

PLAIN TALK

By BILL PERKINS

Here are 13 sure ways to ruin your home town. The article appeared in last week's issue of The Tulsa Herald, the best weekly newspaper that comes to our desk. These 13 "don't's" were compiled by the Sedalia (Mo.) Democrat:

Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his. Vote against taxes. Then fuss because the streets are not kept up.

Never attend any of the meetings called for the good of the town. If you do, don't have anything to say. Wait until you get outside and then fuss those who made the suggestions. Find fault with everything that was done.

Get all the city will give you and don't give anything in return. Write unneeded letters to the editor demanding more for your tax money.

Talk cooperation, but don't do any work for your city unless you get paid for it. And by all means refuse to serve unless they make you chairman.

Never accept an office. It's easier to criticize than to do things. Accuse anybody who serves in an elected office of being a publicity seeker (or a crook).

Don't do any more than you have to. When others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a town better, how because that town is run by a clique.

Don't back your fire department or your police department. If the firemen work to bring insurance rates down, tell everybody that is what they are supposed to do. Don't thank them or the policemen for endangering their lives that you might have a safer town in which to live. Demand special treatment; raise Cain if anybody expects you to obey traffic and parking laws.

Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one who gets the most good out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

Don't do anything for the youth of the town. Criticize them as potential delinquents. Keep your feet on them. Encourage them to move away when they grow up.

If you have good town leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk down everything they do.

Don't work on any committee. Tell them, "I'm too busy."

Don't say anything good about your town. Be the first to point up its short-comings. Pretend that if trouble comes your way it will be residents of some other town who will visit you while you are ill; bring in their department if your home is burning; comfort you if you lose a dear one; stand back of you in disaster.

And don't support your local retail stores and industries. Claim the prices and services in stores of other towns are better. Claim industry and its payroll hurts the town. But if you need a donation, ask your local stores and industries for it. Expect them to back you, but don't back them.

If these 13 points don't ruin your town, it isn't your fault.

Lions Club Holds Regular Meeting Tuesday at Noon

The McLean Lions Club met in regular session in the basement of the McLean Methodist Church Tuesday at noon.

Lion Boss George Saunders called the meeting to order and the opening songs were led by Rev. Jack Riley. Following the pledge to the flag, J. F. Doggett, minister of the Church of Christ, gave the invocation.

Guests present at the meeting included Lion Ralph Thomas of Pampa. Bill McBea was a guest of Lion J. W. Meacham; Bob Corley was a guest of Lion Hickman Brown, and Harold Bunch was a guest of Lion Freeman Melton, Jr.

Program Chairman S. A. Cousins turned the program over to Lion Boss Saunders who introduced James Evans of Pampa, spokesman for the barbershop quartet which brought the program.

Tailwister John C. Haynes checked to see how many of the signs advertising McLean had been erected and assessed fines to those who had not put up their sign.

Lion Freeman Melton suggested that the Lions find out what they could do to help put the building in shape that is to house the new garment factory. It was decided to turn this over to the civic improvement committee to see what needs to be done. The Lions will then volunteer their time and energy to help out in any way they can.

With no further business, Lion Boss Saunders dismissed the club.

Grade School P-TA Has Meeting

The grade school P-T. A. met Wednesday, September 22, at the school. Officers to replace those who had moved away were chosen as follows: vice president, Vera Back; treasurer, Ruth Glass; secretary, Thelma Webb.

Family night will be held at 8:00 o'clock Thursday, September 20, at the grade school cafeteria. Everyone is invited to attend.

The next regular meeting of the P-T. A. will be held October 3.

The McLean Tigers will face another strong team, the Panhandle Panthers here at Duncan Field tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock.

The Tigers will enter the game with a one win, one loss record, having downed the Shamrock Irish in the opener, 25-6; and bowing to Wheeler here last Friday night 32-7.

Panhandle comes to McLean with a one loss record, having dropped their only game of the season to Wellington, 25-7. It has been reported that Panhandle has a much stronger team than their first game score indicates, because several of their key players were injured in the opening minutes of the game.

The Wheeler Mustangs, who outwitted the Tigers by almost a 20-pound average, were led to victory by Backs Jim Porter and Joe Jaco.

At the end of the first quarter neither team had managed to score. In the second quarter Porter ran 60 yards for a touchdown. At the half Wheeler led McLean 6 to 0.

In the second half Porter and Jaco combined their talents to bring three more touchdowns to the Mustangs. In the final seconds of play Larry Hunter caught a pass and was over for the final Mustang score of the game.

Paul Garvin, Tiger fullback, carried the ball for McLean's only touchdown of the game. With the Tiger conversion good, the game ended 32-7.

David Crockett, 145 pound Tiger freshman, made an excellent showing in the Friday night battle, as did David Woods.

McLean's top passer, Charles Crockett, was suffering from injuries but played a hard game all the way, although he didn't make the connections he usually does.

Dale Greenhouse, who had been off the team and practice field this season, got to play his first game of the year Friday night.

MAY DRAFT YOUNG MEN FOR RESERVE

A sharp lag in voluntary enlistments may make it necessary to draft men for military reserve duty, a Washington advisory group reports.

Congress once rejected the draft idea, but the National Security Training Commission said voluntary enlistments during the first year have provided only 40,000 of the 100,000 men sought for the program.

Under it, youths below the 18½-year draft age limit are encouraged to volunteer for six months of active duty training, to be followed by 7½ years in the active reserve. The volunteers become exempt from the 24-month service requirement of regular draftees, who also must continue service in the reserves.

But the commission said that despite "the greatest effort of its type ever put forward in peacetime . . . on behalf of any armed forces program," the results of the drive for volunteers fell far short of expectations.

Unless the rate of volunteering can be doubled or tripled soon, the commission said in a report to Congress, "we would fundamentally revise the program and take steps to provide the necessary manpower."

SAM A. THOMAS

S. A. Thomas Named Agricultural Head For Public Service

Sam A. Thomas has been named manager of agricultural development for the Southwestern Public Service Company. Mr. Thomas will be headquartered at the company's Amarillo office.

He will be responsible for coordinating the company's program for bringing more of the benefits and efficiency of electricity to farm production and rural homes with all interested agricultural agencies in the company's 45,000 square mile service area. Special attention will be given to working with county agents, home demonstration agents, 4-H and Future Farmer groups, and school and college agriculture teachers.

A native West Texan, Mr. Thomas has been with the production department of the electric light and power company since 1952. He is a graduate of West Texas State College, taking his degree in agriculture. Prior to joining Southwestern Public Service Company, he taught agriculture for more than six years in the Wheeler County vocational school at Mobeetie. He is a major in the Air Force Reserve.

In announcing the new appointment, W. L. Pearson, industrial manager for the Public Service Company, said: "Agriculture is still the dominant element in the economy of our service area. Electricity can increase farm production, lower production costs, and bring more comfort and convenience to rural homes. Sam Thomas has spent all his life in this region and brings to his new position a knowledge of electricity, and the part it can play in a more modern and productive farm and farm home which will be of great value to many people in our service area."

Terry Tells Plans to Bring RESERVE UNIT TO McLEAN

George Terry, master sergeant in the U. S. Army Reserve, has announced that an intensified drive will be held here during the next few weeks to enlist local young men with unfulfilled military obligations into the organization.

If as many as 21 men enlist in the reserve program in McLean, a battery can be formed here and it will not be necessary for local members to go to Pampa for their training. At present there are five men from McLean in the reserve.

If the 21-man strength is reached, all training equipment would be located here and it would bring an additional $30,000 into the community annually.

Terry also said that if 51 men could be secured from the McLean area an $80,000 armory would be built here. Young men who volunteer for reserve training prior to the time they are registered for the draft can complete six months active training and fulfill the balance of their military obligation right here in the home town reserve unit. Those who wait to be drafted will have to fulfill 24 months of active training and then still have to fill their reserve obligations.

Other points brought out by Terry, besides the advantages to the men being able to train at home and the additional income to the town, was the fact that it is more economical for the government to train military men in this manner rather than the more expensive manner in training draftees for the two year period.

Terry added that he would be glad to explain any questions anyone might have regarding the army reserve.

Funeral services for Tom Ed Taylor, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor, were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Baptist Church. Dr. Buell Wells, pastor of the church, officiated.

Tom Ed is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor; three brothers Don and Dan Taylor of Lubbock, and Joe B. Taylor Jr., of McLean; two sisters, Louvera and Lynn Ellen Taylor of McLean; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wilkinson of Vernon; and one nephew.

Safety Inspection For Autos Started Earlier This Year

The Texas Public Safety Commission announced September 15, 1956, through April 15, 1957, as the period during which automobiles and other vehicles must be inspected under the provisions of the State's Motor Vehicle Inspection Law.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said in announcing the commission's action that motorists should avail themselves of the opportunity of having their autos inspected as early as possible in order to avoid the inconvenience and delay which is associated with the end of the seven months period by the log jam of car owners who will wait until just before the deadline to have their vehicles safety checked.

Derby Film, 'Picnic,' Based on Pulitzer Prize Winning Play

A brilliant cast topped by William Holden with Kim Novak and co-starring Rosalind Russell as Rosemary transforms William Inge's Pulitzer prize play, "Picnic," into a dynamically powerful motion picture, already hailed as one of the year's outstanding films. Eagerly awaited by motion picture goers, the Columbia picture which has its local premiere Sunday at the Derby Drive-In Theatre in CinemaScope and color by Technicolor, also features Betty Field, Susan Strasberg and Cliff Robertson. Directed by Joshua Logan, whose stage credits include "Mister Roberts" and "South Pacific," "Picnic" reportedly is a magnificent romance compounded out of the universal elements of life itself.

In "Picnic," Holden appears as a stranger who drifts to a small Kansas town in search of a college friend from whom he hopes to obtain a job. He is a former football hero now close to 30, desperately realizing he must settle down, to belong somewhere, and soon. His meeting with lovely Kim Novak takes place amid an electric tension; they are unaware of their immediate attraction for each other. Kim only knows that she is even less certain she wants to wed wealthy Cliff Robertson, Holden's ex-room-mate and benefactor, even though she is being pushed into it by her mother, Betty Field.

Holden joins the party at the community's annual Labor Day picnic as the "date" for Kim's teen-age sister, Susan Strasberg. With them also are Rosalind Russell, who boards at the girls' home, and her "boy friend," Arthur O'Connell, the unromantic shopkeeper whose attentions are desperately welcomed by the frustrated school teacher.

The only freedom worth possessing is that which gives enlargement to a people's energy, intellect and virtue.—Theodore Parker.

Most of us lead a double life.

One minute we're a BUYER. The next minute we're a SELLER . . . of goods, services, time, or talents.

Of course, there's some incompatibility in a Buyer-Seller combination. About like you'd expect in a dog-and-cat mixture.

Consequently, we sometimes get to playing our part as Mr. Buyer with such enthusiasm we forget that our other self, Mr. Seller, has to put dollars in our pocket before our Mr. Buyer self can spend them out of it.

And every time we, as Mr. Buyer, take one of those dollars out of circulation here by spending it out of town, we shrink Mr. Seller's market so it's a little harder for him to get us some more dollars.

It's too bad we don't get more teamwork out of our two personalities. When Mr. Buyer is cutting Mr. Seller's throat, we need to recall that they are both using the same throat.

BEFORE YOU DIET

Reducing diets seem to have reached the dimensions of a craze in this country. Elemental wisdom demands that no one should undertake a diet—especially those of an experimental and strenuous kind—without first obtaining competent medical advice.

An example is provided by two low-protein diets which have been given much publicity. One is based on a liquid combination of corn oil, evaporated milk and dextrose. The other employs regular foods, but the foods chosen contain little protein.

Two physicians and the American Medical Association's council on foods and nutrition have now warned against the indiscriminate use of these diets. Their statements appear in a recent issue of the AMA Journal. One statement questions both the safety and effectiveness of the diets. The other two urge that people use them only under strict medical supervision. A note of discouragement enters, too—even patients on whom the original diets were tested successfully regained weight when they quit the diets.

It is also pointed out that some people wrongly blame protein for causing their obesity and, left to their own devices, may go to a dangerous extreme of protein reduction or elimination. The science of dietetics has proven that a substantial protein intake is necessary to the mental and physical vigor of the great majority of people.

In any event—before you diet, see your doctor.

ROOM APLENTY

According to the last census, almost 9,000,000 people earn their living, in whole or in part, from employment in retailing. This makes retail trade one of the biggest of all businesses.

At the same time, most retail stores constitute small business ventures. The Census Bureau also tells us that, of the approximately 1,720,000 individual retail stores, about 1,500,000 of them do an annual business of less than $100,000.

Retailing is an enterprise in which there is room aplenty for stores of every kind—from the biggest chain system to the little family operation.

WHAT GOVERNMENT DOES TO YOU

Life magazine vividly restates what it termed an "old truth" in these words: "... The more a government does for you the more it has to do to you."

Before government can provide you with any service, it must first take the money from the pockets of you and all the rest of the taxpayers. And it always takes more than it returns, inasmuch as the administrative costs run high.

That isn't all—or even the worst of it. Any welfare state eventually turns to a cheap money policy and lets loose the tides of inflation. Every dollar then buys less and less. The result is a murderous combination of sky-high taxes and depreciated money.

Melon Crop is Superior

Up to this time there have been shipped out this season 40 carloads of watermelons and the price has been uniformly good, reaching the high mark this week of 37 1/2 cents per hundred pounds. It has been announced that the recent splendid rains will mature many more melons than was considered likely two weeks ago and it is possible that the total car shipments will be up to standard before the closing of the season.

The melons are unusually superior in quality and size and this year's output bids fair to add materially to the reputation of this section for supremacy in the production of this luscious delicacy.

From a financial standpoint the watermelon is one of our most popular and profitable crops and as the country develops it is hoped that more concerted effort will be made to standardize our methods of marketing to the extent that a larger acreage can be profitably handled by the individual farmer.

Story of 'Glory' Has Switch on Usual Plot

In every race horse story something or other happens to the equine hero—the horse gets stolen, or doped, or tampered with in some lowdown manner by unscrupulous villains, usually gamblers looking for a crooked buck. "Glory," the human story of earthy racing folk of the Kentucky Blue Grass and of a gallant filly which wins the Derby, has a switch.

The filly Glory is vanned to the blacksmith shop of an old hard-boots horseshoer to be shod for a stake race. A couple of youngsters happen along on bikes, take a fancy to the pretty thoroughbred, as she does to them, and they ride her off over the countryside.

There's a terrific hue and cry, the hunt is on, the police move in, and Margaret O'Brien, who in the picture is Glory's owner, is fit to be tied. The youngsters bring the filly back plumb tucked, out and she's declared out of the race that was to pay the feed bill.

"Glory" is a picture you'll put on your "must" list if advance information from Hollywood is a criterion. David Butler, an old-time racehorse owner, produced and directed it, in RKO Super-Scope and Technicolor. It's coming to the Derby Theatre Wednesday with a standout cast including, in addition to Miss O'Brien, Co-Stars Walter Brennan and Charlotte Greenwood, John Lupton, Byron Palmer, Lisa Davis, Gus Schilling, and others.

Highly Lauded Film, 'The Leather Saint,' Coming to Derby

"The Leather Saint," the first motion picture by Hollywood's newest and youngest production team, Norman Retchin and Alvin Ganzer, will arrive Friday as the Derby Drive-In's next attraction. Paul Douglas, John Derek, Jody Lawrence and Cesar Romero star in the VistaVision drama, with Ernest Truex and Richard Shannon co-starred.

Produced by Retchin and directed by Ganzer, the Paramount VistaVision film's original story and screenplay are also the pair's handiwork.

In the tradition of the memorable "Going My Way," "The Leather Saint" is a story of the clergy—with an unusual twist. Derek portrays an Episcopalian minister who secretly becomes a prize fighter to help the needy of his parish. To avoid brutality, he chooses to win his fights by one-punch knockouts and is on his way to the top when he runs up against the ring syndicate.

Douglas is cast as a ring-wise manager who sees a future champion in Derek and tries to protect him from the syndicate's ruthless overlord Cesar Romero. Jody Lawrence is seen as a night club singer who, unaware of Derek's true calling, falls in love with him. Former heavyweight contender Lou Nova appears in the fight sequences.

Location sites include Beverly Hills' Episcopal All Saints Church, marking one of the rare times movie filming has been allowed inside a church.

Texas Sheriffs Urge Voters to Approve Amendment Seven

The Sheriffs' Association of Texas, comprised of nearly 8,000 law enforcement officers, this week asked fellow Texans to vote for Constitutional Amendment 7 in the November general election.

Meeting in San Antonio for their 78th annual convention, the Sheriffs' Association gave their unqualified approval to Amendment Seven which provides for a waiver of jury trial and requires competent medical testimony in commitment proceedings of the mentally ill. At present Texas is the only state in the nation which still requires a mentally ill person to endure a jury trial before he can obtain more than 90 days treatment at a state hospital.

Known as the oldest law enforcement organization in the United States, the Sheriffs' Association took action after hearing guest speaker John H. Lane, Jr., executive director of the Texas Society for Mental Health, declare Amendment Seven an essential step toward adequate mental health legislation in Texas.

Gray County SOIL DISTRICT

Drought is the greatest hazard of the livestock industry. It is unpredictable and occurs with irregular frequency. It seems that we are subject to short drought almost every year and long droughts fairly often. Accordingly, the conservation rancher's plan will recognize the drought factor and provide for emergency adjustments to minimize the effects of drought.

Since most of Texas is subject to long periods of dry weather, it seems that we should base our grazing management on this as a rule rather than an exception. The amount of grass produced is not altogether the result of the amount of rain that the rancher gets but is sometimes due to the condition of his range.

The rate of water intake and storage capacity of any soil type can vary with the amount of organic material in the soil.

Last year, after a three-inch rain, moisture penetration tests were made on pastures in good and poor condition with only a fence between them. The good range was wet to a depth of 30 inches while the moisture was down only four inches on the poor range. Drought had returned to the range in poor condition within three weeks, while the grass on the good range was heading out.

The outstanding practice in guarding against the penalties of dry weather is conservation stocking year in and year out. Often a few good years, with increasing forage production, encourage unwise increases in livestock numbers. The result, when drought cuts forage production, is overgrazing and heavy losses through death and sacrifice sales.

Because there are more years below normal, it is important to stock ranges on the conservation side as drought insurance.

Another safeguard is to retain a pasture or pastures for use during the critical period of each year. A reserve hay or supplemental feed supply provides additional aid during dry periods. During drought the costs of harvested feeds increases greatly, therefore, it is not sound business to wait until a drought to build up reserves. The prompt marketing of steers, calves, and cull cows will minimize losses and save forage for the closely culled breeding herd.

Applications Being Accepted for New Highway Patrolmen

Applications for appointment as Texas highway patrolmen will be accepted from the present time until October 15, according to an announcement by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Examinations for the men qualifying will be given state-wide during the latter part of October and those scoring the highest will enter the recruit training school next January.

Garrison said that appointments will be made to fill the additional positions authorized by the Texas

Legislature and to fill existing vacancies caused by promotions and resignations.

Salary of patrolmen is $315 monthly, plus longevity. They are also paid during training. Other benefits include annual leave and benefits of the state retirement system and federal social security.

General requirements for appointment to the state highway patrol include: 21 to 35 years of age, inclusive; minimum height of five feet, eight inches; weight in proportion to height; excellent physical condition and high school education or equivalent.

In addition, applicants must be citizens of the United States and residents of Texas for at least a year immediately prior to filing of the application. They are also subject to a rigid character investigation.

Application blanks or further details may be obtained by writing to W. J. Elliott, chief, Texas Highway Patrol, at Austin, or contacting the captain in command of the nearest patrol district.
