Storms, Tornadoes Sweep McLean Area

Wind Velocity Ranges Up To 70 MPH

It was a heckuva night last Monday. While most everybody took to the storm cellar, a violent combination of hail, rain, wind and lightning lashed the McLean area in one of the wildest storms here in years.

House wrecking twisters were accompanied by a four-inch rain, golf-ball size hail, 70 mile per hour winds, thunder and wild lightning.

Hardest hit was the Heald community northeast of McLean where a strong twister wrecked the old Heald store, the Methodist church, a private home, and did considerable damage to several other structures.

High lines were torn down as the storm passed there between 6:30 and 7 p. m. Monday.

Around 6 p. m. a twister barely missed McLean, but winds overturned a trailer house parked by the Dairy-O and uprooted a large steel structure that was the first part of construction on a Deep Rock Service Station.

After the trailer house—owned by Dairy-O owner Bob Taylor—was flipped on its back, the steel fell on top of it.

Fortunately no one was injured in any of the storm damage over this section.

In McLean, the official rain measurement was four inches. Most cotton farmers lost their crops in the deluge.

Numerous windmills and television antennae were toppled by the winds that got up to 70 miles per hour.

Highway Patrolman Dave Crosslin reported that the storm was responsible for a four-car smash on Highway 66.

About 8 p. m. two vehicles collided near the Pagan road cutoff, and within minutes two more cars had piled on.

Fortunately no one was injured although there was heavy property damage. In the wreck was a Shamrock man, William Williams, and three out-of-staters.

Earlier Monday a small foreign car overturned eight miles east of McLean on 66 but no injuries were sustained. That happened at 2:40 p. m. Monday.

Sporadic hail, sometimes the size of golf balls or larger, peppered the countryside doing isolated damage to windows, trees, crops and other items.

Destroyed in the Heald tornado was the Heald store which was unoccupied. It was owned by the Phillips estate. The building was unroofed and wrecked.

About a mile north of the store, the T. H. Pickett home was completely smashed, and the Picketts escaped injury by taking refuge in a storm cellar.

The barn roof was also torn off there and a power pole was snapped near the base. The Picketts reported that they had no insurance.

Halfway between the Pickett home and the store the roof was ripped from the barn on the Tedder farm.

About three-fourths of a mile west of the Heald store a house owned by Mrs. Caleb Smith suffered roof and window damage. Bob Biddwell lives there.

The Heald Methodist Church also sustained extensive damage as the roof was ruined, glass

VIOLENT WEATHER TOLL—Pictured is wreckage from the twister that moved across the edge of McLean late Monday afternoon. The steel shown was that used in the construction of a Deep Rock Station on Highway 66 west. It was blown loose and dashed across the pickup and trailer house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Taylor. Slight damage was done to the pickup, but the overturned trailer was reported to have been a total loss.

Colorful rodeo banners heralding the big 66 Round-up and 50-year anniversary are already hanging from several McLean businesses.

Cowboys from several states will be in McLean June 4, 5 and 6 to compete for the $1,800 in prize money being offered.

Rodeo President Harvey Taylor said the largest crowds ever are expected to turn out for the festivities.

The 20-mile cow pony race from Shamrock to McLean will be a big drawing card. Last year McLean won the race, and this year more interest has developed so that two or three teams may be entered from here.

An American Quarter Horse Association approved horse show will get the three-day celebration underway on June 4 at 1 p. m.

The horse race will be held on Friday, June 5, at 1 p. m.

At 5 p. m. Friday the old fiddlers will be sawing away in their contest and the Old Settlers Reunion and registration will be held Saturday at 9 a. m.

For a President, Ike shoots a lot of bogies.

It doesn't do much good to lock the front door if you leave the back one open . . . which is about what's happened to Uncle Sam and freedom.

During WW II Uncle Sam grabbed a rifle, stood in the front door and told the world nobody would take away his freedom if he had to die protecting it.

But the war ended and while Sam stood at the front door the Supreme Court sneaked in the back way and began helping itself.

For instance, a man's home is no longer his castle unless the health inspector figures it's tidy.

In a recent 5 to 4 "dead rat" decision, the Supreme Court ruled that a health officer could enter any house in which he felt there might be a health menace—without a search warrant.

Shortly before this, the court hit a wicked lick at the old no-double-jeopardy guarantee.

Now, in some instances, a man can be tried twice for the same crime.

The irony of this little fable is that the same Americans who fought and sacrificed in wartime to protect freedom are not at all disturbed when these same freedoms are being whittled away by the Supreme Court and a strong power-hungry central government.

On the editorial page of this week's News is a fine editorial on this subject written by Bascom Nelson of the Castro County News. It is well worth reading.

And then union boss Jimmy Hoffa said this week that if Congress didn't stop bothering him about fair play in union affairs, he would just call a nationwide strike to straighten some people out.

AROUND TOWN

Uncle John Sublett celebrated his birthday last week, and the cake had so many candles on it that by the time John got through counting them the cake had dried out.

Dan Mize says the first day he was in the Army they issued him a toothbrush. The next day they pulled his teeth. The following day he was given a helmet and on the fourth day they shaved his head.

"But that next day when they gave me a pair of glasses it was too much," he says. It took the MP's two weeks to catch him and bring him back.

Speaking of Dan, the East Texan got a good initiation into the ways of West Texas when that storm struck Monday night.

He didn't know whether he was going to have a city to manage the next day for a while there. Dan was watching as the twister approached from the southeast Monday about 6 p. m., but it didn't take him long to find a cellar.

David Fultz was just getting back from a trip to Amarillo when he saw the tornado skipping along a field. He promptly went underground, too.

Constable J. D. drove out to the south end of town and saw it coming, too.

"Heck, I headed for a hole," J. D. said. "Twas too late to warn anybody then."

Probably more visiting went on Monday night as everybody took to the cellars than anytime since the invention of TV.

Vacation Bible School Now in Progress At Baptist Church

The Vacation Bible School of the First Baptist Church now in progress will continue through next week. Thus far it is considered a wonderful school with an average enrollment and attendance comparable to the past years.

The faculty, pupils and parents will go to Pan-Fork encampment Monday, June 4, for a picnic. Commencement for the school will be held at the church on Monday, June 5, at 8 o'clock. The school was directed.

CITY ACCEPTS LIBRARY GIFT

The city council formally accepted the deed to the Lovett Memorial Library at their regular meeting Tuesday night, May 5. This deed has since been recorded with the county clerk's office.

In accepting this deed, the council felt they were most fortunate in receiving a gift of this importance to the people of the entire area in and around the city of McLean. The library represents a $60,000 to $70,000 investment.

Making the gift to the city of McLean was the Gray-Pampa Foundation, Inc., which was created by the Lovett estate.

Lovett Memorial Library was erected by the Foundation in 1956, and since that time has been used extensively by the public as a source of information and pleasure. There is a full-time capable librarian on duty at the library for the convenience of the public. The library hours are conveniently arranged by the library board to get the maximum efficiency from the library use. The people of McLean are very fortunate in having a library of this size. The beautiful structure and the information available are above those found in cities many times the size of McLean.

Coach Riley's Father Dies

Ernest Henry Riley, father of Coach Jack Riley of McLean, died Monday morning at his home in Lake Village, Ark.

Mr. Riley had been a longtime resident of Lake Village.

He was to have been buried Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riley and daughter, Stephanie, left Monday evening to attend services.

CABLE TESTS ARE SUCCESS

Tests on the cable television service in McLean have been very successful, Dale Greenhouse announced this week.

Sample sets may be observed at Dale's TV Shop, McLean News, Lamb Furniture, Peb Everett's or Odell Mantooth's station.

Channels 4, 7 and 10 out of Amarillo can be clearly seen over the cable, Dale said.

The public is invited to visit the above businesses and see for themselves how clear the reception is here.

Final plans will be announced after the next meeting of the city council on June 9. Work should get underway soon afterward, and within a short time those who want cable TV can have their sets hooked up, Dale said.

Pioneer Study Club Has "Round-up" At Last Meet of Year

A Round-up in the home of Mrs. Harold Bunch featured the final meeting of the year for the Pioneer Study Club. Hostesses with Mrs. Bunch were Mesdames Guy Hester, Hickman Brown and Creed Lamb.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Brown at a "Pioneer Register" table and were given barbecue tickets as they entered. The room was gaily decorated with cowboy boots, chaps, and floral arrangements of irises and roses. The serving table, covered with a checked cloth and serving dishes of cast iron and a round-up coffee pot completed the western decorations. The menu consisted of authentic chuck-wagon fare with barbecue, beans, corn chips, apricots and iced tea served in tin plates and cans.

Mrs. Guy Hester, outgoing president, installed the following new officers for the coming year: Mrs. Hickman Brown, president; Mrs. Harold Bunch, vice president; Mrs. Creed Lamb, secretary; Mrs. Evan Sitter, treasurer; Mrs. Jim Hathaway, reporter; Mrs. Jesse Coleman, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Guy Hester, historian.

Mrs. Hester used the round-up as in the installation theme in keeping with the club's year of study, "Romance Is a Place to Study." She compared the final meeting with coming home after a year of traveling. She gave a brief resume of each meeting of the year, reminding the club of the romance that had been found in each of the places. She key-noted the installation of officers by presenting them with a cardboard cowboy and during a mock marriage ceremony she charged each of the officers with their duties. Mrs. Jack Rley closed the ceremony with prayer.

During the business meeting preceding the installation ceremony, Mrs. Hester presided. Mrs. Brown announced her committees for next year. They are: Special committee, Mrs. Dale Parvin, Mrs. Tom Greenwood, Mrs. Morris Brown; and social committee, Mrs. Sinclair Armstrong, Mrs. Earl Stubblefield and Mrs. Harold Fabian. Mrs. Harold Bunch announced her program committee and also presented the topic of study for next year as "Looks at Books."

Those attending the meeting were Mesdames Sinclair Armstrong, Jim Back, Hickman Brown, Harold Bunch, Jesse Coleman, Harold Fabian, Tom Greenwood, Jim Hathaway, Guy Hester, Forrest Hupp, Creed Lamb, Clyde Magee, Freeman Melton, Jack R. Riley, Evan Sitter, Alice Short Smith, Earl Stubblefield, June Woods, Morris Brown, Jack Riley and Dale Glass.

Rock lobster divan is an economical, simple-to-prepare, meal-in-a-dish. It's new, different and delicious; a real taste-tempter for summer-fatigued palates. Try it, soon.

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

You can have an unusually attractive meal-in-a dish with little work and little expense. The South African rock lobster tails are waiting for you in your grocer's freezer right now.

Rock Lobster Divan (Serves 4)

Four-to 6-ounce South African rock lobster tails, 2 packages frozen broccoli, 1 cup grated American or Parmesan cheese, lemon slices, salt.

Drop frozen tails into boiling salted water. When water boils, begin counting time. Cook three minutes more than the individual weight in ounces of the tails. For example: boil 4-ounce tails seven minutes. If tails are already thawed, boil only one minute more than individual weight. To remove meat from shell, drench with cold water, cut off membrane with kitchen scissors and pull meat out in one piece.

Boil broccoli according to directions on package; drain.

Line four shirring pans or small ramekins with broccoli, place one boiled South African rock lobster in each pan.

Melt cheese in double boiler, pour over lobster. Reheat in oven until ready to serve. Garnish with slices of lemon. Salt to taste.

This custard pie recipe from Virginia is unusually good:

Coconut Custard Pie (Makes one 9-inch, generously thick pie)

Nine-inch unbaked pastry-lined pan with high, fluted edge;

4 eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon salt, cups scalding hot milk, 1 cup moist, shredded coconut, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs slightly with beater. Then beat in remaining ingredients, adding hot milk gradually. Pour into pastry pan.

Bake in very hot oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit, 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees Fahrenheit and bake 10 to 15 minutes just until a silver knife comes into side of filling comes clean.

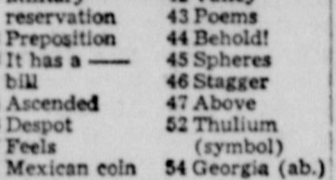

Center may still look soft, but will set later. Baking makes custard wavy. Serve slightly warm. Custard pie, well made, is a treat that family and friends call for, often.

BAPTISTS BELIEVE THE CHURCH OF THE LIVING GOD

Baptists believe that a visible church is a congregation of baptized believers, associated by covenant in the faith and fellowship of the gospel; observing the ordinances of Christ; governed by his laws; and exercising the gifts, rights, and privileges invested in them by his word; that its only proper officers are bishops or pastors, and deacons, whose qualifications, claims, and duties are defined in the New Testament.

Baptists believe that the church with all that pertains to it is strictly a New Testament institution.

The Baptist view of the constitution and polity of the church is that each church is a free, independent, and self-governing body. It is made up of regenerate men and women, believers in Christ, who have been immersed upon a profession of their faith in Him. It is based on and embodies the spiritual principles of Christianity. There is no way to classify believers in the church other than as spiritual equals.

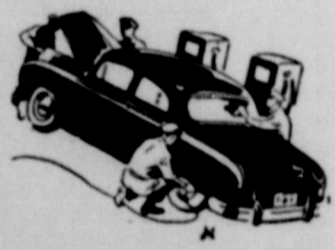

The pastor and deacons are not ecclesiastical superiors. They perform certain functions and discharge certain duties, but they are the servants of the church. The church is responsible directly to Christ within the limits of its own life. The church is the final authority on all debated questions. But, in its decisions the church is directly responsible to Christ and must look to the New Testament as the law of Christianity by which it is to be governed.

Christ organized the church so that his followers would have a divine institution through which to co-operate in the work of preaching the gospel of repentance and remission of sins to all nations. The church is ideal for co-operation. In it the followers of Christ are joined together in an organization with divine sanction—a brotherhood of kindred spirits made one in Christ by the regenerating power of the Holy Spirit—for the purpose of making Christ known to the world.

Accepting the New Testament as the inspired revelation of Christ, a church must strive to follow its teachings and to observe its requirements in worship and unity of organization. Baptism and the Lord's Supper, the two divinely instituted ordinances, must be kept true to the New Testament pattern.

Baptists believe that to be a true New Testament church a local church organization must (1) require personal acceptance of Christ and scriptural baptism by immersion before membership, (2) be self-governing and democratic, (3) maintain its purity by making Christ supreme, (4) commit itself wholeheartedly to carrying the message of Christ to all the world.

Freedom And The Supreme Court

One of the basic rights granted to mankind as far back as 1689 in England was the principal that "Every man's home is his castle" and could not be searched without due process of law.

We may not think much of it now, but what of a hundred years hence when petty and irresponsible bureaucrats can range through people's homes at will or real and imagined causes, or when law enforcement agencies find it simpler to enter a home on the excuse of checking the plumbing rather than obtaining a warrant.

One of the basic foundations of the dictatorship is the ability to go through the homes of frightened subjects, ignoring all property rights and the principal of human dignity.

The Bill of Rights was considered so important that its provisions were made into constitutional amendments. Here is Article 4 of our Constitution—read it and see if you can see how any group of people, judges or what have you, could interpret it to mean a health inspector could have access to homes without a warrant:

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or confirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized."

We have always held there is nothing particularly wrong with a strong central government so long as it retains the role of servant of the people. Everything we have ever said in this newspaper has carried out that theme. But when the government becomes master, then it's time for someone to send a few well-placed kicks where they'll do the most good.

With this one interpretation the stage is set for the government to become the master whereby one penny-nite health official could shatter the peace of mind of an entire community and where anyone can violate what we consider a basic human right on the mere pretext of a suspected health violation.

We hold that it's nobody's doggone business, from a health standpoint, or otherwise, what goes on in any American's home, be it a shack, slum or mansion. And that unless something is done about the Supreme Court, that tribunal will lose every iota of respect and reverence that it has amassed during the past century and a half. They also recently (in the case of Abate and Falcone vs. the United States) scrapped Article 5 which says that a man cannot be tried twice for the same crime. They ruled that a federal court could try a man despite his prior trial in a state court for the same offense. This is double jeopardy and our founding fathers were careful to put this safeguard against this into the Constitution. Let the Supreme Court have found their way clear to twist this basic human right out of context.

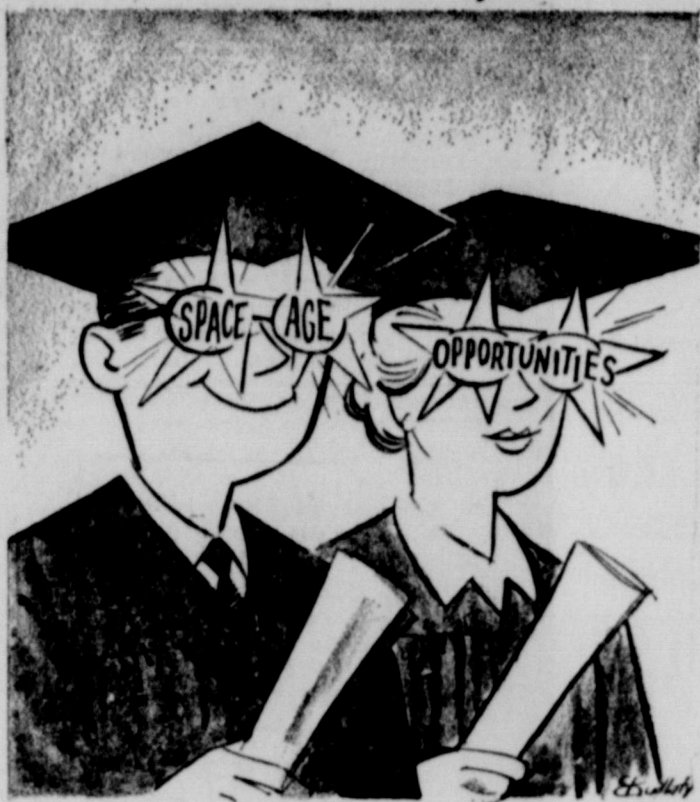

We don't know how the people could legally oppose the judicial department of our federal government. Since the justices are appointed for life by the President they can't be voted out. While beating everyone else over the head with ministerial interpretations of the Constitution, they are at the same time enjoying job security through its provisions. It may be the nation will have to vote constitutional amendments—spelled out in three letter words so there can be no misunderstanding—so we can simply maintain rights that so many patriots fought and died for long ago.

We consider these two rulings—double jeopardy and home entrance without a warrant—as a major loss of personal freedom and a calamity of serious proportions not only in themselves, but as a portent of things to come unless something is done quickly.—Bascom Nelson in the Castro County News.

"DYNAMIC GROWTH"

A short time ago the Edison Electric Institute, whose membership includes almost all business-managed operating power and light utilities, held a convention. And the theme, as one account puts it—was "dynamic growth."

Stars in Their Eyes

This year alone, the industry will add more than 14 million kilowatts of additional capacity, and in the next decade generation is expected to more than double, reaching the almost incredible total of 1.2 trillion kilowatt hours.

An institute spokesman also said that this country is far ahead of the Soviet Union in power output, and that there is no evidence that the Russians will catch up in the foreseeable future. Even if the Russians actually fulfill their goal of an annual output of 500 to 520 billion kilowatt-hours by 1965—and many authorities doubt if they will be able to do that—we will still be 2 1/4 times ahead of them.

There is no conceivable demand for power by farmers, domestic users, industry or business that the private utilities cannot fill—and fill at rates which are regulated by public service commissions. To put it another way, these utilities' past record combined with existing projects and plans proves that socialized power is simply not needed, and is a luxury the country can ill afford. On the average, private utilities pay out 23c of each dollar of revenue in taxes. The socialized federal power systems generally pay nothing. That means the taxes of all of us are higher than need be to furnish untaxed power to privileged customers.

HOW MUCH MORE TAXES?

Just how much additional tax burden can the people of this country stand?

This is no idle question. State and local taxes are soaring. And current proposals would swell the federal bite by heavy amounts.

Take, for instance, the plan to provide government medical and nursing home payments for elderly people through the Social Security system. It would be financed by raising the social security taxes on both employees and employers.

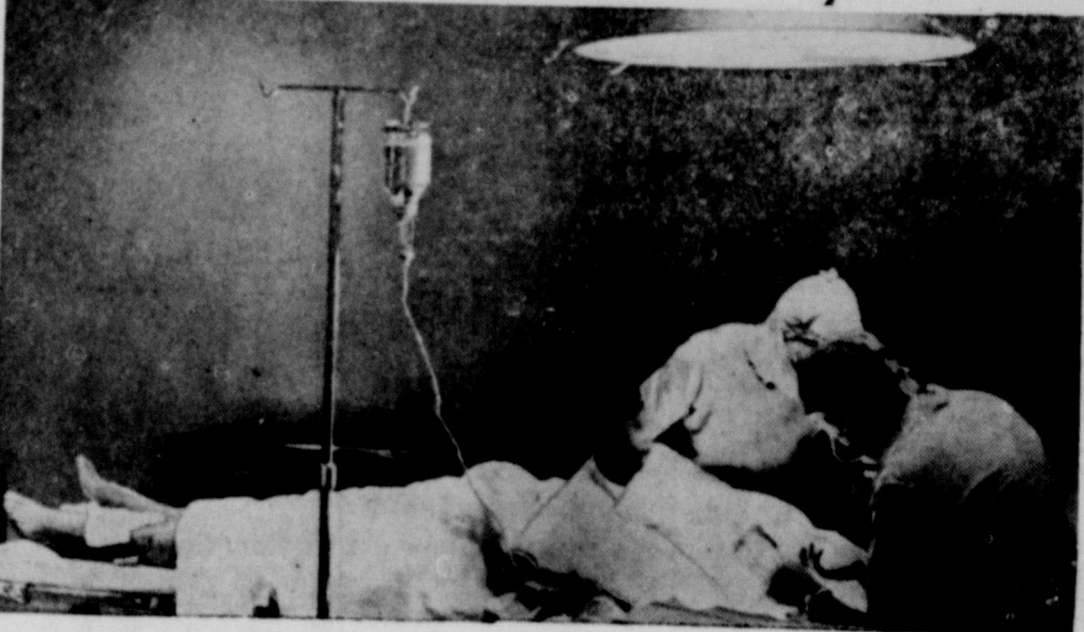

The cost of the program, according to the Health Insurance Association of America, would be $1,883,000,000 a year. Another estimate, from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, places the bill at more $1 billion a year. Incidentally, this report is a factual character, and makes no recommendations. But it does include a significant statement—that "in our society the existence of a problem does not necessarily indicate that action by the federal government is desirable." The intimation is that the department is highly dubious of the virtues of the proposal.

That side, if the government is to spend a billion or two a year on medical aid for one group of people, is it reasonable to suppose it would stop there? No one with any knowledge of the history of such governmental undertakings can believe it would. The door would open wide to socialized or government-dominated medicine on a limitless scale. The tax cost would be incredible. Worse still, if the experience of England and other nations is of any value at all, we would pay an enormous price in deteriorating medical standards and inferior medical care. That always happens when the bureaucrats take over, write the rule books, and call the tunes.

ERNEST JOINER in the RALLS BANNER: I have taken a lively interest in the current war between airlines that serve complimentary cocktails and teetotalers seeking to stop the court-esy. The latter group writes letters to editors of influential papers, pleading for public support. They charge that non-drinkers are being discriminated against, that airlines do not respect their feelings regarding alcohol consumption, and that drinkers exhibit scant consideration for their feelings when they accept cocktails aloft. It has been my experience that non-drinkers have a great deal more respect for feelings and prejudices of teetotalers than teetotalers have for those who enjoy a drink. Ever hear of a non-drinker who respected the right of any other person to enjoy a cocktail? Did one ever board a plane and announce that it would be alright if anyone took a cocktail? You never did. To the teetotaler, only his feelings must be respected. He has been known to slap drinks out of the hands of perfectly strange people who gave no offense other than minding their own business. I have yet to hear of a cocktail imbiber who went up to a stranger and slapped his face because he didn't have a cocktail in hand. Consideration, you see, is a two-way street. Those who grant it are usually accorded some of it in return.

From the CANADIAN RECORD: Fellow across the desk from us says that he sees no rea-

Editor of the COMMERCE JOURNAL: Nobody is for nudism because everybody knows it won't work. There aren't enough qualified specimens to make even one good size colony of nudists. People without any clothes would have to be about the most moral in the world.

A chain smoker wouldn't last until he could get his pants back from the tailor . . . having to carry a supply of cigarettes stuck between his toes, and matches behind his ears.

An alcoholic would turn into a marathon runner and give up the drink habit, pacing from one bar to the next.

He would be in such a hurry he would hardly speak, and he wouldn't be making eyes at anybody, because he would be watching the ground for stickers and bamboo briars.

In the winter he would have to stay at home and mind his own business or freeze. And in the summer he would come down with the sneezes and whiskers, sitting under an air conditioner.

Out of doors he would be like a whirling dervish, knocking off mosquitos, bees, wasps, ants and flies.

He couldn't loaf on a street corner because he wouldn't have any pockets to put his hands in.

Some thinkers have already figured on this basis of no clothes. How could you tell a corporation president from a flunky unless there was some sort of suit or overalls. How could you tell the banker from the hired help, or the mayor from the scounger?

If there really is a camp up toward Bonham, the state ought to take it over and run it . . . providing the Humane Society doesn't get its shirt tail in the air.

The state could use a good tough camp like that for its incorrigibles. After all, Huntsville gives its inmates clothes.

Last Assembly of Year at Grade School

Wednesday morning of last week the elementary school pupils gathered in the high school auditorium for the final assembly of the year.

Principal Dale Parvin said this had been a very successful school year and that he was well pleased with the accomplishments.

All students who had participated in any activity during the year were recognized by Parvin. These included the band students of the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades; Coach Adams and the football boys, tennis, softball, track and basketball boys and girls; Mrs. Vera F. Back and the eighth grade students who published the school paper; Mrs. Lucille Gething and the annual staff; Marilyn McIlroy, second-place winner in the county spelling bee; and those who participated in the literary events at the interscholastic league meet.

Mr. Parvin presented 47 students with perfect attendance awards. Shannon Nall received the award for being the student in the elementary school who had shown the most improvement during the 1958-59 school year. Shannon is a sixth grade student and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Nall.

Catherine Jo Hendricks and Don Woods were named the most outstanding girl and boy. Catherine Jo is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hendricks, and Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. June Woods. Both are eighth grade students.

The eighth grade had the program, with John Evans, class president, in charge. A number of guests were present for this very interesting program.

Mr and Mrs. Ernest Foshee and children of Lefors were Sunday guests in the Leon Crockett home.

Luke Gave Us Treasury of Christianity

If Saint Luke had written only the gospel that bears his name, with its account of the parables and other, vivid details of the life and ministry of Jesus, he would have left to the Christian world a glorious heritage.

But he followed his gospel with the Book of Acts, the story of Christian beginning and the spread of Christianity.

In Luke's writings, what stands out is the reality of the message of salvation through the love and grace of God.

Outstanding, of course, is the parable of the prodigal son. It is enforced by the parables of lost things; the lost sheep, and the woman's lost piece of silver.

There is little, if anything, about controversial issues, which have so large a place in the Pauline epistles.

Concerning Luke, himself, we know little that is a matter of record. We know he was a physician, and a Gentile. Various New Testament references make those facts plain.

That he may have studied medicine in Tarsus, Paul's home; that he may have been a slave (at that time, physicians were often slaves in great households)—those things and many others are conjectural.

But what we do know, without doubt, is that Luke told for us in parable the simplest, most direct and concrete facts of the loving father of God.

Plan To Attend Church This Sunday

THE SADDEST STATEMENT THAT CHRIST EVER MADE

By G. L. Cowart
Pastor Assembly of God Church

AND YE WILL NOT COME TO ME, THAT YE MIGHT HAVE LIFE. John 5:40.

The Bible records many sad statements that Christ made during His ministry on earth. At one time He spoke the words, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of Man hath not where to lay His head." Another time He prayed, "Oh my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." On the cross He cried, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Isaiah, several hundred years before the birth of Christ, declared Him to be "a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief." But the saddest, most heart-rending words that He spoke were the words, "and ye will not come to me, that ye might have life."

A few years ago a beautiful young lady of London, England, was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang. Never did she appeal to the Queen for pardon but spent her last days in her cell seemingly with no desire to live. Only when her parents visited her on the eve of her execution did she show a desire to live. Then as she went to the gallows the next morning she cried, "I don't want to die, I don't want to die!"

How many have departed this life and failed to partake of the most important thing in life. How many have bought houses and lands, enjoyed prestige and position, gained silver and gold, and still have not lived. We live only when we come to the Giver of Life and let Him live in our being.

We pass across the stage of action only one time. Our span of life is so short; seventy, eighty or maybe ninety years. But in that time Christ gives us the privilege of life. When we receive Him we receive the greatest gift for time and eternity. There is nothing to stop us from having life, except ourselves. We have the privilege, let's take it.

"To lose your health is much,
To lose your wealth is more,
To lose your soul is such a loss,
That nothing can restore."

What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Mark 8:36.

"IT'S THE LAZY DAY"—Setting the pace (a slow one) for McLean school students after the last class room function has ended is James Smith on his way for the first fishing trip of the long hot summer. The son of Riley Smith, James stated that the biggest load he planned to carry was that bamboo hanging over his shoulder.

blown from the windows and the entrance wrecked. The church is located south of the store.

The Loula Ladd house 300 yards west of the store also had roof and window damage.

A store room immediately north of the store was lifted by the twister, but the grain stored inside remained there, still piled neatly.

The T. A. Landers home sustained heavy damage from the storm. The chimney and roof were damaged and windows blown out. Considerable damage was also done to the garage, windmill tower, fences and trees.

Along the highway from Heald on south to Kellerville, several electric poles were broken in the storm.

Shortly after 7 p. m., the Highway Patrol, electric linemen, telephone workers and even the National Guard from Shamrock were on the scene.

A tornado was sighted 7 or 8 miles south of McLean as it dipped into fields, but did no damage.

McLean Constable J. D. Fish said he saw one about 6 p. m. Monday about a mile southeast of McLean.

"It looked like it was coming right for town," J. D. said, "so I turned around and headed for cover."

However, J. D. said he thought it went on to the south of town. That was just before the trailer house and service station structure were upset, and J. D. was of the opinion that the vacuum set up by the twister barely missing it was what caused the damage.

The wreckage from this landed just about a foot from the Dairy-O, and the drive-in did not suffer any damage.

Tuesday morning everybody in town had a story about the storm, and nearly everyone had stayed up most of the night in a storm cellar somewhere.

There were various reports of the hail ruining orchards or killing big birds, etc. Many of the big elm trees in McLean were severely damaged.

City Manager Dan Mize said Tuesday that three or four asphalt streets were washed out by the big rain.

It has been an extremely wet month in McLean, as the gauge at the city barn has registered a total of 9.44 inches of rain during the month.

The storm followed a sizeable rain and hail last Thursday night.

S. A. Cousins said during that Thursday night rain and hail, there had been considerable damage at the C. M. Carpenter place seven miles north of McLean and at the Jess Grogan place eight miles south of Alanreed.

Dr. and Mrs. Joe Suderman are the proud parents of a son, born at Groom Hospital Wednesday morning, May 27. He weighed 6 pounds and has been named Philip Craig. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dout of Okene, Okla., and Mrs. Katherine Suderman of Enid, Okla.

BOYD YOUTH HAS ROLE IN BERLIN AIRLIFT CELEBRATION

A youngster well known to many McLean citizens received a highly unusual honor recently as Jim Boyd, nephew of Wilson Boyd of McLean, was invited to participate in the 10th anniversary celebration of the Berlin airlift, held in the famous city.

Jim, from Fort Worth, was invited because of his father, Ralph H. Boyd, who was one of the ten Texans killed during the airlift operations. Although making his home in Fort Worth also, Ralph was also a friend of many persons in McLean.

For participation in the ceremonies, Jim arrived in Berlin on the 11th of this month and stayed until the 16th. While there he dined with the president of the Republic of Germany, and was taken on many sight seeing tours. The main ceremony paying tribute to the Berlin airlift was held on May 12.

Jim's father, prior to his death, had established an outstanding military record. He was a pilot during World War II in a B-26 and was at one time captured and held prisoner by Germans, but Jones, Emory Smith.

Jim is also the grandson of Mrs. J. V. Boyd of McLean.
