Ship Strike Stand Changed At Halifax

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Canadian longshoremen who had said they would not handle ships diverted to Halifax from strike-bound American ports worked at full strength today on all ships which sailed there direct.

For two days Halifax longshoremen, who had been handling ships diverted en route to New York, have been conducting a showdown in sympathy with striking American stevedores.

Pacific Coast Strike Appears Near Settlement

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Negotiators in the 77-day Pacific Coast shipping strike appeared headed down the home stretch toward settlement today.

A big stumbling block in the way of peace in the waterfront tie-up, idling 28,000 men—what to do about the hiring halls for the CIO longshoremen—was settled yesterday.

The hiring halls will stay under union control. The tentative agreement of the Waterfront Employers Assn. and the longshoremen's union provided for "modifying practices by mutual agreement if necessary as result of court or congressional action."

Examiner Gives Town A Boost

The West Coast is taking note of Big Spring as one of the major cities of the Southwest.

In its early Sunday issue for readers in Arizona, New Mexico and West Texas, the Los Angeles Examiner is presenting a front-page article devoted principally to rapid development of Big Spring and its vast trade territory.

Special attention is given to such items as agriculture, petroleum and other industries, and Big Spring's transportation and medical facilities are outlined in detail. Reference to Howard county agriculture includes information on both field crops and ranching, including a picture by Jack M. Haynes, Herald staff photographer, showing cotton harvest work.

Copies of the issue already have been received and placed on sale at Big Spring newsstands.

FOOD PRICES MAY FALL BUT—

Mrs. Housewife Can't Count On Drop In Cost Of Living

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Mrs. Housewife can count on a drop in food prices but she shouldn't expect the cost of living to go down.

A man who ought to know, Ewan Clague, commissioner of Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the food price fall will be balanced by increases in items in heavy demand.

Among these he listed rents, steel, automobiles and Marshall Plan exports.

Clague spoke yesterday at a conference arranged by the Industrial Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

"At present," he told 250 business executives, "our consumer prices have reached a peak and farm prices are, if anything, coming down."

"At the same time," Clague added, "there is a tremendous upward pressure starting in commodities where there still exists a heavy postwar demand."

Clague figured that "the general economic outlook appears very favorable," adding that industrial employment is at an all-time high with 46 million holding jobs, a gain of 3 million since the end of the war.

He warned, however, that shortages in the supply of skilled labor "will very likely occur on a greater scale than has been true since the war years, and many employers in some areas will find themselves badly pinched for labor."

Returning to the consumer demand for commodities, Clague predicted that "some readjustments" will be made "in industries where production has caught up with demand and where some consumer resistance to high prices is evident."

"These include such lines," he said, "as textiles, clothing, shoes, radios, furniture, and some electrical appliances. These readjustments, however, are not likely to be sharp or to affect the general economic outlook."

T&P Hospital Program To Be Set Up Here

Facilities Will Serve West Zone

Hospital facilities will be made available here immediately for Texas and Pacific Railway employes of the western division.

Announcement was made in Dallas Tuesday evening by the board of managers for the T&P Employes Hospital association of a working agreement with the Big Spring Hospital for complete hospital services to employes embraced under the association services.

Dr. M. H. Bennett said that the agreement would mean that all employes in need of hospital treatment and services would be given complete care, medical and surgical services.

Immediate effect of the agreement is to permit the 3,500 to 4,000 employes of this division, Fort Worth west through El Paso, to choose hospitalization in West Texas as they desire. Heretofore, it has been necessary to go to Marshall where the system's hospital is located.

Employ groups in this area, particularly the telegraphers, have been active in seeking an arrangement whereby it would not be necessary to travel such distances for treatment under the association's hospitalization plan.

A committee named by the board of managers made an investigation more than a month ago and submitted a recommendation for a six-month arrangement as the basis of determining a permanent working agreement. Tuesday afternoon L. C. Porter, vice-president of T&P and chairman of the association board of managers, announced acceptance of the agreement.

Treatment of special cases will be correlated through consultation of the Big Spring hospital physicians with Dr. Carl McCarty, T&P chief surgeon. Dr. Bennett said that where it was felt that services of specialists were required, proper arrangements would be made.

The special committee had considered the possibility of erecting a West Texas hospital but had decided that such would not be a feasible step, and that satisfactory service could be secured through use of existing private facilities.

De Gaulle Wary About Creating New German State

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Gen. Charles De Gaulle said today the Western Powers are creating a new Germany that might not be willing to oppose Russia.

Turning the Ruhr coal mines and steel mills back into the hands of the Germans, he added, is "the gravest decision made so far during the 20th Century."

De Gaulle told newsmen that not only the British and Americans, but the Russians as well, are trying to create a united Germany. "England and America flatter themselves they can make something of the Reich to oppose Russia," De Gaulle said, "perhaps they can. But perhaps they can't. 'Hitler didn't have any difficulty reaching an accord with Russia when he wanted to dominate Europe. . . To which side will the new Reich turn? The question is very disturbing."

Mitchell Youth To Get Highest Award Of FFA

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 17—The highest award offered by the Future Farmers' of America will be formally presented to Linden Solomon, Mitchell County, during the national FFA convention in Kansas City this week. Solomon and his vocational agriculture coach, R. E. Post, VA teacher in Colorado City high school, left Saturday for Kansas City where they will attend the convention. Solomon will be given the American Farmer degree.

Solomon has been studying vocational agriculture for the past five years. This year, having finished high school, he is doing full-time farming, one of the requisites for an American Farmer degree. He is cultivating 160 acres of land, owns and operates his own tractor. Last season he bought his own combine and did custom work. His favorite livestock project is raising sheep. Twice he has shown the Grand Champion lamb in county livestock shows, and once, the reserve champion.

Solomon, 20 years old, is the fourth Mitchell county FFA'er to win the American Farmer award. Others who have earned the honor in past years are the late Garland (Fife) Strain; Waddell Strain, and Jimmy Hammond.

U. S. May Reaffirm Nationalist Support

MANY SKEPTICAL

Chiang Reports Route At Suchow

NANKING, Nov. 17 (AP)—The government asserted today 90,000 casualties were inflicted on Reds routed east of Suchow, gateway to Nanking.

The official and pro-government reports buoyed the capital. But skeptics, mindful of other government claims at Tsinan, Chihhsien and Mukden just before they fell to the Reds, waited for more information.

These points, however, appeared true on the basis of information here:

1. The Chinese air force blunted Red attacks across the open country east of Suchow, 200 miles northwest of the capital.

2. Gen. Huang Po-Tao's Seventh Army group, which was isolated east of Suchow, lost more than half of its full strength of four armies. It survived repeated attacks and still is in the field. Its ability to take and give punishment heartened other government units.

3. The Executive Yuan ordered martial law extended to Tsingtao, site of the American Naval base in the Western Pacific. The action followed the application of martial law to Nanking, Shanghai and Suchow.

4. Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi's four national armies from Hankow approached the Pukow-Suchow railroad from the west after a forced March of 180 miles.

The effectiveness of Gen. Pai's troops in bolstering Suchow's defenses was undetermined since at least two Red columns paralleled them across the countryside.

Hankow reports said thousands of workers there were digging trenches outside the city as additional defenses to Communist raids.

Qualified observers here hold the opinion the Reds were regrouping for another assault instead of being on the run.

Most Chinese expressed doubt that the Suchow "victory" was as sweeping as pictured by the newspapers and government. But it appeared that Chiang Kai-Shek's troops at least held their own in the first phases of the great Suchow battle in which more than 1 million men assertedly were committed.

Move Might Boost Morale Of Chinese

Truman Has Chiang Plea For Action

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Diplomatic authorities speculated today that the American government soon may issue a pronouncement designed to boost the morale of China's anti-Communist forces.

President Truman and the State Department have before them a plea from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek for a policy declaration reaffirming support of Chiang's nationalist government.

Most informed officials considered it likely that any broad policy declaration would have to await the review of international affairs which Mr. Truman and Secretary of State Marshall will hold at the White House next Monday.

They are also expected to come to grips with the major issues of how far the United States can and should go in backing up its China policies with dollars, arms and civilian goods.

Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo told a reporter late yesterday that he had transmitted to the State Department Chiang's desire for an American policy statement.

What is wanted, Koo said, is an expression of "sympathy, solidarity and support" to help raise the morale of Nationalist China, which in recent weeks has suffered defeats at the hands of the Communists.

Koo said his government is at a loss to know what United States policy really is. Thus there was some tendency among officials here to regard Koo's comments as, implying a belief that the United States is not now following a policy friendly to the Nanking government.

Authorities concerned over this point declared that any such implication is unjustified, since the United States actually is spending $400 million for military and civilian aid to Nationalist China.

President Truman has issued two major statements on China policy during his administration—one in December 1946 and another a year later. In substance, he declared his support for the anti-Communist regime in China, although he was critical of certain shortcomings.

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Warren R. Austin, a U. S. delegate to the United Nations, will leave by plane tomorrow night for Washington to have a physical examination at Walter Reed Hospital, an American delegation source said today.

TO DEPART CABINET?

Forrestal To See Truman Thursday

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 17.—Announcement that Secretary of Defense Forrestal is flying down tomorrow to have lunch with President Truman stirred speculation today the time of his departure from the cabinet will be discussed.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said simply that Forrestal will be a guest of the Chief Executive at his southern "White House" on the Naval submarine base.

The defense secretary told a news conference in Paris that he does not expect to serve out another four years in the cabinet. He said he was leaving it up to Mr. Truman to decide when his resignation will become effective.

The President talked with Forrestal by long-distance telephone this morning, Ross said. During the course of the conversation, Forrestal expressed a desire to see the Chief Executive.

Whereupon, the President invited him to fly down from Washington to have lunch at his quarters in the commandant's house. Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) the prospective speaker of the House again when the Democrats organize it in January, is coming in tomorrow also. Ross said Rayburn would arrive in time for dinner.

Ross made it clear that Mr. Truman had not "summoned" Forrestal to Florida. There is the possibility the defense chief will fly back tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. Truman's delay in reorganizing his administration was attributed by close associates today to concern about picking replacements for those who are to go.

Those sources, unquotable by name, said the President is in no hurry to shake up his cabinet until he completes selection of a team to carry on during the next four years.

Chest Inches Forward Today

The Community Chest, in its clean-up stage, inched forward today with the total paid and pledged aggregating $32,207 a gain of $200 for the day.

Dr. R. E. G. Cowper, clean-up chairman, issued an urgent call for workers to complete their contacts and to report results to Chest headquarters as quickly as possible.

The drive now is about $4,700 shy of its goal, the combined budgets of the half dozen character building and welfare agencies drawing support from the Chest.

Failure to attain the goal will penalize the programs of such institutions as the Salvation Army, Boy and Girl Scouts, and the YMCA. Campaigns are underway in several institutions to complete canvasses of the employes. About three score cards on individuals are still outstanding.

More Americans Leaving China After Warning

SHANGHAI, Nov. 17 (AP)—Many Americans who had disregarded previous warnings to get out of China began trying to book air and sea passage today.

Northwest Airlines said 75 new applicants appeared at its office in the two hours after Consul General John Cabot issued his second emergency warning yesterday to Americans to get out while they could.

Other airlines and shipping companies reported big jumps in their bookings. Both air and sea lines are booked for weeks in advance.

Three loads of Americans in Peiping and Tientsin left for Tsingtao.

WHAT, NO FRIENDS!

'Countess' Finds Influence Ebbing

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev., Nov. 17 (AP)—A bejeweled, smartly dressed lady gambler known as "The Countess" had the long-distance phones humming today for funds to cover a check she wrote to spring her poker-playing partner from jail.

Dist. Atty. Robert Begry said the "Countess," Miss Henry C. A. Krasnodelsky of Philadelphia, could leave the historic poker game as soon as she could make good the $2,200 check which freed Burdette Beveridge, 39, of Vancouver, Wash.

Berry said she had made telephone calls to New York, Beverly Hills and Mexico City "but so far she hasn't raised a nickel."

The "Countess," who told authorities she comes from a wealthy family and is married to an art dealer, arrived with Beveridge early last week and started playing high-stakes poker in a main street bar.

She did most of the playing, and Beveridge wrote checks covering her losses. The game went on for three or four days.

Then, on the complaint of Len Haffey, who ran the game, Beveridge was jailed on a charge of writing fictitious checks.

The "Countess" offered to cover Beveridge's checks with one of her own. Haffey and the authorities agreed to this, and charges against Beveridge were dismissed. He left town.

But then Miss Krasnodelsky's $2,200 check also proved uncashable, Berry said. It was written on the Drexel & Biddle Bank of Philadelphia, and Berry said no such bank existed.

So the "Countess" took Beveridge's place in the ancient county jail.

West Wants Berlin Fight Left In U. N.

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—The United States, Britain and France told top U. N. officials formally today they want the Berlin dispute with Russia left in the hands of the security council as a threat to peace.

This was the western reply to the appeal of H. V. Evatt, the assembly president, and Trygve Lie, the U. N. secretary-general, who asked the four powers to compose their differences for the good of world peace.

The net result of the latest flurry of excitement in the United Nations was this: The East and West have once more stated their positions and each has once again declined to budge.

The Western Powers formalized their stand in replies to the appeal by H. V. Evatt, the assembly president, and Trygve Lie, the U. N. secretary-general, who asked the four powers to compose their differences for the good of world peace.

Russia already had replied. She insists, as before, that the Berlin question is part of the All-German question and must be discussed by the council of foreign ministers.

The stalemate was on again. The United States once again said it would not negotiate the issue of Berlin under the threat implicit in the Russian blockade.

Britain said the Russian veto of a Berlin solution offered by the so-called neutrals of the Security Council stood in the way of progress toward a settlement. That proposal had called for lifting of the blockade, to be followed immediately by a four-power conference.

The British also replied to the appeal of Evatt and Lie saying that the most hopeful approach to a Berlin solution would be to leave it to the Security Council.

Secretary of State Marshall whose reply was checked and cleared with President Truman, said the United States is ready to engage in talks with Russia as soon as the blockade is lifted. He said also the United States looks to the Security Council for further efforts to solve the issue.

Shick And Dodd Address Teachers

Nat Shick and E. C. Dodd were introduced as speakers at the first fall meeting of the Howard County Teachers' association, held at the Knott school Tuesday night.

Shick told the gathering of plans for the giant Christmas parade which will be held here. Dodd limited his talk to the Glimmer-Alken proposals for school improvement, which may be voted on in the next session of the legislature.

The Knott school house was decorated with a Thanksgiving Day theme. Pie and coffee were served to the 60 persons who attended.

The group made plans for a Christmas party to be held at Forasan but did not set the date.

Homer Barnes of Knott, president of the association, greeted the visitors on behalf of the school.

Geologist Backs 'Free Production' Of Natural Gas

DALLAS, Nov. 17. (AP)—An eminent geologist says that the tremendous proved reserves of natural gas and the record of exploration and exploitation justify their being "freely produced" under good conservation practices.

Everette L. DeGolyer took the stand in a prepared address to a corporate forum session of the National Security Traders Assn. Because DeGolyer is ill, his address was read by John H. Murrell, a senior partner in DeGolyer's firm.

Former Nazi Given A Light Sentence

PASSAU, Germany, Nov. 17. (AP)—Fritz Wiedemann was classified as a former Nazi follower today and was fined 2,000 deutschemarks (about $600). He served as Adolf Hitler's personal adjutant and later as his consul-general in San Francisco.

The German denazification court ranked Wiedemann in the lowest class of Nazis, although he was charged originally as a major offender.

After a three-day trial produced only two witnesses against Wiedemann and 15 for him, the prosecution asked that the charge be reduced to that of being a minor offender.

The court went even further in placing him in Class Four, which applies only to persons who were members of the Nazi Party without taking an active part in it. Major offenders are placed in Class One and minor offenders in Class Three.

Wiedemann appeared pleased with the verdict. Spectators crowded around him to offer their congratulations.

Court President Ludwig Salisco said the evidence showed Wiedemann actually was an opponent of Nazism despite the fact that he held high offices under Hitler.

"He was a good spirit in the underground of the Reichschancellery," Salisco said. "The evidence has shown that in San Francisco, Wiedemann committed high treason against the Nazi regime in order to save Germany from complete ruin."

Wiedemann left San Francisco in 1941 before the United States entered the war against Germany. Written statements introduced during the trial said that while he was in the California city, Wiedemann showed no Nazi tendencies and expressed only good will toward the United States.

From San Francisco he went to China as a German consul. In China, Salisco said the evidence showed, Wiedemann's "anti-Nazi activity reached its highest peak."

He returned to Germany after the war.

AAA Recommends Manufacturers Hold Dealers In Line

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 17. (AP)—The American Automobile Assn. has asked car manufacturers "to discipline dealers found guilty of gray market practices."

This could be done, the association said in a resolution adopted at its 46th annual convention yesterday, by "revocation of franchise or otherwise."

Inflated Gold Is Returned To Mexico

LAREDO, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—Mexican gold coins with an inflated value on the black market crossed the border into Mexico yesterday. But both United States and Mexican customs officials watched carefully as the 350 Mexican 50-peso pieces were taken over the international bridge. The story of the gold pieces goes back to last year and involves a man's jacket made especially to carry the precious metal, and a plane bound from Mexico to Havana, Cuba—but forced by a storm to land in Miami, Florida. The 350 gold pieces are worth $75 each on the black market in Havana.

When the plane as forced to land at Miami, U. S. customs officials seized the gold coin. The owner of the gold—not identified—had not declared it for customs.

Eventually U. S. customs released the gold on condition the coins be sent to Mexico under customs exportation.

The man who intended to fly the gold to Cuba last year won't get his hands on it immediately. Mexican officials have taken possession of the gold, which cannot be exported from Mexico without a special permit. The owner has obtained a court order restraining authorities from molesting or seizing the gold but he hasn't won his own right to it.

'Runaway Pappy' Bill Is Drafted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (U.P.)—The new Congress is going to get a "runaway pappy" bill from one of its new members.

As Rep.-elect Andrew Jacobs (D-Ind) describes it, the legislation will be aimed at fathers who defy court orders in divorce cases by refusing to contribute to the support of their children after moving to another state.

Jacobs, a lawyer, told a reporter that in lots of divorce cases "the pappy goes off to another state with the other angle of the triangle" and ignores the court's support order. Such a father can be held in contempt of the court in which the divorce was granted but he cannot be forcibly returned from another state, Jacobs said.

His bill would give the federal courts power to enforce such state court orders.

Texarkana Beauty Operator Shot, Husband Charged

TEXARKANA, Nov. 17. (AP) — Mrs. Reba Davis Bratton, 47-year-old Texarkana beauty shop operator, was fatally shot in her shop yesterday.

A murder charge was filed against her husband, J. B. Bratton, a former Arkansas state highway employe. Police quoted Bratton as saying "she was a good woman until she married me."

Mrs. Bratton ran from her shop screaming "he's killing me," collapsed on the sidewalk, and died of two bullet wounds en route to a hospital.

Police arrested Bratton a few moments later in an alley a short distance away. He turned over a gun from which five bullets had been fired.

DELIGHTFUL HISTORY—The scene above is one of the many illustrations from A. W. Neville's newest book "The Red River Valley—Then and Now."

Dignitaries Gather, Honor Texas Author

Today in Paris, Texas an imposing list of state and sectional provincial dignitaries assemble to pay tribute to a spare and modest Southern gentleman on the occasion of his 84th birthday.

But it will be more than an anniversary observance for Judge A. W. Neville, whose day-by-day recollections of the early days of the Red River valley have been assembled and woven into an unusually delightful book.

"The Red River Valley — Then and Now" (designed and produced by Carl Hertzog, El Paso—$6) is the cream of the romantic and historical tales which Judge Neville has written over the years in his

"Backward Glances" daily column in the Paris News. It is graced by Jose Cisneros sketches, far exceeding the average in quality and effectiveness.

Stories of fabled characters such as Col. Robert M. Jones, the wealthy Choctaw Indian figure; Belle Starr and her outlaw husband, Jim Reed; Sam B. Maxey, Confederate general and U. S. Senator; doings of the "Judge Lynch's court" and many, many other stories adorn the pages of the book.

Although Judge Neville disclaims it as history on the grounds that history must be documented, the book is history to the extent there is nothing like it about the fertile valley that touched Indian territory on its northwestern extremity and rolled eastward toward the Gulf and to points where steamboats carried commerce far inland. "Red River Valley" has a thoroughness about it that will put many histories to shame.

Yet the pleasant, flavorful and objective style of Judge Neville makes it engrossing. A Virginian and a gentleman of the old school, Judge Neville imparts a color and romance and adventure to his copy in keeping with his twinkling appearance and soft bow tie.

Locale is circumscribed, but the book rises above provincialism. Anyone anywhere will enjoy reading of the battles with the Indians, of the outlaws who spilled over from the Missouri badlands in search of cattle for the branding, of pioneers such as David Crockett who came in search of fertile and unfettered lands, of prominent early day figures who helped lay the foundations of Texas.

Many will be surprised at the list of names, prominent in state and national affairs, which have had their roots in the Red River Valley... names like John Nance Garner, Admiral Richardson, W. J. McDonald (for whom McDonald observatory is named).

Virtually 80 years have gone into the making of the book, including 46 years in which Judge Neville has served as editor of the Paris News and has engaged in his meticulous hobby of research into early history, or land marks and of phenomenon such as the "great raft," a collection of debris that literally blocked the Red River.

Bismarck Kin Gets U. S. Clemency

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 17. (AP) — Heinrich von Eisdiedel, great grandson of Germany's Iron Chancellor Bismarck, was freed today by a U. S. military government court.

Guerrillas Infiltrate In Southern Korea

SEOUL, Nov. 17. (AP) — The deputy home minister quoted a captured guerrilla today as saying he and 40 companions were Chinese Red army veterans who entered South Korea via Russian Occupied North Korea.

Deputy Home Minister H. C. Whong said the guerrilla told him 1,000 more were waiting to cross the border from the Soviet zone into American Occupied South Korea. He did not say what they were waiting for, and Whong did not speculate.

The guerrilla was captured in Kangwon Province, northeast of Seoul.

Roving bands of guerrillas have been reported in the general area northeast of Seoul for a week.

Grange Faces Fight On Price Program

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 17. (AP) — The National Grange convention faced a convention floor fight today on the issues of whether future federal farm-aid programs should be built around crop controls and cash subsidies.

Its agriculture committee opposes subsidies. It favors controls only as a "last resort" to meet problems of farm surpluses and depressed prices.

Instead, it would count heavily on a high level of city employment and prosperity to maintain a favorable market for farmers. It would keep government price supports for crops, but would cut them to low support levels of present programs.

Several delegates prepared to blast the committee views when the matter comes before the full convention, possibly tomorrow. Opposition is expected to be led by J. S. Fichter, master of the Ohio State Grange. He has been mentioned as a possible successor to Albert S. Goss as national master of the Grange when the latter retires. Goss' present term has another year to run.

An expression of the Grange hope that rural prosperity can be kept without resort to new government controls was contained in a telegraphic request by Goss to President Truman that he summon top-ranking leaders of industry, labor and agriculture to work out an anti-depression program.

In making this appeal, the Grange leader said an economy of full output by both industry and agriculture is necessary to save the free enterprise system.

Police Searching For Two Who Robbed Man In His Home

GREENVILLE, O., Nov. 17. (AP) — Police were on the lookout today for a man and woman who robbed Robert Cooper in his home and yanked a four-tooth bridge from his mouth.

The couple forced their way into Cooper's home yesterday at gunpoint, bound Cooper with tape and made Mrs. Cooper open a small safe.

Mrs. Cooper said the robbers became angry when they found a small amount of money in the safe. They took a diamond ring valued at $2,000 and a fur coat.

Then they used pliers to pull Cooper's bridge in an attempt to force him to say where more money was hidden. Cooper said there was no more money in the house.

Consumers Demand More In Cars, So They Will Pay More

At the moment a congressional subcommittee is turning the heat on the automotive industry for a price situation. It begins to appear that nothing is apt to reduce the upward price spiral in 1949 and possibly 1950.

That is nothing short of buyer resistance. That's the way manufacturers look at it. Production costs have been going up, and ordinarily it is passed off as being directly attributable to increased wages. This has figured prominently, but it is no longer the dominating factor in the outlook for next year and the next.

It is simply that makers are redesigning their cars to incorporate features that they believe the public demands to the extent of being willing to pay more for those features. This means retooling, and changing the tool set-up means millions of dollars. Henry Ford II claimed it cost his company $100 million to make the shift to its drastically new models. Hudson figured its shift to new styling and design at $16 million. Packard pegged its retooling outlay at $10 million—and so the picture goes.

Somebody has to pay for this, and, as usual, it is the humble consumer. Manufacturers are wary of buyer resistance, the only thing that will bring down prices it seems. They certainly do not fear any intrusion by a low cost, smaller car. Nobody is going to gamble on it. They feel that even if the buyer resistance does set in, they are set to produce a newer and more modern product, and hence a more competitive product. Thus the same fear that would dictate prudence in changing also dictates change to be able to stay in the thick of the fight.

Why Should We Be Modest About Our Autumn Climate?

"Why doesn't someone sell this autumn climate?"

That's the question a businessman asked the other morning, walking up the street in the crisp, bright day. Indeed it was a lovely morning, but not particularly different from many, many others which come along in the autumn and even the winter.

Check the thermometer this month and you'll find that it has been bobbing in the mid-seventies on maximums and in the mid-forties on the minimums with even the cold snaps no more rigorous than 50-55 on the max and min sides.

There's something about the atmosphere that quickens the spirit and puts a little spring in the step. It gives a sense of well being and comfort.

Of course climate is not news to us. Most of us accept it without knowing why. Really it is one of the factors in the country which, along with friendly people, makes so many who move away want to return.

Perhaps we unconsciously do plug this advantage as we should because of the fact that a blue norther or a duster might breeze in at the height of our promotion. We shouldn't let it deter us for even California has been forced to re-classify rain as "dew" to meet the requirements of its pleasant boasts. With a Texans' proclivity for bigger and better things, we ought not to be overly modest in telling the world about our excellent climate.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A LETTER TO THE Prince of Edinburgh:

As one human being to another, welcome to the world. I wish you a long and happy life.

I wouldn't know what a prince—maybe some day a king—needs to make him happy.

In one case it might be love, as it was with your uncle, Edward VIII, who gave up being a king to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Another man might be happy just being mild and quiet and raising a family in a warm house, like your grandfather, the present king, George VI.

Maybe you'll be king of England some day. But you may have to live a long time before you make it.

And, without wanting to be gloomy, I think you'll need an awful lot of luck to make it at all.

I'll tell you why I say those things. YOUR MOTHER IS A VERY YOUNG woman and her father, the king, your grandfather, is still a man in early middle age.

He has to live out his life before she can become queen. And she has to live out her life before you can become king.

All in all, that takes time. As for the luck you'll need—

Right now, while you're still a baby, kings and queens are getting as much out of date as high-buttoned shoes. Only a few are left.

Sometimes I see the pictures of ex-kings and ex-queens in the papers. They look as if they couldn't believe what has happened to them.

The shouldn't have much trouble understanding it. They had thought the world was a fairy tale made for them, and they were living in it.

The world has grown up, and they didn't, and the world closed the book on them and threw the book away. The world is very real now.

The English people are nice to their kings now, but that's because they are not afraid of them any more. Once they were.

IN FACT, NOT BEING AFRAID OF their kings now, the English people have grown fond of them.

They like your grandfather, the present king, so much that they pay him $1,640,000 a year just to have him around to do a few things.

(President Truman gets only $7,000 and Prime Minister Attlee, who does the important work in England, gets only $40,000.)

Your grandfather doesn't have much to do. Sign a few papers, make a few speeches his ministers prepare for him, have his picture taken looking tweedy, and just stay around so that in time of trouble the English people can rally around him like they'd rally around a flag.

So if you finally make it as king, you ought to have a quiet life, with good pay and only an occasional job to do.

That is, if you make it—

Today 'Mister' Is Best Title Possible To Inherit

NEW YORK, (AP)—HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS in diapers, the prince of Edinburgh, was born into a dying industry.

It is the business of being a king and for the two-day-old heir-presumptive to the British throne—he's next in line after his mama—it doesn't look like business will be too good.

The kid will probably grow up to wish secretly that he could drop that "Prince of Edinburgh" monicker and list himself in the London phone book as "P. E. Dinburgh, public relations consultant."

For—either the prince or king—about the only real job he will have is to act as salesman, major domo, and press agent for the British Empire. He will be only a symbol. And symbols don't have as much fun as people.

Suppose after he is on the hot seat—the throne—he wants to throw a cocktail party for his social equals. Who'll be invited? Today there are barely enough kinds to make three decks of cards—not counting the jokers thrown out of their palaces in recent years.

OF THE 64 COUNTRIES LISTED IN the 1947 DeBrett's Peerage only 13 are ruled by kings, two by emperors, one by a shah. But 40 are headed by presidents.

And presidents now pack more muscle than kings. One of the infant Prince of Edinburgh's distant relatives was a famous President—George Washington: But the little prince can't aspire to that office. He was born in the wrong place for it.

He isn't exactly a barefoot boy with a crown. He'll inherit enough money to keep him in lollipops forever.

But what a life he has to look forward to! He can't sneak off to the old swimmin' hole with the boys from the other side of the railroad track. He can't chalk naughty words on fences, because palaces don't have fences. They gave him a 41-gun salute at birth, but they won't ever let him play with firecrackers. Certainly not on the 4th of July anyway.

But if he does break the palace's house rules, he shouldn't have to worry about his mother spanking him. Princess Elizabeth is president of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

LATER AS KING HIS CHIEF DUTY each morning will be to call up the prime minister and say:

"Whom do I greet today, boss, and what uniform do I wear? Or have you written something you want me to read to parliament?"

And the best answer he can hope for is: "Nothing on the docket, kingie. Why don't you take the day off, and catch up on your stamp collection?"

So it's hard to know whether to send the bonny new Prince of Edinburgh congratulations or condolences. Poor little Mr. P. E. Dinburgh.

For today, "mister" is the best title on earth. It gives a man a chance to make a name and a fame for himself such as no king can enjoy. Ask Mister Churchill—see above a king.

Maine's Republican Leaders Fear Influence Of Margaret Chase Smith

(Copyright 1948 by Bell Syndicate)

WASHINGTON.—Maine's senator-elect, Margaret Chase Smith, is a most attractive lady, though not given to flirtation. However, leaders of the Maine Republican machine have been flirting like mad with the first woman elected on her own to the U. S. Senate.

What they want is to get her out of the Senate. Apparently, old guardsmen Owen Brewster doesn't relish the companionship of an alert and progressive lady colleague in the Senate.

Maine GOP leaders made their first pass before the election. After first clearing it with Albany, they offered Sen. Smith a seat in Dewey's cabinet. The deal was that she would be replaced in the Senate by her machine-backed opponent, who lost out in the primaries—Gov. Horace Hildreth.

Mrs. Smith's reply: She was flattered, but the people of Maine elected her to the Senate—not the cabinet.

The old guard next sounded her out on another deal. If she would boost Hildreth for a federal appointment, they promised to arrange with Sen. Wallace White—who is retiring anyway—to retire before January. Then Hildreth would appoint Mrs. Smith to the vacancy, thus giving her seniority over the newly elected senators for committee assignments.

But Maine's new woman senator would make no deals of any kind—either before she entered the Senate or later.

KKK COMPLAINS

Grand Dragon Green of the Ku Klux Klan is still worried about leaks from inside his organization.

Speaking at Klavern No. 1, Atlanta, Ga., the week after elections, the grand dragon wrung his hands and once again cautioned klansmen to be careful about leaks.

"I have to talk frankly in these meetings," he said, "but I might as well call Drew Pearson before I come to the meeting and give him the information. For next day he gives it out to everybody. He'll inherit enough money to keep him in lollipops forever."

But what a life he has to look forward to! He can't sneak off to the old swimmin' hole with the boys from the other side of the railroad track. He can't chalk naughty words on fences, because palaces don't have fences. They gave him a 41-gun salute at birth, but they won't ever let him play with firecrackers. Certainly not on the 4th of July anyway.

But if he does break the palace's house rules, he shouldn't have to worry about his mother spanking him. Princess Elizabeth is president of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

history, he said, and he expected 10,000 klansmen to be there—in their robes.

"We are going to initiate people from all over the country like we did at Stone Mountain," he reported.

Grand Dragon Green produced a letter from a colored woman asking the klan to help run another colored woman out of town. This drew a big laugh. Dr. Green said that of course they weren't going to do anything about that.

He added that the Kavalier Klubb—the klan's whipping and flogging department—was now on the job and had plenty of friends on the Atlanta police force.

ARROGANT STEEL TYCOONS

With everyone crying for steel, the tycoons of that industry have grown so arrogant they now treat Uncle Sam like a nagging customer.

As long as Congress threatened mandatory controls over steel, the steel magnates put on their best Sunday-school manners. They made patriotic promises to keep the government supplied with its basic steel needs, but pleaded, almost on their hands and knees, to keep it on a voluntary basis. As a result, Congress passed a law giving the steel industry voluntary allocations. To implement this, the leading producers formed an advisory committee under the Commerce Department to pass on allocations for the industry.

Once free of the threat of enforced controls, however, the steel executives got off their knees, climbed on their high horse, and rode roughshod over government officials.

For example, when acting secretary of the Interior Girard Davidson pleaded with the industry for more steel for oil barges, storage tanks, and pipelines, the steel tycoons laughed in his face.

They even vetoed extra steel for a vitally needed pipeline to the atomic energy plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Steel tycoons were so rude in turning Davidson down that one top executive felt pricked to apologize.

"It is my feeling," he wrote to Davidson afterward, "that, regardless of the steel industry's attitude toward the requirements of the petroleum industry, you were not afforded proper courteous consideration in the last meeting, and as a member of that committee, I offer my personal apologies."

Fifty other steel men were also present, but no one else apologized. In fact, they didn't even bother to answer a follow-up letter from Davidson, repeating in writing his request for more steel—sorely needed in order to assure American homes heat for the winter.

Commerce Department officials, too, have complained against the steel industry's pompous attitude, but the most outraged official is none other than Nebraska's Sen. Kenneth Wherry, GOP Senate whip.

WHERRY GETS RELIGION

No one else fought more bitterly against government controls than Wherry. But after a few brushes with the steel industry, he is ready to change his tune.

The outspoken Nebraskan has been pleading for increased production and more steel for small business, but all he has got out of the steel industry has been a discourteous brush-off. Once, after talking up his case over the phone with a top steel executive, Wherry got so hot under the collar that he banged down the receiver.

As for the king, that already is symbolic. Of course the king has much influence by virtue of his position and wide knowledge of the empire, but he is subject to the will of his people. We had plenty of evidence of that in Edward VIII's abdication as the result of his battle with the cabinet over his desire to make Mrs. Simpson queen.

And finally, if and when the Prince of Edinburgh is called to the throne he probably will be symbolic head of quite a different British commonwealth of nations. The commonwealth thus far has been basically Anglo-Saxon but already is being modified to include other races which now make up the various parts of the empire or, like India, have until recently been a part of the empire.

And who can say but that this British commonwealth—long before the prince comes to the throne—may be integrated with other democratic blocs of nations which may approach the ideal of one world?

We think perhaps that's what the grown-up Prince of Edinburgh may see. Let's live the prince!

Ethel Barrymore Says Movies In Good Shape

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—None other than Ethel Barrymore speaks out against those who claim the movie business is not in good shape.

"The picture industry is as good, as ever," she says, pooh-poohing the pessimists. "They are always mumbling about something."

Interviewing a Barrymore is a hazardous chore at best, but I gave it a whirl and tossed some questions at her on the "Great Sinner" set.

"What about the theater?"

"The theater is not dead. They have been saying it was dead for four or five thousand years. It's just propaganda."

"Is money for plays harder to get?"

"Let's say money is harder to get for anything, I hear they've even had trouble getting it for pictures."

"What has happened to the great personalities of the theater?"

"They're still there. Always have been. There are just as many exciting personalities in the theater as ever."

"Is the road dead?"

"I've never found it dead."

"What about television?"

"Millions of dollars say it will be great. I don't like it now, except for the games. When I can't get out to the football games, I like to catch them on my set."

'Old Dynamite' And The Day Of Burro-Riding Are Recalled

Old Dynamite was quite a character. He was so tough that he gained his living largely by foraging around the dump ground, occasionally wandering into town long enough to shatter illusions any of the local boys had about their ability as burro riders.

He was, of course, but one of many interesting creatures who were so much a part of the average boy's life here 25 years ago. Each had his distinguishing mannerisms, appearance and temperament, but none stands out more vividly than Old Dynamite.

A shaggy brute, somewhat larger than the average donkey that ran at will over the township then, Old Dynamite looked as placid as a pond at autumn tide. His head hung heavily from his weary neck, and tangled gray hair over his eyes created the impression he was half asleep. His hind quarters seemed to pull in a bit and his broomtail swung like a worn out pendulum.

Thus his general demeanor, plus that coat of long hair which made an excellent hold, absolutely deluded those who took pride in their mastery of the burro's movements. Truth of the matter, there was never a more wicked buckler in all the world than Old Dynamite. He short of shrugged in gentle admonition to get off his back once someone decided he was docile and ready to furnish transportation.

He might repeat this gesture two or three times, and indeed, if he were in a charitable mood, he would even permit himself to be ridden for a time. But when he began to duck his head, shaking it and blowing scornful breaths from his nostrils it was time to depart.

In his tender manner, he jumped and humped in one majestic movement. Descending with the force of a ton of lead, he landed on unhinged legs. The maneuver was repeated with a twisting variation, plus some special midsection contortions. For good measure he threw in some see-saw action. Dynamite snorted, grunted and groaned as though old Nick himself had hold his tail.

Presently, his burden relieved, he resumed his placid pose while his late rider picked himself up from the dust. That's where they all landed. Red Coats was about as sharp a rider as existed in our end of town, and Dynamite snapped Red's arm for him. Ted Price, who fancied himself rather expert, would no more have climbed aboard Dynamite than he would a wild mustang. Even the Pritchard boys, who were the best wranglers in the central part of the village, wouldn't touch that character with a 16-foot pole.

There were others, though not as explosive, equally individualistic. In those days, it was unwritten law that a burro belonged to you if you penned and fed it for three days. When you grew weary, you might trade it for another, or just turn it out to look for a new master. One to three dollars would buy a donkey if you didn't want to wait for one to wander around.

There was lots of fun in deviling these sleep souls, in teaching them to buck by falling off when they kicked up, in beating them properly until they showed inclination to step lively. They were excellent for mountain climbing, and passably fair for unhurried transport. No matter how well you had them trained (or how much Spanish mule blood you claimed for them), there was only one moment at which you might be sure they would hit a lops when bidden. That was when they came in sight of home and the feed lot. Those burros weren't so dumb.—JOE PICKLE

Britain's Monarch-To-Be May Rule Over Changed Land

AP NEWSFEATURE

THE WAY THIS WORRIED, GRUMPY old world of ours has been thrilling and chuckling over the birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby, I guess we don't need to worry about humanness being dead.

News bulletins literally circled the globe to record the event, beginning with the announcement that the handsome young princess, heiress presumptive to the throne, was in labor with her first child. From then on the story was unfolded step by step until it became known that it was a boy—the Prince of Edinburgh—who one day likely will head the empire. Newspapers in many lands splashed the story on front pages.

England herself is in a state of delirious joy. Monday the bells of ancient St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey pealed out their rejoicing, and the bells of other churches throughout the land joined. Big displays—planned for weeks by cities, towns and hamlets—got under way. It is one of the greatest celebrations of its kind Britain has known.

AND WHAT IS THE SIGNIFICANCE OF all this? Well several points strike me as worth comment. First off, although the Bolshevik upheaval has seen the disappearance of several more monarchies, we find English royalty apparently at the peak of popularity—and this despite the fact that the country has a Socialist government.

The royal family is in Buckingham Palace because the people want it there. The king is maintained on this throne by the populace, without whose vote he must lay aside his crown. In short, Britain likes the traditions and pomp and splendor which go with kingship and there is no sign that she contemplates making any change.

However, England is changing and one suspects that it will be quite a different country over which the Prince of Edinburgh will rule if he comes to the throne many years hence. Trying to look ahead I should say that he may well preside over a middle-of-the-road Democracy in which the class inequalities have been eliminated. The nation's economy will be tamed out so that everybody will get a fair break. That's the direction in which the country seems to be traveling now.

THE NOBILITY WILL BE STREAMLINED. Long before then the House of Lords will have been reformed, and likely will be composed of elected representatives instead of hereditary lords as at present. As a matter of fact, while nobility probably won't be abolished it will be awarded for merit solely and will not be passed on from father to son. That is, titles will be purely honorary and without special prerogatives.

As for the kingship, that already is symbolic. Of course the king has much influence by virtue of his position and wide knowledge of the empire, but he is subject to the will of his people. We had plenty of evidence of that in Edward VIII's abdication as the result of his battle with the cabinet over his desire to make Mrs. Simpson queen.

And finally, if and when the Prince of Edinburgh is called to the throne he probably will be symbolic head of quite a different British commonwealth of nations. And who can say but that this British commonwealth—long before the prince comes to the throne—may be integrated with other democratic blocs of nations which may approach the ideal of one world?

William Saroyan Can't Be Reconciled To Home Town

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK—Bill Saroyan, the infant terrible of the drama, is back in New York after having a try at living in Fresno, his home town. Bill and I and our wives were on the way to a first night the other evening when we got on the subject of home towns. Bill's affection for Fresno is paralleled almost completely by my own big municipal crush on my home burg, Buffalo.

I'm constantly being heckled by most of my friends on this frequent yen to see the home town, old friends, and even have a gander at the Lake Erie waterfront neighborhood where I grew up. The eminent drama critic, George Jean Nathan, thinks nothing of taking a pleasant spot shot at my home town crush. Eleanor Holm Rose, a buddy of my wife's, gives me the amiable shivvy in the ribs as frequently as not. Jack Pearl nudges me on the subject whenever he sees me, peedling two burrs with one tone of derision, thereby having a dig at his wife, Winnie, who bails from my part of the geography.

They give it to me in spades whenever I note excitement about such former Buffalonians as Katherine Cornell, George Abbott, Monty Woolley, Franchot Tone or Stutz Smith the jazz fiddler. And I'm afraid the Bill, Saroyans have given my wife ample ammunition for the moments when I start on the subject of My Home Town.

Bill decided some while back, after having grabbed the big ring on the merry-go-rounds of Broadway and Hollywood, to move back to Fresno and revel in the delights of his favorite community. His wife didn't like the idea when he suggested it, liked it even less when they bought a house and settled there.

But Bill reckoned without New York. Fresno was fine, but New York is the center of theatrical culture and the theater is Bill's job. Sure, technically, he could remain aloof and write his undying prose from the faraway reaches of Fresno. But going home didn't quite work out, and with the blessings and joyous whoops of Carol, they sold the house at a loss, packed the youngsters and furniture and hustled back to Manhattan.

This, then, is the clincher among my wife's arguments: I am in the same nostalgic boat, she says, as Bill was. I subconsciously hope, says my little psychiatrist, to regain the fun of my salad days, when I chased fire engines and a girl or two, police calls, quite a few murder yarns, heckled the mayor, crusaded against this or that. Certain as I am that I'll stay in this wonderful big town all my life, I'm still sure I'll keep that great big schoolboy crush on Buffalo. My wife may prove that I can't go back, but I'll sneak back in my imagination. Walter Mitty, I must admit, is a plodding and unimaginative piker alongside some of my day-dreams.

Democrats Take Over Roman Type

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The new Congress already is typed. It'll be Roman for Democrats and Italics for Republicans.

That isn't as confusing as it sounds. In the congressional directory it is customary, in listing senators and representatives, to print names of the controlling or majority party in Roman type, and those of the minority party in Italics.

For the past two years, for instance, Republicans have been printed in Roman type, Democrats in Italics.

There's no type change for Rep. Marcanjolo of New York. As the lone American Labor representative, he'll continue to be listed in small capital letters.

Auto Industry Told To Clean House Or Face New Controls

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The congressional committee probing auto sales profits today gave the motor industry the choice of "cleaning its own house" or facing possible federal controls.

At the same time, the committee turned over to the Justice Department and the Internal Revenue Bureau the official record of two days of hearings marked by testimony about "tips" to salesmen for quick car deliveries.

Chairman Macy (R-NY), head of the special House group which ended its hearings yesterday, said that disclosures so far cover "only a few of the methods" some dealers have used "to obtain exorbitant profits."

Macy indicated to newsmen that before the committee decides whether to resume its inquiry on a nationwide basis—it has been confined to Washington to date—Members will wait to see what the auto industry intends to do about "the greed and avarice of a few dealers."

Macy said it will be up to the Justice Department to determine whether there have been any law violations in selling cars with side money agreements or in requiring purchasers to take unwanted accessories.

And the Internal Revenue Bureau, the lawmaker added, can decide whether taxes have been paid on the tips and bonuses received but, according to committee evidence, not recorded on sales slips.

Macy and Rep. Larcade (D-La.) who conducted the hearings, predicted there will be large recoveries in income taxes.

Macy said the committee believes that dealers are entitled to "a fair profit" but contends that "the profits made by some dealers go far beyond this point and the methods through which this profit is obtained go beyond what can be termed ethical business practices."

"It would be deplorable," he said in a statement, "if the greed and avarice of a few dealers and the lack of effective program on the part of the manufacturers should catapult an entire basic industry of the country into thorough disrepute and even the possibility of controls."

Emphasizing that they do not condone the practices disclosed, spokesmen for parts of the automobile industry told the committee that auto sales generally have been conducted on a fair basis.

Damages Given For Plant Smell

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 17. (AP)—Eleven home owners here have won $31,916 damages on grounds a local soap plant gives off a bad smell.

The wives got more damages than their husbands—because they spend more time at home and therefore are presumed to suffer more.

The 30th District Court jury last night made its report to Judge H. W. Fillmore.

Personal damages totaled $15,500. Property damages totaled $16,416. In making the award for personal discomfort, the jury gave each male plaintiff $500 and his wife $1,000.

The home owners have a federal district court suit pending in which they ask for an injunction against further operation of the plant.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Cover Crops Are Up To Good Stand

W. D. Miller has a crop of Dixie wonder peas that is making good growth this fall on his farm in the Richland soil conservation group. Miller, who is cooperating with the Martin-Howard soil conservation district, planted the peas in the two skip rows on 80 acres of his cotton land for a cover and soil building crop. He plans to turn the crop back to the land in the spring to improve the soil by adding nitrogen and organic matter.

Willis Winters, district cooperator in the Vincent conservation group, planted 10 acres of Abruzzi rye and hairy vetch and 40 acres of Abruzzi rye cover crops this fall on his farm at Vincent. Winters reports the crop is up to a good stand and making good growth. Also reported this week was a cover crop of 40 acres of Abruzzi rye on the farm of Mrs. Sudie Rutledge which is farmed by Willis Winters, Jr.

Edmund Tom, supervisor in Zone I, attended the meeting of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors held at Brownwood, Texas, November 9 and 10.

A. J. Pirkle left a good feed stubble this year on about 100 acres of his sandy land.

Billy Hamrick is turning back 108 acres of feed stubble three to four feet high on the R. N. Adams farm southeast of Ackerly. Crop residue management is only part of the coordinated soil and water conservation program followed by Pirkle and Hamrick on their farms in cooperation with the district.

Jack Griffin, with the Soil Conservation Service at San Angelo, is collecting information this week to be used in assisting district co-operators in their conservation programs on irrigated land.

Charlie Creighton has recently completed a 4,000 cubic yard stock tank on his ranch west of Big Spring in the Hartwell Ranch soil conservation group. Creighton, who is a district cooperator, constructed the tank to impound water from adjoining areas. This will be accomplished by means of diversions which have also been constructed.

Odessa Paper To Help Widow

ODESSA, Nov. 17. (AP)—The Odessa American is going ahead with its plan to help a widow repay the money she is convicted of embezzling from a bank.

Yesterday U. S. District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, in placing Mrs. Emma Louise Wilson on probation for a year, said money should not be raised by public subscription to help her.

"If I were convicted of murder or treason," the judge said, "my brother or another person could not step forward and offer his neck for the gallows."

In a statement last night, Publisher V. L. DeBolt of the Odessa American said his principal purpose was to help the four daughters of the 35-year-old widow.

The newspapers, leading a subscription campaign to repay the $2,181 involved, gave 48 hours notice to those who would like to retrieve their donations. "Then the remaining money will be turned over to Mrs. Wilson for the children," DeBolt said.

Efforts Failing To Control Well

MARSHALL, Nov. 17. (AP)—Efforts to control a wild gas-distillate well in Panola County have all blown up under 3,000 pounds of pressure oil men estimated came from the well.

Heavy mud and cement pumped into the well have been blown out as fast as they were pumped in.

Clearing skies yesterday relieved the danger from gas settling in low places. Rainy and foggy weather had brought fears on that score.

However, roads near the well remained locked and patrolled and hunters were warned not to discharge firearms in the vicinity because of the distillate-saturated area immediately around the well.

Coahomans End Season With Robert Lee Friday

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Here's the line-up of Coach Herschel (Mule) Stockton will build his 1949 Big Spring high school football squad, listed with the number of years of eligibility they have left:

Billy Cunningham, guard, one; Lee Axtens, tackle, one; Aubre Armstead, end, two; Howard Washburn, back, one; Laswell, tackle, two; Paul Fortenberry, tackle, one; Ross Word, end, two; Robert Cobb, back, two; Billy Tubb, back, two; Ken Phillips, tackle, two; Bobby Stewart, back, three; Bob Kuykendall, end, three; Tommy Porter, tackle, two; Jack Little, tackle, two; Ken Williams, back, two; Bobby Wheeler, back, two; Buddy Blankenship, center, two; William Bardwell, tackle, one; Justin Holmes, tackle, two; James Fryer, guard, one; and Carol Cannon, back, one.

Cunningham, Axtens and Armstead are all regulars this season. Laswell was, until an injury forced him out for the season. So was Fortenberry. Cannon would have been, no doubt, had he been eligible. Cobb should be one of the brightest backs in these parts before he graduates.

HAWKS TO MAKE MAJOR BID FOR CONFERENCE TITLE

Howard County Junior college's Jayhawks are in a fair way to sack up basketball honors in the Western Zone JayCee conference, if Wayland and Plainview is not permitted to compete for the crown.

Wayland regards itself as a senior college every way but athletically but a Junior College committee in Austin will decide whether or not it can compete with the legitimate jaycees on Dec. 18.

Wayland has all its starters back from last year's crack outfit, which won the state championship in a breeze. There's nothing can beat the Pioneers, if they are declared eligible.

But the Hawks are as good as the league's other teams, at least on paper. Amarillo, which beat the locals twice last year, lost all its starters. Odessa JC has improved but evidently not as much as the Hawks.

Right now, it appears that Bill Fletcher, the former Dallas prep star, Delmar Turner, Horace Rankin, Don Clark and John Lewis will be starters for Coach Harold Davis out at HCJC. Fletcher is a 6-foot-5 lad. Those who have seen him play insist he'll be the star of stars. Turner and Lewis both stand 6-foot-4. The talented Clark comes in at 6 feet while Rankin measures about 5-8. The Hoss was all-conference last season.

CLARENDON JUNIOR COLLEGE MAY ENTER LEAGUE

There is every indication Clarendon Junior college, located in the town of the same name, will be admitted to the Western Zone at the Dec. 18th session.

Clarendon is an old school but is fielding a basketball team for the first time in a long, long while. HCJC has games booked with Clarendon here February 4 and in Clarendon Feb. 16.

WALKER BETTER RUNNER, SAY AGGIE PLAYERS

Polled recently as to who they thought was the better runner, Doak Walker of SMU or Clyde Scott of Arkansas, members of the Texas Aggies voted almost unanimously in favor of Walker.

STAN HEATH INVITED TO PLAY IN EAST-WEST GAME

Stan Heath, the Nevada university passing wizard, has been invited to play in the East-West Shrine game at San Francisco New Year's Day.

Pete Stout of TCU, no doubt, will be if the Christians do not take a bowl bid. The same goes for Dick Harris of Texas.

How many have heard that Baylor's Bears have been invited to the Dixie Bowl but will delay judgment until after the game with SMU Saturday? The Bruins are still in the running for the Southwest Conference crown. You know.

The San Francisco '48ers were the first team in the history of the All-America Football Conference to go through an entire game without receiving a kickoff. It happened against the New York Yankees recently.

Bulldogs Seek Seventh Win

COAHOMA, Nov. 17—The Coahoma Bulldogs, who own a very respectable gridiron record to date, take on the Robert Lee Steers in their final game of the season here Friday night.

Coach Ed Robertson is working his boys hard to get them ready for the Bovines, who have been very tough to beat in District 9B play.

In winning six of nine games played this season, the Bulldogs have managed to outscore the opposition by only four points—153 to 149. However, two teams—Iraan and Roby—tallied an aggregate of 76 points against the East Howard County eleven.

The Bulldogs beat Wiley, 12-6; Stanton, 37-6; Clyde 13-12; Loraine, 12-0; Tuscola, 28-13; and Bronte, 27-14, while losing to Hermleigh, 12-0; Iraan, 32-0; and Roby, 44-13.

Coahoma is due to shoot the works, both on the ground and in the air against Robert Lee. Bruce Lindsey and Bobby Cathey give the Canines much authority on running plays while Wendell Shive, Edwin Dickson and others give the Coahomans a good aerial combination.

Abilene Eagles Boast Excellent Record In And Out Of League

Abilene's Eagles, Friday night foe of the Big Spring football Steers, boast an ordinary record, both in District 3AA and non-conference play but a closer look betrays the fact that the War Birds have been so impressive in these outings they are odds-on favorite to finish no worse than third in the league.

Pete Shotwell's charges have won two of four conference games and an even half of their eight starts for the season. But look who they have played.

They lost to Odessa, but only by a 20-6 score. Sweetwater beat them 28-6, but not until the fourth quarter. Brackenridge of San Antonio, a City Conference power, humbled the Taylor county gang, 27-6, while Amarillo, the No. Two team in the state, succeeded in scoring two touchdowns against them in winning, 14-0.

On the other hand the Eagles ran over Midland 21-0; surprised Wichita Falls, 14-0; edged Breckenridge, 7-0; and walloped Lamesa 26-0. They close out with San Angelo Thanksgiving Day, should win that one and nail down third place.

By any measuring rod, the Eagles will be overwhelming favorites to win here Friday night but the Longhorns are bearing down in practice, all part of a plan to make it interesting for the guests.

The Longhorns may try an all-out aerial show against the Birds. The big, mobile line may make it very hard for Arless Davis and his mates to move against the enemy on the ground but that handicap is due to inspire an over head battle.

Fighters Must Now Be Okeyed By NY Commish

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Main go fighters, seeking buildup wins over setups, are finding it tough to get matches in New York State.

Some promoters, anxious to capitalize on a "name" as a drawing card, are willing. But the New York State Athletic Commission is cracking down.

Under the regime of Chief Deputy Dan Dowd of Commissioner Eddie Eagan's staff, all-star bout pairings are being reviewed. This has been the law for several years, but too often in the past, the approval has been automatic. Now they're throwing many matches into the ash can.

Dowd, Jack Duberstein and Pat Cellahan, two of his deputies, screen all main bout contracts. If they think an opponent is completely outclassed, they force a substitution. Of course, they make mistakes too.

Recently the commission approved a Tami Mauriello-Roy Taylor heavyweight match at the Park Arena in the Bronx. It was a lopsided victory for Tami who stopped his outclassed foe in the second round. After the fight, Taylor drew a six-month suspension for an "unsatisfactory performance."

Commission spokesmen say he never will fight here again.

A week ago, the commission refused to sanction a bout between Roland La Starza, unbeaten Bronx heavyweight with a long win string, and Leo Stoll of Baltimore. Don Mogard of Toronto was subbed for Stoll and he absorbed a neat lacing from La Starza although he put up a good scrap. Monday night Stoll was knocked out by Mauriello at Providence.

Another La Starza bout, scheduled for tonight at the Jamaica Arena, was called off by the commission. The promoters subbed Jimmy Hegeman-Jim Watkins for the heavyweight contest.

Colts To Host Wogs Friday

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17—A "rubber game" in the T. C. U.-S. M. U. freshman football series is that which will be played Friday afternoon at Owenby Stadium in Dallas.

The two first-year teams are all even after nine previous meetings. Each has won four, and one game ended in a tie.

But the T. C. U. freshmen have an even more important reason for wanting to win Friday than getting ahead in the series record. If the 1948 Polliwogs do not win from the Colts in both teams' final game of the season, they will have recorded the worst freshman football record in T. C. U. history.

While the current T. C. U. freshman have scored—and there once was a Polliwog team that of 1934, which failed to tally a point—evidently the Colts would leave their record books that of the "Scoreless Scorpions" of 1934. Playing in the days when freshmen football was limited to three games, the 1934 team—even without points—earned a .167 season average by virtue of a scoreless tie with John Tarleton.

It was in 1934, incidentally, when the T. C. U. and S. M. U. freshmen first met. The Colts won that game and those of 1936, 1937 and 1941.

The Wogs won the last time the two teams met in 1942—it was "B" teams, not freshmen, who played in 1946 and 1947—and in 1938, 1939 and 1940. The 1935 game was a tie.

The Wogs have lost four to date this year—to the Baylor Cubs, the Texas A. & M. freshmen, the Rice Owlets, and the Texas shortbrows. Beating the Colts Friday would thus give them a 200 season, while a tie would bring only a 100 record.

The T. C. U. freshmen scored six points each against Baylor and Texas A. & M. and achieved their season's high—nine points—against Texas.

Tech May Pass Up Sun Bowl

LUBBOCK, Nov. 17—Texas Techs Red Raiders probably won't play in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso on New Year's Day, according to the Avalanche-Journal.

Quoting "entirely unofficial" college sources, the newspaper said yesterday that Tech's athletic council probably will turn down the invitation. The Avalanche-Journal recalled that the council voted last summer not to accept "out of season" games unless of "unusual nature."

The council was expected to meet tonight or tomorrow night to act on the invitation.

HSU Weighs Offer From Odessa Bowl

ABILENE, Nov. 17—Fans won't learn until tomorrow whether Hardin-Simmons University's Cowboys will play in the Permian Bowl football game at Odessa.

University officials said yesterday they had asked bowl officials to give them "two or three days" to think over the bid for the new year's day game. An announcement was expected tomorrow.

Flock Favored For Knott Six

ACKERLY, Nov. 17—Ackerly's Eagles will be slightly favored to defeat the Knott Hill Billies in their District Four six-man football game here Friday night.

The Eagles lost twice to the championship Union outfit but no other team in the league has been able to stop them. They beat Flower Grove on one occasion and tied the Dragons in another game.

Such boys as Cates Zant, Clint Lauderdale and Gerald Rogers in the Flock's lineup pose quite a problem for the charges of Coach Doc Self.

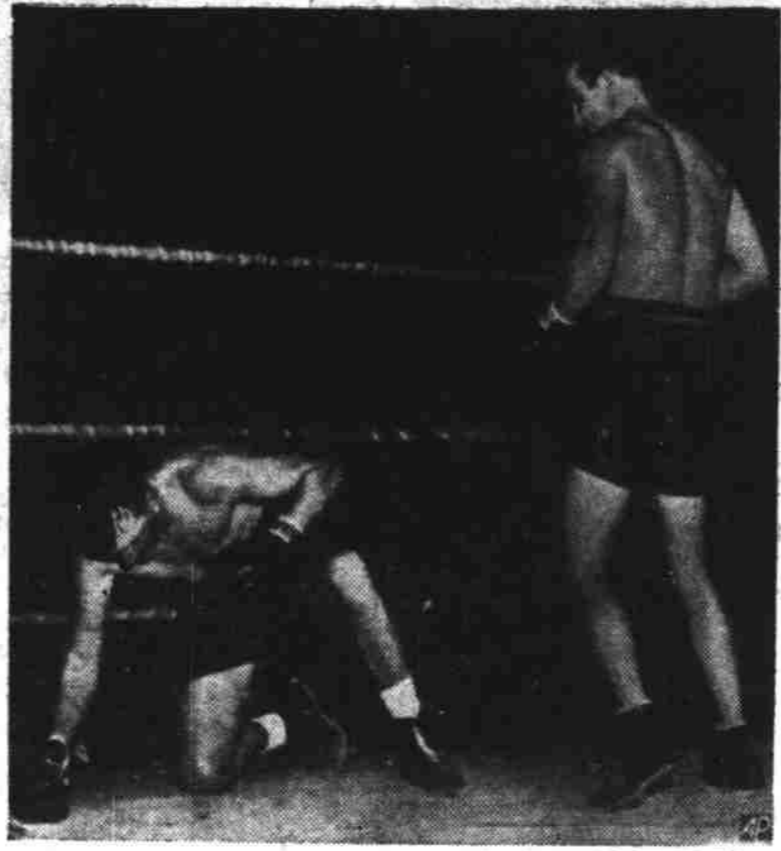

Knott tuned its gun for the engagement by coming from behind to defeat Klondike last week.

Rice, Arkansas Players Share Circuit Honor

AUSTIN, Nov. 17—Southwest Conference linemen-of-the-week honors were shared by Guards Tom Parsons of Rice and Ray Peters of Arkansas this week.

Sports publicity directors of the seven conference schools, on whose recommendations the recognition is based, were impressed by Parsons' terrific blocking against Texas A&M and the all-around brilliance of Peters against the Mustangs of Southern Methodist.

Strong contenders for the honor were Ends Morris Bailey of Texas Christian and Andy Hillhouse of Texas A&M, Tackle John Hamberger of Southern Methodist and Center Dick Harris of Texas.

O'DOW GOES DOWN IN NINTH—Billy Conn (right) of Pittsburgh, Penn., stands over Mike O'Dow, New York heavyweight, as the latter went down for the count of nine just before Conn was awarded a technical knock-out in his first come-back fight in Macon, Ga. (AP Wirephoto).

Louis To Scrap Jimmy Bivins

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis resumes his exhibition tour tonight against Jimmy Bivins, a fellow he once regarded as the logical contender for his crown.

Five years ago a meeting between Louis and the Cleveland Negro might have produced plenty of fireworks in the ring, but the setting is different now.

Tonight's bout is a six-round non-decision affair with pillow-like 12-ounce gloves instead of the regulation eight.

The only way Bivins can win is by a knockout or a technical knockout—and on the basis of Bivins' recent record that prospect is considerably less than likely.

Bivins' handlers report he has been training faithfully for this bout because he realizes it's a last ditch effort to regain his former standing among the heavies.

Louis says if Bivins does well enough tonight he might give him a shot for the title in New York next June.

Tonight's exhibition is Louis' first since Nov. 9. The previous night he received a scraped upper left eye-lid in a four-rounder with Johnny Shkor.

The following night at New Haven, Joe protected the puffed eye as he toyed with Bernie Reynolds. Upon advice of his physician, he cancelled an exhibition at Lewiston, Me., last Thursday to give the wound a chance to heal.

Some figures: Louis is 34; Bivins 28; Louis will weigh about 220; Bivins about 185.

Ed Price Of Tulane Proves Gridders Can Carry Mail

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—In this era of the glorified forward pass it is nice to note that college football still has boys who can carry the mail.

The fading 1948 season, in fact, promises to be a monument to the hard-working athlete who lugs by land.

Ed Price, Tulane's churning full-back, is almost certain to become the third player of a big time team in ten years to pass the 1,000-yard mark in rushing.

At least a half-dozen others are likely to join the "100 yards a game club," an exclusive organization to which only 17 men have been admitted in the last decade.

Price rolled up 134 yards in Tulane's 35-13 victory over Baylor last Saturday to increase his season's ground yardage to 892 and to become the nation's second most effective ball toter.

National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics show the rushing department is still led by Fred Wendt of Texas Mines, who with 1,057 yards promises to give the Border Conference its third straight champion in this specialty.

Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons was top ground gainer in 1946 and Wilson Davis of the same school won the honor last year.

They had better than 1,000-yard seasons, as did Gene Roberts of Chattanooga in 1946. Mobley also topped 1,000 in 1942.

But the only other player of the recognized bigger schools to achieve the goal in the last decade were Frankie Sinkwich of Georgia, who rolled up 1,103 yards in 1941, and Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma, who fanned 1,048 in 1945.

Wendt and Price are averaging better than 100 yards a game along with John Papit of Virginia, Gil Stephenson of Army and Wilson Davis of Hardin-Simmons.

Jackie Jensen of California, Bobby Stuart of Army, Noy Van Noy of Utah State and Harry Szulborski of Purdue are within reach of the door handle to the select society.

Stan Heath of Nevada, idle this week, maintains his leadership in forward passing and total offense. He has gained 1,861 yards through the air. His total offense yardage is less—1,846—but enough to keep him comfortably ahead.

The Nevada star has already passed the all-time passing yardage record and the aerial touchdown total set last year by Mississippi's Charley Conerly. But he needs 13 more completions to break Conerly's collegiate record of 133 in a single season.

Other interesting features of the NCAB figures this week: Jimmy Finks of Tulsa needs only eight more pass completions to be-

Tom-Toms Beat For Big Nine Title Fracas

The capital of the sovereign state of Ohio is going into its annual Michigan game dither—this time with extra zip.

The tom-toms are beating—with fervor if not conviction—"Beat Michigan, Beat Michigan," all along high street from the campus through downtown.

All it means is that the Ohio State University Buckeyes meet the Michigan Wolverines—generally regarded as the nation's No. 1 team—this Saturday. The Buckeyes go into the game with the odds against them. Pools around town are spotting the Buckeyes 14 points.

Coach Wesley Fesler himself, who brought the Buckeyes up from nowhere last season to a telescope shot at the Rose Bowl, says that on paper, the Buckeyes "Don't even belong on the same field with them."

"But," Fesler told a homecoming banquet last night, "There is something more to the game and that is attitude. Our team has that. No one can convince me that our boys don't have a chance."

So, the Buckeyes await the game with the idea that if Truman could do it, why can't they?

Possibly 85,000 people will see whether they can in the Big Ohio Stadium with its official capacity of 76,677. Both Mutual and NBC networks are going to carry the full game to other thousands from coast to coast.

Meanwhile the city and Ohio are working themselves up. There'll be a parade and enough fanfare between Friday and game-time to daze a Roman emperor.

The team itself is taking it easy. Not resting on its laurels for winning all but two of its games so far this year, but not taking any chances on anybody being hurt before the game.

What the game seems to boil down to is that the Western Conference's best passing squad comes down to meet the second best pass defense team.

In five conference games the two teams have played three common opponents, Northwestern, Illinois and Indiana. Michigan also has played Minnesota and Purdue and Ohio State has played Iowa and Wisconsin.

The Wolverines, paced by Charlie Ortman, have averaged 158 yards a game on passes.

The Buckeye defense has yielded only 56.6 yards a game on opposition passes, or six yards more than Northwestern.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—In this era of the glorified forward pass it is nice to note that college football still has boys who can carry the mail.

The fading 1948 season, in fact, promises to be a monument to the hard-working athlete who lugs by land.

Ed Price, Tulane's churning full-back, is almost certain to become the third player of a big time team in ten years to pass the 1,000-yard mark in rushing.

At least a half-dozen others are likely to join the "100 yards a game club," an exclusive organization to which only 17 men have been admitted in the last decade.

Price rolled up 134 yards in Tulane's 35-13 victory over Baylor last Saturday to increase his season's ground yardage to 892 and to become the nation's second most effective ball toter.

National Collegiate Athletic Bureau statistics show the rushing department is still led by Fred Wendt of Texas Mines, who with 1,057 yards promises to give the Border Conference its third straight champion in this specialty.

Rudy Mobley of Hardin-Simmons was top ground gainer in 1946 and Wilson Davis of the same school won the honor last year.

They had better than 1,000-yard seasons, as did Gene Roberts of Chattanooga in 1946. Mobley also topped 1,000 in 1942.

But the only other player of the recognized bigger schools to achieve the goal in the last decade were Frankie Sinkwich of Georgia, who rolled up 1,103 yards in 1941, and Bob Fenimore of Oklahoma, who fanned 1,048 in 1945.

Wendt and Price are averaging better than 100 yards a game along with John Papit of Virginia, Gil Stephenson of Army and Wilson Davis of Hardin-Simmons.

Jackie Jensen of California, Bobby Stuart of Army, Noy Van Noy of Utah State and Harry Szulborski of Purdue are within reach of the door handle to the select society.

Stan Heath of Nevada, idle this week, maintains his leadership in forward passing and total offense. He has gained 1,861 yards through the air. His total offense yardage is less—1,846—but enough to keep him comfortably ahead.

The Nevada star has already passed the all-time passing yardage record and the aerial touchdown total set last year by Mississippi's Charley Conerly. But he needs 13 more completions to break Conerly's collegiate record of 133 in a single season.

Tom-Toms Beat For Big Nine Title Fracas

The capital of the sovereign state of Ohio is going into its annual Michigan game dither—this time with extra zip.

The tom-toms are beating—with fervor if not conviction—"Beat Michigan, Beat Michigan," all along high street from the campus through downtown.

All it means is that the Ohio State University Buckeyes meet the Michigan Wolverines—generally regarded as the nation's No. 1 team—this Saturday. The Buckeyes go into the game with the odds against them. Pools around town are spotting the Buckeyes 14 points.

Coach Wesley Fesler himself, who brought the Buckeyes up from nowhere last season to a telescope shot at the Rose Bowl, says that on paper, the Buckeyes "Don't even belong on the same field with them."

"But," Fesler told a homecoming banquet last night, "There is something more to the game and that is attitude. Our team has that. No one can convince me that our boys don't have a chance."

So, the Buckeyes await the game with the idea that if Truman could do it, why can't they?

Possibly 85,000 people will see whether they can in the Big Ohio Stadium with its official capacity of 76,677. Both Mutual and NBC networks are going to carry the full game to other thousands from coast to coast.

Meanwhile the city and Ohio are working themselves up. There'll be a parade and enough fanfare between Friday and game-time to daze a Roman emperor.

The team itself is taking it easy. Not resting on its laurels for winning all but two of its games so far this year, but not taking any chances on anybody being hurt before the game.

What the game seems to boil down to is that the Western Conference's best passing squad comes down to meet the second best pass defense team.

In five conference games the two teams have played three common opponents, Northwestern, Illinois and Indiana. Michigan also has played Minnesota and Purdue and Ohio State has played Iowa and Wisconsin.

The Wolverines, paced by Charlie Ortman, have averaged 158 yards a game on passes.

The Buckeye defense has yielded only 56.6 yards a game on opposition passes, or six yards more than Northwestern.

Baylor Professor To Lead In Election Law Change Plan

DALLAS, Nov. 17 (U. S. P. Cagle, Baylor university political science professor, has been appointed chairman of a committee of democratic county chairmen to draft a bill revising Texas' election laws, Arthur Stevenson said today.

Stevenson, Dallas county chairman and president of the Texas association of county chairmen, will announce the appointment formally tomorrow when the group's annual state convention opens here. Cagle is chairman of McLennan county.

Other county chairmen who will be named to the committee are W. A. McIntosh, Gilmer; E. E. Bedell, Tyler; H. O. Gossett, Longview; and J. M. Patterson, Austin. Patterson has for many years edited and compiled a published codification of existing election laws. Several of the committeemen served in a similar capacity two years ago, when a bill was drafted and introduced, but failed to pass, Stevenson said.

AFL May Raise Money To Fight Taft-Hartley Law

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17 (U. S. P. Cagle, Baylor university political science professor, has been appointed chairman of a committee of democratic county chairmen to draft a bill revising Texas' election laws, Arthur Stevenson said today.

The committee directing policy for "labor's league for political education" suggested to the 650 delegates to the AFL's 67th convention that they finance an educational program—dating from next of 10 cents a member.

The total membership of the AFL on Aug. 31 was 7,220,000.

The finance plan for the educational program—dating from next month through 1949—was the result of meetings of the administrative committee of the political league.

The convention delegates were prepared to recess their own sessions today and assume the role of delegates to the labor league. By so doing they will be able to vote a financial contribution to the league without conflicting with provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act on political contributions.

The AFL leaders who planned the strategy did so to meet any legal problems arising under the act, despite the pledge of the convention and President Truman to wipe out the labor law.

Funeral Set For J. H. Guess

Funeral services for James H. Guess, 45, World War II veteran and owner of the Auditorium Cafe, will be held Thursday at 3 p. m. in the Eberley chapel.

Guess died in a veterans hospital in Dallas Monday night, following a serious illness of some three weeks. The body was brought to Big Spring Wednesday morning by Eberley Funeral home.

Rev. Alsie E. Carleton, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate. The local VFW unit will be in charge of the services and will provide pallbearers.

Mr. Guess was born in Allendale, Mo., on January 14, 1900. He served overseas with the United States Army for 28 months. His service included North Africa, Sicily, France and Germany, where he was wounded. Guess returned to Big Spring in 1945.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Willie A. Guess; one step-son, Clarence Schaefer; two brothers, C. L. Guess of Big Spring, and O. C. Guess of Victoria; three daughters, Doris, Madelyn and Carolyn Guess; two sons, Loren and Cecil Guess; three uncles, Dewey, Arthur and Rube Martin; and four aunts, Ann Martin of Odessa, Mrs. Shirley Fryar of Knott, and Mrs. Lou Ella Edison of Big Spring.

Producers, Extras At Odds On Pay

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 17 (U. S. P. Cagle, Baylor university political science professor, has been appointed chairman of a committee of democratic county chairmen to draft a bill revising Texas' election laws, Arthur Stevenson said today.

The guild said its members voted 2,512 to 67 to reject an employer proposal for continuing the bracket. They are asking the studios to make a new offer, indicating willingness to continue negotiations for a new contract.

Sterling Tucker Body To Arrive Here Saturday

Another member of the silent army, only now returning from the war, will arrive here Saturday. Body of Sterling Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Tucker, is to arrive here Saturday morning and be received at the Nalley Funeral home.

Services have been set for 3 p. m. Sunday at the First Methodist church with the Rev. Alsie Carleton, pastor, in charge and burial will be in the city cemetery.

A graduate of Big Spring high school and member of the U. S. Army combat engineers, Tucker was killed while on patrol on May 21, 1945 after having gone through three major campaigns.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will be in charge of graveside rites.

Former Resident Claimed By Death

Mrs. Alice Riggs received word Tuesday of the death of her brother, Ed Henson, Colton, Calif.

Henson was a former resident of Big Spring where he was a drilling contractor. At the time of his death he was an employee of Kaiser-Frazer Motor company.

DEER IS BLAMED IN TWO DEATHS

JASPER, Nov. 17. (AP) — An auto accident blamed on a wild deer claimed its second life yesterday.

Mrs. E. J. Chance, 56, Hemphill, died in a local hospital. Her daughter, Mrs. Gladys White, 20, Hemphill, died Monday shortly after the accident.

The driver, E. J. Chance, who is still hospitalized, said he crashed into a concrete bridge when a wild deer running across the highway diverted his attention.

This year's earliest bowl game was played at Hershey, Pa., Oct. 2, between Temple and West Virginia.

THE GENTLEMAN IS A BUM BUT CERTAINLY NO ORDINARY ONE

Shades of Horace Greeley! They're still going west from the east, as anyone can plainly see, and they can still figure out some of the most gosh - awful ways to get there.

Now comes the trek of Russ Carley, a 62-year-old New Yorker who has been dubbed the "New Look" in American hoboes. A hobo he is by his own declaration, but from appearance he probably would sooner strike the public as a successful businessman.

Carley has rejected the tattered apparel commonly associated with a man of the road, and what's more he stops at the better hotels and travels by modern rail conveyance, such as the T&P Eagle. It started back in October when Carley decided he wanted to appear on the radio program "We The People." He hopes to attain that objective after he arrives in Los Angeles on Nov. 29.

The New Yorker seldom experiences difficulty in arranging for lodging "on the house" at hotels, and he practically never fails to make a hit with restaurant operators who are glad to provide gratis meals. Assisting in this department is a wire recorder, which he often uses in cafes, recording the voices of patrons and then playing them back.

The contraption always draws a crowd, to the delight of the cafe operator.

A free lance writer, composer and author (he has high hopes for success of a new song "Don't Cry In My Dreams Again," Carley has documentary evidence supporting a claim that he was the first passenger to cross the United States on what is now TWA airlines. That happened on July 13, 1929.

He stopped Tuesday night at the Douglass hotel here, as guest of the management, and then wasted no time in arranging for meals at the Home cafe.

Carley was to leave on the Eagle this afternoon and continue moving west. He is looking forward to riding a T&P diesel engine from Pecos to El Paso.

COMMENT BRINGS JOHNSON LAUGH

HOUSTON, Nov. 17. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson left by plane yesterday for Washington to arrange for his office space as U. S. senator.

The senator-elect laughed when asked for comment on former Gov. Coke Stevenson's statement that he will keep trying to prevent Johnson from being seated. Johnson said "you go ask Coke about that."

Author Says Crippled Child Should Be Spanked For Wrongs

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP) — Spank a crippled child? Yes, if he needs it, says Author Louise Baker.

Miss Baker lost a leg in a traffic accident when she was eight years old. A few months later, she said, her father spanked her for trying to boss the household.

"I had learned lesson number one, that I was going to have to live with my handicap, but not off it," Miss Baker today told the annual convention for the National Society for Crippled Children.

"Not that all crippled children should be spanked," she said in her prepared talk. "I just happened to be that type."

Author of two books, "Out On the Limb" and "Party Line," Miss Baker, of Williams, Ariz., said she didn't learn her lesson all at once. More spankings followed. She got them whenever she needed them just as her unhandicapped sister did. And other things happened: "I got crutches. I learned to walk, then run. I was fine. I was okay. I learned to roller skate. I learned to play baseball. I had fun."

"I hit kids and they hit me back—and don't think that isn't symptomatic—of the normal adjustment of a crippled child's playmates at least."
