Just Between Us by J.B.

It's the storm before the hail. We all know it's coming at this time every year, but still graduation manages to slip up on us. Let's face it—while those nine months that school is in session may seem like the longest to the students, they're the shortest to most who already have this part of life behind us. And after the formal education is past, there's nothing much to prevent the years—even decades—from zipping on by. We just suddenly realized it was 20 years ago this month since we received our high school diploma. How can it be?

Much of the hustle and bustle in McLean seems to revolve around our school system, and because of this things will quieten down some for the next three months. This year we feel more like true McLeantites than ever before. For the 1964 graduating class was just about to enter high school when we arrived on the scene almost four years ago.

Let us add our congratulations to you seniors, eighth graders, Tiny 7th Kindergarten students and all others who are marking another big date in your lives this month.

Mrs. Vera Featherston Back was a bit startled at the West Texas Historical Society meeting in Abilene early this month.

Limestone Speaker Joe B. Frantz, head of the University of Texas history department, was making an enjoyable but rather routine talk, when out of the blue he mentioned something about his wife and himself being interested in Mrs. Back's book Feathers.

As it turned out, Mrs. Frantz is the former Helen Boswell, daughter of G. C. Boswell who was superintendent of schools in McLean back in the late 1920's and early 1930's.

Mrs. Back had a nice visit with Frantz during the Historical Society meeting. And she appreciated the plug for her book.

We must apologize to Stephanie Riley for listing her as a second grader in a recent article. She's really in the third.

It wasn't long after the News hit the street telling about Stephanie's father, Jack, being named the new superintendent of schools here when our telephone rang.

Stephanie just wanted to let us know we had committed an error in calling her a second grader.

We just couldn't believe, Stephanie, that you are growing up that fast.

More moisture came to McLean the past week, making it possible for farmers to plant their cotton crop.

The city received 20 inch last Thursday and .02 on Friday, bringing to 4.49 inches the amount of moisture which has fallen here this year.

In 1961, McLean had received only 3.20 inches to this date. While McLean was getting rain on Thursday, a heavy hail was falling in Alanreed. Hailstones covered the ground during the thunderstorm which moved across this area.

High temperature reading for the week was 89 recorded last Thursday. The low was 53 on Friday.

240-Day Project

Commission Lets Hospital Contract

A contract to build the long-awaited McLean Hospital was awarded last week to the J. C. Page Construction Co. of Amarillo.

Page was low bidder on the project, with a total offer of $153,764—including the $2,990 for installing facilities for piping oxygen to each room.

The general construction bid was $150,774.

Following the opening of bids last Thursday, the Gray County commissioners court voted to accept the Page bid on the project. The contractor will have 240 days to complete the work.

A total of nine bids were submitted to the commissioners. County Hospital

Plans call for the construction of a 21-bed hospital at the site of the present McLean Clinic. The hospital will be operated as a part of Highland General Hospital in Pampa.

County voters approved a $150,000 bond issue last July to construct the new hospital. However, estimates made by the architects and engineers—Clayton B. Shiver and Russell A. Meper of Amarillo—indicated the bond money would not be sufficient.

Additional funds were made available by the commissioners court to make the construction possible. Nine bids were opened by the commissioners, ranging up to $172,100.

A controversial figure among Texas cattlemen, Dr. Durham charged that too much emphasis is being placed on raising cattle for show rather than for producing lean meat.

"We are in a bad way so far as cattle are concerned," he said. "Not Enough Lean"

"We need imported meat because we aren't getting enough lean meat from our own cattle," he continued, then added that only the meat from Mexico is competing with U. S.-produced choice beef.

The price of beef is low today, Dr. Durham said, "because of the tremendous supply of cattle on feed."

He said that the chain stores know how many are being fed, putting them in a position to tell the cattlemen "I'm going to pay you this much," not "How much do you want?"

Dr. Durham told of some experiments (See DURHAM, Page 9)

Flames Level Home Near Here Thursday

Fire destroyed the home of Mrs. Essie Glenn northeast of McLean last Thursday afternoon before volunteer firemen could reach the scene.

Local firemen weren't notified of the blaze until after the roof of the house had collapsed.

Mrs. Glenn was in Pampa when the fire struck, and didn't learn of the tragedy until she returned home.

The loss was partially covered by insurance. A miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Glenn will be held next Wednesday night at the First Baptist Church following the regular prayer meeting services.

The public is invited to attend.

Time for Barbecue Changed to 5 P. M.

Time for the barbecue to be held during the annual McLean 66 Roundup Rodeo and Horse Show Celebration has been changed to 5 p. m.

Truitt Johnson, president of the 66 Roundup Rodeo and Horse Show Association, said it was decided to change the time from noon to 5 p. m. during last Friday's association meeting.

This will mark the first year a barbecue has been held in conjunction with the celebration.

The barbecue is scheduled in the McLean City Park, and the cost will be $1 per plate.

Young Ball Players To Meet on Tuesday

More than 60 boys and 60 girls have signed intentions to participate in this summer's Little League and softball programs.

Sammy Haynes, chairman of the Lions Club's Little League committee, said Wednesday that all youngsters who signed up, others who desire to play and any adults interested in assisting with the program should meet at the Little League Park at 5:30 p. m. next Tuesday.

All were asked to bring how to help clear the weeds from the playing field to prepare the park for use.

CARL DWYER NEW PRINCIPAL To Replace Riley At Grade School

Carl Dwyer, high school instructor here for six years and a native of McLean, was named grade school principal Tuesday afternoon by the board of education.

The board took the action at a special meeting on the recommendation of Jack Riley, who moves from the grade school principal's position to superintendent of McLean schools on July 1.

Riley was hired early this month to replace Lee Welch as superintendent, after Welch resigned—effective July 1—to become superintendent at Kress.

Born and raised in McLean, Dwyer received his bachelor of science degree from Texas Tech, Lubbock, before joining the faculty here.

Master of Science He was awarded his master of science degree from Oklahoma State University, Stillwater.

Dwyer's wife, Joan, also teaches in McLean High School. They have two children—Carla Jo, 7, and Mary Ann, 5.

Riley said Wednesday that he and the board regret losing Dwyer's services in the science department, but feel that he is deserving of an opportunity to enter the administrative field.

During Tuesday's meeting, the board also accepted the resignation of Jim Boyd as band director.

ROAD PROJECT IS UNDERWAY

A new highway construction project for this area was scheduled to get underway this week.

The work is located 2.5 miles north of SH 273 and 12.5 miles north of McLean.

Grading, structures, base and surfacing are planned for a distance of 2.5 miles northeast toward SH 154. Completion is expected by Sept. 1.

The Texas Highway Department has awarded the contract for the project to TCO, Inc., of White Deer. G. K. Reading, supervising resident engineer of the Highway Department in the Pampa area, said that traffic will be routed through the project, which is to be adequately marked for the public's safety.

The project will be zoned for a maximum speed of 45 miles per hour.

Reading said the cooperation of the public is requested in obeying all traffic signals, warning signs and speed zones.

ALAN REED TEACHER TAKES A LOOK AT THE 'NEW' MATH

By EUGENE C. DICKENSON
Teacher, Alameda School

The facts of pure mathematics never change. Two plus two will always be four.

The sum of the squares of the shorter two sides of a right triangle will always be equal to the square of the hypotenuse.

However, we do change our ways of talking about mathematics and to some extent in our reasons for teaching it, and what we expect to accomplish thereby.

In the generation from about 1900 to 1960, educators conceived of the purpose of the school as to bring about harmony of the child with society and with his environment.

In too many instances the idea of teaching the child to think was all but forgotten. But in the arithmetics of the 19th century and the first quarter of the 20th century the problems were made to make the child think for himself.

Note these problems:
1. In how many different ways can the letters A, B, C be arranged? In how many ways can these figures be arranged: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 0?

2. How many different combinations of three figures can be made from these?

3. What is the sum of all the numbers from 1 through 50?

4. A father gave his son 5¢ the first week of the New Year, 10¢ the second week and 20¢ the third week agreeing to double the amount of the previous week each week throughout the year. What was the total amount he gave the boy during the year, and how much did the boy receive for the last week?

Problems like these were common in the arithmetics of the first half of the 19th century. The subject was called "permutations, combinations and progressions." These problems stimulated thinking but did not have much connection with everyday life.

Joseph Ray, a medical doctor, first published his series of arithmetics in 1855. They were used until about 1900, after having been revised in 1880. These arithmetics were praised highly, like the old McGuffey Readers, and were reprinted again in 1908 for those who wanted copies for collections or souvenirs.

Here are some of Ray's problems:

1. If a man pays $16 for each cow, $3 for each hog and $2 for each sheep, how many of each kind can he buy so as to get 100 animals for $600?

2. Extract the fifth root of 14,348,907.

3. There is coal now on the dock, and coal is running also from a chute at a uniform rate. Six men can clear the dock in one hour, but 11 men can clear it in 22 minutes; how long will it take four men?

Here are a few from Colwell and Elwood's Arithmetic of 1910:

1. I bought 21 pigs and 15 cows for $928. Each cow cost $27 more than each pig. Find the cost of each pig.

2. Three Indians counted their trophies. Red Cloud had twice as many as Bigfoot and the latter had two-thirds as many as Hoesed, who had four less than Red Cloud. How many had each?

3. At one store a lady spent one-half of her money and a half dollar more; at another one-half of the remainder and a half dollar more; at another one-half of the remainder and a half dollar more, and then had $1 left. How much money had she at first?

4. A man rides from P to Q at 6 miles per hour and walks back at 3½ miles per hour. The trip takes him 4¾ hours. How far is it from P to Q?

5. A rented a farm from B, agreeing to give him two-fifths of all wheat raised. At settlement time A had already used 45 bushels of the wheat. To offset this B was given 18 bushels and the rest of the wheat divided as agreed. How much wheat did B lose? Careful with this one! The answer is 72 bushels.

The so-called new math brings up from the 19th century and early 20th century problems like those above, designed to make the student think. Also in the new texts is a plentiful supply of puzzles and problems with few or no numbers.

Like the one about the man who had to take a fox, a goose and a sack of corn across the river; about the boy with eight marbles all looking alike, but one a little heavier than the others, and he must pick out the heavy one with two balancings on a balance, and about the man who had no money but a valuable chain with seven links.

The man stayed at the hotel seven nights and paid the proprietor a link of the chain each morning for his night's lodging but cut only one link from the chain.

-If he had had a 23-link chain, he could have stayed 23 nights on the same terms and cut only two links from the chain.

Then there is the problem about taking a nine-quart can and a four-quart can to the river and bringing back exactly six quarts of water.

The new math also explains the Abacus with which the Romans solved problems and which the Chinese and Japanese still use. It also goes back and picks up the "figures" of the Egyptians (based on pictures), the Hindus and the Greeks (new math?), and teaches the pupil how to use them.

The new math also (in grade school texts) delves into work with the different scales of a notation which use numbers where only the figures 0 and 1, or 0, 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 or 0, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 or any other numbers of figures besides our conventional ones from 0 to 9 are used.

It is more convenient to use some of these scales for numbers in some of the new computing or "thinking" machines. This subject was formerly taught in higher college math texts.

I think that the notation of the Egyptians, Greeks and Hindus and the scales of notation (with more or less figures than our conventional nine) have no business in grade school math.

The math of the ancient nations should be left alone. We have better methods now.

The scales of notation of the computation machines should be left to be studied in college math only. Since "the sound and the fury" has quieted down, these things are being left out of most of the texts in the new math.

As for the rest of the "new" math: Problems for making people think, simplifying the four fundamental operations, bringing down some of the algebra, geometry and even trigonometry from high school (as much as the grade school pupil can understand) and bringing up from a half-century ago some of the things that have dropped out of use; all that is fine and I am glad to see it done. We older teachers, at least some of us, have been using part of it for 20 years anyway.

The idea that parents can't help pupils in the new math, in the words of George Gershwin, simply "ain't necessarily so." Most parents, if they will study the text a little, can keep abreast of the child and help him if he needs it.

Incidentally, the ungraded school is certainly nothing new, either. Your humble servant, the Alameda seventh and eighth grade teacher, received his first five years of schooling in an ungraded school.

The first school where he taught was also an ungraded school. This type of school is good, and it is particularly suited small schools.

Patient waiting is often the best way of doing God's will.—Jeremy Collier

 Feed being used at the Tech farms consists of milo, cotton seed meal and a vitamin supplement.
 "Educated Eye"
 In the breeding of pigs to increase the amount of lean meat produced, Dr. Durham said he used "the educated eye" to take the fat off.
 "We have pigs that cut 65 per cent lean meat," he reported, compared to 64 per cent in 1965.
 "This is not progress," Dr. Durham declared, when American farmers and ranchers "let the tariff protect our inefficiency."
 Dr. Durham has been head of the Tech animal husbandry department since 1959. His experiments and outspoken criticism of present methods of feeding and breeding of livestock have caused several organized efforts to have him fired from the Tech faculty.
 A large number of area farmers, ranchers and businessmen were guests of the Lions at Tuesday's luncheon.

Livestock Survey To Be Conducted Here

Rural patrons of the McLean Post Office were reminded this week to be on the lookout for June Livestock Survey cards by Acting Postmaster Frank Simpson.
 Next week, mail carriers will leave survey cards in a sample of boxes along their routes.
 "United States Department of Agriculture bases livestock and poultry estimates on replies to this survey," Simpson said.
 "It is important for everyone who gets a card to fill it out and return it to the carrier. This way, USDA gets a representative sample of the area's livestock and poultry holdings.
 Assisting with the survey here will be J. M. Hathaway, carrier on Route 1.
 Information from this survey will guide livestock and poultry producers in making important business decisions, Simpson explained.

BE PROTECTED AGAINST HAIL

AN IMPORANT MESSAGE FOR THE FARMER FOR 1964

The PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION is NOT a RECIPROCAL and the farmers do not have to sign a "POWER OF ATTORNEY" to anyone when buying hail insurance.

REASONS WHY PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION IS ONE OF THE LARGEST CROP HAIL WRITERS ON TEXAS CROPS:

- All Texas policies are reinsured by the LLOYD'S OF LONDON with billions of dollar assets.
- Only PANHANDLE MUTUAL offers the complete "PACKAGE OF STEP LADDER" cotton coverage, the age of cotton STEP LADDER (PANHANDLE SPECIAL), the 10% STEP LADDER (FB-10), and the 5% STEP LADDER (FB-5). The whole package and combination of all the STEP LADDER policies are necessary to fit the West Texas farming conditions.
- The PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION has paid back to the farmers an average of 84c of each premium dollar over the last 4 years for HAIL LOSSES. The loss benefits is the important and simple crux of any insurance policy, and much sweeter than any token dividend or deviation.
- A-PLUS (EXCELLENT) RATING BY "DUNNE'S FIRE AND CASUALTY REPORT."
- Required legal reserve (policy holders surplus) maintained at all times and deposits are kept in LOCAL BANKS throughout the West Texas area.
- The PANHANDLE SPECIAL cotton policy DOES NOT have the REPLANT clause and we DO NOT use the PLANT POPULATION adjustment at any time.
- The PANHANDLE Wheat Policy is the only policy with the "Extra Harvest Expense Award" benefits, also with the 10% credit on Tascosa and beardless wheat, only 48 hour waiting period and a nice premium saving in most counties.
- Free cancellation on crop failures (See Dates) . . . arbitration clause.
- Your PANHANDLE MUTUAL HAIL ASSOCIATION wants to serve you with "THE THINKING MAN'S HAIL INSURANCE."

Be sure and talk to your PANHANDLE MUTUAL AGENT now to compare and study the coverages and rates, because of the many coverages that are now being offered, you need to know about the complete "PANHANDLE STEP LADDER PACKAGE."
