Man Returns To Kit-And-Run Scene Sunday

A hit-and-run offender here Sunday morning got all the way to Turkey before he turned around and decided to give himself up.

Jesus Rodriguez Hernandez, a resident here, rammed into two parked cars late Saturday night on Main Street here. No one was in the cars and no one in the Hernandez car was injured.

The accident occurred when Hernandez rounded the corner by the Lovett Library headed north. He reached for a small child who fell down in the seat when he turned the corner, and thereupon lost control of the auto.

The car crashed into a 1952 Pontiac belonging to Junior Brooks, and a 1951 Ford owned by Gene Greer. The damage to both cars was minor.

A public meeting to organize—or reject—a toy factory here in McLean will be held Friday night at 7:30 in the Grade School Cafeteria.

S. W. Jones of Amarillo, owner of the Bronco Manufacturing, a "back-yard enterprise" so far, will present five plans to interested citizens on how to organize the toy factory here.

The specific toy Jones has manufactured is an aluminum "bucking horse" suspended from a five foot frame by springs, and is suitable for children 4 to 12 years old.

Several McLean City Councilmen and other interested citizens were in Amarillo last week and felt the project was valid enough to warrant a public meeting to put the question before townpeople.

So far, Jones has hand-made the horses, but his demand has exceeded the output. Several large wholesale firms have expressed interest in carrying the product.

According to City Manager Dan Mize, if people here express their approval and want to organize the factory, then the financing will be done by Jones putting up the capital he has, and McLean people buying up enough shares in the corporation to finance the balance.

It was not known Thursday the exact amount that would be needed to launch the business.

If organized, the factory would employ about 20 men immediately who could produce about 150 horses per week. Subsequent expansions, if warranted, would of course mean more employees.

Jones says he could start production within three weeks if given the green-light.

The toy pony has been selling for $99.60 but Jones figures that if he can get it on an assembly line basis he can sell it for around $69.

Attending the meeting with Jones, Friday, will be Bill Curtis, an Amarillo C.P.A. who is interested in the company, and Floyd Stocker, Amarillo aluminum sand casting expert from Amarillo.

Jones' daughter "Pee Wee" will give a demonstration ride, also.

Everyone is invited to attend the meeting.

Area Observations

For those who like to think back when — the following was taken from the Wheeler Times in Don Earne's column:

When from a recent article in the Shelby (Mo.) Sun:

Life may begin at 40. . . . If you are "some" past that you may remember —

When a small town could support two blacksmith shops.

When conditioning in the bathroom was two small half months.

When the little horses at the end of the path.

When it took six flat irons to do the laundry.

When Dad brought milk home from a bellows in an open bucket.

When "cubats" were something you fed a kid and not a covering for your posterior.

When you had to wind the Victrola after each record was played.

When the name of the peace player was used to beat the "jovies" at Hot Gibson shows.

When Mamma stood bent over the washing board from 6 a.m. till noon each Monday.

When you were given a half-gallon of kerosene with sugar to knock a cold.

When you ran two miles to watch an airplane make a landing in a farmer's corn field.

When President Hoover started the first government giveaway by giving flour and commodities to the needy.

When the girls wore spit curls in black bloomers.

When the Sears Roebuck catalog served a dual purpose.

When the grocer gave you kids

a big sack of candy every time Dad said the bill.

When the baby diaper was always a three-cornered affair.

When there was a bed and sex morning arguing which one produced the wet spot.

When Exogy Holligan was your favorite comic strip.

When an old nag meant the farm plough horse.

When you had to crank the wind-up and hold the cloth at the same time — as when changing tires meant that — not just changing wheels.

When the school principal could not do "what the beholds" on misbehaved kids — and still keep his job.

When a farmer could grow any crop of his choosing (and get whatever he could for it).

When in politics, a crooked legislator in the Palisades was a Martin Dies, former Texas Congressman whom I have always regarded as a fool of sufficient stature as to warrant protection by state law, has told Texas that if people keep on demanding additional government services they must be prepared to pay for them in now or increased taxes. That is hardly a profound conclusion, but the fact remains that the people of Texas are not demanding new and increased services in government. On the contrary they are highly vocal in favor of reducing present services. Perhaps someone will tell me what these "additional services" are. I would also be interested to know what "people" are demanding them. The only demand of any proportion, I have heard is the one that teaches the giving a living wage. But that is a dead issue, in spite of it being the "demand of the people." Austin legislators make repeated reference to these expensive "demands of the people," but they never say what the demands are, and they never name the people who demand the demands. But anybody with enough sense to find a bureaucrat in the maze of state buildings at Austin knows that most of these so-called demands come from heads of various departments of state government who use the "people's demand" gimmick to justify bigger and fatter appropriations whereby they can extend their influence and gain more power. I now challenge Mr. Dies, and those in the Legislature who have used this convenient but non-existent formula, to name some of those services demanded by the people. And at the same time they might try explaining, in the light of their attentive ear toward a clamoring public, why nobody has heeded the public demand for state budget cuts and elimination of non-essential offices and bureaus in the name of economy?

And once again from Douglas Mendor's "Trail Dust" in the Matador Tribune.

NEXT TIME, WITH FEELING — Brandishing their machetes, a group of farmers from Cuba's Oriente Province seem to lack the proper accompanying facial expressions. They marched on Havana for the anniversary of the first rebel attack on the former government.

BAPTISTS BELIEVE... EVERY CHRISTIAN IS A PRIEST

The Bible plainly sets forth this great doctrine. Every Christian is his own priest, and therefore needs no one else to act as a priest for him to stand between him and the end. The Apostle John wrote of Jesus Christ that he "made us kings and priests unto God" (Revelation 1:6). The Apostle Peter wrote to early believers, "Ye are . . . a royal priesthood" (1 Peter 2:9). The Apostle Paul wrote, "There is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus" (1 Timothy 2:5). We do not need someone on earth now to petition God in our stead. Since every Christian is a priest, he can intercede with God for himself. He can approach God directly through Christ the great High Priest. Christ alone has authority to forgive our sins.

The Christian priesthood forms a brotherhood of all Christians and not a religious rule of priests, or hierarchy. The New Testament churches did not set apart any special persons as priests. Baptists follow their example. They believe that every Christian is his own priest, and that the pastor is no more a priest than any member of the church.

The priesthood of the believer rests upon truth. Christ spoke to each individual when he declared, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:32). The gifts and knowledge of God come directly to each individual Christian. No third party is necessary. "He (the Holy Spirit) shall teach you all things . . ." (John 14:26). The priests of the New Testament — all Christian believers — know God in spirit and in truth. There is the knowledge of experience. The first followers of Jesus learned this great spiritual truth. Jesus said "Flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven" (Matthew 16:17).

Because each person can approach God for himself, no man can act for another in spiritual matters. A husband cannot be a priest for his wife. A mother cannot be a priest for her child. A minister cannot do for members of his church what God expects them to do for themselves.

All Christians are priests. As such we can draw near to God with boldness, through our High Priest, Jesus Christ, to offer sacrifices of praise and good works. The person who has not become a follower of Christ may go to God directly in prayer and declare his desire to follow Christ. The priesthood of believers is a doctrine of spiritual vitality, not of mere religious forms. Each believer becomes a priest and his body becomes a human temple in which God lives. The great Christian Apostle, Paul, wrote: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you" (1 Corinthians 3:16).

ance has the public for protection from increases? Apparently it has almost none. A increase of 1 1/2c a gallon in the federal gas tax voted down by Congress. Within days a new came up to increase the tax 1/2c a gallon for 10 years, and transfer some receipts now in present gas taxes from the general fund into highway trust fund, where they should have the first place. Another proposal would raise x 1 1/2c for a two-year period only.

When you look at it, the determination to make pay additional gas taxes for a crash program building instead of doing the construction money becomes available. He is gullible enough to believe that a one year "special" gas tax would be dropped at the end of the period, he should have his head examined. As to do is to check over the "emergency" laws were passed for various purposes years ago that no special tax for one or two years would do no matter how large the taxes are. They never get relief until they tell Congress in no terms that tax reductions, not tax increases, are.

And of two years roads will again be costing much as estimated, "special" taxes will be levied and it is safe to say increases will be

YARDSTICK
 Congressman Robert P. Griffin says: "Back in 1933, a corporation known as the Tennessee Valley (TVA) was created by Congress to administer on and flood control project. It was understood that the project would generate some hydro-power as an 'incidental by-product', in order to government 'shot-in-the-arm' for an under-region of the country."

As happened in the intervening years to this innocuous and constructive corporation? For TVA now represents an investment—provided federal taxpayers of the whole country—of $1 billion. For another, about 80% of that gigantic is in electric power facilities—not in navigation and flood control works. For still another, 70% electricity is now steam-generated, instead of hydro-electric 'incidental by-product.' And, TVA is now the largest steam generating power plant.

quote Congressman Griffin again: "It should be noted that TVA is dear to the hearts of people in 80,000 square mile area which it serves. It supplies electricity to its consumers at almost cost paid in other areas served by private utility companies. But cheap TVA power is not made through some form of magic. It is subsidized provided by the generosity of the federal government that means all the taxpayers of the nation. TVA, while competing private companies pay receives it capital from the taxpayers... no interest thereon."

An accurate description of the TVA "yardstick" supposed to measure the propriety of rates private enterprise. It's about 18 inches long.

FOCUS
 L. Nichols, editor and publisher of This Week, of huge circulation, has something to say about newspapers. Here are his words: "Newspapers are the most powerful force in public opinion today" because:

 "1. The newspaper is the only medium which talks directly to each reader in terms of himself, his family and his community.
 "2. The newspaper is the only medium which makes its products every day.
 "Hence, newspapers are always in focus—always in direct, immediate and intimate touch both with people and with changing times, and this is what gives newspapers their tremendous influence and efficiency.
 The newspaper is one of the oldest forms of communication. New competitors have come into being and found their place. But the newspaper's pre-eminence as an influence remains.

The Peripatetic View by CEC

Recently at a Texas press convention Craig Thorn Jr. addressed an assembly with a speech entitled "Homo Claimant Americanus."
 The essence of the talk pointed out the fact that with the liberal philosophy of government becoming increasingly popular, people all over are getting the idea that the government, or the state, or persons unknown will take care of them, no matter what happens.

It's an attitude that's breeding moral degradation and is making the little bit of dishonesty that's in every man blossom under the label of "subsidation" and "compensation."
 Now days a farmer gets paid for what he doesn't plant, and when a man gets hurt he forgets about his broken leg and starts wondering how much he can pry from an insurance policy, or in "fortunate" case of disability, how much his fringe benefits will pay him for laying around the rest of his life.

Regulatory measures are more than ever being made to share profits of large concerns, and, in many instances, making them pay working people more than they are worth in order to stay in business at all.
 These regulatory moves are not only unnecessary but are eating away at the free enterprise system itself and even taking away from John Q. the right or privilege to think.
 They give people no opportunity to stay in control of anything, and almost quench the desire to strike out and attempt anything not subsidized, unionized or promising bountiful compensation.

By example, the private utility companies fight a never-ending battle to keep rates half way in line with government-operated utilities and in addition are pouring a staggering amount of tax money into the federal deficit every year, which grows larger supporting the untold numbers of committees, groups, sub-committees, etc. which place the regulations in question. They do this supposedly to "protect" users of utilities from "monopoly" prices.

An advocate of these regulatory measures told me a few days ago that without them the utility companies could roll rampant over the customers.
 In actuality, if a utility company raised their rates beyond all question (with no interference from the government) it would likely be only a short time until some enterprising person would build another utility company with reasonable rates, and the first company would either have to get in line or get out of business.
 And this, then, establishes the sound economy of a competitive system of free enterprise. It's the system by which this country grew in the first place, and it's the only way it can thrive for an extended period of time without making brainless machines out of most of its occupants.

HORSE OF A DIFFERENT POWER—They might ride mudders, but jockeys no longer have to plod through mud at the Detroit, Mich., race course. Horsepower of another sort pulls them to the paddock in this de luxe trailer. Saddles and tackle stow in trailer's midsection.

things look good on the surface to those who would rather settle for a hand-out existence, but it's proving to be more of a detriment than a help. Instead of raising the "hand-outs" to a higher social degree, it is pushing those who crave something better down to the hand-out category by making it too hard to make a living any other way.

When the majority of the people are down to this level, what then? Once every type of enterprise known is government controlled, wheel then will lie all the power? And all the freedom and truth, etc.?

Like apple pie and hot cream an electric dishwasher and electric water heater go together. Your dishwasher does the dishes "on the double" — you're out of the kitchen in half the time. And you break fewer dishes, keep your hands lovelier, and keep those dirty dishes out of sight — in the dishwasher — between loads.

Plenty of hot water is what your dishwasher wants — and gets — from an electric water heater. You can put that electric water heater right where you want it — where you use the most hot water — because it has no vents — no fumes. Yes, the electric dishwasher and water heater go together. Try one now — add the other later. You'll like them both.

ATTENTION, HUSBANDS
 Wouldn't you spend 1 1/2c a day to give your wife lovely hands? Of course you would — especially if you could get the dishes done for that price, too. You can! And electric water heating is inexpensive, too, with a big bargain rate.

IN THIS NUCLEAR AGE

CD's a Vital Part of Farm Safety

Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Leo A. Hoegh in a Farm Safety Week statement urges farmers to accept Rural Civil Defense as a vital part of farm safety in this nuclear age.

Mr. Hoegh pointed out that fallout from nuclear attack on key military, metropolitan and industrial centers could cover hundreds of thousands of square miles of the United States.

"EVERY FARM family, no matter how remote it may be from a target," he said, "should build a family fallout shelter and stock it properly. This means providing a two-week supply of food and water, a battery radio, a first-aid kit, flashlights, bedding and other items that would be essential to your survival." Mr. Hoegh said Farm Safety Week, July 19-25, serves to remind farmers of the need to recognize and support the objectives of the Farm Division of the National Safety Council.

He said: "This nation cannot survive and recover from attack without its farmers. Rural America has always carried a heavy burden in times of national emergency. In this nuclear age, it is more important than ever before."

Mr. Hoegh pointed out that fallout is one menace of thermonuclear attack against which simple protective measures can be taken.

"It need not kill," he said. "It is up to you to take action. Nobody can do it for you. Any more than they can ship you a packaged civil defense from a factory."

"SURVIVAL WILL always be a personal thing. What you know and do will determine whether you—and your family—will live to help the nation survive."

Director Hoegh said free plans and designs for various shelters can be obtained by writing to OGDMD Rural Civil Defense, Battle Creek, Mich.

Congressman Rogers Reports TO THE PEOPLE

THE LABOR ISSUE

The big question in this country is, "What kind of labor bill will the Congress pass?" The Senate has already adopted its version. Many have argued the Senate bill is not strong enough, because it did not include the McClellan amendments. On the other hand it is being argued in many quarters that the Senate bill is much stronger than the House bill recently reported. The House bill will probably be the subject of debate in the Congress by the time you read this letter or shortly thereafter. It is contemplated that several substitutes may be offered to take the place of the House bill. Whether or not any of these will be adopted is highly conjectural but it can be expected there will be many amendments to the measure. What its final form will be, no one knows. But when it is completed the contest between the House and the Senate will be in reconciling the differences between the two bills. It is generally conceded that the American public demands the passage of legislation effectively prohibiting racketeering and gangsterism in the unions. This is a primary requirement by the people of this country, and rightfully so. The racketeering and gangsterism which has been exposed should never have been permitted in the first place. A great number of these acts alleged to have been committed in carrying on violence by many of these groups constituted violations of the criminal statutes of the states in which these acts occurred. I am at a loss to understand why these violators were not prosecuted and sent to prison where they belong. Exand completely destroy the democratic processes upon which we stand. A corporation, a labor union, or an individual does not and should not have the right or the power to circumvent the Constitution and the laws of this country to its own benefit. Yet, we see attempts every day to do just that.

It is my hope that, in the final analysis, the Congress will adopt a labor reform bill which will be amply strong to cast fear into the hearts of all thugs and cut-throats, and will fully and clearly protect the constitutional rights of all parties to a labor-management contract.

It goes without saying that all of the controversies between labor and management, growing out of the many decisions of the National Labor Relations Board and the courts of this land, cannot be resolved and settled in one piece of legislation. To try to do this would be to confuse the issue more than it has been in the past, provide the means for more

A Birthday Dinner

A week ago Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson entertained in honor of the 74th birthday of Mrs. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Sarah E. Graves. Ernest is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Jordan. He is a noble young man whom any town or community is proud to claim as their own.

The Sauce Makes The Pizza

Sally Ann Saylor is the undisputed queen of her pizza lovin' crowd. She prefers the traditional yeast dough, but that takes time. When the hour is late, she builds individual pizzas on split muffins or uses a biscuit mix, made stiff and kneaded satin-smooth. She makes do with whatever cheese is handy, and is not particular about the sausage because she knows the SAUCE makes the pizza. She cans sauce (in late summer when tomatoes are cheap) as that is the only way she can have a sauce seasoned her way.

CHILDREN and SAFETY

This mother is showing some of the common things used around a house which can be dangerous to infants and small children unless they are kept out of their reach.

Just as a mother keeps her children out of contact with matches, knives, scissors, electrical devices, etc., she should also exercise the same caution with the disposable ultra-thin plastic bag which protects her family's freshly cleaned clothes.

Mis-use of this disposable ultra-thin plastic film as substitute covers for cribs, play pens, baby carriages, furniture, etc., has resulted in a number of infant deaths attributed to suffocation when the non-porous material came in contact with the child's face.

National experts in safety, health, and medical fields are cooperating with the Society of the Plastics Industry in a campaign to save lives by urging parents not to mis-use this ultra-thin material by letting it come into contact with small children.

These experts urge that once the ultra-thin plastic bag has served its intended purpose it should be shredded or knotted and disposed of in a covered can, safely away from children.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

Sovereign immunity
How could anybody ever say: "The king can do no wrong"? (When we know of kings who did do wrong.)

The idea looks simple: As absolute law maker, the king could hold himself above his own law. He was under no law and could therefore do no legal wrong.

Anyway, when King George lost the 13 colonies, the American states took over the doctrine of Sovereign Immunity: Nobody can sue a government agency without the state's permission, when the agency is doing government work. (Of course if the agency is doing "proprietary functions" like running street cars or making electricity, it may often be sued much like any other business.)

Thus suppose for lack of due care a private bakery truck should harm your child who had done nothing to bring on the accident. Well, then, most likely you could sue the bakery in the child's behalf and collect damages.

But not with government agencies unless the legislature gives you lawful permission.

Thus in the old days, if an army jeep harmed your child, you could collect only if Congress passed a special bill awarding damages.

Recently this doctrine has been attacked: Why shouldn't the government pay like any other organization?

So during the last war the federal government in response to public opinion passed a "tort liability" law. It gives the people much more power to sue than before the last war. And the courts much more often than Congress now set the damages in many kind of cases.

In Texas, the Legislature by a proper action may permit certain general types of suits to be brought against the state, under various conditions and restrictions. Then, if a specific situation arises which is not covered by the general rules, the legislators are authorized to pass a special measure to permit suit to be brought.

Therefore, any person seeking to enforce a claim against the State of Texas through the courts must petition the Legislature for the necessary permission, unless his claim falls within some general category or type previously recognized by our lawmakers. During each session, the Legislature passes legislation allowing suits to be brought against the state in a variety of cases.

Sometimes, however, suits may be brought against individuals holding office under the State of Texas and acting as agents of the state, but where the state itself is not the principal party to the suit, without first gaining consent to sue. There are numerous situations in which an individual officer may be sued with regard to the duties and functions of his office, and in which the state is not directly or substantially a party in interest.

Suppose you do obtain legislative permission to sue the state. What happens then? If suit is brought against the State of Texas, and the action is successfully prosecuted, you will be awarded a judgment against the state. Then, it's back to the Legislature for more legislation to appropriate the necessary money with which the state may pay off the judgment.

Sincerity is the highest compliment you can pay.—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Bible Comment:

Religions, Old and New, Have Similar Beginnings

In the growth of religions and religious movements from small beginnings Christianity is not unique. Other great world religions have had similar history. And in modern times, conspicuous religious movements have had the same developments.

World Methodism, with its immense and numerical and spiritual power, began in a couple of devout Oxford University students, and particularly in the one, John Wesley.

The Mormon empire grew from one man, Joseph Smith, though he had amazing successors. Another notable instance is the rapid and widespread growth of Christian Science from the life and writings of Mary Baker Eddy.

The similarity of the growth of various religions and religious movements does not put them on an equal spiritual plane. There is something unique about the growth of Christianity. It is not the fact that it spread from a small beginning, but in the nature of the beginning from which Christianity developed.

The beginning was in spiritual teaching, and in a message. If one believed the Gospel, its very nature impelled one to make it known. And witnessing has been the very foundation of its continued growth and strength.

But the secret of Christianity lies in power as well as in the Gospel impelling experience. Also, organization has accounted for the development of strong churches.

Jesus not only taught the Disciples, but He trained them and sent them out, two by two.

It is this combination of spiritual power and organization that has always made religious movements so effective.

Plan To Attend Church This Sunday

By David V. Fultz

Minister McLean Church of Christ

America is fast losing her reputation as a law abiding nation, and unless something is done to arouse us from our sleep we wonder what is going to happen to us as a people.

Recent reports show an increase in crime unprecedented in history; especially is this true among the young people of our country. Crime has increased among this group from 1949 to 1958 nearly five times as fast as the population growth among them. We are spending five times as much for the criminals of our country as we are in educating the youth of our land. Certainly it is time that we awakened to what is going on and started doing something about it.

Perhaps no other factor has contributed so much to this situation as the breakdown of the home. We cannot lay the blame upon the churches or schools. These institutions can only go so far in the training and teaching of the youth of our land as the homes will let them. Few young people will have the initiative upon their own to attend Bible study and church when the parents do not come with them. How can we teach respect for God and His word when we do not study His word and worship Him? Training of the schools can be easily offset by the criticism of the teachers, and a failure to permit enforcement of rules and regulations.

According to recent reports, salacious literature is becoming a big business, and is corrupting the minds of our young people. Postal authorities cannot get the proper backing in many instances to keep this obscene mail from passing through these channels into the hands of our young people. At no time have more forces been at work in putting before the eyes of our young people things that are vile and lewd and base. Things that once were only known to the lower strata of our society are finding their way into the homes of the very best of us, and if something is not done to stem the tide we shall be reaping the results of what is sown in proportions that will shake us to the very foundations.

We have too many that are fine and good and wholesome among our young people to permit them to become corrupted. Let us by daily prayer, Bible study, and devotion to God keep them that way, and do all we can to correct that which is wrong.

40 Years Ago—

IT HAPPENED HERE

Taken from the Files of The McLean News, 1919 Bailey-Saye

Mr. George Saye and Miss Ruth Bailey were married last Sunday at one o'clock at the home of the bride, Rev. Osborn officiating.

These two young people have lived here for several years, and have made many friends. One present at the wedding reports that this was the most beautiful home wedding she had ever witnessed.

Miss Fannie Bailey prepared a wedding dinner Sunday for the newly wed Mr. and Mrs. George Saye. Everything was decorated in white, making the dining room very beautiful. Those present were all the Bailey relatives, John Haynes and family and Rev. Osborn and family.

Personals

Ralph Tipton, recently discharged from the army, came in last Thursday night, wearing three service chevrons and a broad smile. The man who has spent as much as 18 months in France is a rare bird in these parts, and we think should have had his deliverance from the perils of mademoiselles, cottes and vin rouge much earlier.

On Monday evening a crowd of young people motored up to Al-annead for seven o'clock dinner. Mesdames Brown and Smith had prepared the most delicious meal one could imagine. The evening was spent in social talk with music along. Those present were Misses Wilson, Jessie and Annie Alexander, Watkins, Henry and Upham; Mesdames Brown, Smith and Upham; and Messrs. Upham and Dwight, Brown, T. J. Coffey, Storts and Shaw.

A crowd of young people spent a most delightful evening at the home of Emmett Thompson Saturday night.

About 40 young people enjoyed a spread on Mr. Upham's lawn last Friday evening.

Herman Glass, who has been with the army in France for several months, came in Thursday night with one of the reddest discharge chevrons we have seen. For the benefit of those who might be curious, we will say that he, too, is glad to get back, likes the U. S. better than any country he has ever seen, and doesn't plan to go to Europe again soon.

Miss Hattie Thompson entertained a crowd of young people at her home Wednesday evening. She had prepared dinner for the young folks, and this was served in "cowboy" style. Everyone reported having spent a delightful evening.

A crowd of young folks spent a very delightful evening at the home of C. A. Watkins on last Monday. A most delightful luncheon was served on the lawn. Music and other forms of amusement were enjoyed.

Rob Harris and family entertained a host of their friends to an ice cream supper Wednesday night.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

AUSTIN.—With the bottleneck broken on a tax bill for regular spending, legislators began to look down the road.

Rep. Murray Watson of Mart proposed a resolution that pointed up the lawmakers' uneasiness about having more rough decisions before the year is out.

Watson's resolution called on Gov. Price Daniel to say immediately whether he would call another special session to raise money for the Hale-Aikin school improvement program.

Hale-Aikin proposals, which include an $800 a year salary boost for the teachers, would cost an estimated $120,000,000 a year. There have been repeated rumors that the governor will re-call the Legislature next fall to enact Hale-Aikin. Also floating around is the rumor that a 1-cent a gallon hike in the gasoline tax is being "saved" for that purpose.

Watson charged, "I think there has been a definite deal made with the Texas State Teachers Association . . . Somebody else should know what's going on here instead of just the governor and the teachers' lobby."

Governor Daniel's supporters called this unfair. They declared that the governor, like everyone else, couldn't tell how it would be until after the dust settled from the fracas over raising money for the basic budget.

At Last . . .
When the Legislature finally voted out the new $185,000,000 tax bill, it voted it out in a big way. Tally was 29 to 2 in the Senate and 115 to 24 in the House.

This is well over the required two-thirds to make the bill effective immediately on the governor's signing.

House, which had been hamstrung for seven months on the tax issue, came unstrung so suddenly it surprised the bill's advocates. Voting ended good naturedly with "yea" votes recruited in the atmosphere of an old-fashioned revival meeting.

Most talked about feature of the new bill is a severance beneficiary tax of 1.5 per cent on natural gas. It was the first time the Senate had approved this tax. Many House members had said they would not vote for any bill that didn't include it. It will bring in an estimated fifteen to eighteen million dollars over two years if not ruled unconstitutional.

Three-fourths or more of the bill's revenue will come from selective sales taxes. Newcomers are a 3 per cent tax on jewelry and furs, a 3 per cent tax on hotel and motel room rentals, 3 per cent on boats, motors, cameras, air conditioners, 25 per cent on tobacco products other than cigarettes.

Taxes on cigarettes will go up 3 cents a pack; liquor and wine, 20 per cent; motor vehicle sales, from 1.1 to 1.5 per cent.

Utility gross receipts will go up 20 per cent, and the corporation franchise tax will go up by 75 cents per $1,000 capital for one year, 50 cents per $1,000 thereafter.

Ladies Day . . .
Senate debate on the tax bill was enlivened by the arrival of a women's march on the Capitol.

Gallery was filled with flowery hats and excited chatter as some 40 to 100 women (estimates varied widely) swept in "to show those lobbyists what's what."

Leaders were Mrs. Jud Collier of Mumford and Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham of New Waverly, both workers in the militantly liberal Democrats of Texas Clubs.

They were, according to Mrs. Collier, "infuriated by the scandalous lobby which has blocked action on the tax bill." Specifically, they favored a bill heavy on gas taxes and light on selective sales taxes.

BOTTOMS UP IN LONDON—Flopping on their tummies atop a wall, these three young ladies kick up their heels near London's Buckingham Palace. Spending a lazy summer's afternoon, they are looking for pennies in a fountain.

Legislating Ended Abruptly . . .

Tax bills have had a lot of attention during the current special session of the Texas Legislature. But there were more eyes on charming Miss Carol Ralph when she stopped in for a capitol building visit than ever looked at a tax bill.

This fetching Miss from Farron, Utah, whose theme song is "Remember A-La-Mode," is America's Miss Dairy Princess. She was accompanied by Mrs. Anne Reeve, whose husband Lew is published of the Ocoela (Wis.) Sun. Mrs. Reeve is the chaperone for Carol's journeys about the country.

Miss Dairy Princess was introduced in the House, addressed the Senate, and was the recipient of complimentary resolutions from both branches of the Legislature. Then the lawmakers settled down to work again.

71 New Patrolmen . . .

A total of 46 new patrolmen now are manning Texas highways. These trainees have just graduated from the Law Enforcement Academy of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Also graduating were 20 drivers license patrolmen and five license and weight patrolmen.

Presenting diplomas to the group was Col Homer Garrison Jr., director of the department. He announced that there still are 73 openings on the force. Eligible to fill these posts are young men 21 to 35 years of age—and they are badly needed.

City Buses Lose Out . . .

Another cause, apparently lost for this year, is that of exempting city bus systems from the state gasoline tax.

Rural area senators, led by Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center, voted it down.

City spokesmen say the buses, needed by low-income people, can not stay in the black unless they get tax relief. San Antonio's transit system went to the wall, was taken over by the city. Senator Lane made a scathing attack on "taking care of Highland Park" (a swank Dallas suburb) when the state is having a hard time finding money "to pay the old age pensioners."

Daniel Opposes Federal Tax . . .

Governor Daniel asked the National Governors' Conference to join him in opposing an increase in the federal tax on gasoline.

Congress is considering President Eisenhower's recommended 1.5 per cent per gallon increase to pump new life into the federal highway building program.

Governor Daniel charged the federal government would have plenty of money for the highway program if it would quit using gasoline tax money for other purposes. He said further gasoline taxing should be left to the states, which need the money worse.

Earlier this year the governor mentioned the gasoline tax as a possible source of additional future revenue. State gasoline tax is presently 5 cents a gallon; federal tax, 3 cents a gallon.
