

PLAIN TALK

By BILL PERKINS

Coch Jack Riley's and Jim Wood's basketball teams have started out looking great this season. The Tigerettes look especially good and they don't plan to stop with just the bi-district championship this year.

A new basketball scoreboard has arrived for the Municipal Building and was being installed Tuesday.

Basketball fans will get to see plenty of action next week end when the McLean tournament is held Dec. 5, 6 and 7.

"The dictionary is the only place where success comes before work."—Arthur Brisbane.

Jim Hathaway and the McLean Band Boosters have announced that the turkey shoot last Saturday was successful and the group plans to have another soon. We understand that Jiggs Hinton must be about the best marksman in town, but we were also glad to learn that Hickman Brown won a turkey. We have a personal interest in this one since we expect to join them today for Thanksgiving dinner.

The junior class, their parents and sponsors, served a delicious Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday. They did an excellent job of serving so much good food to so many people. The McLean Cafe and the Texaco Cafe in Alareed will serve extra special Thanksgiving dinner with turkey and all the trimmings today.

Saturday will be the last day we will be able to accept subscriptions to the Amarillo newspapers at the reduced rate. For only $9.95 you can get the morning and Sunday newspapers for one year by mail. Subscriptions must be paid in advance and not later than Saturday.

Our imaginative friend says that if the present trend in new automobiles continues, by 1960 dealers will be showing cars 26 feet long, 26 inches high, and with 8 or 9 inch wheels.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION

The American people in this year of 1957 have abundant reason to give thanks for the blessings that a Divine Providence has bestowed on this favored land.

The purpose of the Great Plains Conservation program is to develop an agriculture that resists the weather extremes that are a constant hazard to the Plains area.

From the State Capitol HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS

Not for Speed

Legislative machinery is not built for speed. This was demonstrated as Texas lawmakers moved into their third week of work on a bill designed to prevent occupation of schools by federal troops.

A multi-hour filibuster by Sen. Henry B. Gonzales bogged down proceedings in the upper chamber. House members marked time to wait for Senate action. This apparently was to allow the House committee to consider both the Senate and House proposals before reporting.

Earlier, both House and Senate committees heard a number of religious and educational leaders speak against the bill. Protesters said, in effect, that the measure would be detrimental to the school system and would encourage violence.

Legislative proponents retorted the witnesses seemed "more interested in cramming social dogma down our throats than in educating our children."

McLean Vocational Agriculture Teacher Jack Dyer's FFA students were judged outstanding and brought home three first place wins, a second and a fourth place in the Top o' Texas District Leadership contest held at Wheeler last Saturday.

The McLean Senior Chapter Conducting team won first place and is composed of Joe Howard, Billy Crockett, Jimmy Rice, Frank Worsham, Jimmy Allison, Jerry Biggers, Paul McCurley and Robert Martindale.

The Junior Chapter Conducting team also won first place. It is composed of Ronny Howard, Jack Back, Joe Smith, Frank Yearwood, Joe Evans, Barney Pool and Bill Herron.

McLean's other first place was in the FFA quiz. Quiz winners were John Pettit, Jimmy Walker, Doug Crockett and Danny Brown.

The Radio Broadcasting team won second place. It is composed of David Woods, Larry Back and Kenneth Gossett.

In the Senior Farm Skill Demonstration, Bobby Weaver, Orphus Tate and Jerry Stubblefield took fourth place.

The first place winners will represent the Top o' Texas district in the area Leadership contest which is scheduled to be held in Plainview Dec. 7.

Marlow-Cooper Marriage Vows Exchanged Nov. 9

Marilyn Marlow, daughter of Mrs. George Haynes of Fort Worth, and J. Dan Cooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Cooper of Tucumcari, N. M., were married Saturday, Nov. 9, at 8 p. m. in the Boulevard Methodist Church in Fort Worth.

The rail of the choir loft and the chancel were entwined with ivy, and potted smilax formed the background where the couple stood to exchange the wedding vows. There were two candelabra with three tree branched candelabra flanked on either side by two seven branched candelabra. Candles were interspersed with the ivy around the choir loft and chancel.

The Rev. Harold Freeman of Jacksonville, roommate of the bridegroom, assisted by the Rev. Alton Ferrell, pastor of the Boulevard church, read the double ring ceremony. The church organist played the traditional nuptial music, and accompanied Lawrence Ingram of Tucumcari when he sang "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, F. C. Williamson, was attired in a gown of imported Chantilly lace in a Tudor rose pattern. The lace bodice had a yoke of illusion outlined by a pleated tulle ruffle, and the lace scallops were accented by seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The skirt and train were of pyramids of finely pleated nylon tulle ruffles over bridal satin.

The bride carried a bouquet which was fashioned with a white orchid surrounded by flurers d' amour and was atop a white Bible. For the good luck omens she carried a drawn work handkerchief made by her great-great-grandmother, which had been carried at the weddings of her grandmother and mother, for something old; her attire was new, she had a penny in her shoe and a blue bow on her lingerie.

Ann Cooper, sister of the bridegroom, was maid-of-honor, and Mrs. LaVene Hughes of College Station was matron of honor. Alice Grove was bridesmaid, and Ruth Cooper, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid. All of the attendants wore identical torso-style waist length frocks of ruby velvet, the center of interest being bows of the same material in center front. They wore matching ruby velvet hats and carried white fur muffs accented with red rosebuds.

Joe H. Cooper of Tucumcari, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

The bride's mother chose to wear at her daughter's wedding a brocaded Dior blue satin dress, with pumps and hat to match. Her corsage was a white orchid. Mrs. Cooper wore a champagne colored eyelet embroidered wool sheath dress over taffeta, with a pink feathered hat. Her corsage was a bronze orchid.

The bride was graduated from Baylor University, where she was a member of the Peer Club. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Baylor, where he was a member of Alpha Chi, Pi Gamma Mu, Philosophy Club, and BSU executive council. Mrs. Cooper is an instructor in the Junior High School in Fort Worth, and Cooper is attending Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. They will make their home at 1209 N. W. 19th St. in Fort Worth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper were hosts at a rehearsal dinner Friday at the Holiday Ranch.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. George Colebank of McLean and Mrs. C. O. Cooper of Canyon, grandparents of the bridegroom; Mrs. C. B. Lee, Jr., and daughter, Carla, of Dallas; Mrs. Faye Kennedy and Mrs. Clay Cooper of Canyon.

The John W. Cooper family formerly lived in McLean.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

By VERN SANFORD

I shot four deer on opening day this year. All four were legal size bucks. All weighed in excess of 100 pounds before they were dressed.

A game warden stood by and watched me as I leveled down on these four fine bucks. And I have the evidence to prove I got 'em, too.

I shot them with a camera. I can recommend it for thousands of Texans who like to get out in the open and don't feel they can afford to buy a deer license, or who don't want to kill a deer.

In company with three other outdoors writers we went to the Kerr Wildlife Management Area, some 30 miles southwest of Kerrville.

There were 30 hunters there, with guns. They had been the lucky ones whose names were drawn for a public hunt this year. The Game & Fish Commission authorized the issuance of some 590 of these permits. More than 7,000 persons applied for them. Which means that more than 6,000 were disappointed not to get in on the free hunt.

That is a tremendous difference, 'tis true, but right now the state simply does not have enough land to provide free hunts for everyone. For that matter, it never will. Such procedure would be entirely impractical.

State operated areas were not bought for hunting anyway. They were purchased to study management practices. Well trained and efficient biologists put in long hours studying what deer eat, their breeding practices, the ratio of bucks to doe, and how they get along with livestock.

On this game management area they have small pastures with fences 10 feet high. In these pastures they run a certain number of deer, sheep, goats and cattle. They make a constant check on how much they eat, what they eat, and their other habits.

Thus the biologists are able to determine exactly what the reproduction is and how the young survive.

In Hunting Blinds Of course, those who hunted did not get to shoot behind one of these big enclosures. Instead, they were placed on stands in open pastures. Each hunter had his own stand in known deer runs. Some of the hunters never had shot deer before. Several were old timers. But each was just as happy with the buck he brought in.

We also were impressed with the size and condition of the bucks. They were from two to five years old and every one in perfect condition.

Similar experimental ranges are operated in other parts of the state. For instance there is the Engeling Wildlife Management Area in Anderson County, near Palestine; and the Black Gap Management Area in Brewster adjoining Big Bend National Park.

The work being done on these places will be the deciding factor in our game supply for many years. The practices used on these areas also can be used successfully on other ranches, which will have a great deal to do with future deer crops.

Not too many Texans hunt rabbits any more. This is the time of the year, however, when rabbit hunting is at its best. There was a time when the cottontail was recognized as a very delectable bit of meat. It still is in many states. However, rabbits always have been so plentiful in Texas that we take them as a matter of course.

Rabbit meat, fried like chicken, is a strong rival for taste and food value.

There is a big crop of rabbits this year. In fact, the crop is so big that a tremendous rabbit hunt now is being planned for the Panhandle area, for some time about mid-January. We'll have more about that later.

Most of us remember rabbit killing as boys, when we used 22 caliber rifles. The 22 is still an ideal gun for shooting rabbits, where there is plenty of room to shoot and care is used.

With the present-day automatics and rifles equipped with scopes this type of rabbit shooting is lots of fun.

However, when hunting with such equipment all the rabbits should be shot through the left eye. Any good rabbit hunter would count a body shot the same as a miss.

Of course, back in the early days there wasn't much fear of tularemia, or rabbit fever. By using care in handling a rabbit, however, there is no danger. Also, if a rabbit has the energy to run, it isn't a sick rabbit.

Those Little Bass Have you been out to a lake lately to see how fast the young bass are growing?

For several months we've been watching these little fellows. They come in close to docks and chase the little minnows and forage for other feed.

The little rascals, spawned this spring, have already reached legal size. This applies to both black and white bass. In about two more months most of them will be from 10 to 12 inches long.

All of which means that you'd better have your equipment ready for next spring's fishing. It's bound to be good.

Old English Lures One of the most ingenious fellows we've run across lately is Doug English at Corpus Christi. For several years Doug has been making old English lures, which have been very fine for coastal fishing.

Then he started out with other ideas, also in the plastic line. Now he turns out beautiful and efficient fish stringers, life preservers, and even ornaments for earrings, all from his plastic material. In addition he makes those plug shaped tie clasps which men wear with cowboy shirts.

Incidentally, it's reported that his plugs are just as good for fresh water fishing as for salt water fishing.

SP- A-K-I-N-G CARDS

AFTER THE TURKEY DINNER

If you think all you can do with a deck of cards is play card games, you're in for a mild surprise. People find all sorts of ingenious uses for the popular pastboards. Suppose, for example, you are entertaining friends who don't know how to play any particular card game.

To play this game, take a pack of regular playing cards and remove the four aces. Then shuffle the deck and remove any seven cards from the remainder of the pack. Place these seven cards face down in a line on top of the table to form the race course.

Now you are ready to start the game, which can be played by one as a Solitaire pastime or by as many as four players, one for each ace.

The four aces which are the race horses, are placed in a line even with the bottom of the seven cards, the starting point to form an inverted "U".

Now turn up the top card of the remainder of the deck which has been placed aside, face down. If the upturned card is from the spade suit, then the ace of spades racehorse is moved forward along the course the distance of one card length. Then another card is turned up. If it is a diamond, then the ace of diamonds racehorse moves forward on the course the length of a card. The next upturned card may be a heart or a club. If so, then the respective ace cards are advanced as previously explained.

This procedure is followed until one of the ace cards is even with the last of the seven cards forming the race course and becomes the "winner" of the race.

To make the "race" more interesting, certain variations may be introduced. A deuce, for example, might be designated as a wild card, permitting either an extra leap or a penalty, whichever is agreed upon by the group. Or a player who has turned up a card of the same suit as his ace "racehorse" could be allowed to continue drawing as long as he turns up a card of the same suit.

This racehorse with cards is almost as much excitement as being at the races and far less expensive.

Quail Season Opens Dec. 1

Austin.—Quail hunters will find the best crop of birds in years when the season opens in Texas Dec. 1, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. He says reports from wardens throughout the state indicate not only a heavy hatch, but an unusually large survival.

This applies to practically every section of the state. There was an ample food crop during the summer and fall months, affording plenty of seed for the birds.

More than 28,000 bobwhites and 8,500 cottontail quail were released by the state hatchery at Tyler this year, through clubs in different parts of the state. These, with the heavy hatch of native birds, are responsible for the big crop.

The bag limit is 12 in one day or not more than 36 in one week or in possession.

Middle Income Group Aided by Voluntary Mortgage Funds

The incomes of home buyers who secured financing through the Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program and the prices of homes that they bought indicate that this program has been of service primarily to families of modest means who buy low-priced homes. C. J. Hermann, executive secretary for the VHMCP in Region 13, said this week.

VHMCP seeks to find lenders who will make loans on FHA-insured and VA-guaranteed mortgages to prospective home owners in designated small towns and minority families anywhere who are unable to obtain such funds from their local lenders.

"Persons having incomes of between $3,000 and $6,000 have obtained 62% of the home mortgage loans made by the VHMCP in Texas and New Mexico," Hermann said.

The secretary's comment was prompted by recent reports that private mortgage funds were not available to middle income groups and the tool shed they add to the garage. If they have to move, they are always able to figure out if they have a gain or a loss on their house. Nobody likes to pay tax simply because he didn't keep a record and doesn't know how much something cost him.

He added, "Private lenders have made, under VHMCP, $19,500,000 of home mortgage loans in Region 13. Sixty-two per cent of the home buyers who obtained loans from March, 1956, through August, 1957, earned between $3,000 and $6,000, and 39% bought homes costing between $5,000 and $11,000."

Pointing out that VHMCP has continued active in the home mortgage market throughout the tight money period despite continued rising interest rates, the secretary declared:

"The new 5 1/2% interest rate on FHA loans has brought many millions of dollars into the home mortgage market. The one-quarter of 1% interest rise amounts to only 16c per month per $1,000 or a 30-year mortgage; $1.60 per month in a case of $10,000 loan. If any prospective home buyer does not know where to apply for a mortgage loan or no lenders operate in his area, he should write VHMCP, 1114 Commerce St., Dallas."

NOTICE TO PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation, which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice being given to the editor personally at the office at 210 Main St., McLean, Texas.

THE FIRST OBLIGATION

In a speech made some time after Russia's first space satellite had started whizzing its way around the earth, the President said that we must not demand federal spending for non-essential purposes "when the costs of defense and of waging peace must be so great."

Putting it bluntly, the first duty of this country is to do everything the national interest and honor permit to prevent war—then, should that effort fail and war come, to win the war. Any other result would mean slavery for the survivors and a new Dark Age in which every ideal of freedom and of the importance of the individual would be destroyed.

Whether or not this means that still vaster sums must be spent for military strength and related matters is still unresolved. There is apparently a belief in high circles that the present defense budget, of some $38 billion a year, is adequate, and that the principle need is to channel funds away from obsolete weapons and activities and into such new fields as missiles and rockets.

Whatever the final decision, one thing can be said with certainty. The demands on the government—which simply means all the people—for defense spending will continue to be enormous. In light of this, it is the obligation of government to pare spending in every area where the national security and the true national interest are not involved.

PARALYSIS IS PERSONAL

There has been a lot of talk recently about polio statistics. They look very good. The incidence of the paralytic disease went down sharply in 1957. The Salk vaccine obviously works and works wonderfully well.

Fine and dandy. But we do know that 1957 would not have been a light polio year anyway? We do not. Polio is a notoriously unpredictable disease, up one year and down the next.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis points out that there is one thing we do know for sure, and that is a lot of people either haven't been vaccinated at all, or have not completed their full series of three shots. These people will be in just as much danger if next summer is a heavy polio summer as though they lived before the age of Dr. Salk.

Statistics are figures—marks on a piece of paper. Paralysis is personal. If you or your children contract polio, all the encouraging statistics in the world will not ease the tragedy. And tragedy it is, in the fullest and most awful sense, if men, women and children are stricken by this venomous disease when the means to protect them are at hand.

The statistics that count, so far as any family is concerned, are its record of vaccination. Make no mistake about it, your own vaccination is the pay off. Get it done. Finish your full series of three shots. National statistics are pretty meaningless in a family where a child or adult is struggling to breathe with muscles that have been knocked into nothingness by polio.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

New Philadelphia, O., Daily Times: "If a man wanted to lay a pretty good wager, he might go two to one that on that future day when some man-made rocket lands on the moon, the French will be without a government."

Norwalk, Conn., Hour: "Since its establishment in the United States in 1910, the Boy Scouts of America have touched the lives of 26,000,000 American boys and their adult leaders. . . . Chartered by the Congress of the United States, the organization seeks to promote the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance, and kindred virtues."

Winnemucca, Nev., Humboldt Star: "By the time a man is fixed for life he has about worried himself to death."

Early Mailing of Christmas Cards, Packages Stressed Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas. When preparing gift packages for mailing, be sure that all addresses are legible and complete. When wrapping gifts for mailing, it is always better to use corrugated cartons, especially if there are a number of various sized objects in the shipment.

Use plenty of wadded tissue paper or newspaper for extra protection against shock, and securely wrap each package in heavy paper and then tie it with strong cord. Be sure to include an extra label with your return address and the recipient's address INSIDE the package before it is wrapped.

Another good idea is to place a piece of transparent tape over the address portion of the label on your package to prevent defacing in transit.

Remember these three rules when mailing Christmas packages: wrap securely, address correctly, and mail early.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS By BOYCE HOUSE

In Corpus Christi, the weather forecast—instead of flatly naming a high temperature—will give a range such as "High today will be between 89 and 94." Of course, it being Texas and summer (when I was there) you knew it was going to reach 94—but doesn't "between 89 and 94" sound more cooling?

A bluff divides the downtown section of Corpus Christi. There are three ways for the pedestrian to get to the top of the bluff. One is by a walkway which curves around beside the street. Another is a picturesque flight of steps which has a white sculptural design in front of it.

On my arrival in Corpus Christi, I heard a terrific voice which sounded as though it was coming over a loud-speaker turned as high as it would go. On entering the tunnel, I perceived the source: a crippled beggar who was preaching. The acoustical power of the tunnel is amazing.

I wonder if the citizens instead of speaking of such-and-such a bus route (such as North Beach) don't say, "You catch Jones Buttermilk and transfer to

From a PASTOR'S STUDY

By J. R. Lawson, Pastor First Baptist Church, Kellerville

For I now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love His appearing.—II Tim. 4:6-8.

Some time ago General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was relieved as United Nations Commander in the far east. When the general came back to America after fourteen years abroad, he made a speech to the American Congress. It was one of the finest and most dramatic speeches ever heard in America. At the end of his speech he quoted an old song of the Army, "Old Soldiers Never Die." But I have not come to you today to talk about MacArthur; I want to tell you of another old soldier, an old soldier of the cross. His name is Paul. As we meet him in II Timothy he is coming down toward the end of the way and he says, I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have kept the faith, I have finished my course; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love His appearing. In a little while his head would roll off the block and they would pronounce him dead. But his soul, his spirit, the real Paul would be living on forever and ever with the Christ whom he loved. It is true that old soldiers of the cross never die.

No man ever suffered for Christ as Paul did. In stripes above measure, in prison more frequent, in deaths of, of the Jews five times received I forty stripes save one. Thrice was I beaten with rods, once I was stoned, thrice I suffered shipwreck, a night and a day have I been in the deep; in journeying often, in perils of water, perils of robbers, in peril of the heathen, hungering and thirsty, cold and naked.

Have we suffered anything for Christ? Have we ever made a sacrifice for Him? Paul did this and he calls on us to do the same thing; I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service. Rom. 12:1.

I have fought a good fight, Paul says. He looks upon life as a battle to be fought, a victory to be won. He said on one occasion that he was not fighting flesh and blood, but the evil forces of Satan. There is a fight which never ends this side of glory.

When we Christians set out to make our lives count for Christ, these enemies get busy and try to ruin our testimony. They say it won't hurt you to miss prayer meeting Wednesday night. Come along with us. They say, there is no harm in this. Many Christians give in. They soon go astray and lose their witness.

Let me ask you this question: Did you ever see anyone who had a great influence for God who did not put Christ and His church first always? No, you never did.

God has a course for you to run, and you ought to say, "Lord, what do you want me to do? I will be what you want me to be, I'll do what you want me to do, I'll go where you want me to go." Phil. 1:21 says, For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain. "Old soldiers never die."

the tidelands boundaries of Gulf Coastal states (including Texas) at three miles out.

Texas claims tidelands 10 1/2 miles out by virtue of its 110-year-old annexation agreement with the U. S. A law passed by Congress in 1953 requires the federal government to respect the states' "historical boundaries."

Gov. Price Daniel called on the Legislature to protest to President Eisenhower concerning the action by Brownell, Daniel, who co-sponsored the 1953 tidelands bill, read a letter from the President which said, in effect, that he would continue to honor Texas' claim.

The House immediately passed a resolution in keeping with the governor's request.

Daniel said that Brownell "added insult to injury" by asking in his suit that Texas be required to pay to the federal government money received from leases on tidelands beyond a three-mile limit. This would amount to more than $26,000,000 which the state has salted away in the public school fund.

The House also passed a resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention. Purpose would be to draft amendments limiting the power of the federal government where it infringes on state powers.

Lake Study Promised

Governor Daniel promised advocates of free use of rural lakes that they will have their inning. A number of legislators from rural areas have tried during the special sessions to change the law which limits water in small (200 acre feet or less) farm ponds to livestock and domestic use. Freedom to use the water for irrigation is sought.

Present law requires a special permit from the State Water Board to gain irrigation privileges. Farmers say getting such permits is complicated and too expensive.

But spokesmen for cities and downstream users vigorously oppose a change. They fear wholesale irrigation would dry up the streams, leaving no water for them.

Governor Daniel said he would not submit this issue for the special session which "is dragging enough as it is." But he promised a study of the problem with a view, perhaps, to making permits easier to get.

Insurance Quiz

Senate investigating committee continued to put Insurance Department employees on the carpet to determine how well that agency is carrying out its functions.

Asst. Comm. Paul Connor took full responsibility for a three-months delay in action on a critical report concerning Preferred Life of Dallas. It was handed as quickly as possible "under the circumstances," said Connor. He pointed out that the department was in a period of re-organization at the time and that it received hundreds of such reports.

T. W. Goad, for 17 years a department examiner, testified that examiners' morale was at an all-time low. He attributed this to (1) legislative cutting of examiners' per diem pay and (2) hostility from companies which feel state charges for an examination are too high.

Cost of Crime
 Board of Corrections adopted a 1958 budget of $4,045,720 to take care of the all-time high state prison population.

However, only $1,025,829 of this comes from tax money. The rest is earned by the various farming and manufacturing enterprises operated by inmates. Number behind bars has climbed to an average of 9,726 this year compared to 4,987 in 1947.

More Money for Texas
 Texans have been getting richer faster than the average U. S. citizen in the past 27 years. University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports Texas average income increased 44% from 1929-57. U. S. average increased 27%.

But there's a less rosy side. Last year Texas per capita income still hadn't caught up with the national average. It was $1,686 compared to $1,940.

Also, drought and farm depression have slowed Texas' rate of increase in incomes. However, said the Bureau report, some improvement in the farm incomes is expected this year.

Rural Roads Supported

Governor Daniel had more words of encouragement for farmers at the Texas Farm Bureau convention.

"There'll be no let-up on the building of rural roads during this administration," he told delegates. Bureau delegates were concerned with recent suggestions that the farm-to-market system is getting a disproportionate share of road money and should be curtailed.

Another Travis County grand jury is underway. State Auditor C. H. Caviness was called in to brief jurors on any possible irregularity that should be investigated. A new law prohibiting optometrists from quoting prices in ads is invalid, says the attorney general. Opinion said the laws was improperly drawn and therefore void.

Funeral services were held in Austin for Former State Supreme Justice John H. Sharp, 83. Judge Sharp was appointed to the court by Gov. Dan Moody in 1929. George Parr gained at least a brief respite in his court battles after the Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a conviction for misappropriating school funds.

Parr had been sentenced to five years in a New Braunfels district court. He also has been convicted in a federal court of using the mails to defraud a school district. . . . Sputnik means "we will do what we have been doing, except a little more of it," says State Civil Defense Director William L. McGill. Texas will stress preparing emergency governments to function in the event of disaster, he said. . . . More than 50,000 Texas families are now receiving food from the government's surplus stocks, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Much of it goes to children via the school lunch program.

Is not that the truest gratitude which strives to widen the horizon of human happiness which has gladdened us?—Henry Codman Potter.

Sterling, Ill., Daily Gazette: "Whether the nation's taxpayers really bit into the seat of government spending or merely came out of the 1957 federal budget battle with a piece of cloth in their mouths still remains to be seen."

Quincy, Mass., Patriot Ledger: "The United States as a nation and educators as members of a profession must re-examine their own attitude towards scientists and the educational process. Mathematics may not be for the millions but more pupils would take it if Americans put greater value upon it. There will always be some 'eggheads' who will study science out of innate curiosity."

Senator Yarborough's WASHINGTON REPORT:

"Give the people light and they will find the way." This is a basic precept of democracy. So believing, this is to report to you that our country is in the most grave danger that it has been in since the first months after Pearl Harbor.

Last week I witnessed the missile briefings and firings at Fort Bliss and at White Sands proving grounds.

Our armed services have perfected a missile virtually 100% effective against pilot-operated aircraft. But this offers little consolation because we have not created an effective weapon against guided missiles. This, without question, is the most vital problem that faces us at this time. It is the reason I urged President Eisenhower to call Congress in session immediately. I believe that the earliest minute we can face this matter and speed up our research and development programs, the safer our country will be.

Many of you have asked me during my recent fact-finding visits across the state, whether I believe taxes will have to be raised to meet the Russians' missile threat. I believe the answer to this depends on the administration.

If we have unguided service rivalry and typical heiter-skelter Republican planning by the administration, it might raise taxes.

However, if a missile administrator or director is appointed with authority to take control of missile development and coordinate the work, I believe our safety can be secured without additional taxes.

One thing is sure: We cannot afford delay.

"EVERYTHING IS DANGEROUS TO HIM THAT IS AFRAID OF IT" (Author's name below)

There is now no good reason why anyone should worry about a possible disease they might have. Medical science is rapidly learning the answers to many formerly unsolvable problems.

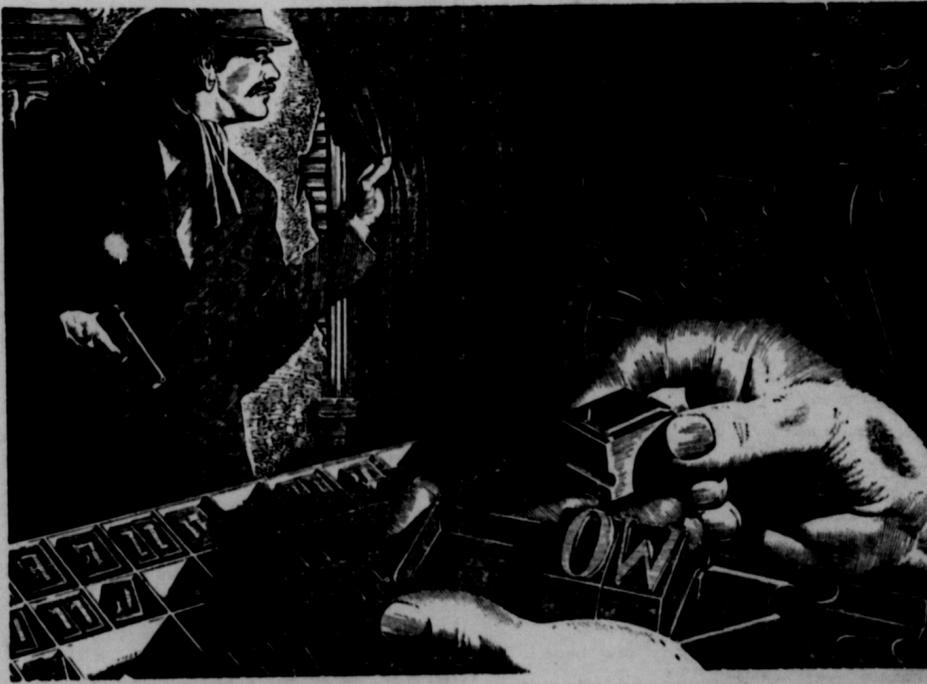

No one should be afraid that they might have an incurable disease because there are now none that cannot be helped if the diagnosis is made early. If you have any continuously recurring troublesome symptoms, just let your physician find out the reason. The odds are he will quickly prove they are not dangerous if you follow his advice.

Freedom of the Press, Here and Now

Everywhere that a tyrant's heel has ground most brutally, there has sprung up an "underground" movement. And its heart always is a printing press. For the urge that dwells deep in a freedom-loving people to know the truth is hard to kill. In fact, it cannot be killed — not even by the best-organized despotism in history.

The many stories of underground presses that have come down through the ages of trial and error by many dictators is an inspiration to the men and women of America's press.

We know that the truth can actually be printed and circulated under the very heel of a tyrant's boot. But a far better way of keeping people informed is through their own free press which operates not in some dark cellar, but on main street, right next door to the grocer, the postoffice, the drug store. * * To preserve that freedom is the first obligation of the American people and the American Press. It is our only hope of maintaining our other cherished freedoms.
