

PLAIN TALK

By BILL PERKINS

With the American Legion rodeo over, precinct conventions and last week's wet-dry election now history, at first glance you might think that things would be slowing down a bit here, but it's just not so. If you don't believe us ask any faculty member at school or any student.

It's true that only eight more days of school remain but every one of those days will be a busy one for teachers and students. Saturday will be a make-up day for classes missed back during the snow storm, and Sunday baccalaureate services are planned for the senior class at the Church of Christ.

Next week's issue of The News will have a picture and a brief biographical sketch of each graduating senior. Forty students make up the graduating class this year.

Six candidates for governor will be listed on the ballot in the first primary. They are Reuben Senterfitt, Price Daniel, W. Lee O'Daniel, Ralph Yarborough and J. J. Holmes. Holmes, an Austin contractor, told newspapers last week that if he was elected he would strive to make it legal to make bets on horse races in Texas. He said he had a poll taken recently and in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Houston-Galveston area and Amarillo, 65% of the persons interviewed indicated that they believed horse racing should be legal. Whether Holmes places or not, the governor's election promises to be a horse race this year with W. Lee O'Daniel in the running. Poll takers and political dopesters quit trying to figure the outcome of any race he is in a long time ago.

Speaking of polls and horse races, the advertising manager of The American Weekly claims that the three top television rating poll takers listed Dragnet in three different ratings during the same week. On one list it was rated number two; on the list of the second rated it placed in the number 12 spot; and in the third rating it was listed as number 14. Guess it depends on who is taking the poll. He says if horses paid off like that there wouldn't be any gamblers, for long.

In Gray county only the office of sheriff will have two candidates this year. Sheriff Rufe Jordan announced earlier and we understand that G. H. Kyle, a former Gray County sheriff, has paid his filing fee as a candidate for the office.

Week after next, May 21 thru 26, has been designated as clean-up week in McLean. The city has announced that a truck will pick up all the rubbish and tree limbs placed in the alleys or at the curbs during that time. They have asked that nothing that cannot be handled by one man be placed with the rubbish.

Cecil Callahan told us that equipment for McLean's hospital arrived Wednesday and was all uncrated. An open house may be held at the hospital as soon as everything is placed and cleaned, he said. That sounds like an excellent idea to us. It is something to be proud of and we believe there would be lots of spectators.

Johnson Wins in Texas AND GRAY COUNTY, TOO

Gray County Democrats Tuesday re-affirmed U. S. Senator Lyndon Johnson as their choice for leader of the state delegation and as a "favorite son" presidential nominee. The county Democrats had previously made their choice at the precinct conventions last Saturday. This was the trend throughout the state and Sen. Johnson handed Governor Allan Shivers his first defeat in over 20 years.

At the county convention in Pampa Tuesday, Democrats passed several resolutions and instructed 11 delegates to the state convention to vote as a unit for Sen. Johnson. The senator was endorsed as a favorite son candidate and as the leader of the Texas delegation to the national convention.

Because of a small pro-Shivers faction present at the county convention, each precinct had to be polled on each resolution. All resolutions introduced were passed.

Included in the list of resolutions was one calling for the return to the two-thirds rule in nominating Presidential candidates. Another resolution called for the right of states to govern themselves and opposed federal control of schools and medicine. Another resolution adopted Tuesday condemned the cross-filing of candidates and requested the abolition of the law permitting such practices.

The delegates adopted three other resolutions. One was to send congratulations and best wishes to "Elder-Statesman"

Harry S. Truman on his birthday (he was 72 Tuesday). Another resolution, in effect, read Governor Allan Shivers out of the Democratic party and "back to the Republicans."

The last resolution adopted by the Democrats specified that "in the future any Republican attending a Democratic convention in order to gain admittance at the door, must be wearing a Landon, Wilkie or Dewey button."

The convention began at 2:00 p. m. and ended shortly before 4:00.

Gray County SOIL DISTRICT

By Jim Smathers, Soil Conservationist

Every farmer and rancher in the Gray County Soil Conservation District is interested in getting a greater return from his investment. The best way to increase the net profit of any unit is to have a plan of operations. This includes a detailed plan for land use.

The supervisors of the Gray County Soil Conservation District encourage each farmer and rancher to take a new look at his operations. How many small details can be left out or rearranged to reduce the overhead? How many things can be changed to give more efficiency or a larger (Continued on back page)

Texas Highway Patrol Needs More Men

Captain J. W. Blackwell, commanding officer of the Amarillo District of the Texas Highway Patrol, said today that applications are being received from young Texans who are interested in appointment to the state patrol force.

The patrol captain said that he will be happy to talk to prospective candidates at his office in Amarillo, located at 2200 East 10th Avenue. He pointed out that the last legislature authorized an increase of 200 men in the patrol's strength and that the remaining vacancies would be filled through examinations given state-wide late in June from the list of applicants filing between now and June 10.

General qualifications for appointment to the Texas Highway patrol, according to Capt. Blackwell include the following: age 21 to 35 years inclusive; high school education, or equivalent; minimum height of 5 feet 8 inches; weight in proportion to height; good moral character; perfect physical condition; and excellent character.

Rookie patrolmen are paid during their training and probationary period, the captain said, and other job benefits outlined by the captain include: two weeks paid vacation annually; sick leave; state retirement, and federal social security.

Application blanks may be obtained from the district patrol office in Amarillo or by writing to Chief W. J. Elliott, Texas Highway Patrol, Austin.

Nuptial vows were repeated by Miss Rose Arline Grigsby and John Owen Rhea in a double-ring ceremony Friday, May 4, at the First Baptist Church of McLean.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arlie L. Grigsby and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Pies N. Rhea, both of McLean.

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

Texas is buzzing with activity! Although political squabbles take the headlines, the state's general prosperity affects the average Texan's life more significantly.

In almost all areas—industry, construction, retailing and employment—the graphs are pointing up, up and up. General business activity hit a new record high—4 per cent above 1955 and 6 per cent above the first quarter of last year.

Texas also is out in front in national comparisons. Estimates of gross national production show a 3 per cent rise for the first quarter of 1956. Texas' rise was 4 per cent.

Retail sales in Texas were up 3 per cent over the first quarter of 1955. Department stores led with 5 to 10 per cent increases.

Texas' increase in industrial activity is regarded as the most significant factor in the overall picture. Business research experts believe that Texas will receive more than its proportionate share of the $34,000,000,000 which industry is expected to spend nationwide on new plants this year.

Contractors are confident they are headed for a record year. April construction totaled $88,000,000—an increase of $21,000,000 over April of '55.

Employment followed the general upward trend. This, despite drought-crippled farm activity. Latest figures show 2,248,200 wage earners in March. That is 115,000 more than for March of last year.

Politics is Boiling

In bitter precinct battles, Gov. Allan Shivers lost the first skirmish of his long political career. Sen. Lyndon Johnson led all the way in the rural areas. He also won in San Antonio, Houston, Fort Worth and Austin. Of the metropolitan centers, Dallas alone went for Shivers.

Just as the rural vote cost Ralph Yarborough the governorship in 1954 so did the small towns defeat Shivers in 1956. In the final analysis, it was the country boy's vote that was the hub of victory.

Farmers Get New Hope

Farmers over wide areas of Texas are full of optimism. Long-awaited rains, the heaviest in years, fell in North, Central and East Texas.

However, even where it rained, substantial moisture deficiencies have not been wiped out. But to many farmers the wonderful rains that finally came made them look forward to a good year.

Sanford Cleared by Court

A decision with far-reaching effect on political advertising expenditures has been handed down by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The decision was made in connection with an application of Vernon T. Sanford, Texas Press Association manager, for relief from two indictments returned against him by a McLennan County Grand Jury. Indictments charged he had violated the Texas Election Code by spending more than $25 for political advertising in behalf of Ben Ramsey for lieutenant governor in 1954.

Sanford and his TPA board of directors contended that any law which limits an individual to a $25 expenditure prohibits freedom of expression and therefore is unconstitutional.

In reviewing the matter, the court found that two laws on the same subject were in direct conflict. Each limited advertising to widely different amounts and set different penalties. Therefore, both were declared invalid.

Result: Charges against Sanford were dismissed and Texas now has no applicable law regarding political advertising expenditures by an individual.

Labor Law at Stake

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd was forced into the role of appellate sponsor in the fight to save Texas' right-to-work law.

He asked, but was refused, U. S. Supreme Court permission to be heard. He did, however, lend moral support and advice as Nebraska's attorney argued in the high court for his state's law.

Nebraska, like Texas and 16 other states, has an anti-closed shop law which unions contend is in conflict with the National Railway Act.

Reason for Shepperd's apprehension is the general belief that Nebraska's case is weaker than the Texas case, which is still tied up in state court.

Vehicle Tax Voided

Special local automobile taxes to finance big city freeway projects are unconstitutional. So ruled the Texas Supreme Court in a case involving Harris County's auto registration tax.

Such taxes must be levied by general laws, said the court.

Dallas County made two tries for such a tax, but voters turned down the proposals.

Huge Road Program Planned

A whopping $150,000,000 road program for 1957-58 is planned by the State Highway Commission.

Anticipation of substantially increased federal funds is behind the ambitious project. Since house passage, approval of the new federal aid bill is regarded as virtually certain.

About half of the 2,161 miles of highway designated for construction work will be of the "super highway" type—four, six and eight lanes.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer said plans were released early so projects could be placed under contract quickly after final congressional action on the aid bill.

Highway Patrolmen Sought

Applicants must have lived in Texas for a year, have a high school education or equivalent and be in perfect physical condition.

"What's this?" the police asked him when they found a bottle of pills.

"Oh, that's a cure for headaches," the Russian said.

"And what's this for?" they asked as they found another bottle of pills.

"That's a cure for toothache."

"They came to a picture of Molotov and demanded: 'But what's this?'"

"That," said the Russian, is a cure for homesickness."

1,062 EYES

There are 531 members of Congress and they meet every year. "But every fourth year," Economic Intelligence observes, "a transformation takes place. All eyes—1062—turn toward November. Subjects for debate are determined, not by their bearing on the national interest, but by their capacity to get and hold votes."

The public should keep this election-year transformation in mind—especially when one side attempts to persuade us that the other side is made up of nefarious characters intent on selling the nation down the river to greedy special interests.

CHEAPER BY THE MILE!

In the back of everyone's mind there is the desire to visit some special place of interest. And while the place varies with the individual, there is one thing all travelers have in common today—the modern automobile, with the freedom of movement it provides.

Still another factor makes traveling by car enticing. A study of American Automobile Association figures on the cost of car operation shows that the more an auto is driven the cheaper it gets by the mile! The reason for this is that certain costs of auto operation, such as depreciation, insurance and license fees, remain virtually the same if a car is driven one mile or thousands of miles. These fees account for nearly fifty per cent of the price of operating a car.

AAA figures reveal that the cost per mile of operation of an auto for each person in a family of three is 5.2 cents if the car is driven 5,000 miles a year. But if the car mileage is increased to 15,000 miles a year, the cost per mile for each member of the family is more than cut in half—to 2.5 cents a mile.

So here is another good reason for taking that trip to that special place of interest.

FROM THE SAME TREE

A short time ago a 10-year-old California boy won the $100,000 jackpot on a TV quiz program.

This was a remarkable feat. What makes it still more remarkable is that the questions involved had to do with the stock market. They were tough questions, too—it's a safe bet that not one adult in many thousands could have answered them correctly. As a fitting climax to the victory, the president of the New York Stock Exchange presented the young wizard with $2500 worth of stock of his own choosing, plus a monthly investment plan of $40 a month for five years.

There is a further significance in this. It is certainly not possible that many youngsters will become ranking authorities on all the procedures and complexities involved in corporation finance. But it is eminently desirable that great numbers of the adults-of-tomorrow learn the basic principles of finance in a free enterprise system—and learn, too, what stock exchanges do and why they are necessary. There are now something like 7.5 million shareholders in American corporate enterprise. It is estimated that, if our business are to grow as they should and in the manner they should, this number must be multiplied many times. And that means that tens of millions more people must gain the necessary knowledge and interest.

Under political democracy, everyone has the right to vote. Under economic democracy, everyone has the right to invest in a business and become a partner. The two are branches of the same sturdy tree.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH!

A child born in this country in 1900 had a life expectancy of less than 50 years. A child born today will live, on the average, for about 70 years.

This means that life expectancy has increased by some 40 per cent in a little more than a century. That is a development of almost incredible magnitude. What has made such unprecedented progress possible?

Obviously, it wasn't just magical good luck. It was the result of many factors. And one of those factors—possibly the over-riding one—is found in medical progress.

Disease after disease has been conquered. Infant mortality has been reduced and reduced. Frontiers of medical knowledge have been pushed back and back. Our medical schools produce more and more physicians—and better prepared physicians. The standards of hospital care have been constantly raised. In every phase and facet of the healing arts there has been outstanding achievement.

All this, let us not forget, has been accomplished under a system of free medicine. Here the doctor is not an employee of the state. Here the patient is not a pawn, to be shuffled about according to a rule book, as he is under socialized medicine. Here the stress is on the value and freedom and independence of the individual.

We live longer lives and healthier lives than our forefathers did. Each day some new contribution is made to the vast body of medical knowledge. Thus do free men achieve in an atmosphere of freedom.

HOLT RECEPTION

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season was the reception tendered their friends by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Holt on Thursday evening of last week, complimentary to their guest, Miss Isabelle Davidson of Chicago. The reception rooms were tastefully and beautifully decorated, the color scheme being yellow and white, with huge bouquets of yellow roses. As the guests arrived, they were allowed to refresh themselves at a punch bowl.

Progressive forty-two furnished the principal feature of amusement of the evening, augmented by a Victrola concert in which the voices of the world's most famous singers mingled with the merry chatter of the players. High score in the forty-two finals was awarded to Mrs. J. L. Crabtree, and the "booby" went to Mrs. Luther McCombs. The honoree was presented with a handsome piece of hand painted china.

Delicious ice cream and cake were served during the evening. Forty guests were present.

THE TALE-BEARER

An exchange tells us this: "A woman who was a great tale-bearer happened to hear one neighbor speak slightly of another and immediately carried the words to the second neighbor, claiming that she thought, as a friend, that she ought to let the second neighbor know what the first was saying, but instead of thanking the tale-bearer, the neighbor said: 'It makes no difference to me how many rotten eggs my neighbor has on her premises, but the person who carries the decayed hen fruit to my house and breaks it under my nose is my enemy.'" This is a sermon in an egg shell and properly hits the tale-bearer referred to above, but it also calls to mind some people who wear breeches and mustaches. They are as guilty, and more so, than the woman spoken of above. A long-tongued, meddlesome tale-toter is the meanest being that walks on two legs.

New discoveries in medicine and pharmacy are constantly making it easier for you to protect the health of your children. True, they like to see you coming . . . because none of the profit made off you has to be spent helping to run YOUR school, pay YOUR preacher, or contribute to the support of YOUR community.

Which makes your business real gravy to them . . . but you are still the customer most likely to get the chipped dish . . . not because maybe you live too far away to bring it back . . . but because the BEST is for their regular customers who keep the ball bouncing for them.

PROLIFIC CANASTA

Mexicana is the name of the latest variation of Canasta to attain popularity. By this time tomorrow, possibly a half dozen variations on the basic game Canasta will spring up in various parts of the land. Only Solitaire, with more than 1,000 versions of play, tops Canasta as the card game to develop the most variations.

Asin-Samba, another Canasta variation, three decks of cards are used in playing Mexicana. Each player is dealt thirteen cards. When a player makes the initial meld, thirteen cards from the pack on the board may be drawn. If playing partners, only one may make this beneficial draw.

In Mexicana, sevens as well as black threes, are stop-cards on the deck but a canasta of seven sevens is worth 1,000 points. It takes two canastas to win and the number of red threes, the bonus cards, must match the number of canastas.

To play Mexicana, of course, you must be familiar with the basic rules for Canasta. If, however, you are one of the few card players who have never tried a hand of this popular game, there's a convenient pocket-sized leaflet which contains the official Canasta rules, a condensation of the International Code, Laws of Canasta, compiled and promulgated by the National Canasta Laws Commission of the United States and Argentina.

In addition, this 16-page leaflet also contains the rules for playing Samba, Chile, Bolivia, Uruguay, Italian Canasta and Cut-Throat Canasta, six popular variations of the nation's most-played card game. The leaflet teaches all of these Canasta variations in the matter of a few minutes merely by describing how each game differs from the basic game of Canasta.

You can obtain your free copy of this handy leaflet by sending a postcard or letter to Canasta Variations, c/o Playing Cards, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. If you would like additional copies for friends, they are yours merely for the asking.

STEALING BUNDLES

One of the most versatile of all card games is Casino. On the one hand, adults find it one of the most purely scientific games in the card repertoire. When played expertly, it requires a high degree of concentration, memory and reasoning.

At the same time, it is a fine game for children, so appealing in fact that it is often mistakenly considered only a children's game. You can teach it to children when they are merely able to match up colors and then proceed to train their powers of observation by matching up the suits. Finally, you can give them practice in reading figures and letters by playing the game as it is described here.

The Casino version for children is called Stealing Bundles. Basically, it is Casino without the build.

Although two, three or four may play the game, it is best for two using a regular pack of 52 cards.

As in Casino, the deal is progressive—four cards to each of the two players in each round—with four cards dealt face up on the table in the first deal. Each player in turn may capture a card from the table which matches the denomination of a card he holds in his hand. That is, a seven can be won with a seven, a Jack with a Jack, etc. Building is left out until the child is sufficiently quick at arithmetic.

Captured cards must be placed face up in a stack in front of the player. And here is where the game gets its colorful name. If a player can match the top card of his opponent's bundle with a card from his hand, he can capture the entire bundle and add it to his own. The deal is won by the player having the most cards after the stock is depleted. Cards left on the table go to the player who was the last to take in.

Good strategy for the game dictates that you delay captures from the table whenever possible, so as to minimize the risk of having your own bundle stolen. It is also important to count the number of cards of each denomination already played and this, in itself, is a good memory drill for any youngster playing the game.

Once a child masters Stealing Bundles, he is ready for the many other card games for children, including such favorites as Concentration, Go Fish, Old Maid, Slapjack and Narnageiv.

REDDY'S Farm Report

Egg raising has come of age. From the time when grandpa "kept a few chickens," to the present day, egg raising has gone "scientific." Producers today carefully manage their chickens determining correctly balanced rations, taking proper sanitary precautions, all with an eye to a better price per dozen.

However, all the precautions are to no avail if freshly laid eggs are not cooled from their 106 degree temperature to the 55 degrees necessary to grade "A" quality. It has been proven that eggs kept for a week at 55 degrees and 85% relative humidity are superior in quality as compared to eggs not cooled and kept only one day under average Texas summer temperatures. Eggs deteriorate even more rapidly in hotter weather.

What does egg cooling mean to the egg producer? It has several advantages: 1. He gets a higher price per dozen for his quality eggs because the ultimate consumer is willing to pay more for eggs that he knows are quality. 2. He is assured of a constant market because cooled eggs are a better edible food product. 3. He needs to make fewer trips to market, thereby saving on hauling costs and time. 4. Obviously the investment in egg cooling equipment will more than pay off.

What kind of cooling equipment will do both the cooling and humidifying job needed to maintain quality? Tests at the Texas Agricultural Extension Service found that refrigerative equipment must be used, and that, in general, a twelve case cooler will handle the production from 1,800 laying hens by marketing twice weekly. The cost, expressed in terms of kilowatt hours used, is only 1 1/2 kilowatt hours of electricity per case of eggs cooled. This is indeed cheap insurance for keeping your market eggs at top quality. Incidentally, those who have tried evaporative egg coolers found that in high temperatures the method failed to bring egg temperatures down to 55 degrees and that humidity control was lacking. Too much relative humidity may cause mold to develop on the eggs, while too little may cause weight shrinkage, as much as 3 1/2% in five to seven days.

Most farm store dealers have access to a line of moderately-priced refrigerative egg coolers and will be glad to give you information on their particular brand.

"For better eggs and better prices, the eggs should be gathered often and cooled immediately," says Herbert Hunt, "because eggs, like milk, are a perishable product." Mr. Hunt cools the production from a flock of 800 hens on his Claude, Texas farm. He uses a twelve case cooler. In the picture Mr. Hunt, left, and Jack Stallings, Universal Mills feed representative, examine cooled eggs.

News of Soil CONSERVATION

Let us illustrate, on one of the farms S. D. Winegart operates. He asked for technical help from the district to run level contour lines. The lines were run and last spring when the spring rains came, the run-off on other farms was quite severe while Mr. Winegart retained almost all of the rainfall on his contour listed land. The result of this operation made it possible for him to harvest about 2,000 pounds of grain, this being above average production last fall. This contour farming is part of Mr. Winegart's complete conservation plan.

Emphasis should be placed on the fact that it is not the technician's job to write the conservation plan and give it to the operator. The plan must be the plan of the farmer himself, tailor-made to his own needs, with the technicians helping him to work it out. A conservation plan, to be fully useful and serve its purpose, must be adaptable to meet the present needs of the owner and his land. One of the most important things of all is to keep the conservation plan up to date. Frequent reviews and alterations may be necessary.

'The Court Jester' Filmed in Settings Of Lavish Splendor

Danny Kaye's new film, "The Court Jester," which has been playing to capacity audiences wherever shown and will open Wednesday and Thursday at the Derby Drive-In Theatre, has been receiving as much applause for its spectacular production as for its hilarious story.

Set against the colorful pagentry of medieval England, the Vista-Vison, Technicolor comedy teams with armored knights and warriors, ladies-in-waiting, court wenches, page boys, hostlers, even a horde of acrobatic midgets, and with scenes of jousts, battles, duels, hunts and feasts—all the pomp and panoply of the boisterous Age of Chivalry.

The hundreds of richly costumed extras, Star Danny Kaye, and Co-stars Glynnis Johns, Basil Rathbone, Angela Lansbury and Cecil Parker, cavort about the premises of a great castle—reproduced down to the last intricate, ornate detail—and in the forests and towns of the turbulent twelfth century.

Crown Prince Kaye portrays a court entertainer who, involved in a plot to unseat the king, is never more than a jump ahead of the headsman. A Paramount film.

'Female on the Beach' Is Fiery Film, Has Excellent Cast

Joan Crawford, Jeff Chandler and Jan Sterling will sizzle across the screen at the Derby Drive-In Theatre Friday and Saturday in a fiery, suspenseful film from Universal-International, titled "Female on the Beach."

The well-woven plot concerns a young, wealthy widow who falls prey to the amorous advances of a handsome young beachcomber who makes lonesome, wealthy widows a profitable hobby. The presentation of this story pulls no punches, and the film emerges as perhaps the most entertainingly torrid of the season.

Joan Crawford, as the young widow, is more glamorous and exciting than ever, if this is possible. Her performance is high perfection, whether she is the calm, sophisticated woman who has control of every emotion, or the frightened, hysterical female on the beach who believes that she is marked for murder.

Jeff Chandler, the beachcomber, turns in what amounts to almost two completely separate performances, both of them excellent. In the one, he is the brash, handsome young man whose business it is to charm lonely women out of their hearts and their fortunes, and in the other he is the strong, quiet- and honest-lover of Miss Crawford.

Jan Sterling is tops as a small town real-estate woman who is also in love with the redoubtable Chandler.

Cecil Kellaway and Natalie Schafer are outstanding in the roles of Chandler's accomplices, as is Judith Evelyn as one of Chandler's ill-fated widows, and Charles Drake as a police lieutenant.

Production by Albert Zugsmith is lush, with most of the action taking place in a lavish California beach house, and Joseph Pevney's direction keeps romance and suspense at a high peak throughout "Female on the Beach."
