GRAY FARMERS TO PICK BOARD TO SERVE ASC

Ballots will be mailed Friday to farmers in four Gray County communities for the election of community committeemen who serve in an advisory capacity to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The chairmen of the community committees will meet in Pampa August 30 to select a new county committee to administer the ASC, according to Miss Evelyn Mason, ASC office manager.

Community election boards, named last week by the county election board, will make up a list of ten eligible candidates in each of the four communities. Three farmers in each community are elected as committeemen, two serving as alternates. The nominee receiving the most votes is automatically chairman, Miss Mason said.

Both the three-man county and community committees are elected to serve for one year.

Members of the community election board are: McLean, Clyde Magee, chairman, A. B. McPherson, and James Cliett; Bill Stubbs, Milton Carpenter, and Guy Beasley, alternates.

Laketon, Lee R. Smith, chairman, Lawton Huffer and Fayette Seitz; H. Joe Franklin, W. S. Tolbert, and Floyd McLaughlin, alternates.

MURPHY RITES AT CHILDRESS

Final rites for Lucian Edgar Murphy, 74, were conducted at the Church of Christ in Childress Sunday, August 8. E. A. Sanders, Kirkland Church of Christ minister, and T. Roy Finley of Weatherford, Okla., officiated.

Interment was in Childress cemetery.

A retired farmer and railroad employee, Murphy died at his home following a heart attack. He was born September 16, 1879, in Mississippi, and had been a resident of Childress County for the past 44 years.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, James and Edgar Murphy of Childress, and Tolbert Murphy of Grant Pass, Ore.; two daughters, Mrs. Pearl Harrell of Houston and Mrs. Pauline Buckley of Childress; three stepsons, Laren and J. D. Trent of Carey and Elmer Trent of Amarillo; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Muriel Moore of McLean and Mrs. L. V. Kell of Carey; one sister, Mrs. Mary King of Helena, Ark.; nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Murphy was also an uncle to Mrs. Wayne McIlroy of McLean, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. McIlroy attended the funeral services.

Flexible Farm Supports Are Okayed

The United States Senate Monday voted to install the principle of the flexible price support system advocated by President Eisenhower for farm products. The vote in favor of the change was 49-44.

The program passed by the Senate was a compromise plan to support the basic crops (cotton, corn, wheat, rice, and peanuts) at a scale ranging between 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity.

Since World War II, a rigid price support plan for 90 per cent of parity has been in effect. Parity is a standard designed to give the farmer a fair price in relation to his costs.

The House of Representatives had already passed a bill calling for the same range of flexible price supports. Since Eisenhower called the House bill a "great and sweeping victory" for his plan, he is expected to sign the

CHURCH CHRIST GOSPEL MEET OPENS SUNDAY

A gospel meeting will be held at the Church of Christ in McLean beginning Sunday, August 15, and continuing through Wednesday, August 25. Minister Harold McColum has announced.

Conducting the meeting will be Curtis Camp, minister of the San Jacinto Church of Christ in Amarillo.

Services will be held each morning at 10 o'clock and each evening at 8 o'clock. McColum stated. No collections will be taken, and evening services will last for only one hour.

Minister Camp has been in Amarillo at the San Jacinto church for the past eight years. He previously served churches in Tulsa, and in Pauls Valley, Okla. He has conducted services here a few times in past years.

"We invite you to be present to hear the gospel of Christ," the local minister said. "We have recently air-conditioned our building for your comfort and convenience. You will enjoy the fine messages of Minister Camp, the song services, and the fellowship. Come and be with us at every service."

County Holding Meeting Today On Equalization

A mass meeting, in connection with the equalization of values of property in Gray County, is scheduled to be held this morning at the county courthouse at 9 o'clock.

Judge J. B. Maguire Jr. urged that all residents, regardless of whether they had received a card notifying them of a change in evaluation of their property, attend the meeting.

Sitting on the board of equalization are members of the county commissioners court. The group will serve in this capacity through October 17. Hearings were held earlier this week for oil operators, independents, and royalty owners, and owners of fee land on the oil roll. Other hearings will be held for the remainder of the allotted time.

BOTH SHIVERS, YARBOROUGH VISIT COUNTY

Both candidates for the office of governor of Texas made visits to the Panhandle during the past week to enliven politics in this section of the state.

Governor Allan Shivers, seeking re-election, was in Amarillo and Pampa last Friday. He met with supporters Friday in Amarillo, and plans were outlined for the remainder of the campaign prior to the second primary August 28. About 300 people attended the get-together in Amarillo. Then Friday night, Shivers was in Pampa to ride in the grand entry of the Top of Texas rodeo performance. He also made a short, non-political talk during the rodeo.

Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney opposing Shivers in the run-off, held a rally in Pampa Tuesday. Meeting with him there early in the afternoon were supporters from surrounding towns. Yarborough then spoke from the courthouse lawn. After that, he made a tape recording which was broadcast from a Pampa station Tuesday night, and was on his way to visit other localities.

Both candidates are advertising fairly consistently during their campaigns for the second primary. Shivers is using newspaper, radio, and television advertising. Yarborough is devoting most of his advertising money to radio and TV, although he is also using newspaper advertising to some extent.

The race for the county judge's office is still in the quieter stage, but is expected to gain momentum before election day. J. B. Maguire Jr., seeking his second term, has begun his advertising campaign and has visited McLean several times since the first primary. His opponent, Bruce L. Parker, attorney and former county judge, has not yet started a concentrated campaign, but is expected to do so shortly.

There will be no run-offs for the precinct offices in this part of Gray County, although G. L. Lunsford and W. E. Jarvis are in the run-off in Precinct 2, for county commissioner. In Donley County Precinct 4, George Preston, incumbent, is in the run-off with Jess Finley.

1.40 Inches of Moisture Fall In McLean During Past Week

TEXAS COTTON CROP TOTAL IS ESTIMATED

This year's cotton crop in Texas has been estimated by the Agriculture Department at 3,400,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight. The estimate, if correct, will bring production this year to 950,000 bales short of the crop of 4,350,000 bales of last year.

According to the Agriculture Department, the Texas crop is 70 per cent of normal at this time, and will yield 212 pounds of cotton per acre.

Locally, the cotton is holding up well, although it suffered to some extent prior to the rain last Saturday. The hot weather was showing its effect strongly on cotton. Farmers are now on the lookout for damage from insects, since one day of labor by insects can often cause a great deal of damage.

The national cotton forecast by the U. S. D. A. was set at 12,680,000 bales. It compares with 16,465,000 bales produced last year and with a 10-year average of 12,448,000 bales.

Under the rigid production and marketing control program, the department is seeking a 12 million bale crop. Officials have estimated that there was a reserve of about 9,650,000 bales on hand August 1 from previous crops, much of it, of course, held by the government under the price support programs.

In South Texas, the crop matured ahead of the drought and yields were very good. Crop prospects in general have been reduced in the central and eastern areas of the state by the dry weather.

No estimate of cottonseed production will be made until final ginnings for the season are determined. However, if the ratio of lint to cottonseed is the same as the average for the past five years, production would be 3,201,000 tons, compared with 6,748,000 tons last year.

Carnegie Course Initial Meeting To Be Held Tonight

An open meeting for all interested in taking the Dale Carnegie course will be held tonight in the basement of the McLean Methodist Church, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting will be a dinner meeting.

Actually, the meeting tonight will be the first regular class session, although those interested may still enroll in the course. Hickman Brown, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, said. The course is being sponsored by the McLean Lions Club.

The demonstration meeting was held two weeks ago, and attracted about 4 people. Enrollees included men and women from McLean, Shamrock, and Wheeler. Others are expected tonight from Groom and Clarendon.

The course, limited to 40 members per class, will meet once weekly for 16 weeks. It deals in effective public speaking, leadership training, memory training, and human relations.

MOST OF AREA GETS AT LEAST INCH OF RAIN

Good, welcome rain fell in the McLean area last Saturday.

The rainfall was fairly general over the entire area, although some spotted showers were reported to the north of the town.

In McLean, Saturday's rain, including a slow fall Saturday night and early Sunday, totaled 1.28 inches, according to the official gauge of Pete Fulbright, local weather observer.

Another shower fell in McLean Tuesday afternoon, bringing .12 of an inch. The total for the year now stands at 12.16 inches, Fulbright said.

Most of the Saturday moisture came quickly. It started at about 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon, and was accompanied by some light hail. No serious damage to crops or property was reported from the small hail, however. The rain continued intermittently through the night.

Sunday weather was favorable, too. Clouds covered the sun most of the day, allowing time for the previous day's moisture to soak into the ground.

The light shower Tuesday also came quickly. However, it was not a general downfall, and apparently covered only a small area.

Most nearby towns also reported some rain last Saturday. Apparently, about the same amount fell in Shamrock and Wellington, and considerable moisture was reported at Groom. Farmers from various points around McLean reported one inch or more.

The rain came just in time. Row crops, particularly the feed crops, were suffering from the prolonged drought. Cotton had been holding up fairly well, but was beginning to suffer.

The grassland was badly in need of moisture, and it is believed the rainfall will rejuvenate the grass rapidly.

Prospects for good crops this fall are excellent at the present time. Naturally, insects can do a great deal of damage to crops in a short period of time, and farmers are watching their crops closely for the insects.

Only one mail pouch was ever lost by the Pony Express.

Milk Is Important To Diet, But Easy To Contaminate

Of all the kinds of food on the market today, there is none more important than milk, declares Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer. Milk is the first food of infants and one for which there is no fully satisfactory substitute. It contains a large amount of protein, also calcium, phosphorus, and some vitamins.

The only drawback to milk is that it is highly susceptible to contamination and if it is contaminated, disease germs grow readily in it. Dr. Holle says that in order to keep milk safe for human consumption, milk sanitarians of local and state health departments help Texas milk producers set up standards of cleanliness and freedom from disease organisms. Many cities in the state have adopted the Standard Milk Ordinance sponsored by the Texas State Department of Health. This ordinance requires that milk be graded on the basis of cleanliness and freedom from disease organisms. All utensils must be carefully washed and sterilized immediately after use and stored in a clean place free from dust and flies. Those working in a dairy must practice good personal hygiene.

Grade A pasteurized milk is the best for general use, in view of cost, food value, and freedom from disease producing germs. The Texas State Health Department joins in observance of June as Dairy Month and urges that consumers use only Grade A pasteurized milk.

Protection from contaminated milk starts on the dairy farm. The barn is a food factory and must be kept clean and free from flies. Studies Show Real Savings of Home Canning!

Home canning is still very popular, with more than 20 million housewives putting up their own fruits and vegetables every year. However, many people are not sure as to how much home canning actually saves them on food costs.

Recent studies offer substantial proof that there is real economy in home canning, as shown in the following figures: The cost of a jar (based on jar life of 8 years), plus a new lid each year, plus the necessary heat for processing, amounts to about 3¢ a quart.

The cost of the contents will vary, of course, depending on whether the produce is home-grown, or bought. When you grow your own tomatoes, for instance, the cost (including plants, fertilizer and insecticides) amounts to about 25¢ a bushel, according to agricultural college research. As will be seen in the yield chart below, a bushel of home-grown tomatoes makes from 12 to 16 quarts of juice. This brings the cost of the contents to 2¢ or less per quart, for a total cost of only 5¢ per quart.

Based on 3¢ a quart for jar, lid and heat—and applying the yield chart below to your cost of raw materials—it will be found that home canning results in substantial savings. In addition, many women prefer home-canned foods because of their individual flavor, seasoned to their families' own tastes.

THE GOVERNOR'S RACE

IT COULD HARDLY PASS UNNOTICED that Governor Allan Shivers' principal opponent, Ralph Yarborough, received a heavy majority of votes where the Negro population is thickly congregated. Prior to the first primary, Shivers had publicly stated that he was for segregation of Negroes from the whites in the public school system. Yarborough did not come out for or against segregation until after the first primary voting, and consequently it is believed that this is the reason the Negroes gave him a heavy majority in their voting.

Apparently, the word was passed along that Yarborough was not in favor of segregation (although he has now said he is for segregation), and the block voting occurred.

Block voting, regardless of where it is done or how it is done, is a dangerous thing. In Duval County, you will recall, block voting has long been a custom. And you know the type of one-man government which prevails in that area.

Despite his public statement of only a few days ago, in which he stated he is for segregation, Yarborough can be expected to again carry the Negro vote. Why, we don't know, but from some source of power word no doubt has been handed to the Negro population.

Frankly, we do not think that Texas will "go to the dogs" should Yarborough be named as the next governor. Those who know him well know him as a most intelligent man.

But we do not like his policies; we certainly do not like his many, many flowery promises—promises wherein he will spend millions of extra dollars on various improvements in the state. There are some things which he promises to do that we would like to see done, but we know, and we know you know, that extra money cannot be spent without hiking the state's income. And taxation is the only manner in which the state may raise money.

So such promises can only be empty promises, unless taxes are raised. Furthermore, we believe that Allan Shivers has made us one of the best, if not the best, governor this state has ever had. We believe he will continue to do so. We like his conservative progressiveness, and we believe it is best for the state in the coming two years. In other words, we believe Allan Shivers is the proper man to choose for governor for the next term.

LES TALK By LESTER

A time or two before I have mentioned this, but it's worth repeating. The city councilmen have done a wonderful thing this summer in employing Ples Rhea as caretaker of the City Park. Mr. Rhea has been working hard at the job, and has done most of the improving by himself, although at times some of the other city employees have had to help him with the larger improvement jobs.

The City Park in McLean is more beautiful than at any time during the past eight years, perhaps even more beautiful than ever before in its history. The employment of the full-time caretaker, and incidentally a man who works at the job, has paid off. Mr. Rhea is to be congratulated for the fine work he has done, and the city officials for the foresight in employing him. It has, in my opinion, been a most worthwhile investment.

Something else the city has done the past few months has been of much value. The city has cooperated to the fullest extent with the Hillcrest Cemetery Association, and has contributed both money and labor to the beautification of the grounds. The cemetery, as a result, is also in its best state of beauty of the past eight years, and perhaps better kept than at any time in the past.

The city has always done its best to keep the cemetery in good shape, but sometimes that has been hard to do. With an association prodding the city (and on occasions prodding the officials on to more actively along along these lines), the cemetery is becoming a place of which we can all be proud.

So congratulations are in order to the city officials, and to the members of the Hillcrest Cemetery Association.

While on this subject of beautification, I would like to mention the importance of beautifying the approaches to our town on Highway 66. And the beautifying of the property along the highway.

I have in mind, in particular, a few eyesores. One is at the corner of Main and Railroad, across the street from the Hindman Hotel. Two others are the old, old houses on the east side of town on the south lane. Nobody lives in the houses, and some day they may fall down. But right now, they are only eyesores.

Then we have the usual junky looking places all along, which are usually found in a community where no one apparently cares whether our visitors are greeted with beauty or ugliness.

In this respect, I nearly always think of the city of Vernon as being a very clean and progressive town. I have never been off the highway through that town but once. But the highway approaches, and the businesses on the highway give a person the impression of cleanliness and progress. Why? Simply because some persons have seen to it that visitors get that impression. In traveling through that part of the country, I like to time my gas buying, or my eating, to coincide with Vernon. The town merely invites me to stop there through its clean, progressive appearance. McLean could do the same. It will take time. But it will also take some determination on the part of our citizens to see that it is done.

In some of the cases in McLean, a few matches would help to beautify the town. However, if some of the eyesores should burn down, don't blame me, I'm not going to set them afire.

Remember that dollar-a-year club I mentioned several times before? The idea was to form a club, with members paying a dollar per year to beautify the approaches to the town. The approaches I had in mind are those on each side—the space contained within the "Y's" where the highway divides to go thru town. The money derived from such memberships would be spent in beautifying these spaces.

It would take quite a few dollars to do the trick, maybe quite a few years to really spruce up the approaches. But it can be done. Perhaps it would be a wise thing for the McLean Lions Club to look into. Perhaps a study club might be interested in the project. Perhaps a Business and Professional Women's Club can be organized, and set up this project as its first and most important objective.

It can be done, if some person will really get behind it, it can be done much easier than some organization will get behind it.

That's only one of many, many reasons why this community needs an active chamber of commerce. There are so many things which can be done, with the proper leadership, initiative and spirit of progress. We can continue to deadhead through life, or we can make it something of beauty.

Any takers?

Yes, It Could Happen Here, Too!

(Editor's Note: Since 1939 industrial jobs in small towns and cities have doubled, simply because large companies in the nation have discovered small communities have many things they do not have—people who want to work, good living conditions, more room, no traffic congestion, community cooperation, and safety from H-bomb attacks. The following is the first of a series of articles by Donald S. Stroetzel, associate editor of Town Journal, which have appeared in that magazine. The articles tell their own stories.)

Walter Ostin was the kind of young man the home folks hoped would stay around town. Good-looking, clean-cut and polite, he had the makings of an active Lions Club member, pillar in his church and family man. But when he graduated from high school in the little country town of Arvonia, Va., took off for Virginia's big cities. "There's no future in a small town."

Today, after several years learning the electrician's trade in Norfolk and Richmond, Walter is back in the rural area he came from. He returned partly because he tired of big, impersonal cities; partly because he likes small town life better ("you know everybody and everybody knows you—people are friendly"). But mostly, Walter came back because the United States Rubber company opened a new factory in Scottsville, only 25 miles from Arvonia. Walter applied for an electrician's job there, and got it.

That a giant corporation should have selected a Virginia hamlet (pop. 396) as the site of a factory of 250 workers may seem unusual. Actually, such a practice is becoming surprisingly common. The factory that gives Walter a future near home (he's married now, and plans to build a house next year) is only one of hundreds which have been locating in small towns.

Economists call this trend "industrial dispersion"—the shift of industry away from cramped metropolitan areas. It picked up momentum during the war, and has been snowballing since. Much of the shift has been to suburbs; but a very large part has developed toward country towns like Scottsville.

Plants that didn't exist five years ago are today turning out transmission belts in Nephi, Utah; mops in Byhalia, Miss.; and lawn mowers in Windom, Minn. Folks in Hawarden, Iowa (pop. 2,625), now watch TV on sets whose parts are locally made. And soon, in Milpitas, Calif., the 392 residents will even be able to drive Milpitas-made cars (Ford is building a multi-billion dollar assembly plant there).

We've all known, in a general way, about some of this dispersion of industry, but—believe it or not—nobody has really known its extent; not even the U. S. Department of Commerce (No Census of Manufacturers has been taken since 1947). So Town Journal made its own survey. As a representative sample, we polled 1,000 residents of the nation's biggest corporations, queried some 400 industrial development specialists, and got reports from mayors of 1,000 non-suburban towns. What a picture we received!

Take what we learned from the mayors. More than half (53%) told us that their towns have more factories today than in 1947 (only 5% said they had less; the rest, no change). Most of the mayors, too, told of big increases in the number of local factory jobs! 550 per town today, on the average, compared with 408 in 1947 and 257 in 1939.

"You have to see how their new factories affect people's lives to realize what this trend means to America," explains Dr. Arthur Morgan, community-development pioneer at Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio. "Many town and rural people used to have to go to the crowded cities and put up with slums to make a living. Now, hundreds of thousands of people are finding factory employment near home, and can raise their children in the healthier environment of the farm and small towns."

Go behind the statistics, to the homes of the new factory workers, and you see what an impact industrial dispersion is making:

Take the William Jacobs of Holton, Kans. (pop. 2,705) who recently bought a new sectional sofa, a 21-inch TV set, an electric coffee maker, an electric mixer—and a handsome mahogany piano on which Billy Bob, 12, is taking lessons. They could enrich their lives in this way because a new dress-making factory in Holton gave Mrs. Jacobs a chance to work.

Take Frank Donatelli, 30, who operates a cutting machine at the new Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing company abrasives plant in Cumberland, Wis. (pop. 1,872). Six years ago, Frank bought a 40-acre farm on a GI loan; now, like hundreds of thousands of other Americans, he's living on the farm, working in town—and developing the farm largely with his factory pay. By working the night shift one week, and the day shift the next, he can average five hours on the farm each day.

Similarly, two other farmers worked out an arrangement with the U. S. Rubber company plant in Scottsville, Va., whereby each would work alternating weeks in the same watchman's job; that way each could farm every second week. At the same plant, a farmer and his wife have saved $13,000 from their factory pay, are currently building a mortgage-free house on their farm!

The new factories, by absorbing part-time farmers, working wives, and commuters from nearby hamlets (some employees at the Scottsville plant live 35 miles away) generally haven't swelled local population much (Scottsville's rose by only 23 with the coming of U. S. Rubber). Rather, the people already there are making more money, living better, fortifying the community financially.

"It may not be the millennium, perhaps, but for many tens of thousands of people it's the next thing to it," one industrial development specialist told us. "What we're getting now is a balance of agriculture and industry. When both factory and farm are doing well, you have a real boom! If farming is down, there's the factory to fall back on—and if the factory closes for a while, many laid-off workers still have a livelihood from their farms." That doesn't happen in the city. Thereafter, all such officers shall be elected for the terms provided in this Constitution."

Section 24. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified voters of the State at a special election to be held throughout the State on the general election day of November, A. D. 1954, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon:

Burrow-Bowman

Her many friends were most agreeably surprised on Thursday of last week to learn of the marriage of Miss Katie Burrow, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Burrow of this city. The bridegroom was Mr. F. E. Bowman of Phoenix, Ariz., and the ceremony was performed by County Judge Faulkner at LeFors, the couple having journeyed to the capital Thursday morning in company with Misses Odessa Smith and Elsie Dougherty in the C. A. Watkins car. Both young people are blind and this fact makes the match one of unusual interest.

Miss Burrow has spent several years with her parents in McLean and is known and loved by all for her cheerful and sunny disposition and many womanly traits. She is a consecrated Christian young woman and the most sincere wish of every citizen is that her future life may be attended by happiness and prosperity.

Mr. Bowman is a prominent young business man of Phoenix and is reputed to be an exemplary young man. The young couple left Thursday for their future home, carrying with them the blessings of hosts of admiring friends.

The George Weaver home was the scene on Saturday evening of last week of a most pleasurable gathering of friends of Miss Katie Burrow who met to participate in a shower celebrating that young lady's marriage. Hosts of friends were present and the young bride was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts.

After the presentation of the favors, Mrs. Weaver served a delicious watermelon feast that was enjoyed by all present.

Holt Home Finished

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holt have moved into their new home in the west part of the city where they will be at home to their friends in the future. The handsome residence is one of the most imposing and comfortable in the city and represents a distinctive step in our advancement along civic lines.

Five spacious rooms with closets, bathroom, pantry, and a commodious cellar make up the general plan, and the interior finish together with the convenient arrangement make it a most desirable home. The entire building is equipped with furniture heat and the bathroom is fully equipped with hot and cold water connections.

Mr. Holt is having the plot of ground, which is situated on the northwest corner of the block, graded and put in shape for trees and shrubbery which he expects to start this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Brady McCoy of Amarillo visited with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kid McCoy, Sunday.

"It sure is nice to have some trout or a piece of bear meat around whenever that's just what I feel like eating. I can live last year's fishing and hunting trip over again, and enjoy a good meal to boot. I recommend a freezer to anyone who goes hunting or fishing."

A sportsman like Mr. McMahan gets a real pleasure out of sharing his catch with friends. And Mrs. McMahan finds it easy to prepare a fish dinner in a hurry. Right after the catch, she puts cracker meal on the fish, cooks and freezes them. When friends drop in, a fresh fish dinner is just a matter of warming an already prepared meal.

Keep the pleasure and good eating of your hunting and fishing trips all year round. Keep your fish and game in an electric home freezer.

POLIO FACTS QUIZ

Prepared by the Medical Staff of the Sister Kenny Foundation as a public service.

SISTER ELIZABETH KENNY 1880-1952

Q. Has a Polio cure or preventative been found to date?

A. Gradually science is learning more about polio virus. But despite the constant testing and experimentation with new drugs, medications, vaccines, etc., the questions of how this disease can be prevented are still largely unanswered.

Q. What are and are not symptoms of Polio?

A. Symptoms: Severe generalized headache, moderate fever, stiff limbs and muscle weakness.

A. Not Symptoms: Cough, cold, rash on body, redness of the eyes, or swelling of the limbs.

Symptoms frequently abate temporarily after an initial illness of about 24 hours, recurring within 2 or 3 days.

Q. What is the Kenny Treatment and who developed it?

A. Briefly, the Kenny Treatment includes first, hot packs and attendant procedures to lengthen shortened muscles. Second, neuro-muscular retraining of the affected parts. The treatment was first developed by the late Sister Elizabeth Kenny.

Q. What precautionary measures should be taken during polio outbreaks or epidemics?

A. Normal precautions against exposure to communicable disease. Avoid contacts with new groups of people and swimming in polluted waters. Guard the cleanliness of everything taken into the mouth. Avoid over fatigue, late hours, worry or irregular living schedules. Removal of tonsils, adenoids or teeth during the polio season may be a factor in exposures and in elective operations a delay to a more favorable season is recommended.

Q. Why is the Kenny Treatment regarded as the most effective?

A. Because under the Kenny Treatment there is less crippling, less deformity, less pain; less need for braces, better muscle function and there is less surgery required.

Q. Where is the famed Kenny Treatment available and who gives it?

A. Available at treatment centers across the country, and is administered under medical supervision by Kenny Therapists. The Kenny Treatment has become generally accepted and is the basis for the best treatment offered polio patients anywhere today.

New Sauce for Ice Cream Dessert

Ice Cream still holds top position among big league summer desserts in most homes. Taken alone or with a savory sauce, the team breaks all taste barriers. But, aside from flavor, much of ice cream's popularity stems from the fact that it looks just as inviting whatever way or wherever it is served. Soon when the gang gets together on the back porch for a summer evening bull session, cool them off with a dish of vanilla ice cream, topped with a new apricot sauce. Such expressions of awe as you have never heard before!

Apricot Ice Cream Syrup

- 1 cup Log Cabin syrup
- 3/4 cup drained dried canned apricots
- 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Place syrup in a small saucepan and bring to a boil. Add apricots and lemon rind. Cool. Serve on ice cream. Makes 1 1/2 cups syrup.

NEW SAFETY RECORD SET BY SPS FIRM

Southwestern Public Service company employees have now worked two million consecutive man-hours without a lost-time accident, the longest continuous accident-free periods in the company's history, and one of the top safety records among the nation's electric light and power companies.

Only seven other electric companies in the country have achieved the two-million mark for the entire company, the records of the Edison Electric Institute reveal. The EEI award for recognition of million man-hour or more safety accomplishments was inaugurated in 1943, and to be the eighth out of nearly 300 members companies to reach the two million accident-free man-hours goal is a significant safety achievement for Southwestern Public Service company, officials said.

The present unbroken string of accident-free days began on January 30 of this year. The company is averaging less than one lost-time accident for every million man-hours, as compared with a utility industry average of 11.50 lost-time accidents for every million man-hours worked.

The old saying, "You couldn't do it in a thousand years," applies to this recent safety accomplishment, for it would take one man a thousand years to accumulate two-million man-hours without a lost-time accident. The 1850 Public Service company employees need just over three months to accumulate a one-million total.

Three-million without an accident is the next goal, and the Public Service folks are after it.

Watch for Insects After Showers, Breedlove Warns

After the showers this week, County Agent H. M. Breedlove of Donley County is urging all farmers to keep a close watch of their cotton fields for insects. Breedlove says to be sure to look under the leaves and watch for small white eggs about as big as a mustard seed—this is the boll worm egg. Check around the shuck on the small boll and look for small worms; if any of these are found it is time to spray. Be sure to check your fields every other day and keep a close watch, because one day can make a big difference in cotton insects. The county agent urges anyone who needs help to call at the office.

The showers this week make things look better for the fall legumes and rye planting, Breedlove said. The latter part of August, with sufficient moisture, is the time for planting Austrian winter peas, vetch, and rye. Breedlove urges that Donley County farmers plant winter legumes for soil building and rye for cover crops. There is a payment to assist you in these practices at the ASC office; and if the moisture is favorable the latter part of this month, it will be the best time in several years for winter legumes and rye, he stated.

DONLEY PLANS BUREAU MEET

The Donley County Farm Bureau will hold its annual county-wide chicken barbecue August 26 at 7 o'clock at the Lelia Lake school house.

Henry Moore, president of the county organization, says that everyone is invited and urged to attend whether he is a farm bureau member or not. "This barbecue is for everyone, and all you have to do is furnish your own half chicken per person in your party," Moore said.

The chickens are to be cut in half for barbecuing and not cut up otherwise, or they cannot be cooked. The county farm bureau will furnish all the trimmings to go with the chicken. All chickens must be turned in not later than 5 o'clock August 25, and must be left at the Clarendon Frozen Food Lockers with Fred Russell, or at Moreman's Lockers at Hedley.

A good program is being planned and also the county farm bureau queen contest will be held at this time, Moore stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pettit Jr. of Dumas spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cobb and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pettit.

Here's A Honey Of An Idea

A pre-sweetened wheat cereal made into a tempting refreshment—Honey Crunch Ring—for after the game. Guests will look on it as a prize to be shared by all!

I'll wager there isn't one of you who doesn't like honey. So, I'm sure you will at least love the Honey Crunch Ring, pictured here. It combines three long-time favorites—honey, coconut, and ice cream—with a favorite sugar-crisped wheat cereal. This is the pre-sweetened cereal which has taken the country by storm. Made up here in a ring mold, and piled high in the center with mounds of vanilla ice cream, this combination provides a perfect refreshment for after the canasta game. Destined to be just as popular as the game, too!

HONEY CRUNCH RING

- 6 cups candy-coated puffed wheat
- 1/2 cup honey
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 cup shredded coconut, toasted

Place cereal in greased bowl and set aside. Combine honey, sugar, and salt in saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring to dissolve sugar. Continue boiling until a small amount of syrup forms a firm ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 246°F.). Add butter. Pour syrup over cereal in bowl, stirring lightly to coat. Add toasted coconut, combining quickly. Press mixture gently into well-greased ring mold. When cold, unmold and fill center with ice cream. Cut in slices to serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.
