State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

Sixty-second Legislature found up its regular session with a bang and a roar -- and few whimpers. In a photo-finish, the House-Senate conferees turned out a record $6.9 billion biennial budget for near-deadline consideration. Lawmakers earlier agreed a $617 million tax bill which will go into effect July then followed up with $35 billion worth of new taxes on liquor-by-the-drink and by-the-gallon. Texans will be paying 4% (five, in most cities) and to sales-rental tax, 18.5 cents a pack on cigarettes, .50 per $1,000 on corporation franchises; and $5 per barrel on beer. A 10% gross receipts tax will be levied on mixed-drink sales and .95 a gallon on liquor sales generally. A gasoline tax increase, approved earlier, was repealed in a subsequent bill.

Among other achievements for which the 62nd Legislature will be remembered are:

- * Ratification of a federal constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18.
- * Approval of a liquor-by-the-drink sales act and submission of a mixed-drink referendum to the first group of ten counties on May 18.
- * Congressional and legislative redistricting.
- * Submitted a constitutional amendment to authorize convening legislature in 1974 to sit as a convention to rewrite Texas' constitution.
- * Passed far-reaching bank law reform legislation.
- * Creation of a tuition-backed revenue-bond fund to build new state colleges.
- * Establishment (by constitutional amendment) of a $100 million bond fund to aid cities that build sewer facilities.

Lawmakers gave up on budgeting for welfare services for this biennium, and will return next year (if not sooner) for appropriate funds for 1973 assistance to the needy, meanwhile hoping for expanded federal aid.

OPINIONS - An appointee who served one day as "executive" of a printing company was ineligible for the "employer" member position on the Texas Industrial Accident Board, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

- * Governor does not have power to veto proposed constitutional amendments.
- * A bill providing that a dry area annexed to a wet area shall occupy the same wet status as the annexing area is unconstitutional, as it violates the local option mandate.
- * Applicants signing petitions for incorporation of a new town must be qualified electors who have resided in the area at least six months. The area must contain more than 200 inhabitants (who do not have to be qualified electors.)
- * Out-of-state witnesses in criminal cases receive compensation solely from the state, not the counties.
- * Environmental Protection Act of 1971 is constitutional, authorizing private individuals to maintain legal anti-pollution actions on behalf of the public or to sue the state, but vagueness and caption of the bill offer constitutional problems.
- * Bill authorizing commissioners courts in "counties of one million to 1.5 million" prohibit keeping of hogs within 500 feet of a residence in an incorporated city is unconstitutional.
- * A hospital district in which an indigent prisoner is held by the sheriff is liable for his medical bills when it did not have adequate facilities and treatment to be administered by another hospital.
- * Texas Board of Licensure for Nursing Home Administrators has no authority to fix licensing fee of $50 per annum for "administrators in training."

* A State Department of Public Welfare employee called out on an emergency mission for protective service to an abandoned or abused child is entitled to reimbursement for official travel mileage expense.

Producers Benefit By Early Certification

Producers have to certify their compliance under the 1971 set-aside farm programs. Deadline for certification in Gray County is August 15 for cotton and feed grains.

In most cases, it will be to a producer's advantage to certify his program as early as possible. However, early certification is optional and a producer may certify at any time through Aug. 15.

A producer must complete his certification before he can receive any set-aside payment. To certify, a producer signs a statement at the county ASCS office showing the acreages devoted to various crops under the 1971 farm programs. At the same time, he designates the amount and location of his set-aside acres.

The Gray county ASCS office is ready to give farmers all possible help in correctly certifying their acres. We will be glad to answer any questions or help with problems on the farm.

Producers who certify in time for data to be processed will get checks for their preliminary set-aside program payments as soon after July 1 as possible.

Preliminary payment on feed grain and cotton could be the complete payment as additional payment depend on changes in market conditions. Such changes in feed grain and cotton is not foreseen. Preliminary wheat payment may or may not be the complete payment. This depends on the market also.

Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Simpson and Stanley visited relatives in Arkansas last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Bailey and family visited relatives in Oklahoma City on Sunday and Monday.

Judge Expresses Stand On Redistricting

Don Cain, County Judge, made the following statement to the press Tuesday on County Re-districting:

"At this time, I favor the at large election of our county commissioners. This plan would leave the geographic areas as they are now, require each commissioner to reside in his geographic area, and would allow every voter in the county to vote on all four commissioners, thus attempting to satisfy the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote edict.

The alternative, at this time, is to gerrymander the commissioners' precincts into the City of Pampa. This plan would require dividing the county population into approximately 6,700 people each in the four commissioners' precincts, the difficulty of which is readily apparent when the 1970 census figures for Gray County is considered.

Traditionally, county government has tried to represent all of our people and all geographic areas. The action we take should try to unite all of the people of our county, and not divide our people urban against rural. The fairest plan for Gray County appears to be the at large plan.

However, some contend that the at large plan cannot be done because of a provision of the Texas Constitution. The at large plan is currently being used in some cities, some counties, and some state legislative districts in Texas.

The Texas Attorney General's Office advises that there are several cases currently on their way to the U.S. Supreme Court involving the at large plan, in which the Court may further define its one-man-one-vote edict, and further advises that we continue our consideration of county re-districting as of this time, and that no dead-line for county re-districting has been set by the Court.

Therefore, as of this time, I am asking each county commissioner to continue the discussion of this important issue with our people in all areas of the county.

Second Production Set For Palo Duro

A new stage production is planned for September and October this year in the open-air amphitheater of Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

The play, "They Came From Spain," will follow the regular summer run of the popular "Texas" production which ends in August.

"They Came From Spain" opens Sept. 2, directed by Eddie Thomas, a member of the speech department of El Centro College in Dallas.

A fund raising campaign netted $66,000 in under writing to produce the show, which will play on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. There also will be Sunday evening performances on Labor Day and Columbus Day weekends.

The new show will use mixed media: light and sound, film and live movement based on techniques developed during the popular first production in the theater, "Thundering Sounds of the West," in the summer of 1965.

The production tells the story of the Conquistadors, led by Coronado, as they crossed the plains and took refuge in the canyon in 1541.

Mrs. George Colebank attended graduation exercises for her granddaughter, Carla Lee at Canyon last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bailey Pam and Teresa of Borger visited in the E.M. Bailey home on their way to Florida.

"Elderly" Quail Death Recorded

Threescore and 10 is considered a reasonable long life span for a human.

That's not a very long time, compared to the life spans of giant redwood trees and Galapagos turtles.

But it would seem like a long time to a quail. An extremely "elderly" quail was killed during a public hunt last fall on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Gene Howe Wildlife Management Area in the Panhandle.

Its age -- four years, five months. Biologists say quail banding programs have revealed that the bobwhites rarely ever reach their second birthday -- especially on areas which allow hunting each year.

For a human to equal this bobwhite's feat he would have to survive well past a hundred years -- while holding down a very hazardous job.

Mrs. Luther Petty accompanied her son Francis of Midland to Moberly, Mo. to attend graduation exercises for her grandson, Gary Petty, Friday night and visit in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Petty, also his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hutchins on at Mexico, Mo. The Pettys left home May 25 and returned home Sunday night, and report a wonderful trip, being Francis' first trip to Missouri and Mrs. Petty's first since 1967.

My Neighbors

"You're lucky--your mom only expects you to be president... mine expects me to get an 'A' in math."

The Household Food Consumption survey also showed that food budgets and the portion of food dollars spent on the individual food groups varied little from season to season. Dietary improvement must then come from changes in food group buying patterns, Miss Reasonover explains.

Diets Vary According To Seasons
More U.S. families have poor diets in the spring than in any other season, according to Frances Reasonover, Extension Foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

These findings from the 19-65-66 Household Food Consumption Survey were reported recently at Arletta M. Beoloin, U.S. Dept. of Agriculture food specialist.

In the survey, 21% of the U.S. family diets rated poor during the spring months; in each of the other seasons, 18% of the diets ranked "poor".

Generally, the diets receiving a poor rating lacked ascorbic acid (vitamin C) and vitamin A found in fruits and vegetables, and calcium from milk and milk products.

Shortages of the two vitamins occur more often in spring, when family consumption of fruits and vegetables is the lowest. Southern families in the study had a greater proportion of diets below the recommended allowances for vitamins C and A than families in other regions.

These nutrients, Miss Reasonover adds, are a problem in every season.

Jerky, A New Snack Food

A food American Indians used long before this country was settled, and that pioneers and prospectors carried with them along western trails, is making a comeback as a snack food.

"Charqui," as early Andean people called it, is today called "jerky" and is becoming more and more popular, reports Sally Springer, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University. Jerky, sold in food stores and by mail order, is thinly sliced lean beef that has been spiced and air dried, oven dried or smoked. In pioneer days it took 2 to 3 months to naturally cure the meat. But jerky can now be made within 24 hours with advanced processing techniques.

U.S. Department of Agriculture's inspection standards of sanitation and processing are applied to jerky, as for all meat products that are shipped interstate. USDA inspectors also closely examine labeling of jerky and check for the appropriate moisture-protein ratio, which allows the product to be stored without refrigeration. Because jerky doesn't require refrigeration, it is a convenient "take along" snack or between-meal treat that is both tasty and nutritious. The meat supplies high quality protein that is needed for building and repairing tissues. Mother Neff State Parks near McGregor is the oldest of the Texas State Parks.

A BOY THAT MISUNDERSTOOD

As a boy, I was always disturbed by this Biblical passage in Matthew: "For I have come to set a man against his father and a daughter against her mother... He who loves father and mother more than me is not worthy of me." In those days of innocence, it seemed that my greatest love should go to Mother and Father. They gave me life, love and visible physical needs that seemed all-important.

But what I did not understand was that this life of mine came directly from God through my parents. I had tried to separate God's love from the love of Mother and Father. It was through Him that they received the great gift of human love. And because a mother has God's love implanted in her heart, she will instinctively love me. Matthew was emphasizing the fact that God's love must come first and that human love will then follow in its proper perspective.

Take your child with you to church and church school so that both may gain a better understanding of God's will. One who really loves God supremely will invariably develop a deeper love for family, friends and neighbors.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Years ago scientists and nutritionists discovered that the addition of iodine to common table salt dramatically curtailed the occurrence of goiter in this country. But iodine is only one of many trace elements considered vital to the human diet, according to nutritionists at the State Department of Health.

Iodine is an essential component of the thyroid gland hormone that regulates the rate at which our tissues breathe. Without it, the tissues use less oxygen, the body slows down, and eventually so does the mind. A limited deficiency of iodine can result in a swelling of the neck known as simple goiter, which practically disappeared when table salt was iodized many years ago.

A number of other elements are also vital, but only in very small amounts. These essential microelements include copper, iodine, manganese, zinc, chromium, fluorine, molybdenum, and selenium.

Thousands of chemical reactions occur in each cell of our body, with enzymes acting as catalysts to bring specific molecules into the right position to react at the appropriate moment. Some of these enzymes contain vitamins as part of their own molecules and many do not function except in the presence of the right trace mineral. Without such activators (and each enzyme requires a particular activator), no reaction takes place.

Typical of the activators is copper, essential to the manufacture of blood cells. Although it is as vital as iron, the body requires less than one-tenth as much.

Lack of zinc is believed responsible for the dwarfism observed in some isolated areas in the Middle East. Besides being necessary for growth, zinc plays a role in the development of sex organs, the manufacture of blood cells, the healing of wounds and burns, and in the utilization of the hormone insulin.

Another essential trace mineral is manganese which monitors the buildup and breakdown of protein and of nucleic acid, the basic carrier of heredity. It is also important to the development of bones and tendons.

Too little chromium may be one of the factors responsible for high cholesterol and a decrease in sugar utilization in elderly people. Selenium is involved in the respiration of cells. And fluoride is believed necessary for good teeth.

Eating a wide variety of food can usually supply the needed amounts of these vital minerals.

The atmosphere is 75 times as deep as the deepest part of our oceans.

Spring Clean-Up Time Is Here Again

Spring clean-up-fixup time is with us again. It is a busy time and an enjoyable time. But unless we are careful it can be a time of tragedy. Too many people are injured and killed each Spring because of carelessness.

Cans of paint and paint thinners become extremely combustible if kept around too long. Get rid of them as soon as you are through using them. Otherwise an explosive situation could be the end result.

Keep aspirin and sleeping pills well out of the reach of children. Youngsters are attracted to anything that looks like candy and aspirin, especially have become a leading poisoner of children in recent years.

Never touch a water faucet and an electrical appliance at the same time. If the appliance is not properly grounded, a fatal low voltage electrical charge could be the shocking result.

Too many accidents that could have been avoided happen in the bathroom. One way to help eliminate falls is to keep a rubber mat in the bathtub. And when bathing be sure never touch any type of electrical appliance.

Medicines are designed to cure, or at least to make you feel better. But, if they have been in the medicine cabinet too long, they may lose their effectiveness. Their use then might make you feel a lot worse than you did before taking them.

Be careful when using multiple electrical circuits. Their misuse could result in a dangerous overload. Also be sure to replace or repair frayed wires immediately. They represent too much of a fire hazard to be neglected.

Backyard barbecues are always a Summer hit. If yours is rained out, don't bring the charcoal broiler inside unless you are planning to use it in the fireplace. If used in an enclosed area, carbon monoxide poisoning, not steaks, might be on the menu.

A broken or weakened step could result in a bad fall. Be sure to check the front and rear steps and landings as part of your Spring fix-up campaign. Insecticides are supposed to eliminate troublesome insects from the garden. Make sure you read and follow closely the directions printed on the container, or it may be you that gets poisoned, not the bugs.

The key to a well-kept lawn is weekly mowing. But be very careful if you use a power mower. Never start it in an enclosed area such as a garage. The result could be carbon monoxide poisoning, a silent, odorless killer.

Toys are supposed to entertain and bring happiness to children but each year too many youngsters are seriously injured by their playthings. Parents should examine their children's toys for sharp edges or other hazards. A toy that hurts is not much fun.
