

McLean Gas Well Potential Reported

Mayor Ed Lander reported this week that McLean's new gas well has a potential of four million. The well is located on the disposal plant land one-half mile east of the city.

Lander stated that the total cost of the well would be approximately $18,000, being drilled to a depth of 2,248 feet. It is not sand fractured or treated.

There remains the possibility that more gas will be produced later from the well, but is not needed at the present time. Inasmuch as it is a good well at the present depth, it was decided not to drill deeper.

Due to the small acreage in the west Panhandle field, the city will only be allowed to run about 300,000 per day.

Drilling of the well was made necessary due to the decline of other city owned gas wells.

The possession of the new well by the city will alleviate any possible shortage of natural gas in the future for residents of McLean.

EIGHT McLEAN STUDENTS TO ATTEND CANYON BAND SCHOOL

Eight students from McLean are among the more than 200 who already have registered for the sixth annual West Texas Music Camp, slated Aug. 4-15 at West Texas State College.

They are Marsha Andrews, Melvin Butrum, Jack Back, James Farris, Keith Goodman, Dorothy Pagan, Doris Lee VanHuss and Joe Howard.

Among the McLean students attending, four received scholarships to the camp, including Dorothy Pagan, Goodman, Back and Doris VanHuss. Miss Pagan will be the band drum major during the forthcoming school year. Goodman received his scholarship on Cornet, Back on Baritone and Miss VanHuss on French Horn.

With more than 200 already signed for the camp, only about 60 places remain open, according to David L. Kaplan, camp director. Enrollment is limited to approximately 300 high school musicians from the Tri-State area.

Kaplan has announced that with the registration of several string students, an orchestra will be added to the camp's musical groups, which include three concert bands, a "reading" band, a choir, and twirling ensembles.

The addition of strings instruction this year marks the first time an orchestra has been formed for the camp. The strings students will be organized and directed by John Tesovnik of Bakersfield, Calif., where Tesovnik is an orchestra director for the public schools. Tesovnik has attended the camp previously for special courses.

Mrs. Charlotte Brantly, principal violinist for the Amarillo Symphony, will teach private lessons in strings. The orchestra and soloists will perform at the camp's solo and ensemble concert Aug. 13.

McLean band director Bruce Cook stated that any students needing transportation to the camp could contact him.

School Homecoming September 5, 6

Former students of McLean schools are reminded of the homecoming scheduled for September 5 and 6.

Sponsors of the first homecoming said: "You home folks, let's get our cards out and let everyone know about the homecoming. The only ones who have picked up their cards are Mrs. Leta Mae Hess, Mrs. Dickie Everett, Bill Reeves, Mrs. Jane Simpson, Mrs. June Woods, Mrs. Margaret Coleman, Mrs. Ruth Magee, Mrs. LaRue Hambricht and Mrs. Sinclair Armstrong.

"You don't want your class to be left out, and it's up to you to get those invitations in the mail. If your name was not on the list which was published recently and you want your class members invited, then you are elected to get busy.

"Pick up your cards at the Southwestern Public Service office and get them in the mail soon—let's make this first homecoming a big success."

Little Sack Is for Tiny Tots

BY EDNA MILES

Daddy's girl usually gets her way but the poor man will have a rougher time resisting her in her pint-sized peignoir.

Lucky young ladies, sizes 1-1½ years, can wear this newest fashion for infants as a soft swaddling or a robe. At this age, curiosity keeps them toddling from room to room, even after that final good night. And we all know a gal's got to look her best on such strolls.

Although adapted from the kimono style, the infant peignoir falls with more flair. Delicate lace trims the curving yoke and bows hide snap fasteners.

In color, too, this fashionable young miss scores since the peignoir comes in azure pinchecks, a new shade for infants' wear, as well as pink.

All a tike can say to this as a birthday gift is, "If Mommy can hide in a sack, so can I."

Fashion knows no age limit. Soft peignoir keeps tot covered in a cute way.

WHO PAYS YOUR BILLS?

If you go into a store and buy a bag of groceries, a suit of clothes, a household appliance, or anything else, you expect to pay for it yourself. You don't expect other people, who may never patronize the store or buy the same brands of goods, to pay part of the bill for you. The same is true when you purchase services.

But there are exceptions to this rule—and they are found in commercial enterprises run by the government. These enterprises rarely if ever pay their own way. They commonly operate at a loss which is made up out of general government revenues, which simply means that they are subsidized to some degree by all the taxpayers.

A long list of examples could be cited. A typical one is parcel post. It is not a basic post office function. It does not advance the cause of public information and enlightenment, as do other post office functions. It is purely a commercial undertaking. It competes directly with private, taxpaying parcel carriers on a national, regional and local scale. And as the Hoover Commission and other authoritative bodies have pointed out—it operates at a deficit.

This simply means that you pay part of the bills for those who use parcel post service. With the prospect of staggering federal deficits, and increased spending, it's pretty hard to find any sound argument against increasing parcel post rates to the point where revenues balance the costs, both direct and indirect.

TASTE OF GRATITUDE

Back at the time of the Suez crisis, it will be recalled, leading American oil companies were called upon by the American government to perform a Herculean emergency job of oil delivery to save Western Europe from potential disaster. For its part, the government exempted the companies from certain provisions of the anti-trust laws so that they might get maximum results in minimum time.

History shows that the oil companies succeeded magnificently. Western Europe got the oil she urgently needed, despite the stoppage of Near East shipments.

Now, however, the government has brought an anti-trust action against some 26 of the leading oil companies, charging collusion that forced up crude oil and gas prices.

National Review has an interesting comment on this. After briefly summing up the oil companies' achievement it says: "The facts in the case have yet to reach the public. But on the face of it, oil and gasoline prices (a) would have risen at the time of the Suez crisis for natural economic reasons, and (b) would have tended to stabilize at a given point. That is the general law of economics. . . . If the Department of Justice hasn't any better evidence of collusion and 'price fixing' than the natural behavior of the oil and gasoline market during a period of sudden scarcity, it had better call off its dogs."

Meanwhile, the oil companies have had a taste of government gratitude. At the moment they are probably quoting Mark Twain's wounded bemusement when a friend turned against him. Said the satirist, when an erstwhile bosom companion was reported to be malingering him, "I must have done the s. o. b. a favor."

UNIQUE IN HISTORY

How many people own shares of stock in American corporations?

No one knows the answer for sure. But this deficiency will be remedied late next spring. At that time the results of a comprehensive census of shareholders will be available.

It is being conducted by the New York Stock Exchange, and is described as the most extensive research project ever undertaken by that long-established institution. Thousands of man and electronic machine hours will be devoted to gathering and analyzing facts. The composition and geographic spread of the stockholding will be made known. So will such facts as the age, occupation, income level and education of the people who own American business.

A stockholder census was first made in 1952, and at that time slightly less than 6,500,000 people owned shares. A second survey was made in 1956, and showed a 33% jump to 8,600,000. The current survey is using highly refined research techniques that provide far greater accuracy than is possible through more conventional methods.

One thing is sure—the stockholder population amounts to a very substantial and growing proportion of the total population. As Keith Funston, president of the Exchange, has said: "This development of a People's Capitalism is unique in history. Never before has a major economic power extended the concept of ownership—so successfully or so voluntarily—to so broad a base."

OIL QUOTA UP AGAIN—

Texas oil allowable for August will be 328,185 barrels a day more than for July—a hopeful sign for an industry that's been "in the dumps" for more than a year.

Railroad Commission set next month's allowable at 2,978,058 barrels daily. Number of producing days will be increased from 9 to 12. Last month production rose from its all-time low of 8 days.

Reason for the increase was not so much the disturbance in the oil-producing Middle East, said one commissioner, as the fact that Texas had finally reduced its excess oil stocks to correct levels.

Insurance Board Upheld
 State Insurance Board finally scored a technical knock-out in its prolonged bout with an Austin district judge.

Texas Supreme Court ruled that Judge Charles O. Betts did not have authority to name V. F. Taylor receiver for insurance cases in his court. High court says the receiver must be the state liquidator appointed by the insurance board.

Board had appointed C. H. Ung as state liquidator. Judge Betts said he did not regard Langdeau as acceptable. He named Taylor receiver for cases in his court.

Supreme Court also ruled void Betts' action in raising salaries of liquidation attorneys working on cases in his court.

Division of authority between the courts and Insurance Department over insurance company liquidation has been a source of dissension for years.

50-50 PLAN—State Highway Department will reimburse cities and counties half the court costs of securing land for state and U. S. highway building.

Up until last year costs of obtaining right of way were borne solely by local governments. Last Legislature passed a law authorizing the state to share the cost 50-50 with cities and counties. At first this was construed to mean the state would pay half the cost of purchasing the land. Now it has been expanded to include half of court costs and appraisers' fees.

An increase of 10.88 per cent has been ordered in the Texas Prison System's cotton acreage allotment

Officials of the Texas system had been actively dissatisfied, contending the plan on farms had dealt a bigger-than-average cut. Less production means less money for operating the prisons, they pointed out, and, hence, greater cost to Texas taxpayers.

On their behalf, the Texas Attorney General's Department appealed to the Agriculture Stabilization Committee and, finally, to federal court.

MORE PRISON COTTON
 Adjustment obtained will mean 384 more acres of prison cotton can be harvested. It'll save $100,000 in tax money, prison officials estimate.

CITY TAX PROPOSALS—City officials are laying plans to ask the next Legislature to extend and adjust city taxing powers.

Legislative committee of the League of Texas Municipalities has drawn up a two-pronged proposal to:

1. Allow cities to broaden their tax base and lighten the burden on property owners.
2. Substitute another tax to be collected at time of auto registration for the present "unworkable" property tax on cars.

SCHOOL FUND FIGHT—A rough and tumble time can be expected next year when lawmakers consider just how permanent the permanent school fund should be.

Rep. Louis Dugas of Orange has announced that he will introduce a bill which would allow the state to use part of the revenue from school lands for current expenses instead of putting it all into the permanent fund.

Congressman Rogers Reports TO THE PEOPLE

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT:

The political explosion in the Midwest swept everything off the front pages and the foremost spots on television and radio broadcasts, including the much publicized Adams-Goldfine hearings which will probably be suspended for awhile until other legislative business can be taken care of before adjournment. However, it can be expected that the Adams-Goldfine hearings will continue as soon as time permits. The people of this country are entitled to know the full story as to what has or has not happened with relation to the conduct of the administrative agencies of the government. These agencies occupy a quasi-judicial status in our economy, and in many instances their powers exceed those of the courts. Under the circumstances, side door entries and influence peddling cannot be tolerated in the slightest.

The Midwest situation has unified this country as it should. The developments in that part of the world were probably anticipated but not expected. It was generally felt in Washington that anything could happen, but apparently few people expected it to happen when it did and where it did. This has caused deep concern in many parts of the nation's capital and these questions are being asked repeatedly: "Where was our intelligence?" "Was there a lack of knowledge or a lack of cooperation?" Apparently, it was one or the other. The intelligence agency of this government is under the jurisdiction of the Executive Branch, and has been headed for several years by Allan Dulles, the brother of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

With the past few months two incidents have occurred about which the government of this country, if not all of the people, should have had ample advance warning. The first of these was the occurrence in the Latin American countries when the Vice President of this country was spat upon by angry and demonstrating mobs who obviously were spurred into action by a long, smoldering feeling of hatred and ill-will as to some of the policies of this government. At that time I wrote a newsletter in which I posed the question as to whether or not the intelligence agency of this government was at fault. Subsequently, I was told in private that the intelligence agency knew of the ill feeling and unrest in those countries and had warned the Vice President, further, that the intelligence agency of this country was second to none in the world. Yet, only a few short months

SAYS Mr. Lee Pool, 924 WEST FIRST STREET, MULESHOE, TEXAS

What better "insurance" for a good catch than a home freezer, as Mr. Pool, a partner in an insurance firm, testifies. Says sportsman Pool, "When I get home with fish or game, regardless of the hour, I can immediately put the catch in my freezer and preserve its fine quality. One of my great joys in hunting and fishing is sharing of the fish I catch and the game I shoot, all year, with friends, relatives and neighbors." Whether or not you're a sportsman, you'll like the fine way an electric food freezer preserves the flavor and freshness of foods. Ask anyone who owns an electric home freezer.

THANK YOU

I wish to take this means to express my sincere thanks to friends who supported me in the recent election.

I also want to thank my opponents for the clean race just run.

Too, I wish to say to all the voters I am still in the race and will appreciate any support you might give me in the run-off on August 23.

VETERANS INFORMATION

Q—I'm a Korea veteran and, since my discharge, I have been operating a small business of my own. I am eligible, under the law, for a GI loan. Can I use my GI loan to help me expand my business?

A—Yes. Under the law, you may use a GI business loan either for the purpose of undertaking or expanding a legitimate business venture. You must, of course, find a lender who will make you the loan under GI terms.

Q—This fall, I expect to be taking a night course in law under the Korean GI bill. I will be starting a full four-year course, and at an accredited school, but will only be attending at night. For purposes of my VA training allowance will this be considered full-time or part-time training?

A—Your night school training will be measured as not more than three-quarters time training. It may not be considered as training full time.

Q—A young man of my acquaintance, the child of a World War Two friend, now deceased, is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Act. He would, however, need some special program of education because of a disability. Does the law make provision for that type of training?

A—Yes. The law includes special restorative training to help eligible young men and women overcome the effects of disability.

Q—We've just had a baby boy born in our family. I still want my wife to remain as benefi-

GRAY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

By Jim Smathers

Ranges in the Gray County Soil Conservation District are beginning to look very good. Rains have fallen all during the first six months of this year. The grasses have grown and many grasses are now beginning to seed. The short grasses such as buffalo and blue grama already have a seed head. The mid-grasses such as sidecoats grama and little bluestem are beginning to make a seed head. The tall grasses such as sand bluestem and switch grass are putting out seed heads on some of the better ranges.

Ranchers wishing to improve their ranges need to take inventory of their grasses now. After the drought years many ranges were getting short. Some ranges improved a lot last year. This year appears to be a better year for improvement.

Most ranges need some deferred grazing to get the improvement needed. Grasses need to be rested during the growing season to improve the vigor of the forage stand and to insure seed production. A grass plant needs to grow some foliage with which to manufacture food for growth and storage. A plant that does not have the foliage above ground does not have a good root system underground.

YOUR DRY CLEANER SPEAKS:

This year we celebrate our twentieth year in the dry cleaning business. The dry cleaning industry has come a long way since that time. Most spotting solutions, digestants and bleaches were mixed according to the spotter's own notion.

Lye was used to purify the cleaning fluid that your garments were cleaned in. Strong caustics, ammonia, etc., were used also, and we made our sizing from gum arabia and wood alcohol.

Today's ready mixed spotting solutions and detergents, in the hands of one who knows the business, are as safe on your garments as the ready packaged food from the grocery store are on your table.

Clothes cleaned often last longer because perspiration and soil tend to rot even the best of materials. Always have them cleaned before storing, because time sets some spots until they are almost impossible to remove.

McLean has two reliable cleaning establishments. If you don't patronize the other one, then come to us with all your cleaning needs, also expert alterations.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By STARKEY WHITEHORN

Times have changed so in the last 25 years that it would be difficult for a person born in the early thirties to really understand some of the everyday happenings that took place in the twenties or even earlier, especially in the outdoors. For example, nowadays for a cut or bruise we use some sort of antibiotic cream or maybe an injection in the hip or old days there were but a very few drugs and these were used for almost any disease or infection. Coal oil, turpentine, tobacco, salt, soda and axle grease together with a few more items that were usually kept around the ranch house, were the sum total of medicine.

Axle grease was always a sure cure for a cut on the finger or foot. If this wasn't available, the soot from the stove or chimney would suffice. The pioneers used what was available on the ranch to cure or attempt to cure practically any ailment. In the small farming communities there were always a few self-styled veterinarians (medicine men) who did most of the doctoring of animals, while at the same time there were some of the wives who doctoring the human ailments.

Time has accounted for most of these unpaid neighborly doctors, but there are still a few around. In fact, about 20 years back there were two of these community doctors who passed judgment upon a horse that had the colic (stomach ache). First vet made the remark as the horse was stomping the ground from stomach pains, "Old Ben has got the colic, he's got bots. If he had a cup of syrup mixed with vinegar and soda it would relieve him. You see, them bots is biting on his stomach. The syrup would cause the bots (stomach worms for horses) to start to feed on the syrup, the vinegar and soda would cause him to belch and he would be all right in 10 or 15 minutes."

The rider rode on to the next farm house (he had a bottle of colic medicine on the saddle which was from a bona fide vet) and tied up old Ben to a post oak tree and sat a spell with his neighbor. While Ben's owner was visiting with the neighbor and his small son, old Ben again began to stomp and kick the ground since another pain had evidently struck him.

"Old Ben has got the colic," said the friend.

"Well, how about giving him some soda, syrup, vinegar and warm water?" spoke up the rider.

"Don't ever give a horse that has the colic that," said vet number two. "A horse ain't got no gall, he can't belch, the soda and vinegar would cause gas and it would kill him. Now what old Ben needs is a teacup full of salt mixed with a quart of warm water. That will ease his pain and he will be relieved in a few minutes," exclaimed vet number two.

This was tried and pretty soon old Ben's guzzle bobbed and he let out a burp that would be heard for miles on a still day. Funny thing about it was that the second doctor's young son asked, "Daddy, what did Ben do?" "Well, son, it looked like he might have belched," was the reply.

"Now this is what is needed and I will tell you the reason why," was one of the common sayings of these self-styled doctors of veterinary medicine. They could always explain everything to their own satisfaction and to most of the others in the community. For a sick cow the usual diagnosis was, "She's got the holler horn." Remedy was to bore a hole in the critter's horn. For the holler tail, simply split the end of the cow's tail for a few inches, pour salt in the wound, bind same with a rag, and if the animal died then she was too far gone to have been helped. Another sure cure for horse colic, the most common disease among horses in the by-gone days, was to fill a rag with snuff (tobacco powder, youngster), tie same around the bridle bits and put the bridle on the sick animal, then ride the horse or work the mule until it was exhausted. P. S. This has saved many a valuable animal... just inquire about some of the old-time remedies.

Ground glass also performed wonders, so they say, on horses and mules that were affected with the fistula.

When a horse was suffering with any kind of a kidney ailment, all that was necessary was to fill a teaspoon with turpentine, then place same within a few inches of the horse's navel. Somehow it was all "sucked up" and old Traveller was on the road again.

One of the more modern prescriptions was to feed a dog with the soremouth on canned sardines. If the canine wasn't in too poor health he would be cured.

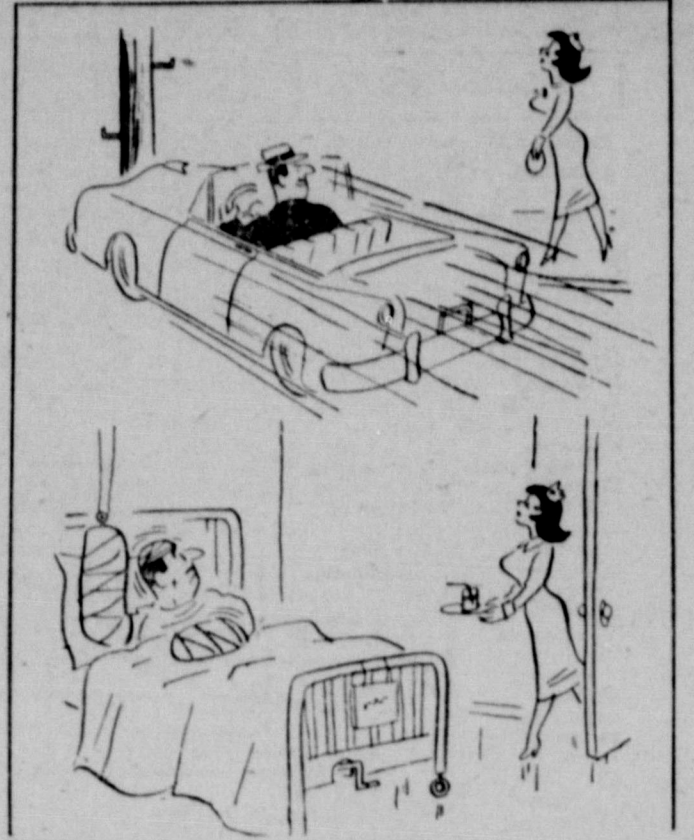

Getting rid of fleas was very simple. Just put a billygoat in the horse lot and the fleas would soon disappear (usually when wintertime set in).

HOLD THAT WHEEL!—From the looks of things, the driver of this Citroen 2CV had better hang on to his chassis. The wheels are on the ground but the body looks as though it's about to fly off in a different direction. The little car provided laughs for spectators of a race in Hockenheim, Germany.

Week End Party

A week end party the home of Mr. and Mrs. Luther McCombs, 12 miles northwest of town, was enjoyed by a number last week. They found Mr. and Mrs. McCombs to be the most desirable host and hostess. There wasn't anything lacking in the way of entertainment. Everyone left declaring that they had the best time of the whole season.

Those in attendance were Messrs. Luther Coffey, D. B. Veatch, Emmett Thompson, Joe Glass, W. C. Foster, Bill Bunly, Erwin Rice and Dr. Montgomery;

Mesdames Coffey, Veatch, Getter, Simmons, Montgomery; Misses Thelma Rogers, Maude and Hattie Thompson, Mabel Watkins, Rena Moody, Vida Montgomery, Pearl Gull, Pearl Pool of Hamilton, Mildred Walter and Frances Charles of Amarillo.

Wedding Shower
Among the most pleasant social functions of the season was the one given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Watkins on last Saturday evening in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooke.

At 5 o'clock the guests began to arrive until there were 60 present. After the guests had arrived, the bride and groom came, accompanied by Leona Watkins and Evan Sitter. They were ushered into the presence of their many friends and were met by two little girls, Vera Wilson and Alvera Cooper, carrying a huge basket filled to overflowing with gifts consisting of silverware, cut glass, china, linens and a number of other things. The gifts were presented by Mrs. H. M. Smith after which they were put on display.

Miss McCurdy entertained the guests with some beautiful selections on the piano. Refreshments of ice cream were served. As the hour hand pointed to 7, the guests departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Cooke a successful journey through the matrimonial seas of life.

STOCKS AND BONDS

The phrase "stocks and bonds" is pretty familiar to most Americans whether they own any of them or not. The phrase has been used so often that many persons don't realize that there is a difference between stocks and bonds.

When you buy a share of stock in a corporation, you become a part owner of it. You own a share of everything the corporation is. If there are 1000 shares outstanding and you own one share, you have an "undivided" one thousandth share in the corporation. This means that no particular piece of the corporation's property is yours but that you have an interest in every piece of property.

When you buy a corporation's bond, you are lending money to the corporation. You do not own any part of it. The corporation promises to pay you interest on the loan and to return your money when the bond "matures."

Unlike a stockholder, a bondholder usually has no voice in how the corporation is managed or in selection of the corporation officers. However, the bondholder receives his interest payments before any money is paid to the stockholder. He must be paid even if there is then nothing left to pay dividends to the stockholders.

If the corporation quits doing business or goes bankrupt, the bondholders are repaid for their loans before any of the investment of the stockholders is returned.

Perhaps you have heard of "preferred stock." Usually, preferred stockholders have a right to collect a particular fixed amount of dividend before the "common" stockholders receive any dividend. There are many possible preferred stock arrangements. But frequently, in return for their first chance at the profits, the preferred stockholders give up any voting rights or ability to control the company.

If it turns out that the corporation is fabulously successful and earns huge profits, most of the profits will go to the common stockholders. It is a rule of thumb that the common stockholders take a greater risk with their investment but stand to make a greater

Bible Comment:

Why Did Abraham Pray for Sodom, The Wicked City?

In early times, moral and spiritual problems confronted the thoughtful man. When a murder was committed, it was not only the revulsion of feeling that led to great emphasis on the sanctity of life, but there was the life, also to be considered, of the murderer, himself.

The conception of mercy developed that a man who felt the grievousness of what he had done ought to have some place of refuge where he could be safe from the vengeance of those who demanded a life for a life.

It was from a consideration like this that Abraham prayed for intercession for Sodom. Why should this good man interest himself in the fate of that wicked city?

It was because his brother-in-law, Lot, lived in Sodom. He had pitched his tent in that direction when Abraham had given him his choice of lands. Lot had made a selfish, materialistic and worldly choice, thinking only of getting better soil. He forgot of the environment he was dragging his family into. His fate was involved in that of the doomed city.

Study Abraham's intercessory prayer for it expresses a great sense of spiritual values and a high conception of the real nature and place of God's goodness.

Is the preservation of the life of a few who are righteous more important than the punishment of a great number who are wicked? That is the question underlying Abraham's frank appeal to God.

It is a question that requires a great deal of emphasis today when there is a strong tendency toward mass verdicts and mass judgments and disregard of the true and the innocent.

THE POWER OF GOD'S WORD

By David V. Fultz, Minister

McLean Church of Christ

God's word can be a great power for good in the life of any person who will let it. However, so few people will allow themselves to become thoroughly enough acquainted with it for it to influence their lives

We should read and study the word of God every day and attend all the Bible study periods of the church. No greater comment can be made of any people than that they love to study God's word. David stated in Psalms 19:7 "The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple." A person may be well educated in all other affairs in life and still not possess genuine knowledge and wisdom, but no person with a thorough knowledge of the word of God can be considered lacking in knowledge of things worth while in life.

The word of God has the power to transform the most wicked life into one fit for the kingdom of God, and the ultimate home in heaven. It makes the weak strong and humbles the proud. It is so powerful that the great enemy of all mankind, Satan, cannot stand where it is properly used. It is sharper than a sword and it cuts to the heart of man. It makes us realize our own shortcomings and sins.

Perhaps this is the reason so many people will not come to hear it preached. They do not love the truth and do not want to change their lives from wickedness to serving the living God.

Won't you read the Bible today and every day, prayerfully and with a sincere desire to know the truth? God will surely bless you if you will.

You are invited to attend the meeting at the Church of Christ through next Wednesday.
