

LOOKIN' BACK

by Vera Featherston Back

Members of one section of the Sixth Grade of McLean Junior High were recent visitors at the museum. They were accompanied by Mrs. Morris and all were so appreciative of what they saw that they wrote us letters. The most interesting of these messages were written by Arlene Griffin, Johnny Winegeart, and Terri Kay Henley.

Some things your columnist noted as she read them were: 1. Each member used the proper zip code. 2. Each used the correct letter form (Here's where Mrs. Morris' teaching shows). Each selected his favorite spot of item in the museum.

Arlene liked the washing machine and the old tin bath tub; Johnny, the record player (Claxtonola), the wooden needles, and the saddles. Terri Kay was amazed at the wheel chair, organ, hair curlers, and tin bath tub. Tony Bailey was intrigued with the Indian bones, James Thompson liked the boys' dresses, but we are sure he wouldn't like to wear one of them.

Randy Rowel liked the guns and the old-fashioned school room. Delinda Howard would like to cook in our kitchen and drive the old-fashioned car. Catherine Fish was interested in the out-of-date shoes and clothes. Brenda Beshears liked it all, but her favorite was the kitchen. Virginia Burden liked the school and the kitchen so much she wrote us two letters. Tammy Bailey also preferred the kitchen. Roger Mac Bowling was attracted to the doctors' tools. Christy Burcham's favorite items were the dishes.

Dianna Curry thought we had a lot of beautiful things but her favorite was the school room. Gary Danner was attracted to the phonograph. Faye Glass had three favorites: the school, the doctors' office, and the Model-T. Monica Hathaway liked the Indian Tom-Tom, the school, and the way people used to dress.

Denise Lamb's favorites were the saddles and the bedroom. Bobby Phillips had a good time looking at the guns and the stoves. Evonda Smith liked it all so much she wants to come back again. Welcome, all! Come any time!

The National Highway Safety Bureau has begun a nationwide spotcheck of automobile dealers to see if they are complying with a new federal motor vehicle safety regulation, according to Doris Myers, Extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University. Dealers must supply prospective buyers with safety information on stopping distance, acceleration and passing ability and tire reserve loads for new automobiles.
