High Winds Hit Again in Area; .17-Inch in Rain

High winds last Friday evening—this time described by many residents as definitely a twister—struck McLean and caused considerable damage in various parts of the town and the surrounding area.

Heaviest hit, from all reports, received, was the Derby Drive-in. All tin on the fence and underneath the theater screen was blown down, Amos Page, theater manager, said. As the metal was blown across the theater parking area, quite a number of the posts holding the speaker were knocked over. In addition to the fence damage, Page estimated that the loss in speakers would run about $80. In the windstorm only a week earlier, part of the metal fence was blown down.

Another loss to the theater owners, was some damage to the old Lone Star building, most of which was destroyed by fire a few years ago. The winds Friday evening blew down a small portion of the east wall of the building.

M. H. Patterson saw a nearly new barn flattened on his place south of town. J. L. Andrews had two trailers in his yard, one of which was badly damaged and the other remained unharmed. Oscar Tibbets and L. F. Giesler both reported damage to small outhouses.

Luke Henley, who had just replaced shingles blown from his house in the week-before storm, lost some of the shingles again. Most of the wind damage apparently was in the south part of town, or south of town, and east of the city limits. The wind took a course similar to that of the previous night's high wind, and did slightly more damage.

Residents who watched the storm reported that it definitely did not dip close to the ground at many points. Cleo Heasley, who lives just east of town, lost a plate glass window in the front of his house. Cleo S. Heasley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Heasley, suffered cuts on her hand when the window blew out. Heasley reported that the wind seemed to hit the house on all sides at one time.

Accompanying the winds was a great deal of dirt, and a little moisture. Pete Fulbright, local weather observer, reported that .17 of an inch fell, bringing May's total to 1.05 inch, and the year's total to 4.19 inches.

Light travels faster than sound.

BILLY VIC SHELTON, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shelton of McLean, recently graduated from the naval hospital corpsman's school at San Diego, Calif. Shelton, who has been visiting his parents here, will be stationed at the base hospital at Camp Pendleton, Calif., upon his return to duty.

Rev. Parmenter Back as Pastor For Methodists

Rev. C. W. Parmenter was returned as pastor of the McLean Methodist Church for another year, it was learned when appointments were read at the close of the Northwest Texas Conference held in Abilene last week-end.

The local pastor will be beginning his third year of service in the McLean church.

Rev. W. B. Hicks, former pastor here and recently in Lefors, was assigned to a pastorate in Dalhart. He has been in Lefors since leaving McLean.

Other area appointments were as follows:

Rev. J. Edmund Kirby was returned to Pampa as superintendent of the Pampa district, of which the McLean church is a member. All three Pampa pastors were renamed, as follows: Rev. T. M. Johnston, First Methodist Church; Rev. Edwin L. Hall, St. Paul Methodist; Rev. Raymond T. Dyess, Harrah Methodist.

In Canadian, the pastor will be A. A. Kendall; Lefors, I. T. Huckabee; Miami, Grady M. Adcock; Mobeetie, E. Elton Wyatt; Shamrock, Frank M. Beauchamp; and Wheeler, F. Eugene Matthews.

Amarillo was chosen as the host city for the 1954 conference during the session last week. This year's meeting was the 44th annual conference.

He came to McLean in 1935 from Omaha, Neb. On February 10, 1920, he was united in marriage to Mina Waldrop in Amarillo. He was a member of the Catholic church, and had been engaged in farming and stock raising since moving to this area.

Nick Nicholson Witnesses Firing Of Atomic Shell

Army M/Sgt. Richard D. (Nick) Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Nicholson of McLean, witnessed the first test-firing of an atomic shell from the army's giant cannon at Camp Desert Rock, Nev., last week.

He was one of nearly 3,000 officers and enlisted men, most of them artillerymen, who crouched behind revetments 4,500 yards from ground zero as scientists fired the huge 280-mm artillery piece by electrical control from a tower ten miles away.

Before the actual firing of the atomic shell, the group was thoroughly indoctrinated in atomic warfare technique and took part in experimental firing of conventional non-atomic projectiles from the mammoth weapon.

Master Sergeant Nicholson, a first sergeant with the 1st Infantry Regiment, Fort Ord, Calif., entered the army in August, 1950. Nicholson, whose wife, Bernice, lives at Fort Ord, worked at the Chevron Gas Station in civilian life.

TV, Appliances Suffer Smoke, Heat Damage

A fire which was discovered early in its origin, but which spread rapidly, did an estimated $15,000 worth of damage to the T. and G. Electric company store Tuesday night.

The fire was noticed at about 8:30 o'clock by Mrs. Arthur Dwyer as she drove past the store. The city council was in session at the City Hall at the time, and she notified members of the council. The alarm was sounded, and quick, efficient work on the part of the McLean firemen prevented the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

The electric company, owned by George W. Terry, carried a heavy inventory of appliances, radios, and television sets, in addition to a stock of radio parts and wiring supplies. Damage to all stock from the heat, water, and smoke, was very heavy.

Terry said that he had insurance on the merchandise, but that he feared it would not be sufficient to cover the loss. He said he had several thousand dollars worth of television sets in stock, in addition to his stock of refrigerators, freezers, ranges, washers, and driers.

Many of the heavy appliances suffered the most damage from water and smoke, but it is feared the TV sets may have been damaged more heavily.

The store was closed Wednesday morning awaiting the arrival of insurance adjusters.

The first blaze apparently came in the radio repair department, immediately behind the partition which separates the display area from the storage space.

The building is owned by M. G. Mullanax. Mullanax had left the rear portion of the building, where an apartment is located, only shortly before the fire was reported. John Sublett, who had been living in the apartment had moved out Monday, and Mullanax spent Tuesday working on the apartment. The apartment was damaged by smoke and water.

The building occupied by the Southwestern Public Service company, owned by Mrs. T. N. Holloway, suffered several hundred dollars worth of damage from smoke. Shortly after firemen arrived, this building filled with smoke, and it was feared for a time that the fire might spread to it. The smoke was exhausted from the building by going inside and spraying water to the outside, drawing out the smoke.

High Officials To Be Featured At Boys State

Six Texas newspapermen and several high state officials will be on the program at the annual Boys State which opens in Austin at the School of the Deaf, Sunday, June 7, and continues through Saturday, June 13, State Legion Commander Albert D. Brown Jr. announces.

Representing McLean will be Wayne Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Moore. Wayne, who will be a senior in high school next fall, is being sponsored at Boys State by the Floyd-Corbin-Flore Post 315, American Legion.

The state chairman of the American Legion's Boys State committee, Judge W. A. Morrison of the Court of Criminal Appeals, has announced the following newspapermen will address the 485 boys who will be there from all portions of the state: William Ruggles, Dallas News; M. E. Walter, Houston Chronicle; Joe Cook, Mission; Calvin Clyde, Tyler; Walter Humphrey, Fort Worth Press; and James B. Barnett, Wichita Falls Times.

State officials on the program will be Governor Allan Shivers, Secretary of State John Ben Shepperd, Chief Justice J. E. Hickman of the Supreme Court, Speaker of the House Reuben Senterfitt, and Senator Rogers Kelley.

Boys State is composed of high school junior boys. These boys form their own governments and elect their own officials from governor down. They then go to the state capitol and hold the offices of the various elected state officials.

Dean of Counselors is Curtis Cryer of Borger.

New Schedule Announced for Trash Pick-Up

A new plan for picking up trash, and an offer to mow weeds on vacant lots, have been announced by officials of the City of McLean.

Residents are urged to not have fires burning in the trash barrels on the day the truck is scheduled to run in the areas. Brush will be picked up each Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday afternoons, Mayor E. J. Lander said.

A minimum charge of $1 is the price for mowing weeds on two lots; 3 to 5 lots for $1.60; and 10 to 20 lots for $2. The charge for the mowing is based upon the time consumed getting to the job, and then doing the work. However, it was explained, the lots must be clean of rubbish before the mower can operate, and if not clean, the city will not mow the weeds.

Schedule for picking up trash is as follows: Monday, east of Main Street and south to the Luke Henley corner; Tuesday, south of Luke Henley corner and Floral addition; Wednesday, west of Main Street to old grade school building; Thursday, west and north of old grade school to Pampa highway; Friday, filling stations and garages between Railroad and First Streets.

Kansas produces more wheat than any other state in the nation.

First Local Wheat From Crop of 1953 Brought in by Hess

The first load of wheat from the local area's 1953 crop was brought to S. R. Jones, McLean grain dealer, Tuesday evening. The load totaled 130 bushels.

The wheat was harvested by F. J. Hess from the Hess place south of town in Collingsworth County. Yield has been estimated on the place at from 8 to 12 bushels per acre—much better than had been expected.

Jones said the wheat weighed out 62 pounds per bushel, and tested 10 per cent moisture content. It brought $1.92 per bushel.

Added Service By Red Cross

Effective June 1, the American Red Cross has been authorized by the Departments of the Army and Air Force to relay through their rapid communications, death messages involving immediate families of overseas servicemen of these two branches, J. Lester Dysart, home service chairman, McLean chapter, has announced.

Formerly, the Red Cross could send death messages to servicemen via these rapid facilities, only if leave for the serviceman, which the family had requested, was denied.

Provision has been made that all of these death notifications contain complete information as to the time and cause of death, welfare of the remaining family, and any other relevant facts.

Divided Lane Highway All Open

Highway 66 through McLean is now a full-fledged four lane divided road.

The second lane of the highway from McLean west to Alanreed was opened Friday under the supervision of G. K. Reading, resident highway engineer of Pampa, when barriers were removed.

Meanwhile, work is progressing rapidly on the additional 5.2 miles of double lane road west of Alanreed. Bell and Braden, contractors for this job, have been busily engaged during the past three weeks in grading and in spreading of the gravel base on the road. About one-fourth of the road's base was completed by last week-end. The contract on the 5.2 miles calls for a state expenditure of $436,321.

On west of that portion which is being paved by Bell and Braden, remains several miles more in Gray County and Donley County which is to be made into a four-lane road some time in the future. This stretch runs into Donley County part of the way, and all County part of the way have not yet been purchased.

On the new concrete road, from Wheeler County to the point just west of Alanreed, all concrete work was completed several weeks ago. The concrete retarders in the ditches alongside the road, constructed to prevent washing, have been installed.

However, considerable work remains on the asphalt shoulders on each side of both lanes. Practically all of the base has been spread, and about half of the asphalt has been poured for the shoulders.

LARRY FULLER, local manager of the Southwestern Public Service company, left Wednesday to attend the National Aquatic School at Lake Murray, near Ardmore, Okla. Fuller, already a qualified Red Cross lifeguard, will seek an instructor's certificate from the Red Cross sponsored school at Lake Murray. Upon his return, he will devote considerable time in giving swimming instructions as a part of the summer recreation program. The school is being held June 3-12.

Jaycees Plan Plenty of Fun At Stag Party Friday Night

Plans were being completed this week for the stag party for members of the McLean Junior Chamber of Commerce and their guests.

The picnic-party will be held at Lake McClellan Friday, beginning at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Jimmie Don Morris, Jaycee president, has announced.

Morris explained that the stag affair is being held to interest those who are already Jaycees in the work the organization is doing, and also to interest men who are not already members in becoming members.

Members have been urged to bring guests to the party, Morris said, and it is believed that a large crowd will attend.

The affair will get underway with a series of games arranged by Sammy and Johnny Haynes. Two teams will be organized, with Johnny Haynes as captain of one and Bill Ferguson as head of the other. Games will include sack races, softball, etc.

Each team will be given points for winning the various events, and, in addition, each team will receive one point for each visitor. The losing team will be required to give an ice cream party for the winners not more than one month in the future. The losing captain is to be tossed in the creek.

Following the game session, a picnic-style lunch will be served. In charge of food arrangements are Hickman Brown, Buddy Sutton, and Walter Sargent.

After the lunch, a program will be presented under the direction of J. C. Claborn, chairman of the program committee of the Jaycees.

HELP FOR ACNE by Science Features

One of the most serious problems of many teen-agers is the unsightly and all-too-common outbreak of pimples and bumps on the skin which goes under the scientific name of acne. Usually occurring on the face, acne can be a real social and vocational handicap.

In a sense, acne seems to be one of the problems of growing-up. During adolescence many changes take place in the chemistry of the body. Among these is an over-production of oil by the millions of glands in the skin. Excess oils work their way to the surface, causing pimples and blackheads.

Recent medical reports indicate that the antibiotic and sulfa drugs are extremely valuable in treating this condition, which in some degree affects an estimated nine out of ten teen-agers. These drugs act against the bacteria that apparently play an important role in causing acne.

A skin specialist who treated ten acne patients with oral doses of terramycin reported improvement in nine of the cases within 24 hours, with gradual disappearance of the infected bumps and pimples within ten days. Another group of 34 patients—mostly girls—showed a 100 per cent response to terramycin, given daily with milk.

Antibiotics and sulfa drugs, used with hormones, resulted in improvement or cures in 94 per cent of 354 acne cases studied, according to a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Many of these cases, the scientists said, had not responded to the older, widely used X-ray therapy.

Forty-Two Club

The cozy little home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rice was the scene of one of the prettiest social functions of the season. Mrs. Rice being hostess to the members of the 42 Club and a number of invited guests on Tuesday afternoon of this week.

Beautiful hand-tinted score cards were given to each guest. Three tables were filled with enthusiastic players and several capable bookkeepers were lookers-on. Merrily the time flew as the playchess progressed until time for luncheon was announced, where every player and bookkeeper is a winner.

Never did our hostess taste demonstrate itself more adeptly than in the preparation of a three-course luncheon, consisting of meat and pimiento sandwiches, olives, lobster salad, cheese sticks, iced grape juice, silver loaf, and caramel cake with ices and pineapple.

Besides the regular members the following invited guests were present: Mesdames Langley, Patterson, Paschall, Rice, and Scarborough, and Misses Haynes, Cook, Dalrymple, and Bundy.

The tell-tale time piece pointed its impudent hands far past the time decided on to depart before final adieux were made and the various homes were reached. Our next meeting will be with Mrs. D. B. Veatch at the home of Mrs. LeFors.

Mrs. Horton Entertains

The home of Mrs. J. H. Horton in the south part of the city was the scene on Saturday night of last week of a very delightful entertainment given by Mrs. Horton for her son Orman, who has recently returned from White Deer.

A large crowd of young people gathered in response to the invitations and whiled away the hours very pleasantly at progressive 42, there being six tables participating for the highest honor. At the close of the series it was found that Roy Rice and A. G. Richardson had each annexed ten games. High dominoes were turned to decide the tie and Richardson was the winner.

The gift was a beautifully bound volume of Poe's "Opening a Chestnut Bar." The booby prize was awarded to Billie Biggers, who managed to win one game, and he was presented with a nicely wrapped and very delicious little pickle.

During the evening Mrs. Horton, assisted by Mrs. Roy Rice and Mrs. C. B. Hedrick, served delicious ice cream and cake. The Horton home is ever a jolly one, and the young people anxiously await the announcement of their parties.

Out-of-town guests who enjoyed this delightful affair were Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cook of Pampa, Miss Goodfellow of Groom, and Miss Lantrip of Albreed.

Am I required to pay the social security tax on the wages earned by my hired man while he works on my farm? This is the question many farm owners are now asking, since the harvest season is immediately before them and extra hands will be required.

The Social Security Administration advises all farmers that the program of old-age and survivors insurance now includes under its coverage some farm employees. However, it is pointed out that harvest hands, cotton pickers, and other persons whose work is of a seasonal nature do not come under coverage, and should not be reported on a social security tax return.

To qualify as a regular farm worker under the Social Security Act, the agriculture employee must first work for one employer for a full three month calendar quarter. However, the social security tax should not be paid on wages earned during this qualifying quarter.

The hired hand will, if he continues working for the same employer, be covered under the social security law during the second three months of his employment if he works during 60 days or more of the period and is paid at least $50 in cash wages.

Then there was the one about the man who entered a neighborhood pool hall with a piece of paper in his hand and said: "This is a list of all the men I can whip."

"Is my name on there?" asked a husky, broad-shouldered truck driver.

"Yes."

"Well, you can't whip me."

"Are you sure?"

"Darn right I'm sure."

"Very well," replied the man. "I'll take your name off the list."

When the men start to get out their fishing equipment is a good time, ladies, to "fish" for a freezer-refrigerator combination.

THE FARMER'S ALLY

AMERICAN AGRICULTURE is based upon one great principle—private ownership of property. Ownership of property by individuals under a government of laws which protects that ownership is the source of liberty. The American family-type farm is the foundation of both liberty and property ownership in the United States.

The real future of American agriculture lies in the growing productivity of individual farmers through improved land use and conservation practices which have been made possible by the revolutionary advances of the last half-century in farm equipment. Farm machinery, as we know it today, is the key that has unlocked the abundance of the soil for the human race after 5,000 years of human toil and near famine. Rapid population increases and the lack of new geographical frontiers have brought us face to face with the necessity of increasing the productivity of land now in use. The farm equipment industry in the past 50 years has become a leader in developing practical means of securing greater agricultural output at minimum cost. It is helping mightily to preserve the family-type farm because it has enabled the family farm to become a scientific business operation which in the future will be capable of meeting the rising needs of the nation and of the world.

Years ago, it was demonstrated that a strong, healthy man working at a capstan—the sort of treadmill still used in some primitive areas of the world for converting human energy into mechanical power—could develop about one-tenth horsepower for an 8-hour day.

On that basis it would cost about $10 for each horsepower hour of power developed by man labor, assuming a wage of a dollar an hour.

It would be totally impossible, of course, in this day and age to meet the needs for food production with that kind of power at such a price. . . . In 1950 it was estimated that each farm worker in this country had at his command some 33 horsepower. This figure would be still higher now. In 1920 each farm worker is estimated to have had only 5.2 horsepower with which to work, in 1900 around 2.2 horsepower, and in 1870, he had only 1.6 horsepower. In no other country today is there anywhere near so much power available to farm workers.

The importance of such agricultural advancement is beyond measurement, recognized significantly by President Eisenhower recently, when he said: "The peace we seek, founded upon decent trust and cooperative effort among nations, can be fortified—not by weapons of war—but by wheat and cotton; by milk and wool; by meat and by timber and by rice."

The American farmer is the most productive on earth. In the years to come he has his work cut out for him. We believe he has no stronger ally than the farm equipment industry.

LES

By LESTER

Never will forget a sign I saw in a yard one time when I was in service. The sign said, "No dogs or sailors allowed." I was in the navy at the time.

Perhaps a dog's life would not be so bad. Would depend a lot, I suppose, on whose dog you happened to be. But I never did care to be compared with a dog, especially by some other human. It's not so bad, you know, to have a dog look at you and compare you with a dog. But when another human does it, that ain't good.

Kinda wish I could have met the people on whose yard the sign was posted. In another way, I guess it's just as well that I didn't. My appearance might not have been the same after he got through with me.

The idea is that I have always felt like I am not a bit better than anyone else. It doesn't matter to me whether a person is a millionaire, or a ditch digger who barely gets by. Seems that in my early age, I was taught that everybody is somebody.

And by the same token, I simply do not feel that anybody else is any better than I. Of course, they may be better in doing lots of things. They may be better in playing golf (if they aren't, they're not much golfers); they may be better newspapermen; they may be better car drivers. Etc.

But my philosophy is just that I'm not better than anyone else, and no one else is better than me.

Fears to me that everybody was surely put on this earth for a purpose. Lots of folks probably won't agree to that. When an infant is taken away by death, it does seem that the little life, so short in time, was not put on earth for a purpose. But I believe he or she was.

There are so many things for all of us to do, too. That's one reason for my believing that all of us have a purpose in life. Perhaps it is necessary to have thieves and crooks and murderers. That statement, I'll agree, is hard to justify. But if we didn't have those kind of people, then a lot of other occupations would be just as hard to justify.

A few months back, one of these traveling sign painters was in McLean for a few weeks. Among other places, he visited our office, and I happened to be back in the room we call the casting room. That's the place where we re-melt the lead-type metal we use, and make the molds, or casts as we call them.

Anyway, this old boy, who really didn't look, act, or seem very intelligent, made a remark after watching the work I was doing. Said he never had seen anything just like that.

Then he went on to say, "There sure are a lot of things in this old world to do . . . but, you know, there sure are a lot of people to do them."

I've thought of that fellow's statement many a time since then. And I changed my mind concerning his intelligence right after he made it. For that was, though a simple statement, a rather mature remark he made. A remark so few of us have ever given thought to.

'Tis a shame, indeed, that the leaders of nations of the world have been unable to understand that sign painter's statement. Reckon he just figured that there truly is a place for everybody in the world, regardless of what they do, who they are, where they are.

I still like to think of McLean as the town where everybody is somebody. That little phrase takes in so much, and it means a lot.

Can't say that I've ever lived in a place where everybody is somebody any more than they are right here in McLean. This little town has a few snobbish people. We do have a few people who think they are more important than anyone else. But so few of them. We have a few who think they know more than anyone else, but so few of them, too. We've even got a few of the regular old soreheads, but so few of them, too.

Right here in McLean, I guess, is as good a place to find more than-the-average who feel sorta like I do—I'm not any better than anyone else, and no one else is any better than I.

Sorry to have bored you with these thoughts; that is, if you're still with me. But I've had them on my mind for some time now, and I've been wanting to get them down in a column. Finally did.

Mrs. Anna Bacon of Purcell, Okla., spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Claude Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman White of Pampa visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Boyd Sunday.

So the People May Know

If a city or county proposes to hold an election for the cancellation of unsold bonds, notice of the election must be published in a newspaper.

Price Daniel's book of Texas Publication Laws quotes the pertinent statute as follows:

"Any incorporated city or town in this state, including cities incorporated under the Home Rule provisions of the Constitution and Laws of Texas, which has heretofore or may hereafter vote in favor of or execute bonds which have been or may be more years after the same have been or may be executed, may revoke and cancel such bonds at an election called by the governing body of such city or town upon its own motion or upon petition of not less than ten per cent (10%) of the qualified property taxing voters voting in the last preceding city election, shall order an election to determine whether or not such bonds shall be revoked or cancelled. None but qualified taxing voters may vote at such an election. Such election shall be ordered and held on a date stated in such order not less than twenty (20) or more than thirty (30) days from the date of such order and notice thereof shall be given for fifteen (15) days before such election by publication of the notice thereof in some newspaper published in such city or town and such election shall be held and conducted in the same manner and form as required in elections to authorize the issuance of such bonds."

Considerable improvements in the facilities at the City Park have been made during the past few weeks by city workers. The swings have been reconstructed, and now are of much stronger construction than before. The city-owned merry-go-round is boasting a new coat of paint. The rest rooms, built last year, have been refinished, following considerable abuse from local youngsters.

"We are trying to make the park as useful as possible," Mayor E. J. Lander said, "and we want each of you to cooperate to the fullest. We have installed additional trash cans, and request that you use the cans for your trash when you complete your picnics in the park. We believe the rest rooms can be kept clean for your use, if you will aid us in doing so. It's your park, and we want everyone to get the fullest enjoyment from it."
