Here's Good News—Angel Food Mix!

Swans Down Angel Food Mix Photo

Remember the finest angel food cake you ever tasted? Well imagine yourself making one that is superior in every way, but less expensive! That may seem like quite a stretch of the imagination, but actually it isn't. For, in a matter of minutes with the new packaged Angel Food Mix, recently introduced in grocery stores, you can whip up a light tender cake. This wonderful new mix is fool-proof yet it's amazingly simple; even beginners can have perfect results. Serve as an eye-catching, mouth-watering delicacy by topping each slice with Marble Whipped Cream.

Angel Food Cake With Marbled Whipped Cream
To make cake follow directions on package of Angel Food Mix (14 oz.). When cool cut into serving pieces and top with Marbled Whipped Cream.

Marbled Whipped Cream:
Chill 1/2 cup heavy cream, small bowl and rotary egg beater. Turn chilled cream into bowl, add 1 teaspoon sugar and beat rapidly until cream begins to thicken. Then beat slowly until cream holds its shape (don't overbeat). Swirl one to two tablespoons thin chocolate sauce through sweetened whipped cream giving marbled effect.

Health Talk—

COMMON COLD

How many times have you heard some wit remark, "An untreated cold lasts two weeks but one that's treated lasts only 14 days"?

Ask the man who owns one, though, if you want to find out whether he thinks he needs treatment, or at least a little "t. l. c." (tender loving care). Instead, all he gets (usually unasked) are worn-out sayings like the one above and perhaps the advice to try a few home remedies, the usefulness of which may be open to question.

Doctors believe colds should be treated for several reasons: (1) to make the patient as comfortable as possible, (2) to keep him from getting any serious complications (for example, pneumonia, middle ear infection, or sinus infection), and (3) to enable him to lose as little time as possible from school or work.

The exact cause of colds is still argued, but a few general facts are known. Most scientists agree that colds are caused by one of a group of viruses.

"What's a virus?" you ask. It's a very tiny, disease-producing agent, so small it can't be seen with a standard microscope or caught in a filter used to strain bacteria, small plants which can be seen with the microscope. Unlike bacteria, which can be grown in a test tube, a virus is unable to live or reproduce its kind any place except within a living cell of an animal or vegetable, which makes it the "scroungist of the lot" when it comes to causes of disease. In fact, viruses have been described as "master parasites."

Not only does a cold virus come to eat and live within the body of its host, man; in effect, it invites bacteria to come on in, have some free meals, and share its lodgings. Thus, while a virus may be the cause of the cold, it is believed that most complications are caused by bacteria that flock in, much like the playmates of a little boy who has found his mother's freshly baked cake and spread the good word.

How good a toe hold a cold gets depends on several things, and the order of their importance is not clear. They include the disease-producing ability of the virus itself and of bacteria which may push their way in on its heels and also the state of your body's resistance to colds. Among possible causes for low resistance are chilling or exposure to sudden, severe changes in the weather, lack of sleep, tiredness, worry and anxiety, irritating dusts and gases, eating or drinking too much, an improperly balanced diet, and allergies.

If lowered resistance is important in the cause or ill effects of colds, then it stands to reason you should stay in the best possible health. Sufficient rest and sleep, an adequate, well-planned diet, avoidance of chilling, and avoidance of other persons with colds are positive means of prevention you've probably heard about but at times past perhaps have disregarded.

If you are exposed to colds and manage to stay well, it's an indication you've succeeded in building up resistance (an immunity) to the virus which is causing them. It doesn't mean that later if your resistance is down, the same virus may not attack with success or that another member of the virus family may not get you down. A couple of scientists observed that the people of Spitsbergen, an isolated set of islands in Norway, who were free of colds all winter while there was no shipping, had an epidemic involving three-fourths of the population immediately after the first boat landed in spring. This was because the cold virus had had time to die out completely and therefore the island's inhabitants had built up no resistance through contact with the cold virus during the latter part of the winter.

Colds are catching; you have only to sit in a doctor's office during a cold epidemic to realize that. (In Texas more colds occur from mid-January to June, with the peak period during March and April.) By staying at home at least the first day, while your cold is considered to be most contagious, you will do your fellow man as great a service as yourself. A great many cold sufferers take the attitude, "I don't feel as bad if I can keep my mind off my cold by working." They are self-appointed martyrs—and everyone who catches their colds harbors no love for them.

What about "catching a fresh cold"? One doctor believes there's a grain of truth in this expression. Not only that, but the so-called fresh cold may be the first sign of a serious complication, rather than of a brand-new cold.

Besides resting in bed and keeping warm when you have a cold, you should add to your diet plenty of fruit juices and water. Meals should be simple, nourishing, and easily digested, and with a sore throat, soft or liquid foods may be preferred. Your doctor will be glad to prescribe medicine to relieve your stuffy nose or sore throat, and he will be on the lookout for any serious complications.

The "common cold" is a poor name, its victim will tell you, for he feels his sufferings are anything but common.

CARD OF THANKS

Due to sickness, we have had to move out of the living quarters in the American Legion where we have made our home for almost five years. It is our desire now to express our sincere appreciation to Commander Luke Henley and other Legionnaires, and the public in general, for the many courtesies extended to us during this period of time. We are also most grateful for the present the Legionnaires gave us at Christmas. It has been a pleasure to work with so many people, and we will always treasure the years we lived at the hall.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Greer

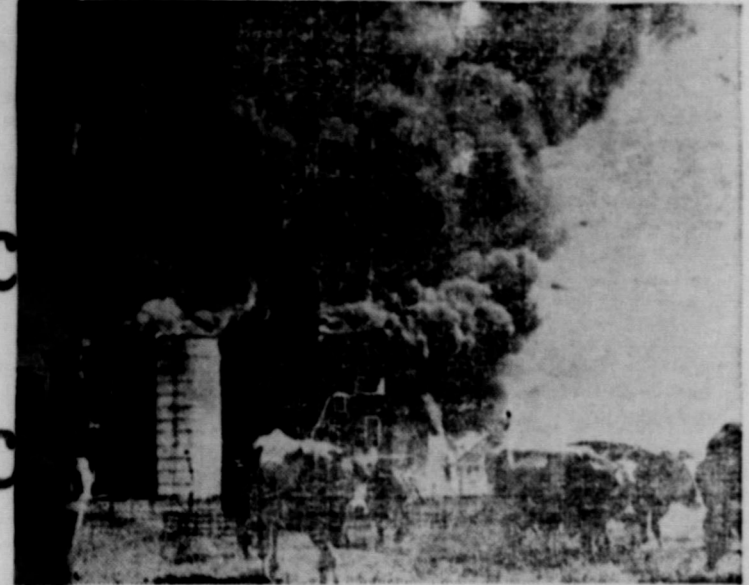

es for the small fry... pastries for the grown-ups... what the holidays be without 'em? But they're so hard to make and so much time, you're more than apt to say. Well, we'll have you a qualified pastry chef, only minutes after you've first All but automatic, it really takes all the trial and trouble of failure out of making the very prettiest kinds of holiday

Cookie puffs, meringue shells, eclairs, lady fingers... all these, too, are quick, easy, and inexpensive, with this practical press. But, it's the first, at holiday time. So, here's a cooky recipe that youngsters can straight from the pages of the reliable Mirro Cook Book.

2½ cups sifted flour Dash of salt
2½ cups shortening ½ teaspoon baking powder 1 teaspoon almond extract

Combine shortening, adding sugar gradually. Add egg, unbeaten, sifted dry ingredients, and extract. Mix well. Fill the Mirro Press. Form cookies on ungreased Mirro Cooky Sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes, at 400°. Yield: about 5 dozen cookies. (For colored dough, use vegetable coloring.)

You'll find this popular press in many of the stores. You can tell it by the gaily colored carton, that holds and stores the press, forming tips, and complete recipes and instructions. (After-ought: what a nice present this would be!)

This barn and the smaller building to the right were situated too close together with the result that when one caught fire the flames quickly spread to the other. Farm buildings should be at least 150 feet apart. Fire frequently is spread by flying sparks, but fire-resistant asphalt roofing material lessens the hazard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kibler of [unclear] and Mrs. J. W. Kibler of [unclear] spent the week-end with Mrs. J. T. Glass.

BIG MONEY
WITH THE GOVERNMENT of the United States showing a debt of 260 billion dollars, with so many written articles these days mentioning billions, we have come to accept billion as something not so big, yet a billion dollars is, any way you think of it, a powerful lot of money.

Just how big is a billion? Well, suppose that your family started a business with a billion dollar surplus in the year A. D. one. And suppose it had been so badly and extravagantly managed that it lost $1,000 every day of the 1952 years that have gone by since then. You wouldn't have to worry about it—you'd be a long, long way from broke. For you and your descendants could go right on losing that $1,000 a day until the year 2739 before you'd run out of money.

A billion dollars is lots of money, then, isn't it? Yet during the past two or three years, the American public has been spending about 90 billion dollars each year for all kinds of goods and services.

In the most recent issue of Life magazine, one article pertains to the work which chemistry, as carried out by the chemical companies, is doing to make the American public realize a better standard of living from that 90 billion dollars the American public is spending annually.

The magazine does not attempt to go into details of all the major chemical companies, but spends most of its time on one company, the Monsanto company. In Texas, this particular company has millions of dollars worth of plant property near Texas City. The company is one of the three largest chemical companies in the U. S., although it is only 52 years old.

It is but one of the big businesses which millions of small stockholders own. It is but one of the big businesses which are building up our standard of living year by year.

It is not government-owned; it is a privately-owned business. Monsanto pays tremendous taxes each year, where a government-owned business, such as the Tennessee Valley Authority (producing electrical power), does not.

In order to meet its obligations to its employees, and its stockholders, such a company must operate efficiently. There can be no government appropriations for private companies to make up for the inefficiency and graft which frequently accompany government projects.

These big companies do many billions of dollars worth of business each year. They pay billions in taxes to aid in keeping the government going. Yet, at the same time, they are striving to raise the standard of living for all people, and, also, naturally, to make a profit for those millions of people who have invested money in their stocks.

When government goes into business, as it has done time and time again in the past 20 years, a billion dollars seems mighty small when appropriations begin to roll around. But think of that $1,000 a day loss for more than 2,700 years, and you'll realize that

WARNING MR. STOCKMAN

During drought animals had little chance to build reserves of Vitamin A for carrying them through winter. Large number of aborted, still-born, or weak and deformed calves dropped last spring was a direct result of lack of green feed, a source of Vitamin A.

Late winter is the big danger period. Cattle and unborn calves too valuable to risk loss. Stronger prices for stockers and feeders, and common grade fed cattle by spring. Bidding will be strong for cattle next spring to restock drought areas and improved pastures. Feed highly fortified Vitamin A cattle cubes for best results.

There is no better cattle cube made than our 19% and 22% highly fortified Vita-Way range cattle feed cubes. They get results.

a billion dollars is a whale of a lot of money. Nearly all government businesses have had to seek subsidy appropriations in one form or another to keep in operation; private enterprise, even with the heavy taxes assessed, cannot have such subsidy. Private enterprise must either show a profit or go broke. Ingenuity, forethought, and ability have made private enterprise come out on top; and it appears now that the trend toward socialism—although not completely stopped as yet—has been halted in some measure by right-thinking people. May we have the power and strength to apply the brakes better in the future, before a trillion dollars to the government spenders is as common as a billion.

LES TALK

By LESTER

Here's an old boy I don't really know very well, except that I do know that he is a most friendly feller. He is, as most of you know, W. J. Foster. About the only thing I know about him is that he lives near town on a farm. And I reckon he must live pretty well, for he looks plenty healthy. I do know that he has always greeted me with a ready smile, and is most pleasant each time we have a conversation of a few words. He is the father of a young man, W. J. Jr., who used to live in these parts, too, and I became fairly well acquainted with the son. He, also, was a nice, friendly sort of a man, so I guess maybe the whole family is. Anyway, since I don't know much else about W. J. Foster, I had better not try to say anything more about him. I am glad, though, that we have this picture of him to run, for I'm sure he deserves having his picture in the paper as much as anyone.

Seems as though we always have a little confusion about closing our business houses here in McLean each time a holiday rolls around. It appears to me, and to several others to whom I have talked, that the McLean Junior Chamber of Commerce's retail committee (or some similar one if that isn't the proper name for it) should work out some system of holiday closing.

McLean isn't the only place where such confusion exists. The other day on the radio, Wes Izzard stated (in words meaning about the same as this) that those stores who were abiding by the decision of their C. of C.'s retail merchants committee were to close on a certain day—I think it was January 1. The other stores, however, that did not want to abide by the decision were to remain open. So it seems that Amarillo, and most other places, has the same trouble in that respect as McLean.

Bill Day, hard-working furniture man, came up with an idea at some kind of a meeting of business men here a few years back. The more I think of the idea, the better I believe it is. Bill's idea was to have some cards printed, listing the major holidays during the year when business firms might be closed. A statement at the top of the cards would merely tell the customers that the store would be closed on the following days during the year. Then the store operator could black out the days he would not close, leaving only those days showing when he would be closed. In that way, the ones who are most interested in whether a store is closed or not—the people who do the buying—would know well in advance whether to expect to find that store open on Memorial Day, July 4, Labor Day, etc.

How about it, Jaycees? Don't you think you could work out something right away on this closing business? Believe most people would appreciate it.

For several years now our girls' basketball teams have been very good teams, and we have all been proud of the girls. We still have an excellent girls' team, and we are still proud of them. But our boys' team hasn't been able to win many honors. However, this year, we have a bunch of youngsters who really have the desire to win. They are improving rapidly, very rapidly. To date, the win-loss column for the boys is over-balanced to the loss side for the season. But if the boys continue to improve in the next few weeks, they will give many of the District 1-A teams plenty of trouble.

Friday night is the next date for home games. Both the boys and girls will play the Canadian teams. If you like basketball at all, be on hand and you'll see some good games.

While on the subject of sports, I might mention that Coach Don

Leach just about has his next season's football schedule worked out. The last time I talked with him he was one or two games short of having it filled out. With Memphis in the district, we will have six district games instead of the five we had this past season. Which means, of course, that we will be allowed only four non-conference games. Don was trying to work in a game with Shamrock, but he wasn't sure it could be done. Shamrock has moved into the district with Phillips, Dumas, etc., and the Irish have to go far to some of their games. They, too, want to play McLean, for the two teams are so close to one another. And the competition between the two has always been keen. Many persons missed the usual Shamrock game this year, so perhaps it can be worked out for next season.

The new house, top, grew out of the old house, below. Chiefly responsible for the new look are colorful asphalt roof shingles and new white siding. The house had been abandoned for many years before an enterprising couple bought it and remodeled it.

Written history is at least 6,000 years old.

Priceless Comfort for Pennies

"It's so comforting to have the voices of my neighbors and family always at my side. I don't know what I would do without the telephone."

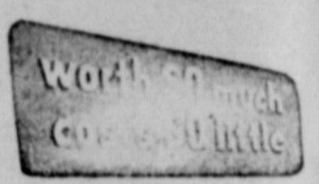

Each call you make... each friendly conversation on a lonely day, with someone next door or the other side of town, costs only a few cents.

How can the value of this constant companionship be measured?

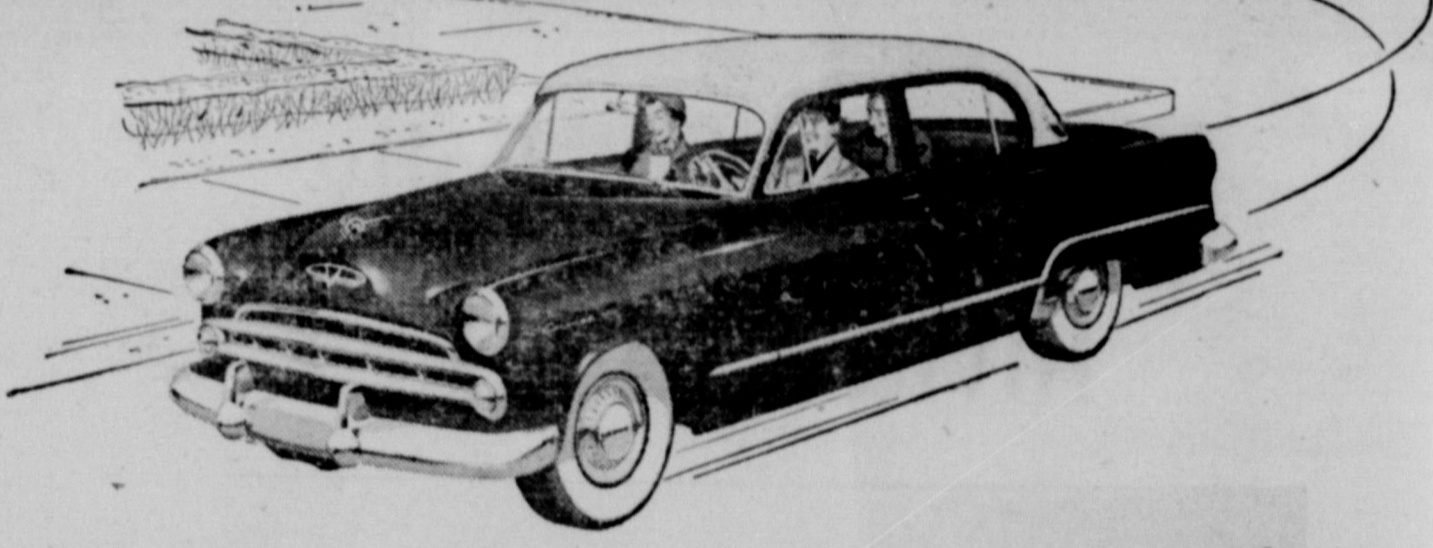

And, unlike many things you buy, your telephone continues to grow in value all the time.

Telephone service is better, faster, more efficient. There are many new telephones you can call... many more people can call you.

Still—though telephone value has increased, enormously, the cost of telephone service takes a much smaller part of your family budget than it did ten years ago.

Years Ago — IT HAPPENED HERE

From the Files of McLean News, 1913

Wald Residence
John Everett, recently of Wellton, has moved with his family to McLean and will make this his city home, having purchased the residence property of George Heald in the north part of town. The gentleman is a well-to-do farmer and we are glad to welcome him and his excellent family to our midst.

Friday Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Rish Phillips hosted Sunday to a large number of relatives in honor of birthday anniversaries of James C. A. and Clayborn Sh. The affair was a most enjoyable one and the dinner was kind that tends to make the guests glad of their good fortune being permitted to partake. Among the pleasing features of the day was the unique and humorous manner in which Clayborn Cash presided as spokesman, giving no one else to usurp his important station not even for a moment. Among those attending were C. A. Cash and family, W. Phillips and family, Clayborn Sh and family, Clyde Cash and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Hukle and family.

Return to Oklahoma
Mrs. J. T. Pollard returned the other part of the week from a day visit of several days with her sister, Mrs. Molly Irons, at Muskogee, Okla. She was accompanied on the visit by Miss Grace Whitley of Groom. This is the first time Mrs. Pollard and her sister had met in more than 24 years, and the meeting was indeed a joyous one. Mrs. Irons returned home with her sister for a few days and will go on to Groom for a visit to relatives.

Delightful Dinner
In honor of the hosts' 35th birthday anniversary, a party of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. T. A. Cooke on Friday last week and enjoyed a most delicious dinner. The affair was doubly pleasing by the presentation by several ladies of a handsome silver tray in token of respect for Mr. and Mrs. Cooke, and accompanied the gifts with a beautiful poem by Mrs. Pollard, an expression of the latter's regard and best wishes of donors.

Those who comprised the party were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Collier, and Mrs. F. L. Cooke, Mr. Mrs. J. H. Horton, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Vannoy, and Mr. Mrs. S. O. Cook.

Inadequate lunches can deprive children of the nutrition necessary for good health and intelligent work at school. A sandwich and a soft drink are not sufficient even though the child may have a good breakfast and evening meal.

A child's lunch should provide at least one-third of the daily food requirements. Whether eaten at home or at school, it should include one-half pint of milk, a substantial protein food as meat, egg, cheese or peanut butter sandwich, a vegetable or fruit, or both and whole grain or enriched bread with butter. While some hot food is desirable, well planned cold lunches can be both appetizing and nutritious.

In addition to being nutritious and palatable, food should be safe. Food from unsafe sources or prepared under insanitary conditions may result in illness. Milk should be pasteurized. Attention should be paid to the selection of wholesome meat, poultry, vegetables, and other foods. It is also important that perishable foods prepared and stored in school kitchens be properly refrigerated.

Eisenhower Urges Nation Support March of Dimes

President-elect Eisenhower meets 1953 March of Dimes Poster Girls Pamela (left) and Patricia O'Neil, of Raleigh, N. C.

NEW YORK CITY—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower called on the American public to support the 1953 March of Dimes being conducted throughout the nation during all of January.

He joined in the annual appeal after meeting the two Raleigh, N.C., sisters who are pictured on the 1953 March of Dimes poster. They are Patricia, 8, and five-year-old Pamela O'Neil, both of whom were stricken with polio but now are recovered completely.

"It's hard to believe that these are the same little girls whose pictures are on the March of Dimes poster," he noted. "Now

they're completely recovered from polio, thanks to the generosity of the American people."

He urged all Americans "to help the others like them by joining the March of Dimes."

Later, he joined the poster girls in making a short film which is being shown by television stations throughout the nation.

This year's March of Dimes follows the all-time record polio epidemic of 1952 in which more than 55,000 were stricken. At the beginning of 1953, there were 58,000 polio victims of former years still undergoing treatment, with financial help from local March of Dimes chapters.

Vows Are Read for Dixie Ann Turpen, Lee R. McCracken

Marriage vows for Dixie Ann Turpen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cicero Turpen of the RO Ranch near McLean, and Lee Roy McCracken of McLean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCracken of Marathon, were read Saturday afternoon, January 3, at 2 o'clock in the chapel of the McLean Methodist Church.

Rev. C. W. Parmenter, pastor, read the double-ring ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

Miss Donna Gail Stubblefield played the wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy nubbed shantung suit with light blue accessories, and carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of pink roses and streamers of pink ribbon.

Miss Betty Jean McClellan was maid of honor. She wore an iridescent blue taffeta dress with white carnation corsage.

Johnnie Joe Hutcheson was best man.

The bride's mother wore a brown gabardine dress with a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlor immediately after the ceremony. Miss LaRue Black served the three-tiered wedding cake, and Lois Woodrome poured the coffee. Guests were registered by Pat Shelton.

The bride is attending McLean High School. The groom attended school here and is now employed on the RO Ranch.

After a wedding trip to South Texas, Juarez, Mexico, and points of New Mexico, the couple will be at home on the RO Ranch.

Dixie Ann Turpen Named Honoree At Bridal Shower

A miscellaneous shower honoring Dixie Ann Turpen, bride-elect of Lee Roy McCracken, was held in the parlor of the McLean Methodist Church Friday afternoon, January 2.

Hostesses were Mesdames Gene Greer, W. M. Rhodes, Clyde Magee, and Wib Fowler.

Refreshments of ice box cookies, coffee, and hot chocolate were served from a table covered with an ecru lace cloth and a centerpiece of pink carnations flanked by silver candelabra bearing white tapers. Miss Betty McClellan poured the coffee from the hand-painted coffee service, while Miss Donna Magee served hot chocolate from a hand-painted china service.

Miss Pat Shelton registered the guests, and Misses Jane Franklin and Lois Woodrome served as ushers.

Those present and sending gifts were Mesdames C. C. Hayter, Gene Greer, Bryan McPherson, Cicero Turpen, T. E. Crisp, Bill Day, D. C. Carpenter, C. M. Franklin, Della Stubbs, J. L.

Corn Bread Topping Puts "New Face" on Meat Pie!

Look for the smiles that will light up family faces when you serve meat pie with delicious, crusty corn bread topping. There's a dish that has a winning way with left-over roast beef and plenty of good vegetables. It's practically a meal in itself, and it takes so little time to prepare. Your meat pie with corn bread topping can be served at the table in its baking dish. As the serving spoons break through the corn bread crust, you'll love the wonderful aroma that greets you, and really welcome the good flavor that has been sealed in by the corn bread. There will be no cold second helpings because the corn bread tends to hold the heat in.

Meat Pie With Corn Bread Topping
(A good way to use left-over meat and vegetables)

Filling:
1 cup cooked, diced carrots
1 cup cooked, diced celery
1 cup cooked, diced potatoes
1/2 cup cooked peas

1 tablespoon grated onion
3 cups diced left-over roast beef
2 cups celery

Topping:
3/4 cup corn meal
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg yolk
1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Combine all filling ingredients in a 1 1/2-quart greased casserole. Sift together corn meal and other dry ingredients. Combine beaten egg yolk, milk, and melted fat. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour batter evenly over meat and vegetables in casserole. Bake in a 400° F. oven, for 20 to 25 minutes, until the corn bread just starts to shrink from the sides of the casserole. Yield: 6 servings Pudding mix, ice cream and cookies—that's the brand new, three-ingredient basis for this luscious dessert, Ice Box Cookie Cake. The secret comes in the sleight of hand addition of the ice cream to the pudding mix.

You'll find Ice Box Cookie Cake not only delicious-tasting, but easy to fix and "special looking" too. It will take to company like a warm smile. So, why not try it on the "girls" next time they come for a game of bridge.

MINCEMEAT ICE BOX COOKIE CAKE

1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin
1 1/4 cups cold water
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1/2 cup moist mincemeat
20 shortbread cookies (1 box)

Combine pudding mix, gelatin, and cold water in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Then add ice cream by spoonfuls, stirring after each addition until ice cream is melted. Chill 10 to 15 minutes, or until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in mincemeat.

pan. Spoon one-third of the pudding over the cookies. Arrange 8 cookies on top of pudding. Continue to layer pudding with cookies, finishing with pudding. Chill until firm (at least 1 hour). To unmold, draw a knife or spatula around sides of pan; turn cake onto serving plate. Garnish the base with a fluting of sweetened whipped cream. Anchor halves of pecans in the cream and dazzle 8 persons

NEW YORK CITY—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower called on the American public to support the 1953 March of Dimes being conducted throughout the nation during all of January.

He joined in the annual appeal after meeting the two Raleigh, N.C., sisters who are pictured on the 1953 March of Dimes poster. They are Patricia, 6, and five-year-old Pamela O'Neil, both of whom were stricken with polio but now are recovered completely.

"It's hard to believe that these are the same little girls whose pictures are on the March of Dimes poster," he noted. "Now

they're completely recovered from polio, thanks to the generosity of the American people."

He urged all Americans "to help the others like them by joining the March of Dimes."

Later, he joined the poster girls in making a short film which is being shown by television stations throughout the nation.

This year's March of Dimes follows the all-time record polio epidemic of 1952 in which more than 55,000 were stricken. At the beginning of 1953, there were 58,000 polio victims of former years still undergoing treatment, with financial help from local March of Dimes chapters.

rn Bread Topping Puts
"New Face" on Meat Pie!

Look for the smiles that will light up family faces when you serve meat pie with delicious, crusty corn bread topping.

Here's a dish that has a winning way with left-over roast beef and plenty of good vegetables. It's practically a meal in itself, and it takes so little time to prepare.

Your meat pie with corn bread topping can be served at the table in its baking dish. As the serving spoon breaks through the corn bread crust, you'll love the wonderful aroma that greets you, and really welcome the good flavor that has been sealed in by the corn bread. There will be no cold second helpings because the corn bread tends to hold the heat in.

(A good way to use left-over meat and vegetables)

Filling:

- 1 cup cooked, diced carrots
- 1 cup cooked, diced celery
- 1 cup cooked, diced potatoes
- 1 cup cooked peas

1 tablespoon grated onion
3 cups diced left-over roast beef
2 cups celery

Topping:

- 1/2 cup corn meal
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 egg yolk
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or margarine

(If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)

Combine all filling ingredients in a 1 1/2 quart, greased casserole. Sift together corn meal and other dry ingredients. Combine beaten egg yolk, milk, and melted fat. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour batter evenly over meat and vegetables in casserole. Bake in a 400° F. oven, for 20 to 25 minutes, until the corn bread just starts to shrink from the sides of the casserole. Yield: 6 servings Pudding mix, ice cream and cookies—that's the brand new, three-layer basis for this luscious dessert, Ice Box Cookie Cake. The secret lies in the slight o' hand addition of the ice cream to the pudding mixture.

You'll find Ice Box Cookie Cake not only delicious-tasting, but easy to fix and "special looking" too. It will take to company like a warm smile. So, why not try it on the "girls" next time they come for a game of bridge.

MINCEMEAT ICE BOX COOKIE CAKE

- 1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
- 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin
- 1 1/2 cups cold water
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream
- 1/2 cup moist mincemeat
- 20 shortbread cookies (1 box)

Combine pudding mix, gelatin, and cold water in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat. Cool 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Then add ice cream by spoonfuls, stirring after each addition until ice cream is melted. Chill 10 to 15 minutes, or until mixture is slightly thickened. Fold in mincemeat.

Place 4 cookies in the bottom of a lightly greased 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Spoon one-third of the pudding over the cookies. Arrange 8 cookies on top of pudding. Continue to layer pudding with cookies, finishing with pudding. Chill until firm (at least 1 hour). To unmold, draw a knife or spatula around sides of pan; turn cake onto serving plate. Garnish the base with a fluting of sweetened whipped cream. Anchor halves of pecans in the cream and dazzle 8 persons.

Health Talk—HOME ACCIDENTS

If home is a man's castle, some of its battle stations against accidents need strengthening.

Accidents are usually classified according to where they happen: in the home, on the highway, on the job, or in public places. Of all these types, the least has been done to prevent accidents in the home...

The most common type of fatal accident is falls, accounting for a little more than half of deaths. Next most frequent is burns, scalds, and explosions; then mechanical suffocation...

According to reports from Kansas and Long Island, bedrooms are the most common location of fatal accidents; next, the yard around the home, and close after it, the kitchen. Stairs also are a natural hazard...

Persons who want to learn more about accident prevention in the home can obtain information from safety councils, local fire departments, and other groups which conduct accident prevention programs.

of the reach of children? Bathroom: Is there a grab bar or handrail (not glass) next to the bath tub? Are all medicines locked up? Are all bottles plainly labeled or thrown away? Is the floor clear of soap, water, and other objects? Are hands dried well before turning on and off electric light switch or handling any electrical device such as the telephone?

Basement: Is the heating unit (or individual heating units) checked each year before using? Are tools kept on hooks and shelves, and paints and shellacs in tightly covered containers? Are materials stored neatly and rubbish not allowed to gather?

Yard and garage: Are walks in good repair and free from ice or other slippery materials? Are clotheslines six feet from the ground and located away from the walking area? Are garage doors kept open when the car motor is running? Are children kept away from the driveway?

Miscellaneous: Are floors kept clear of toys and other objects? Are stairs in good repair and with handrails? If there are small children, are there gates at the head and foot of the stairs to prevent falls?
