

EVERYBODY
ANYBODY
In Southern Gray County
reads THE McLean News

Swan Song
One small blessing that comes with the sale of the McLean News is the fact that this column is appearing for the final time. At least in McLean.

Among the more spirited comments that have been handed me concerning my weekly column is that at the next paper I should call it by the more apt title of "The Jaundiced View." Another reader suggested that his $3.00 subscription fee would have been better spent in purchasing me a copy of a book called "Inform Yourself On Politics In 30 Easy Lessons."

Another individual suggested that my personality might better be fitted for a post as personal valet to Barry Goldwater or J. Everett Haley.

But it's always good to discern when you're receiving constructive criticism such as the above comments.

However, I will say sincerely that the entire time I have been with the McLean News has been, on the whole, an enjoyable one. I believe McLean is rare in many ways and is unexcelled in offering a good, progressive community in which to live. There is much to be proud of in McLean, and I'm sure the new editor and his family will find the same satisfaction and enjoyment in the future that we have found during the past.

So I will use this final perpetuation on the readers to say that we will regret leaving the many fine individuals that we have known here, as well as leaving an outstanding community.

And to Jack Shelton, the new owner and publisher, we wish all the luck in the world. Come by and meet him, and you'll know, as I do, that you have a top-notch man for a new editor.

When we re-locate, feel free to always stop in and visit us. If I can't afford to buy you a cup of coffee, I'll be glad to enlighten you a few more minutes on the just causes of conservatism and free enterprise, and also give some good reasons why I'm opposed to the REA.

2 CONDUITS WIN COUNCIL'S OKAY

The city commission Tuesday night stamped its approval on the installation of two conduits under SH 273 at McLean's west edge for future water and gas service expansion.

Aldermen gave City Manager B. J. McCartney authority to lay six-inch pipe for the conduits across the highway at both Third and Sixth Streets.

McCartney explained that he felt the conduits should be installed while the State Highway Department is re-constructing portions of the road north from McLean.

The city manager also was instructed to check with the Highway Department about the possibility of pouring concrete curb and gutter on both sides of that portion of the highway inside the city limits.

It was reported that the department had previously agreed to curb and gutter the west side of the highway if the city did the same to the east side in an effort to eliminate a water problem.

The aldermen agreed that development of the area west of SH 273 would bring the city additional water and gas customers if facilities are available.

McCartney also announced at Tuesday's meeting that two new pits—measuring 100 feet by 250 feet—have been dug at the sewage disposal plant.

The action was necessary, he said, because the present pits were not adequate with the steadily increasing amount of water being used.

Mayor John C. Haynes reported that the Rock Island Railroad is not interested in selling land it See "CONDUITS" page 8

SUNDAY BLAZE LEVELS LEFORS CHURCH

LEFORS—(Special)—Fire gutted the Lefors First Baptist Church sanctuary shortly after noon last Sunday, but alert firemen prevented serious damage to other nearby buildings.

An inventory will be necessary before the exact amount of the loss can be estimated. Insurance coverage on the building was $48,000.

Included in the loss were two pianos and an organ.

The Baptist congregation will hold services in the high school auditorium until a new building is constructed, according to Rev. Luther M. Berry, pastor.

Fire Chief John Archer said the blaze apparently started in the baptistry, where a fire had been lit to heat water for a baptismal service that night.

The flames were discovered at about 12:45 p. m. Sunday, and Archer immediately called for assistance from the McLean and Pampa fire departments.

Other Buildings Saved
Firemen finally brought the fire under control at about 2:30 p. m.

The church's brick education building adjoining the sanctuary was damaged slightly by smoke and water. Surrounding houses, including the W. R. Combs home, were sprayed constantly with water to prevent them from igniting.

Three Lefors firemen received injuries while battling the blaze. Ferd Harkcom sustained a hand injury and was treated at a Pampa hospital. Eight stitches were required to close Harkcom's wound.

Jimmy Stanton suffered a hand injury and Buddy Montgomery face and hand burns when gas exploded during the fire.

The Lefors Lions Club directors meeting was held in the form of a breakfast Monday morning, at which time final plans were made to raffle off a 22-inch self-propelled lawn mower at the ball game Tuesday night, Aug. 2.

The next "Ladies Night" event was set as a picnic in the city park, at which the Phil-Originals, a quartet from Borger, will present the program.

Paul Blankenburg reported on the fire school at Collette Station at the evening Lions meeting in the Civic Center at 7:30 on the same day. Also on the program was Ray Chastain, who presented movies of the convention of Lions held in Chicago, which he and Lion Boyd Beck attended.

Thirty-five Lions were present for the evening meeting.

Rev. and Mrs. Edward Donoho of Bethany, Okla., will conduct revival services beginning Sunday at the McLean Church of the Nazarene, Rev. J. L. Mayhall, pastor, announced this week.

INTRODUCING

JAY BOOTHE MOOR MAN FEED

Representative

JAY BOOTHE

Mr. Boothe is the new Moor Man manufacturing company representative for Wheeler, Gray, Carson and Donley Counties, and his office and storage facilities are at Mobeetie. At all times you will find a complete line of the Moor Man feed, minerals, protein blocks and insecticides at your disposal. Mr. Boothe's experience in the agriculture field will also be a big help to the area farmers and ranchers. He is a graduate of Texas Tech and he has taught vocational agriculture in public schools for 13 years and on numerous occasions his students have won top state honors.

THE MOOR MAN CO.

At Moor Man's, we believe the grain and forage produced by American farmers and ranchers is the greatest livestock and poultry feed produced in the world. But, in these wonderful home-grown feeds, there is more meat, milk and eggs than the digestive systems of animals and fowls—unaided—are able to extract. Moor Man's job, therefore, is to supply the tools or keys to help unlock more of the nutritional power in home-grown feeds. Moor Man's Products, Minstrates, and Minerals are those tools. Moor Man Accessories control internal and external parasites so the animals can use those tools more effectively.

Moor Man's Minstrates and Minerals are more than feeds. They are scientific combinations of minerals, vitamins and proteins that livestock and poultry raiseers feed, but which they cannot raise or process on the farm or ranch. It has always been the basic Moor Man philosophy to supply our customers with ONLY feeds they cannot raise or process themselves. These customers are thus able to make better use of their own home-grown feeds in terms of more meat, milk and eggs. This means greater economy of production—maximum profits—our contribution to the American farmer and stockman.

THIS I BELIEVE

The Bible is God's inspired book to guide the souls of men and women from earth to heaven. It is the only infallible and safe guide for any man to follow, and man should accept all that it has to say without addition or subtraction.

In 2 Tim. 3:16-17 the apostle Paul said, "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works."

Men today are not inspired in the same sense that those who wrote the Bible were inspired, else the Bible would not be a complete guide for men today. Those who wrote the Bible, wrote as they were moved by the Holy Spirit. In 2 Peter 1:21 we read, "Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation. For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." During the first century of Christianity it is stated, "According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue;" 2 Peter 1:3. Hence the things contained in the scripture are the things that were taught by he apostles even before they were written down, and it matters not that certain portions of the scripture may have been written after these statements were made. The apostle Paul said unto the elders of the church at Ephesus, "For I have shunned not to declare unto you all the counsel of God." Acts 20:27. Even though that which he had declared unto them was not all written down until later.

In the concluding words of the Bible eternal destruction is pronounced upon anyone who will add to or take away from the words of the book. Rev. 22:18-19.

Editorials

OUR LIFE'S RECORD

The hometown newspaper—like the rising and setting of the sun—is a vital part of our everyday living.

A letter to the editor of the Grundy, Iowa, Register, brings this point home. It said: "You were here over 50 years ago and you will find in the files of your paper a report of my birth. Your paper also had stories when I played football in school, when I graduated and later when I got married. You have reported many anniversaries in our family, the birth of our four children, their activities in school and elsewhere. And in late years you have reported the arrival of our grandchildren. Why, you and your paper have written and printed a life history of our family. And why shouldn't we look upon you and your paper as a member of our family?"

Yes, the local newspaper is the recorder of the life of a community—business, personal, political and national. Being a constant subscriber is a good habit to acquire because the local paper isn't self-perpetuating as is the sun. It needs your support even as the community needs its service.

SHORT END OF THE STICK

The Russian leaders boast endlessly of their nation's material progress—and of their plans to overtake and pass the United States. But this progress, if it exists, certainly isn't filtering down to the Russian masses.

The National Industrial Conference Board has issued a survey showing the worktime the typical worker must put in to buy consumer items in New York and Moscow. Examples: In Moscow it takes an hour and 4 minutes to buy a pound of sugar—in New York 3 minutes. In Moscow it takes 15 hours to buy a man's cotton shirt—in New York 56 minutes. In Moscow it takes 275 hours to buy a man's wool suit—in New York 23 hours.

So it goes, all the way down the list of staple food, clothing and other necessary items. The figures are and the Moscow prices are based on information appearing in the Soviet press.

This casts an interesting light on the Russian methods of production and distribution—as well as the philosophy back of the Russian economic system. Production is not based on consumer wants and demands—it is based on what the dictators decide. Distribution, almost all of which is through state-owned stores, is non-competitive, and the prices along with quantity and quality are established by fiat. The consumer, aside from the small elite group, gets the short end of the stick.

HINGED ON OIL

Many elements, tangible and intangible, enter into our military strength. One of them—and one of the most important—is oil.

Rear Admiral O. P. Lattu emphasized that in a recent speech. The oil requirements of the military are all but unbelievable. A single one of our jet bombers carries a fuel load equivalent to four railroad tank cars. The giant holds of our Forrestal-class aircraft carriers each contain more than 2,000,000 gallons of fuel oil, plus 1,000,000 gallons of aircraft fuel.

These tremendous petroleum consumption rates, said the admiral, who is executive director of the Military Petroleum Supply Agency, "underline the fact that our chances of success or failure in any future war will hinge on oil." He added, "Military commanders may have all the men, planes, ships, tanks and missiles necessary to accomplish their missions, but they will certainly fail if they do not have the petroleum to move and to sustain the attack."

Bigger and better military equipment of all kinds have sharply increased the need for oil. Yet, increasingly the volume of the purchases has been rising faster than the money spent, due to favorable prices. Last year, for instance, the military was able to buy 11.2% more products than in the previous year at an increase of only 1.7% in dollars. That's good news for taxpayers.

Annual School For Firemen Attended By Group From Lefors

P. F. Blankenburg, fire marshal, reports a very successful and informative trip made by himself, D. O. Boyd, assistant chief; Frank Kirk, captain; and Freddie Cullon, drill master, to the 31st annual fireman training school, conducted at Texas A&M College at College Station.

The school, under the auspices of State Firemen and Marshals Association of Texas and the engineering and extension service of A&M College, offered the subjects "basic and advanced firefighting," "basic and advanced fire marshal training," "fireman instruction of officers training," "pump maintenance and operation," "industrial fire protection course," "course for armed service."

The school—attended by firemen from Oklahoma, Arkansas, Colorado, Texas, Mexico, Indiana, Ohio and other states—offered classes daily July 17-22.

The fact that Lefors firemen attend this training school each year is very important to citizens of the community who have fire insurance, in that it reduces the rate in insurance on the whole between four and five thousand dollars.

If you can cast a plug into a tea cup at ten paces or snake out a fly line 160 feet — head for Detroit.

The national casting contest opens in Warren, near Detroit, August 16. The country's top anglers will be showing their form and competing for tackle handling honors in the annual competition held by the National Association of Angling and Casting Clubs. Records are waiting to be broken by the right combination of man and equipment.

The U.S. team to compete in the International casting tournament will be picked from among the winners. Last year's seven man squad set three world's records, and won twelve international championships in Scarborough, England, competing against the best casters from sixteen nations. The 1960 International Competition will be held in Zurich, Switzerland Sept. 5 through 10.

Tournament events include skill, distance and accuracy requiring the use of standard fishing tackle, and unrestricted events which also are a proving ground for tackle improvements.

Earlier local competitions leading to the national, and the national itself, have stimulated such innovations as shooting tapered fly line and fast taper spinning and bait rods proven in practice, and adopted as standard gear.

In 1946, a new bait casting reel called the Ambassador, was developed by the Swedish, for long distance and accuracy casting. All but a few accuracy competitions have since been taken by it. It has also taken record fish.

Casting competition is not divorced from angling. On the contrary, good casters are better than average fishermen. International fishing champion Johnny Dieckman also holds the National Fresh Water Fishing Championship. Casting is an art with an object—more successful, more enjoyable fishing. When long casts are needed to reach into inaccessible pools—the top caster will have the fish. Good tackle and sure casting skill means more time to concentrate on fishing fun.

IF

Here are some Texas "If all the's," wherein the truth is a little bit stretched, perhaps; but after all—that's a Texan's privilege. And it's expected of him anyway.

If all the hogs in Texas were one big hog, he could dig the Panama Canal with three roots and a grunt.

If the cotton crop of Texas were made into one big mattress, all the people of the world could take a siesta on it at the same time.

If all the tomatoes grown in Texas annually were squeezed into tomato juice, it would float the Battleship Texas and leave enough for everybody in North America to drink a toast to Texas' garlic crop, which is no doubt the most powerful grown anywhere.

If all the railroad cattle cars loaded in Texas every year were made into one train, it would be 1,000 miles long.

If all the steers in Texas were one big steer, he could stand with his front feet in the Gulf of Mexico, his hind feet in Hudson Bay and punch a hole in the moon with his horns while he brushed the mist off the Aurora Borealis with his tail.

OSCAR-WINNING
THAN MONEY

"As a child, the lap of luxury and I were complete strangers—but thrifty and I have always been well acquainted," says Shelly Winters, Academy Award Winning Actress. "When I started in show business, I put my first earnings as a bit player into a U.S. Savings Bond. When I got under contract to Universal International I discovered the Payroll Savings Plan. Cash a Bond? Never if I can help it! I think too much of my own peace of mind and my country's economic stability. What's more, Bonds are better than ever today. They mature faster... earn 3 1/2%. Buying U.S. Savings Bonds is a safe, profitable investment for every American."

Guess they call 'em window envelopes because they contain bills that give us a pane.

Don't criticize the work of others unless you want to do the work of others.

There's a lot to hear if we listen,
There's a lot to see if we look,
There's a lot in life that comes gently—

The Creator has so richly blessed us with so many wonderful things for our enjoyment, most of which we miss and pass quickly by because of our busy topsy-turvy world. It does us so much good sometimes to take our time of quietness, whether it be by some creek, in the canyons, or just out walking. In this quiet time we can have a real blessing by adding up the things about us which pass so peacefully through our life.

Take the opening of the rose, no one can hear it, but what a work of God. The growing of the grass and the hiding of the birds. The shadow of the trees, and the stillness of the lake. In the smile there is no sound, but no one can measure its worth. The dawn comes quietly, and the darkness of night settles gently like a mantle. The stars make no sound as they peep from behind the silent clouds, but they can tell us so much.

A warm handclasp from a friend is not a noisy affair but in it we can see the joy of living. The deaf and mute mountains echo back of God's handiwork. The rainbow reminds us of His promise. A beautiful dream gives rise to new hope, while sleep prepares us for new experiences.

In visiting those who are handicapped and because of this spend hours in patient quietness we find that they have seen more of these quiet blessings than we who rush here and there. It proves that we should take time from our busy day to quietly think and most of all to be thankful for all the many quiet blessings.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

INDIAN TREATIES

The U. S. Supreme Court has to apply the "supreme law of the land"—the constitution and the treaties—in disputes before it, which often arise out of headaches of little people.

For example, our treaties with the Indian nations of this country rank with our constitution as the supreme law of the land. The Indians' rights may be set out in some treaty, and will determine whether or not they can be sued, by whom, and before what "for-Example, in January the U.

S. Supreme Court wouldn't let a storekeeper sue in Arizona courts to collect for goods he sold on an Indian reservation.

Under a treaty, the Indians claimed, and the U. S. Supreme Court backed them up, that it was their tribal court, and not the Arizona state court, that could decide such claims.

The U. S. Supreme Court held: Unless Congress gives state courts jurisdiction, they have none over Indians on their reservations. Rather, under the treaty between the Navajos and the United States, the "internal affairs of the Indians remained exclusively within the jurisdiction of whatever tribal government existed."

While Congress favors state control over Indians, the courts noted, the state legislature or the people would have to ask Congress for that jurisdiction.

Regardless of whether the storekeeper was an Indian or not (he wasn't), "he was on the reservation, and the transaction with an Indian took place there," hence no state court had jurisdiction.

Few countries put their treaties on a par with the supreme law of their land. So instead of a "scrap of paper," a U. S. treaty stands high.

COME TO CHURCH FOR

Sunday Services

By Bill Herron

A small boy was helping his father working in the farmhouse one night when the dad said, "Son, run down to the barn and get me some nails." The lad went out on the front porch, looked down toward the barn, where it was quite dark, and came back into the house with the words, "Daddy, I'm scared. It's dark down there."

The father then took a lantern, lit it, and gave it to the boy with the injunction to hurry, since the nails were needed at once. The boy went back out to the porch, and stood, lantern in hand, looking down toward the barn, which was still dark. "Daddy," he called, "it's still dark down there, and I'm afraid."

Coming out on the porch beside his son, the father asked, "Son, didn't Daddy give you a light? All I'm asking you to do is take the lantern and walk as far as the light."

The boy went, and as he went, the light he carried banished the darkness around him, and he was not afraid. This is what God wants us to do—to walk in the light which He gives us and not worry about the darkness beyond. We make ourselves sick, however, by wanting to walk in the darkness of a thousand tomorrows instead of in the light of this present day.

"Take therefore no thought for the morrow: for the morrow shall take thought for the things of itself. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." Matt. 6:34.

Postal Authority Warns of Scheme

Noting that new reports from Chief Postal Inspector David H. Stephens indicate a renewal of chain letter schemes, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield warned this week that those who participate in such activities may be subject to criminal prosecution.

He emphasized also that those putting their money into these schemes seldom get anything, and usually lose out altogether.

Mr. Summerfield explained that the United States courts have ruled that chain letters are both frauds and lotteries.

It makes no difference whether the solicitation is for money, or bonds, or anything else of value. Whether the chain is broken is a matter of chance which makes it a lottery. And, too, whether the participant will get nothing or a small amount, or be lucky and receive a substantial amount depends upon chance.

The scheme is a fraud because the same representations are made to all the participants that they will eventually receive substantial rewards. However, the chain of interested persons soon vanishes and there is no way by which the new participant can determine whether he is on the first round or the last round of the chain letter.

One prominent version of the chain letter idea reportedly being revived, Mr. Summerfield noted, is a scheme in which U. S. saving bonds are used, and in which the "list" is not sent by mail but is exchanged by hand.

This particular version of the chain letter scheme was employed several years ago, and was, at that time, the object of a warning by postal authorities.

Neither the fact that savings bonds are used to give an aura of respectability to the scheme, nor the fact that the lists of the participants are not circulated in the mails alter the illegality of these operations, Mr. Summerfield warned.

All reports of such schemes which come to the attention of the Postal Service will be investigated fully and submitted to the Department of Justice for possible prosecution whenever there appears to have been a violation of fraud and lottery statutes applying to chain-letter operations.

The investment required of an individual in the savings bonds version of the chain letter is two savings bonds—$37.50. The new "member" of these groups (sometimes calling themselves "Savings Bond Clubs") buys two bonds. He gives one to the person who has enrolled him in the "club" and sends the other bond to the name at the top of a list furnished by the enrolling "member."

The new enrollee then makes two copies of the list he has received from the person enrolling him in the "club."

These new copies of the list vary from the original in that—on the new lists—the name of the person to whom the new "member" has just mailed a bond is now placed at the bottom while the name of the new enrollee is now placed on both copies next to the bottom.

The new "member" attempts to sell both of his copies of the list to other persons. Each time he makes a sale he receives a bond from the buyer, and his name is advanced one notch on each of the two new lists prepared by each new buyer.

In this way, the new enrollee is supposed to get his own investment back quickly, and to find his name moving ever upward in a growing number of lists that will get him a harvest of bonds.

"However," Mr. Summerfield explained, "while we in the Postal Service are directly concerned with the illegal aspects of such schemes, we are also anxious to caution people that they may lose their money if they are lured into such schemes."

"Chain letter schemes always turn out so that the few who start them may get back a little more than their investment—at the risk of criminal prosecution—while practically all the others lose their money. Such an outcome is inevitable, inasmuch as the supply of interested persons is soon exhausted."

There are no dinosaurs in Texas, but we do have proof that the prehistoric monsters were here at one time.

Just travel 20 miles west of Cleburne to the town of Glen Rose, and you can see for yourself.

There you will find fossilized dinosaur tracks along the beautiful Paluxy River.

They have a fine specimen on exhibit downtown, too.

You'll enjoy staying in Glen Rose, as it is a well-known vacation resort . . . famous for its mineral water.

OSCAR-WINNING SHELLEY SAVES MORE THAN MONEY

"As a child, the lap of luxury and I were complete strangers—but thrift and I have always been well acquainted," says Shelly Winters, Academy Award Winning Actress. "When I started in show business, I put my first earnings as a bit player into a U.S. Savings Bond. When I got under contract to Universal International I discovered the Payroll Savings Plan. Cash a Bond? Never if I can help it! I think too much of my own peace of mind and my country's economic stability. What's more, Bonds are better than ever today. They mature faster . . . earn 3½%. Buying U.S. Savings Bonds is a safe, profitable investment for every American."
