Time And Place For Everything

On Memorial Day, Governor Bricker delivered an address at Gettysburg.

The Daily Oklahoman was reminded in some respects of the classic speech delivered by Lincoln on that historic field nearly 83 years ago. The point was that the speeches were so vastly different.

Speaking by the graves of those who had died for the republic, Lincoln made the mistake of saying that the world would little care nor long remember what he said there," observed the Oklahoman. "But if Bricker had said that of his Memorial Day effort, he would have made no mistake at all.

Gov. Bricker took advantage of the day and the hallowed spot to deliver a speech packed with envenomed partisanship. Instead of a memorial address, he came up with a biting attack on the president and the administration. It is fully within his right to speak his mind frankly about the administration, but it was not in good taste to drag partisan politics into a Memorial Day address at a place held almost sacred by Americans.

Such occasions and such places are not Hal Boyle's Notebook fittingly grounds for tirades that could be better endured at other moments and places.

More Than Million See 31 Home Tilts In Bronx Stadium

By the Associated Press

The Boston Red Sox had an outside chance today of breaking three coveted standards - winning the most games in one season, winning the pennant by the largest margin, and clinching the flag at the earliest date.

Having already pocketed 39 of their first 48 games, the Red Sox can better the Chicago Cubs 116 contests, or in other words play .736 ball from here on in. The American league record, 110 victories, was set by the New York Yankees in 1927.

The twin triumph yesterday over the world champion Tigers - by 7-1 and 10-4 scores - extended the Red Hose's latest winning streak to 10 games.

Sarazen Allows As How Anyone Can Win Open

CLEVELAND, June 10 UP-A familiar dark horse charged into the national open golf picture today in the person of ageless Gene Sarazen, perennial ranking contender of America's golfing fraternity.

While the experts were trying to decide which section of the Hogan-Nelson-Snead triumvirate would grab golfdom's top 1948" prize, Sarazen boomed his national open stock yesterday by dropping a hole-in-one at Cleveland's Canterbury club.

Sarazen further startled the guess artists by flatly predicting that the national open championship at Canterbury would not be copped by the booming drives of Sammy Snead, the mechanical irons of Byron Nelson or the precision putting of Ben Hogan, the "mighty mite" from Texas.

"Some outsider who hasn't taken part in all these gruelling cross country tours and has spent a week or so sizing up the Canterbury course and mastering its difficulties will win the. 1946 4 open," Gene declared.

To prove his point. Sarazen stepped to the third tee, leveledhis sights and wafted a perfect mid-iron shot which arched over a small pond and dropped into the cup 176 yards away.

"I should have saved that one for Thursday-I might need it." chuckled Gene as he turned away wearing a satisfied grin.
