fired by police as the fighting swirled near the Del Prado Hotel. But a duty officer at the U. S. Embassy early today said he had received no reports of Americans injured.

Military roadblocks around the city prevented the entry of persons who might join in new disorders. Soldiers and police guarded all public buildings. A pool of armored cars waited in the center of the city to dash to any new trouble spot.

Gen. Leandro Sanchez Salazar, Mexico City police chief, blames "Communist students" from the Polytechnic Institute for the bloodshed. He said they refused to disperse and threw stones at the police.

The rioting began last night when police attempted to break up a "victory celebration" called by supporters of Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman. He is running far behind the government candidate, Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, in unofficial returns on the two-thirds of Sunday's vote so far reported.

Gen. Henriquez claimed "victory" in full-page newspaper advertisements yesterday. Despite a last-minute government ban on political meetings, about 1,000 of his supporters gathered near his headquarters in the belief they were halting the next President.

Mounted police armed with sabers charged them when they refused to disperse. A few shots were fired. Riot and tear gas squads were called and fighting became general.

Soldiers were summoned after the battle had raged for half an hour and the government forces gradually drove the rioters up the street to the Henriquez headquarters, diagonally across from the U. S. Embassy.

Armored cars and mounted police closed both ends of the street. Henriquez campaign leaders finally called off the demonstration to "avoid bloodshed."

The fighting broke out again in the main square in front of the Presidential Palace and the cathedral. Several volleys of shots were fired and police laid down a heavy tear gas barrage.

The police and soldiers finally penned the rioters in a vacant lot and allowed them to depart in small groups.

Despite Henriquez' claims, victory in the election appeared going overwhelmingly to Cortines. Unofficial and preliminary figures gave him a lead of 2,009,370 to Henriquez' 187,615, with one-third of the vote still to be reported.

Other unofficial totals given out by the President's office were: rightist Efraim Gonzalez Luna, 63,037 and leftist Vicente Lombardo Toledano, 123,353. The final official count begins next Sunday.

THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

The ranching industry lost one of its finest men and best friends in the death of John P. Lee, 77, at San Angelo Sunday.

His father died when John P. Lee was but 13 years old, but at the early age the son took over the responsibility of large ranching interests and made a success of it because he loved the work.

He was one of the first men to bring registered Herefords and registered Thoroughbred horses into West Texas and was one of the founders of both the Texas Hereford Association and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

A friendly, Christian gentleman, he is going to be missed.

Clayton Stewart of Forsan sold 16 yearling Brahms bulls, weighing from 520 to 690, through the ring of the Clovis Cattle Commission Company last week at from $22 to $22.90.

Stockmen around the Clovis market during the week from Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and elsewhere in the Southwest said they believed both cattle and sheep were in a stronger position than either had been for several weeks, and that demand was definitely improved on better grades of both. Fat lambs, they said, are few and far between so the good to choice kinds should enjoy a better market.

All agreed, however, that there is nothing that will help as much as good general rains all over the Southwest. They say that more and more grass-fat cattle hit the eastern markets that fed cattle should remain in a good strong demand.

County Agent Durward Lewter is expected to return from his vacation shortly. He has been utilizing a part of his annual holiday in efforts to get canneries interested in a contract with Howard County farmers, and other farmers in this area, for field peas.

The pea program is also being supported as a cash crop and cover crop program by the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service. Under this project the green peas will be contracted to canneries and the dry peas combined leaving the residue for soil building and soil protection.

Lewter says that he believes a saunery contract can be gotten if a minimum of 25,000 acres of peas are planted. The success of a pea crop will depend, of course, on rainfall, but Lewter offers it as the most likely substitute for the cotton that would have been planted had there been enough moisture.

The county Agricultural Extension Service office has just received for free distribution by Lewter and Mrs. Eugenia Toland, home demonstration agent, a new supply of the latest bulletins on pig feeding and the preparation and storage of frozen foods.

These booklets will be available at the office for those who may be interested.

Farm and ranch wives, and the farmers and ranchers themselves will be greatly interested in a number of other bulletins available at the county Agricultural Extension Service office. More of these would be distributed if the people only knew just what was available, and the only way for them to really find out will be for them to go to the office and see what's there.

Drop in that office the next time you're in town and look over the stacks. If you do, it's a safe bet you'll walk out with four or five of those bulletins and you'll find them interesting and profitable.

The Grub Liner once saw a sight that probably nobody else in this section has ever seen, and one it is to be hoped they will never have to be horrified, terrified and stampeded by.

The first time the Grub Liner ever saw Patrolman Alvin Hiltbrunner, our currently handsomest policeman had a heavy, flaming red beard, fancily trimmed and at least a foot long in spots. That was when Hiltbrunner was living in Shamrock where each year he cultivated the leading beard and set the pattern for others to follow in observance of the annual St. Patrick's Day festivities.

It will surprise you how much a gentleman of Swiss descent can look like an Irishman, once he sets his mind and his razor and scissors to the job.

And don't let this old boy's cliffed appearance deceive you. He ain't no dude, even though he dresses that way at times. He's straight farm and range, a good judge of Quarter Horses and better than a pretty fair hand with ropes and Brahma calves.

Those "Lucky" Drivers May Be Ones Who Exercise Good Sense

Forty million motor cars carried ninety million Americans on some sort of trip, long or short, during the Independence Day period. There were the usual fatalities, and the 506 deaths must necessarily seem small in comparison with the size of the passenger traffic involved. But it should have been a lot smaller. Had everybody obeyed all traffic rules and exercised commonsense in operating their cars, the toll could have been cut by at least 90 per cent.

All of these faults, the National Safety Council assures us, figure in traffic accidents. If we as drivers can eliminate them, we can reduce our highway accidents enormously and save several thousand lives every year, perhaps including our own. Every driver who has an accident or a narrow escape from one can always think back and figure out just what caused it. If he is entirely honest with himself, he can figure out how he might have avoided it even if the other fellow was partly at fault.

Committee's Manpower Challenge Deserves Some Serious Action

The Senate Preparedness Subcommittee came out in a report over the week end in which it said the U.S. Armed Forces was loaded down with a huge and costly "chair corps" of non-fighting men. This might have been shrugged off with a bare murmur by the Armed Force, but when the committee headed by Lyndon Johnson, said that the Russians were doing a better job of mustering fire power from men, the Army roared back like a gored bull. The military had its own set of figures on this score, one which challenged in part the surmise of the committee.

In a time, however, when it is increasingly clear that any great fiscal saving will have to be made in the realm of the military without constricting materiel or over burdening manpower, it is incumbent that every effort be made to overcome the weaknesses. The military cannot function exactly as private business would function. It does not operate to make a profit; rather to make war. But its ability to make war might be enhanced by application of a far greater degree of efficiency in its operation and utilization of manpower. Certainly, its dollars would go much further, and through savings, its hope of continuing funds would be helped. This is a problem that demands honest and earnest effort.

Ike Actually More Conservative Than Taft On Domestic Issues

CHICAGO—There have been two important changes in the two leading Republican candidates in recent years. Eisenhower started out as a liberal and has become more conservative, while Taft started out as a conservative and has become more liberal. Today on domestic policy the two men are not too far apart, though if anything Taft might be a little to the left of Ike.

taking a stand for a "fair return on investments." And gradually, as the General has been exposed to his more conservative political friends, he has drifted away from his old position of a moderate liberal. In 1948, when the Democrats were trying to persuade Ike to run on their ticket, Ike lunched with the late Harold Ickes who began his political life as a Roosevelt Bulldozer. In reply to question about his political views, Eisenhower told Ickes: "I think you know my brother Milton (a former agricultural official under Henry Wallace and now president of Penn. State). My views are about the same as his. I am a progressive Republican."

When Eisenhower first came back to the United States after VE Day, he shocked some of his Republican friends. Talking with Russell Davenport of Life Magazine, Gen. Ed Clark, John G. Bennett, and Russell Forgan of the Glorie-Forgan brokerage firm, Ike proposed the idea that business make no profit from defense contracts. This brought immediate protests. "General," reminded Bennett, "you pulled the furniture down on your head once before at the F Street Club when you proposed that idea, and you will do it again if you take that stand. It's contrary to the free-enterprise system."

However, there is one basic policy on which Taft has never really shifted—foreign affairs. And that is the basic difference between the two leading Republican candidates. There can be no question about Eisenhower's stand on foreign policy. Likewise there can be no question about Taft's. Despite what either may say, they are diametrically opposed. The record speaks for itself. Before Pearl Harbor, Taft fought every single defense measure. If Congress had followed his leadership we would have been so miserably prepared that the Axis could hardly have been defeated. In August, 1941, just four months before Pearl Harbor, Taft told the nation: "The situation looks infinitely safer."

MacArthur Standing In The Wings Ready For Call If Deadlock Comes

CHICAGO — Like a man who can be called if needed but meanwhile prefers standing in the wings, Gen. Douglas MacArthur stood ready for call if a deadlock comes in the Republican nomination race.

places it's possible he practiced it before delivering it. While he didn't mention either Eisenhower or Taft by name, it was plain from the attitude he expressed on foreign policy that he stood closer to Taft than to Eisenhower.

Soviets Hoping To Prove They Build Big Muscles

NEW YORK, July 8 (U.S.)—Ivan Ivanovich is going to the Olympics. And the entire sports world is buzzing with gossip about what will happen to the Russian teams at Helsinki next month. The decision to let Soviet athletes compete in the international games puts the Politburo to its supreme test. The Communist leaders have held that their ideology has given Russia the world's greatest science, art, and literature. Now they are going to show that ideology also builds better bodies.

Eisenhower favored all these defense-foreign co-operation measures. And that is the chief difference between the two men.

The Changing Air One Of Big Problems At Chicago

CHICAGO.—This mouse, named Hugo, who is an assistant House Detective at the Furbelov Arms, says that Conventions are good for business. "We have all kinds of conventions here and we have all kinds of business," said Hugo. There is one trouble that eats at the vitals of the merchants in town; the air is free. Hugo said that a number of people have pointed out to the businessmen that the elements are usually free and they have been told, "Well, we're one element that don't feel that way."

New Dealers Won't Care For Haley's Views In Tech Job

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

One of the very finest things that has ever happened to West Texas education was recently announced at Texas Technological College. The "cowboys' cowboy historian" Evetts Haley of Canyon is to occupy the chair of Americanism at the Lubbock institution beginning this fall. "A historian by profession, a cowboy by choice," this author of some wonderful books on West Texas history has been quite aptly described. A more complete description might go on to say that he is truly a Jeffersonian Democrat, hating to a ferocious degree all that is implied in such descriptionless terms as "New Deal" and "Fair Deal" since Haley looks upon both, from the standpoint of the American patriot and scholar, as "a double deal from the bottom of the deck" of statecraft.

is going to hear them howl like kicked hounds when he says and teaches these things. One of the greatest authorities on West-History, he is also a practical cowboy man having managed ranches in this state, Arizona and New Mexico, and is presently operating his own on the Canadian north of Berger. His own cattle truck parked in front of his home at Canyon isn't an unfamiliar sight, and a few years ago when some outlaws invaded his ranch with felonious intent he whipped out his .38 and with the best of intentions sent one of them to the hospital and the others to jail. Even more recently he was caught in a stampede and hospitalized when a score or more of excited steers ran over him and hooped him down into the dirt. He is man of profound honesty and convictions, judged by the best of the old West Texas traditions and he has courage. He believes in the "Constitution of the Fathers" and he will teach and fight for these principles. Old Tech will never be the same again after he finishes his first semester. Fifty-one years old, he comes from a family of veteran West Texas cowmen. He attended school in Midland, took his Bachelor's degree at West Texas State College, his Master's at the University of Texas, and acquired his philosophy, and skill with a rope and dehorning saw, on the range of West Texas. Not only has he studied history, and written history, and taught history—he has made history himself. Certainly something new has been added to West Texas education in the person of this bootied crusader for a return to the fundamentals of the Constitution as Thomas Jefferson and his fellow cowmen and farmers wrote it. —FRANKLIN REYNOLDS.

Steel Strike Creating Vacuum Which Will Have To Be Filled

The steel strike is cutting three ways. First, it's generating some scare buying of automobiles and appliances. People are mildly concerned about renewed shortages of hard goods. Second, it's causing a shortage of payroll money in metal-working and steel centers. Retail sales are slowly beginning to reflect layoffs. Finally, it's postponing the possibility of a business recession, an ironical thought, considering that certain areas already feel the "steel recession."

up to such a sequence—say three to six months after steel production is resumed. Meanwhile, the administration would do well to heed the warning of Charles M. White, president of Republic Steel, that if the strike in the Mesabi iron mines isn't ended soon, a settlement of the steel strike may not generate much steel. Ore's not coming down the Great Lakes, which freeze over in winter. No iron ore no pig iron. No pig iron no steel. The new theory about business is this: 1952 is a shoe-in. Consumers feel freer about spending. Overhanging stocks of autos, refrigerators, and textiles have been worked off. Defense production is still rising. Department store sales are running ahead of a year ago.

Paradoxically, the strike, itself, has now turned talk around to inflation again. If steel production had gone on uninterrupted, these questions would be arising: Will the construction of new plants drop off sharply along about September and October? Will the markets for automobiles and other hard goods be saturated? Will defense deliveries taper off in the fall or early next year?

None the less, the economy has loosened up. Jobs are getting harder to find. That's indicated by a survey by B. K. Davis & Bro., Philadelphia, which specializes in data on newspaper help-wanted ads. In January, newspapers in 61 cities reported gains in help-wanted ads over a year ago while papers in 41 cities reported losses. In April, even before the steel strike, the proportions were reversed: 41 cities reported gains, 62 losses. And in May, only 33 papers showed gains as against 67 losses. This is not an unqualified indicator of demand for workers. In some cities, like Hartford, demand for labor is as heavy as ever, but the newspapers have cut down the volume of help-wanted ads by refusing ads from out-of-town firms. In most cases, a decline in space indicates a decline in demand. This has basic significance. If recruitment to the labor force fall off, if demand for labor subsides, so will insertions of new payroll money into the economy. Such insertions have been a dominant force in the postwar expansion of purchasing power.

American Set High-Jump Mark

Several times in past years I have spoken of how high a man might jump if he tested his skills on Mars or on the moon or Jupiter. Today, with the Olympic games starting in less than two weeks, I should like to take up the question of how high a man can jump on our own planet. Going back over the running high jump records, I find that an American, E. H. Clark, won the first Olympic contest of this kind. His leap was for five feet, 11 and one-fourth inches. Americans have won most of the Olympic running high jump victories since then, but an Irishman was the top man once, and a Canadian, D. McNaughton, won the crown at another meeting. McNaughton leapt six feet, five and five-eighths inches. The all-time Olympic record (up to this year) for the event was made by Cornelius Johnson, an American, 16 years ago. He jumped six feet, seven and 15-sixteenths inches.

It is possible for athletes to jump more than twice as far when they run before they leap. Several Olympic athletes have made running broad jumps of more than 25 feet. The all-time Olympic record for this jump was made by Jesse Owens, who leapt 28 feet five and five-sixteenths inches 16 years ago. With the help of long poles, athletes can get far up in the air. This method of rising is known as the pole vault. Olympic records tell an interesting story of progress in the pole vault. There has been a steady rise in the heights reached by winners of the event. Fifty-six years ago the pole vault champion went upward 10 feet nine and three-fourths inches. During the last three Olympic meetings the winners have vaulted to heights of more than 14 feet! For GENERAL INTEREST section of your scrapbook. Tomorrow: Cycling Stories. Interesting life exploits of Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin, Brahms, Strauss and Liszt are told in the illustrated leaflet called MASTERS OF MUSIC. This will be sent without charge to any reader who asks for it and encloses a stamped, self-addressed envelope. # Alice Louise Sheeler, Alton Lee Henry Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Lee Henry, who were married Sunday afternoon in St. Thomas Catholic Church, will make their home in Plainview.

The bride is the former Alice Louise Sheeler, daughter of Mrs. A. W. Sheeler, 305 Scurry, and her husband is the son of Mrs. T. L. Henry of Shamrock.

The Rev. William J. Moore, OMI, officiated in the double ring ceremony in the church, which was decorated with pink gladioli and commadore fern. Mrs. Ed Setles, organist, played the processional and recessional and traditional wedding selections before the ceremony.

A trio composed of Mrs. Bill Griese, Mrs. Harold Talbot and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins sang "Mother Dear, O Pray For Me" and Mrs. Griese and Mrs. Talbot sang "Mother At Thy Feet We're Kneeling." They wore corsages of white carnations.

Given in marriage by her uncle, T. E. O'Keefe, the bride was attired in a pink nylon linen dress with matching bolero. Her accessories were white and she carried white feathered carnations and stephanotis on a white prayer book, a gift of Mrs. Ruth Corcoran. Her corsage was an orchid.

For something old she wore earrings belonging to her grandmother. Her something new was her dress and her something borrowed a handkerchief from her mother. She wore blue garters and a penny in her shoe.

Miss Caroline Scholz attended her niece. She wore a frock of brown and white nylon with brown accessories and a corsage of yellow gladioli tied with brown ribbon.

Ed Setles served as best man. The bride's mother wore a blue and white printed nylon over blue taffeta with white accessories and a pink carnation corsage.

At the reception in the home of Miss Scholz, 1805 Johnson, the table was laid with an imported linen lace cloth over pink satin and centered with an arrangement of pink Majestic daisies. A tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom stood at one end.

Mrs. Jenkins presided at the crystal punch service, assisted by Mrs. Settles. Lillian Jordan served the cake, and Mrs. Carrie Edmondson, cousin of the bride, of San Angelo was at the guest register.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and for a number of years has been employed as a telephone operator for T&P railroad. Mr. Henry attended Shamrock schools and has been employed by Cooper and Woodruff highway construction company here.

DESIGNING WOMAN Extra Bedding Can Be Hidden In Wood Cabinet

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Mrs. C. G. G., like so many of us, expects more summer visitors than she has beds. To take care of the extra bedding down, she has a bed of the type that folds in the center, but she wants a solution to the problem of hiding it away in a hall. A cabinet to fit the bed into looks better than a slipcover.

Mrs. G., and no top cabinet making skill is required to produce it. The cabinet should be about 37 inches wide, 48 inches high and 19 inches deep, but check the bulk of the bed to make sure these measurements are right. Plain lines and a good paint job on the plywood promise that the cabinet won't disgrace the hall at any time, but you might like to add a fillip by decorating the doors. For an easy hand-painted effect that you need not hand paint, apply one of the new Peter Hunt decals, the 15x30 inch size and a package or two of hearts and flowers decal borders. The big decal can be cut in two before application so half can go on each door.

Vernon Dusters Move In For Three Engagements

Idled by blowing dust and a thr at of rain last night, the Big Spring Bronces will return to action here tonight in the first of a three-game set with the Vernon Dusters.

There'll be an added attraction for the fans tonight. Two rabbits (there were three originally but one of them died) will be turned loose at home base. Ball players of both teams will try to catch them. Cash prizes are in the offering for those who do.

Players of the Vernon team will line up from second to third while the Bronces will charge the rabbits from a line running from first to second.

The hares will be freed at the same time, so there should be quite a scramble. The stunt begins at 7 p.m., 15 minutes before game time.

The Bronces lost ground in the pennant race last night, because Odessa tripped up Vernon twice.

The Oilers now lead the standings by four full games. No other team has shown an ability to defeat Odessa in two weeks, beside Big Spring.

Reggie Corrales will go after his eighth win against Vernon tonight. He was set to hurl last night.

The Dusters are a different ball club than the one that last played here. Pat McLaughlin is the new field boss, whereas Chet Fowler was in command last time. He's added lots of new help, including Jerry Madelena, Ed Bucynski, Jimmy Hayes and a couple of new hurlers.

Stanley Faces Canadian Star

MIAMI, Fla. July 8 (AP)—Defending Champion Dave Stanley of Los Angeles will muscle into the act for the first time today as the National Public Links Golf Tournament—already sprinkled with thrills, heartbreaks and surprises—goes into the second round.

Stanley didn't have to qualify for this meeting of 200 stars of the American municipal courses, and a bye spared him from yesterday's wild first round scramble.

He'll face his first man-to-man argument today from George Eluck of Windsor, Ont., the lone Canadian in the field. Eluck warmed up yesterday with a 4 and 3 victory over James L. Basko of Phoenix, Ariz.

Seventy-two hopefuls were sidelined yesterday in a day highlighted by the smashing 8 to 7 victory by Dub Pagan, strong-armed Palm Beach, Fla., fireman, over Gene Gregory of Memphis, Tenn.

A. C. Swood, Dallas cop, apparently thinking the eyes of Texas were upon him, turned in the most sensational rally of the found against Frank Michalek of Baltimore, Md. Trailing by five holes with just seven to go, Swood flashed back to square the match at the 18th and won the 19th and the match with a birdie.

Carpenter Quits Coaching Post

When the Breckenridge Buckles line up against the Big Spring Steers on the gridiron in September, it won't be a team masterminded by T. W. Carpenter.

Carpenter, who took the job a couple of weeks ago, tendered his resignation to the school board because of a nervous condition. He said his doctor advised against it.

The leading prospect for the job now is Joe Kerbel, football coach at Cleveland, Okla., who played college ball under Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma University.

The school board meets tonight to consider the applicants for the job.

Cooper Robbins recently resigned the post to accept an offer as an assistant mentor at Texas A&M.

IN ALL-STAR GO

Junior Leaguers Are Underdogs

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Every thing points toward a third straight National League victory in the 19th annual all-star game today. The Nationals have the pitching, power and a crippled opponent.

The only thing Manager Casey Stengel of the American League is promising at the moment is to show up. He'll be minus two of his best pitchers, his third baseman and will start with an injured center fielder.

But Old Case has proved himself a master at licking adversity in the past. His undermanned lads just might upset the 7 to 5 odds against them.

A capacity crowd of 32,785 paying some $180,000 into the player's pension fund will be on hand to watch the men more than three million fans voted baseball's outstanding players. Additionally, $125,000 will be stashed away in the till from television receipts.

If the weather man's prediction of a cloudy, warm, humid day is correct, Manager Leo Durocher of the bailing young Philadelphia Phillies' left-hander, Curt Simmons, He'll be faced by the veteran Vic Raschi, Stengel's righthanded money pitcher from the Yankees.

Stengel's first two choices, the amazing mite of Philadelphia, Bob Shantz, and Allie Reynolds, big Yankee righthander, are on the injured list.

Stengel has also lost George Kell, brilliant third sacker of the Boston Red Sox, who is sidelined by a groin injury. Dom DiMaggio, also of the Red Sox, will start in center despite a leg injury. He'll probably be replaced after three innings by the Yankees' Mickey Mantle.

Hank Sauer Still Leading Slugger In National League

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs, despite the recent slump which saw his batting average dwindle to .290, is still the National League's leading slugger today.

Slugging averages compiled by The Associated Press through games of Sunday, July 6, revealed that Sauer has 177 total bases (tops in the majors) in 293 times at bat for a slugging mark of .604. The hard-hitting Chicago outfielder has pounced out 17 doubles, three triples and a league-leading 23 home runs.

In the American League, Cleveland's Al Rosen continues as the pace-setter with a .377 average. The Indians' third sacker has come up with 16 doubles, four triples and 15 homers among his 92 hits for a total of 181 bases.

Joe Adcock of the Cincinnati Reds is Sauer's closest competitor for N. L. honors, Adcock, with 94 total bases in 169 times at bat, has a .336 average.

Stan Musial, the National's leading batter with .333, is third among the sluggers at .533, the result of 18 doubles, three triples and 11 round trippers. New York Giants' catcher Wes Westrum is next with .520 followed by Boston's Sid Gordon, .519. New York's Bobby Thomson, .505, and Gil Hodges of the Brooklyn Dodgers are at .494.

Vic Wertz of the Detroit Tigers, a .248 batter, is giving Rosen a close battle for the American League slugging lead. Vic has collected only 54 safeties but included among them 12 doubles, two triples and 16 home runs. His slug-

Odessa Improves Longhorn Lead

By The Associated Press

Odessa added a full game to its Longhorn League lead—now four games—when the Oilers outlasted Vernon and rugged West Texas Texas yesterday Monday night that put half of the loop out of business.

Odessa beat Vernon, 16-11 and 11-3, in two seven-inning games that included 47 base hits and seven home runs.

Six games were carded with single encounters. Sweetwater at Big Spring and Roswell at Midland, postponed by dust and rain.

Artesia beat San Angelo, 3-2, on Bill Haley's ninth-inning double in a night with two games carded. Their second game was cancelled because of a muddy field and rain.

Fuller Has Ace At Munny Course

W. D. Fuller made it look easy, this game of golf, on the 150-yard tenth hole at the Munny Course in a practice round Monday morning.

Fuller came up with an ace, using a number three iron to get the job done.

He was playing with Dick Grimes, Dan Greenwood, Ray Thomas and Weldon Ibbas at the time.

It was the first hole-in-one made on the city-owned course since W. O. Maxwell Sr., became shop manager.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Charlie Watson of Our Town says it's not hard to understand why so many young pitchers who seem to have a lot of stuff walk so many batters.

Watson was a hurler himself not so many years ago and was considered quite a prospect. He was to discover the pros waited for the good deliveries however, went for outside curve balls, whether they were across the plate or not.

Many pitches that Watson had been working across for strikes in reality were balls. Not until the pros began waiting him out did he learn that he had to bring the ball in there or suffer the consequences. Ease up in order to get the ball in the strike zone, Watson discovered, and the pros level on the ball and give it a long ride.

DEFEATS GIL TURNER

Cuban Keed Is Still Welter Weight Champ Of World

By JACK HAND

PHILADELPHIA, July 8 (AP)—Kid Gavilan still is welterweight champion of the world and Gil Turner still rookie of the year.

That's the situation today as the Cuban Keed looks for new worlds to conquer after his 11th round technical knockout win over 21-year-old Turner last night at municipal stadium.

Al Weil, International Boxing Club matchmaker, immediately went to work on a future schedule for the 147-pound champ. His managers are due to talk dates and opponents at the IBC offices in New York tomorrow.

"Johnny Sexton, Billy Graham and Chuck Dasey would be good opponents for Gavilan," said Weil. "We don't know yet what he wants to do. But they'd all draw good money for title bouts in the Garden in the fall."

Turner was running about even with Gavilan last night when he ran into that furious 11th round barrage. Both judges Charley Daggett and Lou Tress had it 5-5 after 10 rounds and Referee Pete Tomasco had the Cuban out front, 6-4.

The AP card showed Gavilan leading 5-4 to his big test as an unbeaten fighter with 25 knockouts in 31 straight wins. Turner paid the penalty of over-eager youth. In time he may be able to cope with the wiles and iron jaw of Gavilan, but not yet.

Coming out for the 11th, Turner shot the works in one last-gasp effort. It failed. Driving home counter hooks, Gavilan smothered the rally. Pressing Turner against the ropes, he rattled punch after punch off Gil's chin as the youngster sagged on rubbery legs like Randy Turpin before his knockout by Ray Robinson.

Retreating from certain disaster, Turner again was trapped on the ropes. This time Gavilan didn't let him get off the hook. He was absorbing heavy punishment that left his mouthpiece dangling from loose lips when Referee Tomasco stopped it at 2:47 of the 11th.

Houston Buffs Slip Deeper Into Texas League Cellar

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Associated Press Sports Editor

The Texas League, heretofore thinking its cellar had no depth at all, never counted on the burrowing ability of Buffaloes, the Houston Astros.

Sixteen games ago when the Buffs were in second—it was no sin to be last, for the most, a club had lagged was nine games.

The one-time bright hopes of Houston Monday night were flickering on the end of a 10-game losing streak as San Antonio handed the Buffs a 7-3 beating, leaving them out of the race 12 full games.

Now on a hitless jag, the Buffs' burrowing points to a burying. Their loss was the 15th of the last 16 games.

Five-Star Generals In Convention's Spotlight

By RELMAN MORIN
 CHICAGO (AP)—The two five-star generals are the story in Chicago today.

One of them, Dwight D. Eisenhower, came home a winner in the first, thrill-packed vote on the full convention floor. It may have been more important psychologically than materially. Nevertheless, the consensus here today is that it has improved his chances of winning the Republican nomination for the presidency.

As a man put it—a man who had been to a black-tie dinner on the city's elegant North Shore—"A lot more people over there are wearing 'Ike' buttons on the outside of their lapels now."

The other general, Douglas MacArthur made the keynote speech at the convention last night.

At the mere mention of MacArthur's name, the crowd nearly blew the roof off this big, built-cheated auditorium. And then, as he walked down the center aisle, an erect soldier in a plain blue business suit, the excitement mounted to near-pandemonium.

Whether any political inferences can be drawn from the ovation and the cheers is next to impossible to determine.

A spot-check of the Pennsylvania and Michigan delegations—where he is reported to have fervent admirers—indicated no uniform reaction. Beyond agreement with a few scattered dissenters that it was a good speech and good for the Republican party, there seemed no other strong attitude.

MacArthur may still be the X-factor in this GOP equation.

There were some interesting things about that speech.

The American Broadcasting Company reported it put an applause-gauge on MacArthur to measure the length and intensity of the cheers. It reported these three peaks:

1. A sound-score of 120—which is very high—lasting for 32 seconds when he said: "It is fatal to enter any war without the will to win it."

2. A score of 98, lasting 27 seconds, in reaction to his statement: "Foreign policy has been as tragically in error as has domestic policy."

3. And 95, for 24½ seconds, when he said: "While I have not been consulted with reference to Korea since my retirement . . . I can unhesitatingly say that a leadership, which by weakness and indecision has brought about such a military dilemma lacks the soundness of vision, the moral courage, and the resolute will to resolve it."

Those, according to what ABC said were electric sound-measurements, were the statements that drew the heaviest applause.

All three reflect some aspect of the foreign situation.

MacArthur divided his speech equally between domestic and foreign policy.

As he has done before, he accused the Democrats of responsibility for the public debt, mounting taxation, inflation, corruption in government, the encroachment of federal authority on the states, and "the prerequisites to a socialistic, or even a communistic state."

At no time, in the large foreign policy segment of his speech, did he mention Eisenhower. But he made some points that conceivably could pertain to Eisenhower's role in the postwar years:

"We must fully understand that, once we commit ourselves to the defense of others, the issue of war or peace is no longer in our exclusive hands."

"We must remain faithful to the commitments we have made to others, so long as they remain faithful to theirs made to us, but failure of the principle of collective security in Korea . . . plainly warns that too much must not be expected from collective security elsewhere."

In Europe, and indeed throughout the world, our foreign policy approach has been equally as vacillating and negative, and for the most part, sad to relate, under the domination of others."

This is very close to, if not almost identical, with what Taft says on foreign policy. It is practically the opposite to much of the Eisenhower point of view.

Cost Of Living At All-Time High Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of living probably is at an all-time high today. And it could go higher.

This was indicated by a series of government reports yesterday which said:

1. Food prices went up three-tenths of 1 per cent in June—to a point 14 per cent higher than just before the Korean War—mainly because of grocery and meat price increases.

2. The next overall cost-of-living index due in about three weeks is expected to show another climb because rents are rising. The last index on May 15 was only one-tenth of a point below the record.

3. Wholesale prices were unchanged for the week ended July 1, indicating the decline during the past few weeks is leveling off.

A staff report to the Senate-Economic Committee the day before said prices may climb to an all-time peak in the next six to 12 months—up 1 to 3 per cent—due to increases in rent and services, a recovery in clothing prices, and a slight upturn in consumer durable goods. The report said food prices would not change much unless crop prospects were altered.

However, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, after making a special food survey of eight key cities on June 15, said yesterday food prices are climbing already.

It said increases in egg, fruit, vegetable, meat and fish prices were mainly responsible for the food rise between May 26 and June 15. Egg prices jumped most—4.7 per cent.

The food price index on June 15 was 231.6, using the 1935-39 average as 100.

The cost-of-living index on May 15 stood at 189, one-tenth of a point below the 189.1 reached in December and January.

The BLS wholesale index for all commodities stood at 110.7, using the 1947-49 average as 100. Generally higher wholesale prices were reported for livestock, textiles and fibers. "rains and natural rubber were down."

Health Precautions Are Recommended

Health precautions to be observed during the polio season have been listed by Dr. Charles Piggford and Lige Fox, director and sanitarian, respectively, for the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit. The measures have the endorsement of Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Pointing out that it is believed that the majority of adults have at one time been infected by the poliomyelitis virus, the health officials say that most recognized cases of the disease will be among children.

Only a small proportion of polio infections are clinically recognizable. Consequently, when symptoms are manifested, they usually comprise an acute illness with fever, headache and, almost always, a characteristic stiffness of the neck and spine, some degree of paralysis may or may not occur during the first few days of illness, the health authorities say.

Here are the preventive measures they recommend:

1. Insist upon safe waste disposal so that human excreta is not exposed to disease transmitting vectors.
2. Insist on elimination of fly breeding sources and do not depend upon community wide airplanes spraying or fogging machines as a substitute for basic sanitation.
3. Food supplies, including milk, must be protected against contamination.
4. Always demand safe water for drinking or swimming pools.
5. Insist that garbage be kept in covered containers and disposed of by incineration or sanitary fill.
6. Eliminate all insanitary conditions on your own premises.
7. Practice good personal hygiene with particular attention to personal cleanliness.
8. Avoid excessive physical strain during poliomyelitis season.
9. Isolation in bed of all children with fever pending diagnosis by physician.
