For Information—

ABOUT PROPOSED DAM

WITHIN A FEW WEEKS, citizens of McLean may be called upon to decide whether they are desirous of the City of McLean being a part of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority. The project involves, as most of you know by now, the construction of a dam across Salt Fork of Red River some 20 miles south of McLean. The resulting lake would provide water for communities within the authority, as well as recreational facilities to the public. At the present time, with the small amount of knowledge we have on the matter, The News is highly in favor of McLean being a part of the authority. However, we feel that the people should be thoroughly acquainted with the project, and let them decide for themselves what would be the best move. Therefore, we have obtained some questions and answers, prepared by engineers and bonding company officials, concerning the proposed project; we will study these along with you in making our final decision. This is the first in a series of articles containing the questions and answers.

Q.—How was the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority created?

A.—The committees from the interested cities employed McCall, Parkhurst & Crowe, bond attorneys of Dallas, Texas, to direct the entire legal procedure required for the origination and final completion of this project; whereupon the attorneys prepared a Legislative Act creating a conservation district under Article XVI, Section 50 of the state constitution. Through the cooperation of the representatives and senators within the area, the bill was passed by both the House and the Senate and became a law when the governor signed the same. The bill is identified as H. B. No. 88 of the 53rd Legislature of the State of Texas First Called Session.

Q.—For what purpose was this Authority created?

A.—This Authority was organized for the purpose of conserving the water properly belonging to the Greenbelt area now flowing completely away, storing such water and thereby providing a permanent, dependable, and adequate supply of good water to the citizens of the cities and towns who vote to accept membership in the Authority.

Q.—What was the origin of this program?

A.—For many years a group of local citizens had the idea that the Salt Fork of Red River and Whitefish Creek had a substantial water shed capable of producing a large amount of water if a dam was constructed to impound such water; those individuals obtained early water rights and succeeded in getting them extended from time to time, anticipating that the water would surely be needed in the future for domestic and irrigation purposes.

Q.—What was the next procedure in the formation of the project?

A.—Citizens from the cities of Wellington, Hedley, Clarendon, Memphis, Childress, Paducah, and Quanah associated themselves for the purpose of exploring the actual amount of water which might be available from the Salt Fork and Whitefish Creek drainage area. They contributed funds for expense and employed A. H. Woolverton, a hydrologist of Austin, to make a preliminary report upon the amount of water which could be impounded and a possible location for a dam site as well as to assist them in obtaining water rights from the State Board of Water Engineers.

Q.—Were the water rights secured from the State Board of Water Engineers?

A.—Yes, these water rights were granted by the State Board of Water Engineers under the condition that the program would show definite progress of development before January 1, 1955.

Q.—What location for the proposed dam has been selected?

A.—The dam location, subject to engineering review, has been tentatively established just below the junction where Whitefish Creek flows into the Salt Fork of Red River. This is in the east edge of Donley County about eight miles north of Hedley and about 17 miles north of Memphis.

Q.—How much water will be the capacity of the proposed lake?

A.—The lake will have a capacity of 100,000 acre feet with a depth at the dam of about 60 feet. The lake will have a drainage area of 750 square miles, or about 5.6 the size of the average county in the Panhandle.

Contributions to the emergency March of Dimes drive in McLean during August totaled $102.23, Larry Fuller, chairman of the drive, reported this week.

No concentrated drive was made in McLean. Nearly all contributions were made voluntarily through the cans distributed throughout the business district.

Tigers No. 1 Team In First Ratings Of Amarillo News

The McLean Tigers, of virtue of their 45-6 defeat of the Shamrock Irish, were rated as the No. 1 team in the Class A Panhandle football ratings by Eddie Mullens of the Amarillo Daily News this week. The ratings were the first line-up for the 1954 season.

Among the top ten were five other District 1-A teams—Memphis, Lefors, Canadian, Clarendon, and Gruver.

The top ten, as announced Wednesday, are as follows: 1, McLean Tigers; 2, Paducah Dragons; 3, Memphis Cyclone; 4, Lefors Pirates; 5, Hale Center Owls; 6, Sudan Hornets; 7, Canadian Wildcats; 8, Dimmitt Bobcats; 9, Clarendon Broncos; and 10, Gruver Greyhounds.

School to Be Out Monday to Allow Attendance at Fair

Classes of the McLean public schools will be dismissed all day Monday to allow students to attend the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo, Superintendent Freeman Melton Jr. said.

Monday is McLean day at the fair, Melton explained. The high school band will march in the parade Monday morning.

Parents who plan on taking their children to the fair are requested to take them on Monday, Melton said. Absences from classes will be counted on other days the fair is in progress; and those absences count against the school's average daily attendance in obtaining state aid.

1-A GRID TEAMS SERVE NOTICE—PLENTY TOUGH

Most District 1-A football teams served notice on one another that competition is likely to be extremely tough this season for the 1-A crown.

Starting off the list was McLean, with its impressive 45-6 victory over Class AA Shamrock. The Irish, however, had already been tagged as the likely cellar dweller in their district; but a big Class A victory over a Class AA team isn't to be sneezed at during any year.

Next in line came Canadian, with a whopping 35-0 win over Spearman. The Spearman team is a Class B outfit, and is not expected to go too far this season.

Lefors showed up well and verified the reports handed out before the season to the effect that the Pirates would be strong this fall. Lefors downed Class AA Dalhart 6-0—not an overwhelming victory, but plenty good (Continued on back page)

BOLL PULLERS TO BE NEEDED IN LOCAL AREA

Cotton harvest in the McLean area got underway this week, and the first bale of cotton from the 1954 crop was brought in last Saturday by J. L. Andrews.

B. F. Holland, manager of the McLean Gin, said he expects the cotton to come in slowly for the next week; and that harvest should get in full swing by then.

Boll pullers are beginning to be needed in the local area. The warm weather is maturing the cotton rapidly, much of it opening before it should, of course. Some transient pullers have already arrived here, and others will likely be showing up soon.

The first bale brought in by Andrews (the also brought in the second bale Tuesday) totaled 1,750 pounds of seed cotton, ginning out a 502-pound bale. Andrews said he had to go over about ten acres for the first bale.

Andrews' first bale graded about middling 29/32, and has a government loan value of 32½ cents per pound. The cotton also produced 850 pounds of seed, at a price of $60 per ton.

The bale was ginned and tied free by the McLean Gin. Merchants contributed to a first bale fund to add another $97 to the amount Andrews realized from bringing in the first bale.

The cotton crop in the local area is fair this year. About 3,800 acres in Gray County (most of which is in the local area) are planted to cotton. Other acreage in cotton, which will likely be brought here for ginning, is in the nearby counties of Donley, Wheeler, and Collingsworth; this acreage is usually counted as in the local area, since the gin here is much closer for many of the farmers than gins in their own counties.

Some of the cotton has held up well despite the drought. Other spots are, of course, poor, and will yield little production.

Scoring: McLean 45 (Mantooth 12, J. Smith 30, Gunn 3); Shamrock 6 (Dodgen).

A well-balanced team of McLean Tigers completely outclassed Shamrock in a game that was one of the weakest teams in the history of the Shamrock Irish last Friday night. The final score in the one-sided battle played on the Shamrock field was McLean 45, Shamrock 6.

Shamrock's only marker came late in the game, when Edsel Whitaker took a McLean kick-off from the Irish 12 to the Tiger 18, making a nice run through a team mainly composed of McLean substitutes whom Coach Hap Rogers had sent in for the kick-off. Two plays later, Allen Dodgen gathered in a pass (tipped into his hands by a Tiger attempting to knock down the ball), and went over to score.

The Tiger scoring got under way soon after McLean took possession of the ball in the first quarter. Ricky Mantooth scored the first two tallies, one a 26-yard end-sweep, and the other a short power drive of five yards. James Smith made the other five touchdowns, on runs of 15, 40, 31, and 40 yards, and a pass interception play which covered 33 yards. Rodney Gunn converted three times.

To single out one player and say he was outstanding would be hard to do. In the backfield, it was Mantooth and Smith who did most of the ball-carrying, but Gunn also made some very good runs plus making several nice contacts on pass reception. Smith was outstanding in his fast, shifty running; Mantooth did an excellent job in shooting his passes.

On the line, it was almost every player who did well. James Jolly, Arthur Vineyard, and Don Trew were probably the outstanding linemen, but the entire team was playing together—this was in evidence with the big holes opened up for the backs; and, on the defense, with the small gains by the Irish.

The scoring plays went like this: The Irish kept possession of the ball after the opening kick-off, but finally punted to Mantooth, who returned to the 29 yard line. Smith, and Rex Immel alternated in carrying, getting to the Shamrock 26. From there Mantooth circled right end to convert. Gunn missed the conversion. McLean 6, Shamrock 0.

In the second quarter, the Tigers took over a punt on their own 33. Two long runs, one by Mantooth and one by Gunn, were the main moves in getting the ball to the Shamrock 5, from where Mantooth hit right guard where Mantooth attempted to score. The point failed. McLean 12, Shamrock 0.

The Irish almost scored just before the halftime intermission, getting the ball to the one before being moved back on a penalty.

In the third period, Wayne Henry, returning to the 20. Two plays later, Smith hit right tackle and went 15 yards to score. The conversion was missed. McLean 18, Shamrock 0.

interceptions, with the Tigers ending up with the ball on the 24. Runs by Mantooth and Gunn moved the ball to the Shamrock 40, from where Smith hit right guard, cut back, and raced on to score. Smith's attempted conversion failed. McLean 24, Shamrock 0.

In the fourth quarter, the Tigers, starting from their own 47, moved down to the Irish 31 on a series of running and passing plays. From that point, Smith hit right tackle, made a nice run to score. Gunn converted. McLean 31, Shamrock 0.

Shortly after the kick-off, Henry's attempted pass was intercepted by Smith on the 33, who returned it over the goal. Gunn converted. McLean 38, Shamrock 0.

On the following kick-off, Whitaker took the ball on his own 12, and made a nice run down to the McLean 18. Two plays later, Dodgen snatched a pass to score. Dalon Perkins attempted kick failed. McLean 38, Shamrock 6.

The Tigers took the kick-off to the 19. Three running plays and two passes by Mantooth to Gunn set the ball on the Shamrock 40. From there, Smith hit left guard and raced the distance to score. Gunn's kick was good as the game ended. McLean 45, Shamrock 6.

News About— THE F. H. A.

In vocational homemaking courses, one-half credit is allowed for summer home experiences. This means home practice in any phase of home and family life education. Some of the types of work done this past summer were care of children, home improvement, home management, laundering, feeding the family, food preservation, selection, construction, and care of clothes, and handicraft.

Rolena Chase, Sue Evans, Cleta Sue Heasley, Sharon Immel, Monta Jean Kennedy, Maureen Miller, Darlene Mitchell, Arta Lee Patterson, Rosie Lee Smith, Genie Haven, and Jo Ann Turner completed their work and thereby earned one-half credit this summer.

In addition to their work at home, the girls met at the home-making department of high school and refinished the teacher's desk.

There was some fun, too. Several of the girls met the summer group from Lefors High School for an overnight stay at Lake McClellan June 8. Those who did not make the trip missed fun.

Friday afternoon, September 3, the girls displayed the part of their work which could be brought to school, in the home-making department. The home-making classes 2 and 3 served refreshments to 53 guests who came to see the results of their labor.

CITIES NEED HEALTH UNITS

What the average community needs is a well organized health department to protect the health of the people, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer. Such a department will emphasize at least five types of activities to safeguard child health.

"These activities are: (1) the safeguarding of child health and motherhood; (2) the control of contagion; (3) accurate recording of births and deaths; (4) support of public health laboratories; and (5) sanitary control of diseases spread from human waste and by vermin and insects.

"The full time local health unit gives due emphasis to each of the above mentioned activities. To illustrate how these five essential functions are interrelated, the interest of the various divisions in the new Lorn baby, pre-school and school child may be cited as an example. Child health is safeguarded by providing information and instruction to the mother. Through the use of vital statistics, complete and accurate birth registration is kept, as well as records indicating deaths which occur among children from preventable diseases.

"Contagion is prevented or controlled against further spread through the encouragement of immunization early in life, thru the prompt reporting of infectious diseases. Public health laboratories and sanitary engineers provide additional bulwarks of protection for child life.

"Adequate health organization and wholehearted support on the part of various state and local agencies are essential if these activities are to be successfully maintained."

Crisp new cabbage is in plentiful supply now, and the smart homemaker takes advantage of this succulent, nutritious vegetable by serving it in many ways. Cabbage is high in food value, especially in food minerals and in vitamin C. Long before orange juice became a daily staple, cabbage contributed much of the calcium and the vitamin C in the American diet. American pioneer diets were good because our great-grandmothers knew how to make the most of cabbage. They stored it for winter and served it the year around.

A delightful new way to serve some of this year's cabbage is in a casserole that combines this delicious vegetable with chipped dried beef. The beef has so much flavor that it shares it generously with the cabbage, chiefly by means of the creamy smooth sauce that combines them.

That touch of something crisp that almost every casserole needs is provided by a topping of fluffy margined crumbs. Crumble day-old bread rather coarsely, toss the crumbs in melted margarine and sprinkle them over the top of the dish. While it heats through, the crumbs toast to golden crispness. A bit of the dried beef shredded and frizzled in a little margarine makes a handsome garnish. Arrange it in a simple design on top of the casserole just before serving.

CABBAGE AND CHIPPED BEEF EN CASSEROLE

(makes 6 servings)

6 cups chopped cabbage	1 1/2 cups milk
1 medium head	1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 ounce jars dried beef	1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons margarine	Dash of pepper
3 tablespoons flour	1/2 cup margined bread crumbs

Pour 1/2 cup warm water over shredded dried beef. Let stand 10 minutes. Meantime, cook coarsely chopped cabbage in 1 cup boiling water with 1/2 teaspoon salt 4 minutes. Drain. Make sauce by melting margarine in sauce pan. Stir in flour, mixing smooth. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. When thickened add salt, mustard and pepper. In margined 1 1/2 quart baking dish arrange a layer of cabbage, then a layer of well-drained dried beef. Continue until baking dish is filled, reserving a little of the beef for garnish. Pour sauce over all. Sprinkle margined crumbs over top. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 minutes.

SECRETARY MCKAY

THE FEATURE COVER story in a recent issue of Time magazine is devoted to Secretary of the Interior McKay. It's an interesting picture of a man whose views and attitude toward life and government are enormously different from those of such predecessors as Harold Ickes. And it's also significant for the light it casts on the policies and problems of this administration. For, as Time observes, McKay "has caught hell." Not even Secretary of Agriculture Benson has come in for so much personal attack.

McKay was a newcomer to big-time politics. He has described himself as "just a country boy, just a punk governor from a little state." While he was an early like-for-President man, he had never met the President prior to the 1952 Abilene gathering. He served in both world wars and was severely wounded in the first. He did have considerable experience in government on the local level—as mayor of Salem, Oregon's capital, where he built a successful automobile agency from a shoestring start; as a member of the legislature, and, finally, as a very popular governor.

McKay's present job is a formidable one. As secretary of the interior, to quote Time, "he is the nation's biggest landlord, greatest giver of light and water, master of forest and range, controller of minerals and oil, boss of 56,000 people and a $519,000,000 budget." Interior controls all economic activity on 750,000,000 acres of U. S. land, an area greater than France, Germany, Italy, and Scandinavia combined. Its responsibilities range, geographically speaking, from Alaska and Puerto Rico to the South Pacific island of Yap.

The secretary's attitude is pretty well expressed in a statement Time attributes to him: "Once we make a crutch of the government we are on our way to becoming political cripples." Among other things, he wants to encourage private enterprise in electric power development and he wants more private ownership of public lands. In his view, "Conservation means wise use . . . Natural resources are not worth a thing unless you put work into them." His enemies have seized on this to argue that McKay is a tool of big private interests, such as the power utilities. They have called him Dimout Doug and Giveaway McKay. The fact is that McKay is no enemy of public power, and once headed the Salem Public Ownership League. But, as Time points out, while he believes in local public power, he regards federal power as a very different thing. McKay, in short, stands solidly for local responsibility and authority, and stands equally solidly against federal monopolies.

The concrete reflection of this attitude is found in the administration's "partnership" plan for power development. This means that the federal government, local government, and private enterprise will all work together to get needed jobs done at the lowest cost, in the quickest period of time, and under conditions which protect the interests of all concerned. That idea seems to be working—according to Time, planned new power projects in the Northwest not involving federal money will cost $1,500,000,000. This makes sense to McKay, and it obviously makes sense to his boss, the President.

Interior policy will be a big issue in the next election—and so McKay, inevitably, will be a big figure in the campaign.

LES TALK

By LESTER

Frequently I have trouble figuring out just what to write about, and this week is no exception. So, to keep from boring you, I'll reprint some jokes and wisecracks which you may or may not enjoy. Read at your own risk.

According to Philomena Wattle, the congregation was so small last Sunday that she blushed when the Reverend got up and said, "Dearly beloved."

Children, like canoes, are more easily controlled if paddled from the rear.

Jock McSwinnay asked his old friend Sandy McTavish how he liked his new radio.

"Mon, 'tis grand for the music," said Sandy, "but the wee light's hard to read by."

Food for thought, seriously speaking: "I am more deadly than the screaming shell from a howitzer; I ruin without killing, I tear down homes; I break hearts and wreck lives. I have no respect for truth or justice, no mercy for the defenseless. You will find me in the pews of the pious and the haunts of the unholy. I am wily, cunning, malicious—and I gather strength with age. I make my way where greed, mistrust, and dishonor are unknown. I feed on good and bad alike. My victims are as numerous as the sands of the sea and often as innocent. I never forgive and never forget. My name is Gossip."

A subway was being dug. An inebriate stopped beside the excavation and called down to the man at the bottom of the pit: "Shay, watcha doin' down there?"

"Building a subway."

"How long's it gonna take to build it?"

"Three years."

"To heck with it. I'll take a taxi."

Brown was sitting with his wife behind a palm on a hotel veranda late one night when a young man and a girl came and sat down on a bench near them.

Hidden behind the palm, Mrs. Brown whispered to her husband, "Oh, John, he doesn't know we're here and he's going to propose. Whistle to warn him."

"What for?" said Brown. "No-body whistled to warn me."

The only people who can afford to live like millionaires today are the billionaires.

The word "gentleman" is defined in this way: a man who is clean both inside and outside; who neither looks up to the rich nor down to the poor; who can lose without squealing and win without bragging; who is considerate of all people; who is too brave to lie; too generous to cheat; and who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs.

There's no limit to the good a man can do if he doesn't care who gets the credit.

"Have you," asked the electrician, "any four-volt, two-watt bulbs?"

"For what?" asked his assistant.

"No, two."

"Two what?"

"Yes."

"No."

KENNY METHOD AIMS AT TOTAL REHABILITATION

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. — The aim of the Kenny treatment for polio is "total rehabilitation." Polio is a merciless disease. It strikes different individuals in different ways. With some patients its duration is short. Others require long, tender and alert care, lasting for months — for years.

The Kenny method means that there is less crippling, less deformity, less pain, less need for braces, better muscle function, and there is less surgery required.

The full Kenny treatment stresses importance of normal patterns of motion rather than merely a degree of movement, which in turn means more hours of personal care from medical and polio specialists.

Follow-up care is an important phase of the Kenny Foundation's rehabilitation program. Previous to discharge, each patient and his family receive careful counseling, instructions and advice from Kenny doctors concerning future care. Patients then return for periodic check-ups and treatments, as prescribed, for periods up to five years or longer.

That policy enables the Kenny medical staff to follow the progress of each patient until the maximum degree of recovery has been attained.

The Kenny treatment is made available to polio patients, regardless of age, race, creed or financial circumstances upon request of a physician.

To make possible the continuation of its many activities, the Kenny Foundation is now conducting its annual polio fund appeal. These activities include the training of additional registered nurses and physical therapists to become Kenny Therapists who, under medical supervision, administer the famed treatment; sponsoring of medical seminars; conducting medical research and providing emergency Kenny Therapist assistance.

Even though a safe vaccine for polio may be developed and comes into general use, as is the hope of all individuals and agencies dealing with the disease, the rehabilitation phase of polio treatment will continue a prime factor for a period of years to come.

Polio leaves some of its victims with residues which require months and years to combat. It is only by patient and tender care and attention that many such victims can be brought to the stage of self-sufficiency which keeps them from becoming burdens on society.

 placed second in the contest, instead of third as was stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Shelton took their son Jimmy to Dallas last week for a check-up on his leg. The doctors found that the leg was much improved, that they could lower it some, and hoped to be able to put it down normally the next time.

R. H. Collier, a former resident of McLean, died last Thursday at Tucson, Ariz., it has been learned here. Collier, a native of Tyler, moved to Tucson from Dallas about a year ago. Two Types of Seed Made Available For Area Farmers

Vetch and Austrian pea seed are available through the Soil Conservation Service, and may be obtained locally from either Paul Kennedy or Homer Abbott. Application for the seed must be made at the P. M. A. office in Pampa, Kennedy said, and then the seed may be obtained here. The seed are being sold at a reduced price, and actually the aid from the P. M. A. will more than pay for the seed, it was explained.

Kennedy said that farmers who need the seed for winter pasture planting should contact him or Abbott in the near future. The first shipment of the seed has already been sold out, but more has been ordered.

to mark down on the season's record.

Memphis, playing without the 1953 leader, Duke Frisbie, easily took Tulsa, a Class AA outfit. The Cyclone may miss Frisbie, but not as much as many fans had believed.

Gruver, the newcomer to the district, also surprised fans when the Greyhounds easily ousted Class B Sunray. Sunray is switching from 6-man to 11-man football this season, but the 32-0 victory by Gruver is still surprising.

Clarendon won handily from Groom 32 to 19; but the Broncs are not expected to go far this year. White Deer lost its second game of the fall Friday night, although the Bucks may upset some leading team later on. Panhandle also lost its opener. The Panthers were expected to be downed, since their opponent, Perryton, is slated to have its strongest team in several years.

In other words, most anything can happen in District 1-A this fall—and likely will.

It is the part of a great and good man to do great and noble deeds though he risks everything in doing them.—Plutarch.

Intellectually, as well as politically, the direction of all true progress is toward greater freedom, and along an endless succession of ideas.—Christian Nestell Bovee.

In the three other public schools, the enrollment is 24 at Grandview; 46 at Alanreed; and 88 at Hopkins. Alanreed high students, 24 of them, are attending the McLean school for the first time this year.

There is no real substitute for a "seat in the stands" at a football game. Neither radio nor television can capture the full flavor of the game, with its dramatic moments, its color, its crowds. You will want to see as many football games as you can.

When you can't, you're invited to enjoy Humble's comprehensive program of football on the air:

RADIO:
 Southwest Conference games will be brought to you every weekend. The schedule includes broadcasts of both non-conference and conference games. Kern Tips again heads Humble's staff of able announcers.

TELEVISION:
 Live! Humble will bring Texans live telecasts of outstanding college games every Saturday afternoon during the season, and on Thanksgiving Day. These are telecast under the program of the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Tentative schedules include four Southwest Conference teams.

On film! Humble's weekly television program, Texas in Review, will feature highlights of Southwest Conference play. This appears on Monday or Tuesday nights over 14 Texas television stations. Special arrangements enable you to see Saturday's action as early as Monday night.
