Truck Service Hearing Set For Thursday

City To Have Large Representation At Sweetwater Session

Indications were Wednesday that Big Spring will have a large representation at Sweetwater Thursday for the hearing, before the Texas railroad commission, of the Texas & Pacific Motor Transport company for a coordinated rail-truck service between Abilene and Big Spring.

In a long-awaited decision, the supreme court held that construction of Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals in its TVA project was constitutional and that the government purchase of transmission lines from the Alabama Power company to distribute the energy also was valid.

Loans Attacked

Several cities already have constructed or arranged to construct such plants. Private power companies have attacked validity of these loans and grants in the Hominy, Okla., case, which seems likely to reach the supreme court.

TRENTON, Feb. 19. (AP)—A source who heard the death house interview Sunday between Bruno Hauptmann and Attorney Samuel Leibowitz, today quoted Hauptmann as having said: "Guess my story sounded pretty weak."

Status Of Program

Officials said the ruling placed the power program in this status:

1. Gave new impetus to TVA-like plans for developments from New York to the Pacific northwest, from Maine to California.
2. Validated sale of power and erection of transmission lines from federal dams constructed for national defense or commerce.
3. Had no direct bearing on the administration's 247 non-federal power projects financed by public bonds.

P-T-A Founder's Day Ceremony Is Observed By Junior High With Candles, Cake And Serving Tea

Nominating Committee Is Appointed; Miss Collins' Room Has Most Mothers In Attendance

The time-honored ritual of lighting the birthday cake of the Parent-Teacher association was observed by the Junior High P-T-A. Tuesday afternoon with an attendance of about 50 in spite of the severe cold.

The 30th birthday of the founding of the organization was observed.

As each candle was lighted a member gave a fact about the growth or purpose of the organization. When this ceremony was over the members carried the large birthday cake, bearing its 30 lighted candles, from the junior high building to the high school. There in the home economics room they were served hot tea with slices of the cake. Miss Fredria Atkins and her pupils did the serving.

The program of the meeting was devoted to a talk by City Manager Espino informing the women of the new traffic laws. Two traffic officers were present and were introduced to the group.

D. W. Conley, band director, led the members in a sing-song with Miss Reta Debenport at the piano. Mrs. E. F. Houser gave a piano selection, "To Spring" by Greig.

During the business session, over which Mrs. C. A. Bulot presided, the P-T-A was given a check for $25 for its share of the proceeds from the recent Riegler dance. The members voted to pass the money on to the Band Boosters club. The group also voted to send two dollars to headquarters as a Founder's day offering.

Mrs. C. C. Coffee was presented with her past-president's pin.

Miss Collins' room had the most mothers present. This is the third time that her room has won the attendance prize, which is money. The sum will be invested in a globe.

Appointed on the nominating committee were: George Gentry and Mmes. Bernard Fisher and J. T. Brooks.

Mrs. W. Gottlieb Is Party Hostess

Mrs. William Gottlieb was hostess for a clever little party commemorating Washington's birthday Tuesday afternoon, moving the club up a day.

Two contests were played. Mrs. Jennings won a set of three pictures for winning one and Mrs. Hollings for the other. Mrs. Millon received an apron for her high score at a game called Washington that was based on the old card game of Michigan.

Refreshments carrying on the red, white and blue color scheme in the dollies and the menu were served to the guests at the close of the afternoon. Red and white mints with small hatches were favored.

Mrs. E. Richardson resigned from the club and was presented with a mixing bowl as a mark of regret on the part of the members. Mrs. Steve Rowe was present for the first time as a member.

Others present were: Mmes. J. F. Jennings, Henry Hollinger, L. N. Milton, Louise Voss.

Mrs. Hollinger will entertain the club next week on Friday instead of Wednesday.

Jimmy Doe Celebrates His Tenth Birthday

Jimmy Doe, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doe, celebrated his birthday Tuesday at the home of his parents with a party for 11 of his friends. The house was decorated with flags and with red, white and blue streamers strung from the chandelier.

The guests assembled at the house and played a few games before being served refreshments. These carried out the red, white and blue color scheme of the party. The napkins were shaped like colonial hats and the favors were red, blue and white nut cups filled with red hot candies.

After that Jimmy took his guests to the picture show for the remainder of the afternoon.

The boys were: Glenn Webb, Thomas Castleman, Billy Jack Limroth, H. V. Crocker, Jr., Billy and C. L. Ashby, Jr., "Spooky" Queen, Bobby Doe, V. W. Case, Ual and Ed Winslow.

Mrs. Doe was assisted by her daughter, Justine and by: Mmes. G. H. Walker, K. Cox, and C. L. Ashby.

St. Cecilia's Auxiliary To Give Benefit Party

Members of St. Cecilia's auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal church will be hostesses for a benefit party at the Country Club Friday night at 7:30.

Various games will be played, bridge, 42, and dominoes, according to the preference of the guests. A large group of substantial and attractive prizes have been procured for the players.

C. G. Oldfield, division of aeronautics, department of commerce, was here on business Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crosthwait plan to leave tonight for Dallas to be gone over the week-end.

GOOD GARDENING

6. The Soil Test

It may sound technical, but it's a good idea before planting your spring garden to test the kind of soil you have. If your garden is "acid," celery, cabbage, cucumber, tomato, bean and pea seeds among vegetables and dahila, begonia, gladiolus and zinnia will not thrive in it. For the average garden a soil testing set with a single solution is enough and may be bought from dealers at a small price. Soil steeped in the solution colors and a comparison with an accompanying color chart tells the soil reaction. If the ground needs acid, aluminum sulphate, powdered tannic acid, peat moss or decayed pine or oak sawdust may be used. If it needs neutralizing, apply lime.

Happy Go Luckies Entertained By Mrs. Lee Parker

The Happy Go Lucky bridge club was entertained by Mrs. Lee Parker Tuesday with a George Washington party. This motif was employed in the Mt. Vernon talk and the other party details.

Mrs. Hugh Hendrix received a pitcher as guest prize. Mrs. Jack Nall was also a guest.

Mrs. Graves was awarded a picture of George Washington for floating prize and an ovenware bowl for bridge high. Mrs. Patton's consolation prize was a potted plant.

Cherry tarts were served to two guests and the 100 club members. Mmes. J. igham, G. C. Graves, Ray Patton, J. T. Stewart, Rex Taylor.

Mrs. Patton will entertain next.

Bridge Club Disbands Until After Easter

Members of the Tuesday luncheon bridge club played with a table of extra guests this week when Mrs. M. H. Bennett was hostess. Stocks and gladioli formed an attractive centerpiece for the luncheon table. The party was at the Settles hotel.

Guests were: Mmes. R. F. Harris, Jr., Reuben Parker, H. W. Leeper, C. S. Blomshield and Thomas Wood. Mrs. Blomshield won high and was presented with perfume.

Mrs. Spence scored high for the club. Members attending were: Mmes. J. Y. Robb, M. K. House, Shine Phillips, W. W. Inkman, Tom Helton, E. V. Spence.

The members voted to hold no more club meetings until after the Lenten season. Mrs. House will be hostess then on April 14.

Mrs. Calvin Boykin Petroleum Hostess

Mrs. Calvin Boykin was hostess for the Petroleum bridge club Tuesday afternoon at her apartment with a two-table party at which members only played. Refreshments were served in the coffee shop.

Mrs. Adams Talley made the highest score and Mrs. Goldman second. Others present were: Mmes. Joe Ernest, Sam Goldman, Harry Lester, Noel Lawson, P. H. Liberty, and Fred Read.

Mrs. Roy Combs will entertain next.

Miss Runyan Hostess To Idle Art Members

Miss Imogene Runyan was hostess to the members of the Idle Art bridge club Tuesday evening for a Saint Patrick's party.

Mrs. Sneed was the highest scorer.

Members attending were: Mmes. Fletcher Sneed, who will entertain next, Kelly Burns, Harold Lytle, Robert Riegel, Searcy Whaley, Glenn Queen, Tommy Neel; Misses Vida Robinson, Eleanor Gates, Evelyn Merrill and Emma Louise Freeman.

Two Big Spring Girls Presented To Social Club At Texas Tech

Misses Caroline McCleskey and Alta Mary Stalcup were presented to the Las Chaparritas club of Texas Technological college, Lubbock, Monday evening at the annual Valentine dances given in the ballroom of the Hilton.

Also present for the dances were two Big Spring girls who are new pledges for the spring semester, Alta Taylor and Roberta Lee Hanson.

The group of 13 fall pledges and the two new members were presented with escorts as they appeared from the center of a huge white heart. Background for the ceremony featured three smaller hearts on each side of the large heart. Each of these was edged with white and silver lace work. The Las Chaparritas real was embroidered in red on the large heart, which also was pierced with a silver arrow.

Officers Lead March
Music and introduction were by Ned Bradley and his orchestra. After the presentation, officers of the club and their escorts led a grand march.

Two former Big Spring girls were hostesses among others for the occasion. They were Misses Eva Mae O'Neal and Jane Tinsley.

The presentation was originally scheduled for the evening of Valentine's day—Mmes. N. W. McCleskey, Lee Hanson, Harry Stalcup and Frank McCleskey drove to Lubbock Friday to be present. Upon their arrival they learned that the death of Roscoe Wilson, trustee of the college, had caused a last-moment change in the plans and that the function would be postponed until Monday evening.

Mrs. McCleskey and son, Frank, returned Monday, inasmuch as Frank was to be Caroline's escort. With them on the second trip went Mrs. Lloyd Watson and daughter, Sue Caroline.

Mrs. Wiesen Is Home From Friend's Funeral

Mrs. Max Wiesen returned Wednesday morning from Fort Worth where she had gone to attend the funeral Monday of Mrs. J. W. Pafford, formerly a resident of Big Spring. Mr. Pafford is an engineer on the T and P.

Mrs. Pafford died Sunday. When she lived here she and her family made their home with the Wiesens.

Mrs. Patton will entertain next.

Eight o'Clock Club Enjoys Patriotic Evening At Cards

Mrs. George Crosthwait was hostess to the Eight o'Clock bridge club Tuesday evening for an unusually pretty George Washington party. The patriotic details were carried out in all her appointments and in her refreshments.

Present were: Messrs. and Mmes. Ed Allen, William Dehlinger, Watson Hammond; Mmes. L. R. Terry, J. N. Blue, Frank Rutherford; Houston Sheldon and R. H. Miller. Couple high went to Mrs. Blue and Mr. Sheldon. Mr. Dehlinger won the bingo prize.

The Dehlingers will entertain next week.

Mrs. Schermerhorn On Visit Here For Few Days

Mrs. J. B. Schermerhorn of Minneapolis, Minn., mother of R. F. Schermerhorn, and a friend, Mrs. Willis A. Hawkins of American, Ga., are guests in the R. F. Schermerhorn home. They will be here for several days.

Mrs. Schermerhorn and Mrs. Hawkins are en route to their respective homes from an extended trip in Mexico. They included in their tour of the sub-tropics, Florida and Cuba, stopping over in both places and going from Cuba to Mexico City, where they spent several weeks.

Cactus Members At Mrs. Pendleton's

Mrs. W. W. Pendleton entertained members of the Cactus bridge club with a jolly patriotic party Tuesday afternoon. Small flags decorated the rooms and the prizes were tied with red, white and blue ribbons.

Mrs. Parks received a corsage of violets for high score and Mrs. Burns a corsage of spring flowers for high cut.

Only members were present. They were: Mmes. Clyde Angel, C. L. Browning, Morris Burns, L. R. Kuykendall, R. E. Lee, Harold Parks, C. E. Hahn, Lester Short, M. E. Tatum, Herbert Whitney and Lindsay Marchbanks.

Mrs. Short will entertain next.

O. C. Thrasher Wed To Inell Curtis

Coming as a surprise to their friends, the marriage of Miss Inell Curtis and O. C. Thrasher took place at midnight in the home of J. H. (Dad) Hefley, justice of the peace, has recently been announced.

Mrs. Thrasher is the daughter of L. L. Curtis, employee of the Co-operative Tin & Supply company, and a graduate of the local high school.

The bridegroom finished high school and is now employed by the R. & R. theaters. He is the son of the late Mrs. J. J. Sinclair of Big Spring.

Accompanying the couple were: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lovins, Miss Emma Jo Reddoch and Johnny Ray Dillard.

DIONNE PEBBLES EAGERLY SOUGHT AS LUCK TOKENS

CALLANDER, Ont., Feb. 19 (UP)—Pebbles strewn around the tiny hospital-home of the Dionne quintuplets are being eagerly sought by childless couples from all parts of the world, it is revealed.

Dr. Allan Dufour, the chubby "country doctor" who brought the tiny babies into the world, has received hundreds of requests for the stones from childless couples as lucky charms.

Dr. Dufour said he has been unable to fill the orders because the pebbles are buried deep under the snow, but he will turn pebble searcher next spring.

The idea originated when a group of Hollywood actors, who came here to make a picture based on the life of the quintuplets, took bags of pebbles back to California for their childless friends in the hope that they would bring them luck.

DEGREE STAFF REHEARSAL

All members of the degree staff are requested to meet at the Odd Fellows' hall Thursday night at 7:30 in order to rehearse for the Friday meeting. Visitors from Fort Worth are expected for the session.

GARDEN CLUB NOTES

The cold weather and illness cut down the attendance of the Garden club so severely Tuesday that no meeting was held.

Mrs. George Garrette has returned home from a stay of two weeks in Abilene, visiting relatives.

When we say that a tobacco is good enough for Chesterfield cigarettes, we mean just this—
... TOBACCO that is ripened in the sunshine, then picked, leaf by leaf, when fully ripe.
... TOBACCO that is cured just right by the farmer—flue-cured, air-cured or sun-cured to seal in its good aroma and flavor.
... TOBACCO that is aged and mellowed in hogsheads or bales for two years or more until free from harshness or bite.
That is the kind of tobacco we use for Chesterfields—mild, ripe tobacco, cured just right and aged for flavor and taste.

NEW DEAL WILL BE ABLE TO SHOW TVA TO VOTERS AS ONE OF MAJOR ACHIEVEMENTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. (UP)—Supreme court decision in the Tennessee Valley Authority case indicated the new deal would have two of its four major experiments intact for display to the voters in the presidential campaign.

Assuming that further legal challenges do not invalidate untested portions of the Roosevelt power policy, the president can take TVA and his gold policy on the stump this year. The agricultural adjustment administration and the national industrial recovery act were junked by the supreme court.

The administration suffered other court reverses, but none of the significance attaching to the foregoing. Tests of other laws are to come but on issues less vital than those already decided.

Some uncertainty surrounds the TVA decision, but from it emerged at least two undisputed facts:

1. The federal government is proceeding constitutionally in generating and selling the maximum of electrical power which can be produced at Wilson Dam on the Tennessee river.
2. The justices said they were not deciding constitutionality of TVA.

A Victory

But the TVA decision must be marked as a new deal victory, if for no other reason than that an appellate decision unquestionably would have been a stunning reverse to Mr. Roosevelt.

The decision restricts the republican complaint that the new deal

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Colman—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning! In the Morning! In the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel weak, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

been more nearly a personal rebuke to Mr. Roosevelt than were the shattering opinions rendered against NRA and AAA. The industrial and agricultural phases of Mr. Roosevelt's new deal were conceived in large measure by his brain trust. But the president is his own power expert. He familiarized himself with electrical power problems as a New York governor and legislator. When he came to Washington the TVA plan was full grown in his mind. It was he who proposed it to Sen. George W. Norris as a glamorous alternative to the less extensive Muscle Shoals power development sought by the Nebraska republican.

T. E. Satterwhite A Candidate For Precinct 4 Job

T. E. Satterwhite, for 25 years a resident of Howard county, announced Wednesday he would seek the office of commissioner of precinct No. 4, subject to the action of the democratic primaries.

Most of the time since making his home here, Satterwhite has lived with his family on his farm near Center Point. He is well known to most voters of his precinct.

He said, in announcing his candidacy, that he was a believer in action which he believed his long residence made him thoroughly acquainted with conditions in his precinct, and that such knowledge would enable him to discharge the duties of the office efficiently.

Charles Boyer And Loretta Young In Feature At Lyric

After triumphs in "Private Worlds" and "Break of Hearts," Charles Boyer makes a new bid for film fame in Paramount's "Shanghai" which plays at the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday. Loretta Young is co-starred with him in a picture which tells the story of two who dared hatred and prejudice for love and won.

With the colorful capital of the Orient as a background for the story, Boyer is seen as a mystery man of Shanghai who has climbed to the pinnacle of financial power. But when Miss Young, a young and beautiful American, crosses his path, he realizes that his fight for power has shut off more important things. He wins her love, and prepares a final financial move that will make him master of the Orient; but on the eve of this last coup, he reveals the fact that he is the son of a Manchurian prince—a despised Chinese.

How society reacts to this information, and how Miss Young proves her love are revealed in the picture's dramatic climax.

In the cast are Warner Oland, Fred Keating, Alison Skipworth, and Charles Grapewin.

Feature of the Queen theatre for Wednesday and Thursday is "The Return of Jimmy Valentine," another story of that famous gentleman crook, Roger Pryor and Charlotte Henry have the principal roles.

VALLEY CELEBRATES
Tennesseans Cheer Court Decision On TVA

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 19. (UP)—Two million persons rolicked in carnival over 40,000 square miles of the Tennessee Valley as they celebrated the supreme court's "go ahead" for the government power projects that mean jobs, cheap electricity and prosperity to scores of communities.

Cities and hamlets along the Tennessee river from Paducah to Knoxville, 650 miles of mountain rimmed valley, welcomed the supreme court ruling for TVA with almost hysterical gratitude. Factory whistles blared, men and women cheered before newspaper office, TVA workers in "Godless" Norris, Tenn., held a thanksgiving prayer service, then a community dance.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit

GUS SCHRADER and Lew Brown great dirt track racing drivers, put on a series of exhibitions for the "average" driver yesterday afternoon in a roped-off block just east of the court house.

FAMOUS ATHLETES will tell you that alcohol has had no place in their life. If John Harleywood had been this partner they would not have made good as athletes.

BROWN HAS driven in more than 350 races without an accident.

ONE FAMOUS race driver said he avoided accidents by always driving himself and doing most of the other fellow's thinking.

WE THOUGHT one of the most interesting demonstrations was the test made to determine the danger at various speeds. The average driver speeds along at 40, 50 or maybe 60 mph thinking he can 'stop on a dime' so to speak. But it can't be done. The car used in the test had good brakes. An employe of a local motor company was driving, and the car (at 25 mph) traveled more than 75 feet before the driver could take his foot from the accelerator and start applying the brakes.

THE NATIONAL Collegiate A. A. football rules committee could have pleased your correspondent by making it mandatory to have numerals on both back and front of players' jerseys. They recommended it, but they will be no penalty for not observing it. They have to wear numbers both fore and aft in basketball.

MATTY BELL, ringmaster of the S. M. U. football circus, is one of those fellows who is very glad the slow whistle is out of the rules. Bell is quoted as having said the slow whistle never did anything, but cause confusion in the minds of officials. Bell does not believe elimination of the delayed foot will harm lateral passing as some mentors suggested.

THE RICE Institute Owls, in third place on the Southwest conference basketball percentage chart, have scored more points than any other team in the conference but have had more points scored against them.

WRITES BOB Cooke in the Sweetwater Reporter: "As teams in the new District 3 interscholastic league prepare to begin their spring football training, it appears at this stage of progress that the Athens Eagles hold the No. 1 position. Besides a number of outstanding holdovers, Coach Dewey Mayhew has a pair of youngsters, according to all reports worth about two ordinary players, in Kimbrough and Tidwell. Kimbrough—comes from Haskell, where he was the class in the Haskell Class B district. Tidwell may be remembered by some as the Class B track star who negotiated the century in less than 10 seconds at a track meet here last year. Besides having speed, Tidwell has weight."

CAGE STARS TO AIR HOPES AT DENVER
Talented Field Surveyed By Cornell In Search For New Grid Coach

TEAMS IN LINE FOR OLYMPICS

By LOUDON KELLY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
DENVER, Feb. 19. (UP)—Mile-high Denver may be an embarkation point for Berlin and the Olympic games for a handful of basketball players who are "tops" in their trade.

A stopover in New York for the final Olympic trials in April will be necessary, of course. Teams entering the National A. A. U. tournament here, March 21, will nibble at a double lure—the championship in basketball and the chance to try out for Uncle Sam's Olympic cage team.

The champion and runner-up of the tournament will earn the right to play in the Olympic trials in New York, April 3-6, along with five teams from the National Collegiate A. A. tournament and one quarter from the Y. M. C. A. meet.

Fourteen To Olympics
Not more than eight of the 14 players on the Olympic squad may be selected from the team winning the New York tourney, nor more than five from the runner-up aggregation. One player will be chosen from among the remaining eight outfits.

A. A. U. officials here wonder what effect the various district college and Y. M. C. A. elimination tournaments—with the Olympic tryouts as their goal—will have on the national meet, to be held here for the second year in succession. Willard N. Gretn, Rocky Mountain A. A. U. secretary, said he does not expect quite as many college teams as in former years, and probably none of the top-flight campus quintets of the East and Midwest.

Bus Men Favored
When the talk turns to the Olympic trials in the Western basketball country, the national champion Kansas City bus team claims a large piece of the conversation. "The bus men, then called Southern Kansas Stage Lines, won the A. A. U. title last year and appear to have the man power and rapid-fire scoring ability to give any team in the nation the fight of its life."

Home Team Disappointments
Denver's team has been a disappointment, finding difficulty in keeping its league standing at the 500 mark. This is alarming to the home fans. Last year, Denver's favorite lost only one game prior to the national meet.

PONIES, BEARS MEET TONIGHT

WITH HIS WIFE AS TRAINER, QUARLES SEEKS FISTIC FAME

RICHMOND, Va., Feb. 19. (UP)—The firm of Quarles and Company has returned to the fistic wars. That means that Norman Quarles is on the road to scale the lightweight championship heights—with his attractive wife, Louise, as inspiration and a training companion.

Mrs. Quarles likes nothing better than to jog along mountain roads with Norman or to be of help in the numerous other ways she finds.

Inspired By Dempsey
Norman believes that before long he will be sitting on the lightweight throne and a recent 10-round decision over Freddie Miller, the N. B. A.'s featherweight titlist, was the necessary tonic to spur him on.

The youngster's fistic career has extended over a long trail from the time when, as a lad of 14, he watched Jack Dempsey in training near his North Carolina home. A frail youth then, he decided to be a fighter some day and under the direction of John Loy he became a great college prospect when he entered the University of North Carolina.

He showed promise as a freshman boxer, and as a variety performer he stamped himself as one of the greatest college boxers ever produced. His victories over Bob Goldstein, University of Virginia lightweight, were his most notable achievements.

He Was Too Good!
He won the Southern conference championship two years straight without taking part in the finals. Coaches of rival teams in many cases forfeited rather than send their lightweights into battle against the dynamiting fists of the Tar Heel Terror. Opponents who did climb into the ring with him usually were carried out before the end of the first round.

In his senior year, Quarles quit college boxing and, although retaining his amateur ranking, had an opportunity to fight some first-class scrappers.

Quarles recently was taken over by Chris Dundee, who also handles Ken Overlin, fifth ranking middleweight.

Cats To Sandwich Rookies Among Many Old Veterans

(By United Press)
New faces in the Texas league: Lee Gamble, former Cincinnati player with a reputation for being a fast center fielder, and Ed Greer, recently purchased from Memphis of the Southern association, right handed pitcher. Both are acquisitions of the Fort Worth Cats, who start training March 16, on the home lot. Batteries start training on March 6. The team, as planned this year, will sandwich promising youngsters among veterans. For example, Gamble will play center; Art Weis, a veteran, right field, and Homer Peel, another old-timer, left field.

President Fred Ankenman of the Houston Buffaloes announced to the outright purchase of Leonard Backer, infielder, from Columbus of the American association. The amount of cash involved was not revealed.

Backer was a third sacker with the San Francisco Seals last season and was acquired by Columbus in winter trading which sent Pitcher Phil Collins to the Seals in payment for Backer and Art Garibaldi, second baseman. Backer batted .308 and fielded 339 last season, knocking in 73 runs, fielding 132 games, scoring 123 putouts and 244 assists. He is expected to be a candidate for third base. The Buffs start training in Houston on March 9.

Business Manager Bob Tarleton of the Dallas Steers is recovering from a severe attack of influenza but expects to be out in time to see Skipper Alex Gaston and the team go into uniforms for spring training, starting March 9 at Longview. Tarleton already has received 19 signed contracts and says he expects to get the remaining 10 or 11 within a few days.

Leslie Mallon, second sacker acquired from Boston, and Roy Hansen, south paw pitcher bought from Chattanooga of the Southern association, are among likely new members of the team.

"Old hands" who will be back are Dallas Warren, catcher; Bruce Connater, first baseman; Tony York, shortstop; Jim Stroner, third baseman; Fred Taub, Red Harvel and Jim Moasli, outfielders; Sai Gialito and Al Baker, both right-handed pitchers.

It's a cold day in February to even think about it, but it's true... The Texas A. & M. college swimming team will have a dual tank meet Thursday with the Tulsa (Okla.) Young Men's Christian association team. And fun-filled swim suits won't be provided.

WIMBLEDON IS EASY SELL-OUT

Sam Houston State Teachers college regents at Huntsville soon may cast around for a man to replace Coach J. W. Jones who was reported Tuesday to have resigned after guiding athletics at the school since 1923.

Jones was reported to have accepted a position with the federal housing administration with headquarters in Dallas. He went to Sam Houston from Wichita Falls high school and won the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic association's basketball crown during his first year. His 1935 football team won the T. I. A. Veteran Philly Bowler Sets Envious Record

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19. (UP)—An enviable record has been set by Billy Knox, veteran bowler of Philadelphia. During his 30-year career on the alleys he has scored 25 perfect 300 games.

Knox first achieved fame while bowling in the A. B. C. at Toledo in 1912. He was the first contestant to roll a 300-game in the meet. Later during a game in the Philadelphia Major League he accomplished this feat again.

Calves Have Fine Record

Probably no junior basketball team in West Texas has made a more impressive record than the Calves, coached by Ben Daniels.

The Calves have played over 30 games this season, losing only one. The single loss was to Hiway. Many games were played against older and more experienced players, Daniels said.

The Sportsman

By LARRY BAUER
Fishing is a great sport, probably the most restful and recuperative of all outdoor recreations, but some of us take it too seriously and thereby forfeit much pleasure.

To imitate an insect as closely as possible and float the fake in such a way as to cause a rise and strike is a joy, to be sure, garnished with thrills.

Ah, the dry fly. Yes, that insignificant bit of doped feather has caused more broken friendships, rifts in domestic happiness and general "worry-worry" than all other methods of fishing combined.

When one becomes a crank he just can't relax in the free and easy manner. His mind is full of technical details as he strives for perfection, and he looks with scorn and pity upon those brethren of the rod and reel who sometimes use the lowly "garden hackle" (worm to you).

The dry fly enthusiast is akin to the golf bug. Most of us have had one or more of those lads among our acquaintances, especially in the days sporting ways to take a fish. Some chaps—good fellows, too—will argue the point with friends until they are tired of listening and then harp on the topic around home until the wife threatens divorce.

When one becomes a crank he just can't relax in the free and easy manner. His mind is full of technical details as he strives for perfection, and he looks with scorn and pity upon those brethren of the rod and reel who sometimes use the lowly "garden hackle" (worm to you).

HICKEY KNOWS CAGING GAME

Heads Creighton Toward M. V. Title First Season

OMAHA, Feb. 19. (AP)—Eddie Hickey, the little fellow Creighton university released as football coach, may give the school another Missouri Valley basketball championship in his first year as head of the cage forces.

One of the most likable instructors in the athletic business, Hickey gave up his football coaching when the Bluejay authorities brought in Marchmont Schwartz, former Notre Dame All-American, from the University of Chicago staff.

Hickey, however, stayed on the Creighton payroll as successor to A. A. Schabinger, veteran basketball coach. His team, a typical fast-breaking, accurate-shooting Creighton club, took an early lead in the conference race.

A championship team wouldn't be anything particularly new for Hickey. His Creighton Prep teams, while he coached for seven years after his graduation from the Creighton law school, won the conference title every year.

Hickey's basketball principles are a daring offense and a tight modified-zone defense. He devotes 90 per cent of his practice sessions to offensive strategy.

"Speed is another Hickey axiom. He frequently used a squad of 14 players during a contest to keep the desired tempo.

"Stop Creighton" is the present cry in Valley circles. Creighton students say it'll take a better team than there is in the Valley right now to do it.

Lawson's Golf Chances Talked

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, Feb. 19. (AP)—White now manna the fairways. Scotsmen are debating Lawson Little's chances of setting a new record here next summer.

The "Preado Pounder" from California, rated as the heir apparent to Bobby Jones' "grand slam" throne, could establish a precedent by winning the British amateur crown again, making it the third time in a row.

They call such a feat the "hat trick" here, a phrase borrowed from cricket, which is about the equivalent of a home-run in baseball, or, rather, three homers in succession.

Two other Anglo-American tournaments are scheduled for Scottish links this summer in addition to the British amateur at the Royal and Ancient Golf club.

Devils Report ATHLETIC COMEBACK PROMISED

Womack, Winslow Expected To Be Standouts On 1936 Squad

Devil football candidates will report to Coach Ben Daniels at the high school Monday for the start of spring practice.

Daniels expects Womack and Winslow, both backs, to be the mainstays of his 1936 squad. Both are light-weights. Womack tipping the scales at 100 pounds while Winslow goes three pounds heavier.

Most of the boys who played on the Devil team last season will report for the Steers this year. Daniels said.

The 13 lettermen announced by Daniels yesterday: Tommy Reeves, Chuck Smith, Red Womack, H. S. Burris, Merle Black, Charles Smith, Jim Brigham, Jackson Craig, Raymond Lee Williams, Pierce Humble, Weldon Bigony, "Dopey" Anderson and Dan Greenwood.

Buffs Lose Seven Games

Three Of Seven Losses To The Strong Lamesa Tornados

FORSAN, Feb. 19. (SpI)—The Forasan Buffaloes, who play the Abilene Eagles here tomorrow night in the first game of a series for the District 5 basketball title, have played thirty-six games this season, winning twenty-nine of them.

Three of the seven losses were to the strong Lamesa Tornados. The Buffs have played in five invitational tournaments, winning the Garden City meet. In the other four tournaments, the teams that defeated the Forasan boys, Lamesa, Tuscola, Ropesville and Crews, went on to win the tournament titles.

Coach Nix's boys took a light workout at the Forasan gym yesterday afternoon.

Six-Day Bicycle Race Opens In New York Soon

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. (UP)—The 90th international six-day bicycle race in New York opens at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 23, and contestants have just finished a long training grid.

The average rider starts training for a race at least 30 days in advance, explains Harry Mendel, promoter. The accepted schedule call for early rising and a heavy breakfast. Then the rider dons woollens, a heavy sweater and will do from 30 to 50 miles on the road.

It is rather a hazardous procedure with heavy traffic-clogging highways but the cyclists have become accustomed to dodging and weaving on small board tracks and they do the same with passing automobiles. Riders prefer mountains or hills as the long pulls up-grade build endurance for the six-day grid.

Many of the international competitors in New York races extend their training beyond long bike jaunts. Road work afoot, ranging from a race to five miles daily, is the usual procedure.

Jack Neville, veteran trainer of 10 years experience in this country and Europe, watches over the Madison Square Garden competitors. He is at the track most of the time, but also supervises training before the race.

"You may think," Mandel said, "that six days and six nights of steady travel on a bicycle would require so much energy that a rider would do little or no work shortly before the race. Actually, the cyclist trains just as a fighter would."

"When a cyclist embarks on a week-long whirl of the boards, he finds the first 24 hours are the hardest. Sometimes it takes 48 hours, but after the first two days, the pedal pushers seem to find that the bike practically rides itself. They have grown immune to weariness or sleepiness."

"But the training grind is different. Most riders train in the morning, so that by nightfall, or at least after a good night's sleep, the muscular aches and pains have disappeared and the next morning, it's a matter of rolling out of bed again to court from weariness and new aches. By the time the race itself starts, it's a relief for some of the athletes to start rolling and know they won't have to bother to stop for six days, or at least they won't have to rest up and start over again."

ATHLETIC COMEBACK PROMISED

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. (UP)—Cornell football, which plunged to its lowest depths in gridiron history, will be accorded every opportunity to stage a comeback under the new athletic regime at the Ithaca institution.

One of the first jobs facing the new athletic director, James Lynch, is the selection of a football coach to succeed "Gloomy Gil" Doble.

Applicants for the job are divided into three classifications: 1. Those who are seeking the post. 2. Those Cornell is seeking. 3. Those being pushed by the alumni.

The qualifications of every man in each group will be studied carefully before the final choice is made about March 1. The head coach may not be selected until after spring football, if it is necessary to wait that long to get the right man. There is a strong possibility that Eddie Pierce, successful Ithaca high school coach, will assume charge until fall, and then become head freshman coach.

Salary May Be $16,000
Another possibility is that a Cornell graduate coach may take charge of spring practice until the coach Cornell selects is available.

Among those who have been personally inclined toward the selection of a young coach rather than an old established one, Cornell is sincere in its desire to turn out a winning team again, and will go as high as $16,000 for the man picked. In addition the school will furnish a home for him at Ithaca.

Among those who have been mentioned as Doble's successor are Skip Madigan, St. Mary's coach; Harold (Red) Grange, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears professional team; Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern coach; Don Peden, Ohio University coach; Charles Caldwell, former Princeton star coaching at Williams; Dick Hanley, former Northwestern coach; Clark Shaughnessy, U. of Chicago coach; and Johnny Gorman, Princeton freshman coach.

The powerful alumni of Chicago and the middle-west have been boosting Shaughnessy, who has made a fine record with poor material at Chicago. He formerly was successful at Tuane and Loyola (New Orleans). Gorman, who has made an enviable record with the Princeton freshmen, is the leading choice of eastern alumni.

Grange Has Supporters
For those who want to see a young coach, who will tackle the Cornell job, Red Grange, who many believe knows as much football as any coach in the country because of his long experience in the professional league, is the leading choice.

Instead of one coach having supreme command as did Doble, there will be a great many more assistant coaches under the new regime. The present plan is to have four assistant coaches for the freshman team and six for the varsity.

Although Cornell did not win a game last fall, losing six and tying Columbia, 7-7, prospects are not so dismal for 1936. Last year's freshman team was the finest in Cornell's history.

For resigning while his contract still had two years to run, Doble is understood to have received a $25,000 settlement. He immediately signed at Boston College for a sum, said to be $10,000. Thus in 1936 he will be the highest paid coach in the country, getting about $22,500 from his old job and new one combined.

LOSE ONE OUT OF 100
Jerry Naimy, captain of the Washington State College football team, set a record on the school's rifle range recently when he scored 99 out of a possible 100 from a standing position. His coach, Capt. S. F. Cohn, said probably not 10 men in the United States could score such a high percentage from a standing position.

Broadly, Mr. Roosevelt now has a choice between two courses of political action. He can plunge into a new series of bold experiments on the eve of the reelection campaign, and seek by dramatic attacks on the depression to recapture some of the momentum of his earlier days in the White House. Or he can rest on the record as it stands.

His opening address to the present session, castigating his political enemies and announcing there would be no retreat, was interpreted widely as forecasting another tense period of creative effort at Washington. Eighty or ninety, when he said he would not retreat, many believed this meant he intended to advance.

Subsequent events have led to a reconsideration of that forecast. If administration pressure for early adjournment is taken at its face value, it can mean only that the president is willing to go to the country on the plea that he has done all he could to insure recovery, and is confident his efforts have succeeded.

Few Legislative Requests
To realize the unusual character of the present legislative situation it is necessary only to compare it with what has gone before.

Almost from the first, it has been customary for presidents to lay on the doorstep of congress, even in normal times, long lists of legislative proposals.

It is no tax on the memory to recall how, in each of the earlier Roosevelt congresses, this process was accelerated so greatly that requests for major legislation followed one another in breath-taking procession.

In contrast, it may almost be said that Mr. Roosevelt has asked nothing of the present session. He made one or two very general suggestions in his annual message. He recommended repeal of the cotton, tobacco and potato statutes, after everyone already regarded those statutes as dead letters.

Indirectly, and not officially or formally, he has asked that something be done to replace AAA, but a new farm act was inevitable without his recommendation. He indicated, also indirectly, that a restricted tax bill should be passed to replace the processing tax. His neutrality measure, once regarded as about the only prime administration proposal, appears to have been laid aside without protest.

A Significant Date?
Nothing more is heard of new industrial legislation to replace NIRA, although the president himself mentioned such a prospect several months ago. An early adjournment would mean that no legislative recourse would be at hand should other "new deal" laws now in the courts be invalidated.

For all of this there must be some special reason. It indicates, for the

Men Move Cumberland 'Mountain' To Dam Tiny Clinch River For TVA

Started more than two years ago, the Norris dam is now completed, except for a roadway across the top and the power house. Sluice gates probable will be closed in March and the huge lake which will be made by the tiny Clinch and Powell rivers is expected to be full by June.

NORRIS, Tenn., Feb. 19. (AP)—In slightly more than two years thousands of men, aided by machinery, have moved a rock-formed hillside in the Cumberland mountains of Tennessee, converted it into 2,000,000 tons of concrete and fashioned the $44,000,000 Norris dam across tiny Clinch river.

Started Nov. 7, 1933, the dam is now finished with the exception of a roadway across its top and a power house which will contain two 66,000 horse power generators. Actual generation of power is not scheduled before next August.

An annual 51-inch rainfall that pours off the Clinch and Powell river watersheds in southwest Virginia and east Tennessee will be stored behind the great concrete barrier—1,850 feet long, 233 feet high and 210 feet wide at the base.

Sluice Gates Closed Soon
Sluice gates in the dam will be closed in March and the formation of the lake will begin. It will flood 32,000 acres in the Powell and Clinch river valleys, have a depth of more than 200 feet, and cover tracts that Daniel Boone once grazed.

Norris dam stands in a tough dolomite rock. Before the dam could be built seams in the rock had to be washed out like cavities in a tooth and a mixture of cement forced in under air and water pressure.

Hill Blasted For Rock
From a hillside adjacent to the dam, 2,000,000 tons of the dolomite rock were blasted and crushed for use in the dam. This saved the TVA the cost of building a railroad and buying the aggregate. A total of 1,150,000 barrels of cement were used, being hauled by truck from a railroad siding four miles away.

The number of workers ranged from 800 to 2,000 during construction. Four shifts of 5½ hours were worked daily. Six workers were killed during the construction.

The dam has a gravity section 1,570 feet long, which means the structure depends on its weight and anchorage to hold back the water. There is a wide spillway section—some 300 feet—at the dam's top. Inside are three horizontal tunnels, at different levels, which contain control machinery for the dam and instruments for recording expansion concrete. In these tunnels men will stay day and night to read the instruments and operate machinery.

Many Given Employment
Four miles from the dam, on a wooded hillside of 2,500 acres, the TVA built the "model" town of Norris to house its workers and employes. More than 350 houses, of various sizes and types, were built time being at least, a large-scale change of legislative strategy. The cause may remain hidden for weeks in the political fog, but some politicians think they can guess what it is.

An influential school among Mr. Roosevelt's advisers has been telling him that the depression is over, that the March 15 tax returns will show it, and that it would be political wisdom for him to say so. They have been saying that, such being the case, the country is tired of congress and of new legislation. They have been arguing that this is no time to "rock the boat."

If the president himself is thinking along those lines, and is contemplating any public statement of his thoughts, March 15 may become a significant date. At least it is worth marking on the political calendar.

Black-Draught Relief Is Prompt and Refreshing
It's a good idea that so many people have—to keep Black-Draught handy so they can take a dose for prompt relief at the first sign of constipation.

"I have used Black-Draught a long time, about as long as I can remember, and have a package on my shelf now," writes Mr. Sherman Sneed, of Evansville, Tenn. "I take Black-Draught for constipation which causes headache, a bad tired feeling and for biliousness, bad taste in the mouth and sluggish feeling. Black-Draught, taken about two nights, clears up this trouble and I get all right."

Black-Draught is made of medicinal herbs, dried and finely ground, but no other change in their natural condition. It is a laxative that men and women like so well because of the refreshing relief it brings in constipation troubles.—adv.

and rented for $14.50 to $45 a month. All are electrically equipped. The town has oiled streets, water and sewer systems, a market, school, community building and shops in which workers were taught trades during their life time. The TVA is now trying to develop co-operatives and small industries to sustain the town's population in the future.

Several thousand men, including engineers and title examiners, were given employment by the TVA in preparing the Norris reservoir basin. A heavy forested growth had to be removed from its floor, land had to be acquired from 3,500 farmers and villagers, and about 2,500 graves removed.

Both the dam and town were named in honor of Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska who led a 12-year fight in congress for government development of the Tennessee Valley Authority's water power resources.

$1,000 REWARD FOR KIND DEED 36 YEARS LATE

SUMMERSIDE, P. E. I., Feb. 19. (UP)—Mrs. Reuben Cate, of Summerside, has just received $1,000 as a reward for an act of kindness she showed for the late Grace Fitcher Kelly, 80-year-old eccentric Boston recluse, 36 years ago.

In 1900, Mrs. Cate found Miss Kelly overcome with grief at the grave of her sister in a cemetery here and invited the Boston woman to her home nearby to "rest and have a cup of tea."

Miss Kelly accepted the invitation and said she would never forget the incident.

Recently, 36 years later, when Miss Kelly's will was read, it was found she had bequeathed Mrs. Cate $1,000. Mrs. Cate said she had forgotten the incident long ago.

REACHES AGE 115 Nebraska Was Too Old To Enlist In Civil War

ST. PAUL, Neb., Feb. 19. (UP)—A man who was too old to enlist in the Civil war celebrated his 115th birthday here yesterday.

He is Solomon Riekner. Unlike many others who claim to have passed the century mark, Riekner has his birth certificate to prove he was born near the present site of Pittsburgh, Pa., on Feb. 18, 1821.

He went to Michigan as a youth and joined the '49-ers' in their trek to California in search of gold. Un-

Reduction Shown In Cotton Acreage

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A reduction of 38 per cent in the harvested acreage of cotton in 1934 as compared with 1929 was reported today by the census bureau.

The figures are based on the 1935 federal farm census, the first since 1930.

The acreage decrease was accompanied by a production drop of 35 per cent, but the bureau stressed that the drought of 1934 seriously affected all comparisons with the preceding census. It added: "One of the most significant features of the statistics is the reduction in cotton growth per farm from 21.8 acres to 13.9 acres, coupled with the increase that is found in the yield despite the havoc wrought by the drought west of the Mississippi, shows material gains in yield per acre."

A TOE TOUCH

...and you STOP

OIL-HUSHED to a sigh of silence under Buick's style-tapered bonnet, a great-powered valve-in-head engine waits to unleash a torrent of action at your command.

There's thrill in it—and triumph over time and distance. But more important—there's eyewink obedience.

Teamed up with this ablest of driving forces is the newest and most highly perfected system of hydraulic brakes.

The quickest of stops is velvet smooth under their self-energizing action. On the wettest of streets there will be no slewing, no swerves, for they are automatically self-equalizing.

Their action has the smoothness of a closing hand, increasing its grasp steadily to the maximum. Their steel-toned grip would halt a heavy truck, but it takes only a touch of a daintily-shod toe to put them into action.

We call them "uptoe hydraulics," and how apt the name is you'll never know until you drive a Buick and sample for yourself their softness and their velvet command.

The first few times you sit behind a Buick wheel, you may find yourself traveling faster than you think. No car is more buoyantly smooth in its power-flow, more deceptively effortless in its swift flight.

But no car is more surely under control at all times—quicker, smoother, easier in its stopping. If you must drive with an eye on the passing minutes, do so in a Buick which matches engine eagerness with tip-top braking sureness, offsets high-spot go-ability with dependable stop-ability.

$765 to $1245 are the list prices of the new Buicks at Flint, Mich., subject to change without notice. Standard and special accessories groups on all models at extra cost. All Buick prices include safety glass throughout on standard equipment.

6% New money-saving GMAC time payment plan. Compare Buick's low delivered price and low Monthly Payments.

HERE, IN NON-WARPING, heat-dispelling cast iron drums machined with hair-fine precision into perfect round, the pressure of your foot on the light-acting Buick brake pedal takes hold with multiplied force. Linings are woven—not molded. Fluid tubes are steel, not copper, and are tested to 300 pounds pressure before leaving the factory. The shoe always maintains full contact with the drum, regardless of mileage. There is no loss of effective braking surface due to uneven wear often encountered in hydraulic brakes of the conventional type.

CRIMINAL AND PRISON REFORM

Not the least important among the developments of the Allred administration has been the effort toward improved crime conditions through not only stricter law enforcement, but also through rehabilitation of those convicted of crimes.

In the way of law enforcement, the department of public safety has been set up, and, to this date, apparently is functioning well.

In the way of convict rehabilitation, Governor Allred months ago established the county parole board system whereby a committee of local citizens might serve in an advisory capacity to assist in the cases of persons convicted in their own communities.

And now there is being introduced a system of classification and study of Texas convicts whereby the moral welfare of prison inmates will be given consideration.

Under the new system, convicts will be separated. Incorrigible and first offenders will be segregated. Records of each will be studied; and psychiatric, vocational, medical and aptitude tests will be given.

In other words, the classification and survey method will reveal convicts according to type. Those hardened criminals can be treated as such. Those now paying a debt to society and anxious to become better members of that society when the debt is paid, may be given a chance to accomplish their desires.

Here is a social program that should promote better conditions inside the prison, and be of benefit in determining in what manner the penal system should be applied to different classes of convicts.

The work of prison reform and convict rehabilitation can be made as important in crime prevention as actual arrest and conviction. If the Allred administration succeeds in developing these programs, it will have proved itself one of the most worthy in Texas history.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—A night of stars!

Next to the Fifth avenue promenade, the best place to encounter celebrities is at Billy the Oysterman's, where everyone goes sooner or later.

Billy has been dictating the fashion in foods for more than 50 years, and he knows the stars not only by face but by their tastes as well.

If you have a moment he'll reminisce and tell you what some of them are. Here is Ruby Keeler and she is partial to old-fashioned stews. Grover Whalen wants his oysters fried in butter.

Dwight Fiske will have a beaker of ale with his finnan haddie. Lya de Putti liked grilled tomatoes with a curl of bacon.

John Rutherford wants old-fashioned roast spareribs with chili sauce. Lora Baxter never says no to corn pudding. Irene Delroy never says no to popovers and honey.

Three scoops of ice cream covered with chocolate syrup is Kate Smith's favorite dessert.

Colin Clive will take swordfish steak whenever he can get it. Wallace Beery wants baked trout stuffed with green peppers. Then, too, there's Fay Wray who always asks for apple dumplings.

This is party season in New York and every party has its stars. At Boris Karloff's, for instance, one pauses to chat with Boris Karloff. This fellow is a surprise. Any moment I half expect him to start that Frankenstein business, but he doesn't.

Later, at the Henry Miller, you start through the lobby and pause to speak to Helen Morgan, who is our first lady of the supper clubs. Next comes John Boles, the picture star, who is waging a one-man campaign against that perilous throat-impaling device, the bat-wing collar.

Also, Dean Howard Lee McBain, of Columbia university, it quoted as assailing the president for playing "putrid party politics." But the league says nothing about another statement made by McBain in the same quoted speech, caustically denouncing the supreme court for throwing out new deal legislation.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — History probably will record the munitions investigation, now nearing its last session, as one of the most useful in senate annals.

The first was the appointment of a republican chairman, Senator Gerald Nye—who introduced the munitions resolution—deserved to be chairman, but repeated experience has proved it inadvisable to place a minority member at the head of an important investigating body.

This was the case with the munitions inquiry. From the very start, Democratic leaders balked at giving Nye the funds he asked for.

The other big mistake was Nye's failure to grasp what Jim Reed, acid-tongued one-time senator from Missouri, once expressed to John T. Flynn.

Members of congress returning from their junket to the Philippines were chiefly impressed by the attempts of the large army garrison stationed there to sabotage Philippine independence.

The military, according to visiting congressmen, did everything possible to see that the regime of President Manuel Quezon got off on the wrong foot.

At one reception just before inauguration, Quezon not only mixed freely with the crowd, but stood at the doorway saying good-bye and actually summoned taxicabs for some of his guests.

The next day some of the army officers started a rumor that Quezon was wearing a bullet-proof vest.

So prevalent became this whisper that the senator's Secretary, Bennett Clark started a heated argument about it with army officers attending a luncheon.

"Well, Quezon is one of my oldest friends. He was in congress when I was parliamentarian of the house. And whenever he sees me, he usually puts his arm around me or vice versa."

"It so happens that I've had my arm around Quezon six or seven times in the past week, and I know that if he had a bullet-proof vest on under that silk suit I could feel it."

The climax of the military's sabotage of the Philippine inauguration came during the actual ceremonies.

There was to be a world-wide radio time. President Quezon was to speak first, then Quezon. Nevertheless Dern arrived 15 minutes late.

In addition, the garrison had arranged such a series of salutes that the untitled would have thought Dern, not Quezon, was becoming president. All this took time. Finally Dern spoke for 45 minutes.

This almost exhausted the allotted radio time. President Quezon got only a few brief minutes on the air.

Who's Brain Trust? Consistency, thou art a jewel! Ever since its origin the American Liberty League has heaped scorn and ridicule on new deal brain trusters.

Yet lo and behold, there has just been issued from the busy presses of the league a leaflet quoting an impressive collection of professors AGAINST the administration.

Captioned "The Professor and the New Deal," the document asserts that the professorial minds of the country are against the regime; that the term "brain trust" has misled the nation into believing the administration has a monopoly on academic talent.

Careful scrutiny of the pamphlet discloses, however, that some of the professors most prominently quoted are actually not the foes of the administration they are made to appear, but have merely expressed themselves critically regarding one of its policies.

The league quotes their hostile views only, and says nothing about others they may hold. For example, Professor George F. Warren of Cornell is quoted as panning the AAA and indirectly the NRA. Yet Warren is the author of the Roosevelt gold policy—a policy that is one of the league's chief targets. There is no mention of this fact in the leaflet.

Also, Dean Howard Lee McBain, of Columbia university, it quoted as assailing the president for playing "putrid party politics." But the league says nothing about another statement made by McBain in the same quoted speech, caustically denouncing the supreme court for throwing out new deal legislation.

Tests Reveal Nervous Ills Due To Noise

Buffalo Scientist Finds Low Pitch Upsets Digestion. BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 19. (UP) Noise, such as made by street cars and factory whistles literally upset the nerves, while the roar of an airplane motor contributes to airsickness, warns Dr. L. Grant Hector of the University of Bu. falo.

Breaks Down Noises

In his noise studio, Dr. Hector breaks noises down into their component parts, or frequencies, so as to tell how to go about either eliminating or reducing them.

Motor Noise Muffled

The analyzer has been used extensively in Dr. Hector's work with automobile and airplane mufflers. With the apparatus he has cut down the roar of airplane motors to 10 per cent of their original volume.

Dr. Hector built a cathode ray affair which literally pictures the voice.

The ray involves a bombardment of electrons against a fluorescent screen. Every tone or pitch of the voice is traced in a pattern of greenish light on the screen, to correspond to the shape of the sound waves in the air.

Chapter Nine
FRANKIE

"When you're quite finished expressing your inferiority complex," said Frankie coldly, "perhaps you'll try getting out of the bunker with a niblick instead of a putter."

"Have I—oh, damn!" He replaced the putter in his bag and took out the niblick. Frankie watched with malicious satisfaction as he backed at the ball five times in succession. Clouds of sand rose round them.

"Your hole," said Bobby, picking up the ball.

"I think it is," said Frankie. "And that gives me the match."

"Shall we play the bye?"

"No, I don't think so. I've got a lot to do."

"Of course, I suppose you have." They walked together in silence to the clubhouse.

"Well," said Frankie, holding out her hand. "Good-bye, my dear. It's been too marvellous to have you here. See something of you again, perhaps, when I've nothing better to do."

"Look here, Frankie—"

"Perhaps you'll condescend to come to my coaster party. I believe you can get pearl buttons quite cheaply at Woolworth's."

"Frankie—"

His words were drowned in the noise of the Bentley's engine which Frankie had just started. She drove away with an airy wave of her hand.

"Damn!" said Bobby in a heart-felt tone.

Frankie, he considered, had behaved outrageously. Perhaps he hadn't put things very tactfully, but damn it, she had had a right to be true enough. Perhaps, though, he shouldn't have put it into words. The next three days seemed interminably long. The Vicar had a sore throat which necessitated his speaking in a whisper when he spoke at all. He spoke very little and was obviously hearing his fourth son's presence as a Christian should.

Once or twice he quoted Shakespeare on how sharper than a serpent's tooth, etc.

On Saturday Bobby felt that he could bear the strain of home life no longer. He got Mrs. Roberts, who with her husband ran the Vicarage, to give him a packet of sandwiches, and supplementing this with a bottle of beer which he brought in Marcholt he set off for a solitary picnic.

He had missed Frankie abominably these last few days. These older people were the limit. They harped on things so.

Bobby stretched himself out on a bracken bank and debated with himself whether he should eat his lunch first and go to sleep afterwards, or sleep first and eat afterwards. While he was cogitating the matter was settled for him by his falling asleep without noticing it.

When he awoke it was half-past three. Bobby grinned as he thought how his father would disapprove of this way of spending a day. A good walk across country—twelve miles or so—that was the kind of thing that a healthy young man should do. It led inevitably to that famous remark, "And now, I think, I've earned my lunch."

"Idiotic," thought Bobby. "Why earn lunch by doing a lot of walking you don't particularly want to do? What's the merit in it? If you enjoy it, then it's pure self-indulgence, and if you don't enjoy it you're a fool to do it."

Whereupon he fell to upon his unearned lunch and ate it with gusto. With a sigh of satisfaction he opened the bottle of beer. Unusually bitter beer, but decidedly refreshing.

He lay back again, having tossed the empty beer-bottle into a clump of heather.

He felt rather god-like lounging there. The world was at his feet. A phrase. But a good phrase. He could do anything—anything if he tried! Plans of great splendor and daring initiative flashed through his mind.

Then he grew sleepy again. Lethargy stole over him.

He slept.

Heavy, numbing sleep.

Driving her large green Bentley, Frankie drew up to the curb outside a large old-fashioned house over the doorway of which was inscribed "St. Asaph's."

Frankie jumped out and, turning, extracted a large bunch of lilies. Then she rang the bell. A woman in nurse's dress answered the door.

"Can I see Mr. Jones?" inquired Frankie.

The nurse's eyes took in the Bentley, the lilies and Frankie with intense interest.

"What name shall I say?"

"Lady Frances Derwent."

SOUTHWEST IS USING PLOWS AND PLANES IN WAR AGAINST RECURRENT DUST STORMS

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—The "dust bowl" of the southwest is carrying on a widespread offensive against the dirt blizzards that threaten to reappear with spring winds.

Major weapons being used include earthwork dams in canyons and arroyos; crooked furrows to hold back the washes in plowed fields; grass to tie down the earth with its roots; and an airplane with its camera eye to spot the source of trouble.

Here in New Mexico a great aerial survey is being made. Pilot Fritz Secor (who gained 18 pounds as he swept the skies around 20,000-foot altitudes breathing through an oxygen tube) has made photographs that together would form a mosaic of an area of about 25,000 miles—equal to the combined areas of Delaware, Connecticut, Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

These pictures were taken for engineers, who, with a modern version of grandmother's stereoscope, can read the story of centuries of wind-and-wash erosion on cliffs, gullies and dunes.

Thus they know where to put check dams and diversion dams in rain-washed canyons; plant grasses and other vegetation on eroded slopes. The engineers here have some 38,000,000 acres in photograph. Each picture covers about 12,500 acres.

Nature Helps

Many farmers are now literally trying to farm their way out of the dust. At Amarillo, Tex., is a control area of the soil conservation service. There are fourteen demonstration projects being established in eroded sections of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado. Through the 86,000 square-mile area these projects cover 375,000 acres.

Nature lent an encouraging hand this winter. Soaking fall rains and winter snows have benefited most portions of the "dust bowl."

H. R. Fennell, regional conservator in charge of the five-state program, predicts this year's dusts will be less dense than those of 1935 which swept over the entire Middle West and, in a few instances, on to the eastern seaboard.

Preliminary surveys showed 1,200,000 acres have been destroyed by erosion; 6,800,000 acres severely damaged, and 13,000,000 acres moderately damaged in Texas alone.

The federal government has more than 2,000 employees working directly on dust control in the southwest, including WPA workers and CCC recruits. There are 128 supervisors and technicians and 43 in the regional staff at Amarillo.

Farmers, determined to make the land bloom again, are giving cooperation. Millions of acres of soil have been anchored by cover crops. Grasses are guarded against over-grazing. The "straight furrows" no longer the plowman's pride—they are curved, and sometimes the land is terraced to hold back rains and snows. This practice usually

What new farm methods, supervised by the U. S. Soil Conservation service, are doing to rehabilitate lands covered by sand during the dust storms of the last two years is illustrated by these pictures. Above is a field of sand hummocks near Dalhart, Texas, in November, 1934, and below the same field a year later, sown in milo maize as protection against wind erosion.

Senate Race Due By Gore And Marland

New Deal Governor Tries To Knit Political Factions

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 19. (UP)—Ernest Whitworth Marland, one-time oil multi-millionaire and Oklahoma's new deal governor, today apparently is heading for a race for the United States senate.

For weeks Marland has been the center of this state's turbulent political speculations. All signs point to an announcement soon that he will oppose the veteran spellbinder, Sen. T. P. Gore.

The majority of politicians and a great bloc of voters take it for granted the Marland is an active, if unswayed candidate.

The governor has refused to make any direct statements, but has hinted that he will soon toss his hat in the arena.

Tries To Placate Factions

He has worked for several months to solidify his political following, to placate former opponents, to win both business and the more liberal groups.

He supported the popular $30-a-month old age pension, homestead tax exemption, and announced that he intended to bring out a new, ultra-liberal legislative program similar to the one scuttled by his first legislature.

Recently Marland has been conferring frequently with his advisers, all young men, on political plans. His legislative program, interpreted by some as putting legislators "on the spot" in the campaign next July, also is expected to be his senate campaign platform.

Tyro In Politics

When he went into office a year ago, Marland, unschooled in politics, lashed out boldly in his public means 10 per cent more labor, time and gasoline, but also about 30 per cent more production, says the soil conservation service.

Convicts In Death Row Get Radio, Send Thanks To Prison Manager

AUSTIN, Feb. 19. (UP)—Shut out from other contacts in the death house at Huntsville penitentiary while they await execution, prisoners now keep in touch with work affairs by radio.

What it means to the condemned men is expressed by three men now in the death house and Raul Galvan, commuted to life imprisonment Thursday, a day before his scheduled execution.

In a letter dated from "death row" to O. J. S. Ellingson, prison manager, the four wrote: Mr. Ellingson, Gen. Mgr. T.P.S. Dear Sir:

We have just received a new radio in here and, realizing that you are to blame for this unexpected kindness, we are all joined in sending you our sincere appreciation. More words will not express our feelings, sir, we begin to realize that, at last, there is a penitentiary at the head of this institution. You have done considerable toward alleviating an almost unbearable situation, and the brightening of these, our last days to live.

We hope that we may always respect you, sir, for your good principles instead of your title, and, for that reason, may we always remain,

Most respectfully yours,

Demos Omit Names Of Officials From Campaign Group

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. (UP)—Absence of the name of Gov. James V. Allred of Texas from the Texas state campaign committee was explained today as consistent with the policy of not appointing any state or federal officials to the committee.

Rep. Sam Rayburn, D. Tex., who announced the names of 300 members of the committee appointed by Vice President John N. Garner in his capacity as vice-chairman of the democratic national committee, said all former governors of Texas were included.

TVA Ruling

works loans and grants to political subdivisions. Fifty-two of the developments, including Nebraska's proposed $56,000,000 "State TVA," have been attacked in separate suits by utility companies.

Largest of the developments similar to TVA was the plan submitted for the whole Mississippi valley by Sen. George W. Norris, Nebraska, father of the original TVA.

A series of dams extending from Pittsburgh on the east to the middle west would be constructed, he said, on the Mississippi and its tributaries. Congress made money available for flood control, irrigation, navigation and power. The cost would run into billions. Norris said the court's decision should provide a favorable reaction to his Mississippi Authority bill. "I intend to ask that hearings be started soon," he said. "I think we have a good chance now of getting this bill through."

Other TVA's have been proposed for:
New York to consolidate all the state's power facilities; the St. Lawrence waterway; a Maine authority around Passamaquoddy; the Ohio river valley; Wabash Valley Authority on the Wabash and White rivers; the upper Mississippi; the upper Missouri.

A dam on the Tennessee above Paducah, Ky.; White River Authority in Arkansas and Missouri; Southern Nevada Authority utilizing Boulder Dam power; Oklahoma Grand Valley; Central Valley in California; Pacific Northwest unification of Bonneville and Grand Coulee Dams on Columbia River in Oregon and Washington.

President Roosevelt has held up congressional consideration of all the plans until the administration could evaluate the results of its TVA experiment. Although the supreme court passed only on the power-selling and transmission line erection at Wilson Dam and did not decide constitutionality of its "social objectives," the decision was interpreted by new dealers as giving new impetus to the other TVA proposals.

held by the commission. At the suggestion of the chairman that remarks be brief "before we all get pneumonia," there was little discussion. Most fields and pools stood on former records.

The California company announced plans to drill more wells in the World field. Crockett county, and asked that allowable production be increased.

Livingston asked for an increase from 2,566 barrels to 4,000. Sam Fryor operators joined in a request to be allowed enough production to fill contracts with the Valley Pipe Line company for export oil.

Ward, Ector Requests Nomination of 5,000 barrels a day above the present 10,000 production in South Ward was announced by the California company in a request for an increase sufficient to fill nominations.

North Ward field asked restoration of a former reduction, Gulf Production company announcing that the increase was needed for a Sweetwater refinery. The field formerly was reduced from 7,600 to 6,150 barrels a day. It had purchasers' nominations for 12,500.

A total of 5,101 barrels a day was asked for Cowden pool, Ector county, which now has 3,720 barrels daily allowable. McClintic pool asked an increase of 425 barrels a day. Fuhrman pool, Andrews county, asked an increase of 150 barrels.

The Penn well pool asked that when bottom hole pressures again are read in the field that all wells be included.

A postponed hearing on allocation of production in the Yates pool was reset for Feb. 26 at Austin.

Meeting Is Called On Writers' Work

Advisory committee of the federal writers' project of this WFA district will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday from the chamber of commerce office, it was announced today.

Miss Laura V. Hammer, area supervisor, will attend the meeting to explain the details of the plan to provide material from this section for the state guidebook.

RFC To Purchase Mortgages From Housing Agency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, has announced that an agreement has been reached with the RFC Mortgage company by which the latter will furnish the facilities of a mortgage discount bank for the purpose of purchasing mortgages given for new construction and insured by the federal housing administration.

"The effect of this agreement is tantamount to the establishment of a national mortgage association of a mortgage discount bank for mortgages on new home construction," McDonald said.

"Another effect of this agreement," he said, "is to accelerate the rate of new residential construction, which had already acquired considerable momentum during the last five months of 1935. In fact, December showed the biggest rate of residential construction during the same month since 1930. The influence that the Federal Housing Administration has had upon the new residential building can be measured by the fact that it is estimated 37 per cent of the urban one and two family residences during the latter part of 1935 were constructed under the Federal Housing Administration plan."

"There are some 10,000 lending institutions, constituting practically the entire banking resources of the nation, qualified for operation through the Federal Housing Administration, and this enormous reservoir of capital becomes readily available for residential building purposes now that discount facilities are available through the arrangement entered into between the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Federal Housing Administration."

BABY IS 'BORN BY TELEPHONE'

QUICK RECOVERY

Articles Reported Soon After Theft Discovered

Miss Allyn Bunker Wednesday had good reason to believe she was the luckiest person in Big Spring. When she opened her garage doors to start to work, she discovered a rear wheel and the gasoline supply had been stolen.

Immediately she notified Sheriff Jess Slaughter. By mere coincidence Bill Todd, who lives one block from Miss Bunker, had just called the sheriff that he had found a wheel and several gallons of gasoline near his place.

FOR ROOSEVELT

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 19. (UP)—Frank F. Merriam, California's republican governor, believes President Roosevelt is a "man raised up by Almighty God to meet the country's present crisis."

"History will show that providence raised the proper man to meet present emergencies and will demonstrate, I think, that the man who now holds the presidency was just the one to meet the situation," Merriam said. His remarks were made at the Westminster Presbyterian church during a celebration commemorating the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln.

FIVE FIREMEN ARE KILLED IN BLAZE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 19. (AP)—Five firemen were killed, one was missing, and at least 11 were injured today in a fire that destroyed the Old Fellows temple here.

A falling wall crushed to death Captains Otto Ignatz and Robert Welch and Firemen Herbert Harrington and Oliver Metzger. Lieut. Harry McFadden died later in a hospital.

Spinal Meningitis Still Is Menacing Oklahoma Areas; Schools Closed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 19. (UP)—Spinal meningitis continued to be a menace to health at a number of scattered points in Oklahoma today as several schools were closed and meetings barred in an effort to prevent spread of the disease.

Nearly two score deaths have occurred since last November. Ten schools were closed in the vicinity of Noble in Cleveland county although only one case was reported. All schools and public gatherings in Davidson and Tillman counties were ordered closed today by Dr. Roy Fisher, county health officer, after he had diagnosed the case of a 10-year-old boy as that of meningitis.

Sapulpa physicians reported that Dora Mae Wilson, six-months-old, had meningitis. At Durant the illness of Cletus Green, 9, who lives seven miles east of the city, was diagnosed as the epidemic type of meningitis. It was the second case reported in Bryan county.

Woodward schools were closed today. Two cases were reported there yesterday. Civic meetings at Potau were postponed as a precaution against the disease.

Only death reported in the past few days was that of Virginia Mae Dillon, 6, Beckham county, who died yesterday. The Delhi community school which she attended was closed.

Six persons were confined to the Oklahoma City detention hospital suffering from meningitis. The disease has claimed more than 30 lives since it broke out in Kiowa county late in the fall.

TO CONVENTION

Blankenship, Others To Attend St. Louis Meet

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of the Big Spring schools, will leave Saturday for St. Louis where he will attend the 60th annual convention of the National Education association.

From Howard county and Big Spring five superintendents and principals will attend the meeting. Those going are George Boswell, Coahoma; L. L. Martin, Foran; county superintendent Ann Martin; J. R. Hale, Elbow, and W. C. Blankenship, Big Spring.

"The program will follow the theme of the yearbook which is entitled 'Social Study's Curriculum,' the problems of financing education will be taken up and discussed from a national viewpoint," Blankenship said.

Blankenship was made a life member of the association in 1930.

GRIDDERS TO HONOR COACH THIS EVENING

Members of the Devil football squad will honor their coach, Ben Daniels, with a banquet tonight at the Crawford hotel.

George Brown, newly elected coach of the Steers, will be toastmaster, and Speedy Moffett, assistant coach, will be the principal speaker. Short talks will be made by Captains Choc Smith and Red Womack.

Several of the high school faculty will be guests at the affair, and the members of the Devils team have planned a surprise for the coach, it was learned.

MONEY TO SCHOOLS

Over $19,000 In Tax Payments Received
