MAY DAY IN KIEV: Soviet citizens march, thousands strong, in the May Day parade at Kiev, witnessed by Laura Switzer of McLean and other members of United States basketball teams touring Russia at the time. Miss Switzer said the parade — in which all floats were carried by the vehicles — had a distinctive space-age air about it. A paper rocket ship is visible here.

Trip to Russia Is 'Interesting'

(Laura Switzer, McLean All-American basketball player at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview, has accepted an invitation from The McLean News to write about her recent trip to Russia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Switzer and will begin her junior year next fall at Wayland — where she plays with the Hutcherson Flying Queens.)

By LAURA SWITZER

The most exciting and interesting time in my life occurred on our recent trip to Russia. It was the most unforgettable month I have yet experienced.

While on our trip, I learned many of the customs of the people and got many impressions. I will try to tell you a few of these.

We left New York on April 20. We played eight games with six different teams in four cities. Our first impressions of Moscow were not too good. The people on the streets were not at all friendly and never smiled. I guess they were only trying to figure us out.

They seemed to watch our feet most of all. Later we found out that they were not used to seeing bobby socks, which we wore with our loafers, or pointed toed shoes.

One person told us that our shoes would be worth their weight in gold. They pay about $25 for a decent pair of shoes.

Russia is not modern at all. There were some new apartment buildings but they were the same style as the old ones. On the entire trip we didn't see any personally owned homes. All the people live in very large apartment houses.

We were not able to take pictures in their museums, at the airport or inside their planes. We never did find out for sure why this was so.

Some of the Russian officials in Moscow were anxious for us to enjoy the luxury of their most up to date train. Because of this, we rode all night from Moscow to Leningrad.

In appearance they were much the same as our trains, but they were filled with an offensive odor which was almost unbearable.

The trip was enjoyable enough, except the berths were too short for the boys and some of the taller girls, and were too narrow to roll over without falling out of bed. The aisles were just wide enough to walk through sideways.

You can imagine four boys in one of these compartments, with heights ranging from 6'6" to 6'11" without taking into consideration their luggage.

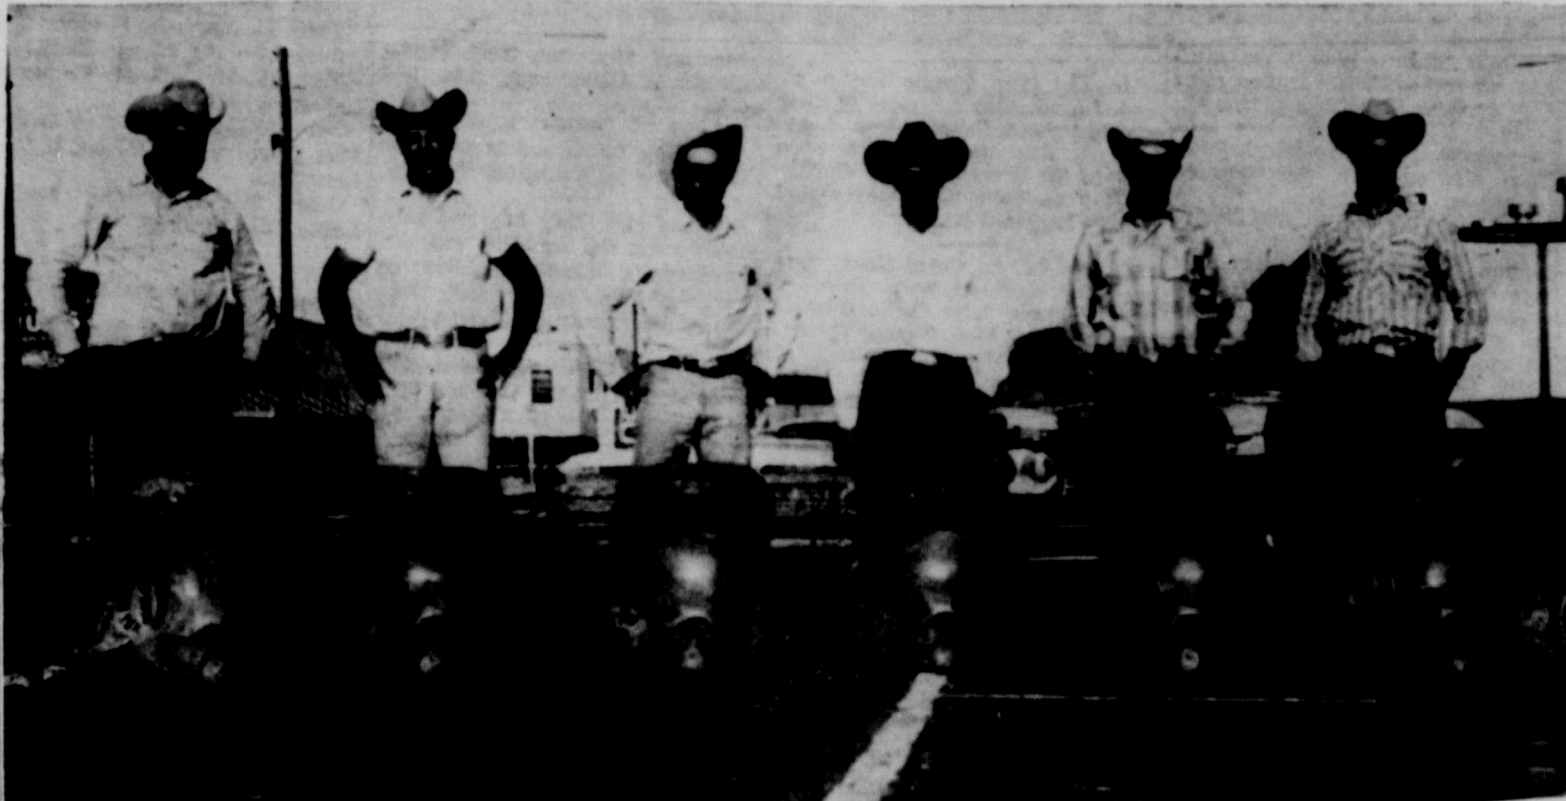

We didn't realize how much trouble it was for them to press our suits until we took them down to a lady and watched her press them with an old fashioned flatiron, heated on a stove. She dampened them by spraying water through her teeth.

Their hotel rooms were not much different from ours here, except we had to have a converter for the electrical outlets and there were not too many outlets.

Room service was very good. To demonstrate this:

One of the boys went into his room one day and caught the maid brushing her teeth with his toothbrush. Another boy caught the maid trying out his umbrella, hat and raincoat. We found we were unable to do much shopping there because of the lack of stores.

Festivities Draw Many to McLean

Rain soaked the arena but failed to dampen the spirits of the crowd and participants here last week at the 52nd annual McLean 66 Roundup, Rodeo and Horse Show festivities.

Several hundred persons turned out for the four rodeo performances, and the crowd would certainly have been much larger but for the downpours which started Thursday night and returned each evening.

More than 170 entries were recorded in the various rodeo events. Performances were held Wednesday night, and most of the show was staged Thursday before rain again came.

A thunderstorm cancelled Friday's rodeo, but the show went on Saturday despite wet grounds. A makeup performance was held Sunday afternoon.

Receiving the specially made saddles for recording the best averages in the various events were:

James Jones, Amarillo, double mugging; Bob Thompson, Paducah, calf roping; Dick Barton, Canadian, bull dogging; Bud Coffee, McLean, saddlebronc riding; John Koonsman, Snover, bull riding, and Slim Berry, Tulia, bareback bronc riding.

Three Saddles Donated
Three of the $225 trophy saddles were donated. The City of McLean and First National Bank of Pampa paid for one each, and the third was given by the American National Bank in McLean and Marie Foundations.

Three placings in the first go-round of the rodeo in each event. In the order of their winnings, were: Bareback bronc riding — Bud Noel, Eddie Stewart, Ed Harlan; bull riding — John Koonsman, Jim

HORSE SHOW BIG SUCCESS

Out-of-state horses took all three grand championships at the third annual Horse Show held here last Friday.

Top stud of the show was Bar Flit, owned by R. L. Bruce of Walsh, Colo. Poco Margaret, owned by H. J. Lee of McAlister, N.M., was the grand champion mare, and Lucky Clegg, whose owner is Glenn Brewer of Elkhart, Kan., was the best gelding entered in the show.

John Strickland of Shamrock showed the reserve champion stud, Poco Merit; R. L. Bruce's Thirsty's Dobbie was reserve champion mare, and Jake Snipes, Clovis, N.M., had the reserve champion gelding, Brandy Slick.

Neville Back, chairman of the event, called the show a "big success" with a large number of entries.

Top Placings

Traffic Tickets To Be Given Offenders

Magistrates' cooperation in making the streets of McLean safer was asked Wednesday by City Manager B. J. McCartney.

McCartney said tickets are now prepared for the city to give traffic law-offenders, including double parkers. Persons charged with a traffic offense will be tried in corporation court before Mayor John Haynes.

Warning tickets are to be issued next week and strict enforcement of "traffic laws" will begin immediately after this period.

Moisture Comes; 6.04 Inches Fall

Thirsty ranch and farm lands around McLean got that badly needed moisture during the past week but, there was more than the earth could soak up.

Thunderstorms started here last Thursday evening and have continued every day since that time, depositing an official 6.04 inches of moisture. More of the same kind of weather was expected here and all across the Panhandle today.

SAM HAYNES LION OF YEAR

Sammy Haynes, outgoing president of the McLean Lions Club, was named Tuesday night as "Lion of the Year" at the organization's annual installation dinner.

Haynes was selected for the honor in secret balloting by club members in March, but his identity was not revealed until the award—a large plaque—was presented at the Ladies Night — installation dinner Tuesday.

Installed as new boss Lion was Jimmy Don Morris. He and the other new officers will officially begin their duties July 1.

Other officers include Jim Hathaway, first vice president; Johnny Haynes, second vice president; Cliff Day, third vice president; Jack Shelton, secretary-treasurer; George M. Orrick and Bill Reeves, directors; Roy Heiss, tallmaster, and Rev. Kenneth McCall, Bontamer.

Severe weather alerts have been sounded for the area every day for the past week, and several tornado funnels have been sighted. No wind damage had been reported through this morning.

The storms struck day and night. Many of the residents of McLean spent part of Wednesday and last Friday evenings in storm cellars, as dangerous-appearing clouds moved across the area.

One funnel cloud was reported (See RAIN, Page 5)

FEED GRAIN PROGRAM

Here are the final figures for you on the feed grain program in Gray County:

50 eligible farms for a feed grain base in Gray County; 329 farmers signed as cooperators; 315 signed to divert the maximum amount. There were 229 appeals. This raised the county base from 28,000 acres to 34,234 acres. A total of 11,882 acres were signed to be diverted.

COTTON PLANTINGS

A few have their cotton up but most have been waiting for that rain that has finally come. D. D. Pennington is about the only one who has his cotton up. He says he doesn't have a good stand on all of it.

SODIUM CHLORATE

Last Wednesday, I met a truck in McLean that had a load of sodium chlorate for the county. This will be used to fight bindweed on the county roadways.

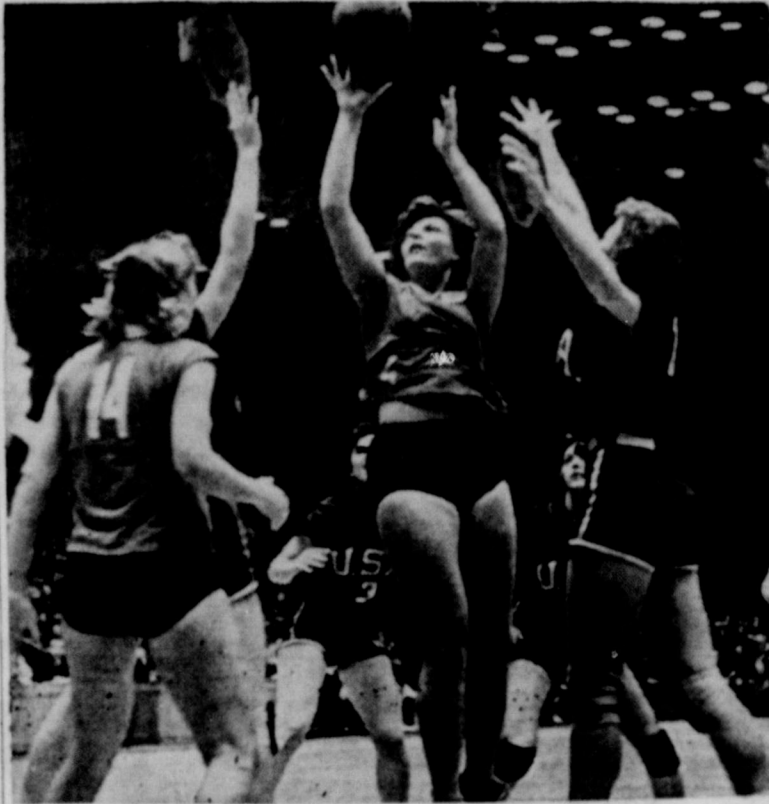

If you have some bindweed along the road near your farm get in touch with County Commissioner Truitt Johnson and I'm sure he will be glad to see that it is taken care of. First thing, though, L would clean up my own field.

CHICKEN BUTTONS

I still say $2 is dirt cheap for a button in lieu of wearing a beard. ALFALFA SPRAY CHEMICAL Rumors got around that the parathion used to kill aphids made it dangerous to handle hay or feed it to livestock. This charge is completely unfounded.

This chemical affects the nervous system and not the skin. A 15-day waiting period after spraying is recommended on the label and most labels are ultra-safe in their recommendations on waiting periods. Any good M.D. will advise you likewise.

BUCKET SEATS ALONE DO NOT A MONZA MAKE

Goat! Little did we know, when we introduced the Corvair Monza last year, that you were starting a Big Thing. We just thought it would be pleasant if you could buy a car that treats you, the driver, like you want to be treated. The bucket seats, of course, are the most obvious evidence of our desire to please you. But they're not the most important thing. No sir. What's really vital is the way a Monza handles—something nobody in the U.S. has yet copied. Or can copy. Because Corvair is the only rear-engined car made in this country, and you know what that means: steering light as thistledown. (You even park this one more easily, it steers so briskly.) Beautifully balanced braking—the car stays level even under panic braking, which we hope you'll never have to do. Traction and more traction, so you don't become a stick-in-the-mud. The kind of cornering that's sheer joy to experience. You get more: a fully independent suspension that blots out road shocks before they can ruffle you. Clean, crisp styling. Thoroughgoing economy, from purchase price to operating cost. You're not going to be satisfied with bucket seats alone, are you?

THEY DIDN'T HAVE MASTER CLEANERS IN 1861...

If you look at old photos taken of people 100 years ago, you'll see their clothes look almost as sloppy as those of the gentleman in this picture. That's because there was no dry cleaning in those days. Today, in 1961, Master Cleaners has developed special scientific methods to properly clean all kinds of fabrics, natural or synthetic. STATE CAPITAL

AND Sidelights

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — (Special) — From now until July 10 will be a period of testing how representative democracy works in Texas.

Legislature is to re-convene July 10 to make a fresh stab at writing a tax bill to raise some $350,000,000 for the next two years. Gov. Price Daniel has urged Texans to give the legislators and him their views on how the matter should be handled.

Gov. Daniel is strongly opposed to the adoption of any sales tax plan designed to raise the major portion of this needed revenue. He used his influence in the regular session to block a move in this direction.

"But," said the governor, "if this is really what a majority of the people want, I don't see how I can go on fighting it."

He believes, however, that a very limited sales tax, which he terms "selective excise taxes," on only more expensive items, with the balance to be raised from gas pipeline taxes and increased interstate corporation franchise taxes, would be more fair and more acceptable to most Texans.

Only bill which came close to passing the Legislature was one which the main money-raising feature was a retail sales tax on items costing 25 cents and more, with food, medicine and farm necessities exempted. It also levied increased gas and corporation franchise taxes. Speaker James Turman cast the critical vote that prevented the bill's being sent to the governor.

Actually, the difference between the governor and those voting for the sales tax "package" is mostly one of degree. Gov. Daniel grants the need for some sales (or excise) taxes, but feels that they should be stringently limited. A majority of the Legislature cast votes indicating they felt Texas has reached the point where only a broad-based "growth" tax, such as the sales tax, can raise enough money to meet the state's increasing needs.

At that late hour, getting broad agreement in the Legislature will be more important than passing a bill that suits the governor. Bills passed by only a simple majority cannot become effective until 90 days after the session ends, but bills passed by a two-thirds majority of both houses can take effect immediately.

That late in the summer, the Legislature will need to get a two-thirds vote for immediate effect so there will be money and authorization to keep the state going after the new fiscal year begins Sept. 1. And a two-thirds majority is also sufficient to override a governor's veto.

OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS — A number of lawmakers had "reported to the people" before the governor made his statewide "report to the people" after the regular session closed. But the governor's message smoothed some fevers.

Many lawmakers expected Daniel to roast the Legislature for its failure to take care of money matters during the 140-day session. They had their hot replies all ready for press release.

Instead, Gov. Daniel adroitly praised the lawmakers as one of the hardest working Legislatures he had ever seen. He even singled out for kind words some leaders who had opposed his program.

It was those infernal lobbyists who were to blame, said the governor. He described hordes of lobbyists, choking the hallways and bothering members while they were in session.

Now it's the lobbyists who are riled. Gov. Daniel has announced that he will name a new citizen's committee to study the state's fiscal problems and make recommendations before the special session begins.

GRAND GESTURE — Before adjourning, the Senate gave approval to a $2,600,000,000 general appropriations bill for the two years beginning Sept. 1.

But without passage of a money-raising bill to back it up, appropriations had no meaning.

Senate adopted the appropriations conference committee report — a plan that called for spending $385,500,000 from general revenue.
