BACKS WIN CITY GOLF TOURNAMENT

Several Flights Of Golfers Bid For Championships

The R. D. (Sonny) Backs captured the top golfers' titles in McLean last Sunday in the City Championship Tournament.

Sonny fired a low score of 145 over 36 holes to take first place in the men's championship flight, while Laverne's 98 in 18 holes topped the women golfers.

Five flights of golfers competed in the men's division. Second place in the championship flight went to Johnny Haynes, with a score of 151. In the president's flight, Doug Groves was first and Gene Bench second.

Other men winners were: First flight, Joe Simpson; second flight, John C. Haynes; third flight, J. L. Parr. Tie for Third Verna Burris finished with a score of 104 to take second in the women's championship flight, and Dorris Windom took third. Mrs. Windom and Effie Lou Everett were tied at the end of the regulation 18 holes, and entered a sudden-death playoff to determine the third-place winner. Mrs. Windom sank a 20-foot putt on the first green for a par four to win the match. All women golfers competed in the championship flight. Back, the tournament chairman of the McLean Lions Golf Association, announced Wednesday that another tourney will be held in the near future.

Hundreds Expected At Local Polio Clinic

LIONS CLUB TO SPONSOR CLINIC HERE

Several hundred children and adults are expected to attend the first Sabin polio vaccine clinic to be held in McLean Sunday afternoon.

Site of the clinic will be the school cafeteria, and all persons six weeks of age and over are invited to receive the vaccine.

The clinic will be open from noon to 6 p. m., with no charge made for the vaccine. Persons desiring to contribute to the program may do so, however. Sponsored by the McLean Lions Club, the clinic here is a part of a county-wide effort to give Type 1 vaccine to all persons possible, in an effort to eliminate polio.

Others Planned Types 2 and 3 of the Sabin vaccine will be given at future clinics. A special form is being published in today's McLean News for the convenience of persons planning to attend the clinic.

The head of the household is required to sign such a form before minors can be given the vaccine. Space is provided for the listing of all persons in each household attending the clinic. Similar forms were distributed in the schools earlier, but the Lions Club requested that the form be published in The McLean News, in case some families failed to receive one.

Dropper for Infants

All persons except infants and diabetics will receive the vaccine on a cube of sugar. The vaccine will be dropped directly in the mouths of infants, and will be placed in a cup of water for diabetics. Acutely ill persons with fever should not take the vaccine, and it is recommended that persons not attend the clinic if they have had an adenoidectomy or tonsillectomy within two weeks. Such operations should not be performed within two weeks on persons taking the Sabin vaccine.

REAL DANDY: Buddy Hill of Alanreed shows off the 5½-foot-long coon-tail rattlesnake he killed last week near McLean. Hill killed the snake, which had 11 rattlers, six miles southeast of town on Mrs. E. T. Morris' place. The snake, coiled in knee-high grass, surprised Hill as he was repairing a fence. Afraid he would lose the snake if he left the scene to find a weapon, Hill took the big rattler on with a claw hammer. "It was a pretty good battle," Hill confessed. (McLean News Photo)

7 Bales of Cotton Ginned in McLean; Billingsley Has 6

Business is beginning to pick up at the McLean Gin as cotton harvest moves into full swing. Through Wednesday afternoon, a total of seven bales had been ginned, with more expected during this week. Six of the bales were produced by Roy Billingsley, with the remaining one being brought here by Oscar Tibbets on Wednesday. Tibbets' bale was a real whopper, weighing 590 pounds. This came from 1,900 pounds of pulled cotton. First Bale Award Billingsley received a total of $64.05 in donations from McLean business people for the first bale. The bale also was ginned free by B. F. Holland, manager of the McLean Gin. All six of Billingsley's bales have come from an 87-acre field on the Gray place two miles south of town. Planting date for the cotton was May 8. It was the first time Billingsley had brought the first bale of cotton to the McLean Gin. Billingsley today expressed his appreciation to all merchants, to the gin and to others who contributed to the first-bale prize.

No Game This Week White Deer Trips The Tigers 28-0

Coach Derral Davis' Bengals return to the gridiron on Oct. 12, when they host the Wheeler Mustangs in the final non-conference game of the season.

The tough White Deer squad was too much for the Tigers to contend with, and most of the game was played on McLean's end of the field.

Just Between Us

Young Kiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kiser Sr. of Amarillo, began his first year at the Air Force Academy in Colorado during the summer, and the grandparents paid him a visit a couple weeks back.

Although the youth isn't hefty and, he seems to be faring quite well under the vigorous training of the academy, officers must be alert before completing the four years at the academy.

His double-time everywhere the past few days, at least, eating is at a minimum. Strict discipline is in effect even at the dinner table. When eating meat, for example, a cadet must take his knife and fork, cut off a bite, drop his hands back to his side, then after a brief pause, he reaches back for a fork, puts the meat into his mouth and return to rigid attention as he chews.

What a rugged life these youths must lead. Yet, there are few losers.

Kiser said his grandson lost several pounds soon after arriving at the academy, but has regained most of this. He is making a real man out of the grandfather said.

Martha McPherson was a bit worried, as we were after realizing that the "Star Spangled Banner" wasn't played before the McGroom football game. We hadn't heard of any Supreme Court rulings against this, too, but that bet it can't happen.

An important bit of news was reported here Wednesday. The Flying Queens of Wayland College in Plainview will play a professional basketball team in McLean on Oct. 13.

Sgt. Lee Welch told us the coach had called to say he wanted the game here—the Queens of the team's All-American Laura Switzer. Laura, a senior at Wayland, is looking up a tremendous basketball with the Queens this school year. Her coach wanted Laura (See JBU, Page 8)

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS

THE BERLIN WALL

On Aug. 13, 1961, the Soviet government transformed the boundary of the Soviet sector of Berlin—up to then no more than a partially controlled demarcation line—into a physical barrier, proclaiming it as a state frontier of the so-called German Democratic Republic. The physical barrier was the now famous—or perhaps more appropriately "infamous"—Berlin Wall.

At first, the reaction was to "knock down the wall" by physical violence. Some advocated the open declaration of war. The people behind the wall responded like rats leaving a sinking ship. Many who had acquiesced in, if not fully accepted, the Communist dogma, could now see concrete proof of the prison in which they had been confined since the end of World War II. They ran for freedom. Some died in the canals; some died in the streets from gunshot wounds; some died from injuries received in falls from the wall and adjacent buildings as they were seeking escape. Others are now languishing in Red prisons for trying to escape or for trying to help their fellow prisoners.

What does all of this mean? It means plainly and simply that Communism is no match for the free enterprise system and never can compete effectively in meeting the needs of mankind, either spiritual or material. The erection of the wall in the first instance was an open admission of a dismal failure of the Communist-Socialist philosophy. It was at this direct point—to wit, Berlin—that the sharp comparison between freedom and slavery could be viewed in all its aspects. West Berlin was a showcase of what freedom under our system has to offer to mankind. East Berlin was a drab, depressing, sorrowful-looking shambles in comparison. In West Berlin, the people were smiling, congenial, friendly and prosperous. In East Berlin, sadness was etched in the deep lines of the faces of all the people. They would speak only when spoken to; their response was no more than a grunt. They were people without hope, who appeared to be going about their daily chores and continuing to live only because they had to, not because they wanted to.

The officials of East Berlin knew all of this, and they knew something had to be done. The flow of refugees, varying from month to month over the past 16 years, averaged about 25,000 a month in the last year, including a high percentage of skilled men and women in all fields. The majority of the refugees were workers and wage earners—about half were under 25 years of age. This last point is most important, because this group had never known anything but Communism. They had nothing to compare with Communism except what they could see in West Berlin. The Communists knew that if there was a West Berlin in every section of the Soviet republics and the satellite countries, their troubles would be multiplied a thousand fold. These young people, although raised and fully indoctrinated in Communist dogma, did not know what the free world had to offer, but they did know that they DID NOT want Communism. The Communists, under the circumstances, HAD to build the wall. They knew that only by physical restraint could they prevent their regime from collapsing like a house of cards. It was their last resort. It stands today as a monument to be viewed by all free nations and all young areas of the world now emerging into the family of nations—a monument to the utter and complete inadequacy of any philosophy of government that does not recognize the freedom and dignity of the individual.

The wall can also be viewed as a monument to the basic proposition that the founders of this country, with Divine guidance, prepared the greatest document in the history of mankind when they wrote the Constitution preserving and protecting the rights of the individual human being as created by God. It would be well for all people in all countries, INCLUDING OUR OWN, to read and reread this document so that this freedom and dignity of the individual may be preserved in all of its glory as intended.

If this be done, the Berlin Walls

SCALES

I noticed Orphus Tate was putting the final touch of welding on the community scales at the rodeo grounds.

It is good to know these scales and adjoining pens are being constructed of steel. This will fit into the present set of excellent corrals now in existence at the rodeo grounds.

I have written Mr. Gene Cupp, with the State Department of Agriculture, Lubbock, to get his scale inspector to check the scales as soon as they have been completed.

Bryan McPherson, chief engineer on the job, and Truitt Johnson, promoter, are to let me know when the scales are ready to be checked.

I will call Mr. Cupp then. Unless we can get them to make a special trip, there is usually a six-month waiting period.

PTA's Grow — Children Benefit

It happens every fall.

As children the country over start back to school, the grown-ups most concerned with their welfare get together in activities that protect those children and enhance their learning and their lives.

Usually they do it in the PTA, through one of the more than 47,000 parent-teacher associations that constitute the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

AGAIN THIS fall, the millions of Americans who are PTA members will seek new colleagues to help advance "the welfare of children in home, school, church and community." Under the leadership of Mrs. Clifford N. Jenkins, of Roslyn Heights, L.I., N.Y., they will look for answers to the needs most pressing in their own communities.

PTA offers a challenge to parents of children not yet ready for school. Throughout its 65-year history, the National Congress has led in establishing kindergartens, needed today especially in the hundreds of new communities that must build schools first, begin preschool training later.

SCHOOL-AGE children get all kinds of help from PTA activity, notably from its long-standing programs for promoting their health—throughout their school years—and their safety. Parents and teachers have worked together to improve the quality of education offered in their communities and, through the National Congress, to upgrade education nationally.

Whether they contribute books to a school library or National Congress leaders as meriting special attention from PTA's.

Depending on their own community needs, they may be working to provide more day nursery services or help for emotionally disturbed children, to prevent school dropouts and juvenile delinquency, to evaluate local opportunities for higher education and professional training.

They may adopt suggestions the PTA program offers for promoting physical fitness and preventing accidents to children, for broadening young people's vistas in the field of cultural arts, for encouraging fuller participation in civic affairs and "two-way" communication within the community. And as they do every fall, they welcome other parents, teachers and friends of children to the continuing adventure of the PTA, urging, "Join it, serve it, grow with it."

Here's what the other '63's wish they looked like.

Today—Wide-Track Pontiac '63

Obvious, isn't it, that Pontiac's come up with another beauty this year. Fresh over-and-under headlights, clean profile—but you can see that. There's a wider Wide-Track, too, and a full line of Trophy V-8's. [That ought to be enough to make those other cars turn green.] And we haven't mentioned such happy touches as self-adjusting brakes. So what, pray tell, could be keeping you from a new Pontiac of your own? A small suggestion. Don't run down to see one. Gallop! Wide-Track Pontiac

Letter to the Editor

What is Hope and Beauty? A thing very few of us ever live without.

It is a dream of many things—a vacation, a new car, new clothes, a nicer home.

Hope is for better things in life, a richer, more splendid life. Life is beautiful.

But where has the splendor and beauty of McLean gone? Where is the hope of a mother with four beautiful children? With precious little income.

Just where is the beauty of being asked to move out of your home?

Because of an incurable disease, she has to have help (live-in help) so she can manage. But where is the beauty and hope of the PHA.

Because somewhere down in the rules, there is one that says two families can't live in the same house. So, tell me, where does this mother's hope lie?

The dictionary says "hope" is to desire, with expectation of obtaining, wish, to cherish a desire, to have confidence, to trust or imagine, the thing confidently desired or hoped for, mere expectation having hope.

So if there is no hope for this mother, there is no hope for McLean to survive the expectation of hope and beauty.

A Mother With 5 Children That Still Has Hope.

Mrs. Tom Trostle and Mrs. Lillie Trostle were in Amarillo on business Friday.

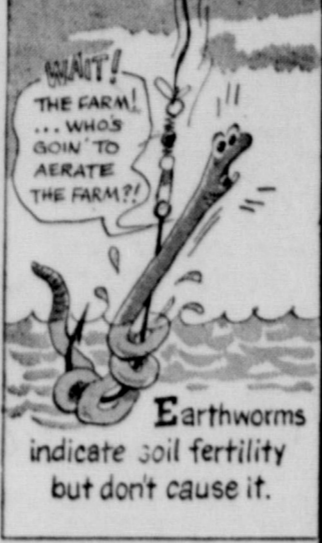

Farm Facts

According to Francis E. Clark, U. S. Department of Agriculture microbiologist, earthworms are to be considered an indication of good soil fertility rather than its cause.

Sharp differences of opinion exist, he says, concerning the relationship of earthworms to soil fertility. Some people insist that earthworms almost singlehandedly are responsible for good fertility. Clark notes in the USDA's Yearbook of Agriculture that such a viewpoint has little basis in fact. He says organic residues ejected by earthworms are poorer in nutrients than the original residues ingested.

The beneficial effects of earthworms on plant growth are largely those associated with improved aeration and improved tilth. They are important in mixing surface organic residues with the underlying soil.

Earthworms in an acre can bring 20 tons of soil a year to the surface. Their burrowing activity is most intense Earthworms indicate soil fertility but don't cause it. In the top 6 inches, although some tunnels extend to depths of 6 feet. Earthworms flourish best in well drained soils that contain abundant organic matter and a continuous supply of available calcium. They may number millions per acre.

SON OF PIONEER McLEAN FAMILY DIES IN LUBBOCK

Clay E. Thompson, May 28, 1891, Sept. 25, 1962.

Between these two dates, the life of Clay Thompson requires two descriptions. The first is one of conventional statistics. Born in Indian Territory, Okla., near Duncan, he moved with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. R. S. (Bud) Thompson, soon after the turn of the century to their Skillet Creek Ranch south of McLean.

He attended Clarendon public schools, Clarendon College and Draughn's Business School in Fort Worth.

In 1914, he was married to Nora Beall at McLean, where he lived, associated with the Citizens State Bank, until 1925 when he moved to Amarillo to become district manager for a life insurance company.

In 1933, he moved to Lubbock to work for the Kuykendall Chevrolet Co. In 1942 he became associated with Davis and Humphries, operators of the Piggy Wiggly Stores in the South Plains area.

For several years, until his retirement in 1961, he was the company secretary-treasurer.

Survivors include his wife, Nora; three sons, Lt. Col. Clay E. Thompson Jr., Falls Church, Va., Rev. Noel E. (Bud) Thompson, Lubbock, and Aubrey G. Thompson, Oklahoma City; three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Hindman, Thomas, Okla., Mrs. Willie Boyett, McLean, and Mrs. Maude Prefontaine, Ada, Okla.; three brothers, Emmet Thompson, Quanah, Orin Thompson, Stinnett, and Fred Thompson, Ada, Okla., and five grandchildren.

The second description of Clay Thompson's life involves the measure of the mark he left on this world. What better way to do this than to assess the heritage left to his sons.

As did his father before him, our Pop—as he was affectionately called by his sons and grandchildren—made the church an integral part of our life. He lived his religion every day. He was active in the Methodist Church throughout his life, for the past 29 years in the First Methodist Church of Lubbock where he was an honorary life member of the board of stewards.

He taught by example—not by word alone—that honesty and integrity must be the cornerstone of character development. We learned from him that one could combine a quiet, proud dignity with humility. He demonstrated to us how to balance patience and restraint with enthusiasm. His consideration for the feelings of others—which endeared him to so many friends—taught us the value of respect, courtesy, kindness, tolerance and loyalty.

He impressed us with an ability to remain faithful and resolute in time of adversity. That ability to master trials and tribulations now makes easier for us the adjustment of living without him. He was never known to say anything unkind to or about anyone.

In this world of rapid change these values are constant and therefore the really important ones. Our hope and prayer is that we can live and teach our children to live accordingly. If it is difficult to see through the tears of sorrow; but when we do we can recognize that our grief is insignificant when compared to the magnificent blessing of Pop's inspirational presence for so many precious years.

14 Rural Accidents Investigated During August in County

The Highway Patrol investigated 14 rural accidents in Gray County during August, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, patrol supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for 11 persons injured and an estimated property damage of $5,735.

The rural traffic accident summary for Gray County from January through August of 1962 shows a total of 110 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were six persons killed and 75 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $59,233.

Time for Check
The veteran patrol supervisor stated, "With fall and winter approaching, now is the time to have vehicles checked in preparation for the cold winter ahead."

The vehicle inspection program in Texas has proved itself to be a valuable tool in reducing accidents on Texas streets and highways. All vehicles registered in this state are required to be inspected once a year, he added.

The new motor vehicle inspection year began Sept. 1. However, the only thing new about the inspection this year is the sticker itself. The sergeant pointed out that this new sticker is a dry mount decal which we believe will adhere regardless of weather conditions.

Poco Pine Back Oklahoma Winner

Poco Pine Back, 3-year-old quarterhorse stallion owned by Neville and Ruby Back of McLean, won high placings at the Oklahoma State Fair last Friday and Saturday in Oklahoma City.

The registered quarterhorse won first place in western pleasure, second in a large class at halter, fifth in junior reining and tied for sixth in a class of 18 at junior cutting.

Poco Pine Back has been in training for cutting only two months and picked up enough points to become a "Registered of Merit" horse of the American Quarterhorse Association.

Mrs. Back said the animal was "highly honored" to spend the two nights in Oklahoma at the Haymaker Farm, owned and operated by Chet and Dale Robertson.

The latter is well known as the star of the television show "Tales of Wells Fargo."

We hope no resident of McLean will forget about next Sunday's Sabin oral polio vaccine clinic here.
The vaccine, taken by merely swallowing a cube of sugar, will be available at the school cafeteria to everyone in this area, aged six weeks and up, without charge.

The Lions Club is sponsoring the clinic, and several hundred are expected to receive the polio inoculation.

Airman Basic Jerry Kunkel and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oba Kunkel, received words of praise in a letter received here this week.
We thought it spoke so well of the McLeannies, we want to run the letter in its entirety. Written by Mrs. Clifton E. Collier of San Antonio, where Jerry is stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, the letter follows:

"Lackland basic trainees are given the opportunity to assist the regular Sunday School teachers in the Protestant Sunday School. Some of them come once; few of them come twice and fewer still come throughout their entire basic training program.

"It has been my pleasure to have been assisted in my primary class for the past six weeks by your son, Airman Basic Jerry Kunkel.

"As my husband is a training officer in another basic training squadron, I realize that the basic trainee does not have a large amount of free time, and San Antonio offers many attractions.

"Airman Kunkel has proved himself to be a valuable assistant. The children have come to know and like him, and, I am sure, they will miss him when he is transferred away from Lackland.

"His Christian witness speaks of the religious training he received in his youth from his church and from your home. May God bless you all."
