The three-act comedy is entitled "Just Ducky." Student director is Christine Hunt, and sponsors aiding with the play are Miss Betty Lynch and Harold Bunch.

Nose-Counting Of School-Age Children Starts

Enumeration of school-age children for the annual school census of the McLean Independent School District was begun Tuesday, Superintendent Paul Kennedy said.

Needed to be included in the census are all children who will be 6 years of age before September 1, 1953, up to those not born before September 1, 1935, Kennedy explained.

It is an easy matter to enumerate those students who are now in school, the superintendent said, but much harder to get those counted who have become six years of age since the last census, or who are children of new residents of the district.

Each child on the census roll means $68.50 in the state aid to the district, and the enumeration is very important for that reason. Last year several children of scholastic age were missed and it is hoped that 100 per cent will be reached this year.

"If you have a child who falls within the correct age limitations, and you do not believe the child has been counted in the census, please contact either me or Principal Freeman Melton Jr.," Kennedy said.

$500 Donated As Red Cross Short of Goal

A total of $500 has been contributed to workers in the annual funds drive of the McLean chapter of the American Red Cross this far, George F. Saunders, drive chairman, reported Wednesday morning.

The goal is $700, Saunders explained, and he fears that it will not be attained this year.

"The drive is not completed as yet," Saunders said. "We know that we have missed a number of people, and hope to contact them within the next few days. The drought, plus the cut-down on traffic due to the highway construction, has hurt the drive considerably this year, and it is now doubtful that we will be able to reach our quota."

Most of the solicitors who agreed to aid in the drive have already reported in to Saunders. They explained that some were unable to help this year, and others were unable to give as much as they usually contribute.

Services will be held twice daily, at 10 o'clock each morning and at 7:30 in the evening. Rev. Parmenter will conduct the services on Easter Sunday, April 5, with Rev. Johnson arriving in time to begin his series of messages the following day. On Sunday, April 12, Rev. J. Edmund Kirby, district superintendent, will lead the services.

REVEILLE

... with the boys

S/1c Pete Smith of San Diego, Calif., recently returned from Korea, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Rosa Smith, and other relatives.

Besides the regular repertoire of the choir, a number of special selections will be given by Wayne Hinds, tenor from Amarillo; Miss Peggy Williams, Plainview soprano; Miss Kay Castleberry, contralto from Amarillo; the JazziBelles, a popular music vocal ensemble; and the Varsity Quartet.

Featured in the choir's repertoire will be "Jesu Dulcis" by Victoria, "O Rejoice, Ye Christians, Loudly" by Bach, and an aria arranged by Dr. Bright from Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah." It is called "If With All Your Hearts."

Other selections are "Evening Song of the Weary" by Wright, "Psalm XXXIII" by Mueller, "Alleluia" by Olson, "Hosiodi Pomilui," a traditional Russian chant, "How Sleep the Brave" by Rathbone, "Weary Wind of the West" by Elgar, "Music When Soft Voices Die" by Dickinson, "When Icicles Hang by the Wall" by Brooks, "The Turtle Dove" arranged by Vaughan-Williams, and "The Weak and Rambling One," an Arkansas folk song arranged by Powell.

The McLean concert is one of eight set in a three-day period for the choir. It will also appear in Dalhart, Dumas, Spearman, Perryton, Shamrock, Phillips, and Borger.

The group will arrive in McLean about 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and members of the McLean P-T-A will give them their evening meal at the grade school cafeteria. Since they must remain overnight, the P-T-A is asking its members and anyone else who has an extra bedroom, to give at least two of these students their night's lodging and breakfast the next morning.

Mrs. Clyde Andrews, Mrs. Johnnie Merte, and Mrs. June Story have charge of getting the choir members a place to stay. They will have seen a number of people, but if they have missed you, and you have an extra bedroom, please call one of these three ladies and give them your name, it was explained.

The choir is not charging the P-T-A for the performance; thus all proceeds will go to the McLean P-T-A. The admission price will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

Jaycees to Install New Officers At Covered Dish Dinner April 6

Date for the annual installation of new officers of the McLean Junior Chamber of Commerce, elected recently, has been set for Monday night, April 6. Buddy Sutton, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair, said.

The installation will be held in the American Legion Hall, and Howard Horne of Panhandle, former resident, will be the installing officer.

Instead of having a banquet, as has been the case for the past two years, the Jaycees have decided upon a covered dish dinner the night of the installation. All Jaycees, associate members, and their wives are urged to attend, and guests may be brought by any of the members, it was explained.

THE CRUSADE

"WE KNOW NOW that Dwight Eisenhower was speaking with some conscious exactness when he used the word 'crusade' to describe his career as soldier, candidate, and President," wrote Columnist Holmes Alexander recently. "The emphasis on militant morality or conquest for righteousness, already noted by Mr. Eisenhower's friends, is now being remarked upon by his opponents."

It is this crusading spirit which, more than any particular and specific issue, distinguishes the Eisenhower administration from its immediate predecessors. And it is the crusading spirit which is giving substance, unity and direction to the policies, aims and actions of both the President and the men who are close to him.

The new President is a deeply religious man, and ancient religious principles heavily influence his thinking. To quote Mr. Alexander again, "His own ancestors were members of a minority sect which migrated from Pennsylvania into Texas and Kansas, believing in the dignity of toil and never whimpering for the cold charity which governments often give in return for subservience. . . . Much of the President's hatred of Nazism and Communism seems to stem from the godlessness of these systems."

Here, certainly, is a key to what we expect of the Eisenhower leadership in both domestic and world affairs. And it does much to explain what the administration is now doing or trying to do in widely varied fields.

The President, for example, wants economical government, thrifty government. And this is not only because it would save the taxpayers' money, important as that is. Going beyond the realm of dollars and cents, the President is convinced that the attitude of mind which encourages or fails to prevent waste and prodigality is the attitude of mind that could lead to a breakdown of the national fiber and result in national ruin. He looks on graft and corruption in government—whether it be represented by the gift of a fur coat or a deal involving millions—in much the same way.

The President is also, it is clear, a firm believer in the idea that the Lord helps those who help themselves. He is 100 per cent opposed to the "give-away" philosophy.

We have seen some very significant examples of that since the administration took office. One is in the Department of Agriculture. Secretary Benson made it plain that, in his estimation, price supports for farm products should be regarded as emergency measures, not as something farmers have coming as a matter of course. Some loud howls greeted this, but the secretary got many a pat on the back as well.

Another is in the State Department. Nobody has a stronger desire to cement and strengthen the anti-Communist countries than Mr. Dulles. Nobody is more certain that the existence of the free world depends on this. But he has made it abundantly clear that the Western European powers must do much more than has been the case so far, both to reconcile their differences and to build their military strength. The American Treasury, he pointed out in effect, is not a bottomless well.

Finally, the general principle back of the Eisenhower program as a whole is that government should not do what private enterprise or local government or individuals themselves can do. He wants less centralized government, not more. He wants the people to be self-reliant instead of dependent. It looks now as if this idea will be the hallmark of his administration.

LES TALK

By LESTER

Somebody needs to come up with a definite solution to the problem of building seating stands for the west side of the football field. The school board members have been trying since last fall, when the old stands burned, to figure out something which they could afford. As far as I know, they have been unable to come to any definite solution. Perhaps one of you might have a good idea in the back of your mind, an idea for constructing the stands which wouldn't cost so blooming much. If you have, I suggest you give your idea to the school board—I'll bet they will be quite willing to listen.

Some of the old-timers might tell you that back in the "good old days" when such a problem confronted the people, then the people would get together and donate their services and just build a set of stands. I wonder . . . I'd venture that if such did occur, a few, very few, people were left with the greater part of the burden to bear. It's that way now, and I imagine it was that way in the past.

Besides, I don't recall of ever having heard of the people here, or anywhere else, getting together and building the kind of stands which need to be built. That is, building the stands for free.

It's my opinion that today's generation of young people are no worse than the last generation. And the last generation of young people were no worse than those before them. If I try real hard, I can recall things which were done by the youth in my youthful time which were not exactly on the refined side. Of course, like just about everyone else, I let those unpleasant things slip away into oblivion and remember only the good things.

So it goes with building a football stadium. I'm not saying that cooperative work nowadays cannot build a stadium. I'm just saying that if such a project were started, a few would wind up doing practically all the work. It's been that way throughout the ages.

I do remember when, just a few years ago, the stands were built for the rodeo grounds. Much of the labor was donated. But it was donated by a mere handful of men.

And I wasn't one of them.

I also recall when the Jaycees decided to paint the rodeo stands the first day of painting attracted about 40 or 50 men. But the second session got out only a handful, and the job just barely got finished.

I also know that the new highway signs which the Jaycees are putting up were made by only three or four men, and another small group erecting the signs.

As I said before, it's that way now, it'll be that way in the future, and I feel pretty certain it was that way in the past.

Frankly, I don't believe the world is going to the dogs any quicker now than it used to be. Perhaps it's because the dogs don't really want it.

Mother: What do you mean, Bobby, you're getting $50,000 for that mongrel pup of yours? I suppose it's all cash.

Bobby: Well, not exactly. I'm trading it for two $25,000 kittens.

"That's quite a strapless evening gown you have on. What keeps it up?"

"A city ordinance."

Old Lady: Are you a little boy or a little girl?
Child: What other choice do I have?

First Prisoner: You're in for 99 years? Gee, I'm only in for 75.

Second Prisoner: Then you take the bed nearest the door. You'll be out first.

"Why did you leave your girl's house so early?"

"We were sitting on the sofa and she turned out the light. Guess I can take a hint."

. . . then there's the fellow on the radio quiz show who was asked, "Who introduced you to your wife?" and who replied, "We just met. I don't blame anybody!"

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Carter and family were week-end visitors in Pampa in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bazel Pettit.

So the People May Know

The clerk of each county must publish annually a financial report showing how much money has been spent out of each of the county's funds and the balance in each fund. It must reveal the county's indebtedness and give other details, outlined by state law as follows:

"Art. 1609. County Finances—publication of financial report of county by county clerk.

"Immediately after the first regular term of said court in each year said clerk shall publish once in some weekly paper published in his county, or if there be no paper published herein, then by posting four copies of such exhibit, one in each commissioner's precinct, one of which shall be at the courthouse door, the other three at public places in such precincts, an exhibit showing the aggregate amount paid out of each fund for the four preceding quarters, and the balance to the credit or debit of each fund; also the amount of indebtedness of said county, with their respective dates of accrual, and to whom and for what due; also the amount to the debit or credit of each officer or other persons with whom an account is kept. The cost for publishing the same shall be paid by order of said court out of the general fund of the county."

Another provision of the law is that the county treasurer must publish a financial report after it has been inspected by the commissioners. The law says:

"Art. 1636. County finances—publication of notice of county treasurer's reports after inspection by the commissioners court."

Prior to the adjournment of each regular term of the court, the county judge and each commissioner shall make affidavit that the requirements of this article have been in all things fully complied with by them at said term of said court, and that the cash and other assets mentioned in said county treasurer's quarterly report made by said treasurer to said court, and held by him for the county, have been fully inspected and counted by them, giving the amount of said money and other assets in his hands. Such affidavits shall be filed with the county clerk and recorded in the minutes of said court the term at which the same were filed; and the same shall be published in some newspaper published in the county if there be a newspaper published in the county, for one time."

Publication of county financial reports is required to give the citizens information as to how their county government is being operated and how their tax money is being spent.

Arts and Crafts Reception

One of the most pleasing functions of the school was enjoyed by the students at a reception at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bogan on last Saturday evening. This reception was given in honor of the Woodrow Wilson Club.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the girls assembled at the Bogan residence, where at 8:30 they formed a receiving line awaiting their guests. The boys, who were assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. O'Neal, were escorted to Mr. Bogan's residence by their host and hostess at the appointed time.

After the guests had been received by the 40 girls composing the receiving line, three girls, Maude Gardenhire, Vita Heasley, and Nellie Smith, passed them souvenirs of green shamrocks. During this time the guests also assigned partners by matching pictures cut from various leading magazines.

A committee of ten girls was appointed by the president of the club to direct the program of the reception. Each girl performed her part with ease, grace and dignity. The following is a list of the features of the program for the evening:

1. Topics of conversation, introduced by Lettie Bogan and Ellen Anderson; 2. profiles of arts and crafts girls, introduced by Tommy Cooke; 3. telegrams, introduced by Grace Hamilton; 4. a penny for your thoughts, introduced by Lillie Gull; 5. green bags, introduced by Susie Bend; 6. charades, introduced by Floy Glass; 7. origin of St. Patrick's Day and Irish stories by Mr. O'Neal, introduced by Ruby Newton; 8. recipes, introduced by Mertie McClain; 9. refreshments, announced by Ida Barnette.

The reception was planned to commemorate St. Patrick's Day and green was the decorative color. About their hair the girls wore bands of green crepe paper which harmonized well with their souvenirs. The color was also carried out in the refreshments, which consisted of cake, tea and mints.

The evening was one of the most enjoyable ever spent by the high school students of McLean. There were about 50 guests present, including not only members of the Woodrow Wilson Club, but also the entire faculty. The entire number present was about 90. Each guest leaving the residence assured the gracious hostesses that it was one of the most pleasant evenings he had ever spent. The Arts and Crafts Club members were well pleased as to the success of the long-looked-for entertainment.
