Starting a column is an awfully tiring thing to do... like growing a mustache, sitting on the front porch or going around telling everybody your great-great-third-cousin on Aunt Ellie's side used to play pinochle with Benedict Arnold.

Right off the bat you run into problems, like, well, what kind of columnist to be? Or better yet, why bother with it at all?
But these people—the columnists—are a hard-headed lot and for one reason or another persist in trying to keep the public weaned off TV for a few minutes.

They are to use a thoroughly absurd style of speech, a queer kettle of fish.

A great many of these peculiar creatures are earthly philosophers who from time to time reach down into their mystic grab bags and pull out cures for various and sundry ills of mankind known and otherwise. A few take a flendish delight in comically per-verting old sayings.

Some write in unknown tongues
and their columns are later set to music and become great rock
'n' roll classics.

Then come the crusaders, and this militant mob crusades about everything from meatless Tuesdays to not believing in Apple-head Falls N. J., wherever that is.

I also write nonsense... although there's no classification
for it—in more polite circles, Methinks it's sort of "soft soft"
nonsense... in other words,
what Maverick is to other westerns (you addicts of the one-eyed, blue-eyed monster in the living room), my stuff is to other columnists. What most good columnists are, I ain't. There...

My truth-telling partner and frequent associate, C. E. Cullin, allows as how it has a great deal
of consistency though.

Most writers, he says, occasionally have a bad column, but you (speaking to me, he was)
... you defy the law of averages.
How can you write all
duds?

He further suggests that I entitle these humble graphs, "Bird Seeds." It's for the birds.

Finally, I'm not one of those columnists who says "we" when I mean me. I have found in the past that by the use of this system
I can reduce my typing by 50 per cent when thus referring to my mother's youngest son. It also saves considerable advertising space, but I don't know just how much yet because I'm not very good with figures.

I see by one of the fillers in this issue that more suicides are

Red Cross Drive To Start Monday

Volunteer Red Cross workers will be out to raise $916 when they canvass McLean and the surrounding territory next week.
Dale Parvin, fund chairman, said the drive would get under way Monday and run through Friday, March 13.

Only volunteer workers are to be used. A group of local women will canvass the residential district while businessmen
are to contact business leaders down town.

"We will also make an effort to contact all the people who live in the country around Mc-Lean," Parvin said.

"However, if we miss anyone,
we urge them to mail their contributions to me or Jimmie Don Morris, chapter chairman."

The local drive will go toward the national goal of 1959 of $916 million—a $10 million raise over the 1958 budget.

Red Cross leaders say the additional amount is necessary to care for an "exploding population" and increased services.

"Since 1950 this country's population has increased on an average of nearly three million a year," said National Chairman Leslie B. Grainger. "More people mean more need for Red Cross services—more blood for the 3-900 hospitals served by our blood program; more people needing help when disaster strikes; more water safety instruction; and more first aid and home nursing training for them and their parents, too."

Parvin added that the public's donations go for more services in the Red Cross than in almost any other charity because all but a small per cent of the workers are volunteers drawing no salaries for their work.

The Red Cross is also the only organization which is chartered by Congress with the responsibility of aiding servicemen and their families at all times
and in all places.

"And it is not a tax-supported organization," Parvin pointed out.
"We hope everyone will cooperate and give generously,"
the McLean chairman said.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Oglesby and baby of Amarillo visited in the Howard Williams home Fri-

Week end guests in the Elton Johnston home were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnston and children

Filing Deadline Draws To Close Here In Both April Elections

As the deadline for filing loomed this week, a number of hats were already in the ring in both city races and the school board election.

Considerable interest is expected in both contests.
R. L. Brown and Jess Coleman, who filed for a place on the school board, were the only ones to throw a jerby into the proverbial ring since the last edition of the News.

However, this brought the total to eight who are seeking one of the three seats open on the school board.

In city races, no further entrants were in the race this week.
Two men have filed for mayor and three McLean citizens filed for the two open posts as aldermen.

Deadline for filing in the city
races is March 8 and last Wednesday was the last day to file
in the school board race.

The two candidates for mayor
are Ed Lander, the incumbent, and John C. Haynes, operator of the Marsee ranch here.

Ruel Smith, Boyd Meador and C. P. Callahan will be contestants for the two open alderman posts. Callahan and Meador served on the city council during the past term.

The eight candidates for the school board positions are Brown, Coleman, Bill R. Cash, Faris J.
Hess, E. J. Windom Jr., Felton
K. Webb, Dr. Joe Suderman and Spencer B. Sitter.

Cash, Hess and Windom are the incumbents.

In that race the three high
men will win, as there will be no runoff.

"We've got a chance to make progress here and I want to take advantage of it," he said.

Langer said he thought the town was in better shape than ever before.

Both candidates indicated they would have more specific statements in one of the future issues of the News.

STRICTLY FRESH

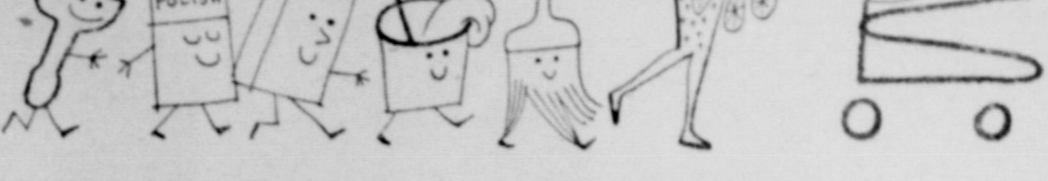

Worst thing for your morale when you're sick is a disgustingly healthy visitor. Thoughts of the expense of government tax the imagination—a source of revenue due to be tapped any day, now.

Children are young but once, a most consoling thought for harried parents to nurture. An old-timer is a fellow who can recall the days when no summer was complete without at least one circus parade down Main Street. The husband who recalls how pretty was the girl next door had better not reminisce aloud unless he married her.

Religions of East Studied by WSG

The religions of the Middle East were the subject of study at the meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild last Monday in the McLean Methodist Church.

Mrs. Clyde Andrews pointed out that of the three main religions practiced in the Middle East today (Christianity, Judaism and Islam), Islam is by far the most predominate.

"Islam means submission; that is, to the will of God," Mrs. Andrews explained. "Moslem is derived from the same root and means 'one who submits.'"

Some of the strong points of Islam include: (1) awareness of the sublimity of God; (2) belief of the dependency of man; (3) witnessing as exemplified by praying five times a day, regardless of where one is; (4) principle of brotherhood—Islam transcends barriers of race and nation; (5) simplicity; and (6) the beauty of the Koran.

Mrs. Sinclair Armstrong gave a story of two boys who were born as Moslems but became Christians.

Mrs. Hershel McCarty led the devotional.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ercy Cubine.

The Guild has taken the church nursery as a project. Mrs. Wilson Boyd, local church activities chairman, made a report of some improvements which could be made. The first items to be acted on include the purchase of rugs and two small rockers.

The members were asked to bring one toy each to the next meeting.

Mrs. Guy Hester served refreshments to 18 members and two guests, Mrs. John C. Haynes and Mrs. Claudia Cook.

Silver Is Sterling Investment for Homemaker

BY EDNA MILES

Today, when a young homemaker picks her silver pattern, she thinks in terms of sterling. Her mother did not. Most likely, she was given a full set of silver-plate as a wedding gift. Sometimes she added sterling at a later date and sometimes she did not.

The reason that the young wife today would rather begin her married life with just two place settings of sterling is that she knows the lasting power of solid silver.

It won't have to be replaced. It can be used every day. Scratches won't mar its beauty; neither will polish.

So she starts out with two place settings, if she must, and adds to it year by year until she has a full service for eight or twelve.

A new pattern has just been created which is called "My Love." Neither overly ornate nor coldly plain, it's intended to be used for every occasion, every day.

It has simple lines which are easy to clean.

It's the kind of silver the young hostess can take great pride in owning and using.

Homemaker uses her solid silver with great pride when she entertains, and every day for the family, too.

DIAL TELEPHONES

are being installed in McLean

DIALS are being installed on telephones here in preparation for the change to the new dial system. Many weeks—even months—will be required to complete this phase of the job.

In the meantime, of course, other work will be going on to finish the new telephone building and install the dial equipment.

When the dial is installed on your telephone, please remember these two things:

1. Continue to give your calls to the operator—just as you have in the past.
2. Do not turn the dial while telephoning—this may disconnect you from the person you are talking to.

Installation of dials on telephones here is another step toward the day when your dial system will be placed in service.

We'll let you know when the new system is completed and the dial on your telephone is ready for use.

COLOR TELEPHONES AT BARGAIN PRICES

Here's your chance to get a beautiful color telephone at a bargain price. Just tell the installer or repairman when he comes to install the dial on your present telephone that you want a new color telephone. If he installs a color telephone for you at this time, it will cost you only $10. You WILL NOT be billed for an installation charge.

GOOD ANSWER

It appears that the 40 billion dollar federal highway program is running into major financial problems, and that huge deficits in the fund are impending. And it has been suggested that the cure should be a further increase in the federal gasoline tax, which is now three cents a gallon and is imposed on top of the heavy state taxes.

The president of the American Petroleum Institute has made an effective answer to this scheme. It is this: If all the federal taxes collected in special levies on highway users were earmarked for the highways, there'd be no deficit.

Here's the story. In the last fiscal year, these levies produced $2.6 billion of federal revenue. But only $2.3 billion went into the highway trust fund. The rest—a smashing $1.5 billion—was diverted to other purposes.

So, as the Institute spokesman said, there is no need to increase "the already exorbitant burden on motorists."

EGGS DIE WITH THE GOOSE

There are all kinds of ways of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs. But whatever the method employed, such an exercise in avarice invariably results in destroying the egg as well as ending the life of the goose.

Thus writes Barnett Nover, one of the widely syndicated columnists. This particular column deals with certain actions of certain governments. He begins with Iran, which nationalized the oil installations within its borders in the hopes of making huge profits—and the net result "was to bring Iran to the verge of total bankruptcy." He then moves on to Bolivia, which nationalized the foreign-owned tin mines for similar reasons. The consequence is that "now the nationalized tin industry in Bolivia is operating at a deficit, the nation is plagued by continuously unbalanced budgets and unrestrained inflation; and the 120 million dollars which the United States has advanced to Bolivia in an effort to help that country stabilize its economy has been money poured down the drain."

Third, and last, Mr. Nover deals with a recent action of the Venezuelan government. That country's great oil resources have been developed by American companies under what is known as the 50-50 principle, which simply means that half of the profit shall go to the company and half to the government. Venezuela voluntarily and willingly agreed to this, and every assurance was given and reaffirmed that the principle would be maintained. But now the government, arbitrarily and unilaterally has abrogated the agreement. Increased taxes—retroactive for a year—are designed to seize for the government 60% and perhaps more of the profits.

What will come out of this? Here Mr. Nover says: "... one result ... is certain to be an increased timidity by foreign capital toward investing in that country, a country which is in need of a continuous flow of large-scale investments if its great mineral and agricultural resources are to be developed as they should be."

It doesn't pay for governments, any more than individuals, to violate their pledged word.

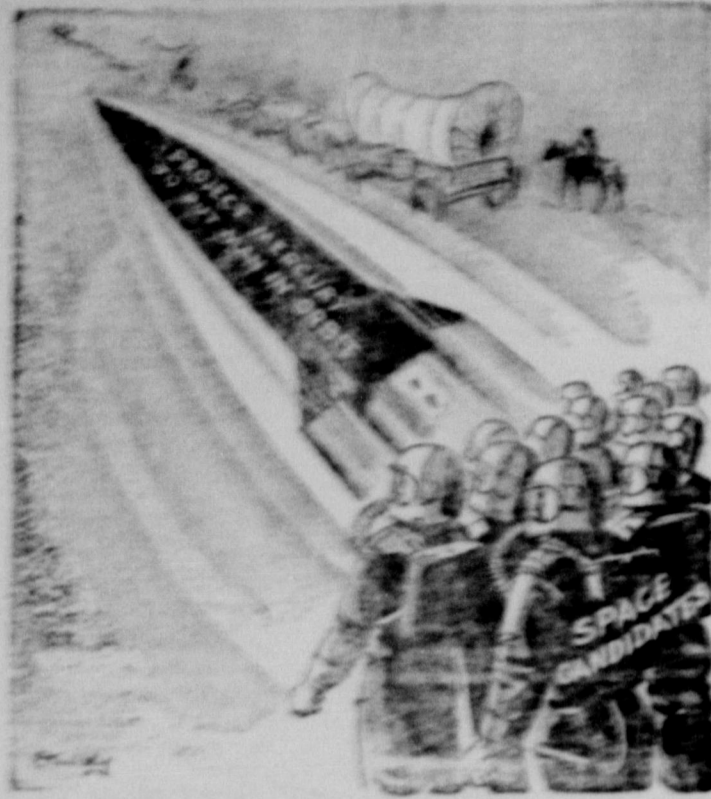

CRUCIAL POINT

Innumerable forecasts of what will happen to the economy this year have appeared. The vast majority are highly optimistic. And the vast majority also have another thing in common—they expect that the cost of living will remain virtually constant. This simply means that they believe inflation has been at least temporarily leashed.

Everyone hopes this will prove to be the case. But the best of economists have been woefully wrong before. And, certainly, there are clouds in the crystal ball today.

For instance, no less an authority than the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, William Martin, is by no means sure that the price level will be stable. In his view, in fact, "The battle against inflation is at a crucial point. He adds: "The process of inflation in this country started over ten years ago during our wartime period"

We Still Have Pioneers

and has persisted ever since." He presents three alternatives as possible weapons in this battle—higher taxes, a revision of the tax structure to produce more revenue, or a reduction in spending.

President Eisenhower favors a budget which will be in balance, or nearly so, of about $77 billion. But there are strong forces at work which, if successful, will raise that figure by $10 billion or more, and thus produce a tremendous deficit. If that happens, it will be a true miracle if the dollar isn't further debased.

The point is that no one should be lulled into a happy complacency by the economic forecasts. Attitudes that prevail in government will largely determine what happens.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

PROPERTY RENDERING DEADLINES NEAR

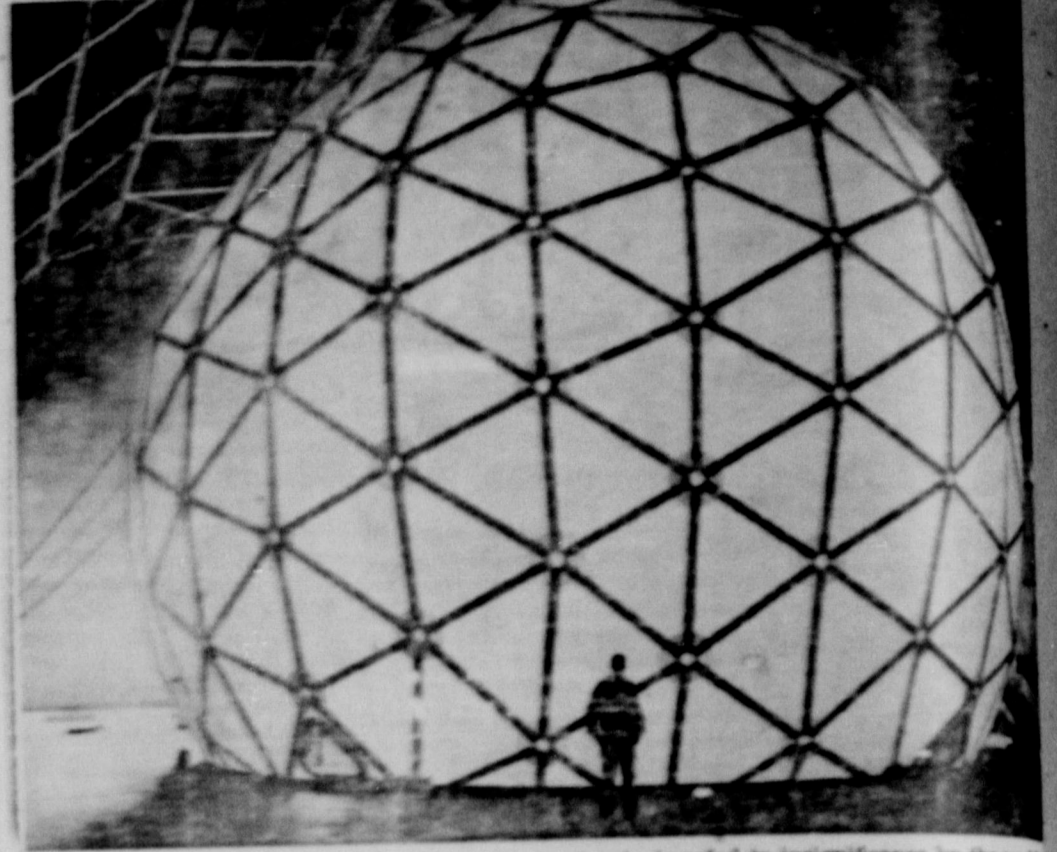

April 1 will be the deadline for most Texas counties to render their property to certain taxing agencies. State laws require all real and personal property to be rendered for taxes on or before specified dates. Those who fail to comply can blame only themselves for the money loss they may consequently suffer.

Some Texas cities set their own deadlines. These are cities of more than 5,000 population which have incorporated under the "Home Rule" provisions of our statutes. All other cities are governed by the general laws of Texas.

In the towns operating under the general laws property must be rendered for taxes between Jan. 1 and April 1 each year. A number of home rule cities set up the same requirements in their ordinances, while others prescribe different periods.

For state and county tax purposes, property must be rendered to the county tax assessor by April 30, and homestead exemptions must be claimed by the same time.

In some localities, a filed taxing unit is involved—the independent school district. In other cases school taxes are collected by the city or county. In addition, some localities have water, irrigation, or levee districts which assess and collect taxes. Make inquiry as to where these various taxes are assessed, and as to ap-

GIANT'S "EYE" GLASSES—Man, lower center, is dwarfed to insignificance by the world's largest glass fiber radome. The huge shelter for a radar antenna is 68 feet in diameter and more than seven stories tall. Laminated plastic panels bolted together in a few basic patterns can be erected or disassembled in about 60 hours by a six-man crew. The unit, three groups in a hanger in Akron, Ohio, weighs some 30,000 pounds, all told. It takes up shipping space the equivalent of eight boxcars, but units are so light that they can be airlifted. The forerunner of radomes well over 100 feet in diameter, it was built for the Air Force.

What property must be rendered for taxes? If Texas laws were strictly enforced, we would be required to render to all taxing units nearly every piece of real and personal property which we own, down to the very clothing on our backs. An exception is the constitutional exemption of 10% worth of household furniture. However, no taxing unit carries their requirements this far, and it will be necessary to inquire of each tax assessor which rendered in that locality.

Some cities and counties collect ad valorem taxes on automobiles, television sets and other personal items, while others ignore practically all personal property. Business and professional men are generally required to render all merchandise, furnishings, fixtures, business automobiles and equipment.

If property is not rendered by the taxpayer it may then be placed upon the unrendered tax roll, and the taxing agency places such valuation thereon as it considers fair. One advantage of rendering your property is that you can set your own valuation. Then, if the county or city decides a higher valuation is in order, you will be given an opportunity to appear before a board to explain why the higher figure should not be used in computing your taxes.

Thereafter, an appeal to the courts is possible in some instances. Generally speaking, however, the courts are unable to strike out a valuation unless the agency or board has acted arbitrarily and placed on the property a valuation higher than that placed on comparable prop-

ELECTRIC Clothes Dryer!

"Today's a great day for me — friend husband earned a day off from work and volunteered to do the wash for me. I see him now lugging a heavy basket of wet clothes out to line — watch his fingers turn blue as that icy wind bitterly blows ... whoops ... he just dropped a shirt, and it's a mess. I can't tell what he's saying, but I'll bet he's thinking about an electric clothes dryer and I think I'll be ready for him — I'll call the Reddy Kilowatt dealer right now about models and prices. Everybody tells me there's one to fit any budget. Say, here's an idea — if you don't have an electric clothes dryer then get your husband to hang out the wash — just once is all it'll take."

Area Observations

In spite of rain, mud, blood, or snow the mail must go through... and it does, even if it looks like excelsior when it gets there. The result is an Indian battle, the Miami Chief versus the Santa Fe Chief.

Miami mail has had it again. It's trouble? The continuance of Friday the 13th luck. The Santa Fe Railway kicked off another sack of first class mail February 25 which rolled under the train and was ground to shreds by the wheels of the "BIG CHIEF" which does not have time to stop at the city P. O. in Roberts County.

Cries for help from Miami citizens have gone unanswered. Even cries to the "Higher Powers" as issued from the Miami Chief. Lack of response from the H. P.'s has added insult to injury.

Other area towns are being affected. Editor Paul Loftin of the Panhandle Herald has issued cries of his own. Evidently these were heard. He commented: "... the Santa Fe and the Post Office Department admit that they are giving Panhandle and all other small towns just as little service as they think they can get by with. They're saving money by kicking off the mail and saving all of the nice, friendly, courteous treatment for the big cities. They're saying, you little fellows remind us of a pack of dogs, you're always yapping for something that you can't have because we have a big contract with the P. O. Dept. and we're going to hide behind that lousy scrap of paper that makes it legal for us to rip our trains through your city and kick off the mail as we please."

Coell O. Waggoner of The Claude News says Editor Paul is just now beginning to understand "modern republicanism."

Says he: "The ideology today is bigness and centralization. Even our own state highway department builds roads on the formula, 'by-pass all small towns and go through the heart of the cities.' Other modern theories of government are to move the small farmer off the farm and into the big labor market; consolidate counties in favor of big cities; do away with farm-to-market roads to build freeways. The newest is the idea that a school with less than 1000 students is a blight on education."

The McLean News laurels to Waggoner. And to think that he has time to think and time left over to hand set his sixteen page tabloid.

The Canadian Record offers this observation: "Spring, in short, will be like old times again. Girls will be girls... and boys will be looking."

BAPTISTS BELIEVE... IN CHRIST, THE LIVING SAVIOUR

A wounded lion dying with a spear in his side, always attracts attention in a little park in Lucerne, Switzerland. It is carved in a stone cliff in memory of Swiss guards who died defending a French king. The carving reminds us that suffering borne for someone else is a call to the higher levels of living.

Baptists believe that this is supremely so in the case of Jesus Christ, our Saviour. Centuries before Christ, it was prophesied that Christ should be a "man of sorrows" and be "wounded for our transgressions" (Isaiah 53:5).

When he fully came to earth men put him to death on a cruel wooden cross. Besides the cross there were searing nails that tore his flesh, a heavy lashing whip and a crown of thorns from those who mocked him. In agony on his cross when he felt separated from God he cried out, "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Mark 15:34). He endured this agony that man might not be separated from God. God took his cross—man's worst deed against God—and turned it to God's best deed for man. All this suffering had a purpose. It was to save man from his heaviest weight he has to bear—his unforgiven sin. "The wages of sin is death," (Romans 6:23).

We can have the weight lifted because Jesus, the Son of God, bore our sins for us. In him the love of God for lost men was fulfilled.

Being sinners we are separated from God now and forever unless we turn to Jesus for forgiveness and cleansing. "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed," God's prophet, Isaiah, said in predicting Jesus' crucifixion. (Isaiah 53:5).

Because Jesus loved us enough to give himself to die for our sins, we can have hope, forgiveness, and new life from God, or "abundant life" as it is called.

Yes, Baptists believe that only through a personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and a confession of him before men can the individual receive forgiveness of sin and become a child of God.

It is a great spiritual mystery, one that cannot be scientifically explained. Yet it is true that when we ask Christ to deliver us from sin these things happen: (1) our guilt vanishes; (2) we have power to overcome wrong; (3) we have the presence of God in our lives, and (4) we know that the truest and most real thing in the world is Jesus Christ. Because he triumphed over death we too who have taken him as our Saviour shall triumph over it.

Bible Comment: Personalized Teaching Marked Jesus' School

Jesus was a great Teacher though He condescended to school in the ordinary sense of that word.

His teaching stressed a necessary quality of all true education: knowledge must become personalized.

The school of Jesus had that basic quality in plente. It was mostly out-of-doors, a school of companionship and personal contacts, a school in which He encouraged every success in emulating His example.

It was a school, too, in which the Teacher had infinite patience, as every true teacher must have.

But it was a school of strict disciplines and high standards, as well. Poor pupils, even in a good school, may be content just to pass or "get by," but Jesus had called His disciples for high purposes.

They needed training, and that training was teaching and training by example.

Jesus said, first of all "Follow me." He said, "Go," only when He had shown the way.

A good school is judged by its results and its product.

What a school, then, was that of Jesus, in which humble men became Apostles and spiritual world conquerors!

"GETTING READY TO GO TO CHURCH"

By Gerald L. Hill
Pastor, First Presbyterian Church

The other day, I told someone that we missed them at church, and he replied, "Well, we intended to come, but we just didn't get ready."

Thinking about this, it occurred to me that what he had said was the absolute truth! More true than he had meant to be—"we just didn't get ready."

It's true because it is necessary to get ready for church. And I don't mean putting on the Sunday-go-to-meeting suit, either. I mean that we have to put ourselves into the frame of mind to go. Other places we have to go—but church is different! We go because we want to, or more basic than this, we feel compelled to go to church, because there we can most freely express our praise, adoration, thanksgiving, and needs to Almighty God.

And, after you arrive, do you make a conscious effort to be worshipful? This is more of our getting ready for church! The period of prayer during the organ meditations is the time to shut outside the world, and ask God to come in.

Next Sunday, with your family
Get ready and come to Church!
