Burglars Loot Derby Drive-In

A small amount of money and a few items were taken when the Derby Drive-In Theater was entered some time Tuesday night, but the costliest damage was the breaking of the plate glass window in the concessions building.

Apparently, the burglar, or burglars, entered via a door after prying it open, and then broke the window after getting inside.

Included in the stolen items was an insecticide lamp and crystals for it, Joe Page said. The crystals, although not supposed to be deadly, will make a person very sick if taken internally or if used improperly with the lamp, Page explained.

Other items taken were about $4 in change, some cigars, and some wieners. Considerable damage was done to the interior of the concessions stand, in addition to the broken window.

Local Resident's Brother Is Killed

Claborn is survived by his wife and five children. O. E. Eubank Jr., 35, of Idalou, and Jack Dalton Hardin, 20, of Munday, were also killed instantly in the crash.

John Eiland Hardin, 13, also of Munday, died from injuries early Sunday. Father of the two Hardin boys, Edward L. Hardin, 53, of Munday, was critically injured.

Roping Club's 'Small Rodeo' To Be Sunday

What will amount to a "small rodeo" will be staged by members of the McLean Roping Club, and other rodeo entrants, at the club's roping arena a half mile north of McLean on the Pampa highway Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Events to be held include matched calf roping, saddle bronc riding, bull riding, and horse races, Glenn Jolly, who is aiding in making arrangements for the show, said.

Admission to the arena will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. The arena has a large amount of parking space available for those who wish to sit in their cars.

Cold drinks will be sold during the performance, Jolly said. "We invite everyone to come out for an afternoon of rodeo entertainment," Jolly emphasized.

McLean Lions To Be Present At Convention

Several members of the McLean Lions Club plan to attend the annual Lions District 27-1 convention, to be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in Borger.

Delegates from the local club are Lester Dysart, Larry Fuller, and Hickman Brown; and alternates are Boyd Meador, Lester Campbell, and Dr. J. H. Kretzler.

One of the highlights of the three-day meet will be the selection of the district queen. Miss Floella Cubine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cubine, will represent the McLean club in the contest, which will be held Friday night.

Other items taken were about $4 in change, some cigars, and some wieners. Considerable damage was done to the interior of the concessions stand, in addition to the broken window.

Nominations for district governor for the coming year will be made Friday afternoon. Three candidates are seeking the office. They are W. W. Cooper of Turkey, Joe Phillips of Amarillo, and Bruce Gentry of New Deal.

Voting on the district governor will be held Saturday afternoon by the delegates, or their alternates, from the various club represented.

Business sessions will be held in the Hotel Borger all day Friday and Saturday. Special entertainment for the Lionsesses will be featured.

The governor's banquet and ball will be held at the hotel Saturday night, at which time Milton (Buff) Morris of Canyon, present district governor, will be honored.

Kerrville Camp For Crippled Children Opens

A free summer camp for crippled children opened Monday on a 504-acre site in the beautiful hill country four miles south of Kerrville on the highway to San Antonio.

The camp is sponsored by the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children, an organization set up by Lions Clubs of the state.

Members of the local Lions Club have been generous to date with their contributions used in constructing the camp.

Approximately 40 children were expected to register Monday, with about 240 participating in the six camp periods this summer.

Plans call for 700 children next year, after additional facilities are completed. Eventually the camp will operate nine months yearly instead of only during the summer period.

Under the present set-up, the camp is free to crippled children. Each entrant must be sponsored by a Lions Club, and the only cost to the club will be the cost of transportation to and from the camp.

The McLean club plans to sponsor a trip for Roy Norvell to the camp late in June. Roy was stricken by polio a few years ago, and has been confined to a wheel chair since that time.

His application to the camp is accepted, he will enter June 22 for the second camp period. He will be taken to Kerrville by J. D. Coleman and Paul Kennedy, and Meador has agreed to go after him at the conclusion of the two weeks.

REVEILLE

The Bureau of Naval Personnel has announced that it is an advancement in rating to machinery repairman third class, USN, for Jerry E. Bybee, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Bybee of McLean, and husband of the former Miss Doris J. Henry of Shamrock, while serving aboard the U. S. Naval Submarine Base at Pearl Harbor, T. H.

The advancement came as a result of a world-wide competitive written test which consisted of questions testing military and professional skills.

To be eligible for the written quiz, Navy personnel had to exhibit proficiency in the on-the-job phases of their ratings.

John C. McClellan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McClellan, has received his rating of 2nd class metalsmith. He is being sent to Japan, where he will be stationed for a while.

Pfc. Bobby G. Cooper of Camp Pendleton, Calif., is spending a ten-day leave with his parents and friends in Amarillo and McLean.

Bob Bruner has returned to the U. S. from overseas duty, and is expected home about June 20.

County Airport At Pampa Struck By Freak Twister

At least $40,000 damage to facilities at Perry LeFors Field near Pampa, Gray County's airport, was done by a twister late Saturday.

The twister, believed to cover about 200 feet, demolished hangars and airplanes of Clayton Husted and Clifford Jones, and blew the door off the Cree Drilling company hangar.

Wreckage was deposited in the middle of the airport taxiways. Horace Tarver, airport manager, learned of the damage early Sunday morning, when two Connecticut tourists, forced to land at Pampa Saturday, went back to pick up their plane.

The tourists' plane, although not tied down and only 200 feet from the damaged area, was not even moved by the storm.

25th Birthday Of Lions Club To Be June 26

The McLean Lions Club will observe its 25th anniversary of service to the McLean community on Friday night, June 26, it was decided at the regular Tuesday meeting of the club.

A special program for the occasion is being arranged by E. J. Lander, program chairman. In addition, new officers to serve during the coming year will be installed.

The club was first organized 25 years ago this month. No charter members of the organization still remain as members, although several have been in the club almost the entire time.

Observance of the 25th birthday will be held in the City Park. No regular meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, June 23, in lieu of the special meeting.

Lander has obtained a motion picture, showing pictures of the international convention in Mexico City last summer, for the occasion. Food arrangements are to be handled by a special committee of Lester Dysart, J. W. Meacham, C. W. Parmenter, and W. C. Simpson.

In addition to the installation of officers, the winner of the Lion of the Year award will be announced. The members of the club recently balloted on this award, and the ballots were taken by Lion Ralph Thomas of Pampa for counting. Thomas will not reveal the award winner until the night of the program.

Officers to be installed are as follows: Odell Mantooth, president; Lander, first vice president; J. W. Meacham, second vice president; George Saunders, third vice president; Amos Page, secretary; Carl Jones, treasurer; Parmenter, Lion tamer; Larry Fuller, tail twister; and Dysart, Lester Campbell, and Paul Kennedy, as directors.

Interest Rising in Second Annual Church of Christ Singing Normal

Interest in the approaching North Texas Singing Normal, to be held at the Church of Christ June 22 through July 3, has been mounting from week to week, church leaders reported this week.

Publicity concerning the singing school has been sent out to churches covering a wide area, including the Panhandle of Texas and areas in several other states. A number of inquiries have been received to date.

Conducting the second annual singing normal for the local church will be Tillit S. Teddlie. Teddlie, well known as a singing teacher and song writer, was leader of the school in 1952, which attracted nearly 200 students.

Assisting Teddlie will be Palmer Wheeler of Memphis, who also was a teacher in the school last year; and George Saunders, song director of the McLean Church of Christ.

Tuition to the school is free, and most out-of-town students will stay in local homes. Only actual school expense will be for supplies.

Among work to be taught will be rudiments, harmony, voice culture, song directing, breathing, melody writing, sight singing, music appreciation, and group singing.

'Some Damage Result Again Of High Winds

A greatly-needed .65 of an inch in rain fell in McLean during two thunderstorms in the past week, but continued hot winds have done much to erase the good effects of the moisture.

First shower came Thursday night of last week, when .18 was registered on the official weather gauge of Pete Fulbright, local weather observer. Second of the two rains came Saturday night, when .47 of an inch fell. The moisture brings the year's total to 4.84 inches in the city of McLean.

Thursday night's rain was accompanied by small hail in McLean, as well as high winds. The rainfall was reported to be much heavier in spots south of town. One farmer reported about three inches of rain, which washed out crops in that vicinity.

The hail damage was also reported to be heavier to the south, and crops were hurt in some spots by the falling stones.

Saturday night's storm brought what many observers believe to be the highest winds in a number of years. The winds were straight, and broke off numerous tree limbs. Some damage on small outhouses was again reported.

In McLean, the storm warning was issued twice, and most residents scampered to their cellars. Trees were bending badly at the height of the wind storm. Several television antennas suffered damage.

On both occasions, Thursday and Saturday, similar thunderstorms were present in various spots in the Panhandle. However, most of the moisture which fell apparently came in the eastern Panhandle, although numerous localities received little or no moisture.

Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday were bright and hot days. The hot winds Monday did much to absorb the small amount of moisture which was trying to soak into the ground.

GERMS FIGHT BACK
By Science Features

It is common knowledge that once you contract certain diseases you are not likely to get them again. Chicken pox and scarlet fever are examples of diseases which seldom strike the same person twice. The reason for this is that your body's defenses usually make you resistant to these particular diseases after the first attack.

In recent years, scientists have become aware of a similar type of resistance which some microbes can develop against the chemical weapons devised to combat them. Thus a microbe originally known to be affected by a sulfa drug or antibiotic may after a time develop strains resistant to the drug.

Development of such resistant strains is the microbe's way of fighting back. An example of this is the staphylococcus family of bacteria, some strains of which have become resistant to penicillin and other antibiotics. Under a microscope, these germs, which cause such infections as boils and abscesses, look like clusters of tiny grapes.

Fortunately this problem of bacterial resistance is far from hopeless. Not long ago, scientists of Chas. Pfizer & Co., Inc., announced the discovery of a new antibiotic—one of the miraculous earth-mold drugs—which is particularly effective against resistant bacteria. Named magnamycin, it has recently been made available to doctors around the world.

A report in the medical journal Antibiotics and Chemotherapy chronicled the success of this new antibiotic in laboratory tests. These tests indicate that magnamycin is effective against germs that have developed resistance to the antibiotics now in general use, including the resistant strains which cause a rare staphylococcal enteritis—a disease not unlike acute food upsets.

A separate report by a physician of the University of California School of Medicine also records the successful use of magnamycin against tonsillitis, pneumonia, amoebic dysentery and local infections such as boils and abscesses. However, the scientists believe that magnamycin's major importance lies in its success against resistant germs.

OUR NEW ECONOMY
GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS, both elective and appointive, most always pay lip service to the cause of economy. They advocate cutting government costs wherever possible and giving the taxpayers 100 cents worth of value for each dollar spent. In late years, however, these fine words have rarely been backed up with deeds.

Now the situation has changed very greatly. This Administration and this Congress really seem to mean business when they say they want to cut waste and unnecessary spending; balance the budget, and reduce taxes. The only major point of difference concerns method and precedence. One group in Congress believes that taxes should be slashed first and government should trim its sails to fit the wind thereafter. The other, and probably the larger, group believes that a balanced budget should precede tax reduction. The President is firmly on the side of this latter group.

The President's tax message to the nation, made on the 19th of May, was a clear and detailed expression of his views. His general philosophy on taxation is found in these words: "We believe that . . . present taxes are too high. We think they are becoming a real threat to individual initiative. We believe at the same time, that no citizen, once satisfied that his government is operating with honesty and economy . . . wants any tax saving at the price of essential national security."

The program Mr. Eisenhower outlined has several phases. He advocates that the present excess profits tax be extended for six months beyond the June 30th expiration date; that current corporation income tax rates should be maintained and not reduced for the time being; that the projected increase of one-half of one per cent in the old age security tax be postponed; that a reduction in excise taxes also should be postponed; and that the proposed 10 per cent reduction in individual income taxes should be effected, but not before January 1st.

Many will disagree with details of this program. A strong case can be made, for instance, that eliminating or substantially reducing the excess profits tax would in time increase governmental revenues, by stimulating business spending and expansion. And many regard the excise taxes as an unfair and inequitable levy. Such considerations as these will be weighed pro and con when Congress goes to work on the President's proposals.

However, the tax message as a whole was well received by Congressional leaders. A typical majority view came from Speaker of the House Martin, who observed that the President's stand is necessary because of "the mess he inherited," and predicted that "the budget will be balanced next year and the people will get tax relief."

There is still another phase of fiscal policy which the Administration is working on now. The tax system has grown like Topsy, in a helter-skelter way, and it is full of inequalities, injustices, and plain economic absurdities. There has long been a need for an exhaustive study of the whole system, in order to lay the groundwork for an orderly and rational overhaul. A group of qualified experts has been assigned to make such a study. This is a long-term proposition of the highest importance.

TALK

By LESTER

We noted, with some pleasure, that the weeds between the walk and the curb in front of Bill Day's business had been eliminated. Would like, very much, to compliment Bill for the spring cleaning job. But, can hardly afford to do so. You see, Mrs. C. P. Callahan told me that she paid the weeds out.

W. C. Shull is really spreading his business out down on his corner. First he moved in a large building, which he had been constructing in the yard at his home for some time. He told me he had intended to make it into a large shop at his home, but Mrs. Shull didn't like the looks of the large building there. So he moved it to his business corner.

Then he connected this large structure with the smaller structure he already had, building another portion in between. So now he has a comparatively large warehouse space for his building supplies stock. At least, he will have a large space when the work is all completed.

It's good to see such progress in our little town.

However, I notice that Graves Jewelry is quitting business. Sorry to hear of any business in our town moving out. Graves is the third jeweler to come and go since I have been in McLean during the past six and one-half years. First a fellow named White had a little store, and he went flat broke. Then Bob Sheddick came in, and really did well, expanding his small store into a fine, up-to-date place before he went on to greener pastures at Edmond, Okla. Now Graves is folding up. So it goes.

Kinda peculiar how businesses start up and stop, or change hands. In the short time I have been here, many changes have been made.

For example: Brown's Drug was Powers Drug when I came here; Lee's Grocery was the Modern Market, changed hands twice in the six years; the McLean Hardware was the Graham Hardware, then was sold to John Broadhurst, and then to J. W. Meacham; Mrs. Molita Greer had a beauty shop in the Graves Jewelry location; the small cafe next door changed hands several times; the Avalon Theater was owned by the Paul Piersons when I came here, then was sold to Bill Howard, and then to the Pages.

M. G. Mullanax started his mens' store in recent years; Mrs. Jim Back bought out the insurance agency from Mrs. T. N. Holloway following Mr. Holloway's death; the Elite Barber by J. S. McLaughlin when I came here—he also sold DeSotos and Plymouths when he could get them, and the John Deere agency has changed hands twice since McLaughlin left; Leo Gibson was in the welding business where Bill Bailey now is, and Guy Hibler's auto supply was in the building now occupied by the Gibson parts store.

Several businesses have occupied the place where the domino parlor is located, including the Ford agency, now in the Dysart building, a domino parlor, then a cafe, and now a domino parlor. Consumers Supply, where Ted Glass and Arthur Dwyer recently moved out, was owned by Andrews and Johnson; Cicero Smith's lumber yard has been completely remodeled.

The Magnolia station, operated by Jimmy Dawson, has changed hands from Andy Watkins to Bob McMahan to Jimmy. Guy Hibler is running the business formerly run by his dad, who died since I came to McLean.

I could go on and on some more, for I'm only half way through the main part of town. But this is enough for now—maybe so I can recall some of the other changes at a later date.

Businesses surely have changed hands a lot, don't you agree? But the town seems to continue to progress, business owners continue to make beneficial changes in their buildings and their displays, so perhaps these changes in ownership and location pay off in the long run.

Tax Situation Still Up in Air

By CONGRESSMAN
WALTER ROGERS

MORE ABOUT THE TAX SITUATION: The time is growing near for affirmative action to extend the excess profits tax. Unless affirmative action is taken by the Congress by June 30th, this tax will expire by its own terms. The administration has all but demanded that this tax be extended to December 31, 1953. Whether or not the executive branch will make an all-out, no retreat, demand that Congress extend this tax will depend upon what happens within the next ten days or two weeks. So far, the administration has respectfully requested that this tax be extended, but has not yet cracked the political whip. There has been a daily probing of the opposition forces that lie within the President's own party. The purpose of this is to find a soft spot that will enable the administration to extend the excess profits tax without resorting to cracking the political whip and causing a knock-down and drag-out fight on the floor of Congress. The latest, and probably most effective, feeler came from Speaker Martin immediately after a recent White House conference. He commented that the failure to extend the excess profits tax could well result in no reduction of individual income taxes on December 31 of this year, as provided by law. This was no doubt intended to disturb Chairman Reed of the House Ways and Means Committee, who is fighting for no extension of the excess profits tax and a reduction of individual income taxes as of June 30, 1953, rather than December 31, 1953. Chairman Reed does not scare easily, and he is a hard and able fighter for what he believes to be right. The administration lost the support of the National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce on this issue. These two organizations

Custom Designed for $20,000

This custom-built house in Toledo, Ohio is cited by House Beautiful magazine as proof that budgeting and custom building are compatible. Costs included: Land (90 x 131 feet), $1,250; House (1190 sq. ft.) $16,449.81; Decorating (including fee, all furniture not built in, fabrics, china, crystal, tableware, etc.), $1,416.93; Legal and insurance costs, $204.17; and Landscaping (including extensive terrace and sapling fence), $681.99.

are the largest organizations representing business in this country. They not only refused to support the administration on the issue, but refused to remain neutral as they had been requested to do, and came out in opposition to the extension. One of the major objections to the tax is that it prevents the expansion of new businesses that do not have base periods reflecting large earnings. It has measurably hurt small business and will continue to do so. Many of the corporations would much prefer that the excess profits tax expire and that the Congress increase the normal corporation tax. They argue that this would be more fair and would actually bring in more money.

As I said in a recent newsletter, if the excess profits tax is allowed to expire, you can expect a hard and tough fight for early reduction in individual income taxes.

BUREAUCRACY: Much has been said in the past few years about bureaucracy, and no one has condemned government by bureau and agency edict more than I have. I am increasingly disturbed by the continuing requests for more power for bureaus and agencies, and the failure to clip the wings of these administrative bodies. Recently the Senate passed a bill bringing several agencies under the provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act that are now excepted therefrom. This action is nothing more than an enlargement of bureaucratic powers because under the provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act and the decisions of the courts in construing that act, the rights of citizens of the United States are determined in most cases by individuals appointed by individuals appointed by individuals appointed by elected officials. You may think that the record got stuck or that I was stuttering when I wrote this, but such is not the case. Many of the persons who are primarily instrumental in the decisions rendered as between individual citizens are three, four, or five appointments away from the official elected by the people. Provisions in the laws granting the right to court review by the aggrieved party are of no consequence, simply because the courts have no authority to go behind the actions of the administrative body. Much of our bureaucratic headache has been caused by brief and unnoticed provisions in laws that appear to be very sensible and expeditious. However, experience has proven that we are paying the high price of losing our day in court by capitulating to unnecessary speed in the determination of our rights. The promotion of our way of life and the freedoms which we so jealously guard would be much better served if the money being spent in many of these administrative agencies was being used for increasing our court system. It makes little difference which party is in power or which individual is in charge of a bureau or administrative agency, there is a never ceasing pressure from these bureaus and agencies for more and greater power. These practices will not be stopped by politics. They will only be stopped by statesmanship.

Driving Through Water is Not the Time to Make a "Big Splash"

Although today's automobile has progressed far beyond the point where a severe spring rain will stall the engine, it still is not an amphibious vehicle. Failure of the engine to bring you through normal flood waters, which might cover highways, can be attributed mostly to water on the ignition system caused by splashing. Today's engines are better equipped to combat excessive moisture and driving through water, by the use of such things as improved rubber housings on the spark plug terminals. These pictures show the splash effect when a car "plows" into a seven-inch depth on a flooded highway. At 20 m.p.h., the water shoots area completely drenching the

GOOD HEALTH

Answer to Question No. 1:
A family doctor is your protection when illness or accident strikes. Caring for the members of your household over the years, he knows your "health history" and his skill is thereby supplemented by personal knowledge of you and your family. He is your best friend and advisor and will respond to your call. A good health measure is for families and individuals to acquire a family or personal doctor if they don't already have one.

Answer to Question No. 2:
It is important that the public health service in every community check on the health of food handlers in restaurants, groceries and butcher shops, for food handlers can readily transmit diseases, such as the common cold, and more serious diseases. Besides requiring food handlers to have periodic physical examinations, some communities provide instruction courses in sanitation for workers. These courses help food handlers to protect themselves and their customers against disease, as well as to care for food to prevent spoilage.

Answer to Question No. 3:
Yes, many non-profit health insurance plans have arrangements for individuals to join. Commercial companies have available a variety of health insurance policies for individuals. Of course, the premiums for individual policies are higher than those for group plans.

So the People May Know

When a hearing is scheduled on a petition for the issuance of road bonds by a road district or political subdivision, notice of the hearing must be published in a newspaper. The law states: "The clerk of said court shall forthwith issue a notice of such time and place of hearing, which notice shall inform all persons concerned of the time and place of hearing and of their right to appear at such hearing and contend for or protest the ordering of such bond election. Such notice shall state the amount of bonds proposed to be issued, and shall describe such political subdivision or road district by its name or number, and shall describe the boundaries thereof as defined in the order of the Commissioners Court establishing such subdivision or district. The clerk shall execute said notice by posting true copies thereof in three public places within such subdivision or road district and one at the courthouse door of the county. Such notice shall be posted for ten days prior to the date of said hearing. Said notice shall also be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the subdivision or district, if a newspaper is published therein, one time, and at least five days prior to such hearing. If no newspaper is published in such subdivision or district, then such notice shall be published in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one." Notice must also be given by publication if, after the hearing, it is decided to hold the election. Here is the law: "If the proposed issue of bonds and levy of taxes is for a political subdivision or road district, notice of such election shall be given by publishing in a newspaper in the subdivision or district for three consecutive weeks, and by posting notices in at least three public places in such subdivision or district and at the courthouse door of the county. If no newspaper is published therein, then such published notice shall be given in some newspaper published in the county, if there be one."

Fire Damages Williams Home

Fire badly damaged the home of E. J. Williams in the south part of town Wednesday morning.

Origin of the fire is not known, but it is believed to have started in the attic on the south side of the small frame structure. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze before the entire building was destroyed, but considerable damage was done to the interior. No insurance was carried by the owner.

Cough Not Disease, But Is Symptom, Doctor Explains

A cough is just a symptom and not a disease, says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. It is an indication that something is wrong in the body's respiratory tract or breathing tube. When an object obstructs the respiratory passage, a cough is nature's reflex to remove the obstruction. Such a cough is simple and transient. The same thing happens when the throat or lower passages are irritated during a cold, whooping cough, asthma, smoking, low humidity, and dust. A cough can be produced by more serious conditions such as tuberculosis or cancer. Constant coughing brings on fatigue as the person's rest is affected by the constant hacking. A prolonged cough might indicate chronic bronchitis, a condition which in most cases is secondary to an infection elsewhere, such as the nose, throat or sinuses. Mucous draining into the throat may cause such irritation that the victim may involuntarily cough repeatedly to bring up the material. Hoarseness is produced by persistent coughing in some persons. Hoarseness is a symptom of an inflamed larynx. Hoarseness lasting for six weeks or more is a serious symptom suggestive of cancer and must not be disregarded. No persistent cough should be disregarded. The nature of the infection and its location may be shown by an examination of the material expelled, and a thorough examination by the family physician will determine the cause and give a basis for treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Don Leach visited in Truth or Consequences, N. M., last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Earnest. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bidwell of Pampa visited in the Guy Bidwell home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Amos Page and children left Wednesday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Salyer, at Bertram. Mrs. Lee Kennedy of Dallas visited with Mrs. W. E. Kennedy last week. Parents wonder why the streams are bitter, when they themselves have poisoned the fountain.—John Locke.
