Koreans Need CARE Gifts To Survive Hunger, Cold

NEW YORK—The third winter war means increased suffering for the South Korean people. Paul French, executive director of CARE, reminded Americans in an appeal to continue their relief.

About 10,400,000 persons, half of a total population, are in dire need of food, warm clothing and blankets, according to reports from Dr. Charles H. Joy, CARE's chief in Korea. Mr. French said relief packages provided through CARE—through donations to CARE—KOREA, 20 Broad St., New York, N.Y., or any local office of the non-profit agency, are direct assurances of these lifesaving supplies.

“Gifts like Pusan and Seoul are swollen with refugees, who live in flimsy straw huts,” Mr. French stated. “Orphan—children, clad in rags, roam the streets begging for food. Through-out the fall, families in rural areas were eating weeds and roots—but frozen fields do not even that surcease from hunger.”

“Starvation and cold must be fought as relentlessly as armed aggression, or the defense of freedom is meaningless. On behalf of Korea's suffering humanity, we ask Americans to keep sending CARE.”

CARE packages for Korea include: Food, underwear, knitting, cotton clothing fabrics, $10 each; blankets, $7 each; special $5. Distribution is made to

Health Talk— THE INNER EAR

When you complain of an ear-ache, dizziness, or ringing in the ears, you can't say you have a definite kind of ear disease. All signs of these complaints are only wrong in the ear. The last two may make the doctor suspect the inner ear is involved, but he often must examine the patient carefully before locating the exact source of trouble.

As examples, a boil in the ear canal can cause an earache, but so can an infected middle ear. Dizziness (scientifically known as vertigo) may result from an infection of the inner ear or from disease in a part of the body far removed, such as the brain or eyes. A ringing, singing, or roaring in the ears (referred to medically as tinnitus) can stem from disease of the middle or inner ear or even in the absence of disease can be caused by extreme nervousness, tiredness, or grief.

Infections of the outer ear, usually of the ear canal, are fairly common. They may be caused either by bacteria or fungi, both tiny forms of vegetable life that produce disease.

Boils (furuncles) in the ear canal most often are caused by bacterial infection. One of the first signs is tenderness. Even slight movements of the part of the ear that sticks out from the head and jaw movements in talking or chewing can cause pain.

Sometimes more than one boil occurs, and in some cases the canal may be almost blocked because of swelling. Medical treatment, if started early, may keep the infection from getting very bad, but if the boil comes to a head, it may have to be lanced.

Fungal infections of the ear canal usually are started by scratching the ear with something dirty. If the canal is wet time after time in swimming or under the shower, this type of infection is more likely to occur. The chief symptom is itching, but there may be slight pain and soreness, and a thin, watery, often musty smelling discharge. When the growth fills the canal or involves the drum, there may be deafness and ringing in the ears. With very bad cases severe pain, fever, and a general feeling of illness may be present and the canal may swell shut. Treatment depends on the kind of fungus causing the trouble and how severe the infection is. Removal of fungus growths with a small scraping instrument (a curet) may be necessary.

Infections of the middle ear (otitis media) may be acute, that is, may have a short course with severe symptoms, or chronic that is, long lasting, and not as severe. Often, the Eustachian tube, leading from the middle ear to the throat, is blocked or inflamed, and in most cases it is the route by which germs enter the middle ear.

Ear abscess, or acute otitis media, can be mild or severe. The first sign of trouble is pain in and about the ear which may come on suddenly or after a feeling of fullness and pressure. The pain usually leaves after the drum tears or is lanced, and a bloody pus-like discharge flows into the ear canal. Fever is another symptom, the amount depending on the severity of the infection. There may be deafness, either with or without ringing in the ears, or headache, a general bad feeling, loss of appetite, pain in the back and limbs, vomiting, constipation, or convulsions.

A mild form of ear trouble is called “chronic catarrhal otitis media.” Broken down into everyday language, it means a long-lasting middle ear infection. Both ears are often involved. There may be deafness and ringing in the ears, and the symptoms possibly last for years without change. Deafness seldom becomes complete.

A good example of how an old house can be given new life with today's economical building materials is this home in Kingsville, Md., which was built about a century ago by slave labor. New roofing and siding were applied to the house to start its second hundred years. Asphalt shingles now protect this historic dwelling from weather and fire. The dark roof also offers pleasant contrast with the white asbestos-cement siding, and it helps to make the house look lower than it actually is. A light or bright roof would make the house seem higher.

Today because of the many new drugs which are available, infections of the middle ear usually are controlled before they have done much damage. Complications of these infections, such as mastoid infections, and infections of the inner ear, have been greatly reduced in number but still occur once in a while.

A common disease of the inner ear is Meniere's disease. In this condition there is too much fluid in the inner ear, but the cause for the increase is still unknown. The patient may complain of dizziness and a feeling of swaying, falling, or weakness. There may be ringing or roaring in the ears, loss of hearing, and possibly nausea, vomiting, and sweating; also, the eyes may wander aimlessly. As a rule only one ear is affected.

Treatment of Meniere's disease is usually medical, with the diet being carefully controlled; liquids and salt are cut down. If the patient doesn't get better, surgery may relieve the dizziness. However, the hearing may be made worse or destroyed. Therefore, an operation is done only when one ear is involved, medical treatment has been of little help, and the patient is badly disabled by the disease.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Green of Pampa visited Sunday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Green.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clawson, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Price of Borger, were in El Dorado, Okla., Saturday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Clawson's cousin, Glensel Cotton.

THE PEOPLE ARE GETTING FED UP!

THE FOLLOWING ARTICLE was released by the Izaak Walton League of America, an organization whose slogan is "Defender of Soil, Woods, Waters and Wildlife":

The embattled farmers and villagers of the Blue River Valley in Kansas have given the nation-wide conservation movement its greatest lift in years.

They have accomplished the impossible. They have sent to political oblivion the congressman who supported construction of Tuttle Creek dam.

In doing so, they gave clear notice to the Army Corps of Engineers, and their backers and satellites, that the people are getting fed up with pork barrel dam building all up and down the rivers of America.

Every member of Congress must read in the ignominious defeat of Representative Cole of Kansas a resounding warning against a continuation of the present reckless using up of precious reservoir sites, and the destruction of fertile farmlands through inundation.

For Representative Cole was the only Republican to be beaten in Kansas on November 4, 1952. Not even the overwhelming vote for Eisenhower could pull him through.

Cole was beaten by a political unknown, a farmer from Morrill named Howard Miller.

There was only one issue: To build or not to build Tuttle Creek dam, on Blue River.

It was a great victory for conservation.

It was done by determined defenders of homes and fertile lands who had only recently been sneeringly called "nitpickers" and "crackpots" by an army engineer general.

But the conflict is not yet ended. There remains a still formidable obstacle: The actual rescinding of part of an act of Congress.

This must be accomplished before the Blue River Valley is safe from the vandals who would destroy it and its productivity forever, for $5,000,000 already has been appropriated to begin construction of the $90,000,000 dam.

The new representative will go to Congress backed by a positive mandate from his constituents to bring about the repeal of that appropriation. It will not be easy to do.

He will need the help and backing of every conservationist, of every American who believes that the mere construction of a dam is not in itself necessary or good.

He will need the support of every conservationist who believes there must be a new and improved approach to the entire subject of dam building, and a better, a more fair and accurate method of assessing the costs and the hoped-for benefits.

LES TALK

By LESTER

Can't seem to get my mind off of Christmas—its so near now. Just two weeks from today. I like Christmas.

I like all the bright lights, and the pretty windows of the stores. I like the decorations some stores put inside to kinda stimulate their sales.

I like the visits of Santa to all the towns over the nation. I like to watch the children when they see Santa—the looks on their faces mark happiness which cannot be bought. Perhaps the idea of telling children about Santa, and deliberately telling the little white lies about Santa, are wrong. But I don't think so. I can still remember the disappointment in my heart when I learned differently about the genial old gent. It took a spark of something or other away.

I particularly like the idea of exchanging gifts with those close to you. It gives a person a feeling of kindness and generosity that comes with nothing else. I like to receive gifts, of course, but I like to give them to those I love, too.

I like such things as the annual Christmas party which the American Legion post will have again this year. Personally, I thought it was the very finest of things which happened in this little town last year. It was finer than the baskets which are distributed each year, for the Legion party was for children. I was at the party, and I know how those children responded.

And, of course, I like the reason for Christmas, the real reason. I like to observe birthdays within my own family. And the observance of this birthday of the greatest of all who have walked this earth is a privilege which only God-fearing people have. Maybe all of us do lose sight, occasionally, of the real reason we have Christmas. But I don't really think so. Deep down within us all, we realize well why we are observing Christmas.

It is a grand time of year. A very grand time of year.

Guess you have noticed that Memphis has dropped from Class

AA to Class A in the Interscholastic League set-up, and that Memphis will be in our district next year when football season rolls around.

I was reading in the Memphis paper about the decision of the Memphis people to go to Class A. It was rather amusing, in a way. The story related some of the arguments which were presented in the meeting of the Memphis school board, and also related some of the reactions of the fans.

One fan said he thought Memphis was just as good a town as Shamrock or Wellington, and that the school should have just as good a football team (it's been many a moon, incidentally, since Memphis has had a good team for a full year's schedule). Memphis, it should be explained, has fewer than the required number in high school to put it in Class AA—both Shamrock and Wellington have the necessary number.

The most amusing thing in the story, however, was the reaction of another fan. He pointed out that Lefors had won the district title in our district, and that Memphis had beaten Lefors by four touchdowns. Following that reasoning, the fan said if Memphis had been in this district, the team probably would have won the district, and would have gone on to bi-district. The fan, of course, failed to remember that McLean also defeated Lefors—by three touchdowns instead of four—and then tied Memphis 6-6, beating Memphis on both penetrations and first downs. We wonder if Memphis would have won the district—chances are that team, too, would have lost another game or so. Anyway, Memphis will be in our district again next year.

Remember this one when you're Christmas shopping:
Doubtful woman (examining toy): Isn't this rather complicated for a small child?
Shop assistant: It's an educational toy, ma'am, designed to adjust a child to life in the world of today. Any way he puts it together is wrong.

Santa Claus is scheduled for a visit here come Saturday. Bring the children downtown and let them see old Santa. Hundreds of youngsters are expected, and, if the weather is okay, hundreds will be here. Santa will have plenty of candy on hand to give to the children attending.

Sammy Haynes pulled a good one at a rehearsal for the Lions Club minstrel last week. Said his specialty number would be entitled, "Antlers in the Tree Top," or "Who Goosed the Moose."

Then he went on to say the title might be "Jonah and the Whale," or "You Can't Keep a Good Man Down."

If I don't see you before then, I'll see you Saturday when Santa Claus comes to town.

Quick as Saint Nick!

"Tiny Tim Fruitcake Cookies" are made a quick new way which saves precious time during the busy holiday season. This simplified "one-bowl" method, developed in the new Lever Test Kitchens, eliminates all need for tedious creaming, rolling and cutting. In a mere fraction of the usual time, an array of festive Spry cookies can be prepared for gay family gatherings, Yuletide parties and gifts.

The following recipe for "Tiny Tim Fruitcake Cookies" features the new method and tells how to top the cookies with a soft creamy frosting for holiday glamour.

Tiny Tim Fruitcake Cookies

Combine... 1/2 cup Homogenized Spry
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
1/8 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
2 unbeaten eggs
Whisk together... 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 teaspoon soda; add to Spry mixture and blend.
Add... 1/4 cup buttermilk or sour milk, blend.
Add... 1 cup currants
1 cup seedless raisins

Creamy Vanilla Frosting

Blend 2 tablespoons Homogenized Spry, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, and 1/4 teaspoon salt... Beat in 1/2 cup sifted confectioners' sugar... Add 5 tablespoons scalded light cream, alternately with 2 1/2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, beating well after each addition... Add only enough cream to make a nice spreading consistency... Makes enough frosting for 2 to 3 dozen cookies.

New Damage Suit

A man in Bowie County has recently secured judgment in the courts against the T. & P. Railroad in the sum of $250, the nature of his suit being entirely new in the annals of railway damage suits. He set forth and supported the fact that on a certain date his wife boarded at train at Texarkana and while in the act of assisting her up the steps, the brakeman pinched her arm. An exchange suggests that a wagon spoke or a red elm club is the usual means employed to settle a difficulty of this character.

For Miss Rice

On the evening of November 16, the parlor of Mrs. S. O. Cook's residence was the scene of one of the prettiest, most novel entertainments of the season, the occasion being a handkerchief and hose shower given in honor of Miss Ruby Rice. The guests began to assemble early; then gifts were placed on a suspended umbrella that overhung the front door. On the entrance of the honoree, it let fall the dainty things on its top. She was met by the hostess, Miss Ruby Cook, who, with an appropriate reading, described their long friendship that can only be likened to that of David and Jonathan in its sincerity.

For the unwrapping of the dainty parcels, a bowl of wonder balls was passed. Upon unwinding, the well hidden center contained some point of fortune desired to be the fate of our friend. Hand-painted favors marked the place of all present, and on finding their stations, a circle was formed round a beautifully decorated table, a profusion of bride geraniums and pink and white carnations forming the center, the spread being most dainty and appetizing. Mesdames C. S. Rice, A. G. Richardson, and J. H. Horton assisted Mrs. Cook serve those present, appropriate toasts having been offered to the honoree and her mother. Then began the fun of cutting the snow white angel cake that contained ring, collar button, and thimble, but it will never be disclosed who got the thimble, as Miss Burden would not forgive the disclosure.

Wishes enclosed in nut shells were given Miss Rice to be cracked in her St. Louis home, having bade a fond good-bye to the past, thanking our hostess for such a royal entertainment and wondering "Who will be next?"

Coast-to-coast television was inaugurated September 4, 1951.

A Famous American Ship

The BALTIC, luxury liner of the 1850's was one of the most famous passenger liners ever built, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. Only half the length of a modern oil tanker, the BALTIC and her three sisterships were the first to introduce steam heat afloat, an automatic bell-push system to call stewards, and a complete barber shop. She captured the Atlantic blue ribbon in 1852, being the last American steamship to break the speed record until the superliner UNITED STATES. She well justified her government building subsidy during the War Between the States as a naval auxiliary and as a transport. When her company's subsidy was withdrawn, the line collapsed and the trans-Atlantic passenger field was left virtually unopposed to the British. During her last decade of service, the BALTIC's engines were removed and she made a number of fast passages as a sailing ship. She was scrapped in 1880.

Carbon Monoxide
Is Silent Enemy,
Doctor Advises

"You can't see it... you can't smell it... you can't taste it, and yet it can kill you," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, referring to carbon monoxide. A silent enemy, it strikes its victims in closed rooms, garages and cars where wood, coal, gasoline, or natural gas is burning.

Some victims of this silent poisoner never knew their life was in danger. As others died, they may have realized that the killer was at hand, but were helpless to do anything about it. They were so benumbed that they could not get out into the fresh air; they couldn't walk or even stand up. Those who escape death, once this silent killer permeates a closed room, garage or automobile, are rescued by someone who discovers their plight.

Carbon monoxide is given off when wood, coal, gasoline, or natural gas is burning, but not all the gas is burned. Its danger is greatest in cold weather because people tend to close their houses and cars so tight that no fresh air can circulate. When this happens, carbon monoxide accumulates to a dangerous concentration. It kills because it prevents the victim from getting enough oxygen.

Whether your stoves, heaters and your car serve you and your family usefully, capably, and safely, or whether they become agencies of death, depend upon upon how wisely you use them. Remember, ventilate at all times.

Toasted Corn Bread Tops Chicken a la King Taste

Just how the name "King" came to be associated with this popular luncheon, dinner or supper dish is a matter that usually brings forth a little discussion.

Some claim that Chicken a la King was named for a Philadelphia restaurant owner who dreamed up the dish late one evening, years ago, when his supply of chicken was low and a late-evening crowd ordered chicken. Others believe it was so named because it is fare fit for a king.

Whatever its rightful origin may be, you can't beat Chicken or Turkey a la King for goodness when it is served on toasted corn bread. Corn bread possesses a rich flavor that's naturally sociable with the tasty creamed chicken or turkey. A strong point in favor of this combination is that the toasted corn bread will not go limp when it's covered with the hot mixture.

Toasted corn bread makes the perfect base for the King method of using the strippings taken from the left over carcass of a holiday bird, whether it's turkey or chicken.

CHICKEN a la KING ON TOASTED CORN BREAD
 1/2 cup green pepper, chopped
 1 tablespoon onion
 1/4 cup butter or margarine
 1/4 cup flour
 1 cup chicken stock
 1 cup cream
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon white pepper

2 tablespoons pimiento, cut
 3 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
 2 egg yolks, well beaten
 1/2 cup chicken or turkey stock, cold
 Toasted corn bread (recipe below)
 Brown green pepper and onion lightly in butter or margarine. Blend in the flour. Add stock and cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, and chicken, and cook, covered, 20 minutes in top of double boiler. Just before serving, stir in the well-beaten egg yolks mixed with the 1/2 cup stock. Serve on squares of corn bread which have been split and toasted in toaster or broiler. Yield: 6 servings.

CORN BREAD
 1 1/2 cups corn meal
 3/4 cup sifted flour
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 3 teaspoons baking powder
 2 eggs, beaten slightly
 1 1/4 cups milk
 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine.
 (If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Mix and sift the dry ingredients together. Combine beaten egg, milk, and melted butter or margarine which has been cooled. Pour liquids over dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour into a well-greased 8- or 9-inch square pan and bake in a 400° F. oven until it shrinks from the sides of the pan, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Loan Sharks— MAKIN' MONEY

To evade the constitutional limitation on interest, Texas loan sharks resort to devious methods, the most used scheme at present being "credit insurance," declares E. C. Fritz, Dallas attorney, who has made a study of the loan shark evil as a member of the anti-usury committee of the State Junior Bar Association.

Credit insurance is somewhat involved and intricate but the practical result is that the borrower pays approximately 140 per cent interest. Here is the way it works: A man has urgent need for $25. He gives a note to be paid in three months in weekly installments. He is charged 24 cents as interest (10 per cent), plus a "service charge" of $1. But before he gets the $25, he is told:

"Something might happen to you in the next three months—an accident, serious illness, even death—so you must take out health, accident and life insurance to protect us against loss."

The premium on the insurance is $7.96, which makes the total cost of the $25 loan $34.20. The insurance company receives 15 per cent of the premium; the loan company, as "agent," is allowed a commission of 85 per cent.

But the shark is not satisfied even with this. So far from desiring to help a borrower work out his financial problems, the company wants to keep him in debt. So if he misses a weekly installment, a day or two later he will receive a phone call, "Come down and renew."

Most of what he has already paid has been applied to the insurance premium, the service charge and the interest, but suppose he has paid sufficient to reduce the face $34.20 amount of the note to $20. He signs a new note for the original amount ($34.20) and receives $5 in cash. As a part of the $34.20, he has to pay another $7.96 credit insurance premium, even though the three months for which the first policy was written have not expired. Thus, in effect, he is paying "interest on interest." Then, when he again gets behind, he signs a new note, pays the $7.96 premium again—and so the process goes until the borrower is so heavily involved that he is virtually working for the loan company.

With the purpose of driving the loan sharks out of business in Texas through legitimate competition, the Texas Junior Bar Association has approved a small loan bill similar to the legislation which 30 states have adopted.
