NEWS OF CONSERVATION

Charlie West has started leveling approximately 15 acres of irrigated land on the Duncan Farm northeast of Pampa. He is leveling this land for alfalfa.

Rex McKay is planning to do some irrigation land leveling on his farm south of Kingsmill.

R. J. Bradley is in the process of completing terraces and a waterway on his farm south of Pampa. This farm has eroded a great deal in the past. These terraces and waterway should control most of the erosion.

Bradley has done a lot of conservation work since he bought this farm last spring.

Eakin Brothers have installed 2,000 feet of irrigation pipeline on their farm southwest of Pampa.

Bill Stockstill is planning to install some more irrigation pipeline on his farm east of Pampa. Homer Powell is planning to construct a pond on his farm north of Laketon for better distribution of livestock grazing.

GREAT PLAINS CONSERVATION PROGRAM

Norbert Britten, Floyd Franklin, R. J. Bradley, Monroe Seitz Jr., R. D. Williams and Robert Rapstine have recently developed Great Plains plans on their farms.

There are 70 Great Plains plans in the Gray County SCD covering 150,000 acres and obligating approximately $150,000. Cost-share assistance is available for grass seeding, waterways, diversions, terraces, irrigation pipeline, land leveling, wells, drinking troughs and brush control.

For more information, contact your local Soil Conservation Service officer.

SCD PICNIC
The Gray County SCD supervisors plan to have their annual picnic in Lions Club Park, Pampa, Saturday, Sept. 14, at 4 o'clock p.m. Those interested in soil and water conservation should make plans to attend. Bring enough food for your families.

BIRTHDAYS

Sept. 15—Christa Carol Rodgers, Dora Cunningham, J. M. Stevens, Kenneth Gibson.

Sept. 16—Daniel Gary Dalton.
Sept. 17—Mrs. J. R. Glass, Johnny Mann, Clinton McPherson.

Sept. 18—Mrs. Bunia Kunkel, J. J. Rallsback, Peggy June Vanfuss, Bettye McPherson, Jimmy Keen, Becky Shelton, Lady Bryant.

Sept. 20—Mrs. C. G. Nicholson, Mrs. Emory Smith, Dennis Gene Graham, Gary Fry.

Sept. 21—Ellis Lee Fondren.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rallsback of Pampa visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Rallsback, over the weekend and attended the homecoming.

R. L. Harlan Jr. of Skellytown visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Harlan, Sunday.

NOTICE

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
TO: NORMA HENTHORN, GREETING:

You are commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of this Citation, the same being Monday the 21st day of October, A. D. 1963, at or before 10 o'clock a.m., before the Honorable 31st District Court of Gray County, at the Court House in Pampa, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 4th day of Sept., 1963. The file number of said suit being No. 14,567.

The names of the parties in said suit are: EVERETT A. HENTHORN as Plaintiff, and NORMA HENTHORN as Defendant.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit: Suit for Divorce.

If this Citation is not served within 90 days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

Issued this 4th day of September, A. D. 1963.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Pampa, Texas, this 4th day of September, A. D. 1963.

HELEN SPRINKLE, Clerk District Court, Gray County, Texas By GWENN GRAY, Deputy (SEAL)

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Cunningham and Karen of Samnorwood and Eddie Cunningham of Houston visited with their mother, Mrs. R. O. Cunningham, and their brother, Conrad, and family over the weekend and attended the ex-students reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Guyton and Angie of Ulysses, Kan., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guyton.

"Why did you give your wife the nickname of 'Angel'?" asked the interested neighbor.
"She's always harping on something, she flies up easily and she says she doesn't have an earthly thing to wear," said Angel's husband.

"Angel" or not, the woman motorist is always welcome at our station—and she'll be thrilled with the friendly service we give—men drivers, too, get the same courteous service.

WALTER ROGERS REPORTS

BEHIND THE CIVIL RIGHTS SCENE

The civil rights wrangle in the House and Senate has degenerated into a sectional spitball fight—Yankees against Yankees.

Too many of the nation's elected representatives—from both parties—are yapping at each other about who is going to get the credit or the blame for what is done or isn't done. You don't hear much talk in the Capitol cloakrooms about the merits of proposed civil rights legislation; the issue has succumbed to a heady brand of politics in which northern Republicans and Democrats are pointing their fingers at each other and engaging in fishwifely argument.

Civil rights advocates in the Democratic Party are trying to corral Republican votes for the coming showdown. The Democrats are having trouble because the Republicans can't simply go along with the opposition party's proposals—they want to be able to claim some pride of authorship.

"After all," they argue, "we're the party of Lincoln—and we ought to have some bigger role in this thing."

Democrats behind the legislation want the whole hog if they can grab it—but the hog is well-greased in the kind of politics that defies analysis on party lines.

Southern Democrats, knowing that their constituencies feel generally that only time and a basic change in attitude will make true racial progress possible, are on the sidelines in the current stage of things.

The southern vote will come in a near-solid bloc against the legislation, whoever wins out in the credit-blame battle. The South's "No!" will have a resounding ring in the House, where prolonged debate is prohibited by the rules, and another solid "No!" will echo through the Senate after southern senatorial fortitude has been worn down by a prolonged filibuster.

Only the most callous Americans of any section would deny the fundamental rights of any citizen, white or Negro. The issue in the current controversy goes deeper.

It is more subtle and insidious and behind much of the pressure are men who do not care a hoot whether one more Alabama Negro is able to vote in the next election or is able to obtain service at a department store lunch counter.

The shadow is cast by men whose steady push at the rear of the vehicle called "civil rights" is aimed at centralization, final and complete, of all meaningful government control at the federal level.

Said Thomas Jefferson: "I am for preserving to the states the powers not yielded by them to the union, and to the legislation of the union its constitutional share in the division of powers; and I am not for transferring all of the powers of the states to the general government, and all those of that government in the executive branch."

Editorial voices in the North declare that the states' rights position is now "spurious," that it is posed only as a barrier to a grant of equality to Negro citizens. In the tragically fallacious notion then that legislative fiat can alter the human heart, they would thus tear the vitals from the U. S. Constitution.

The basic question could well be whether or not the United States has come to the point where its citizens will succumb finally to an "Uncle Knows Best" philosophy of national government.

Once the nation has adopted this policy, those who now are so vigorously pushing for enactment of sweeping civil rights legislation (believing that they will thereby benefit politically), may find that the pendulum has a two-way swing. As a result of the centralization they have forced upon their country, they may find that they are to become victims of massive and impersonal federal intervention in affairs over which they'd like some private control.

This is not a partisan controversy. Republicans and Democrats from the North are trying to work out a way in which they can combine to share the credit.

In this, their dispute is sectional—not along party lines. Their argument at the moment is with each other—not with Democrats from the South. With this issue resolved, if it can be, the attention then will shift to the tactical question of how the bipartisan combine of sectional forces can push civil rights through to enactment.

Northerners should pause a moment in this troubled time to ask themselves several serious questions going beyond anything involved in the legislation itself. They should ask: "By political expediences are we really providing solutions for the South's problems—and our own grave problems?" "Will we destroy the essence of the federal-state relationship?" "What will the effect be on the Constitution itself?"

Bridal Shower Held At Cash Residence

A bridal shower in honor of Miss Cheryl Grimsley was given recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cash.

Hostesses were Mesdames Lorene Guyton, Faris Hess, Ernie Fry, E. S. Carroll, Miro Pukan and Cash.

The serving table was laid with a white cutwork cloth and held arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums.

Miss Christa Carol Rodgers and Miss Donna Graham served the refreshments.

Mrs. Johnny Haynes presided at the guest register.

Sixty-three persons attended and many more sent gifts.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank all who sent cards, flowers and who visited me during my recent stay in the hospital. Your thoughtfulness is most appreciated.

SCREW-WORMS

The third official case of screw-worms was reported in the county on Sept. 2.

This time it was on the Buck Henley place just east of McLean. We would like to say thank you to Buck for collecting the samples and sending them in.

As we have mentioned before, this entitles the person sending the sample in a free spray job. An aerial drop of sterile screwworm flies is also made.

If you have suspected cases, please report them.

TRI-STATE FAIR

Yes, it starts next week. Carolyn Willoughby, 4-H'er from the McLean vicinity, will have a commercial steer in the Tri-State Fair.

We have given it a hoof-trimming job and will clip it today (Wednesday).

See you at the fair.

EXTENSION OF SOIL BANK

Questions are still being asked if there will be an extension of the soil bank. Below is the opinion of one Washington observer:

"The best indication I can get is that bills providing for soil bank extension now the subject of hearings before the House and Senate Agricultural Committees, will probably be approved before the end of the year. No one, of course, can be certain of this."

Community Singing Will Be Organized

Plans for organizing a community-wide singing group will be made Sunday afternoon at a meeting in the McLean Pentecostal Holiness Church here.

All pastors and other interested persons are invited and urged to attend the meeting at 2:30 p.m.

TO MARRY: Mrs. O. K. Lee announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Colleen, to Paul Franks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Franks of Shamrock. The wedding will take place on Thursday, Oct. 3, at the Taylor Ranch north of Alanreed.

WRECKS

Patrolman Henderson, who investigated the accident, said Wilberg was attempting to pass the truck but misjudged the larger vehicle's speed.

Both vehicles were traveling east. Richard Travis, 35, of Patchogue, N. Y., was driver of the truck. He was unhurt.

Beneath Trailer
 Part of the front of Wilberg's car was wedged beneath the rear of the trailer.

Damage to the truck was estimated at $200, while the car was left damaged beyond repair.

No one was injured at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday when a pickup and a car collided in Alanreed.

Patrolman Parker said Juanita Flewelling of Pampa attempted to turn her 1961 Oldsmobile south from the inside lane at an intersection on Highway 66.

The car was struck by a 1963 Chevrolet pickup pulling a trailer carrying two horses. Charles S. Jacobs of Fallon, Nev., was driver of the truck.

Property damage was described as heavy in the accident. But occupants of the two vehicles and the horses escaped injury.

Miss Pauline Muncie of Los Angeles, Calif., visited Mr. and Mrs. Kid McCoy the past week. Miss Muncie formerly made her home with the McCoy's.

Mrs. Frank Rodgers and Mrs. Callie Haynes took Chris Rodgers to Weatherford, Okla., Sunday to enroll her in Southwestern State College for the fall term.
