It is expected that two of the three regulars that were out of last week's lineup with injuries will be ready to start. Harris will rejuvenate the Big Spring backfield until it will hardly be recognized as the same startnig quartet that lost to the Mustangs. Coots may not start at an end but the Steer cocapt captain is certain to see service if phayically fit. The tackled and guards, the spots at which Delker aims, are well-fortified. The former displayed an inclination against McCamey to be as good as against McCamey to be as good as in 1931, which will be good enough, while Smith, day in and day out, has been one of the Bovings best linemen and deserves much more praise than he has received. Or it something happens there's Bob Flowers, the second best center in the district, a guard as well.

The locals will be in better shape than at any time this year. Mike Roberts is out for the season, but otherwise their full strength should a be ready to take the field.
