State Capital News

By Vera Stanford

As fast as the state's major agencies moved out of the capitol into the new Flinn building, contractors bids opened for remodeling of old quarters to the tune of more than $1 million.

Work soon will be underway on the capitol, including the basement. Contractors will get private office space of at least 550 square feet. Bulk of the new Senate will come from quarters occupied by the State Controller.

House members will have their offices—but at least a state office—in the old first-state Treasury quarters and basement.

Legislators plan new committee rooms, including one specially designed for sound and TV lights. Capitol station post office will make an early move into new Finance Building, clearing the east entrance of the house for restoration to its original splendor.

ENROLLMENT LIMIT ASKED—A bill asking the Legislature to limit the number of students in the Coordinating Board of Texas College and University System that each school can accept is being considered.

The bill, which would limit enrollment to 100 percent of the school's voluntary curtailment does not result, Board officials indicated they will ask the Legislature for power to order mandatory cuttings. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a recent opinion that the agency does not have such authority.

University of Texas system regents, while approving a UT enrollment-control plan and a lot of system for use when units reach capacity. Coordinating Board at its last meeting also placed the student loan program under federal insurance to guarantee repayments, advised extension of students who are in default in campus disruptions, directed studies of free creche among all public institutions and possible elimination of unnecessary colleges.

REGISTRATION PRESSED—Federal negotiators conferred with representatives of Texas school districts found 48 not in compliance with desegregation provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

Problems are seen as a last effort to get voluntary integration without a massive law by the U.S. Justice Department demanding immediate compliance.

Negotiators included three representatives of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, plus Justice Department Washington headquarters Dallas regional office. Texas Education Agency has acted at 48 districts following receipt of a letter from Justice Department asking for help ending school segregation.

School districts were limited to a maximum of three on their negotiating teams—preferably board president, superintendent and school attorney or vice-president or another board member.

Federal teams limited each district to one-hour hearings. Agreement, if not worked in that time, will be communicated to HEW as soon as possible after local board discussions.

Each district was requested to bring copies of its own desegregation plans to the Austin meetings. Independent or consolidated school districts named by the Department as not in compliance were: Maricopa, Atlanta, Austin, Wille, Calvert, Carthage, Schill (annexed to Jackson), Concord Rural High, Skett, Cypress - Fairbanis, Friendship (annexed to Well), Galena Park, Garb, Heame, Hempstead, Benson, Jackson, Jasper, Mon, Kamack, Katy, Klein, La Vega, Lub, Lufkin, Madisonville, Hall, Midland, Mount H (annexed to Jacksonville), Gochoes, Palestine, Port, Refugio, Richardson, San Pass, San Angelo, San Aug, Shebbyville, Sliabee, Park, Sulphur Springs,

WAR ON TAXES—Texas Manufacturers Association has declared war on additional state taxes and set up a special department to keep an eye on state spending.

Alarmed by reports that the 1971 tax bill may go as high as $700 million, TMA President Ed C. Burris said its organization is going to do everything in its power to prevent any kind of increase.

TMA, said Burris, also will be on guard against long range spending programs, with increases automatically built into state law.

Texas Public Employees Association is backing a 17 percent pay raise for state employees at an estimated cost of $64.6 million for two years.

Unemployment claims increased 15,617 (to 185,478) last month, due largely to layoffs in aircraft and other manufacturing as result of Vietnam de-escalation and general economic slowdown, reports Texas Employment Commission.

Tax Benefits For Older Americans

The Internal Revenue Service has been criticized recently for failing to get the tax forms simple enough for some older Americans to understand.

Commissioner Thrower, in a recent speech says that this is not so, and that Internal Revenue has made a special effort to help older Americans get the full benefit that Congress has provided for retired taxpayers.

Commissioner Thrower pointed out that Internal Revenue has provided for retired taxpayers. Commissioner Thrower pointed out that Internal Revenue has issued a special publication to help these taxpayers claim all of the available benefits.

Publication 554, "Tax Benefits for Older Americans," is distributed to retired groups and is available at all IRS offices. Mr. Thrower also pointed out that the tax forms cannot be made simple for older Americans, since a good part of our older Americans are subject to many of the complex provisions of the law.

He says that Internal Revenue works with retired employee groups and other organizations to train taxpayers to take advantage of the Retirement Income Credit, the over 65 age exemption, and other important provisions.

LOOKIN' BACK

by Vera Featherston Back

Thursday was Red-Letter Day for the museum. I marked the registration of our 10,000th visitor. The lucky one was Fred Keimath of West Babylon, New York. He and his wife and two children, were making their second visit with us and were greatly pleased to receive a $5 gift certificate from Jewel Meacham at McLean Hardware and another of the same amount from Dale Glass at Phillips 66.

The Claude Mounce family were visitors Tuesday. My! It's nice to see old friends and former students. Claude gave us our 45th state-Rhode Island. Now we lack only 5 and we'll have had visitors from every state in the union. Those missing are: North and South Dakota, Vermont, New Hampshire, and Maine. If you have company from any of these states, bring them in. Let us have a representative from every state in the Union before our first birthday.

Speaking of birthdays, the Alanreed-McLean Area Museum will be a year old September 12. This is on Saturday and we plan a two-day celebration— all day Saturday and from 2:00 until 6:00 Sunday afternoon. Make your plans to come. Write Aunt Mary, Uncle John, Grandpa and Grandma, and any old-timer of this region. Urge them to make plans for our big party. More details will be announced later.

Sunday was a good day for the Alanreed-McLean Historical Society. Though the crowd was smaller than usual, this didn't dampen the spirits of those present. Milton Carpenter, president in the absence of President John C. Haynes, encouraged audience participation and many gave their recollections of early experience from Friday afternoon literary societies to sorghum mills and / or Tate's medicine show.

Visitors from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Gene Adrain of Chillicothe, Mrs. Adrain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Thompson and niece of Mrs. Willie Boyett, whom she was visiting, will be back soon to help in the R. S. Thompson family panel and again when we have the R. S. Thompson Day. The exact date will be announced later when we plan to honor this pioneer family who gave so much of their time and talent to the religious, cultural, and educational development of our community.

Think big! Think positive! Keep in mind our birthday party. Tell others about it! Put another plate or two on the table and turn down the bed covers in your guest-room. Invite an old timer to spend the night and bring them to the museum. In the meantime, come down and enjoy the cool atmosphere and warm hospitality at the museum.

Accent on Health

For thousands of Texas youngsters, summer vacation will soon be over. And many thousands more will be enrolling in school for the first time. Last fall more than a quarter-million children entered school for the first time, and most needed a certified copy of his or her birth certificate, and proof of vaccination against smallpox and other diseases.

Statistics may seem like a bore to a lot of people, but to Texas State Department of Health its Records and Statistics Section is an active and very necessary part of its services to its people of Texas. The Bureau of Vital Statistics is the one place for storing the vast numbers of records of Texas births, deaths, marriages, divorces, adoptions, and other matters.

In earlier times the fact that you were alive and breathing was enough to satisfy any inquiry about your birth. But now most schools require a birth certificate for children entering the first grade. A birth certificate is the best proof of citizenship for your passport. You may later need it to satisfy military requirements, to satisfy the Internal Revenue as to your dependents, to satisfy Veteran Administration, or other claims against the government, or to apply for social security. But one of the biggest demands each year is from parents wishing certified copies of their children's birth certificates to meet school enrollment requirements.

With over 250,000 children entering the first grade each year, the demand for certification is great. Many times these records can be obtained in the counties or cities of birth, or they may be obtained from the Austin office of the State Health Department for a $1.50 fee. Searching for records—on request—can be a time consuming process. The quantity alone makes the task a tremendous one. The "searching" branch of the Vital Statistics division last year conducted 307,000 searches of the files upon request. A total of 200,000 certifications and verifications were made. Parents are urged to obtain copies of birth certificates now before the volume of request causes delay.

Flower of the month for a baby born in January is the carnation or snowdrop; February, violet or primrose; March, jonquil or daffodil; April, sweet pea or daisy; May, lily of the valley, or hawthorn; June, rose or honeysuckle; July, larkspur or water lily; August, poppy or gladiolus; September, aster or morning glory; October, calendula or cosmos; November, chrysanthemum; December, narcissus or holly.

CARE OF FOOD IN SUMMER

It's a day in the nineties. You've actually quit looking at the thermometer because if you do you'll feel even warmer. The hot weather has been going on for several days and there's no letup in sight. You don't have air conditioning in your home. You stagger in from the supermarket, or grocery store. You've got to have a cool drink.

But wait! You've forgotten something. If you're to have that cold lemonade, or whatever, better take care of the food you've brought home, too, before you sit down.

Have some of the things been in the hot car for quite a while already? It happens.

Start Putting Groceries Away

So take a sip or two of the lemonade and start putting your groceries away as well.

The food industry made sure your food reached you in the best possible shape. Flavor and appearance of food have been kept at their best.

The chances of contamination have been carefully controlled. The condition of this food when it reaches your family table is now up to you. No one else can be responsible.

One still sees bottles of home-delivered milk sitting on doorsteps on occasion—in the sunlight long after the delivery man was there.

Milk and other foods of delicate flavor need special care. They should always be under refrigeration except when they are actually in use. Don't let milk stand in the kitchen during food preparation. You never do that, you say? Check it out. Maybe you do and are not aware. Consider meats, too. Do you unconsciously let them sit around? Fish are especially subject to deterioration.

Meat Well Protected

Meats are well protected against contamination and heat before you buy them. Fruits and vegetables are often flown in, in refrigerated planes direct from their growing areas. Supermarkets also buy direct from farmers in your area when things are in season. Better stores spray cool water on vegetables, or protect freshness with beds of crushed ice. You should do no less. Washing fresh vegetables and fruits is a must when you get them home before storing them in your refrigerator.

Bakery goods are well packaged and during hotter months many bakeries do not offer custard or cream-filled goods because of their vulnerability to spoilage in hot weather. If you prepare such goods at home, keep them cool. Mayonnaise and similar dressing are susceptible to summer spoilage unless kept consistently cool. Don't apply dressings to salads until just before serving.

Careful of Infection

And in the summer be especially careful about handling food if you have a cold or any sort of infection or sore on your hands. In hot weather your chances of passing something on to your family is doubly likely. High temperatures encourage rapid germ growth.

Drownings Take 275 In Texas

A number of recent drownings indicate an alarming fact, according to George Cook, director of Water Safety Service for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The fact is that a great many people go to the water for outdoor recreation and yet can't swim 20 feet to save their lives.

"Last year Texas had 516 drownings, and we have had 275 since January this year," said Cook. "In many cases just a few swimming strokes could have gotten the victim out of trouble."

Cook said a recurring, almost inexplicable, situation has to do with waders who step in deep holes and drown. In cases such as these, safety is only a step away, yet these waders can't make it.

"Three-quarters of this planet is covered by water. Texas is second to Alaska in the amount of inland water. It would seem that if we are to live on this planet in Texas, learning to swim would be in order," said Cook.

Cook said that for the most part drowning victims are solely responsible for their fate due to their own carelessness, but there are exceptions.

The exception are children who go unattended around bodies of waters. "Over and over again we get reports of tragic instances in which a small child topples into a swimming pool, a lake or a drainage ditch and whose absence is noted only too late," said Cook. "Children must rely on their parents for proper supervision and protection, and if this supervision relaxes, children pay with their lives."

CASTING SKILL PAYS OFF

Experienced anglers never hesitate to cast to brush piles, around flooded trees and into other difficult to reach places. They accept a few snags, knowing that their casting skill prevents many foul-ups while allowing them to reach likely fish holding spots.

Good casting technique is important, and the fishing experts at Mercury outboards have put together a few basic casting tips which will help improve your fishing.

Always have a target when you cast. Pick out a clump of weeds, a tree, rock or some other feature. Then make your cast as accurate as possible. Distance isn't as important as accuracy, and time spent practicing on the lawn at home will make a difference in the number of correct casts and probably in the number of fish taken.

Another important casting tip is to halt the flight of the lure just before it hits the water. There are three good reasons for learning this technique: it improves accuracy; you'll have less backlash; it tends to prevent the lure from actually being blown toward you when it hits the water, which stimulates natural swimming action.

When fishing among pads, try to cast so that it lands atop a pad and slide it gently into the water and begin a normal cast. This imitates the action of frogs, some insects and small mammals. Spoon and pork rods are good in lily pads. Make more effective by using the rod tip from side to side as you retrieve, making more action to the lure.

Another tip from the Mercury is to cast to where you think a fish is, rather than directly to the spot. The retrieve comes from behind, and over the fish and is less likely to scare him.

Whatever you do, remember that learning to cast correctly is basic to learning to fish.

What About Frank Phillips College?

Frank Phillips College stands as a two year college, re-organized in the field of higher education as a superior junior college. Recently it was lauded by an evaluation committee of educators who were making a year check for the South-association of Colleges and Schools. In their final report following statement is taken from the introduction, "The college reflected a fresh and cleanliness that made members of the visiting committee quite envious. In addition to this, there was evidence of sound collegiate education program in operation."

Frank Phillips College offers a wide choice of general education and special courses for adults to help them train and retrain to meet present and future employment requirements, to keep active, and to make use of their leisure time.

Frank Phillips College opened for the reception of students on September 6, 1948. During the opening months, the Texas State Department of Education recognized Frank Phillips College as a standard two year institution of higher education. In April of 1949, the Association of Texas Colleges accredited Frank Phillips College with full membership in the Association. After changing to a new campus, Frank Phillips College applied and was fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in 1958. In 1968 regular ten year study was made of Frank Phillips College, and she was again approved as a first class institution of higher education. Many senior colleges and universities visit the Frank Phillips College campus to get the graduates. The old cry of transfer of credits from a junior college to a senior college is usually made by those who failed to pass their courses in the junior college, or want an excuse to go elsewhere. Frank Phillips offers the first two years of standard college instruction. Frank Phillips is neither a glorified high school nor a decapitated college, but rather a unique American institution, Frank Phillips College today stands ready to provide post high school education for all the children of all the people, and for the people too.

In the Frank Phillips student body you will find:

Young high school graduates who want two rather than four years of higher education, in the arts and sciences or for technical, vocational, or semi-professional training.

Housewives interested in child care, general education, or preparation for employment or re-employment.

Workers who want to improve their present skills, prepare for advancement, or for change of employment, gain avocational experience, or expand their general education.

Young adults who have not graduated from high school, or who through parttime study, hope eventually to earn a college diploma.

Senior citizens seeking through education to develop new interests and new companions for their less active years.

Frank Phillips College is unique in these days - it is not impersonal, the students are counseled personally by counselors and college instructors, they are not computerized. Frank Phillips stresses the pursuit of sound values, as well as the pursuit of knowledge. Frank Phillips upholds sound moral standards as well as the pursuit of knowledge. Frank Phillips upholds sound moral standards as well as academic standards. Frank Phillips expects responsibility from every student.

Frank Phillips College opposes those who want neutrality on the Frank Phillips College campus. It is the kind of atmosphere that encourages balance and order in the lives of students.

Frank Phillips College is truly an institution worthy of the respect, support and confidence of the Texas Panhandle.

Frank Phillips College provides arts - and - sciences and pre - professional education equivalent to the first two years of a four-year college and preparatory to advanced undergraduate education in such a college, thereby eliminating much of the enrollment pressures on the four-year institutions.

Frank Phillips College offers a wide choice of general education and special courses for adults to help them train and retrain to meet present and future employment requirements, to keep active, and to make use of their leisure time.

After changing to a new campus, Frank Phillips College applied and was fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in 1958. In 1968 regular ten year study was made of Frank Phillips College, and she was again approved as a first class institution of higher education. Many senior colleges and universities visit the Frank Phillips College campus to get the graduates. The old cry of transfer of credits from a junior college to a senior college is usually made by those who failed to pass their courses in the junior college, or want an excuse to go elsewhere. Frank Phillips offers the first two years of standard college instruction. Frank Phillips is neither a glorified high school nor a decapitated college, but rather a unique American institution, Frank Phillips College today stands ready to provide post high school education for all the children of all the people, and for the people too.

In the Frank Phillips student body you will find:

Young high school graduates who want two rather than four years of higher education, in the arts and sciences or for technical, vocational, or semi-professional training.

Housewives interested in child care, general education, or preparation for employment or re-employment.

Workers who want to improve their present skills, prepare for advancement, or for change of employment, gain avocational experience, or expand their general education.

Young adults who have not graduated from high school, or who through parttime study, hope eventually to earn a college diploma.

Frank Phillips College is unique in these days - it is not impersonal, the students are counseled personally by counselors and college instructors, they are not computerized. Frank Phillips stresses the pursuit of sound values, as well as the pursuit of knowledge. Frank Phillips upholds sound moral standards as well as the pursuit of knowledge. Frank Phillips upholds sound moral standards as well as academic standards. Frank Phillips expects responsibility from every student.

Frank Phillips College opposes those who want neutrality on the Frank Phillips College campus. It is the kind of atmosphere that encourages balance and order in the lives of students.

This safeguard for the youthful purchaser, this "right to disaffirm," has been a part of Anglo-American law for centuries. It extends to anyone not yet of age, which usually means anyone under 21. In most states, it applies even if the merchandise has been damaged or destroyed—that is, even if Freddie had negligently smashed up the motorbike in an accident. His negligence, too, would be considered a part of his immaturity.

However, the right to disaffirm does not apply to the purchase of necessities, such as food, clothing, and medical supplies. A teenager might be able to cancel a purchase of costly, custom-made boots, but not a purchase of everyday shoes.

Furthermore, there are now growing doubts about the whole notion of a right to disaffirm. Today's youth, observed one court, are often more sophisticated than their parents—hence less in need of special protection. Certainly it isn't as easy to think of them as babes in the commercial woods when they are wielding a buying power of perhaps 25 billion dollars per year.

Accordingly, in varying degree, state legislatures have been getting stricter with young people. One way has been to hold them fully responsible for certain types of contracts, such as educational loans. Another way has been to lower the age of maturity to 18. Still another way has been to deny the cancellation privilege to any youth who has deceived the merchant about his age.

"The privilege may be used as a shield to protect the (minor)," said one court, "not as a sword to inflict injuries upon another."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Selling To Minors

By scrimping and saving, 14-year-old Freddie accumulated a nest egg of almost $400. One day he spent the whole thing on a shiny new motorbike that he had been eyeing in a store window.

A few days later, after a sobering talk with his parents, Freddie took the motorbike back to the store and asked for a refund. The merchant refused, but finally had to give in when the matter was taken to court. The judge reminded him that a minor has a legal right to back out of his contracts.

"Always," said the judge, "the courts have attempted to protect persons of tender years from the wiles of those who would take advantage of them and from the effects of their own folly."

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

- STRAIGHTENING THE LINE
Towing your monofilament line out of the back of the boat while motoring slowly for a few hundred yards will remove the kinks and twists that result when fishing without use of a swivel.
- HUNTING EXOTIC GAME
Exotic game hunting is increasing in the United States. There are at least five areas in this country where native game of Africa, India, Germany and even Russia can be hunted on private property for a fee.
- BEAGLE GOOD HUNTER
A handy dog for either rabbit or squirrel hunting is the beagle. It can be trained to hunt either or both animals.
- PROTECTION FROM THORNS
Bird hunters should wear chaps or padded leggings to protect them from thorns and scratches. If none is available, use the trousers of an old rain suit.
- EMERGENCY TACKLE BOX
Plastic egg cartons make ideal small and handy tackle boxes, especially on a boat. Lures can be dropped into the light container compartments and kept handy for instant use or stored for safe keeping until needed.
- RETRIEVING LURES
If you have trouble with lures hanging on old tree tops either above or below the water, try using an expandable golf ball retriever. They telescope out to 6 feet and are ideal for knocking plugs loose.
- STURGEON FISHING
When you fish for sturgeon, you need heavy equipment. It is the largest freshwater fish in the world. There are more than 20 species and individual fish many times are larger than a man.

Peas, Southern Food Favorite, Give'em A Try

Peas are highly perishable and as they age, the sugar content changes to starch and the delicate flavor diminishes, Mrs. Clyatt said. Select peas that have fresh, brightly colored pods, typical of the variety and to avoid waste, choose well-filled pods, with mature seeds, she advised.

"The same general rule for cooking vegetables applies to peas," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Cook in a small amount of water in a covered pan, just until tender.

You may want to season them with salt pork or sliced bacon cut into small pieces."

Included among the most economically priced vegetables, at present, are corn, potatoes, cabbage, head lettuce, celery, dry yellow onions, carrots, okra, green onions, squash and radishes, Mrs. Clyatt noted.

"Fruit counters are well stocked with items of excellent quality at various price levels," she said. "Peaches are reaching the peak of the season, but prices are higher than last year and are not likely to be any lower since demand exceeds the anticipated supply."

Nectarines, plums, grapes, cherries, lemons, limes, avocados, apricots, pineapple and noneyew meions are moderately priced, she said, adding that bananas are featured at attractive prices as are cantaloupes and watermelons.

"Fryer chickens continue their winning-way of adequate supply and attractive retail prices," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Chicken hens, or stewing chickens, are also featured in many markets."

At most beef counters special emphasis is being placed on steaks and standing rib roasts, she noted. Many features seem to be on the less tender cuts and round steaks, she added.

"Supplies and demand for hogs have been fluctuating for the past couple of weeks and the wholesale market is reported to be slightly higher," she said. "Bargain prices may be found on the smoked pork cuts, such as smoked hams and bacon, and a few pork values will be available on center-cut chops, Boston butt and rib end roasts."

AGRICULTURAL BRIEFS COUNTY AGENTS IN STATE MEETING

THE UNKINDEST CUT OF ALL

It's the cut or bruise that goes untreated. But before giving such wounds the treatment, it would be wise to consider the kinds of injuries that can easily be cut down to size. A cut or incision is a slash or slit in the skin caused by a sharp object such as a razor. This type of wound bleeds profusely, since all the blood vessels are cleanly severed. There is usually little tissue damage, and less danger of infection than in other wounds. Lacerations or torn wounds are irregular tearing of a tissue by a rough or blunt or jagged-edged object. A laceration might result from a fall against an angular object or piece of machinery. Bleeding is usually not severe, but danger of infection exists because the body tissues are damaged at the edge of the wound.

A puncture or stab wound is caused by a penetrating object, such as a nail, bullet, or splinter. Unless a large blood vessel is injured, puncture wounds do not bleed profusely. They are especially liable to infection, since they are difficult to clean.

Rubbing off or scraping of the skin or mucous membrane, abrasion is commonly called "floor burn" or "mat burn" although not a true burn. Such wounds usually cover a wide surface and are easily infected.

Serious cuts, however, can cause the infectious disease of tetanus, which attacks the muscles of the neck and lower jaw. Prevention of this disease consists of injecting anti-toxin under the skin. The wound is then opened wide and thoroughly cleaned. When the possibility of such a wound is suspected, see your doctor immediately.

Take Care In Loading Boat

Improper loading of boats account for many boating accidents each year, according to the Water Safety Division of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Overloading is foolish and easy to avoid," says George Cook, director of the Division. "I guess the temptation to get just one more person in the boat overcomes good judgement sometimes."

Cook says common sense demands that boat owners make sure they know their craft's capacity plate in the boat. If the boat doesn't have such a plate, then the boater's marine dealer can advise him of the boat's capacity.

In loading a boat keeping it "trimmed" will improve performance and help insure safe-

Aoudad's Doing Well In Palo Duro Canyon

Sportsmen who have stalked the sharp-eyed aoudad sheep over Palo Duro Canyon's cliffs and ledges still may be subject to skinned knees and sore muscles -- but this year frostbite won't likely be one of the hazards.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has moved the open season from January to November and has increased the length of the season by two days.

This year, hunters may take one sheep by permit only from Nov. 14-20 in the Panhandle Regulatory District.

The hardy sheep were first stocked in the canyon area in the winter of 1957-58, when 44 animals from a New Mexico ranch were released.

The exotic sheep, which are natives of the Atlas Mts. of North Africa, apparently found the rocky landscape to their liking. Census efforts have indicated a stable population of at least 600 animals in the half-million acre area.

The season change was not made entirely for hunter comfort, however. Pierce B. Uzzell, wildlife coordinator for the Department, said the November hunt will provide more biological information about the population and food habits of the herd.

In addition, the aoudad sheep appears to be one species which reproduces virtually all year, although a few more lambs than usual have been seen during March, April and May.

Helicopters have provided a means for counting the animals with accuracy which would have been impossible otherwise. The aoudads unerringly seek the most rugged and inaccessible portions of the available habitat for their home, the census efforts have shown.

The Panhandle Regulatory District is the only district in Texas in which the State has stocked aoudads. But private stocking by ranchers in the Hill Country and in the Davis Mts. have made the aoudad one of Texas' most populous exotics.

The tawny brown animals are truly big-game animals, with male of the species attaining a height at the shoulder of more than 40 inches and a weight of 320 pounds. The females are smaller, but both sexes have the characteristic curving horns which make the species a desirable trophy.

AG INFORMATION SCORES IN NATIONAL CONTESTS

Texas A&M's Department of Agricultural Information won 8 awards in the 1970 Communications Award Program sponsored by the National Association of American College Editors. The news section won excellent ratings on the Weekly News packet and radio script service; a very good on magazine service and a white or rating on a radio feature. Other awards were won on Extension Service and Experiment Station publications and Texas Agricultural Progress, the quarterly Department publication.

Gray County Farm Newsletter By Evelyn Mason

GRAZING & HAYING ANNUAL DIVERTED ACRES

Due to extreme drought, Gray County has been approved for grazing and haying on diverted acres. Producers wishing to do this must come by the office and file a request and pay the fee prior to grazing or haying. Application has been made for this program on CAP land but we have not yet been advised of approval.

You are reminded that sweet sorghum is not an approved cover on diverted acres of 1970. Also please remember that diverted acres must not be grazed until after October 15--unless you receive approval and pay the cost under the emergency program. Diverted acres cannot be hayed at any time except after receiving emergency approval and paying the cost.

BURNING STUBBLE

We have been requested to furnish this information to producers in the county. The State ASC Committee has determined that deliberate burning of any crop residue, other than flax, violates reasonable conservation principles and will be considered a practice tending to defeat the purpose of the program. Payment cannot be made for any ACP practice to a producer who burns stubble.

REPORT GRAIN SORGHUM AND COTTON ACRES

If you have not already reported your grain sorghum and cotton acres, you are reminded that August 15 is the final date. Many producers have already reported the acreage or reported it is too dry to plant and filed for acreage credit due to drought.

The first payments on wheat, feed grain and cotton were made on July 1 and they have been sent every few days since that time. Your papers are processed in this office immediately after you report the acres and data is sent to New Orleans for computations. Check is issued there and sent to us to be delivered to you.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

President Nixon has designated the week of July 19, 1970 as National Farm Safety week. Recent statistics show that the number of accidental deaths in agriculture is second only to the construction industry. We are all urged to work toward the goals of National Farm Safety week throughout the year.

If you have approval for clearing debris from your land please be sure to complete it and report as soon as possible. OEP would like to have all this completed this year.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I read that if you add a front porch to your house the cost is deductible? Is that right?

A) No, the cost is not deductible. The cost, however, can be added to the basis of your house and taken into account in determining your gain or loss on any future sale.

Ordinary and routine maintenance costs around the house, such as painting and repairs are not deductible. Only when the expense adds to the value of the house or increases its life do tax considerations arise.

Q) I filed my return 3 months ago and my refund still hasn't come. What should I do?

A) Write your regional IRS service center or call your local IRS office. Be sure to give your Social Security number, name, address, and when your return was filed. This information is needed to trace your return.

Most refund claims have already been processed and the checks mailed out.

Q) I was married last month and plan to continue working for another year or so. Should I make any change in my tax withholding?

A) You may want to file a new withholding certificate with your employer claiming married status. This will reduce your withholding.

However, many married couples who both are employed elect to have tax withheld from each of them as a "single" person to avoid owing large additional amounts of tax at the end of the year. If you plan to file a joint return for the year, as most couples do, your final tax liability will not be affected regardless of whether you or your husband claims your personal exemption.

Q) My daughter started to work last month, but she still lives at home. Will she still be able to claim her as a dependent?

A) It depends on whether she still meets the dependency tests. For instance, you must provide over half of her total support for the year. Regarding her earnings, if they amount to $625 or more you cannot claim her unless she is under 19 at year end or a full-time student for any five months of the year.

Farm Program Payments Sticking To Early Schedule

About 65 percent of the 1970 farm program payments earned by producers in Gray county have been made. Thanks to the fine co-operation of participating farmers, we are able to pay earlier and we are well on the way to completing payments, in the feed grain, wheat and cotton programs. The U.S. Department of Agriculture this year made a commitment to make farm payments earlier and we are keeping that commitment.

The Gray county ASC Committee states that in previous years partial payments had been made in advance to feed grain participants. Budget restraints this year made it impossible to make any farm payments before July 1, the beginning of the Government's fiscal year.

As soon as that date arrived, however, farm program payments by helping stabilize markets and by giving the use of productive cropland that would otherwise have been put into cash crops or other income-producing uses. Instead, they maintain the land in conserving uses and help prevent soil and water erosion.

The farm programs in which they achieve a balance between commodity supply and demand. They also help producers work together to curb excess production and strengthen markets.

Success of the early payment plan has hinged on close cooperation by farmers, and results have been gratifying. Virtually all Gray county participants accurately certified their compliance with farm program requirements as soon as they could.

Spot checks made by ASCS personnel on individual farms throughout the county have revealed a very low degree of error in reporting of planted and diverted acres and conserving-use acres by producers in the feed grain, wheat and cotton program.

AVOID THESE GARDENING GOOFS!

Security Leaks

When securely inside your hose, water goes where you want it. But a leak here and there, fellow operatives, can spell trouble. And the trouble can be spelled s-u-f-f-o-c-a-t-i-o-n.

Roots get oxygen-starved and suffocated by too much water. And root growth is retarded when the sun cannot warm the water-logged ground to a comfortable heat.

A jet-type leak can wash away topsoil and seeds.

But a motor-driven ride to the hardware store can save you trouble by putting you in an excellent position to pick up that good new kind of hose with a gold stripe. You not only avoid leaks, but also make unlikely such an unkind comment from a neighbor as: "See you later, suffocator!"

TAX SAM SEZ:

If you are one of those affluent Americans who can still find household help you may have a problem with your maid tax. As most folks know, household employees are covered by Social Security if you pay the household employee more than $50 per calendar quarter. This is not an optional tax--and the fact that the maid does not want you to pay Social Security taxes if the total wages for the quarter exceeded $50 for the employee.

Under the new 1969 Tax Reform Act the employees can voluntarily ask that income tax deduction on your household or farm employees, and pay this in addition to the Social Security tax.
