Just Between Us

This cool weather gives you the feeling that something more than just football is in the air. It means, too, that gathering of this area's cotton crop is just around the corner.

In fact, B. F. Holland, manager of the McLean Gin, was beginning to act like an expectant father early in the week, after hearing that one load of the fluffy white product soon was to arrive for processing.

His excitement resulted from the fact that the gin wasn't fully repaired to begin operating.

Repair crews had been scheduled to get the machinery in shape earlier, but they're late in arriving on the scene. So Holland is waiting—and just a bit impatiently.

Actually, the veteran gin operator doesn't expect the full impact of the harvest to "hit" before late this month. But he'd like to be ready when those loaded trailers start rolling in.

Holland is anticipating a good season, even though hail did wipe out about 200 acres in this area last month. He still expects the local gin to turn out 2,000 bales or more before gathering of the money crop is completed.

We're new to these parts, but if McLean is anything like other towns which depend at least partly on the agricultural dollar, the beginning of the harvest will mean a pleasant shot in the arm for business.

In this day of the space age and emphasis on industries with big payrolls, too often cities and towns forget the importance of agriculture to their livelihood and to their economy.

We were happy to find that the McLean Lions Club recognizes the farmers and ranchers with a special luncheon each year. All of us should make an effort to show our appreciation often to these people who compose the backbone of our nation.

A busy time last week caused us to forget about many things as we rushed to get The McLean News to its readers.

We should have mentioned somewhere on the front page that the Sept. 8 issue of the News carried for the first time The Tiger Post, McLean High School student newspaper.

Mrs. Mary Tom Riley and the Post staff did a fine job preparing.

Temperatures Down After Rain in City

Temperatures were cooler but rising slowly in McLean Wednesday afternoon after a cool front last Thursday brought 1.40 inches of rain as it moved across the area.

Records kept by Pete Fulbright, city employee who acts as the local weather observer, show McLean received .65 inch of rain Thursday and .75 Friday.

The downpours pushed the total precipitation here this year to 21.84 inches, still above the 21.10 to the same date in 1959.

Last week's rain was the first since Aug. 20.

NEW STREET: City Manager B. J. McCartney (right) shows Mayor John Haynes one of the new blocks of streets constructed this year by city employees. This block, between Seventh and Eighth on Main, was one of 8 1/2 completed during the spring and summer. Repairs were made to several other streets, and a seal coat was poured on 17 older blocks. Paving Program Finished

McLean's street-building equipment is taking a much-needed breathing spell after an exhausting summer.

Since the arrival of warm weather last spring city employees have constructed 8 1/2 blocks of brand-new streets and seal-coated 17 blocks of older thoroughfares, in addition to their other chores. Only a "few patches" of repair work remain to be done before cold weather sets in and puts a halt to operations, according to City Manager B. J. McCartney.

Some 6,200 feet of curb and gutter were poured, and the total square yards of pavement is estimated at 12,300.

Total cost for labor and materials was about $25,250. This includes an estimated $21,000 for the new streets and $4,250 for the seal-coating projects.

Thus, McLean, which already was able to point with pride to its unusually large amount of paved streets for a city of this size, can boast even louder.

New paving is located on: Pine, from Fourth to Sixth; Fifth, Walnut to Pine; Main,

Theme of the exhibit is "Adequate Wiring Pays Dividends in Safety, Economics and Efficiency."

School Enrolls 469; Juniors In Front With 50

Enrollment by grades in the McLean school system showed a total of 469 students this week, according to Supt. Lee Welch.

Welch's figures showed the junior class, with a total of 50, as the largest in the school system.

The class is equally split between boys and girls—25 of each. The senior class is the high school's smallest with a total of 26.

There are 45 freshmen and 37 sophomores, making a grand total of 157 high school students, compared with 312 in the grade school.

The sixth grade tops the elementary school with 45 students, but the seventh has just one less.

Other elementary school enrollment figures by grades include:

First, 40; second, 30; third, 39; fourth, 36; fifth, 35; eighth, 43.

Students will have their first holiday of the young school term next Monday. Classes are to be dismissed for the entire day to permit students to attend the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo.

WRECK HURTS 4 NEAR HERE

Four Californians were injured last Wednesday when the 1959 Chevrolet station wagon in which they were riding flipped over 6.3 miles west of McLean on U. S. 66.

The accident resulted after a tire blew out as the vehicle was traveling west.

Highway patrolman R. C. Parker said the station wagon, driven by Shirley Diane Boyd, 16-year-old Lynwood, Calif., girl, turned over in a deep canyon on the north side of the highway after the left rear tire blew out.

The girls' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ingram of 29 Palms, Calif., aged 67 and 66, respectively, and her uncle, Gerald Clark Ingram of Lynwood, were passengers in the badly damaged vehicle.

The girls' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ingram, were transferred to the Groom Hospital, Miss Boyd and her uncle were seriously hurt.

The elderly couple suffered serious cuts, bruises and lacerations. An Erick, Okla., man went to sleep at the wheel last Saturday afternoon and his 1959 Renault turned over on U. S. 66.

Parker said Thaine D. Plunk lost control of the small car 2.8 miles west of Alaneed Saturday afternoon. The vehicle swerved to the left shoulder, knocking down two guard posts, then veered back across the highway, overturning in the roadway.

Plunk was shaken up but not seriously injured. His car was badly damaged.

McLean Will Test Groom Friday

Batting an even 500, Coach Clifford Bradshaw's McLean Tigers face another non-conference football opponent Friday when they travel to Groom.

The game is scheduled for 8 p. m.

Working hard on improving their passing, as well as their running attack, the Tigers have spent long hours at Duncan Field this week after ripping the Wheeler Mustangs, 13-0, in last Friday's first engagement of the season on home grounds.

The locals showed improvement in the bout with Wheeler, but Bradshaw hopes to round them into

School May Acquire Municipal Building

CITY PROPOSES EARLY PAYING OF BOND ISSUE

The board of education this week voted to take action to acquire ownership of the high school gymnasium-municipal building, if financial arrangements can be made.

Acting on a proposal presented by Mayor John C. Haynes, the school board members Monday night decided to write a "letter of intent" to the city stating their desire to help pay off some $47,000 in bonds.

The building, erected under a bond issue voted by the city several years ago, is maintained by the school district.

Could Save Interest

Mayor Haynes told the board of education that more than $8,800 in interest could be saved if the bonds were retired now. He said persons holding the bonds are willing to accept payment, even though they are not subject to call for some 14 years.

It was proposed that, if legal obstacles can be overcome, the $28,000 now in the school's sinking fund and the $10,000 in the city's sinking fund be used to retire part of the bonds.

During their lengthy monthly session, the board of education also voted to purchase new suits for the McLean High School boys and girls basketball teams.

Supt. Welch pointed out that the suits now in use were purchased 11 years ago.

Andrews to Furnish Car

Buck's sporting goods firm in Amarillo was low bidder with an offer of $408 for furnishing 12 boys and 12 girls suits.

Andrews Equipment Co.'s offer to furnish a 1961 Pontiac for use as a driver's education car was accepted by the board.

Andrews agreed to provide a new car each year for $300 per year. The vehicle, due to be delivered in October, also will be used for administrative purposes.

In other action, the board voted to repair leaks in the roof of the school cafeteria and in one window of the gymnasium and to repair the cable on the scoreboard at Duncan Field.

Wichita Preacher to Conduct Services

Rev. Sallie Flippin of Wichita, Kan., will preach at revival services beginning Sunday at the McLean Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The revival will continue through Oct. 2, with services at 7 p. m. each day. The church invited the public to attend.

Rev. Mrs. Flippin is the Women's Auxiliary president in the Kansas Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

'Grading' McLean Project Scheduled

Citizens of McLean will be given an opportunity to "grade" their city government through a unique questionnaire expected to be mailed this weekend.

The form, approved by the city commission and prepared by City Manager B. J. McCartney, is due to go into the mail Friday or Saturday.

"As McLean continues to grow, your city council and city employees wish to grow with it by providing the kind of municipal services desired by the citizens of McLean," an introductory letter with the questionnaire states.

It continues: "The best way this can be done is by having you indicate your opinion of the city services listed below, as well as any suggestions you have for improvements."

First Time for Survey

"To our knowledge this is the first time this city has conducted a survey of all its citizens, and therefore we urge your cooperation in this unique effort to find out what you want for McLean."

Persons filling out the questionnaire were asked not to sign, "because we hope your answers will be frank as possible."

McLeannites were asked to check on the form whether their contact with the various services has been frequent, occasional or not at all, and to grade the quality of the services as either excellent, good, fair, poor or no opinion.

'Most Desirable Feature'

The services include general administration, engineering, police, fire, parks, library, recreation, refuse collection, street maintenance and water, gas, sewer and tax departments.

Other questions:

What do you consider the most desirable feature of living in McLean?

What do you consider the least desirable feature of living in McLean?

Suggestions Requested

What specific suggestions do you have for improving municipal services?

If it were necessary to increase utility rates in order to pay for the improvements you suggest, would you be willing to pay the additional cost?

What is your opinion of the tax rates of Gray County, school districts and city?

Do you believe that the proper development of McLean requires (a) additional commercial facilities, (b) additional residences, (c) additional industrial facilities?

MISS JANIS LADELL DUNNAM IS BRIDE OF WINFRED RAY CATES

Miss Janis Ladell Dunnam became the bride of Winfred Ray Cates with vows repeated Saturday evening, Sept. 3, at 8 o'clock in Lefors Methodist Church, with Rev. Luther Berry, pastor of Lefors Baptist Church, as officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dunnam. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Cates.

Double-ring vows were repeated before an altar flanked with tall baskets of white gladioli, with a background formed with three palms and tapered candelabra holding lighted white tapers.

Miss Sheila Cable, organist, played nuptial airs as the guests were arriving. She played the traditional processional and recessional wedding marches and accompanied Marilyn Tucker of Pampa as she sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest."

"The Lord's Prayer" was played softly as the couple knelt for benediction on the white satin-covered kneeling bench.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was gownned in white alencom lace over taffeta, featuring a low rounded neckline accented with embroidered flowerlets of iridescent sequins.

Long tapering sleeves over the hands were closed with tiny covered buttons. The molded bodice was closed at the back to the waist with tiny covered buttons and was joined to the bouffant, floor-length skirt featuring back and front pleats, with gathers on the sides, and the back fullness flowing into a chapel train.

Her elbow-length veil of tulle was draped from a sequined and seed pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue, with the lucky penny in her shoe.

Miss Kaylene Tilton, Plainview college roommate and sorority sister of the bride, was maid of honor, wearing a ballerina-length dress of pale blue cotton satin with a molded bodice and sabrina neckline, full puffed sleeves accented with bows, joined to a bouffant skirt.

A pink bow headpiece, pink satin shoes and white gloves accented her attire. She carried a cascade arrangement of flowers with a gamelia surrounded by white mums.

Miss June Henderson, Mrs. Virginia Kaykendall, both of Dallas, and Miss Frances Harkcom, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids, and wore costumes identical to that of the maid of honor, only in a slightly darker shade of pink, and carried nosegay arrangements of gamelias and mums.

Candlelighters were Mrs. Mary McKnight, Pampa, and Mrs. Marilyn Ray, Canyon. They wore dresses like the other attendants in a deep pink shade with no headbands.

Scott Dunnam, brother of the bride, was best man. Groomsmen were Donnie Carpenter of Farwell, Jim Pendergrass and David Gantz, both of Pampa. Ushers were Mayo McKnight, Pampa, and Don Ray, Canyon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dunnam chose a pale blue linen sheath dress with three-quarter sleeves, matching accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Cates selected a sheath dress of turquoise embroidered cotton and black accessories, with a corsage of white roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Civic Center. Miss Mary Cole registered the guests. Selections were played softly at the piano by Miss Cable.

The serving table was laid with a pink net cloth over pink linen and was centered with an arrangement of pink and white mums, flanked by lighted pink and white candles in double crystal candle holders.

Table appointments were crystal and sterling silver. Carole Bandy of Lubbock presided at the crystal punch bowl, as Carolyn Jones of Tulsa served the tiered wedding cake.

Others assisting were Mmes. F. M. Harkcom and W. W. Cody. The couple left for a honeymoon trip to points of interest in New Mexico. For travel the bride chose a pink linen sheath with matching jacket, black patent and white accessories, with the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Both attend West Texas State College, where the bride will be a junior speech and English major and the bridegroom will be a senior math major. The bride is affiliated with Zeta Tau Alpha, national social sorority, and the bridegroom is president of Kappa Alpha Order, national social fraternity.

LEE BLANKENBURG RECEIVES RANK OF AN EAGLE SCOUT

The first Eagle Scout rank awarded in Lefors in 10 years went to Lee Blankenburg, 18, Tuesday night in court of honor ceremonies conducted at the scout house by Alex Swenn, institutional director; Walter Elliott, chairman, and Frank Kirk, scoutmaster.

To qualify for this honor, Blankenburg had to earn 21 merit badges, go before the district board of review in Pampa and have five character recommendations.

He graduated from Lefors High School last spring and left last Sunday for Texas Tech, where he will further his education in the field of chemistry.

In the ceremonies, Lee's mother, Mrs. W. J. Foster, pinned the Eagle Scout badge on her son, and he in turn presented his mother with a miniature pin in appreciation of the parent's part in making a good scout.

Other scouts of Troop 19, Adley Walls Council, Santa Fe District, receiving awards were Dickie Sims, second class rank Ray Carter and James Rollins, first class rank and merit badges; David Roberts, star class rank; Gene Gee, Philip Cates and Ronny Ellis, star class rank and merit badges, and Bill Beck, merit badges.

"We need much more support on the part of the committee workers among adults," stated Kirk, "in hopes that citizens in the community will wake up to the realization of the potential we have in Lefors for a strong scout troop, and come to the aid of leaders in this effort."

Mrs. Sadie Matthews came recently to spend a while with her daughter and family, the Carl Walls. Mrs. Matthews is from Monroe, La. In the Wall home over the weekend for a visit was their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wall and Tony of Allen.

Church Of Christ Welcomes You

WHY I GO TO CHURCH

There are many people who honestly believe that they can live just as good a Christian life without going to church as they could if they went. There are a few things overlooked by these people that are essential to being a Christian.

1. I go to church because the best people on earth go to church, Matt. 5:13-16, and I want to associate with them.
2. I go to church because worship to God is commanded, John 4:24, the early disciples continued steadfast in this worship, Acts 2:42, and they met together for such worship, Acts 20:7.
3. I go to church because I need the Bible lessons that are being taught there to help make me a better person.
4. I go to church because God has said not to forsake the assembling of ourselves together, Heb. 10:25.
5. I go to church because Christ has promised to meet with those who assemble in His name, Matt. 18:20.
6. I go to church because it is one place I will never be embarrassed to take my family.

New Headquarters For WHO

Shown above is a sketch of Swiss architect Jean Tschumi's prize-winning design of the World Health Organization's future headquarters building. Tschumi, who is Professor of Architecture at Switzerland's Lausanne Polytechnical School, won out over 14 other famous architects from a dozen countries in an international competition.

His project for the new WHO headquarters calls for a temporary building covering better than 150,000 square feet. Its "curtain" facade is to be composed of glass walls with aluminum "sun-breakers" mounted on a marble-covered reinforced concrete frame. Construction is to begin next year and is expected to be completed before 1965. The building will cost about $10 million.

It will be located in Geneva, where WHO has its present headquarters in the old League of Nations Palais des Nations. WHO is a specialized agency of the United Nations.

The Pan American Sanitary Bureau, operating arm of the Pan American Health Organization and WHO's Regional Office for the Americas, also hopes to begin construction of a new Washington, D.C. headquarters site within the next few years. The Bureau's headquarters operations are now housed in a number of Washington buildings.

Patterson's brother, Joe, has been named manager of the motel.

Carwile lives in Anaheim, Calif., and the Joe Patterson family recently moved to Childress from Orange, Calif., to manage the 40-room modern motel, located east of Childress on Highway 287.

A "boar's nest" was the cowboy's name for a line camp. It got its name because the man who occupied the camp was more interested in his duties as a cowhand than in housekeeping.

The date for the wedding day had been set and all the plans made—except for one important detail. The bridegroom—in the midst of a four-year Navy hitch—was having difficulty securing leave. Finally out of desperation he consulted the chaplain. Forgetting his carefully rehearsed speech, he blurted out, "Sir, my wife will be going on a honeymoon and I'd darn sure like to go along."

He got his extra leave.

Halfback Jim Watson continues to be McLean's only touchdown scorer this season, after tallying both six-pointers in last week's tilt with Wheeler.
Watson also scored the Tiger's lone TD in the Shamrock game.
McLean recovered a Wheeler fumble on the visitors' 35 after a punt to open the first drive goalward.
From the 35, Tommy Herron ripped off yardage to the eight, and James Farris pushed to the three. After two tries, Watson picked up another yard, but Wheeler threw up a brick wall to thwart the drive.
The Mustangs punted weakly to the 12-yard line on third down, and the Tigers came roaring back. Watson plunged to the three then went through the middle for the first score, with a minute and 59 seconds remaining in the opening quarter.
Herron kicked the extra point.
With time running out in the first half and with Wheeler again tightened up deep in the Mustangs' territory, Herron booted a perfect field goal.
But a backfield-in-motion call against the locals kept the three-pointer from counting.
Wheeler came back strong after the halftime rest, but its drive soon played out. After a see-saw third period, the Tigers one more started to roll.
Following a punt, McLean took command on the Wheeler 29-yard line. Watson made it to the 20 and Quarterback Woods clicked off six yards to the 14.
Herron got to the 12 before being stopped, and Watson went to the eight and then to the six for a first down. It took just one more play for Watson to score. The clock showed 4:42 minutes remaining before the end.
Herron's attempt to kick the extra point failed.

CENSUS HELPS PROVE BIRTHS

Last year 10,610 residents of Texas turned to the U. S. Bureau of the Census for help in proving they were born.
These persons were among an estimated 30 million United States residents who are without proof of age or birth. The historical records of the Census Bureau provide the only source of this information for most of these 30 million people.
Proof of age or birth is needed today to collect Social Security and other retirement benefits. It is needed to obtain passports and to qualify for jobs carrying certain age or citizenship requirements.
Persons seeking such records of facts about themselves have been invited to write to the Personal Census Service Branch, Bureau of the Census, Pittsburg, Kan., for a census records search application form.
A fee of $3 is charged for a search of not more than two censuses for one person and for one copy of the information found.
Additional copies cost $1 each. An expedited search costs $4.
The personal information in the records of the 1900 and later censuses is confidential by law and may be furnished only upon the written request of the person to whom it relates, or for a proper purpose, a legal representative such as guardian or administrator of an estate.
Information regarding a child who has not reached legal age may be obtained upon written request of either parent.

Farmer Eligibility Regulations Changed

A farmer who owns a farm that will annually produce at least $400 worth of commodities for sale or home use may now be able to obtain a Farmers Home Administration loan.

That was the word received this week from the FHA office in Clarendon, which announced recent changes in eligibility requirements for farm housing loans.
Previously, according to James Gouddy, FHA supervisor for Gray County, an applicant had to own a farm that would produce a substantial amount of the operator's income.
Farm housing loans made by the FHA are for the construction or repair of needed farm houses or farm service buildings.
Other eligibility requirements remain unchanged. These are that the applicant lacks the resources needed to obtain credit elsewhere, be a citizen of the United States and have sufficient income from the farm or other sources to pay operating and family living expenses and meet payments, when due, on other debts.
Applicants for this type of credit were invited to contact Gouddy at the county FHA office in the Clarendon Agricultural Building or write the FHA, Box 25, in Clarendon.

MEAT PROMOTION WILL BE AIRED AT AMARILLO MEET

A meeting to discuss meat promotion in Texas and the nation will be held in Amarillo Sept. 30, according to J. H. West of Bishop, chairman of the Texas meat industry committee.
West said the session will begin at 10 a. m. and end at 3 p. m. in the YWCA building, 1006 Jackson Street. Jay Taylor is in charge of the program.
West, who also is president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said the Amarillo meeting—and nine other similar sessions across Texas—is being held to stimulate interest in meat promotion and to explain the work being done by the National Livestock and Meat Board in this field.
The state committee was organized last year to advise and assist the national board in promotional activities in the state.
Participating in the area educational meeting will be representatives of the state committee, national board and the Texas Extension Service.
A film, "Meat Cookery," produced and distributed by the NLS MB, will be shown in the morning session, and representatives of the national board are to discuss industry-wide promotional and research activities.
Extension officials will explain the educational and promotional work being done in Texas. Highlighting the afternoon session will be demonstrations on meat selection, cutting, preparation and cookery.
Beef, lamb and ham will be used. The Texas meat industry committee is a state co-ordinating agency for the National Livestock and Meat Board, which was founded some 36 years ago as a non-profit industry service organization.
It is financed by voluntary contributions from livestock growers and feeders and meat packers on the following per-head basis:
Cattle, two cents per head; hogs and calves, two-thirds cent; sheep and lambs, two-fifths cent.

advertising advice

BY A BANKER IN

AMERICAN BANKERS' MAGAZINE

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and address being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, even if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who hides not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising man."

It's the Law in TEXAS

LAW REQUIRES STOP FOR SCHOOL BUSES
Thousands of school children are now trooping back to school throughout Texas. Many of them will be transported by school buses. Most people are careful when approaching a school bus which may be standing beside the road or school to pick up children or allow them to light. However, we have already had some very bad accidents this year because a child or a motorist, or both, were careless at that very time. Most Texans are aware of the law which requires a driver to come to a complete stop when overtaking from the rear a school bus which has stopped to receive or discharge school children. After stopping immediately behind the bus, he is then allowed by law to proceed past same at a speed "which is prudent, not exceeding 10 miles per hour, and with due caution for the safety of such children." What many persons do not realize is that the very same rule applies when MEETING a stopped school bus. While everyone is interested in protecting our children, unthinking violators of this simple safety rule greatly outnumber those who comply. Failure to follow the law in this case can lead to fines up to $200 even when no accident occurs. Following an accident in which some child is injured or killed, the penalties are naturally much more serious. Although the above rule does not always apply when passing a stopped school bus in a business or residential district of a town, the necessity for extreme caution even in those locations is obvious. From Los Angeles Times editorial: "Flagrant bad driving should be recognized as the crime it really is!"

Veterans Information
Q—I'm a Korea veteran and, since my discharge, I have been operating a small business of my own. I am eligible, under the law, for a GI loan. Can I use my GI loan to help me expand my business?
A—Yes. Under the law, you may use a GI business loan either for the purpose of undertaking or expanding a legitimate business venture. You must, of course, find a lender who will make you the loan under GI terms.
Q—This fall I expect to be taking a night course in law under the Korean GI Bill. I will be starting a full four-year course, and at an accredited school, but will only be attending at night. For purposes of my VA training allowance will this be considered full-time or part-time training?
A—Your night school training will be measured as not more than three-quarters time training. It may not be considered as training full time.
Q—A young man of my acquaintance, the child of a World War II friend, now deceased, is eligible for schooling under the War Orphans Education Act. He would, however, need some special program of education because of a disability. Does the law make provision for that type of training?
A—Yes. The law includes special restorative training to help eligible young men and women overcome the effects of disabilities.
Q—We've just had a baby born in our family. I still want my wife to remain as beneficiary on my GI insurance policy, but I'd like to put down my son's name as beneficiary also in case of my wife's death. Can I do that?
A—Yes. Get a change of beneficiary form at any VA office. Fill it out, adding your son's name after your wife's as contingent beneficiary. Send the completed form to the VA district office where you pay your premiums.

ORIGINAL SETTING REBUILT
A full-sized replica of the Alamo and parts of old San Antonio, as they looked in 1836, has been built on a ranch near Bracketville. This Kinney County town is located in southwest Texas, near the Mexican border. Built for the biggest motion picture Hollywood has ever made, "The Alamo," this century-old setting was constructed from plans uncovered in Spain. The finest adobe craftsmen were imported. No false fronts or imitation work was performed. Walls are as much as three feet thick. The setting is now open to the public so that tourists may see the lifelike replica of this historic event. Old Fort Clark has been converted to a guest ranch to house the overflowing tide of visitors. In the cow country where ladies were scarce, the cowboys flocked to dances. Because there usually weren't enough ladies to go around, some of the men were picked to play the part of a female and dance lady fashion. The man so designated wore a handkerchief tied to his arm. This was called a "beifer brand." His reward was being allowed to sit with the ladies between dances.

Is it possible to buy real friendship?
We have poured billions of American dollars into the political rat-holes around the world. If the reports which come back to us are true, few of these people love us for any longer length of time than our remittances keep coming.
Thousands of our fighting men have died on battlefronts the world over and yet those we have helped turn upon us. We have to feed those we fight and whip, and by the same token we usually wind up enemies to those we try to help.

Friendship which anyone can buy is seldom ever worth the try.
We need to find a better way to make friends than by the use of money. We need to spend more time building up confidence in our way of life among the people of the world. If we know of a people in serious need we should find some way to give to them in a way which would seem to come from the individual hearts of one person to another.
If, in receiving our help they have the feeling that we are a superior people they would likely resent it. If our gifts seem to have strings attached then they would surely pull back.
But, if our help though small, in times of great need could carry with it a spirit of genuine love and friendship, then we might not so many times lose both the gift and the receiver.

Is it possible to buy real friendship?

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS

THE DANGER OF RED CHINA Part II: The Leadership, Messiahs and Mania

When China's ruling Manchu Dynasty came crashing down in 1912 under the combined weight of outside interference and internal corruption, more than 40 centuries of civilization accompanied the collapse. China had been time itself—ancient and unchanging since the very dawn of history, a face on the world stage as immobile and impassive as a human Gibraltar. But now, with all the accumulated and irresistible power of an erupting volcano, the heritage of uncounted generations crumbled and fell. Then, after less than 40 years of war, revolution and chaos, Mao Tse-tung marched triumphantly into Peiping to inaugurate what may well be the most horrible yet miraculous era in history. Mao, like his ideological cousin Lenin, had been a revolutionary since childhood, when he raged against his father and teachers. In May of 1921 he attended the first meeting of the Chinese Communist party and received important posts within its schelons. The key to Mao's development came a few years later, when he suddenly realized that "without the poor peasants there will be no revolution." The industrial proletariat, which could be the only base for revolt according to Marxian gospel, simply did not exist in China. Hence Mao began to found his movement upon the peasants, and by 1935 he had claimed Communist leadership for himself despite the opposition of his more orthodox colleagues. The rest of the Chinese leadership, in the 25 years which have elapsed since the Mao takeover, have adopted his outlook. Together they enunciated a philosophy which is highly radical even within the framework of communism, and the program they have sought to carry out during the past decade of Red rule has been the most convulsive on record. At the outset, at least 12 million Chinese were executed in what Mao called the "mass shock." Countless millions more were thrown into prisons and brainwashed. Then came a constant, omnipotent propaganda effort which sought to make it impossible for the people "to lead a normal life again." And in the spring of 1958 the commune movement began, a program which essentially meant herding 650 million people about as so many animals. I will attempt to focus more closely upon the Chinese life itself later, but at the moment I think it is important to examine the Communist leadership and its ideology. The Western mind, and particularly the American, may never really penetrate the Oriental character. The Chinese have devised some of the world's most lovely philosophies and some of its most grisly tortures. They have invented the printing which has spread so many ideas and the gunpowder which has killed so many thinkers. Their millennia of inbreeding has produced, in the broadest sense, some of the most refined and subtle minds the world has ever seen. And throughout the entire fabric runs a thread of incredible and almost dogged patience, a sublime reliance on what I suppose the Western world would call fate. The purpose of the Chinese Communist leadership has always been to forge a strong industrial state with an absolutely regimented people. Most of its rather lofty pronouncements and goals can be reduced to these purposes. "Our present task," says Mao, "is to strengthen the people's state apparatus—meaning principally the people's army, the people's police and the people's court. . . . Given these conditions, China, under the leadership of the working class and the Communist Party, can develop steadily from an agricultural country into an industrial country. . . . As far as the "state apparatus" is concerned, it has been "strengthened" beyond anything the world has ever seen. The worst of Stalin's purges in the 1930s would appear mild in comparison, and the most serious Soviet propaganda efforts are amateurish in the Chinese context. Workers are given political lessons during rest periods, loud speakers blare the party line everywhere and incessantly, posters demand more and still more of the people's efforts. Nothing more complicated than survival of the fittest has furthered the mass conformity, for those who lack enthusiasm are simply exterminated. Like the huge colony of ants which this policy has made them, the Chinese have been ruthlessly driven by their leaders toward a greater economic development. Mao and his lieutenants have had their five-year plans as well as the grandiose "Great Leap Forward."

This latter bit of Communist policy sought to double the production of virtually every major product, and there is little comfort in the fact that the effort ultimately failed. For even the Chinese were not traveling at the speed of light, they were doing so at the speed of sound. The production of grain reached almost 400 million tons in 1958, more than three times the total in 1949, and steel output jumped from less than two million tons in 1952 to more than 10 million in 1958. The leadership has yet to produce anything resembling a threat to the United States so far as sheer economics is concerned, but their policies have developed a rate of growth which in some years has surpassed the Soviet Union's threat three times over. The brand of Communism enunciated by Mao has been intensely practical and utterly brutal. Yet its achievements, purchased through their are at the price of untold suffering, must not be overlooked. Chinese "Communism" is, like the Russian variety, only a veil for dictatorship and hardly resembles the visions of Marx. "We are opposed," says Mao, "to the die-hards in the revolutionary ranks. Their ideas do not advance with the changing objective circumstances. . . . The external world which is to be changed includes the persons who are opposed to that change. To be remolded they will have to go through a stage of compulsion before they enter into a stage of remolding of their own accord. When the whole of mankind of its own accord remolds itself and changes the world, that will be the age of world communism."

That "stage of compulsion," calculated to "remold" two-thirds of a billion people, is well underway in Communist China. It is a process absolutely unknown elsewhere in the civilized world. It has almost seemed to tear each Chinese limb from limb only to reconstruct him in a new image which not only ignores previous human values but also the Supreme values. Intelligence which created those values. Mao and his followers have moved with impatience. Behind all the semi-automatic plugging of Communist slogans, little reliance is placed upon the smiles which fortune is supposedly scheduled to bestow. The truth is that the Chinese Communists are determined to eliminate the slightest intellectual or personal deviations of their people. And in this task they have thus far been eminently successful. The Chinese are overworked and overgoverned. This has been the end result of their leadership and its theories of a perfect society. But it does not necessarily follow that Communist China is merely a vast land packed with dull-minded slaves whose regimentation has destroyed their power or purpose.

This much is clear: A drinking driver's vision is NOT!

Dick Dickinson, Puckett's manager, has something new to boast about.

The walls all around the inside of the store have been painted with scenes relating to the product located in each section of the building.

For example, in the meat section the artist painted a ranch scene showing cattle in the field, a hog in a barn lot, a cowboy roping a calf and a turkey sitting on a fence.

Even the large grill for the air-conditioning system didn't bother the artist, Marvin Norton of Hobbs, N. M. He simply painted a barn around the grill.

That headpiece Bill Reeves wears to the Tiger football games is, according to him, a "lucky cap."

But there's more to it than that. The cap is an antique model made in 1918 and found sometime back in Mertel's store.

W. C. Swafford of Burbank, Calif., sent along a note explaining who he is when he mailed his subscription to the McLean News this week.

"I carried the mail from Northfork (north of McLean) to McLean in 1907 for George Colebank's father," he said. "Moved from Hollis, Okla., to McLean in 1913, lived on James Noel's father's ranch."

In 1918, he said, he "sold out, moved to California." But he comes back for a visit occasionally, the last time being last September.

If you think Texas highways are more crowded than ever, you are right.

On Aug. 31, 1960, Texas licensed automobile drivers totaled 1,523,891, the largest number in history, and about one-half the state's total population.

Still more work is scheduled to be accomplished by the street builders next spring and summer.

To encourage property owners to hard-surface their streets, the city pays one-third of the cost.

EGGS IN YOUR MAIL

A Post Office may seem like an ordinary building to most anyone, and certainly not a tourist attraction. But there is one Post Office in Texas that really is a sight to behold.

It is referred to as "The Federal Building" and is east of Huntsville at Point Blank, in east Texas' San Jacinto County.

Don't expect to be awed by its beauty or immense size, but do be prepared for a little chuckle. After all, what do you expect from a former chicken house?

When you see a wrecked car beside the road, you can be sure someBODY put it there!

Reckless driver: One who passes you on the highway in spite of everything you can do.

SAM SAID IT

Fort Worth is often referred to as "Where the West Begins."

Know where this saying originated?

It started after a meeting held with the Indians by Sam Houston, where Houston promised them everything west of Fort Worth.

Fort Worth is a good place to start, or end, your trip through intriguing west Texas, as interesting in its modern facilities as it is exciting in its history.

The mind is a wonderful thing. It starts working the minute you're born and never stops until you get up to speak in public.—John Mason Brown

If all the automobiles in the United States were placed end-to-end—it would be Sunday afternoon.
