Conceivably one of the biggest boosts McLean has received in months may be determined Monday when a delegation seeks paving for a highway from McLean to Hedley.

A group will talk to the Texas Highway Commission about the project, and if it is granted, the jump in traffic through the community would be wonderful. The new road should pull all of U. S. 287 traffic heading north toward Pampa, Perryton, Borger, Liberal, Kans., etc., and likewise would be the short route south from this area and north.

It's a prime time of the year to think about and worry about income tax. And during the past week some information came into the office concerning this annual package of woe that furnishes much to think about.

The essential, most astounding fact released is that the government COULD operate WITHOUT any personal income tax whatsoever in carrying out the functions of the government authorized by the constitution.

Our personal income tax does not pay any soldier, sailor or marine. It does not buy any piece of military defense equipment, and does not even pay the salaries of the President, Vice President or any senator, congressman or any other person on a job called for by the constitution.

And so just WHERE does the personal income tax go? It is used to support 700 large government owned corporations that are split in 3,000 companies that compete with every known phase of American enterprise and this is done TAX FREE, RENT FREE, OVERHEAD FREE and on government money loaned at 2% interest. This is the money that the government pays 4 1/2% on to loan out to companies that are competing with private businesses.

Beginning in this week's issue of The McLean News is a series of stories from Joe M. Evans' book called "A Corral Full of Stories."

Evans has been known for several years as a colorful storyteller and writer, although all his books were printed some years past.

The series will run for several weeks, featuring the colorful short quips and stories most cherished by the writer.

FFA BOYS SELL STOCK IN PAMPA TOP O' TEXAS SHOW

All FFA boys received good prices for their stock and top purchasing support from McLean's businessmen in the recent Pampa Top o' Texas Junior Livestock Show and Sale.

Jim Weatherford, FFA instructor, stated that he particularly wanted to express his appreciation for the support given the boys. Without exception, all stock was sold, and at prices equal to the expectations of the young owners.

In the fat calf division, Don Woods and Max Coleman had two animals each. The American National Bank purchased one from each of the boys. Woods' other calf sold to the City of McLean and Coleman's second calf sold to Panhandle Packers.

Tommy Hill of Alamored had one entry in the scramble calf division, which sold to Bob Anders and M. K. Brown of Pampa.

In the fat barrow division, Orphus Tate sold one to Ed Gething, and Jimmy Kingston sold his pig to Brown Drug.

Other buyers of McLean pigs by pens were D. C. Lowary, Boyd Meador, Bill Cash, Ellison Motor Co., Glass & Turner, Mullanax Store, Southwestern Public Service Co. and Charles' Texaco Station.

Instructor Weatherford stated that such outstanding support as this encourages boys to have more animals and will undoubtedly furnish a better showing in the years to come.

Participation by the boys in these activities is carrying out the fundamental principles of vocational agriculture, which has the motto of "Learning to Do; Doing to Learn; Earning to Live and Living to Serve."

On behalf of all the boys, appreciation was expressed for the support given.

The 7th Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo Monday upheld action by the McLean school board in suspending Marsha Andrews a McLean High School student, for driving her car during lunch periods.

In an opinion written by Associate Justice Aitona B. Chapman, the court reversed a 31st District Court decision made in December to enjoin the board from suspending the 17-year-old senior.

The suspension first took place for violation of a rule against driving cars during the lunch period. Following the suspension, Clyde Andrews, father of the student, took the case into district court in Pampa, where Judge Lewis Goodrich granted the permanent injunction.

The appellate court held that both the rule against the driving and the suspension were within the bounds of authority of the school board.

The school board, through its attorney, assured the court that Miss Andrews would be permitted to continue in school and enjoy all rights if she abides by the rule in the future.

The school order in question was that all student cars must be parked on the school parking lot during school hours and must not be driven from the time school starts in the morning until it is dismissed for the day.

In its decision, the court cited Texas law which states that trustees "shall adopt such rules, regulations and by-laws as they may deem proper" and they shall have the exclusive power to manage and govern said schools."

Trustees testified that the rule was issued as a safety measure. Testimony also stated that prior to passage of the rule, 50 to 80 cars a day were driven to school, creating a traffic hazard at the noon hour.

Judge Chapman suggested wording of the rule be changed to prohibit driving during school hours, including the lunch period, seeing that future problems might arise from a similar instance in which a car might be parked away from school.

Changes in Mail Schedule Announced

Effective Monday, March 21, the last mail dispatch of the day will be at 5:30 instead of 5:00 p. m. as in the past, according to Bill Reeves, postmaster.

This will allow an extra 30 minutes for patrons to get their mail in the post office to take advantage of connections to both the east and west.

All outgoing letter mail should be deposited in the post office letter drop until 5:30 p. m., at which time the last dispatch of the day will be locked out. Outgoing mail that is to be mailed after 5:30 p. m. each day should be deposited in the collection box located at the south side of the depot.

Extending the dispatch time 30 minutes and use of the collection box at the depot, for west bound mail, will result in advancing delivery one full day. East bound mail will be advanced by 18 hours.

LETTER COMMENDS SUPPORT GIVEN McLEAN FFA BOYS

In connection with the recent Top o' Texas Livestock Show and Sale in Pampa, the following letter was mailed to Freeman Melton Jr. as president of the McLean Lions Club. The letter commends the club and the businessmen of McLean for the financial support given the entries from McLean.

The merchants of McLean are certainly to be commended for the fine financial support which they gave to your boys during our Top o' Texas Fat Stock Show. This support is evidence that you consider this your show and that is certainly the way we would like for you to feel toward the Top o' Texas Fat Stock Show.

REA's Knitting

Last year, according to a government announcement, the Rural Electrification Administration co-operatives continued their growth pattern by selling 15.5% more electricity than in 1958, and adding 139,000 customers to their rolls.

What makes this significant is how it was done. In the words of the REA administrator, "Rural businesses and suburban developments are on the increase, too. Five out of six consumers added to REA financed lines in the Continental United States during 1959 were non-farm consumers."

Now the REA, it will be remembered, was urged and created years ago in order to bring electric service to farmers in areas which could not be economically served on a straight commercial basis, due to long distances between farms or some other such reason. At that time there were great numbers of these farmers, and the feeling was that it was up to the government to help. No one, so far as the record goes, ever conceived of REA going into non-farm operations.

Today, however, rural America is completely electrified—more than 95% of farms have central station power, or can easily avail themselves of it if they want it. So REA, looking for new worlds to conquer, is moving into commercial fields of service where every power need can be more than met by taxpaying private electric companies.

Moreover, it is doing that at the expense of all taxpayers. REA gets government money at 2%—whereas, currently the government must pay 4% or more to raise that money in the first place. And REA co-ops have various other important tax advantages denied private business.

It's high time Congress told REA to stick to its knitting.

LET'S KILL IT NOW!

(Editorial in Dallas News, February 6, 1960)

Every parent in America ought to sit down this morning and, by wire or letter, beg their Washington representatives in both the House and Senate to kill federal aid to education.

If you want your local schools to remain in the hands of local people whom you know and trust, then let Congress and the President know about it.

The Senate Friday approved $1,833,000,000 for school buildings and teachers' salaries. The bill specifies that control of your public schools shall remain in local hands.

But don't let that promise fool you. Listen, instead, to Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia who warned that "pious words" from federal-aiders will never convince him that federal control will not be coming soon. Byrd has seen all kinds of federal aid become federal control. There is no separating the two. Bless Byrd.

Of all forms of Washington help, this is the most dangerous. If federal money is poured into your school system, then Washington will dictate the terms of acceptance.

There is already a plan to force mixing of the races in any school that accepts this money. There is a plan to force adoption of textbooks, which the federal government says adopt, in any school that accepts this money.

Do you want the control of your children's futures in the hands of federal bureaus, many of them staffed with pro-Communist employees?

Texas will get the biggest share of this $1,833,000,000. Our allotment is 62 million dollars. That's a temptation to every community with a dilapidated school building. It's a temptation to every school teacher trying to live on $350 a month.

Don't fall for it. This is the culmination of a long fight by socialist planners to put control of education into federal hands. Federal aid to education began years ago with school lunches. Little by little that aid has grown. Now we have the ultimate—outright subsidy of teachers and construction.

Oh, yes, Washington "piously" assures, as Senator Byrd says, that you will keep control. But the design is well known. Once the precedent is set for aid, control comes next. You can't stop it then. The time to stop it is now—by wire, by post card, by letter.

We trust and pray that President Eisenhower, should the aid bill pass both houses, will veto it. You, as parents, have time to resist. Resist now, with all your strength.

A Corral Full Of Stories

By Joe Evans

(Editor's Note: The following is the first in a series of articles that will be taken from a book called "A Corral Full Of Stories," by Joe M. Evans of El Paso. For those who have never heard of Joe Evans, he was reared on a ranch in New Mexico. He became well known as a speaker, an evangelist on occasions but mainly as a story teller, and writer of the ranch way of life. Evans has long loved the western life and the cowboys whom he encountered. His way of telling stories is as unique and colorful as even those of J. Frank Dobie, who for years has been a close friend of Evans. The book that the stories will be taken from was printed only in 1941, and copies today are rare.)

THE POWER OF PREACHING

Nineteen hundred years ago, on the first Pentecost after the death, burial and resurrection of Christ the gospel was first proclaimed in its fullness and power. (Acts 2) This was indeed a great occasion for it is stated, "Then they that gladly received the word were baptized: and the same day there were added unto them about three thousand souls." (Acts 2:41)

Today, more than ever, we need to realize the power of the gospel of Christ. It is the truth. (John 8:32) It is the power of God unto salvation. (Rom. 1:16) It is God's power to convict. (Heb. 4:12) It is His power to enlighten. (Matt. 4:16-19) It is His power to restrain us from sin. (Rom. 6:23) And it furnishes us completely unto every good work. (2 Tim. 3:16-17)

Men without the gospel are in the darkness of sin. (Rom. 1:21) They are . . . alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the blindness of their heart: who being past feeling have given themselves over unto lasciviousness, to work all uncleanness with greediness." (Eph. 4:18-19) And they shall spend eternity away from God, in the eternal abiding place of those condemned. (Rev. 20:14-15)

Christ did not come into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world. (John 3:17) He came into a world that was already condemned through sin. It was with the realization of this that the apostles commenced their work of preaching the gospel, during the first century. There is no less a need of preaching the gospel today than there was then, and it has lost none of its power. We preach the gospel today because it is God's means of saving people. (1 Cor. 1:21)

Tax Deductions For Dependents

How to claim tax deductions returns for 1959 was explained by Wiley E. Davis of Internal Revenue Service. Davis reminded taxpayers that the deduction for a dependent is $600 and that there are no additional exemptions for age or blindness in the case of dependents.

"Cancelled checks and receipts supporting tax deductions should be kept at least three years after filing that return," the IRS representative advised.

The first test to be met for the allowance of a dependent is whether the taxpayer supplied more than half of the support of the dependent, unless claimed under the multiple support agreement.

Assuming the taxpayer meets the support test, Mr. Davis said that exemptions are allowed for:

(1) Your children, including stepchildren and those legally adopted, who are under 19 years of age, or if over 19, is a student on a full time basis for at least 5 months of the year, even though the child may have income in excess of $600.

(2) Children over 19 whose gross income is less than $600.

(3) Married children who did not file a joint return with husband or wife.

(4) Other individuals related to you or your wife or husband. (For list, see instructions with Form 1040.)

(5) A person unrelated to you who lived in your home and was a member of your household for the entire taxable year.

An exception to the requirement that a taxpayer meet the support test for the allowance of a dependent is provided by the multiple support agreement. If you are one of a group of persons who contributed more than one-half of the support of an individual you may designate one of the group to claim the dependent if:

(1) Each of the group contributes more than 10% (but not over one-half) of the support of an individual.

(2) The amount contributed by the group is more than one-half of the support.

(3) Each one of the group is otherwise entitled to claim the dependent except for failure to meet the support test.

(4) Each member of the group (except the one claiming the dependent) files a written declaration that he will not claim the dependent in that year.

For example: Two brothers and two sisters each contribute 25% of the support of their father. Neither of the four meets the support test and cannot claim the exemption except under the multiple support agreement. They may decide among themselves which one will claim the dependent. Then, the other three must sign the written declaration to be filed with the return of the brother or sister claiming the dependent, the IRS representative said.

How Was Dr. Spock Reared?

Millions of mothers who have been influenced by Dr. Benjamin Spock's flexible child care methods may be surprised to learn that his upbringing was completely contrary to the theories he advocates today.

A strict upbringing and a mother who exerted "a tight curb rein" is the background of America's foremost baby doctor, the intimate biography of Dr. Spock reveals in the March Ladies' Home Journal. The six Spock children slept on an unheated porch, he remembers, and their education was sometimes Spartan. "My mother had a theory that children shouldn't go to school till they were at least seven," he says. He was tutored at home until third grade. Soon, however, he was yanked from public school, bundled in sheep-lined boots, mittens and sweaters, and sent to a fresh-air school. Classes were held in a tent—even in bitter New England winters. "When numbness set in, the teachers would call for a spirited round of folk dancing," he says.

As a Yale student, Ben Spock worked summers as a counselor at a crippled children's camp. This changed his life. He says, "When I saw the doctors there, and what they did for the children, I wanted to be like them." Until then, he had planned to be an architect.

What kind of a father is he? "My wife thought I was pretty rigid as a new father, but I thought of myself as sort of enlightened from the start," he wryly remarks. The father of two sons who call him Ben—a practice that provokes argument with his friends—Dr. Spock says, "My own children were brought up strictly, in that they are polite and considerate."

And how does he like his new role as grandfather? "I wish I could baby-sit more often," he says.

Evolution of Auto Is Dream Mixture

The greatest puzzle in the automobile industry is how to make a car that will satisfy all of the people involved in its manufacture — and still please the buyer.

"Each group of engineers has strong interests and objectives that are often widely separated," says M. C. Patterson, Dodge general manager. "Each has his own idea of what a car should be, and no two of them are alike. So, the evolution of a new car is bound to involve certain conflicts."

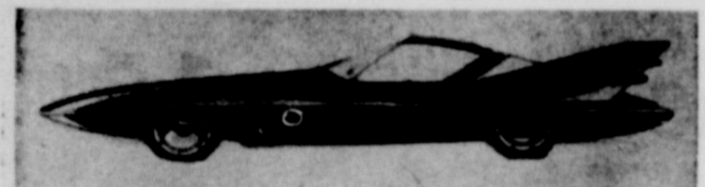

"The fact that new cars do come out year after year is indeed a triumph of knowledge, imagination, creative ability, and most of all, cooperation and team work."

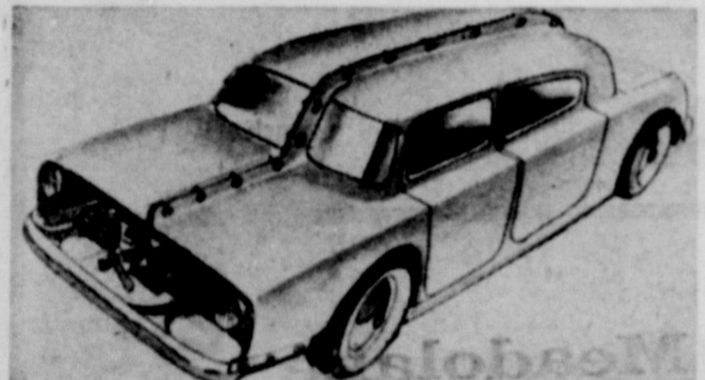

THE SAFETY ENGINEER visualizes the ideal car as a sphere—safe but little room for the engine.

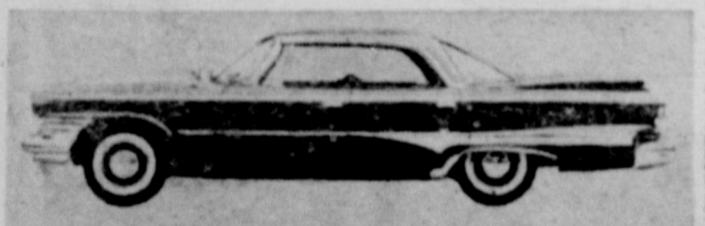

THE PERFORMANCE ENGINEER is chiefly concerned with the engine. He wants everything under the hood except hot and cold running water.

THE STYLIST wants beautiful lines, fine balance, and an eye-catching expression of an artistic theme.

THE BODY ENGINEER'S perfect car is one with no structural problems, no tough curves, no tight places—just a straight-forward design.

MIX THEM ALL together properly and you have what the sales force hopes is indeed a dream car for the average American motorist.

WHAT KIND OF LEADER?

By Jack Riley, Methodist Pastor

"A dispute also arose among them, which of them was to be regarded as the greatest. And he (Jesus) said to them, 'The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and those in authority over them are called benefactors. But not so with you; rather let the greatest among you become the youngest, and the leader as one who serves. For which is the greater, one who sits at table, or one who serves? Is it not the one who sits at table? But I am among you as one who serves. You are those who have continued with me in my trials; as my Father appointed a kingdom for me, so do I appoint you that you may eat and drink at my table in my kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.'" Luke 22:34-30

Herein lies Jesus prescription for greatness.

1. "I am among you as one who serves."
2. "I have prayed for you that your faith may not fail."
3. "When you have turned again . . ."
4. "Strengthen your brethren."

When God gave the privilege of choice . . . He also gave us the freedom to make mistakes. Jesus was thoughtful enough to pray for Peter that his faith might not fail. Even so ought we to pray for each other; strengthening one another!

WHAT KIND OF LEADER ARE YOU? One who serves or one who is being served?

WHAT IS IT ?

by Vant Neff

Is it good . . . or is it bad? Does it do the job . . . or does it fall far short?

We're talking, of course, about the Kennedy-Ervin "Labor Reform" bill that the Senate has just passed and that the House of Representatives is now considering. Senator Kennedy, a well-intentioned, man who sponsored the bill to reform the evils uncovered by the McClellan Committee, calls his draft "a solid, responsible labor-management reform bill."

Some important people, however, are in disagreement with his appraisal.

Senator Hickenlooper says of the bill, "It has a fairly small amount of good in it."

Senator McClellan, who has been knee-deep in the investigations and knows what is necessary, says "very deficient."

Senator Goldwater sums it up with, "A flex bite to a bull elephant!"

President Eisenhower recently stated that the bill was seriously deficient and he expressed dissatisfaction with it.

Even Secretary of Labor Mitchell is unhappy with it.

Here are upstanding, good, reliable leaders of our country. They have all studied the bill — and have taken issue with it. They disagree on its merits.

They are not pleased with it. Yet it has been passed by the Senate.

We all realize that the McClellan Committee uncovered vicious racketeering in unions, crooks who hid behind the Fifth Amendment, amazing stories of union gangsters who will stop at nothing to achieve their goal of unionism at any price! Under this guise, unionism at any price, unscrupulous unionists are building their own evil power, feathering their own nests.

Obviously, there is a need for strong, effective labor reform. The answer, unfortunately, is not the Kennedy-Ervin bill.

There is not one fully effective measure of reform in this bill that actually would put a stop to the evils disclosed by the investigations. Instead, there is a long list of concessions that serve to strengthen unions, not reform them.

There is no provision for the protection of the small business-man who has given his employees every possible benefit, and, based on the whim of some union official, overnight finds himself facing economic ruin from an unfair picket line thrown around his shop.

Unions still are allowed to propagandize without limitation. They can still use union dues to back candidates who will, in turn, back their measures! But what about the small business man? He can hardly do a thing, for in the eyes of union bosses, it will be construed as constituting an "influence" on his employees' right to unionize. According to the new bill, the employer must report any costs, even of activities wholly legal and permissible.

The bill does nothing about such serious evils as secondary boycotts and blackmail picketing. These, they leave for some future bill — someday! — maybe!

We cannot settle for half-way reform. The people need — and demand! — strong legislation. The Senate, we realize, has passed the bill. Now it goes to the House of Representatives — men who are very close to our problems! It is up to the House to see that this bill is revised to provide real protection for workers, employers and the community against union racketeering.

The Senate failed, now we look to the House to do the job.
