Just Between Us

Creeping socialism could get another powerful boost in Texas, if a bill now before the House of Representatives becomes law.

We refer to House Bill No. 2, authored by Alonzo W. Jamison Jr. of Denton. Senate Bill No. 7 is a companion measure.

Under provisions of the bills, the Rural Electrification Administration would be permitted to continue to operate in areas it now serves after they are annexed into a city—if the municipal government desires.

Private power users in the affected cities also could charge over to the REA, if they desired. And they would be foolish not to, if given the opportunity, since for various reasons the REA can furnish electricity at a cheaper rate.

—jbu—
Please don't misinterpret our feelings toward the REA. Co-operatives have served their purpose well, since the REA was formed back in the 1930s.

And they are still functioning as intended by Franklin Delano Roosevelt. But passage of such legislation as House Bill No. 2 would put the REA in direct competition with private enterprise.

This we don't like at all. We know what it's like, competing as we are against the government in the printing business.

—jbu—
The lives of thousands of rural families have been made more comfortable and enjoyable by REA, and thousands more can reap the same benefits.

That is the whole purpose of the agency, and we're all for it. However, we feel, too, that when the need for the REA ceases to exist in certain areas, the government-backed power administration should fade from the scene.

Being able to borrow government money at two per cent for rural installations and not having to pay income tax—because theoretically it is non-profit—makes it possible for the REA to provide cheaper electricity.

—jbu—
Our state representative, Grainger Melham, of Wheeler, hasn't definitely stated his position on the new House bill. And we hope he gives a lot of deep thought to the issue before answering "aye" when and if the bill is brought to the House floor.

Services Held For Mrs. Jewell Williams

Services for Mrs. Jewell Jessamine Williams, former resident of McLean, were conducted Monday in Amarillo. Burial was in Llano Mausoleum.

Mrs. Williams, the aunt of Mrs. Frank Rodgers, of McLean, died last Friday. She had been in ill health since suffering a stroke in 1957.

She was a resident of McLean for several years before moving to the Bivins XL Ranch north of Amarillo. She and her husband moved to New Mexico in 1927 and later to Montana.

Mrs. Williams, who was 66, is survived by her husband, John of Miles City, Mont.; one daughter, Mrs. Bobbie Johnson, Amarillo; a brother, W. L. Haynes, Weatherford, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Mabel McKinney, Sunray, and Mrs. Mattie Bailey, Amarillo.

At the monthly safety meeting later in the week at the Warren plant, Switzer was presented a 20-year safety award.

Harlem Stars Play Before Large Crowd

The Panhandle All-Stars put up a tough fight before being clipped 79-73 Monday night by the clowning Harlem Stars in the McLean High School gymnasium.

Several hundred basketball fans were on hand for the game here, marking the Harlem Stars' only appearance in this area.

The Negro players, content to hold only a slight margin, clowned their way through most of the last half after leading 44-38 at intermission.

Two Score 18
Derral Davis, McLean coach, and Rookie Rogers, coach from Borger, scored 18 points to tie for All-Star team point-making honors.

Troy Burris, Sam Houston Junior High coach in Amarillo and an All-American selection at West Texas State College a few years back, scored 13.

Milt Fritz, Amarillo coach and an All-Border Conference player while at West Texas in 1938-39, scored 12, as did Allen Simpson, Canyon coach and another former All-Border selection at West Texas. Others on the All-Star squad were Nolan Poteet, Panhandle coach, and Nealy Simpson, formerly of Frank Phillips Junior College.

WASHINGTONS OUT IN FORCE FOR CONTEST

George and Martha Washingtons sprouted out all over the McLean Grade School Wednesday, as students competed in the first costume contest of its kind here.

Selected as best-dressed in Colonial fashions were fourth graders Becky Shelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shelton, and Mike Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Haynes.

Other finalists were first graders Don Taylor and Becky Orrick and sixth graders Troy Corbin and Sharon Jones.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. George Orrick, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Corbin and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Jones.

The two winners received figurines of George and Martha Washington. Winning boys in each room were awarded tops and the winning girls received handkerchiefs.

A large number of parents and others attended the contest Wednesday morning in the gymnasium.

Grade School Principal Jack Riley and Mrs. Vera Back, language and arts teacher in the seventh and eighth grades, directed the event.

Semi-finalists had been selected during the morning by eighth grade chess members, who were in charge of the contest.

Don Stewart was master of ceremonies, and was assisted by Linda Tindall, Sandy McDowell and Jim Parrish.

Judges were high school students Mary Ann Carter, Janice Page, Mike McCall, Clyde Windom and Jakey Hess.

PUBLIC SERVICE DISPLAY DUE

Businessmen and homeowners are due a treat next Monday, when Southwestern Public Service Co.'s Electric Caravan will make a two-hour appearance here, beginning at 2 p. m.

Two giant colorful trailers especially designed to demonstrate the latest in electric heating, electric commercial cooking equipment and modern lighting will be set up in front of the McLean Public Service office for all to visit.

Jim Morris, local manager of the company, said the equipment with the two trailers will actually be operating, making it possible for interested persons to see exactly what each piece of equipment will do.

65 Pieces of Equipment
Altogether the two trailers carry 65 separate and different pieces of electric equipment suitable for installation in homes or businesses. Heretofore, anyone interested in stove modernization, heating or commercial cooking would be mostly confined to viewing pictures in a catalog.

Now with the Electric Caravan the equipment is on the spot for personal demonstration and explanation.

Morris said the demand for appearances of the caravan is far exceeding expectations and urged those interested to make certain they visit the caravan while it is here, since no additional appearances can be scheduled this year.

What to Do About Failures

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Robert L. Green, McLean High School principal, in an effort to help students and parents take action to reduce the number of failures in the local school system.

Filing deadlines for this spring's city and board of education elections are drawing to a close.

Aspirants for the two school board positions to be filled here until 5 p. m. next Wednesday to make their candidacies known, while those for the city posts must pitch their hats into the ring by noon Saturday, March 4.

Filing periods must close 30 days prior to elections, according to voting regulations.

School district patrons are to select two trustees for three-year terms on April 1. A mayor and two aldermen will be elected for two-year terms on April 4. Up to this morning, there were three candidates for the school board—W. C. (Flea) Simpson, George Orrick and Emory Crockett.

They are in a race for positions held by J. W. Meacham and Clyde Brown, and the two top vote-getters will be elected.

Mayor John C. Haynes is unopposed in his bid for re-election. Incumbent Aklerm Boyd Meador and Ruel Smith have filed for new terms, and Dr. H. F. Fabian is bidding to unseat one of the two.

KFDA GROUP TO VISIT CITY

Several personalities from Amarillo television station KFDA will bring some of their complicated equipment to McLean Saturday to give local and area residents an opportunity to see what makes TV tick.

Joe Gaston, area news director for the station—Channel 10—was in McLean Monday afternoon making arrangements for the visit.

Present plans call for setting up closed-circuit television, beginning at 1:30 p. m., in downtown McLean, giving visitors an opportunity to see what they look like on TV.

If inclement weather interferes, the equipment will be moved inside the Public Service Co. building.

Scheduled to visit in the city during the afternoon are Newsman Ralph Wayne, Weatherman Dan True and "Stubby," who is in charge of KFDA's kids matinee.

Gaston said numbered programs, listing the station's schedule for the entire year, will be distributed. Then a drawing is to be held during the afternoon, and prizes will go to persons holding the lucky programs.

Superintendent Will Attend AASA Meet

Lee Welch, McLean school superintendent, left today for San Francisco, Calif., where he will attend the annual American Association of School Administrators convention.

The convention, which yearly attracts hundreds of school leaders from throughout the United States, will open this weekend and continue through most of next week.

Claude, Miami Girls Meet Here Monday

A bi-district basketball game will be played in the McLean High School gymnasium next Monday between the Claude and Miami girls.

Supt. Lee Welch said the Class B playoff tilt is scheduled at 8 p. m.

EAST STANDS PLANNED AT RODEO ARENA

McLean will kick off its big four-day 1961 Rodeo and Horse Show on May 31, it was announced this week.

John C. Haynes, mayor and president of the 66 Roundup and Rodeo Association, said the dates for the event were set at an association meeting last Saturday.

Work is to begin soon on preparing the rodeo grounds north of McLean for the popular affair.

Johnson Chairman
The association decided to erect bleachers on the east side of the arena similar to those constructed on the west side when the new arena was built last year.

Plans also call for the construction of a concession stand and two toilets.

Haynes appointed Truitt Johnson as chairman of the building committee.

Faris Hess was named chairman of the trail ride committee, and arrangements for this popular part of the celebration are to be made in the near future.

Publicize Event
A host of local and area residents rode horses to Amarillo last spring to publicize the Rodeo and Horse Show.

The Horse Show on Saturday, June 3, is scheduled to close the four days of festivities here.

Revealing plans to beautify the rodeo grounds and nearby golf course, the association invited persons planning to remove trees and Bermuda grass from their property to contact Haynes or other association members.

All donated trees and grass will be set out on the rodeo grounds and golf course to improve the appearance.

Cuttings from Eugene O'Neal's "The Great God Brown" will be the McLean entry in the league contest.

In the play cast, in addition to Misses Shelton, McClellan and Sharp, are Johnny Stewart, Gary Kelley, Charles Jones, Doug Crockett, Jack Back and Mike McCall.

SMILES ARE CONTAGIOUS!

By JUDY WYATT

In every human body there are millions of various muscles; some are voluntary, others involuntary. Many of them are working constantly, others occasionally, while some are rarely utilized.

The movement of the majority muscles requires very little effort. An example of this is the muscles around the mouth. These are tiny organisms that are about the easiest muscles to work.

However, for a rare few people it is a job to move these muscles into a pleasant position. For others, it comes naturally, almost involuntarily. A simple changing of the facial expression that involves a brightening of the eyes and an upward curving of the corners of the mouth results in a most pleasing appearance, commonly known as smiling.

With one exception, unless a person happens to be suffering from myositis, there is no excuse for not smiling. Myositis is a simple inflammation of the voluntary muscles, which results in stiffness of the muscles.

Few people have myositis, so that it is not a very concrete excuse either. When a person comes right down to it, there is no reason not to smile; even if it is just occasionally.

Whether smiling or laughing there is one major thing to remember—mainly that they should be natural, not put-on. If you are one of those unfortunate persons who never smiles, don't feel you have to fake a smile or laugh falsely just to be accepted in a group. This is the only exception to the smiling rule; ordinarily it's best not to smile in such a case.

Another good thing about smiles is that they are highly contagious. It's a fact! Just experiment sometime and see for yourself that when smiled at, a person automatically returns the smile.

Now any time you feel amusement, pleasure, tender affection, approval, irony, etc., try a simple, but warm and natural, s-m-i-l-e.

'Music' Is Theme For Band Banquet Held Last Saturday

By RUTH PAKAN

The band banquet was held Feb. 18 in the Methodist Church basement.

The theme for the banquet was "Music." The hall was decorated with notes and many other things pertaining to music. For the centerpiece a miniature baby grand piano filled with lovely flowers was used.

The tables were covered in white dinner cloths with white and peacock blue streamers running down the middle; gold tapered candles were the final touch.

Nancy Meacham, president of the band, presided as the mistress of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Mr. Robert Green, principal of the school. Mr. Jim Boyd welcomed all guests. Then dinner was served as follows: Baked ham, green beans, baked potatoes, salad, bread, tea and German chocolate cake.

The entertainment came from both Shamrock and here at home. Miss Noel Adkins and Mr. Mark Blonstein presented a vocal act. Mr. Gary Kelley and Miss Janice Saunders sang several nice selections.

Mr. Jack Beck, band king, was presented a small gift in appreciation from the band. Jack then presented Miss Rita Brown, band queen, with a lovely bouquet of red roses.

The banquet was dismissed after the benediction was given by Mr. Lee Welch, superintendent of schools.

Parent-Son Banquet Held by Local FFA

The McLean FFA chapter held their Parent-Son Banquet Friday night, Feb. 17, at 7. Present along with the parents were other honored guests who had helped the boys in many ways during the past year, according to Mr. Jim Weatherford, sponsor.

Master of ceremonies, Bill Goldston, carried on the program. The officers of the FFA held an opening and closing ceremony. Accomplishments of the club were told by Mr. Weatherford. The welcome was given by Skip Willoughby and the invocation by Gene Bench.

Mr. Faris Hess and Mr. George Saunders were conferred with honorary degrees and were presented with FFA emblems. They were chosen to receive these degrees because of the enthusiasm they had shown for the club.

The speaker was Game Warden Cecil Fox from Spur. Slides of wildlife were shown as a portion of his speech.

FFA Sweetheart Rita Brown and her parents were also among the honored guests.

Yearbook Complete

"Friday, Feb. 17, was a great day in the lives of 11 students and one faculty member at McLean High School," commented Dennis Roach, editor.

The last 42 pages of the 112 page 1961 TUMBLEWEED were sent to Taylor Publishing Co. in Dallas for publication. All deadlines were met by the staff, and the finished book is scheduled to arrive in McLean on or about May 3.

BEYOND THE CALL OF DUTY

RINGGOLD, GA.—As a usual thing the sheriff of a semi-rural county does a lot of things in the line of duty. Recently he was put to the test by a call from a woman.

Sheriff J. D. Stewart was told that her husband was ill somewhere and her six children were running around in the front yard without clothes and would be come and make them put on their clothes.

The sheriff thought a few minutes and told her he wasn't going to do it.

The Day That Joey Should Have Stayed At Home—in Bed!

By NANCY MEACHAM

As Joey walked into the school house, he tried to look cheerful. It was hard to do because it was Monday morning. Monday is always the worst day of the week. It seems that everyone dreads Mondays.

Joey went to his locker and got his books for the first period class. He thought he would make the best of this day even if he didn't like to come to school on it. Maybe it would pass fast. He doubted it, though. Monday was usually the longest day of the week.

It seems that Joey's first class turned out to be a dreadful one. The very first thing he was called on to give a book report. This report had been assigned two weeks ago, so there wasn't any excuse for Joey to give for not having it. He got a failing grade for that day.

Joey's second period class didn't turn out much better than his first one. He wasn't prepared for this class, and it just so happened that his teacher gave a pop test. Joey didn't make a very good grade on it.

When the bell rang for his third period class, Joey walked slowly to his locker. He arrived a little too late. Everyone was crowded around, and Joey had to wait until they had all gone before he could get his books. Joey was late to class, so he had to go to the office all period, and missed a review.

Fourth period (the period before dinner) Joey was about to starve for something to eat. His teacher left the room for a minute, so Joey put a piece of candy in his mouth. Just as Joey was chewing it up, his teacher came back in and asked Joey to explain a problem. Joey was caught. He got three licks for eating in class.

The whole morning had gone wrong for Joey. He hoped that nothing would go wrong during his fifth period. It was study hall, and surely he would get through it without getting into trouble. It didn't turn out the way he wanted it to. He was caught talking and was given a thousand word theme to write.

Joey didn't have any hope for his sixth period class. He knew that it wouldn't go right. It hardly ever did. It didn't either. He was sitting with his feet in the aisle and his teacher just happened to trip over them. She thought he meant to, because he wasn't what you would call an angel anyway. He got five licks from the principal.

The last period of the day was going just fine for Joey until he fell and hurt his arm. He had to go to the doctor. As Joey sat at the doctor's office, he had only one wish. He wished that he had stayed in bed.

Joey came out of that horrible day with only a sprained arm. He lived over it, but he won't ever forget it.

FBLA Members On Way to Convention

Members of the FBLA left today for the state convention in Denton. Their plans are to be in Denton by 12 o'clock tonight, and to return home on Sunday.

Each person was required to have 75 points in order to attend the convention. The points were earned through participation in club activities and meetings. Thirty members are to represent the McLean chapter, with Mrs. Mary Tom Riley and Mr. Green as sponsors.

The FBLA Club has entered into several contests: Judy Wyatt and Gary Gordin in the Mr. and Miss FBLA contest; Douglas Crockett in public speaking; Barney Pool, Jack Beck, Jimmy Watson and Gary Gordin in the parliamentary procedure contest; and Phyllis Flowers in spelling. Also a scrapbook and display are entered into competition.

The students are making the trip on school bus. Whenever they arrive, plans are to stay in downtown Denton for the remainder of Thursday night. Friday and Saturday nights will be spent in college dormitories.

A well lighted yard and walkway is desirable for accident prevention and convenience. One or two yard lights located near the driveway or on the corner of the house will provide illumination for the entire area and help provide night-time security, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

THE TEAR OF THE YEAR

Get out your sugar and cream, for you are about to feast on a three-part humdinger of a serial—you know, the "will be continued" episodes. Of course, we cannot begin to compete with "From These Roots," which appears daily on TV.

As our plot, we have chosen to write about the life of an average high school girl. . . . "Ding-a-ling." The 8:35 bell has rung. This bell denotes that it is time for class to begin.

Mrs. Perryman and her freshman English class had just begun to review verbs, when in stumbles Margaret Fry. As Margaret flies into the room, she accidentally trips over someone's legs. There she was all sprawled out on Mrs. Perryman's floor and Mr. Big's feet in her face! Mr. Big was really Nick Newman, the best-looking freshman this side of the moon—at least, the girls thought so.

Nick looked down at Margaret and, of course, Margaret couldn't help but look into those big beautiful brown eyes.

"May I help you?" asked Nick. "No, thank you. I would rather stay here!" answered Margaret in a daze.

"Margaret Frances Fry, will you please get up this minute!" came the very stern voice of Mrs. Perryman.

All during the class period Nick looked at Margaret and she looked at him. After class Margaret ran to tell Sue about the most wonderful moment in her life—when Nick Newman talked to me! "Sue, he actually spoke to me! Can you imagine me—Miss Margaret Fry—of all the girls in the world, he chose me!"

He really didn't have much choice, Peg. After all, it was his books you stumbled over, and with his feet in your face, what else could he do?"

"You are just jealous because you didn't think of a way to meet him."

"Well, you didn't think of it either," came Sue's reply. "Fate, it was the hand of fate which brought us together."

"If you two are together then I'm Elvis Presley!"

"Speaking of him, here he comes."

"Who, Elvis?"

"No, stupid—Nick."

"Big deal. Well, all I can say is you had better nail one foot to the floor so you'll be here when he gets here!"

"Funny, funny—remind me to laugh."

"Hi, girls," said that hunk of muscles named Nick Newman, as he passed by.

"Hi, girls—big deal, please tell me when to sigh."

"Well, maybe you can't have your cake and eat it, but you wait and see if I don't!"

"Gee, kid, I don't believe you have the oven even lit."

THE STUDENTS VOICE OPINION

Dear "Litter Bug,"

Have you looked around the halls lately? Well, if you have, I am sure that you were just as disturbed as I was. Our halls, as far as that goes, the whole building, are being terribly mistreated by the student body.

Many of us are being very careless about where we throw things that should be thrown in the trash. Just the other day someone tore up a package of notebook paper and threw it all over the hall, and then the person who did this will be the one who gripes loudest if the student body is called into the auditorium for a lecture concerning the matter.

Let us take pride in our building and keep it clean at all times, so that when we have visitors in the building they will go away thinking and knowing that we take pride in our building and keep it looking like a place in which to learn and not a pig pen.

Sincerely,
"Glitter Bug"

Seniors on Review

By SUE WRIGHT

April 20, 1945, was the glorious day that Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sharp were blessed with a baby girl, whom they christened Peggy Joyce.

Peggy stands at a neat 5 feet 2 inches and tips the scales at a slim 104 pounds. Long, shiny auburn hair is a most notable characteristic of Miss Sharp's. Lovely gray eyes light up her pixie type face.

Among her favorites, Peggy lists these: Car—Gary Gordin's; book—"Gone With the Wind"; show—"Sukkenly Last Summer"; colors—green and brown; food—cherry sundaes; and person—a certain boy who stands six feet and three inches tall, topped with dyed black hair.

In past events in Peggy's diary there is a most embarrassing moment. This was when she innocently added "uss" to Jack's name (Jack Beck), and the result was utterly shocking.

Peggy plans to enter Texas Tech or West Texas State College this summer or next fall and study voice and drama and have a ball! After that she hopes to lead a happy married life.

This bit of advice to all freshmen is given by Peggy: "Don't wish so hard for your senior year, because all of a sudden it is here, and then it is gone, and you can only look back and wish high school had lasted longer. Make all the friends you can and make your grades."

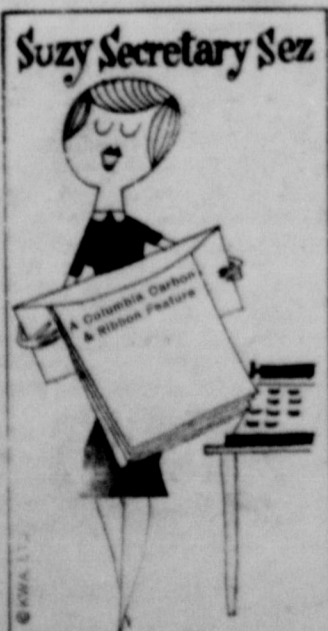

"Sue is the type of student that is indeed a pleasure to all students and faculty members alike. When you need something done in a hurry, ask for Sue. I have never heard her hesitate once when asked to do a large or menial chore for anyone," replied Mrs. Mary Tom Riley, senior sponsor, concerning Sue Wright, our senior being reviewed.

Sue transferred from Shamrock High School last year when her father, R. L. Wright, took over the management of Motor-Inn Auto Supply Co. Sue has a brother and two younger sisters also attending McLean schools.

Aside from being a real asset to the senior class in their money-raising activities, she has also distributed her time in FBLA, Pep Club and FHA.

It is evident that Sue likes McLean. When asked concerning her feelings about her move from Shamrock to McLean, she had this to say: "I have made better grades and added new friends by the score."

After graduation this spring she intends to attend Fort Worth College, Fort Worth, Texas.

Driving past a development he was building, a contractor saw a group of men digging in a trench some distance from where they were supposed to be working. He went over and demanded angrily, "What's going on here?" "Trench caved in," one of the men replied, without stopping. "Does the foreman know about it?" "Well," replied the workman, "if he doesn't, we'll tell him as soon as we dig him out."

The '61 Chevy loves to go because it goes so well. Furs along pavements like a happy tabby. Takes rough roads in stride and all roads in style.

Just why does a Jet-smooth Chevy treat riders as royally as the high-priced luxury cars? It all came about through a delightful blend of Full Coil suspension, precision-balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning, and a superb body by Fisher insulated to hush away road sounds. All this adds up to less sway, less bounce, less dip, less dive, less tilt, less noise, less... well you name it.

Now combine this Jet-smooth ride with conveniences to pamper you and roominess to relax in. Add a full measure of quiet good looks. Voila, you've got Chevy's formula.

And the proof is in the riding. When you sample a Jet-smooth Chevy at your Chevrolet dealer's we think you'll find it just to your taste.

NEWS from YOUR COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT TEXAS A & M. COLLEGE EXTENSION SERVICE

By FOSTER WHALEY
Stock Show March 6-8
 The annual Top o' Texas Show scheduled for March 6, 7 and 8 promises to be bigger and better than ever before, with approximately 85 fat steers and 150 hogs entered from the six counties in the Top o' Texas area.

The public is urged to view the livestock in the barns Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and attend the sale which will be held on Wednesday morning, March 8, at 9:30 a. m. Clyde Carruth is general superintendent of the Junior Livestock Show.

Several McLean FFA and 4-H members will have entries in both the Gray County Show (which precedes the Top o' Texas Show on March 4) and the Top o' Texas Show.

Soil District News
 In a recent meeting of the Gray County Soil Conservation District board it was voted to publish quarterly a small paper on what is happening in our soil conservation district. Jack Shelton, your McLean News editor and publisher, has been given the printing job.

This publication will go to some 450 farm operators in the county. Ads will be sold by the soil conservation board to Gray County business firms. Cost of the ads will be just enough to cover printing and mailing cost.

Personally, I feel the district has made a great stride forward in this move. The information will be of a local nature with an abundant supply of local pictures. You should be getting a copy within one month.

When you have finished with it call your local soil board members and tell them what you think of it. They will appreciate it. They are Felton Webb and James Cliett. Both have phones out of McLean.

They serve on your soil conservation board without pay in the interest of better conservation. Many people confuse the board with the Soil Conservation Service. The SCS is a USDA agency, he same as the Extension Service.

The soil district is a sub-division of your state government. Supervisors are elected in a similar manner to your school district trustees and serve without pay just as members of your school board.

Contaminated Water
 Last week I mentioned that I had been contacted regarding what was believed to be contaminated water for livestock. I had misplaced the name of the person making the inquiry.

I found out it was Elmer Immel. He also wanted to know where to send love grass seed for germination and purity analysis.

There are two state laboratories. They are State Department of Agriculture, Austin, and State Department of Agriculture, Seed Division, Lubbock.

There are approved commercial firms that also do official testing. Check Peb Everett out on one of these. As county agent I am prohibited from recommending any particular one.

Cotton Allotment Increase
 Farmers in the McLean area that do not plan to plant their cotton allotment are urged to go by the ASC office in Pampa and sign a "Release and Reapportionment Form."

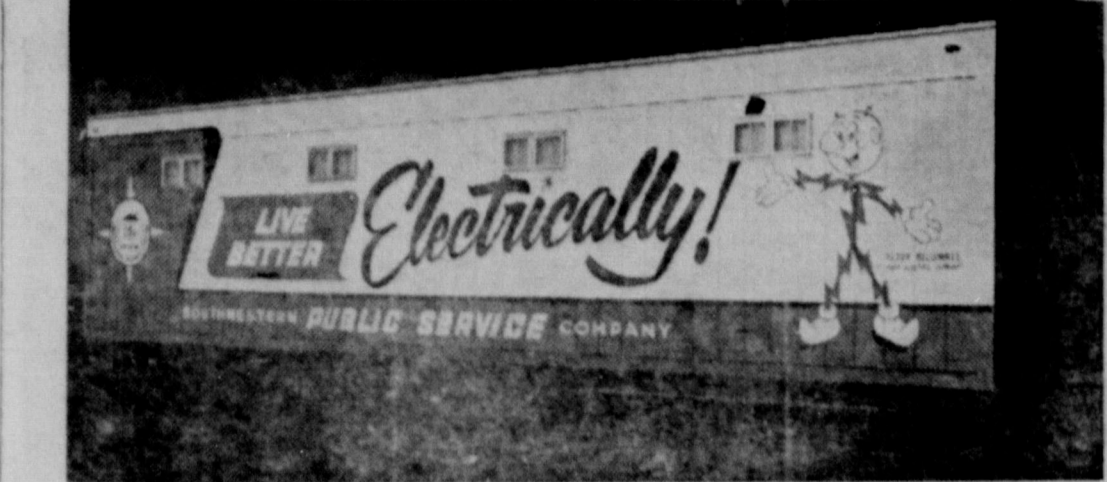

Do this by April 14. As I understand it, this will hold your allotment intact.

If you sign and release the acreage, then on April 26 the county committee will meet and reapportion this allotment to other farmers in the county. This will help protect the county's acreage history.

Most of all, it will add to the economy of the county a great deal more than you think. Last year the county was eligible to plant 2,675 acres of cotton, yet only 2,025 was planted.

This means 650 more acres of cotton could have been planted. With last year's yield average in mind it could safely be estimated that $60,000 to $70,000 more money would have come to Gray County had we planted our full allotment.

Outstanding Conservation Farmer
 The soil conservation board named Johnny Johnson, northeast of Groom in Gray County, as outstanding conservation farmer of Gray County in their recent board meeting.

CONDITIONS NOW RIGHT FOR UPSURGE IN ANIMAL RABIES

State Health Department officials say conditions are now right for the usual spring upsurge in animal rabies.

Since Jan. 1, 56 animals have been diagnosed by laboratory methods as being rabid. Included in that number were 28 skunks, 18 dogs, three cows, three foxes, three cats and one horse.

And that's just an unknown fraction of the actual problem.

The number of confirmed cases is considerably under the number registered at this time last year when 66 cases were diagnosed in January alone, but it is still high enough to pose a serious threat to affected areas, Dr. H. E. Smith said.

Smith, head of the department's preventive medical service section, said pockets of infection exist in central Texas counties along the Brazos River, but no area of the state can consider itself immune.

He blamed abundant susceptible wildlife for Texas' perennial rabies woes.

Health authorities have no way of knowing the actual extent of the disease among foxes and skunks because only those which come into contact with humans come to their attention.

"For every rabid fox or skunk we hear about, there might be 50 or 75 more we don't hear about because they die in their burrows or dens," Dr. Smith said.

The obvious danger of wildlife rabies, aside from the possibility of direct exposure to hunters, campers and other sportsmen, is that wildlife might easily affect dogs. Dogs thus could become sources of human contact with the disease.

"Large increases in rabid wildlife will invariably spill over into domestic animals—livestock and pets," Smith affirmed.

Although humans are more often exposed to rabies by dog bites than any other way, the disease in dogs seems generally to be on the decline. But Smith said this condition could easily change if ever the public lets up on vaccination of family pets.

Texas hasn't experienced a human death from rabies since 1967. However, the State Health Department last year distributed 1,725 14-day courses of anti-rabies vaccine for human use, an indication of the extent of human involvement.

Two human deaths have been reported for the nation as a whole so far this year—one in Kentucky and one in California.

Smith said the three most important steps in community rabies control are pet vaccination, stray dog pick-up and thinning of wildlife—in that order.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Edwards visited in Pampa over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. George Thut.

Young people of today have a right to complain. In far too many cases we have given them a bum deal. We have showered their lives with entertainment and far too little responsibilities. We have cluttered their life into a rat-race of activity, and at the same time failed to teach the value of worthwhile work.

We have depended too much on other organizations to teach moral principles, while we were busy clinging to some social circle which we wouldn't want them to attend. We have hurried them off to Sunday School without proving that our excuse for staying at home was justified.

They have been given money for entertainment in order to get them from under foot. This time should have been spent teaching ways to earn their own money. They have been brain-washed with all manner of lies from our everybody-does-it social order. We needed to convince them about the true facts of right living.

By failing to teach that the path of life was straight and narrow and that the road was uphill, we have left the implication that life was an easy-going affair. This even reaches the point they can believe the world owes them something. We have done a great injustice if we have failed to teach that working and saving was the best policy. By failing to give a challenge we have caused them to miss great opportunities.

Yes, youth has a right to complain. We have been too good with the wrong things. We have failed to challenge them to do their best. When they were out looking for some place to go, we have failed to make home the very best place of all.

Number of Cities Using Managers Has Doubled in 12 Years

CHICAGO—(Special)—The number of local governments using the council-manager form has doubled in the past 12 years.

The "1961 Directory of Council-Manager Cities" just published by the International City Managers' Association, lists 1,756 cities, towns (including McLean, Texas), townships, counties and other local governments.

The 1960 census of population designates 1,759 urban places of more than 10,000 population in the United States. Forty-nine per cent of those over 25,000 population and 38 per cent of those between 10,000 and 25,000 operate under the council-manager plan.

Eighty-four cities adopted the plan during 1960 and appear in the directory for the first time. The average number of adoptions since Jan. 1, 1949, is 73 cities per year.

The population of all places with council-manager government now exceeds 41.5 million.

There are four council-manager cities with populations over a half-million: Dallas and San Antonio, Texas; San Diego, Calif., and Cincinnati, Ohio. An additional 51 cities with populations over 100,000 also use this form.

Under the system, a manager is hired to serve as administrative head of the city under the general direction of the city council. A substantial majority of city managers have received special training or experience in government.

The council-manager form of government is 33 years old. It started in 1908 when the council of Staunton, Va., appointed a manager. Four years later, Sumter, S. C., became the first city in which the plan was adopted by a vote of the people.

Adoptions grew steadily but slowly during the first four decades of the plan. As many communities have adopted the plan since 1949 as adopted it in the prior 41 years.

Only 63 cities have abandoned the plan by referendum. Another 18 voted to abandon, but later re-adopted the council-manager form.

Here's the fastest and easiest way

FIRST, give the operator the Area Code for the city you want to call.

NEXT, tell her the telephone number you're calling.

LAST, when the operator asks, give her the number you're calling from.

It's easy and fast. For example, just say, "Area Code 214, RI 2-1432," and then when the operator asks your number, say, "KL 5-2368." You'll not only save time yourself, but help speed along your call as well.

By VERN SANFORD

Not everyone fishes. But most people would like to fish occasionally. Usually the excuse is "I just don't seem to find the time."

Recently, over a period of several days, I asked everyone I chatted with—old friends and new friends—one question: "Do you ever go fishing?"

Answers ranged from "Never" to "Occasionally" to "I go as often as I can."

Invariably the person who said "Never" would add, in tones of wishfulness, "I just don't have the time." Lots of them seemed to have a guilty feeling about it. Sorta like "I know I oughta get . . . once in a while . . . but I just don't."

Those are the fellows who need it most. I want to direct this message especially to them, because I've been in their position. I know exactly how they feel, and I know that they need to go fishing, perhaps more than they realize.

Usually such persons go "all out" in anything and everything they do. They work night and day on the job. Or they devote 80 per cent of their non-sleeping hours to civic work. Or they take on too many committee assignments—from the club, or the church, or the multitude of other organizations in the hometown, or the district, sometimes even the state. As long as it is fun to do these things; as long as they accomplish them without pushing themselves too hard; so long as they are just

Reef Marking In Bay Waters Shown On Available Maps

ROCKPORT.—Special—B o y markers for fishing reefs along the Texas coast have been mapped by the Game and Fish Commission and mimeographed copies of their locations are now available to fishermen.

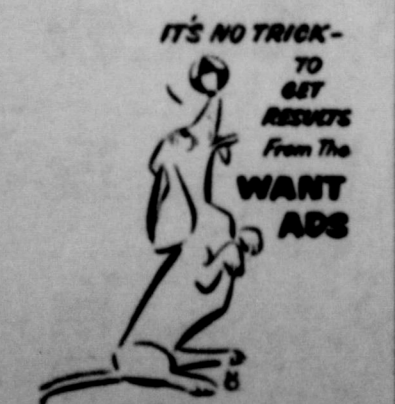

The maps at present cover locations from Port Bolivar south to Port Isabel. They include the waters of Galveston and Trinity Bays, the areas on south to Corpus Christi and in the Laguna Madre for its full length.

They can be obtained by writing to the Game and Fish Marine Laboratory at Rockport.

The first of these markers was placed about three years ago. Since then the number has increased materially. They provide information on good fishing reefs for the fishermen in the bay waters along the coast.

Each year the markers are repaired and put in good shape. Occasionally one is washed ashore and some vandalism has been found. Generally, however, the markers provide efficient information for the fishermen.

Fishing along the coast has picked up in the past week. Many good strings of large reds and trout have been reported along the entire coastline.

It's the Law in TEXAS

LEGAL CHECK-UP IS SAFETY MEASURE

Legal trouble is easier and cheaper to prevent than to cure.

Most wage earning, childbearing, home buying, installment paying families don't see much need for a family lawyer.

Often under prodding, one may get a lawyer to write a will.

But can you tell a big legal risk from a small one? Can you spot the signs of legal trouble?

Check with your family lawyer when:

1. Your status changes: upon coming of age, marriage, the birth of your children, buying a house, divorce, or death. For you may then need to draft or revise your will, change your insurance, or refigure your taxes.
2. You buy or sell. Look out for flaws in the papers before you go into debt, part with money, or sign anything involving big expenditures or long term obligations.
3. You enter into other contracts. Promises, spoken or written, bind you if they call for a "consideration," something of value in return.
4. Someone threatens your rights. The law exists to defend them but with some rights you must take action yourself for them to work for you.

When you bring your lawyer "live" facts (e.g. unsigned contracts, vexing tax returns you haven't filed), he can do much more for you, and at a smaller cost than when you bring him "cold" facts (mistakes you have made which threaten trouble).

But above all—get both live and cold facts to him at once. For time may run out in many such situations. Your lawyer may be able to do something for you today, which he cannot do tomorrow.

Tell your lawyer what you want. Tell him all the facts, good or bad, and then keep him informed all along. He is sworn to keep what you tell him in confidence, and he cannot serve you well without full knowledge.

(This newfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

STUDY

- ### GETTING READY
1. Decide how much time you will have for the study of a particular lesson and center your thoughts and efforts on that lesson only while you study. Use only the amount of time decided upon.
 2. Have the necessary materials ready for any one lesson before you start your work; and make up your mind to study straight through without any interruptions.
 3. Have a scratch pad ready for use in taking notes.

RULES

1. Eliminate distractions, such as conversations, radio or television programs, eating or drinking.
2. Make up your mind to be wide awake and alert to all points of the study.
3. Have a dictionary ready to use as you do your work.
4. Be sure of your assignment.

PROCEDURE

1. Write down the main topic or topics that are to be considered.
2. Under these write down the sub-headings of your assignment.
3. Think these headings over before you read, in order to set clearly in your mind the outline of the lesson.
4. As you read, you should write down brief statements of ideas or important terms from each paragraph. As these are written, you must mentally relate them to the general headings of the lesson.
5. As soon as the lesson has been read and the notes taken, get up from your chair and relax your mind and muscles for a minute or two.

6. With your text closed, go over your written study notes to see that you have them clearly in mind and mark any that do not make sense.

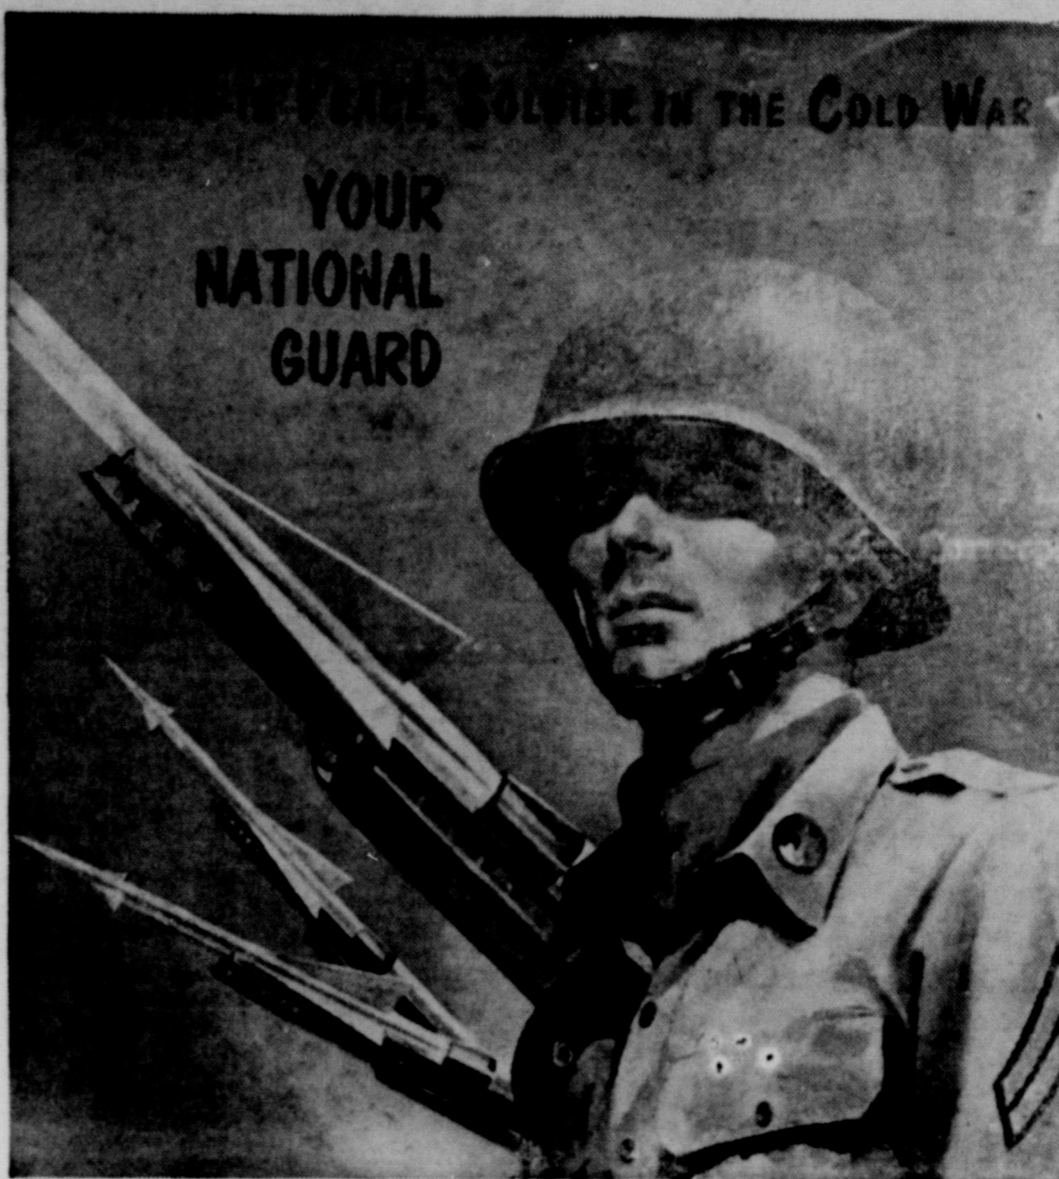

7. Go back to the text and straighten out any points that are not clear.

8. Use your notes if you need further study in order to be properly prepared.

REMEMBER—
A short time spent in thoughtful, concentrated study is worth more to you than hours of mixed-up, unorganized reading.

These ideas are not rules that you must follow. They are intended to be helpful information that you are welcome to use.

Don't expect to be a perfect student within a week; it takes time and work!

YOUR NATIONAL GUARD

TIPS for OUTDOORSMEN

Care With Fire Necessary

Winter woods are dry and easy to catch fire, so take the proper precautions to prevent fire.

Hold burnt matches until cool, then break them. Shred your cigarette butts, as soldiers are taught to do. Douse your campfire thoroughly with water—then inspect it carefully before leaving.

On Cooking Eels

Eels make great eating—once you get over the idea that they are kin to snakes.

You'll be won over the first time if you prepare them this way: Skin eel with pliers, then cut into inch-thick chunks (as you slice bread). Fry until meat is flaky and white.

Legend has it that cooled eel meat will turn raw again if laid aso to cool. Experiment proves this to be at least partially true.

Choke Improves Shooting

By using an adjustable choke on your single barrel shotgun you can increase your kills greatly.

This is not an ad for any special brand of choke, but is a worthwhile tip on how to increase your shooting skill.

Spotting Downed Birds

When you down a bird in brush or high grass you go to the place where you think it fell, and it isn't.

Patrol Investigates 9 Rural Accidents

Nine rural accidents were investigated in Gray County by the Texas Highway Patrol during January, according to Sgt. E. G. Albers, area supervisor for the patrol.

The wrecks brought death to one person, injured nine and caused property damage of $4,516.

Sgt. Albers pointed out that the motoring public has begun the new year with an improved traffic record over last year. He urged that motorists continue the improvements by knowing and obeying traffic laws and driving defensively.

Defensive driving is the ability to recognize an accident-producing situation and compensate by one's own driving, being careful to commit no violations.

The patrol supervisor said one of the greatest faults of the American driver today is that he hides behind the false security of the "I have the right-of-way."

Additional Funds Ready for Farmers

An additional $50 million has been made available to the Farmers Home Administration for farm housing loans, James Gouley, the agency's Gray County supervisor, announced this week.

He said that the new loan funds assure an adequate supply of this type of credit for eligible farm families during the balance of the fiscal year. Loans made so far this year plus those being processed had practically exhausted the funds previously available.

Farm housing loans are made throughout the rural areas of the United States. The loans provide farm families with an opportunity to acquire an adequate house and efficient service buildings.

Applications for farm housing loans may be made at the local office of the Farmers Home Administration, Gouley said.

Armstrong, Donley and Gray Counties are served by the office in Clarendon. The loans bear four per cent interest and are repayable over periods up to 33 years.

The Soviet Union covers 36.4 per cent of the world's total land area; the United States, 7.5 per cent.

Quick as Jack Robinson

Here's a quick way to skin a rabbit. Lay the pot. Slit across rabbit's back with a sharp knife. Grab hold of each side of slit and pull.

The skin comes off as easily as you skin a banana. Cut legs off at lower joint and your rabbit is ready.

Don't Overfeed Hunting Dog

A lean dog makes a good hunter. Don't feed your dog all his appetite calls for, or he'll get sluggish and hunt poorly. Better for his ribs to show a little—it's a sign he's in top shape.

A prize-winning construction project is always planned in minute detail. . . . A loan by Production Credit is carefully designed to meet the borrower's specific needs, to furnish the amount needed and at the time needed. . . . A PCA loan is bulwarked by unmatched experience and knowledge. . . . Let your home-owned PCA, specialist in agricultural credit, help meet your credit requirements.

Changeable Weather Is McLean's Menu

Wintery and spring-like weather continued to alternate in McLean this week and it was anybody's guess as to this area's menu in the days ahead.

Mild temperatures showed up again Wednesday to erase quickly a soggy snow which splattered down on the city the day before.

Tuesday's snow, which piled up quickly in the early morning hours, contained .37 inch of moisture.

Snow, sleet and rain fell on Sunday, but contained only .05 inch.

The precipitation total for the month of February stood at .62 inch this morning. For the year, the total is now .78 inch, compared with 2.93 at this same date in 1960.

Weather Observer: Pete Fulbright was still awaiting a supply of graphs for McLean's official thermometer this week.

The local weather-recording instruments have been idle since early in the month because the Weather Bureau has failed to send the needed graphs.

VALENTINE DAY CELEBRATED AT GRADE SCHOOL

St. Valentine Day was celebrated on Feb. 14 by all the grade school, with parties in the rooms at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Moulter's first-grade pupils had been busy all day mailing valentines to each other in the clever and unusual mail boxes decorated by the children and their mothers in the valentine motif for the occasion.

Mrs. W. G. Hughes, chairman, and her committee served sandwiches made with red-colored bread in a heart shape, red heart-shaped cookies and Cokes. Assisting Mrs. Hughes were Mmes. Doyle Harris, Charles Roberts, Sidney Gilbreath, Jerry Jacobs, A. C. Sanders and Sims.

Mrs. Leonard Cain headed the valentine committee in Mrs. Arthur Hammer's second-grade room, and with her committee fixed aprons in the valentine motif for the girls and bow-ties for the boys. Punch and red heart cookies were served, the cookies being inscribed with the names of the children.

10 Years Ago

The Church of Christ was the scene Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 14, at 4 o'clock for the marriage of Effie Lou Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Carpenter of McLean, to Richard Lee Everett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Everett, also of McLean.

Minister T. A. Robertson read the double-ring service.

Norma Watson, Jeanne Pharis, Barbara Barrett and Jane Williams sang "Indian Love Call" and "Always."

Miss Jane Graham, cousin of the bride, was maid-of-honor.

Serving his son as best man was Perry Everett, with Billy Heasley and Clea Sue Heasley as ushers.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Walter Cash, wearing a blue dress with white accessories and carrying a bouquet of white gardenias.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Faris Hess. Presiding at the punch bowl was Jo Ann Grigsby. Mrs. Johny Cubine took pictures of the occasion, and Mrs. Bill Reeves registered the guests.

The citizens living in the north part of town, particularly those who use the part of Main Street leading through the park, are doing some much needed work on the street, making a fill on either side of the culvert that was built in the draw between the park and he business section last summer.

This culvert has been the subject of numerous jokes since it was built, as it is about four feet high, and there are no large piles of dirt nearby with which to make the long high grades needed on either side of it.

The subject for Sunday evening's B. Y. P. U. is Missions, Dr. I. T. Tichenor, 1825-1902. Wayland Floyd is leader.

Those on the program are Bobbie Hodges, T. N. Holloway, Floye Glass, T. A. Landers, Orna Arnold, Lillian Abbott and Eunice Stratton.

Veteran Information

Q—I hear that men being discharged from military service have a one-year deadline from date of discharge for applying for VA dental treatment. Is this true?

A—Generally, yes, for VA outpatient dental treatment, for which the dental condition must be service-connected. But there are a number of exceptions. These include veterans drawing compensation for dental conditions, those whose dental conditions resulted from service injuries, and former prisoners of war.

Q—Can I get transportation to a VA domiciliary?

A—As a rule, transportation to a VA domiciliary at government expense is provided only for the initial admission.

Q—I know a wife may be buried in a national cemetery if her veteran husband is already buried there. But what if the wife dies first?

A—A veteran who assures cemetery officials that he intends to be buried in a national cemetery may make arrangements for his wife to be buried there if she precedes him in death.

Q—Where does one write to secure information about state bonuses to veterans?

A—Write to the state Capitol in the state concerned. Do not write the Veterans Administration about state bonuses as they are administered solely by the individual

BACKING FOR SALES TAX IS REPORTED

AUSTIN—(Special)—Encouraging support from all parts of Texas is being received by the "Citizens for a Sales Tax" executive committee, Tom Sealy of Midland, general chairman, said here this week.

The support is coming from people in all walks of life, including many school teachers, Sealy said. The people's preference for a retail sales tax over other types of taxation, including an income tax and a payroll tax, is also being received by legislators, he said.

Several legislators have reported that their mail is heavy with letters from constituents, and an overwhelming majority favor the broad-based retail sales tax.

"The sales tax is the only equitable and permanent answer to the money problems of our state," Sealy said.

Explaining the financial situation which Texas finds itself in today, Sealy said that mainly because of reduced oil production, the state will fail to meet its bills in the 1960-61 biennium by about $63 million.

This amount must be made up before appropriations can be made for the next two years. However, Texas cannot get along the next two years without new additional revenue.

For example, provision must be made for the estimated 80,000 school children to be added to the rolls each year. Population increases will cause most state costs to go up proportionately. The amount of additional expense to take care of these items including education and welfare needs will require raising at least $200 million more.

Thus, about $275 million will be needed to retire the deficit and also take care of the necessary upcoming state needs.

Time for Farmers To Check on Income

It's that time of the year again. And farmers around the Panhandle—along with those all over the nation—are going through their books to let Uncle Sam know how they came out money-wise in 1960. Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office, says that one point farmers may want to keep in mind in figuring their earnings for Social Security purposes is that they may be entitled to an optional method.

1. If gross income from agriculture self-employment is not more than $1,800, the farmer may count as his net farm earnings either his actual net or two-thirds of his farm gross income.

2. If gross farm income is more than $1,800, and net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, the farmer must use the actual amount of his net earnings.

Geldon stated that because of the option available, self-employed farmers with gross income as low as $600 can obtain Social Security credit for 1960—and so build protection for themselves in their old age, or if they become disabled, and protection for their survivors in case of death.

Mrs. Sherman Crockett is still in Highland General Hospital but is getting along very well.
