State Capital News

A blue-ribbon study commission has come out strong for state constitutional revision and widespread restructuring of the state and local governmental system.

The Texas Urban Development Commission, winding up an 18-month study which enlisted the services of experts and laymen, handed its 200-page report to Gov. Preston Smith.

Smith, commending the body of charting "a clear course for those in government to act on," announced appointment of a 17-member, permanent Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. The latter will follow up on the report of the study group headed by Arlington Mayor Tom J. Vandegriff as chairman and Dr. Earl M. Lewis of Trinity University in San Antonio.

"The Texas Constitution," said the Commission, "should be thoroughly changed to allow the state and local governments to exercise more initiative and to be more responsive to current and future demands but at the same time free to be truly responsive to changing needs and emerging problems."

Among 50 major recommendations were the following:

- State government should begin moving toward a new organizational and management system and consolidation of urban services in about 20 existing agencies.
- The governor should have more power over budgeting and appointments and removal of state agency governing boards chairmen.
- Local governments should be reorganized to meet specific local needs and granted greater fiscal authority through additional revenue sources and property tax overhaul.
- Growth of special purpose districts must be checked.
- Urban growth planning programs and coordinated land planning should be launched at all levels of government.

APPOINTMENTS

George E. Stanley of Fort Arthur was named to the Veterans Affairs Commission, succeeding the late Charles C. Ford of Longview.

Governor Smith named 10 members of the Criminal Justice Council executive committee and designated L. O'Brien Thompson of Amarillo as chairman.

Smith appointed an 18-member study committee on traffic court reorganization.

Lawrence L. Jester has been designated district engineer of the State Highway Department's Atlanta district on retirement of G.A. Young.

William G. Reid of Austin will serve as general counsel for the recently established Texas Criminal Defense Lawyers Association.

Gov. Ben Barnes named committees to study the system of state licensing and examining boards and retirement benefits for employees of public educational institutions.

BONDS SOLD

Continuation of the veterans land program was assured by sale of $20,8 million in bonds.

The low bid of 4.48943% effective net interest was submitted by a group of 50 investors. The constitutional ceiling on interest rates is 4.5% for the program.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong said the sale means the program can operate until almost the end of 1972 when Texas voters will have a chance to pass a constitutional amendment to raise the interest rate ceiling to 6%.

The Veterans Land Board is constitutionally authorized to sell another $70.7 million in bonds. More than 43,000 Texans have bought land under the program.

A NEW GOVERNOR -- Texas will have a new governor briefly in December -- when

Sen. W.E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland takes over as chief executive for the day.

Snelson, as president pro tempore of the Senate, is third in line for the governorship. Governor Smith and Lieutenant Governor Barnes will absent themselves from the state December 4, so Snelson can have the honor of serving as governor. He represents 35 counties of the 25th senatorial district.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Court of Criminal Appeals upheld Texas' abortion law, and said the state has the right to prohibit operations, in a decision conflicting with a June 18, 1970, three-judge federal court ruling at Dallas.

The Court of Criminal Appeals also reversed a West Texas conviction due to improper questioning of witnesses by the prosecuting attorney.

State Supreme Court heard arguments in a suit seeking to nullify University of Texas acquisition of a 586-acre Odessa site for the new UT-Permian Basin campus because of the proximity of oil and gas equipment and a potential safety hazard.

AG OPINIONS - The governor can commute death sentences to life imprisonment even though convictions are on appeal, Atty. Gen. Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

- A new "surtax" on misdemeanor and felony convictions ($1.50 to $10) cannot be assessed for offenses committed prior to last August 30, date the law went into effect.
- Issue of tax cancellation certificates are authorized, and should cover all tax certificates showing no taxes due which had been previously and lawfully issued.
- Computation of actual interest expense incurred and to be recovered as an item of selling price on long term federal water contracts shall be made by applying the cumulative average effective rate to only that portion of the "direct cost" of the facility which is attributable to Texas Water Development Fund money.

PESTICIDE DECISION PUT OFF -- The new State Pesticide Advisory Committee delayed its decision on banning DDT for household uses.

No recommendation was made because the Environmental Protection Agency has not made its official rulings on DDT, committee chairman Dr. Perry Adkisson of Texas A&M University said.

The five-member committee will meet again December 7 to consider the matter. Texas Department of Agriculture charged with administering the state law on pesticides asked advice from the advisory panel authorized by the Legislature this year.

HUNT INVITE "DISAPPEARS" -- State Legislators and officials who had been invited to hunt on state game management areas found the invitations suddenly withdrawn after newspapers publicized them.

Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director James U. Cross issued the invitations, although other would-be deer hunters are required to draw for the limited number of free permits in the areas. PW Commission expressed doubt special exceptions could be made for state officials and legislators, so the bid was unceremoniously taken back. One commissioner called for Cross' resignation over the incident, but the new director said he plans to stay on the job.

SHORT SNORTS

Attorney General Martin lambasted the new state code of ethics for public officials as a "virtual mish-mash" and predicted a court effort by one or more political subdivisions to invalidate it.

TECH DISTINGUISHED ALUMNUS -- Gov. Preston Smith, left, presents C. A. (Buzz) Cash of Amarillo an award naming him a "distinguished alumnus" of Texas Tech University during the fifth annual Distinguished Alumnus Awards luncheon sponsored by the Tech Ex-Students Association on campus Friday (Oct. 29). Cash, president of Diamond Shamrock Corporation, was one of four former students honored. Gov. and Mrs. Smith were recipients of the award in 1969. (Tech Photo)

FOSTER WEALEY COTTON HARVEST

Leroy Williams delivered the first bale of cotton to the McLean Gin on Monday, Nov. 8th. Work was still being done on the gin at the time and the bale could not be ginned on arrival.

MILK HARVEST

The only thing holding up the milk harvest is the ground being too wet. Some combines found some drier fields and were running the first of the week. If good weather will hold out, milk harvesting operation will be in full swing by this weekend. Yields have been real good. We talked to one individual that made over 7000 lbs. per acre on one place. Some yields are expected to exceed 8000 lbs.

WHEAT PASTURE

We have heard of a number of local farmers that have cattle out on good to excellent wheat pasture in the McLean vicinity. I've never seen as good a wheat pasture in two decades on the High Plains. Some of the wheat pasture is half knee high in places. Even that wheat planted after October 1st looks good. Farmers are busy patching fences and will soon have cattle turned loose on a vast acreage of wheat pasture. This is one year there will be more pasture than cattle to run on it. Cattle prices are the highest ever recorded. Six hundred pounds steers are selling from $36.00 to $38.00. Although cattle price will generally

MUSEUM MEMORABILIA

by Vera Featherston Back

Two letters received lately make interesting reading. Dear Mrs. Back:

We were so glad to have a short time to visit with you and look over the museum in October. You have done an outstanding job in it throughout.

We lived there (McLean) only 4 years but to me it was 4 very important years of my life as all my high school years were there, graduating in 1914. I was there for the 50th homecoming of our class and I enjoyed it very much.

We plan to come again in June of 1973 and spend several days there.

There were 7 children: 4 girls and 3 boys. We are all living and all have grandchildren and great grandchildren. There are over 80 direct descendants of Dad and Mother and have ministers, M.D., dentists, teachers, professional and business, more than average successful. We have had only 2 deaths in 80 years - a very unusual record.

I am writing to Ethel Cash Jordan to help her fill up a display board, as you mentioned to me.

Also am enclosing a check to help in any way that will assist the museum.

You people are doing a marvelous work there and we are looking forward to being there again.

The other - from a former high school English teacher, will come as a surprise to all: Mr. Lloyd Hunt, Principal McLean High School McLean, Texas

Dear Mr. Hunt:

The small visit to McLean in August was the first in many years and you served so well as a link between my present and my past that, although the visit occurred over two months ago, I must write you to thank you for having been generous, first in remembering me so easily and quickly, and second in giving me your time as you walked along that main hall with me and talked of the persons in the pictures on the walls and of your families -- that long-ago family I knew and that family you have now.

It is always risky to oneself to go back far after a long time; one never knows till after the fact whether or not one has gone too far too late. This little visit was good, very good, and you helped significantly to make it good. The lady who now lives in the Kirby house, where I had a room in 1928-29 and until about January 1930, when I moved to your parents' home, helped significantly by inviting me to come in and look into the rooms that I knew so well. I did not give her my name and I did not ask hers. Would you thank her for me again? It was an uncommonly generous thing she did, and it was of more value to me than she could ever have suspected. And Johnnie Mertel, who is the only person I talked with besides you and the lady who now lives in the Kirby house, called my name immediately after I walked into his shop, before we talked awhile. I was astounded. I would like to have stayed around awhile to explore but it is dangerous to do too much of going back to the years when one was twenty and twenty one if one attends it over forty years after.

That little stop last month is probably the last time I'll be coming to McLean. As I think I told you, I had to quit work at the end of 1970 on account of my health; I had been at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Professor in the Graduate School of Education for a number of years and I am now living most quietly in St. Bernard Abbey in a small North Alabama town. It is a relief to be out of the frenetic activity, when one can't keep up. It makes some learning. I find it all quite different from what I've done for so many years.

In the first quarter of the game the only score was made by Scotty Lindley for Clarendon, leaving the score 3-0.

In the second quarter both teams scored. Ronnie Brown made a touchdown with a one yard run. The kick was not good.

Both teams were unable to score in the second half. This week the Tigers will play the Wheeler Mustangs in McLean at Duncan Field.

Potatoes Are Not Always Fattening

A popular misconception about calories and increased competition with other foods are the main reasons Americans aren't buying as many potatoes these days, says Frances Reasonover, Extension Foods and nutrition specialist. Since 1950, there has been a marked drop in the per capita consumption of potatoes in this country. The growing concern of the public with calorie intake and the mistaken belief that potatoes are high in calories are underlying factors.

"Although potatoes are higher in calories than most vegetables, they are considerably lower than many other foods in the daily American diet," she explains. A baked or boiled potato has fewer calories than the same amount of avocados, lima beans, bran flakes, prunes or sweet potatoes.

Potatoes prepared without butter or cooking oil, or served without gravy also have fewer calories than most fruits canned in heavy syrup, she adds.

Starch, often considered the reason potatoes are fattening, and other nutrients make up only 20% of the potato; the remaining 80% is water.

"If potatoes had to be your only source of nutrients, they would provide all the riboflavin, one and one-half times the iron, three to four times the thiamine and niacin, and more than ten times the vitamin C you need. Potatoes

Boating Accidents Show Reduction

Boaters are showing an increased awareness of the hazard of their sport, according to James Cross, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Cross said this awareness is reflected in the 20% reduction in the number of boating accidents this year compared to 94 for the same period last year.

Surprising conditions surround most of the boating accidents -- perfect boating weather. The majority of accidents took place on a clear day between the hours of 12 and 7 p.m. on inland waters. A light wind was blowing at the time of most of the accidents.

The operators involved were 26 to 50 years of age and averaged more than 500 hours each of experience as skippers. Operator errors caused collisions with other boats, and this type of accident accounted for more than 50% of the total.

"I firmly believe that the cooperation between the U.S. Power Squadron and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, the Parks and Wildlife Water Safety Officers and the many boating organizations have been responsible for this improved accident rate. All Texans can take pride in this significant reduction," said Cross.

Best foot forward doesn't apply to tires any more. Newer tires should be placed on the rear axle according to the Tire Industry Safety Council. Extensive studies show vehicles in accidents more often have worn tires in the rear.

Mary Martha Class To Have Party

The Mary Martha Sunday School class will have a birthday party Saturday, Nov. 13 at 2:30 p.m. in the home of Velma Willis.

The three birthday girls will be Essie Burrows, Velma Willis and Ellen Roby. Please plan to come.

Benjamin Franklin is author of the statement, "Nothing is certain but death and taxes."

Freezone is for corns that hurt.

Absolutely painless. No dangerous cutting, no ugly pads or plasters. In days, Freezone eases the hurt... safely helps ease off the corn. Drop on Freezone—take off corns.

Mrs. Gladys Smulcer was pleasantly surprised Friday night on her birthday by a group of her nieces and nephews, the children and grandchildren of the late Mr. and Mrs. Mariam Smulcer. They arrived bringing an entire meal including a beautiful birthday cake and many lovely gifts.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bryan, Dale and Kent, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smulcer, William, Elaine and Dennis from Sweet Water, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Bryan, Ricky and Debbie, Mrs. Kevin Davis Tonya, Sue and Terry from Pampa Texas.

A light rain or drizzle, especially after a dry spell, will produce a thin, greasy film which makes a road a prime skidding surface.

Happiness Is Being Ready For Winter

Prepare for a safe and happy winter season by making sure furnaces, heaters and other heating aids are in good working order.

There are several things a householder can do to provide winter comfort and convenience.

First, check the fuel supply for furnaces, stoves, heaters and other units regardless of whether they burn oil, coal or gas. Even lay in a supply of fireplace logs before bad weather slips in.

A central heating system should be checked each fall by a qualified heating engineer or contractor. If that cannot be done, the home owner should be prepared to handle the job himself, says the engineer.

Air and oil filters should be carefully checked and replaced if necessary. All motors, fan bearings and pump bearings should be oiled and otherwise cared for according to the unit's operation manual. Pot-type burners should be cleaned of accumulated soot.

"It is imperative that all chimneys and flues be clean and safe," Allen advises. "This is especially true in the case of old flues and chimneys which do not have flue liners. Without cleaning, they can cause dangerous soot fires."

On hot water systems all connections and valves should be checked for possible leaks. Radiators should be examined for air-locks which can reduce heating efficiency.

Fire places, to be efficient heating units, must have dampers that are in order and that work properly. If there are no dampers in open fireplaces, it is necessary to either close the fireplace opening, install new dampers, or install the glass-front type screen which serves as a damper to prevent heat loss up the chimney.

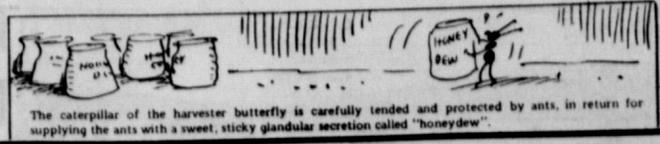

Also available during the warm weather is that job of insulating the house. "Add that needed insulation in the attic, sidewalls and under the floor," recommends Allen. Weather strip doors and windows and repair or replace those that need it. Caulk all cracks around the windows and doors.

The engineer also reminds that there is still time to do some needed painting, especially if the latex-type paint is used.

Other jobs might be to repair or replace house roofs, to clean, repair or replace gutters, and to repair outside steps and floors where snow and ice can otherwise be a hazard.

"Insulate any exposed water pipes which would otherwise freeze in cold weather, and re-arrange the garage or carport to permit its extended use in bad weather, suggests Allen. "Winterize the lawn mower and store it safely." The agricultural engineer would also choose the waning warm weather as a good time to do any necessary grading and seeding around the house to encourage proper draining.

Texas Lions Camp Unites Two Bankers in Lubbock

LUBBOCK - As competitive bankers, they are scrapping tigers, as dedicated civic workers, they are giant Lions.

One is slender Jim Ed Waller, 49-year-old president of the Plains National Bank. The other is Dal DeWees, 31-year-old assistant vice president and credit manager for the Citizens National Bank, who has not allowed polio to cripple his chances for success.

They are just two of the approximately 40,000 men who are observing "Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children Month" this November.

The camp holds special meaning for these two Lubbock bankers. And for good reason. They both hold special distinction in the camp's history.

Waller was president of the Texas Lions League, Inc., which operates the camp, for five years—longer than any other man. He has watched it grow to international fame.

And DeWees is the only man ever to be, successively, a camper and counselor at the camp and then become a member of the League's board of directors. He has seen the camp from all sides—inside and out.

Since 1953, the unique camp—located on 500 wooded acres near Kerrville—has provided two weeks of summer fun free to more than 13,000 blind, deaf, mute and crippled children from seven through 16.

Since 1957, the camp facilities have been used during the other months as a rehabilitation center for the adult blind, helping hundreds return to the sighted world as productive citizens.

And this past summer, the Lions added a new dimension of service to the handicapped by sponsoring a three-week camp for diabetic children on leased campgrounds near Friendswood.

Although both Lubbock men share a common bond in Lionism, they got into banking differently.

Waller entered the field in 1938.

"It sort of startles people for me to say I've been in banking for 33 years when I'm only 49, but it's true," he says. "I've always wanted to be a banker and when I was a junior in high school in Plainview— that was in 1938—I got a Distributive Education job in the Hale County State Bank." Waller recalls. He was supply chief, assistant to the bookkeeper and floor-sweeper then.

In the summer of 1942, Waller joined a group of volunteers known as "The Plainsmen" and went off to war. After a four-and-a-half-year interval to clear up the World War II misunderstanding in the South Pacific, Waller was released from the Marine Corps as a major.

He headed, naturally, right back to the bank. But even before he was finally separated from the service—25 years ago—he joined the Plainview Lions Club.

Waller rose steadily and surely in both his fields of interest. In 1948, he was named cashier of the Hale County State Bank, going on to become vice president and cashier in 1955.

In 1952, he was elected president of the Plainview Lions Club and in 1954 served as a Lions District Governor. That was the year he became associated with the fledgling Kerrville camp.

In 1955, Waller joined with another Lion—Earl Crow of Floydada—to organize the bank he now heads. In 1958, he was named president and celebrated that occasion by marrying the former Helen Parsons of Ladonia.

From 1960 to 1965, Waller served his presidency of the League, a tenure unmatched in Texas Lions history.

Right now, Waller is busy with plans to add a five-story tower to his bank on the outskirts of Lubbock. But he still has time to pay particular attention to the Lions Camp, serving as chairman of the important Funds, Security and Investment Committee.

DeWees got into banking by a more circuitous route. He returned to school in a wheel chair and cumbersome back and leg braces. He had withered from 115 pounds to 65.

When he was able to hobble across the room on crutches, his mother took away the wheel chair and forced him to learn to walk with confidence and increasing mobility.

In the spring of 1954, a teacher who was a member of the Roaring Springs Lion Club recommended that DeWees be a camper at the then-new facility in Kerrville.

DeWees was accepted and made his sponsors proud: he was named the best camper of his session. He returned, with growing delight, in the summers of 1955 and 1956.

Past the eligibility age for campers, DeWees still yearned for the adventuresome summers in the Hill Country. He solved his problem by becoming a counselor—a position he enjoyed for three years.

His years at camp helped DeWees acquire an affirmative outlook on life. "I didn't feel like I was any different than anybody else," he remembers.

He entered Eastern New Mexico State College in Portales, N.M., paying most of his way by working in the cafeteria. Later, he transferred to Texas Tech at Lubbock, married and entered a rather frank

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Doctor in Doubt

"I did my best."
So said a doctor not long ago when a disgruntled patient sued him for malpractice. It seems that the patient had been suffering for eight years from a surgical wound that would not heal. Now, demanding damages, he told the court:

"I realize that the doctor did his best. The trouble is, his best was not good enough. After all these years, he must have realized his own limitations. What he should have done was to send me to a specialist."
The court agreed, and the doctor was held liable. The court said that when a doctor has (or ought to have) serious doubts about his ability to handle a case, he has the legal duty to send the patient to someone who is better qualified.

A similar duty rests on other practitioners of the healing arts. Take this case:
A drugless healer, treating a man who had severe abdominal pains, gave him a vigorous massage and a strong laxative. Result: the man died from a ruptured appendix. In due course, his widow sued the healer for malpractice.

At the trial, he insisted that he had used the best treatment according to his own school of thought. Nevertheless, the court ordered him to pay damages. With plain signs of possible appendicitis, said the court, he should have turned the case over to a regular doctor.

Of course, the mere fact that a treatment is unsuccessful does not mean the doctor was at fault. In another case a boy's broken leg, set by the family doctor, healed with some permanent stiffness. The family, claiming damages, blamed the doctor for not calling in a specialist.

But the doctor explained: "This was not an unusual case. I have often handled similar fractures, and there was no special reason for me to expect trouble with this one."

The court decided this was a legitimate defense, and dismissed the case. Noting that medicine is not an exact science, the judge said no one would dare to be a doctor if he had to guarantee perfect results every time.

Marketing Tips

Interested in saving time and money while shopping for the family food supply?
To help, keep an up-to-date shopping list incorporating the week's best buys, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, extension consumer marketing specialist.

This week, economical fresh fruit choices include apples, bananas, oranges, Tokay grapes, pears, cranberries and avocados.

According to the specialist, vegetable items in best supply are carrots, cabbage, potatoes, yellow onions, sweet potatoes, salad tomatoes, and mustard, collard and turnip greens.

At the meat counter look for best beef values on chuck roasts and steaks, round and rib steaks, boneless roasts, ground beef and liver.

"Both fresh pork and smoked cuts will be featured in many markets," Mrs. Clyatt says. Specials may be found on Boston butt roasts, shoulder steaks, end-cut chops and one-quarter loins cut into chops. Semi-boneless hams, canned hams, smoked picnics bacon and roll sausage head the list of "specialized" smoked items.
