JUNIOR PLAY TO BE STAGED

The annual play of the junior class of McLean High School will be held in the high school auditorium Thursday night, April 22, it has been announced. Curtain time will be 8 o'clock.

The presentation of the play was originally set for Friday night, April 23. However, several members of the cast will have to go to Canyon with the high school band on that date, and the change was made necessary.

The play, a three-act farce comedy, is entitled "Hilarity House." It was written by Jay Toban, and centers around a wild-western uncle. The uncle, after being away from all civilization on a ranch in Idaho for 50 years, appears at the home of his sister-in-law and two nieces.

"You are invited to see how this develops into a very laugh-filled, exciting story," directors of the annual play said.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kennedy, Mrs. Jim Simpson, and Mrs. Cleo Kennedy were in Amarillo Saturday on business.

School Easter Program

What promises to be one of the most colorful and beautiful programs ever presented in McLean will be the Easter program scheduled for tonight in the Municipal Building.

The program will begin at 8 o'clock, James A. Prock, elementary school principal, said.

Practically every student in the elementary school has a part in the program, and an overflow crowd is expected. Similar programs in the past have drawn sufficient people to fill every seat.

The program is a type of operetta, based on the Easter theme, it was explained. The first portion gives the seasonal setting, and the last portion will portray the spiritual side of the Easter observance.

The scenery is new, and is the property of the elementary school. Plans are to use it from year to year for an annual Easter program. Many people have aided in making and ob-erving the scenery, Prock said. Teachers leading in the arrangements for the program have been Misses Leona Forbes and Gussie Bledsoe, Mrs. Chas Weaver, Joe Taylor, and Joe Coleman, school music director. All other teachers, and many parents of students, have contributed to the work in preparing for the program.

There will be no admission charge, of course, and the public is invited to attend, the school principal said.

CITY CHURCHES PLAN EASTER OBSERVANCES

Easter will be observed in most of the churches in McLean in various ways, with the opening of a revival and a cantata as the featured attractions.

McLean Methodist Church: The McLean Methodist Church is planning a communion service and an Easter cantata as the highlights of its program.

The communion service will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, Rev. C. W. Parmenter, pastor, said.

The Easter cantata will be presented at the church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Bill Day is the choir director, and Mrs. Frank Rodgers the organist.

Children of the church will enjoy an Easter egg hunt Saturday afternoon beginning at 1 o'clock. Mrs. W. W. Boyd is in charge of arrangements.

Rev. Parmenter will deliver an Easter message on the subject, "Commitment into Thy Hands," at the Sunday morning service.

First Baptist Church: The annual spring revival of the First Baptist Church will open Sunday, to continue through May 2. Dr. Buell T. Wells, pastor, has announced.

Conducting the revival services will be Rev. W. C. Carpenter Jr. of Portales, N. M. Rev. Carpenter is a former resident of McLean. In charge of song services will be Joe Coleman. Services during the revival will be held each weekday morning at 10 o'clock, and each evening at 8 o'clock.

Several departments of the church also plan Easter egg hunts for the children, the festivities to be held Sunday afternoon.

First Presbyterian Church: Special Easter services are planned for Sunday morning and Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. J. E. Kerr, pastor, said.

The church has been having a series of services during this week commemorating the Lord's last days on earth and His crucifixion. Rev. Kerr's subject tonight will be "The Penitent Thief," and the series will be concluded Friday night with a discussion on "Our Lord Crucified."

Church of the Nazarene: Regular Sunday morning services at the Church of the Nazarene will feature the Easter theme, Rev. E. F. Robinson, pastor, said this week.

No other special observances for Easter are planned at this church.

Assembly of God Church: Special Easter services are planned for Sunday morning at the Assembly of God Church at the regular church service hour, Rev. D. H. Priest, pastor, said this week.

An Easter egg hunt will be held for the children of the church, probably Sunday afternoon, although definite plans have not yet been formulated.

Entire Area of Panhandle Gets Much-Needed Rains

SOME WHEAT GIVEN BOOST BY DOWNFALL

Prospects for some kind of a yield in the wheat-growing areas, and also prospects for having a better chance at row crops later in the year, were the principal results of the general rains which fell over the Panhandle during the week-end.

Locally, little wheat is grown for harvest, but in north Gray County, the rains barely made it in time to save the wheat crop. County Agent Ralph Thomas said that the rains should make it possible for a fair wheat harvest, although some of the crop had already been lost. Thomas also stated that more rain is needed for the wheat.

The same seemed to be true for other wheat-producing areas.

The rains are expected to prove extremely beneficial here to farmers who were beginning to wonder whether sufficient moisture would be in the ground in time to plant cotton and other row crops. In the local area, practically every farmer has been waiting and hoping that the moisture would get here in time. Nearly all agreed that considerably more will be needed in the future, but the week-end rains provide a "mighty good beginning."

The cool-cloudy weather following Sunday's rain was very helpful in allowing the moisture to sink into the ground, rather than be lost partially through evaporation. This was particularly true of the grasslands, where the surface had turned hard due to the prolonged drought.

The removal of the accumulation of dust from the grass in the pastures seemed to make the grass almost spring alive and turn green immediately. The rising of dust from the slow walking of cattle through the pastures had become a common, most-unwanted sight.

Irrigated sections, such as on the South Plains, welcomed the moisture just as much as the non-irrigated sections.

School Students Easter Holiday To Be on Monday

The day for school classes to be dismissed for Easter has been changed to Monday due to requests made by several students and patrons, it has been announced.

School will be dismissed at the regular time of 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, and classes will be resumed Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. In past years, the holiday has been observed on the Friday prior to Easter, but was changed this year since a number of parents of school students made their request. Some of the oil companies allow the Monday holiday, and the change was made by the local schools to conform with this practice, it was explained.

Several teachers, who plan to make Easter trips, also desired the change to allow them to return to McLean Monday instead of on Easter Sunday, Principal Freeman Melton Jr. said.

ARENA READY FOR McLEAN'S ANNUAL RODEO

Preliminary work for the annual American Legion rodeo is proceeding well, Bill Kingston, chairman of the rodeo committee, reported this week.

The three-performance show is scheduled for Friday night, April 30, and Saturday and Sunday afternoons, May 1 and 2.

During the past ten days, volunteer workers have erected the necessary fences, completed work on the catch pens, and repaired the chutes at the rodeo arena. Work is also scheduled to be done on the bleachers to make them safe for a crowd of spectators.

"We have the arena just about ready for the show," Kingston said. "Only a small amount of work remains to be done. We will have to break the ground in the arena, but will probably wait to do that until rodeo time is nearer."

Publicity on the show has been scattered throughout the area during the past few weeks, and some inquiries from cowboys have already been received. Invitations have been sent to cowboys who entered the show last year.

Booster trips, under the guidance of Ted Simmons, chairman of that portion of the publicity, are planned for Saturday, April 24, and Monday, April 26.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Morris Stephens of Silverton. Events will include a wild mare race, saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping, and ribbon roping. The concession stand at the rodeo will be operated by the McLean chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

LOCAL SHARE OF MOISTURE IS .79 OF INCH

Usually reliable sources informed us this week that the biggest, and best, news of the week is RAIN.

The rainfall proved to be general throughout the Panhandle, and had brought a total of .79 of an inch in McLean by Wednesday noon, according to the official rain gauge of Pete Fulbright, local weather observer. Of this, .73 fell Sunday and Monday, and the additional .06 came in a shower Wednesday morning.

Possibility of more rain during the next few days has been mentioned by the Amarillo Weather Bureau. Scattered clouds were still hovering over McLean shortly after noon Wednesday.

The local rainfall was the first of any consequence since October 23 of last year, when 2.26 inches were dumped in McLean. A couple of light showers have fallen here, but they amounted to a total of only .30 of an inch. The year's total as of Wednesday noon was 1.09, approximately two inches below the average for this time of year. Last year's total rainfall—a fairly dry year—was 15.41 inches.

The week-end rains varied in Gray County from the three-fourths of an inch here to as high as three inches in some localities. Pampa received 1.42.

Other moisture totals from surrounding areas include the following: Wellington 91; Memphis 85; Panhandle 140; Shamrock 35; Dozier 40; Sannorwood 34; Wheeler 50; Paken 20; Clarendon 1.45; and Claude 2.25. These figures represent those turned in to the Amarillo Daily News for the Sunday rain.

Cloudy weather both Monday and Tuesday allowed the moisture to do the most good by slowly soaking into the ground. There was little run-off in fields and pastures reported.

Pancakes on April 30—

ALL YOU CAN EAT FOR 50c

It's probably been quite some time since you attended a feed at which you could have all you want to eat for the nominal fee of 50 cents per person.

Such a feed will be held in McLean come Friday night, April 30, the first day of the annual American Legion rodeo.

The meal will be a Pillsbury pancake supper, and it will be sponsored by the McLean Lions Club. A representative of the Pillsbury company will do the pancake cooking, and members of the Lions Club will be in charge of the other cooking, the serving, and the washing of the dishes.

In addition to the pancakes (you can have all of them you can eat), ham will be furnished by the Pinkney Packing company. Other well-known brands to be served include Log Cabin syrup, Kraft oleomargarine, and Pet milk.

Serving will be done in the elementary school cafeteria beginning at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Everyone is invited. W. C. Simpson, Lion in charge of the affair, said, and the admission will be only 50 cents per person. "Remember," Simpson emphasized, "that you get all the pancakes you can eat for the single admission price—in other words, 'seconds' will be the feature of the meal."

As each woman enters the cafeteria, she will be presented with a package of Pillsbury pancake flour free of charge.

Barbara Wilson Presents Recital Of Piano Music

A floral arrangement of tulips and baskets of yellow mums formed the setting for the piano recital given by Barbara Nell Wilson Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church.

The outstanding group was composed of "Polonaise in A Major," by Chopin; "Clair de Lune," by Debussy; and "Rustle of Spring," by Sinding. Other compositions played were by Bach, Haydn, Grieg, and Schumann. She also played two organ numbers.

NATIVE-BORN COMMUNIST

WHAT GOES ON in the mind of a native-born American Communist? What is responsible for the direction his thinking takes? These and kindred questions have been the subject of endless discussion. A significant contribution to that discussion has been made by Judge Frank Picard, of the U. S. District Court, Detroit. The occasion was his sentencing of six Michigan Communist leaders who had been convicted of conspiracy against the government.

The judge began by saying that it was not his desire to kick a man when he is down, "and you people are down." But he went on, "You have been convicted of one of the gravest offenses of which a citizen may be guilty—a plot—a conspiracy—to overthrow your government by force and violence . . . that's akin to treason."

The Communists before the bench, he pointed out, were neither stupid nor ignorant. They had demonstrated high abilities in various directions. In his opinion, they were sincere believers in Communism, and in the idea that it is the only way to better the lot of the masses of the people. Then he said: "The only trouble with you is that in addition to your own extremely liberal ideas that put every capitalist in the role of a villain, you have been attacked by a virus known as 'Russianitis' and you really are gullible enough to think that if you could get control—with the help of Russia—of this country you would be able to shrug off Russia and then enjoy the millennium . . . either that or you believe you would be big shots in this country . . ."

At this point Judge Picard dealt, and highly effectively, with the old claim that Russia has no control whatsoever over the American Communist party and that it is an indigenous organization free of any alien influence. He discussed, in detail, the about-face the American Communists took when the Nazi-Soviet non-aggression pact collapsed and Germany and Russia went to war. Prior to that time, American Communism had urged a strictly isolationist stand for this country. Thereafter, no group was more eager for our participation in the conflict. He cited other examples, and said, "The only time you have been with the United States was when Russia and the United States happened to be fighting on the same side. . . . Your admiration for Russia is so great that there isn't any doubt . . . that there is nothing you wouldn't do—lie, cheat, or even worse—in order to obtain your objectives."

Shortly thereafter, the judge made this extremely important statement—and what makes it extremely important is that the Communists always cry that they are being persecuted, Hitler-fashion, for their honest convictions. Judge Picard told them: "You really think you are martyrs. But you're not going to jail for your belief. Nor for any books. You can read them all. You're going to jail because you want to force those beliefs on others by force and violence. So you're not martyrs—you're goats—and Russian goats at that."

Finally, the defendants were sentenced to prison terms ranging from four to five years, and to fines of $10,000 each, the maximum allowed by the statute.

LES TALK By LESTER

"Life Is Worth Living."

That's the name of a television program, and also, I believe, the name of a column written for quite a large number of daily newspapers.

But it's also a phrase worth remembering, and worth repeating. Over and over. To yourself.

All of you know, the drouth has brought on a wave of despondency to our little community, as well as to countless other communities. That despondency has caused us to be blue, and not as friendly and as cheerful as we would ordinarily be. The wave has spread even to those people with fixed incomes, incomes which do not go down when business drops off as do the incomes of businessmen, farmers, ranchers, etc.

Couple this drop in business and the resulting drop in income with an increase in expenses, and you really have a cause for feeling blue and despondent.

For the past three or four weeks, I have been enrolled in an adult education class in Pampa. Go over there once a week for some greatly-needed instruction. The class is one of the well-known Dale Carnegie classes in public speaking and human relations.

When I enrolled, I thought that the public speaking portion would be the most important to me, for I need training in this field. But I am beginning to believe that the human relations portion will benefit me more in the long run.

Among the rules which Dale Carnegie gives in the simple method of "How to Win Friends and Influence People," is the rule of "smile." Yes, just plain, old everyday, simple "smile."

I tried it out for a couple of weeks. Although I've never considered myself as an old sour puss, I spread on the smile a little thicker, a little more genuinely, and a lot more often.

I've had the habit of speaking to just about everybody I meet on the streets for a long time, although the drouth has tended to make me let up on this habit during the past few months.

So I decided to renew this good habit with vigor, and to accompany my usual greeting with a genuine smile. For two weeks I've been doing this, even though you may not have noticed it when I met you on the street or in some business house, or some other place.

Perhaps the smile hasn't made any impression on you. Perhaps you didn't think a thing about it. But I did. For some strange reason, this habit of being more friendly, and more cheerful along with it, has lifted a portion of the burden of worry about material things from my mind. It has made me feel much better in a mental and spiritual way. It has, in other words, helped me immensely.

There really isn't much to a smile, if it happens to be only a change in your facial expression. But there is something to a smile when it comes, not just from the teeth out, but from the heart out. Just as there is something to a compliment if it is from the heart out and not just the teeth out.

This man Dale Carnegie has quite a number of rules to go by; he even admits in his books that he finds himself straying away from some of his rules. But he knows it when he does.

I like all of the rules he gives. You'll find them in the Bible—they're simply worded differently there.

It is my hope that I can eventually apply all of these rules. It will make a better man of me, a better father, a better husband, and a better citizen in general. I will, without doubt, fail to carry out all of the rules all of the time, but I intend to try.

The first one I have sincerely tried has been this rule of "smile." As I have said, it has helped me immensely; whether that feeling has been contagious, I don't know.

Smiling is a fine habit, if you mean it when you smile. I believe it will help you, too, to do a little more smiling and a little less grumbling.

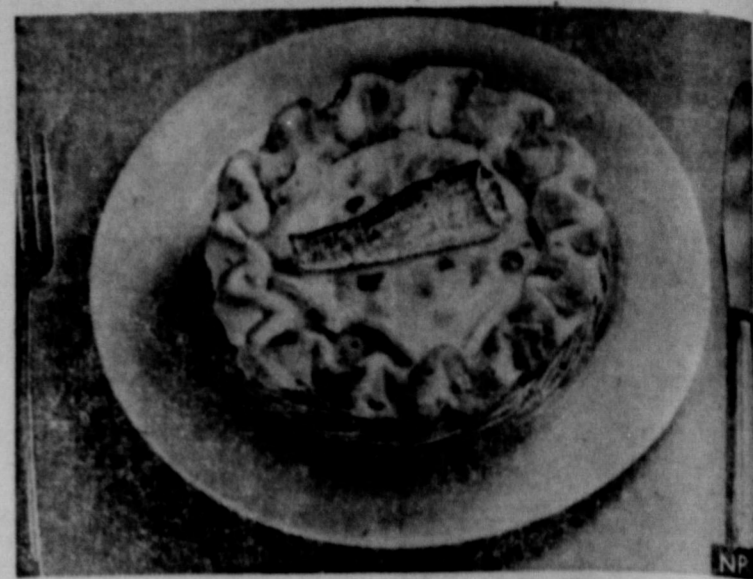

Try it sometime. You'll be surprised.

The right thinker works; he gives little time to society manners or matters, and benefits society by his example and usefulness.—Mary Baker Eddy.

The reason hubby's words sometimes seem sharp is that he is just trying to get them in edgeways.

If you ever made a check-list of your husband's favorite dishes, wouldn't you find pie at the very top? Here's a new and delicious recipe for a sardine pie, easy and economical . . . tasty and destined for many requests for a repeat performance.

LITTLE MAINE SARDINE PIES

- 2 cups medium white sauce
- 1 medium onion, chopped
- 1 cup each diced potato, carrot and celery
- 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms, fresh or canned
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- Salt, pepper and thyme to taste
- 3 3/4 or 4-oz. cans Maine sardines, drained
- 1 recipe pastry

Mix together white sauce, vegetables, lemon juice and Worcestershire. Season to taste. Stir in broken sardines. Divide mixture evenly between 6 or 8 individual greased casseroles. Roll pastry out about 1/4" thick and cut to fit casseroles. Place pastry on top of casseroles and press to edges. Prick or slash to release steam. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 40 minutes, or until vegetables are tender and crust browned. Makes 6-8 servings.

... to serve with fried chicken

Serve these hot Spicy Relish Rolls with your next fried chicken. They look gay . . . interesting . . . give a dressed-up air to the chicken platter . . . yet they're almost absurdly easy to make. So you'll have fun serving them to guests . . . and to the family, too. The rolls are the hard rolls found at any bakery. The relish is made from a friendly, every-day product you probably have on your shelf this minute—canned apple sauce. Canned apple sauce is used because it has just the proper body and flavor required for this relish.

To the natural tang of the canned apple sauce is added the lively bite of chopped scallions, curry powder and crunchy celery pieces. The result is a spirited relish with a spicy freshness of flavor. Stuffed into the rolls and eaten with chicken it makes chicken taste better than chicken ever tasted before. The tangy flavor also goes happily with pork veal and lamb. As a variation, try serving the relish plain sometimes without the rolls. When you do that, chill the relish instead of dishing it up hot. Good!

Spicy Relish Rolls

- 1/4 cup chopped scallions
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 cup diced celery
- 1 1/2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 1 3/4 cups canned apple sauce
- 4 crusty rolls

Saute scallions in butter. Combine scallions, celery and apple sauce. Mix curry powder with cold water. Add to apple sauce mixture; blend well. Halve crusty rolls; scoop out center. Spread inside with butter. Place apple sauce mixture in rolls. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375° F., 20 minutes, or until heated. Serve as an accompaniment to fried or broiled spring chicken. Yields 4 servings.

men were set to work dismantling the big derrick recently built on the Clark place south-east of town and moving it to the O'Dell place, where they are this week setting up the machinery. The spot upon which they are now building is about three or four hundred feet southwest of Mr. O'Dell's house.

It is stated that this change was made necessary by reason of the fact that water was more easily available at the latter place, Mr. O'Dell having a large concrete reservoir from which water could be secured without the necessity of pumping.

The big rotary drill is being set up as fast as possible and operations are scheduled to start within the next few days. The locator, Mr. P. J. Spencer, is authority for the statement that quite as good if not a better flow will be secured at the latter location as would have been possible on the Clark place, and he is confident that a gusher will be the result of their drilling operations.

Buy Texas Livestock

Fort Worth.—Fred Wolfe, a representative of the Cuban government, purchased in this city last week a number of fine horses, jacks, cattle, hogs and sheep, which he shipped immediately to Havana to be placed on exhibit at the big livestock show in that city. Mr. Wolfe said his reason for buying Texas livestock for show purposes was on account of their prize winning proclivities and their wonderful ability to compete with other stock.

Sleep Important To Good Health

Sufficient sleep is an important part of healthy living. Adequate sleep helps you to feel well, and builds up your resistance to diseases, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. An occasional night of too little sleep will not hurt you. However, when you habitually go from day to day without enough sleep, damaging results are felt.

In addition to ruining your disposition, insufficient sleep plays havoc with your coordination and timing. Workers who are short of sleep and rest tend to be accident prone. Some men who try to hold an extra-time job to increase the family income have paid a heavy penalty in damaged health and accidents.

Good sleeping habits take practice. It's like anything else you do. No one can learn to become an expert swimmer, just by reading about various strokes. You have to spend many hours practicing to become a good swimmer.

Listening to the radio, watching television, or working on hobbies that persons are loathe to quit are sometimes causes of staying up too late. Late entertaining also cuts out many hours of sleep. A regular time and routine for getting ready for bed will help put you in the mood for sleep. The routine may mean reading the evening newspaper or a light story after you are ready for bed. Or it may be listening to soft music just before you turn out the lights and snuggle under the covers.

A regular routine for getting children to bed also helps put them in the mood for sleep. It helps when mothers are relaxed and pleasant when it's the children's bedtime. After reading them a quiet, pleasant story, the children will probably be ready to turn out the light and fall asleep. Young children need lots of sleep—about twelve hours for the pre-school youngsters, and nine to ten hours for older children.

Disposal of Waste Serious Problem In Texas Towns

At this time of the year Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, asks, "What will you have—flies, rats, diseased hogs, stench, smoke, unsightly messes dotting the landscape, polluted streams; or fewer flies and rats, cleaner air, less disease, unblemished landscapes, cleaner streams and reclaimed land? You can take your choice and the best will prove to be the most economical."

Safe, sanitary and economical disposal of refuse is a serious public health problem in most communities in Texas. Poor methods of refuse disposal increase the potential spread of disease by flies and rats that thrive in such insanitary conditions. Indiscriminate dumping of refuse along highways and streams is a filthy habit, mars much of the state's beauty and pollutes streams.

Foul smoke from burning open dumps is unpleasant to everyone. The sanitary landfill method of refuse disposal is practical and within financial reach of most communities, even those in rural areas. A regular collecting system, designated dumping areas obtained by the city or county court with small landfill equipment moved about by trucks in coordination with the collecting system can solve this serious health problem.

The Texas State Department of Health will be glad to consult with any community regarding this basic sanitation problem. When all refuse is properly collected and disposed of, Texas will have better health and a more enjoyable environment in which to work and play.

Two Popular Couples Wed

On last Saturday evening at 8:15 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Cooke, Rev. Bryant read the ceremony uniting in marriage Mr. Clyde Cash and Miss Viola Cooke. The affair was entirely informal and was witnessed by only the immediate members of the family. On Monday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke served a wedding dinner at which in the neighborhood of 50 guests, all friends and relatives of the bridal couple, were present.

The groom is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cash and was raised in the vicinity of McLean, where he is well and favorably known to all. He is interested in the general mercantile business with his father, being the junior member of the firm, C. A. Cash and Son. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Cooke and was also raised here. She is a charming and accomplished young woman, popular among a wide circle of friends.

On Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the Baptist parsonage, Rev. Hamilton read the ceremony uniting in marriage Mr. Carl Overton and Miss Tomie Cooke. The young people were unattended and the ceremony was witnessed only by the pastor's family. Without the formality of a wedding journey they will be at home to their friends after this week in the S. O. Cook residence in the north part of town.

Mr. Overton is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Overton and has made his home here for the past several years. At the present he is engaged in the hardware business, being the senior member of the Overton Hardware company. Miss Cooke is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cooke and was raised in McLean. Both young people are popular among a host of admiring friends.

In their honor, Mrs. Cooke entertained a large party of friends at their home on Tuesday with a wedding dinner that is spoken of as being a thorough success and very much enjoyed.

To these young couples starting out on the sea of matrimony we wish to join with friends in extending hearty congratulations. May happiness and prosperity ever attend their way.

New Jobs for Texans

Texas industries have been providing new jobs for Texans at the rate of about 70,000 a year. That's about 200 new jobs every day.

All kinds of jobs . . . in offices, on construction work, in manufacturing plants, in the development of the natural resources of the State. Jobs for riggers, for secretaries, for engineers, for truck drivers, for accountants, for lawyers, for crane operators, for decorators, for sailors . . . all kinds of jobs.

And the reason why these new jobs have been, and continue to be available is this: Texas industry is expanding, and industry makes jobs.

On the average, each new job created in Texas requires the investment of $12,000 capital*. Thus, Texas industry invests over three-quarters of a billion dollars each year in new plants and in plant expansion to create 70,000 new Texas jobs.

Much of this annual investment in new jobs for Texans is made by the oil industry itself and industries which depend on oil and natural gas for fuel and raw materials. Every year a wider variety of industries put to profitable use a larger number of the resources of the State, and call on a broader assortment of available Texas skills.

Forecasters predict an even greater industrial development in Texas, and an even larger number of new jobs, as more industries recognize the advantages that Texas offers: good markets, raw and manufactured resources, trustworthy and dependable people, efficient and abundant fuel, a mild climate, and a good state government . . . In that list of advantages, the Texas oil industry provides raw materials for processing, and the world's finest industrial fuel—natural gas.

*In the oil industry, the required investment for each new job is over $50,000.

The famous psychologist had just finished his lecture and was answering questions. A meek little man asked, "Did you say that a good poker player could hold any kind of executive job?" "That's right," said the lecturer. "Does that raise a question in your mind?" "Yes," was the reply. "What would a good poker player want with a job?"

Missionary Work—
REV. PETTY WRITES

(Editor's Note: Following is a letter from Rev. and Mrs. Herman Petty, who are doing missionary work for the Baptist mission board in Nazareth, Israel. Rev. Petty is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Petty of McLean.)

Box 20
Nazareth, Israel
March 17, 1954

Dear Friends in Christ:

How time does fly on the mission field. Every day is packed with so many varied experiences that we hardly realize where the times goes. We do realize that it has been much too long a time since we got a letter to you. We have had good intentions and have made a few attempts, but that's about all it amounted to.

We want to express our appreciation for your many letters and greetings during the Christmas season. Your thoughtfulness helped to make this one of our very happiest Christmases.

We wish you could join us on one of our tours of the Holy Land. A few days ago we drove to the Lebanon border to the ancient site of Dan. How wonderful it was to look across into Syria and see old Mt. Hermon with her towering snowy peaks. On the way home we came to Capernaum on the Sea of Galilee where we saw work being done on excavating the ancient synagogue. It has been partially re-erected. The Sea of Galilee always holds a great fascination for us, for so much of Christ's public ministry took place near it. In the calm of the evening it was so quiet and peaceful that we could almost see the Savior pushing out in the little fishing boat and hear Him as He spoke to the multitudes.

The most recent trip that we have taken was to Mt. Tabor. Because of its height many people think it may have been the Mount of Transfiguration. The beauty of the hillsides in the springtime is almost indescribable. The shepherds with their flocks added not only to the beauty of the scene but were a great source of entertainment. One little kid was so gentle that Ann almost pulled his tail. Surrounding Mt. Tabor is the Plain of Esdraelon. Much Bible history is connected with Esdraelon. This is a very beautiful and fertile valley extending for many miles through Israel.

As we visit these famous Biblical scenes we see something that makes our hearts feel very heavy. The hillsides are dotted with Arab villages almost too numerous to count, and there is scarcely a witness for Christ. We have services every Sunday afternoon in the village of Cana. I sat there one Sunday afternoon and counted 97 children and a few adults crowded together in a very small room. To me that was an indication that people are hungry to hear the gospel. You ask, "Why don't we go into the other villages?" All the missionaries in Nazareth are first-terms and are not able to preach to the people in their language. The Christians who can interpret are so few. Pray with us and for us as we try to learn the language so that we might be more effective witnesses, and pray for our young Christians that they might help to meet the spiritual needs of their people. Then pray that the Lord might send forth more laborers.

After seeing the fields "so white unto harvest," we realize afresh the importance of our school in training these young people. We were greatly encouraged last week as many of our students made decisions for Christ during our Religious Emphasis Week. Our fervent prayer is that all our students might come to know Christ before they leave our school, and that they will be witnesses for the Lord as they go before their people.

A few weeks ago four young men came to our home after church asking questions about our work. The Lord seemed near as we talked with them, encouraging them to surrender their all to Christ. How happy we were to see one of these step forward for Christ the following Sunday morning. That night two others came, but we were still burdened for the fourth who was so talented and seemed to be under such deep conviction. The next week it seemed that he could not wait until another Sunday but came to the school and talked with one of the Arab teachers, and then had a long talk with the pastor. At last, he made his decision. The following Sunday he, along with four others, made a public profession of Christ. It's always a joy to see lives brought out of darkness to the Light.

The Lord seems to be blessing the work here. Just recently we have organized a Training Union. At the present time we have only two unions—one for intermediates and one for older young people. It has met with good response. This provides us a greater opportunity in training the young converts. Since

The division of some of the larger classes in the Sunday School, there has been a marked increase. With a church membership of about thirty, we had an average attendance of 300 in S. S. the past month. We are almost "bursting at the seams." We have curtailed off the balcony and are using it for three classes. With more space and more trained workers there seems to be no limit to the amount of work we could do.

David and Ann are growing by leaps and bounds. David lost his first tooth so he really feels grown.

We continue to be deeply grateful for your prayers and interest. May you be richly blessed as you labor for the Master wherever you are.

ORANGE SQUASH MAKES TASTY, PRETTY DISH

Vegetables frequently are underrated as "what's good for you" and are not given full credit for being "real tasty" foods. With a little thought on the part of meal planners, an ordinary vegetable can be dressed up into a tasty, appetizing dish. This orange squash is an excellent example of a glamorized, tasty vegetable dish.

- 3 cups cooked Hubbard squash or 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 packages frozen squash Dash of pepper
- 1/2 cup orange juice 1/4 cup sliced or chopped almonds
- 3 tablespoons margarine 6 orange shells

Mash the hot squash. Add orange juice, margarine, salt, and pepper. Whip until light and fluffy, adding more orange juice if squash seems dry. Fill into orange shells. Sprinkle almonds on top. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) until lightly browned, about 15 minutes.

Immunization Best Of Disease Controls

"Immunization is superior to all other means of communicable disease control because immunity becomes part of oneself and is always there as a defense against certain diseases."

This is the statement of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, who adds: "Immunization is the best and most effective means of protection against diphtheria, tetanus, smallpox, whooping cough, and typhoid fever." According to Dr. Cox, the ages that are best for immunization of children are: for diphtheria and tetanus, 9 to 12 months; Schick test, 6 months later, re-immunize if immunity has not been established; smallpox, 6 to 12 months. Tetanus or lockjaw is not common; however, when it does occur it is usually fatal.

The tetanus germ gets into cuts, scratches, abrasions, and particularly deep wounds, so that it has always been an important problem of public health as well as military medicine.

Other ways to fight disease are through good sanitation measures. The provisions of soft water supplies, the pasteurization of milk, the supervision of food, and other precautions have in many communities reduced typhoid fever to a minimum. Isolation and quarantine have their place and are extremely valuable, but none of them has the quality of immunity, or of being a part of oneself, and consequently always available.

Insurance Increases, More Beds Cause Nurse Shortage

Mrs. T. A. Langham visited in Pampa Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Wes Langham.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jones visited with their children in Farmington, N. M., last week.

Mrs. Ercy Cubine spent last week in Knox City with her father, L. N. Bridges, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wimberly and daughter of Waco are spending this week with Mrs. Wimberly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boyd, and other relatives.

Increases in hospital and nursing home beds and a jump in the number of people carrying hospital insurance are the two chief causes of the nursing shortage in Texas and elsewhere, state health officials say.

The fact that there are more and more hospital beds for insured persons to take advantage of during brief illnesses indicates that nurses have to spread their time thinner and thinner to meet the demand.

Other factors mentioned in the shortage are increasing numbers of dependent children and oldsters, and a shortage of high school graduates who are psychologically adapted for nursing duties. Nursing re-registrations in Texas last year totaled 21,889, according to figures kept by the State Board of Nursing Examiners. A board spokesman pointed out that that figure did not include new registrations, but did include some out-of-state nurses who wanted to maintain their Texas licenses.

Nursing licensees in Texas are distributed throughout hospitals and schools of nursing, in public health units and school systems, and in industry. While state health leaders were pointing out nursing shortages in Texas, World Health Organization authorities were doing the same thing on a world basis. World Health Day was observed April 7 with the theme: "The Nurse—Pioneer of Health."

WHO officials say, is contained in a line written 100 years ago by Florence Nightingale of Crimean War fame. "A loving heart is not enough," she wrote. "The art of caring for the sick, the knowledge of the laws of life and death, are matters of sufficient importance and difficulty to require learning by experience and careful inquiry, just as much as any other art."

Today, in state, national, and world medical and public health circles, nurses are recognized as friends and counsellors of all and welcome health teachers. Doctors and community leaders insist nursing importance in local health work and community life is second to none.

Florence Nightingale gave the world a new conception of the power and place in society of the trained and educated woman. Modern nursing combines the attributes of compassion with the calm ability conferred by the disciplines of education and training.

The entire nation will be better off when the shortage of trained nurses is overcome.

Awning type ponderosa pine windows are gaining favor among home-owners, says American Builder magazine. Some of the features of this kind of window, American Builder explains, are smooth operation, contemporary styling, night ventilation by means of opening the bottom sash only, nearly 100 percent air circulation when all sash are open, and freedom from rain damage to the room. Water repellent preservative treatment minimizes warping and rotting. The photograph above shows awning windows in both open and closed positions. Windows can be opened to any angle.

"Functional and decorative" is the way American Builder magazine describes this room-dividing cabinet wall separating living room and corridor. Above counter height, the cabinets are backed with fluted and frosted glass panels. They have both enclosed storage space and shelves for books and bric-a-brac. Wood paneling on the corridor walls is continued above the living room fireplace. Modern ceiling lights illuminate the corridor leading to the bedrooms.

A Famous American Ship

One out of every three of our active, ocean-going merchant fleet is an oil tanker, according to the American Merchant Marine Institute. The modern supertanker, shown above passing the United Nations headquarters, is the culmination of half a century of progress in tanker design. For the cost of a three-cent stamp a supertanker can move a gallon of heavy crude oil 10,000 miles. Her value in time of war would be great.

Possible to Take Too Many Vitamins

"Hypervitaminosis is a long word meaning too many vitamins," says Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer. The diseased condition probably was derived from the tendency of some persons to think that if a little bit does good a lot will do better. This is not the case in taking vitamins or medicines whether prescribed by a physician or taken on one's own initiative.
 Millions of dollars are spent yearly in synthetic vitamin preparations by persons who mistakenly believe they will counteract careless eating habits or cure numerous ailments. Unless prescribed by a physician for a specific need, synthetic vitamin purchases are usually a waste of money.
 Nutritionists have long urged that, except when prescribed by a physician, vitamins can be secured from the grocery store in the form of green, leafy, and yellow vegetables and dairy products. This is the more beneficial and economical way of assuring an adequate intake of these necessary substances.
 It has been established that vitamins A and D taken in excessive amounts are harmful. Other excessive uses of vitamins have resulted in cases of vitamin toxicity. Excessive intake may be as dangerous as deficient intake. Take vitamins only when prescribed by a physician and only in the amount ordered by him.

D. A. FOWLER DIES IN DUNCAN

One of the early-day pioneers of Duncan, Okla., D. A. (Andy) Fowler, 77, died Sunday morning, April 4, in a Duncan hospital from injuries received in a pick-up accident. Fowler, who had been city treasurer since 1939, went to Duncan with his parents in 1893.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, April 6, in the First Baptist Church in Duncan, with Rev. Thurmond George, pastor, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. T. Haskins of Oklahoma City, and Roy V. Harp, pastor of the Duncan First Christian Church. Burial was in the Duncan cemetery.

Fowler was born February 15, 1877, in Paris, Texas. He moved to Duncan with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Fowler, just after the city was founded. He married Lena Wharenant of Allen May 16, 1899. He was president of the former City National Bank of Duncan, was one of the founders of the Duncan Production Credit Association in 1934, and owned considerable property in Duncan.

Survivors include the widow; one daughter, Mrs. L. A. DeLee of Wichita Falls; two sons, Redford and Dave of Duncan; a brother, Wib Fowler of McLean; two sisters, Mrs. M. H. Patterson of McLean and Nola Fowler of Duncan; and three grandchildren.

Adults Must Keep Children From Having Accidents

"It is the adult's job to prevent childhood accidents," declares Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

As children do not always conform to the practices that would assure greatest safety, adults must be made to understand the accident problem of children and be as concerned about it as they are about childhood diseases.

A notable decrease in infant mortality has been brought about by physicians and public health work during the past quarter century. Despite the efforts of the medical profession to protect the country's future citizens, childhood mortality continues high because of accidents—accidents that for the most part are preventable.

The accident death rate among children is being reduced only about one-third as fast as the rate for death by disease. Preventable accidents are the leading causes of death in the age group one to 14. Only by the understanding and cooperation of adults can the toll of child accident deaths be reduced.

Besides causing deaths, accidents are responsible for thousands of school children being injured sufficiently to require the attention of a physician or cause absence from school. Injuries occurring in school buildings account for 26 per cent of such cases, on school grounds 29 per cent, going to and from school 5 per cent, at home other places 23 per cent.
